Tickets for the Belle Masque production, "Country Girl", will go on sale a week and half before the first performance at a cost of $1.25. Tickets may be bought either at the Pie Shoppe or at the Theatre Department office, 52 Mendel Hall. Telephone reservations will also be accepted by calling the Theatre Department Office.

Tennessee William's "The Glass Menagerie" will be the first graduate production of the Theatre Department. It will be held on December 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 in Vasey Hall Auditorium. Tickets for this play will also be on sale at the Pie Shoppe and the Theatre Department Office ten days before the initial performance, at a cost of $1.80 general admission and $1.25 for students.

NOW! Come Up...All The Way Up to the MENTHOL MAGIC of KOOL!

When your taste tells you it's time for a change, remember: Only Kool—no regular filter cigarette, no other menthol cigarette—gives you real Menthol Magic!

YOU FEEL A NEW SMOOTHNESS DEEP IN YOUR THROAT!

©1960, BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION THE MARK OF QUALITY IN TOBACCO PRODUCTS

MARKETING CLUB MEMBERS...

We are pleased to have as a guest speaker this week, Mr. Moritz, Placement Director for Villanova. Mr. Moritz will speak on careers, in general, and how his office aids graduates in obtaining jobs.

Surely this will be a most informative meeting!!!

V.U. Engineer Is Out On November 31; Crawford Is Editor

The first issue of the Villanova Engineer, a magazine devoted to the undergraduate engineers, will be published on November 21, 1960. The magazine, which is written and put together by students, is distributed to the engineering school and mailed out of firms and schools all over the country.

The quarterly periodical has a circulation of 2000 and is edited by Paul Crawford. The associate editor is George Pettinico, the publicity director is Marshall McClusky, and the moderator is Father John J. Vrana, O.S.A. The cover and feature article will concern the admission of the Villanova chapter Chi Epsilon Mu to the honorary engineering fraternity Tau Beta Pi.

EDITOR CRAWFORD ... Girly Interviews

The variety of articles will include interviews with the three girl freshman engineers, biographical sketches of professors in the Engineering School, information on semi-conductors, the Astronomy Club, and Refinery Corrosion. More interest must be shown if the magazine is to uphold the high quality expected. Anyone can write for the Villanova Engineer, and all students are encouraged to submit articles.

CAMPUS NEWS BRIEFS

Amelotti To Lecture

Mr. Emil Amelotti, the Chairman of the Mathematics Department, announced that Villanova University will cooperate with WRCV -TV in a television credit program on Modern Algebra, Probability, and Statistics.

It is to be given in the Continental Classroom series of educational programs. The lecture periods will be given on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 6:30 a.m. The recitation periods will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Upon successful completion of the course, the student will receive accredition.

Work With Defenders

Villanova Law School students this week joined with the Delaware County Bar Association to provide legal services for indigent defendants charged with crime.

Dean Harold Gill Reuschlein announced that a team of eight students will devote half a day each week to the interrogation of accused persons, the examination of witnesses, and the preparation of legal defenses.

When the accused persons are put on trial, the student who assisted in preparing his defense will attend the trial with the attorney whose services have been provided by the organized bar.

This new program at the School was arranged in cooperation with Gilliat G. Schroeder, Esq., of Media. Mr. Schroeder has had long experience in voluntary defender work in Philadelphia before moving to Delaware County.

The entire purpose of the voluntary defender movement is to make realistic the constitutional guarantee of a right of counsel in criminal cases.

The School of Law gives no academic credit for the student work, but encourages it both as valuable legal experience and as a significant public service.

Sutula on Committee

Mr. Edward G. Sutu'a, Lecturer in Accounting, Commerce & Finance Division, was appointed Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Cooperation with Educational Institutions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The announcement was made by William Craemer Jr., President of the Philadelphia Chapter of Certified Public Accountants.

The objectives of the Committe are to cooperate with the nineteen colleges and universities engaged in the education of students for the accounting profession in the eastern Pennsylvania area and to sponsor the annual student accounting forum.

Mr. Sutula was also recently appointed to the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants statewide Committee on Education for the 1960-61 fiscal year.

This committee has as its primary objective the promotion and encouragement of continuing education programs for the Commonwealth members of the Institute.

Mr. Sutula, a Certified Public Accountant in Penna., received his B. S. degree from Villanova University and his MBA from the graduate division of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

Catholic Youth Week

National Catholic youth week will be observed from October 31 through November 6 this year. Students of Villanova are asked to make special effort during this week to attend daily communion, and generally improve their own spiritual welfare as well as the spiritual atmosphere of the entire campus.

Dedicated to the development of Catholic youth, the theme of this year's program will be AMERICA'S STRENGTH: RESPONSIBLE YOUTH.

Botanist Is Studying Leaf; He Begins Five-Year Project

By Eugene Rodgers

So well does modern science understand the awesome powers of nature that its generators can hurl bolts of lighning and its bombs can recreate the burning of the sun. Yet the greatest mystery of all is hardly known, much less understood. This is the secret of life.

How does an intricate but perfect leaf grow from a seemingly lifeless tree? Adam and Eve must have wondered. Who has not?

Yet the development of a young bud into a mature leaf has never been fully described in detail. To produce this description, Dr. Roman Maksymowych has dedicated the last five years to leaf study.

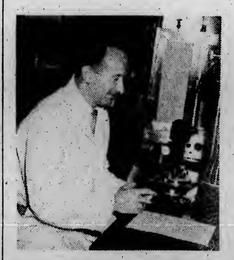
Morphology

Dr. Maksymoych is a Professor of botany and a specialist in experimental plant morphology in Villanova's Biology Department. Botany is the science of plant life; morphology is the division dealing with plant structure.

"More is known about the complicated mechanism of photosynthesis taking place inside the leaf than about the leaf itself," says Dr. Maksymowych. Photosynthesis is the process whereby a green plant makes food for itself from water, carbon dioxide, and sunlight.

Dr. Maksymowych spent the first year of his current project studying the basic growth of Xanthium, a type of ragweed. He described mathematically the growth rates of every point along the midrib of the leaf as the leaf matured.

Each point has a slightly different rate of growth than adjacent ones, and these rates change as the leaf ages and develops.



The results show that the growth rate follows a pattern that changes with age, and that this change may be predicted when sufficient data is available. Dr. Maksymowych announced these results this summer at the Conference of the American Institute of Biological Sciences in Stillwater, Oklahoma.

Cell Division

Dr. Maksymowych will devote the second year of the project to studying cell division and differentiation during leaf development. Division is the process whereby cells reproduce themselves; differentiation is the process whereby cells become different from each other and form special tissues.

So important is his research that the United States government, through the National Science Foundation, has sponsored Dr. Maksmowych for the past year and will do so for another. Villanova has recognized his efforts by constructing a small greenhouse for experiments next to the new science building.

Concerning the new science building, Dr. Maksymowych says, "My great hope is that it will be completed soon. The expanded facilities will help my work enormously." Much of his work has been done at the University of Pennsylvania, which already has the necessary facilities.

Morphologist Maksymonwych ... awaits Greenhouse

More Emphasis on Research

Speaking of Graduate study, Dr. Maksymowych says, "If Villanova wants to advance graduate study, more emphasis should be given to research, because it develops close relationships between students and faculty. Graduate teachers must be capable of independent study, because the work of their students is expected to be a contribution to science.

Ph.D. Program Needed

"If Villanova wants the best possible Science Department it must have a Ph.D. program." At present Villanova has no such program, but Dr. Maksymowych expects the new science building to usher in a new era.

Although chiefly a morphologist, Dr. Maksymowych is also a competent physiologist, and must be proficient in other sciences. His present project would be almost impossible without the methods of differential calculus.

Dr. Maksymowych is critical of the public attitude which expects every scientific endeavor to produce miracles. He says, "science progresses by minute movements, with only occasional bumps to startle the world. The most that the majority of scientists can expect of their labor is personal satisfaction and professional recognition."

Mister... you're going to wear that shave all day!

START WITH THIS NEW FORMULA BEFORE-SHAVE LOTION, stop 4 o'clock stubble trouble! You can shave blade-close, all-day clean, without "tenderizing" your face, when you use Pro-Electric Before-Shave Lotion. It contains ISOPHYL® to give your shaver extra glide-power—refreshes you with that brisk, bracing Old Spice scent. 1.00 no federal tax.

SHULTON

MAIN LINE DRIVE-IN THEATRE
LANCASTER PIKE — 1 MI. WEST of WAYNE
Starts Wed., Oct. 26 for One Week!
FRANK SINATRA
SAMMY DAVIS, Jr.
ANGIE DICKINSON
DEAN MARTIN
PETER LAWFORD
"OCEANS 11"
TECHNICOLOR®
RICHARD CONTE · CESAR ROMERO · PATRICE WYMORE · JOEY BISHOP
Plus 2nd Feature ROBERT MITCHUM in "NIGHT FIGHTERS"
WARM AS TOAST—IN CAR HEATERS

CHESTERFIELD, L&M and OASIS invite you to the

Villanova – Xavier

Game Contest!

JUST PREDICT THE SCORE AND WIN UP TO...

$300
FIRST PRIZE JACKPOT

$150
SECOND PRIZE JACKPOT

$50
THIRD PRIZE JACKPOT

FOR THE STUDENTS AND FACULTIES OF THE ABOVE COMPETING COLLEGES ONLY!

Pick up a pack and take a crack at experting the big game. If you are the only one to come up with the correct half-time and final scores, the first prize jackpot is all yours. If there are ties, you share the money. The same applies to winners of the second and third jackpots. Enter as often as you like... and to make it easy, use the backs of packs* as your entry blanks. So each time you finish a pack ...take a crack at the big money!

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO WIN...

1. Predict the final score for each team.
2. Predict the half-time score for each team.
3. Use an empty pack* as your entry blank.

READ THESE EASY RULES...

1. On the coupon below or on the back of an empty wrapper or on a plain sheet of paper, select the winner of the above game. Predict the final score and the half-time score (predict ties if you wish). Each entry must be accompanied by an empty wrapper from L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis cigarettes (or a single hand drawn copy of the lettering L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis as it appears on the face of the package). If entry is submitted on back of empty wrapper, be sure to include name and address, printed clearly.

2. Mail entries to Liggett & Myers, at the address appearing in coupon below. All entries must be postmarked by midnight five days prior to date of game and received by midnight the day prior to date of game. Enter as often as you want, but be sure to enclose an empty wrapper (or acceptable substitute) with each entry. Illegible entries will not be considered.

3. Prizes: FIRST PRIZE JACKPOT—$300; SECOND PRIZE JACKPOT—$150; THIRD PRIZE JACKPOT—$50. Winning entries will be selected according to the accuracy of the entry against the following in the order listed: (a) the winning team; (b) the final score, and, as a tie-breaker, if necessary (c) the accuracy in determining the leading half-time team and the half-time score. In the event of ties among contestants, the prize money for each of the three prize categories will be divided equally among contestants tied for the respective prizes.

4. This contest is under the supervision of the Bruce, Richards Corporation, an independent judging organization, whose decisions are final and binding on all contestants. Only one prize per family.

5. This contest is open to the college students and college faculty members of the above competing colleges only. Employees and members of their families of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company and its advertising agencies are not eligible to enter.

6. All entries become the property of the sponsor, and none will be returned. Winners will be notified by mail. A complete list of winners is available to anyone sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the address below.

7. This contest is subject to all Federal, state and local laws and regulations governing contests and their validity.

START SAVING PACKS NOW!

The more often you enter... the more chances you have to win.

L & M has found the secret that unlocks flavor in a filter cigarette. (Pack or Box).

CHESTERFIELD—Now "Air-Softened", they satisfy even more! (King or Regular).

OASIS—Most refreshing taste of all. Just enough menthol... just enough!

*or acceptable substitute (see rules).

© Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Write clearly the final score and half-time score of the game to be played November 19, 1960 in boxes indicated:

	FINAL	HALF-TIME
VILLANOVA	( )	( )
XAVIER	( )	( )

Mail this entry to:
LIGGETT & MYERS, P. O. BOX 462, NEW YORK 46, N. Y.
Attach an empty pack (or an acceptable substitute, see rules) of L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis cigarettes with this entry.

NAME _____ (PLEASE PRINT)

ADDRESS _____

Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight November 14, 1960, and received at the above P.O. Box in New York by midnight November 18, 1960.
Submit as many more entries as you want on the backs of empty packs.* On each one print the team names and scores with your name and address as shown above.

Hollywood Kills Musicals With Kindness

By Al Lo Mastro

Once upon a time there was a young and vibrant smash-hit musical. Everyone who saw it, raved about it. Between Broadway and the various traveling stock companies, the show ran close to four years. It finally closed.

Once upon a time there was also a big, bad movie mogul sitting behind a gilt edge desk in downtown Los Angeles. He was one of the many who saw this show. Licking his greasy chops and giving his assistant a greedy ogreish glance, he said: "Contact the Theater Guild. I'm gonna buy that show and make it into a three million dollar movie musical."

So the "Bells Are Ringing" script was bundled off to Glamorville and given the royal works. The top brass thought the play was perfect, but . . . a few changes could be made here and there. Jerome Robbins, the brilliant choreographer of the Broadway show had an argument with film producer Arthur Freed.

For this reason all spectacular production numbers were chopped, and the few dancing scenes left in the pic resembled the voodoo rites practiced by the zombies of Mora Tau. Surprisingly, Arthur had signed Judy Holiday to repeat her stage characterization; but in these days of Hollywood "realism," who ever heard of "show-stoppers?"

Who Needs Them

They belong in fantasy films. You know those beautiful masterpiece musicals Hollywood used to make with hundreds of people cavorting on the set and doing what comes naturally. They're not realistic; therefore they can not be good family entertainment.

Yes, show-stoppers and dancers are definitely out this season. "Is It A Crime?" Long Before I Knew You?" "Hello, Hello There?" These songs have to be cut also. After all the public might get too much for their money; and end up liking good musicals instead of the products the scions have in store for them i.e. "Lolita" and "Butterfield 8."

To top it all Vincente Minnelli has to direct. After all he did do a good job on "Gigi"; so every one will forget the stilted dialogue in the massacred movie version of "Brigadoon" and the seemingly endless talky interludes between songs and dances in the one-clapper "Kismet".

This was only the beginning; but by the time MGM finished with the movie, Judy Holiday remained as the sole surviving symbol of the earlier Broadway version.

We Do

Of course Hollywood has reproduced some Broadway shows which have, through some miracle of fate, turned out to be entertaining. "Carousel" and "Pajama Game" may be listed among these; but in three out of four cases, miscasting, faulty direction, changes in script and all round stilted production tactics have made movie audiences throughout the nation turn on their favorite Saturday night programs.

The list is endless. "Little Abner", "Anything Goes", "Kiss Me Kate", "Can-Can", and "Rosemarie" have all received the same fate at the hands of the west coast butchers. Latest on their list are "West Side Story" and a new experiment in producing a musical without music, "Fanny".

Come on Hollywood. Give us, the public, a good musical product. Cyd Charisse isn't senile yet. Let her dance! Gene Kelly might need a toupee; but he can still hoof about. Was "Les Girls" that long ago? Doris Day is a singer not an actress. Let her vibrate instead of scintillate! And most of all give them the director, producer and writer able to do justice to their talents in this exacting field.

PASSING COMMENTS: "Song Without End" and "Sons and Lovers" are by far the best bets in town; while if you really want to waste your money I suggest you see the Grade B "Crowded Sky". It's a soap-operish imitation of "The High and the Mighty", concerning 2 planes, loaded with complexed humanity, having a supposedly suspenseful grand reunion in mid-air.

Student Help Named To Language Lab

Student assistants to aid Dr. Edward Stack and his Modern Language staff in the new language lab have recently been chosen. Jerry D. Snopkowski is supervisor of the student staff consisting of John Gatti, Terence Donnelly, Thomas Connor, Joseph Knox, John Silvestre, and Robert Sonner, who is technical director.

STU'S EXPLAINING HOW MACHINES WILL SOME DAY "OUTTALK" PEOPLE

"Stu" Smith graduated from Southern Cal with a powerful yen for excitement. His kind of excitement—Engineering.

He got what he bargained for (and a little more) when he joined Pacific Telephone. One of Stu's early assignments was to find out how existing Long Distance networks could be used to pipeline high speed "conversations" between computers in distant cities.

The fact that he did a fine job did not go unnoticed.

Today, four years after starting his telephone career, Senior Engineer Stuart Smith heads a staff of people responsible for telegraph and data transmission engineering in the huge Los Angeles area. As a pioneer in this new data transmission field Stu predicts data processing machines will some day do more Long Distance "talking" than people.

Stu contacted 12 other companies before joining Pacific Telephone. "I don't think there's any limit to where a man can go in the telephone business today. Of course, this isn't the place for a guy looking for a soft touch. A man gets all the opportunity he can handle right from the start. He's limited only by how well and how fast he can cut it."

If Stu's talking about the kind of opportunity you're looking for, just visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

J O I N

The Father Ludwig Council,
Knights of Columbus.
Contact Through Mendel Hall
Box 80

Blunders

(Continued from Page 7)

The latest error in campaign judgment is also attributable to the Republican vice-presidential candidate. Last week Lodge promised that, if elected, Nixon would dole out a cabinet post to a Negro.

This obvious attempt to woo a key minority was met with alarm by Nixon. For one thing it is bad policy to earmark Cabinet positions before election and Lodge's overtly public relations minded move served only to embarass Nixon.

Then, if this weren't enough to add insult to injury, Lodge stated hat he favored government aid to parochial schools.

This impulsive statement, though not the official Republican view (former Republican national chairman Meade Alcorn stated) set back the Republican cause in the South immeasurable. It is possible that some of the states noted as undecided in the AP poll will now swing to Kennedy.

Most Fatal Mistake

Though these campaign issues are of paramount importance what could prove to be the biggest and most fatal mistake is the agreement by Nixon to the television confrontations with Kennedy. Of he two men Nixon is the better debater. The point is though, that these were not debates. They were merely joint TV press conferences. Each candidate handled himself excellently. Unfortunately for Nixon, his strong personality points do not project well—Kennedy's do. As John Crosby, eminent TV critic wrote after viewing the second debate, "Senator Kennedy is a much better debater than the Vice-President. He marshalls arguments faster and more energenically, seems much more positive about what he is saying, cloaks them in far more persuasive and eloquent and rational English, and both attacks and defends with astonishing detail and clarity. I strongly suspect the Republicans wish now they hadn't gotten themselves into the mess."

Granted that the debates probably won't sway many votes directly. Yet, maybe it's only coincidence but Kennedy is now favored by those who make book at odds either of 6-5 or 7-5. Before the debates Nixon was a 9-5 pick.

Undoubtedly they have accomplished for Kennedy what he sought: to dispel the illusion that he is an immature callow youth who has been thrown into the dens of political iniquity. Judging from the debates Kennedy's the better politicians of the candidates. Perhaps the change in odds indicates the American people have decided that Kennedy is also the better man. If so the Republican agreement to the debates might go down in history as the political faux pas to beat all political faux pas.

Chem Seniors' Trip

On Friday, October 28, eleven senior chemistry majors, accompanied by Dr. Dominic Roberti, Professor Charles Kavanagh and Mr. Ronald Denk, will travel to the Brookhaven National Laboratories in Upton, Long Island. There they will take part in the annual "College Day" where the various aspects of the Brookhaven operation will be open for inspection.

Award Winning Writer Addresses SAM Today

Mr. Thomas V. O'Leary will address the Society for the Advancement of Management on Thursday, October 27.

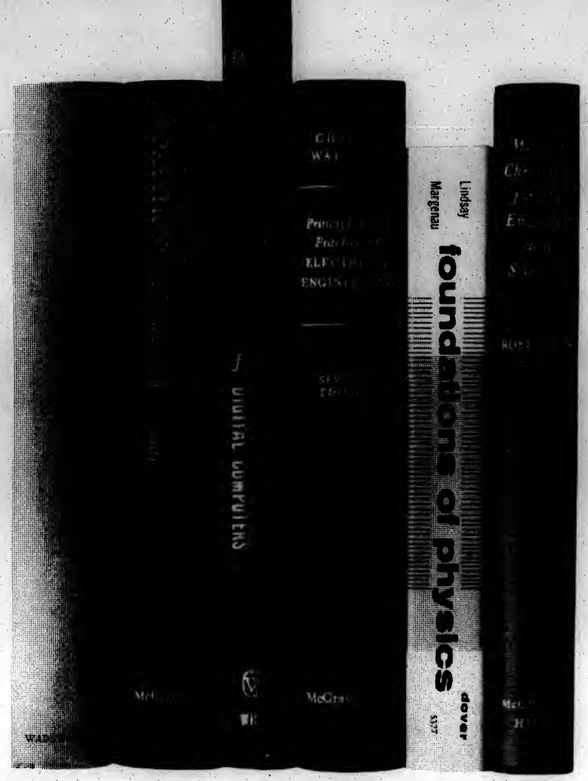
All are cordially invited to attend in room 105 C. & F.

Mr. O'Leary is Vice-President in Personal Customer Service as Public Relations Advertising with the Suburban Water Company of Philadelphia. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the Poor Richard Club and the Society of American Public Relations.

He has taught journalism at Marywood College and the University of Scranton. He spent twenty years in the field of journalisem, holding various posts with Gannett newspapers, columnist, sports editor, and news editor in Scranton.

Sophomore Cotillion Will Have "Circus "As Theme

(Photo by Frank Matsula)



The two principal men behind the coming Sophomore Cotillion are chairman Jack Shields (left) and class president Dan Pistelli.

(Continued from Page 3)

decision of the judges will be final.

Chairman Shields described the Cotillion decor as a circus motif. "There will be a carousel in the middle of the floor and a canopy dropped from the ceiling," said Shields. "A trapeze will be suspended from the top of the field house and those attending the affair will enter the dance through a gigantic clown's mouth which will be placed at the entrance to the field house.

Committee heads announced by Shields were Joe Ruggiero, decorations; Jim Howley and Bill Springler, tickets; Marty Whalen, publicity; John Bind and Marli Kovacs, invitations; miscellaneous, Nick DiMarino and Steve Martino; and Rick Thompson and Rosemary Hoffner, program.

SYSTEMS ENGINEERING CAN START HERE... OR HERE... OR HERE... OR HERE... OR HERE... OR HERE

If you are completing studies in engineering, economics, math, science or business, have maintained high averages and are interested in a rewarding professional career leading to management, IBM Systems Engineering may be just the career for you.

What does an IBM Systems Engineer do? He studies problems in industry, science, business and government, and then organizes the most modern electronic data processing techniques and machine systems to solve them. He works at the source and with top executives in the organizations concerned.

The problems are fascinating and exciting—and include automation of: process control and manufacturing operations, inventory control document preparation, satellite tracking, highway planning, weather forecasting, and complete business control systems for utilities, transportation, banking and insurance, to name but a few. New techniques of automatic data processing are making headline news almost daily.

Your present training, combined with one of the most comprehensive training programs conducted by any company, may put you in a position to join this fast-growing new profession with virtually an unlimited future. Openings will exist in all principal U.S. cities. See your Placement Director for additional information about IBM and to arrange for an interview. Or feel free to write or call me:

Mr. L. M. Sterner, Branch Manager, IBM Corp., 812 Welsh Street, Chester, Pa., TR 4-4356

You naturally have a better chance to grow with a growth company IBM

IN THE SPORTLITE

Karras, Ferry Optimistic On Future

by Ed Lohr

A visit to the Villanova Stadium during one of the Wildcat practice sessions will necessitate observing the finesse with which a youg powerful mentor handles our bruising linemen.

I am speaking of the coach of our guards and centers, George Karras, a Villanova alumnus and the youngest member of Alex Bell's fine staff.

Karras As A Player

A native of Etno, Pennsylvania, a Pittsburgh suburb, Karras was graduated from Villanova in 1956 with a Bachelor of Science in Education degree. While matriculating on the Main Line campus he starred at guard during the 1953-54-55 campaigns.

Immediately after graduation he became line coach at Pittsburgh Central Catholic High and then entered the service for three years, where he continud to play ball. Just before he returned to Villanova he was line coach at Norwyn High School, Irwin, Pennsylvania.

Of his guards and centers Karras states, "Regis Magnus has the greatest desire on the team and makes the least mistakes of any of the boys. By the way, Rege played the second half of the Dayton game with six stitches in his head!"

When asked to explan the rotation of his centers he said, "Magnus is number one, Frank Brzenk has the smartest football savvy on the team and is very aggressive on defense, while Henry "Tiny" Gotard is the club's best snaoper on punts and a top flight blocker.

Team's Trouble

"You can't teach experience!" stressed Karras. "Our boys are trying with the utmost effort but they are not carrying out their assignments due to mental lapses. We (the coaches) try to avoid hollering at the players because we are actually hollering at ourselves for not doing the job with the boy, or for not playing the right personnel."

"We have fumbled twenty-three times in five games and lost many of them inside our opponents twenty-yard line. Someday, when we reach a point of minimum mistakes, we are going to raise hell with some body—believe me!"

The Guards

These are the fiery comments about the captain of the 1960 Wildcats. "Joe Luzzi is an excellent leader; despite the fact that he could say the heck with it all since he is the only senior on the first team. "Luz' is our defensive signal caller and the spearhead of the club. Losing hurts Joe as much or more than anyone."

COACH KARRAS
. . . Magnus best

Coach Karras stated that the spirit of the school has been good and, although this year is not over, the coaches are expecting "a tremendous team" next year.

"I am very proud to be coaching at Villanova since it has always been my ardent desire, I am here solely to win football games—winning is a moral obligation to me!", were the closing comments of the very pleasant and knowledgeable line coach of the 'Cats. George Karras.

Lou Ferry Also Returns

Karras's counterpart in handling the line is the muscular ex-Villanova tackle, Lou Ferry. A 1949 graduate, Ferry played four seasons for the Wildcats, making the All-East team in his freshman and senior years.

In his senior year he captained Villanova to an outstanding 8-2-1 record and an appearance in the Refrigerator Bowl against Kentucky. After graduation he played on the All-Star team which defeated the New York Giants of the National Football League, 26-13 and then headed toward the pro ranks.

Pro Career

Ferry started at Green Bay in 1949; shifted to the Chicago Cardinals in 1950 and then went on to star for the Pittsburgh Steelers for five seasons as an offensive tackle.

"I am very satisfied with the progress both offensively and defensively of sophomore guard, Al Calagaris. Also a lot of cerdit must be given to another soph, Bob Kowalski, who displayed a lot of ability in the C.O.P. game and earned a starting slot for the Miami game."

EX-TACKLE FERRY
. . . can't relay

Following his pro stint he went west to coach at Salpointe Catholic of Tucson, Arizona and immediately preceding his return to Villanova coached at Hamstead High in Pittsburgh.

Ferry, who is mainly responsible for the tackles, pointed out, "The tackles are lacking overall speed, and we are hurting from inexperience. They are making real sharp contact but are not staying on their feet and thus losing all their drive!"

Reviews Tackles

"Ed Scholes did a very capable job in the C.O.P. game and merited a starting position againt Miami. Junior Jack Weed is improving with every game but is still making those mistakes—inexperience again!"

"I could put Tom Kepner up against any tackle in the country, and he would not move Tom, but Kepner's lateral is below average. Sophomore Charlie Johnson is fast improving and should continue to help the ball club." These were Ferry's comments on his tackles.

"The qualities of a good defensive tackle," he continued, "are being able to cover the ground between the middle guard and the end, watching for traps and dives, having a good angle of pursuit, and rushing the passer persistently."

Bright Spots

"Our tackles have had their bright spots this year especially in providing tremendous pass protection for Richie Richman in the C.O.P. and Miami games!"

Ferry also showed enthusiasm about coaching at Villanova, he also hoped the student support would continue to be as good as it has been all season. Commenting further at the team's showing Ferry said, "Another reason the team's record is poor, I believe, is because the boys cannot relax, due to the fact that they are losing. They are extremely tense but they have not lost their spirit for a minute!"

Columnist Confident

I have talked to many of the players about the ability and character of these two young men and never have I heard anything but praise for both of them.

Villanova can be proud to have on the staff, Lou Ferry and George Karras, who both have that tremendous desire to win and to once again put the Main Line on the football map.

Filters for flavor

–finest flavor by far!

Tareyton has the taste—

Dual Filter does it!

HERE'S HOW THE DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL... definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth...

2. with a pure white outer filter. Together they select and balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton's flavor-balance gives you the best taste of the best tobaccos.

NEW DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Wildkittens Drop Season Opener At Bullis Prep, 14-2

By Dan Bell

On Saturday the Villanova freshman football team traveled to Silver Springs, Maryland where they dropped their first game of the season to Bullis Prep by the score of 14-2. Bullis Prep scored 8 points in the first quarter and six in the second. Villanova scored a safety in the fourth quarter.

Midway in the first quarter Bullis moved from the 50 yard line down to the 28. On a third and 7 situation, Bullis threw a pass to the Wildcat 5 yard line. The Bullis receiver went up for the pass and so did two Villanova defenders. The ball was knocked cleanly away and an official called interference on the five. On the next play Bullis scored.

Two Point Conversion

They ran over for the conversion and Bullis led 8-0. On the second play of the second quarter the Bullis quarterback dropped back to pass on a third down and eight situation. Clifford, Villanova's left end chased him back to the 35, but just as he was about to tackle him he was blocked by a Bullis lineman and the quarterback went from there to the Wildcat three yard line. On the next play Bullis swept right end for the score. An attempted pass on the conversion was deflected. This made the score Bullis 14, V.U. 0.

In the third quarter the 'Cats got together and drove from their own twenty down to the Bullis 19 yard line where two incomplete passes ran Villanova out of downs. This drive was highlighted by the running of Quarterback Chairlanza, halfback Corsetti and fullback Noon.

In the fourth quarter Villanova again drove to the Bullis 18 yard line from their own 40 only to have a pass intercepted. This drive featured the running of Corsetti, a hard driving Wildcat halfback who accounted for over thirty yards of the yards that were gained.

2 Points for 'Cats

Late in the fourth quarter the charging Wildcat line dropped the Bullis quarterback on the one foot line. On the next play Bullis sent a halfback around the left end on a sweep but he was met there by Clifford, Dunn, and Boyle who dropped him in the end zone for the safety. The scoreboard read Bullis 14—Villanova 2.

This game was the freshman team's first this year. So far this season they have played the part of the varsity's opponent in weekly scrimmage. The game with Bullis was the first time the Wildcats could use their own plays. In the first half Villanova just couldn't get going because they did not seem to be sure of themselves.

The Bullis end sweep plays were the things that were hurting the 'Cats. Finally in the second half they shifted into a defense that stopped these Bullis sweeps cold. The line play of the Wildcat frosh was terrific. Bullis did not have a chance to gain any yardage through the line.

Next week the Frosh travel to West Chester to take on the Rams and on November 11 they make their way to West Point where they meet the Black Knight plebes.

Speedy frosh halfback Bob Shylock, eludes grasp of Bullis Prep tackler at Silver Springs, Md. last Friday.

MAC Champs Upset

Traynor Breaks MAC Record As Harrier Upset Hawks

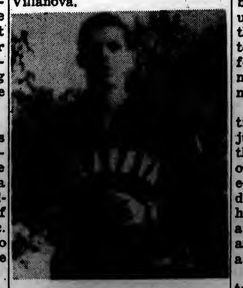
"It was one of the greatest cross country races ever run by a Villanova athlete," Jim Tuppeny beamed.

"Mr. T's" elation was caused by Pat Traynor's record shattering performance which highlighted Villanova's stunning 21-34 upset of St. Joesph's MAC cross country champs last Saturday at Cobbs Creek Park.

Traynor smashed the Cobbs Creek record held by Carl Homen, Finn flyer from Delaware University, when he covered the four and three-quarter mile course in 23:24. Homen's record was 23:45.

Last Year's Time: 25:48

Traynor's performance is rendered even more incredible in light of last year's winning time in this meet. Angelo Sivieri posted a 25:48 last year, almost two and a half minutes over Traynor's time.



Sivieri ran an outstanding race, too, bettering his time of last year by over two minutes as he finished second to Traynor in 23:45.

Kevin Quinn, St. Joseph's, set a new school record for the Hawks in finishing third in 24:25.

14 Beat Last Year's Time

"As a matter of fact," Tuppent interjected, "the first 14 finishers bested Sivieri's winning time of last year."

The 16 top placers were: Traynor (V), Sivieri (V), Quinn, (SP, Owen Maguire (V), Jon Dante (V), Carr (SJ) Jerry Hackett (V), four men from St. Joseph's, and Lance Hugelmeyer, Bobby Collins, Henry Neal, and Al Jackman from Villanova.

HARRIER TRAYNOR
. . . 'nother race, 'nother record

This was Traynor's second record smashing performance to date.

The former Monsignor Bonner basketball captain has been running cross country only since his senior year in high school.

"The hard work is beginning to pay off, said an obviously pleased Tuppeny, who has been directing the endurance sessions of the 'Cat harriers.

In addition to yesterday's encounter with St. John's of Brooklyn, the 'Cat harriers meet LaSalle next Wednesday at LaSalle.

Too Many Mistakes Killed 'Cats--Players

By Bill Cercone

Questioned as to their reactions of the Army debacle, the following players' responses convey the opinion that the team has the potential but is definitely not playing up to it. The problem is very difficult to ascertan. The players continually seek to answer the thorny question: What's wrong?

Nick Langone was a picture of complete dispair as he dryly remarked, "I can't see how a team can look so good against Marquette and look so poor against Army. Of course we made mistakes, but a team is allowed a few mistakes. Unfortunately our mistakes are made continually and this is where the discrepancy lies. What the solution is I don't know."

"Wait until next week, though," Langone said hopefully.

Quarterback Ted Aceto shook his head slowly, tugged at his collar, and stared at the wall." I wish we could have done a lot better, I thought the team was up for the game. Although once the game began Army was just too tough—offensively and defensively. Their depth was too much for us and this hurt the most."

Gene Ceppetelli smiled sarcastically as the pain from his injury throbbed, reminding him of the power of the Black Knights of the Hudson. "Sure they blocked and tackled harder than we did otherwise they wouldn't have won. We were in the game all the way but their blocking and tackling were too effective and the score showed it."

Husky Nick Russo quickly retorted to the question, "Man for man we're as good as anybody —even Army. One of these games we're going to get together and explode."

It can't happen to soon.

Lohr's' Eleven

RUTGERS vs. Villanova	Remains undefeated
OHIO STATE vs. Mich. State	Rose Bowl bound
NAVY vs. Notre Dame	Should be No. 1
PURDUE vs. Illinois	Illini bolled
PITT vs. Syracuse	Upset of the year
MISSISSIPPI vs. L.S.U.	Chinese lawmen
GA. TECH vs Duke	Bound to miss this one
NORTHWESTERN vs. Indiana	Easy does it
PENN STATE vs. West Va.	Lions rip Mounties
AUBURN vs. Florida	No fix here
SO. CONN. ST. vs. Youngstown	Eastern Power

Last week (not printed); 7-3-1
Seasons total: 33-18-4
Pct.: .643

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

A FRAT TO REMEMBER

Every year, as we all know, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Collegiate Fraternities awards a highly coveted prize to the fraternity house which, in its judgment, has done the most to promote and enhance the fraternity way of life. The prize this year—eight hundred pounds of white putty—goes to the Signa Phi Nothing chapter of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art.

The award this year is exceptionally richly deserved, for the Signa Phi Nothing house is the very model of all a fraternity should be. It is, first of all, a most attractive house physically. The outside walls are tastefully covered with sequins. Running along the upper story is a widow's walk, with a widow stationed every three feet. Moored to the chimney pot is the Graf Zeppelin.

Indoors, the house gives an impression of simple, casual charm. The chapter room is furnished in homey maple and chintz, with a dash of verve provided by a carp pool three hundred feet in diameter. A waterspout rises from the center of the pool with the housemother bouncing on the top.

Members' rooms are gracious and airy and are provided with beds which disappear into the wall—permanently. Each room also has a desk, a comfortable chair, a good reading lamp, and a catapult for skeetshooting. Kidney-shaped desks are available for kidney-shaped members.

Perhaps the most fetching feature of the house are the packs of Marlboros stacked in heaps wherever one goes. If one wishes to settle back and enjoy a full-flavored smoke, one needs only to reach out one's hand in any direction and pick a pack of Marlboros—soft pack or flip-top box—and make one's self comfortable with a filtered cigarette with an unfiltered taste—that triumph of the tobacconist's art, that paragon of smokes, that acme of cigarettes, that employer of mine—Marlboro!

The decor, the grace, the Marlboros, all combine to make Signa Phi Nothing a real gas of a fraternity. But a fraternity is more than things; it is also people. And it is in the people department that Signa Phi Nothing really shines.

Signa Phi Nothing has among its members the biggest BMOCs on the entire campus of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art. There is, for instance, William Makepeace Sigafoos, charcoal and bun chairman of the annual Stamp Club outing. Then there is Dun Rovin, winner of last year's All-South Dakota State Monopoly Championship, 135 Pound Class. Then there is Rock Schwartz, who can sleep standing up. Then there is Tremblant Placebo, who can crack pecans in his armpits. Then there is Ralph Tungsten, who went bald at eight.

But why go on? You can see what a splendid bunch of chaps there is in Signa Phi Nothing, and when one sees them at the house in the cool of the evening, all busy with their tasks—some picking locks, some playing Jacks-or-Better, some clipping Playboy—one's heart fills up and one's eyes grow misty, and one cannot but give three cheers and a tiger for Signa Phi Nothing, fraternity of the year!

© 1960 Max Shulman

• • •

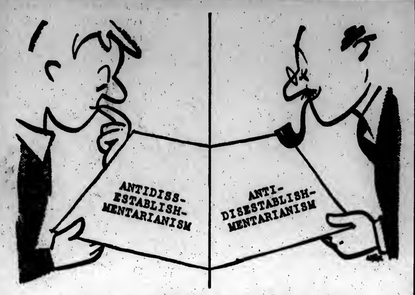
And while you're cheering, how about a huzzah for the newest member of the Marlboro family of fine cigarettes—unfiltered, mild, delightful Philip Morris king-size Commander! Have a Commander—welcome aboard!

Looking like unfed baby robins waiting for dinner, Larry Glueck (40) and a part of "the corps" including Miller (65) and Pappas (38) reach with outstretched arms for Villanova quarterback Ted Aceto's pass.

Nova Natators Prep For Upcoming Crawl Campaign

by Matt Mone

Villanova's Varsity Swimming team began workouts this week, inaugurating an altogether new training program. In the past, Coach Geisz confined his charges to at least one month of dry-land callisthenics before any actual water work got under way.



This year pulley-type wall weights have been installed in the swimming pool to aid the body-building and conditioning program. Regular exercises with these weights will be used as an integral part of the conditioning program and will be co-ordinated with the regular swim practices throughout the season. Both Varsity Coach Ed Geisz and Freshman Coach Jack Lumsden believe that the addition of this important training apparatus will help to bring the swimmers to peak form, much sooner than previous training methods and will also help them to remain in better shape throughout the season.

Tough Schedule

Led by Co-Captains Don Boehmeke and Bob Dow, the swimmers are once more faced with a formidable schedule. The calibre of teams met in past seasons such as Yale, Princeton, Army, Navy and V.M.I., coupled with this year's schedule of meets, points to one of the toughest competitive schedules by any team in the East. However, with the loss of only two members of last year's squad and the addition of twenty members of last year's 10-2 Frosh team, the 1960-61 team should be one of the strongest in Villanova's history.

Particularly strong should be the freestyle events. In the sprints, there are eight to ten men capable of bettering the times turned in by last year's sprinters. These include Seniors: Frank Dunn, Bob Donahue and Bill Cassin; Juniors: Ed Jensen and Sophs: Mike Powers and Jim Grimm. In the middle distances, Don Boehmeke, last season's mainstay, will be joined by Soph Ed Brier. As a freshman last year, Ed broke the school record in both the 220 and 440-yard freestyle events and much will be expected of him this year.

In the backstroke events, Junior Don Reed will be joined by Alec Hicks, a soph who is expected to fill in for the graduated Frank Keefe. In the butterfly stroke, Bob Dow and Dan O'Brien will be joined by Mike Le Moult, another Soph. The breaststroke will see Ted Moriarty, Brian Reilly and Matt Mone battling for starting positions with Sophs Jim Feller and Dave La Mond. To replace Steve Carton, in the diving event, Coach Geisz has a host of fine divers including George Robertson, Joe Scott and Al Nencetti.

NOT A SIGN OF A SLIP-UP!

Typing errors disappear like magic when you use Eaton's Corrāsable Bond. Never a trace of the word that was erased; errors can be flicked off Corrāsable's special surface with an ordinary pencil eraser. Saves re-typing, time and money. And the sparkling new whiteness gives all typing a new brilliance. You can't make a mistake getting Eaton's Corrāsable. (Rhymes with erasable.)

Eaton's Corrāsable Bond is available in light, medium, heavy and onion skin weights. In convenient 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. A Berkshire Typewriter Paper, backed by the famous Eaton name.

Made only by Eaton

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND
Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION PITTSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

Cat Back Sees A Ray Of Sunshine In Cloudy Season

by Victor Strano

"How does Villanova lose so many games?" seems to be the age-old question around these parts. In order to shed some light on the subject I called on one of our up and coming favorites Mike Pettine to see if he could help us out on this subject.

In the interest of the uninformed, Mike is a junior half back, one of the returning lettermen from last year, who is currently bolstering this year's squad. While only a soph playing on the second unit he caught a T.D. pass in that one victorious Dayton game of last year. This year his speciality seems to be in that division of the offense, that is pass-catching, even though VU hasn't had a good passing game as yet.

Bad Breaks a Factor

Getting back to the main difficulty however, Mike points out that last year and this year are somewhat similiar. He notes that the opposition always take advantage of our breaks. Also in a crucial moment and usually in their own territory VU frequently loses the ball.

Mike talked about last years' Army game that we lost 14-0. He says it was a lot closer than the score indicated. "Some of the teams we play don't get the rating they deserve," says Mike. "Sure Army has a name but Detroit was the hardest hitting team we faced last year," he points out. In fact Mike is anticipating a tough home game with Detroit this season.

Taking this season's games one by one, Mike demonstrates that first of all Marquette wasn't really that good. Again "We gave up the ball at bad times," says Mike. Also "their end runs spoiled us."

No Excuses at Navy

In the Navy game we have no excuses. Mike mentions the ever-pressing theme of "fumblitis." It should also be mentioned that Navy dresses about 3 or 4 teams although they have about 7 or 8 teams at their disposal. But Mike persists that it was mostly VU's fault in losing. Villanova was simply overpowered in that game.

In the Dayton game however, Mike mentions that "We were in it until the very end." But the breaks just went the wrong way at the wrong time. "Final score of 14-0 shows what Coach Crowe has been pointing out all season," says Mike. "This is that the defense isn't bad.'" Offensively, however, the boys just can't seem to get off to a winning start.

HALFBACK PETTINE
. . . seeking breaks

College of Pacific and Miami of Ohio were the same story offensively. Mike points out that VU just can't seem to crack that goal line.

Too Many Fumbles

One very important factor should be brought to mind at this point however. VU has had 22 fumbles in 5 games. They lost 17 of them to the opposition. Also most of the fumbles have been deep in their own territory. Could this all be due to lack of experience?

Of on thing Mike is certain. "We don't expect to lose all the games this season. Just because we're losing doesn't mean we lost our spirit," says Mike. He points out that VU has a very good chance of winning both of the upcoming Rutgers and Xavier games. He also points out that the return of Gruneisen to the lineup will help the offensive game considerably. Finally Mike tells us that "the one game will come in which all the breaks will go our way," and this writer agrees that that should happen in the near

Economic Issues Debated

Kennedy

(Continued from Page 5)

life when the need for medical care rises sharply, such an amount falls far short of being fair and adequate. Hence, Senator Kennedy has proposed to extend the social security system to provide hospital and medical care for older citizens.

Other bills to modernize unemployment insurance, to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and to improve housing are also on his agenda. Certainly, few citizens who are conscious of the need in these trying years to maintain good morale at home and favorable prestige abroad would quarrel with such reform proposals.

Yet again, the hucksters of denunciation still persist in trying to make progressive reform a synonym for state socialism. To back up their charges, they hasten to point out that Senator Kennedy includes among his group of economic advisors such liberal thinkers as John Galbraith of Harvard. Senator Kennedy, as always, has answered them on every occasion. On the matter of advisors, he has said, "I consult advisors of both liberal and conservative thought, just as my corporate executive seeks the advice of all his associates. Then I make up my own mind."

And that is what the American voter must now do—make up his own mind. He must decide for himself whether he believes everything to be satisfactory, or whether it is necessary to get things moving again for himself and for his future. No greater responsibility has ever been placed on any past generation o fAmerican voters!

Investigate The Issues Then Vote Intelligently On November 8

Nixon

(Continued from Page 5)

workers. Because organized labor has regarded management as the enemy," it has not always been concerned with building up the free economy and has preferred to seek government control, even in the settlement of labor disputs.

In my view, the view of industry is the larger view in that it considers less selfishly (it still needs a measure of policing, of course) the welfare of the whole community. The opposite approach seems to me to be harmful because of its divisive tendency, and because of its misdirected objectives. America is not a land of equality, but a land of equality opportunity. In a sound economy, the able students we train here may be expected to take their places at the heads of industry, government and labor, not as a matter of accident, but as the result of training, industry, responsibility and thrift. And if that is so, I will look to the future confident of the nature and quality of our leadership.

Wildkittens Drop Season Opener At Bullis Prep, 14-2

By Dan Bell

On Saturday the Villanova freshman football team traveled to Silver Springs, Maryland where they dropped their first game of the season to Bullis Prep by the score of 14-2. Bullis Prep scored 8 points in the first quarter and six in the second. Villanova scored a safety in the fourth quarter.

Midway in the first quarter Bullis moved from the 50 yard line down to the 28. On a third and 7 situation, Bullis threw a pass to the Wildcat 5 yard line. The Bullis receiver went up for the pass and so did two Villanova defenders. The ball was knocked cleanly away and an official called interference on the five. On the next play Bullis scored.

Two Point Conversion

They ran over for the conversion and Bullis led 8-0. On the second play of the second quarter the Bullis quarterback dropped back to pass on a third down and eight situation. Clifford, Villanova's left end chased him back to the 35, but just as he was about to tackle him he was blocked by a Bullis lineman and the quarterback went from there to the Wildcat three yard line. On the next play Bullis swept right end for the score. An attempted pass on the conversion was deflected. This made the score Bullis 14, V.U. 0.

In the third quarter the 'Cats got together and drove from their own twenty down to the Bullis 19 yard line where two incomplete passes ran Villanova out of downs. This drive was highlighted by the running of Quarterback Chairlanza, halfback Corsetti and fullback Noon.

In the fourth quarter Villanova again drove to the Bullis 18 yard line from their own 40 only to have a pass intercepted. This drive featured the running of Corsetti, a hard driving Wildcat halfback who accounted for over thirty yards of the yards that were gained.

2 Points for 'Cats

Late in the fourth quarter the charging Wildcat line dropped the Bullis quarterback on the one foot line. On the next play Bullis sent a halfback around the left end on a sweep but he was met there by Clifford, Dunn, and Boyle who dropped him in the end zone for the safety. The scoreboard read Bullis 14—Villanova 2.

This game was the freshman team's first this year. So far this season they have played the part of the varsity's opponent in weekly scrimmage. The game with Bullis was the first time the Wildcats could use their own plays. In the first half Villanova just couldn't get going because they did not seem to be sure of themselves.

The Bullis end sweep plays were the things that were hurting the 'Cats. Finally in the second half they shifted into a defense that stopped these Bullis sweeps cold. The line play of the Wildcat frosh was terrific. Bullis did not have a chance to gain any yardage through the line.

Next week the Frosh travel to West Chester to take on the Rams and on November 11 they make their way to West Point where they meet the Black Knight plebes.

Speedy frosh halfback Bob Shylock, eludes grasp of Bullis Prep tackler at Silver Springs, Md. last Friday.

MAC Champs Upset

Traynor Breaks MAC Record As Harrier Upset Hawks

"It was one of the greatest cross country races ever run by a Villanova athlete," Jim Tuppeny beamed.

"Mr. T's" elation was caused by Pat Traynor's record shattering performance which highlighted Villanova's stunning 21-34 upset of St. Joesph's MAC cross country champs last Saturday at Cobbs Creek Park.

Traynor smashed the Cobbs Creek record held by Carl Homen, Finn flyer from Delaware University, when he covered the four and three-quarter mile course in 23:24. Homen's record was 23:45.

Last Year's Time: 25:48

Traynor's performance is rendered even more incredible in light of last year's winning time in this meet. Angelo Sivieri posted a 25:48 last year, almost two and a half minutes over Traynor's time.

Sivieri ran an outstanding race, too, bettering his time of last year by over two minutes as he finished second to Traynor in 23:45.

Kevin Quinn, St. Joseph's, set a new school record for the Hawks in finishing third in 24:25.

14 Beat Last Year's Time

"As a matter of fact," Tuppent interjected, "the first 14 finishers bested Sivieri's winning time of last year."

The 16 top placers were: Traynor (V), Sivieri (V), Quinn, (SP, Owen Maguire (V), Jon Dante (V), Carr (SJ) Jerry Hackett (V), four men from St. Joseph's, and Lance Hugelmeyer, Bobby Collins, Henry Neal, and Al Jackman from Villanova.

HARRIER TRAYNOR
. . . 'nother race, 'nother record

This was Traynor's second record smashing performance to date.

The former Monsignor Bonner basketball captain has been running cross country only since his senior year in high school.

"The hard work is beginning to pay off, said an obviously pleased Tuppeny, who has been directing the endurance sessions of the 'Cat harriers.

In addition to yesterday's encounter with St. John's of Brooklyn, the 'Cat harriers meet LaSalle next Wednesday at LaSalle.

Too Many Mistakes Killed 'Cats--Players

By Bill Cercone

Questioned as to their reactions of the Army debacle, the following players' responses convey the opinion that the team has the potential but is definitely not playing up to it. The problem is very difficult to ascertain. The players continually seek to answer the thorny question: What's wrong?

Nick Langone was a picture of complete dispair as he dryly remarked, "I can't see how a team can look so good against Marquette and look so poor against Army. Of course we made mistakes, but a team is allowed a few mistakes. Unfortunately our mistakes are made continually and this is where the discrepancy lies. What the solution is I don't know."

"Wlait until next week, though," Langone said hopefully.

Quarterback Ted Aceto shook his head slowly, tugged at his collar, and stared at the wall." I wish we could have done a lot better, I thought the team was up for the game. Although once the game began Army was just too tough—offensively and defensively. Their depth was too much for us and this hurt the most."

Gene Ceppetelli smiled sarcastically as the pain from his injury throbbed, reminding him of the power of the Black Knights of the Hudson. "Sure they blocked and tackled harder than we did otherwise they wouldn't have won. We were in the game all the way but their blocking and tackling were too effective and the score showed it."

Husky Nick Russo quickly retorted to the question, "Man for man we're as good as anybody —even Army. One of these games we're going to get together and explode."

It can't happen to soon.

Lohr's' Eleven

RUTGERS vs. Villanova	Remains undefeated
OHIO STATE vs. Mich. State	Rose Bowl bouns
NAVY vs. Notre Dame	Should be No. 1
PURDUE vs. Illinois	Illini boiled
PITT vs. Syracuse	Upset of the year
MISSISSIPPI vs. L.S.U.	Chinese lawmen
GA. TECH vs Duke	Bound to miss this one
NORTHWESTERN vs. Indiana	Easy does it
PENN STATE vs. West Va.	Lions rip Mounties
AUBURN vs. Florida	No fix here
SO. CONN. ST. vs. Youngstown	Eastern Power

Last week (not printed); 7-3-1
Seasons total: 33-18-4
Pct.: .648

A FRAT TO REMEMBER

Every year, as we all know, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Collegiate Fraternities awards a highly coveted prize to the fraternity house which, in its judgment, has done the most to promote and enhance the fraternity way of life. The prize this year—eight hundred pounds of white putty—goes to the Signa Phi Nothing chapter of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art.

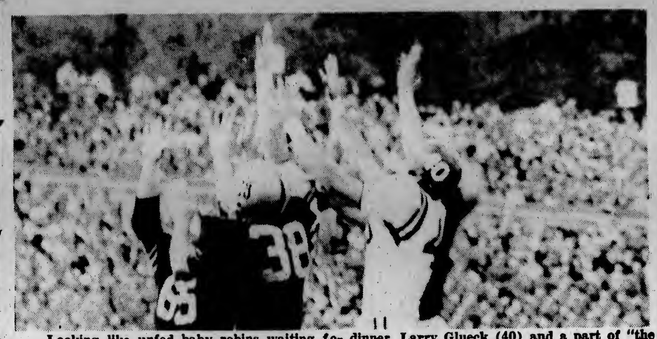
The award this year is exceptionally richly deserved, for the Signa Phi Nothing house is the very model of all a fraternity should be. It is, first of all, a most attractive house physically. The outside walls are tastefully covered with sequins. Running along the upper story is a widow's walk, with a widow stationed every three feet. Moored to the chimney pot is the Graf Zeppelin.

Indoors, the house gives an impression of simple, casual charm. The chapter room is furnished in homey maple and chintz, with a dash of verve provided by a carp pool three hundred feet in diameter. A waterspout rises from the center of the pool with the housemother bouncing on the top.

Members' rooms are gracious and airy and are provided with beds which disappear into the wall—permanently. Each room also has a desk, a comfortable chair, a good reading lamp, and a catapult for skeetshooting. Kidney-shaped desks are available for kidney-shaped members.

Perhaps the most fetching feature of the house are the packs of Marlboros stacked in heaps wherever one goes. If one wishes to settle back and enjoy a full-flavored smoke, one needs only to reach out one's hand in any direction and pick a pack of Marlboros—soft pack or flip-top box—and make one's self comfortable with a filtered cigarette with an unfiltered taste—that triumph of the tobacconist's art, that paragon of smokes, that acme of cigarettes, that employer of mine—Marlboro!

The decor, the grace, the Marlboros, all combine to make Signa Phi Nothing a real gas of a fraternity. But a fraternity is more than things; it is also people. And it is in the people department that Signa Phi Nothing really shines.



Signa Phi Nothing has among its members the biggest BMOCs on the entire campus of the South Dakota College of Dentistry and Renaissance Art. There is, for instance, William Makepeace Sigafoos, charcoal and bun chairman of the annual Stamp Club outing. Then there is Dun Rovin, winner of last year's All-South Dakota State Monopoly Championship, 135 Pound Class. Then there is Rock Schwartz, who can sleep standing up. Then there is Tremblant Placebo, who can crack pecans in his armpits. Then there is Ralph Tungsten, who went bald at eight.

But why go on? You can see what a splendid bunch of chaps there is in Signa Phi Nothing, and when one sees them at the house in the cool of the evening, all busy with their tasks—some picking locks, some playing Jacks-or-Better, some clipping Playboy—one's heart fills up and one's eyes grow misty, and one cannot but give three cheers and a tiger for Signa Phi Nothing, fraternity of the year!

© 1960 Max Shulman

• • •

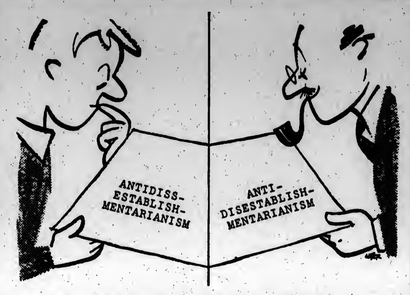
And while you're cheering, how about a huzzah for the newest member of the Marlboro family of fine cigarettes—unfiltered, mild, delightful Philip Morris king-size Commander! Have a Commander—welcome aboard!

Looking like unfed baby robins waiting for dinner, Larry Glueck (40) and a part of "the corps" including Miller (65) and Pappas (38) reach with outstretched arms for Villanova quarterback Ted Aceto's pass.

Nova Natators Prep For Upcoming Crawl Campaign

by Matt Mone

Villanova's Varsity Swimming team began workouts this week, inaugurating an altogether new training program. In the past, Coach Geisz confined his charges to at least one month of dry-land calisthenics before any actual water work got under way.



This year pulley-type wall weights have been installed in the swimming pool to aid the body-building and conditioning program. Regular exercises with these weights will be used as an integral part of the conditioning program and will be co-ordinated with the regular swim practices throughout the season. Both Varsity Coach Ed Geisz and Freshman Coach Jack Lumsden believe that the addition of this important training apparatus will help to bring the swimmers to peak form, much sooner than previous training methods and will also help them to remain in better shape throughout the season.

Tough Schedule

Led by Co-Captains Don Boehmeke and Bob Dow, the swimmers are once more faced with a formidable schedule. The calibre of teams met in past seasons such as Yale, Princeton, Army, Navy and V.M.I., coupled with this year's schedule of meets, points to one of the toughest competitive schedules met by any team in the East. However, with the loss of only two members of last year's squad and the addition of twenty members of last year's 10-2 Frosh team, the 1960-61 team should be one of the strongest in Villanova's history.

Particularly strong should be the freestyle events. In the sprints, there are eight to ten men capable of bettering the times turned in by last year's sprinters. These include Seniors: Frank Dunn, Bob Donahue and Bill Cassin; Juniors: Ed Jensen and Sophs: Mike Powers and Jim Grimm. In the middle distances, Don Boehmeke, last season's mainstay, will be joined by Soph Ed Brier. As a freshman last year, Ed broke the school record in both the 220 and 440-yard freestyle events and much will be expected of him this year.

In the backstroke events, Junior Don Reed will be joined by Alec Hicks, a soph who is expected to fill in for the graduated Frank Keefe. In the butterfly stroke, Bob Dow and Dan O'Brien will be joined by Mike Le Moult, another Soph. The breaststroke will see Ted Moriarty, Brian Reilly and Matt Mone battling for starting positions with Sophs Jim Feller and Dave La Mond. To replace Steve Carton, in the diving event, Coach Geisz has a host of fine divers including George Robertson, Joe Scott and Al Nencetti.

NOT A SIGN OF A SLIP-UP!

Typing errors disappear like magic when you use Eaton's Corrāsable Bond. Never a trace of the word that was erased; errors can be flicked off Corrāsable's special surface with an ordinary pencil eraser. Saves re-typing, time and money. And the sparkling new whiteness gives all typing a new brilliance. You can't make a mistake getting Eaton's Corrāsable. (Rhymes with erasable.)

Eaton's Corrāsable Bond is available in light, medium, heavy and onion skin weights. In convenient 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. A Berkshire Typewriter Paper, backed by the famous Eaton name.

Made only by Eaton

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND
Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION PITTSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

Cat Back Sees A Ray Of Sunshine In Cloudy Season

by Victor Strano

"How does Villanova lose so many games?" seems to be the age-old question around these parts. In order to shed some light on the subject I called on one of our up and coming favorites Mike Pettine to see if he could help us out on this subject.

In the interest of the uninformed, Mike is a junior half back, one of the returning lettermen from last year, who is currently bolstering this year's squad. While only a soph playing on the second unit he caught a T.D. pass in that one victorious Dayton game of last year. This year his speciality seems to be in that division of the offense, that is pass-catching, even though VU hasn't had a good passing game as yet.

Bad Breaks a Factor

Getting back to the main difficulty however, Mike points out that last year and this year are somewhat similiar. He notes that the opposition always take advantage of our breaks. Also in a crucial moment and usually in their own territory VU frequently loses the ball.

Mike talked about last years' Army game that we lost 14-0. He says it was a lot closer than the score indicated. "Some of the teams we play don't get the rating they deserve," says Mike. "Sure Army has a name but Detroit was the hardest hitting team we faced last year," he points out. In fact Mike is anticipating a tough home game with Detroit this season.

Taking this season's games one by one, Mike demonstrates that first of all Marquette wasn't really that good. Again "We gave up the ball at bad times," says Mike. Also "their end runs spoiled us."

No Excuses at Navy

In the Navy game we have no excuses. Mike mentions the ever-pressing theme of "fumbliatis." It should also be mentioned that Navy dresses about 3 or 4 teams although they have about 7 or 8 teams at their disposal. But Mike persists that it was mostly VU's fault in losing. Villanova was simply overpowered in that game.

In the Dayton game however, Mike mentions that "We were in it until the very end." But the breaks just went the wrong way at the wrong time. "Final score of 14-0 shows what Coach Crowe has been pointing out all season," says Mike. "This is that the defense isn't bad."' Offensively, however, the boys just can't seem to get off to a winning start.

HALFBACK PETTINE
. . . seeking breaks

College of Pacific and Miami of Ohio were the same story offensively. Mike points out that VU just can't seem to crack that goal line.

Too Many Fumbles

One very important factor should be brought to mind at this point however. VU has had 22 fumbles in 5 games. They lost 17 of them to the opposition. Also most of the fumbles have been deep in their own territory. Could this all be due to lack of experience?

Of on thing Mike is certain. "We don't expect to lose all the games this season. Just because we're losing doesn't mean we lost our spirit," says Mike. He points out that VU has a very good chance of winning both of the upcoming Rutgers and Xavier games. He also points out that the return of Gruneisen to the lineup will help the offensive game considerably. Finally Mike tells us that "the one game will come in which all the breaks will go our way," and this writer agrees that that should happen in the near life when the need for medical care rises sharply, such an amount falls far short of being fair and adequate. Hence, Senator Kennedy has proposed to extend the social security system to provide hospital and medical care for older citizens.

Economic Issues Debated

Kennedy

(Continued from Page 5)

Other bills to modernize unemployment insurance, to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and to improve housing are also on his agenda. Certainly, few citizens who are conscious of the need in these trying years to maintain good morale at home and favorable prestige abroad would quarrel with such reform proposals.

Yet again, the hucksters of denunciation still persist in trying to make progressive reform a synonym for state socialism. To back up their charges, they hasten to point out that Senator Kennedy includes among his group of economic advisors such liberal thinkers as John Galbraith of Harvard. Senator Kennedy, as always, has answered them on every occasion. On the matter of advisors, he has said, "I consult advisors of both liberal and conservative thought, just as my corporate executive seeks the advice of all his associates. Then I make up my own mind."

And that is what the American voter must now do—make up his own mind. He must decide for himself whether he believes everything to be satisfactory, or whether it is necessary to get things moving again for himself and for his future. No greater responsibility has ever been placed on any past generation o fAmerican voters!

Investigate The Issues Then Vote Intelligently On November 8

Nixon

(Continued from Page 5)

workers. Because organized labor has regarded management as the enemy," it has not always been concerned with building up the free economy and has preferred to seek government control, even in the settlement of labor disputs.

In my view, the view of industry is the larger view in that it considers less selfishly (it still needs a measure of policing, of course) the welfare of the whole community. The opposite approach seems to me to be harmful because of its divisive tendency, and because of its misdirected objectives. America is not a land of equality, but a land of equality opportunity. In a sound economy, the able students we train here may be expected to take their places at the heads of industry, government and labor, not as a matter of accident, but as the result of training, industry, responsibility and thrift. And if that is so, I will look to the future confident of the nature and quality of our leadership.

Weary 'Cats Try, Try Again Against Unbeaten Rutgers

by Jack Duffy

"To be or not to be", that is the question. Is this the year the Rutgers Scarlet will be hailed as one of the few undefeated teams in the East? Is this the year the Villanova Wildcats will be hailed as one of the defeated teams in the East, or as more than one V. U. undergraduate has aptly stated, "the most defeated team in the East?" This question will be placed before the parties in question on the football field at Rutgers Stadium on Saturday afternoon.

Perfect Record

Rutgers enters this clash with a perfect record of 5 wins and no losses. The Jersey eleven has disposed of opponents such as Princeton, Connecticut, Colgate, Bucknell, and Lehigh. They, however, have not played such dandies as Army, Navy, and Marquette. The Scarlet has compiled this record by playing teams in their own class. How uncouth!

For years Rutgers, along with Tennessee, has been one of the single wing schools in the Nation. This year they have been converted to an unbalanced line T, or double wing T, as new coach, John Bateman, would like it referred to. Bateman came to Rutgers this past year from Penn in a Frank Lane type deal. After the Steve Sebo affair at Penn, Bateman and Dewey King, Penn's backfield coach were traded to Rutgers for John Steigman, Penn's new single wing coach Rutgers so far has gotten the better of the deal as their 5-0 record would indicate.

Lots of Lettermen

The Scarlet have 23 returning lettermen, 16 of whom are seniors. A handy litle item comforting Bateman is the fact that he has eight tackles over 210 pounds. The center position is also in good hands. The incumbent is team captain Les Senft but Senft is being hard pressed by Alex Kroll for the first team berth. This Kroll is a 22-year-old Army veteran who steps on the scales at 228 pounds. Plus all this, he is only a sophomore.

At the ends the Rutgers team has ten players, all capable of starting. (I repeat—Ten Ends). So many ends would lead you to believe that Rutgers has a good passing attack. This assumption is the exact truth, ask Princeton. On the front end of their passes is a junior who goes by the title of Sam Mudie. Sam played quite a bit of tailback last year and is a good runner. His specialty is the roll out pass, a less publicized Joe Bellino. Sam is also the punter. He averages 40 yards a kick. To top it all off, he is an engineer with late labs several times a week.

Breakaway Back

The halfbacks are Arny Byrd Dick Webb, Byrd, a senior, is a tricky break-away runner. Give him one step and he is gone. Webb is the quick-opener type runner. Once into a hole, however, he runs with good power and is hard to stop. The fullback position is still open with the season half over. The man getting most of the attention is Steve Simms. Simms is a big, strong fellow who also runs with power. He is the third of 3 brothers who attended Rutgers. His brother Bob is a rookie end with the New York Giants this year.

Last year's game, as many will remember, was a real humdinger. The 'Cats played their usual generous first half and were on the short end of the score of 12-0. In the second half they caught fire and scored once on a plunge by Leon Horin to cut the lead to 12-6. With a minute left to play, the 'Cats, still 6 points down, moved from their own 25 to the Rutgers 2. Rushing to get off the last play without benefit of a huddle the 'Cats came out in confusion. Consequently, Langone was pummeled far back of the line of scrimmage and Rutgers won the game. If there had been a huddle or another five seconds of play the 'Cats would have scored.

Lead In Series

With last year's triumph Scarlet led in the series 4 games to 3. The series started in 1906 and until last year there hadn't been a game since 1933. The Wildcats have been shut out by Rutgers 3 times.

Not this Saturday, however, as Rettino, Richman and friends will make Rutgers wish they were back playing with their Ivy League pals.

Cadets Ord (73), Butzer (60), and Zmuidas (85), march in single file in their pursuit of the Wildcats' Larry Glueck (40) as Mike Pettine (48) hits the deck at Michie Stadium.

Army Artillery Barrage Shellshocks 'Cat Eleven

by Mike Donahue

For the second time in as many outings with service academies, Villanova's outclassed Wildcats served as fodder for an artillery barrage last Saturday.

The battlefield was Michie Stadium gridiron, nestled near the top of the 14,000 acre military reservation that is the United States Military Academy. Thereon Alex Bell's shocked troops were decimated in a 54-0 pummeling that left the football fortunes of Villanova in a state of trauma.

As was the case at Navy, each score was accompanied by cannon fire. The only difference was the size of the weapon. Navy's piece of artillery apparatus looked like a small-scale Big Bertha. It was a big gun. Army's TD signaller was just plain small-scale. It was a little gun.

Army Guns Rapid Fire

And therein lies the difference between Army and Navy. Navy has the most potent weapon in the arsenal, Joe Bellino. Army has no weapon as lethal as Bellino. However, it does have a bevy of small rapid-fire guns. These guns fired twice more often than Navy's Big Bertha.

They were right on target Saturday. When George Kirschenbauer, Glen Adams, Pete King, Roger ailskas, Joe Blackgrove, Tom Blanda, and Dick Eckert zeroed in they met little resistance. This was due to the obstacle-levelling tactics of such "tanks" as Al Vanderbush, Dale Kuhns, Harry Miller, Barry Butzer, et alia. These people opened holes in the Wildcat first line of defense spacious enough to drive the three Army mules through—sideways.

Adams was the first to capitalize on this chink in the defensive armor. On the second play from scrimmage he took a handoff from quarterback Blanda on an inside reverse and sauntered thru a mammoth hole opened by weak side guard Miller. 18 yards later Adams was tackled. Four plays subsequent, bazooka-like Al Rushatz boomed thru the same hole, this time a bit narrower. Once in the clear he assumed impala-like qualities and sped 31 yards to Army's first score.

A Long Gray Day

First series, six plays, six points in 2:11. At this juncture the sun came out but it looked like the beginning of a long, gray day.

This was confirmed not long hence. The first two Villanova offensive plays, engineered by Richie Richman, produced eight yards. On third down, the cool southpaw called on his siege gun, Lou Rettino, for the yardage. Rettino rumbled forward, was hit low inches short of the first down and failed to get it when Army co-captain Vanderbush drove him back with an eyebrow tackle. No first down.

A 38 yard kick by Ron Meyers ensued. The Army safety man took the kick and was just about to be downed by 'Cat halfback Bob Merenda when George Joulwan literally upended him with the most savage block of the afternoon. It levelled Merenda and, in effect, the Wildcats for the remainder of the debacle.

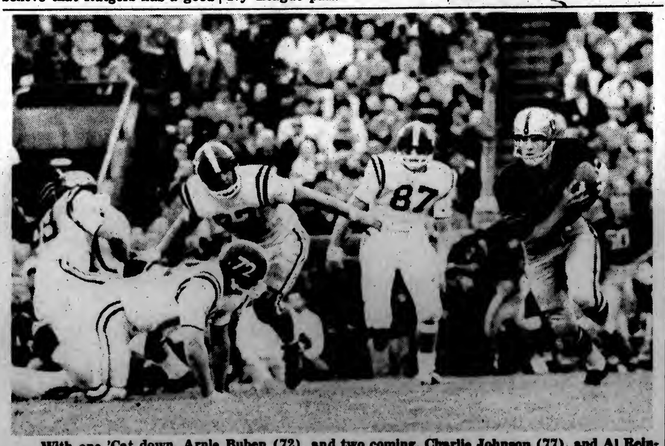
Hall Merciful

Coach Dale Hall, though obviously intent on putting on an impressive show for the Homecoming crowd of 24,154, mercifully played out his bench. He replaced his starting eleven early although there was little to choose from among the first 35 men. The third stringers played as capably as the initial team.

Though the game was Army's from the start, this didn't militate against several standout plays and performances by Villanovans. Newly returned Sam Gruneisen made a remarkable catch of a ball three feet over his head with two dfenders literally on his back.

Luzzi Hampered by Pull

Captain Joe Luzzi, again a part-time operator due to a tender hamstring muscle, opened at least four sizable holes for Rettino and Mike Pettine.



On defense, though, Luzzi and Gruneisen, because of a steady diet of double-teaming and triple-teaming, could not consistently contain the Army tanks and guns. Since the slack left by their incapacitation was not picked up by the other Wildcat forwards, Army rushed for 375 yards.

Rettino, the most consistent back on the team all year, played his usual steady game, winding up the 'Cats' leading ground gainer with 33 yards on nine thrusts.

Unfortunately for Villanova's standout individuals they ran into a standout team. The results were traumatic.

★ ★ ★

FROSTBITS . . . Army rolled up 221 yards rushing in the first half alone . . . Ron Meyers continued his great punting, averaging 42.5 yards per . . . Army averaged 29 on two, both in the first half. They did not have to punt at all in the second half . . . Army's rushing yardage of 375 yards represents almost twice the ground yardage amassed in the last two Villanova-Army put together. Combined Cadet rushing in the '58 and '59 games was a paltry 207 yards . . . Rushatz is also a standout wrestler. He is considered to be one of the best matmen ever to grapple for West Point . . . The Villanova marching band put on an impressive halftime show. Almost as impressive was the running description of the band's maneuvers rendered by senior Jim Strazzela. Strazzela handled himself with the poise and aplomb of a collegiate Dave Zinkoff. . . . .

With one 'Cat down, Arnie Buben (72), and two coming, Charlie Johnson (77), and Al Reinoso (87), Army's Art Lewis (12) looks for blocking help as he turns the end in Saturday's 54-0 debacle.

Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 7 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. November 10, 1960

JOHN F. KENNEDY ELECTED PRESIDENT

by H. James McAteer

John F. Kennedy has been elected the thirty-fifth President of the United States. His opponent, Richard M. Nixon, conceded the election early Wednesday, thereby assuring the Democrat of the Presidency after eight years of Republican ascendancy in the White House.

A record turnout of voters, spurred chiefly by the uncertainty of the nation's foreign affairs and the apparent need for domestic reforms, flocked to the polls to give the Democratic Party control of both the White House and the Congress for the first time since 1948.

Longest Hours

Kennedy and his wife cast their ballots in Boston early Tuesday, then travelled to their Hyannis Port, Mass., home to await news of the outcome of the election. "These hours will be the longest of my life," the President-elect had declared upon arriving at Hyannis Port.

Early returns from the polls across the nation showed no definite trend toward either party, but as the day and night wore on, indications became increasingly strong that Kennedy and his vice presidential runningmate, Lyndon B. Johnson, would be the next Chief Executives of the United States.

Nixon, awaiting the election's outcome with his wife in their hometown of East Whittier, Calif., and Republican vice presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge, who sat out the long night at his Beverley, Mass., residence, finally conceded the election to the Democrats early Wednesday.

Although it is still too early to state unequivocally that the undecided bloc, variously estimated at from two to five million, determined the election in favor of Kennedy, speculation was rampant among news commentators that the power of the undecided voters provided the decisive force in the election.

Congressional elections ran more true to expected form, as the Democratic Party retained a solid majority in both the Senate and the House. Hence, the congressional dichotomy which has prevailed since 1956 will continue for at least another two years.

Belle Masque Production Of "Country Girl" Opens Tonite

The first major theatrical event at Villanova this year will be the Belle Masque production of "The Country Girl". This play, a drama by Clifford Odets, will be presented in Vasey Hall Theatre November 9-13. The price will be $1.25, and tickets may be purchased in the Pie Shop. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The action of the play concerns backstage life. It is the story of an actor with a weakness for liquor, who makes a comeback with the help of his wife and a young director, who is in love with another man's wife. The play shows new depth in the author's works, for he has approached his three principal characters from within themselves.

Cast in the major roles are John McGarry as Frank Elgin, Kathy Crane, a Rosemont Senior, as George Elgin, and Mike Kennedy as Bernie Dodd. Also featured in the cast are Jim McMahon, Tom Flynn, Jerry Paonessa, and Gail Wolters. Dick Tichenor is the stage manager and Carol Shminkel is assistant stage manager. General understudy for the production is Dick MacEntire.

The play was produced on Broadway in 1950 to critical acclaim and was later made into a movie staring Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, and William Holden. It was for her performance in this motion picture that Grace Kelly won her Academy Award.

John McGarry brings with him to the stage a great deal of experience. Last year he appeared in the two Belle Masque shows, "The Higher You Climb" and "The Crucible". He was also seen in the Graduate School production of "Twelfth Night" and "The Merchant of Venice" at Immaculata College. Kathy Crane is president of the Rosemont dramatic organization, Jest and Jesture, and appeared there last semester in the "Cherry Orchard".

Miss Crane also held a leading role in "The Crucible." Mike Kennedy makes his Villanova stage debut in "The Country Girl". Coming to us from St. Ambrose College in Iowa, he has appeared in such shows as "The Caine Mutiny Court Marshal", "The Lady's Not for Burning," "Brigadoon", and many others.

According to Belle Masque President Paul Breen, all facets of the show have gone well. "There has been, in this production," said Breen, "full cooperation from all members of the Society. The members of the stage crew, publicity and ticket committees, along with the cast, have been smoothly coordinated by Publicity Director, Bill Friend, and Crew Chief, Mike D'Alonzo. I feel this play will surpass anything Belle Masque has already done, including last year's overwhelmingly successful production of "The Crucible".

The Director of this production, Mr. R. A. Dudrey, is very enthusiastic about the show and had these comments to make: "I am extremely happy to say that the three principals in "The Country Girl" are, in my estimation, the finest actors I have worked with since coming to Villanova five years ago. Whether this opinion will be shared by Belle Masque audiences I do not know. I would, however, suggest that those interested in live, exciting theatre come to find out for themselves."

PRESIDENT ELECT JOHN F. KENNEDY

Belle Masquers Prepare

Belle Masque star John McGarry submits to a makeup call while a stagehand readies the scenery.

Law Forum Date:

Connally Reservation To Be Debated On Monday Nite

Harold Gill Reushlein, Dean of the School of Law, announced that the second presentation in the Law Forum series for the academic year will take the form of a debate on the controversial "Connally Reservation". It will take place in Garey Hall on November 14.

Presenting the case for the retention of the "Connally Reservation" will be George S. Montgomery Jr., a prominent attorney in the law firm of Caudert Brothers, New York City. Supporting the case for the repeal of the "Connally Reservation" will be Robert Dechert, of Barnes, Dechert, Price, Myers and Rhoades.

George S. Montgomery Jr. was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1917 and attended the Harvard School of Law. He served the United States in World War I with distinction as a Naval Flyer in France, England, and Ireland. Since 1923 he has been associated with the law firm of Caudert Brothers in New York City.

Mr. Montgomery is also an accomplished author. He has written "The Return of Adam Smith" and also "Why Bertrand Russell is not a Christian". The latter being a book dedicated to "those who have not succumbed to the admonition of a Godless philosophy."

Robert Deckert is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and has attended St. John's College and Oxford University in England where Mr. Deckert was a member of Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year.

He graduated with honors from College and Law School. In addition he was presented a prize for being graduated with the highest standing in Law School. Mr. Deckert is also a member of the Law Board of Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania since 1928 and was chairman from 1952 to 1955. In addition, he is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Fidelity - Philadelphia Trust Company.

He has also taught the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He taught a course in Taxation which is believed to be the first regular course in that subject in a major law school.

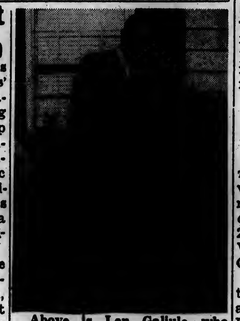
The Connally Reservation

"As determined by the United States". These six words are known as the Connally Resolution or Reservation.

In 1946 the United States made a formal declaration accepting the Court's jurisdiction for the first time. It did so with a qualification excluding matters within its domestic jurisdiction. Persuant to an amendment to the declaration introduced by Senator Conally, a further condition was added.

It provided that the United States itself, rather than the International Court, was to have power to decide whether a case was excluded because of its domestic character. This added condition was adopted by a Senate vote of 51 to 12 and has since been referred to as the Connally Reservation.

Frat Presidents competing in Joyce Kiely Mile battle obstacles human and otherwise as they conclude final leg and make for the tape.



Physics Majors Visit 'Hot' Chemistry Lab

Seven senior physics majors attended the College Visitors' Day program at Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, Long Island, on October 28. This trip to Brookhaven, a research facility established and operated under contract with the Atomic Energy Comuission by Associated Universities Inc., was sponsored by the Villanova Chapter of the American Institute of Physics.

The tour included stops at the nuclear reactor, the "hot" chemistry laboratory, the Cosmatron, and the alternating gradient synchrotron. There were also many lectures and exhibits, including motion pictures and demonstrations illustrating the experimental work being conducted at the laboratory.

Most of this work deals with the investigations into the "heart" of matter, the nucleus. The main objective of these investigations is to find out if there are some basic particles of which all matter is composed and if there is, what the properties of these particles are.

Those who made the trip were: George McNeil, Ronald Lioperig, Norman Burkhardt, David Buhler, John McKeough, Richard Clemens and Alexander Casella.

Above is Len Galiulo who addressed the Literary Club yesterday. His subject was beat poetry.

Pre-Law Society Talk

The Pre-Law Society of Villanova has announced that Senator William V. Mullin of the eighth district in Pennsylvania will be their guest speaker for Thursday, December 1.

Senator Mullin has had a long line of political successes among which were his 1958 re-election to the state senate and his appointment as a democratic delegate in July. He has also served as solicitor to Register of Wills in Philadelphia, has attended the past five Democratic Conventions, and was the chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of the 41 ward during the Truman administration.

All interested students may attend the lecture which will be held during the student activities period in the Commerce and Finance Building.

Gallagher Re-Elected

The Philosophy Dept. has announced that Dr. D. A. Gallagher, Vice-Chairman of the department, was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Fullerton Club for 1960-61.

Rea Library Thanks DPE For Party Aid

The Rea Memorial Library Fund Committee has expressed its appreciation to DPE, C & F Fraternity, for its assistance at the recently-held Library Party.

The Party, sponsored by the Committee to raise funds for the expansion of the library, was conducted with the co-operation of Committee members, the Moore Institute of Art, Science and Industry, and many generous people on campus, according to the Committee's publicity officers.

Fraternity members and pledges assisted the Committee in directing parking lots, operating coat-check counters, serving as ushers and directing tours of the campus.

The Rev. Joseph Bartley, O.S.A., Dean of C & F, expressed particular appreciation to David McCue, DPE President, who assumed full responsibility for conducting the affair, and who offered the services of the fraternity for any future C & F functions.

Closed Retreats

A list of approved Laymen's retreat houses located in the various home areas of most members of the student body is on file in the Chaplain's Office, 223 Mendel ,the Rev. Norbert W. Whitley, O.S.A., University Chaplain, has announced.

According to Father Whitley, the list has been compiled to acquaint students with local Laymen's Retreat movements, and to avail them of the opportunity of taking the required thre-day retreat at times moe convenient than the Univesity's regularly scheduled Christmas and Easter Retreats.

Students See Papers

Students of History 299, a senior class, last Friday visited the Pennsylvania Historical Society in Philadelphia and were shown valuable documents by Mr. Harry Givens, head of the Docments room of the Society.

Knute Rockne's Record

Notre Dame football teams coached by the late Knute Rockne compiled an .898 winning percentage. From 1918 through 1930 they won 105 games, lost 12 and tied five. (AFPS)

Charity Ball To Be Held On Dec. 2; "Ugly" Award Given

The annual Christmas Charity Ball, sponsored by the Junior Class of Villanova, will be held on December 2, a Friday night. The proceeds of this dance will be used to give the "Johnnies" at St. John's Orphanage a suitable Christmas which the chairman, Ron Klammer, emphasizes as "a Christmas which we all take for granted. A great effort has been undertaken to make this dance a major achievement of the class, and for what better cause could a social function be promoted than for charity."

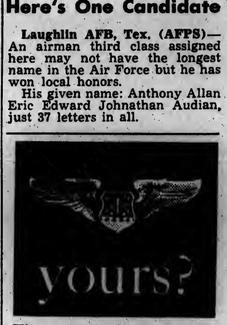
The music for this dance will be provided by the Villanovan Orchestra. Publicity is being handled by Gerry McNulty.

Tickets will be sold for two dollars, and may be purchased on November 22 until the dance either in the Pie Shoppe, in Dougherty Hall, in the C&F building cafeteria, or by contacting Pete Frederico, ticket chairman.

That night will be highlighted by the announcing of the winner of the Ugly Man Contest. This contest will be held for the first time at Villanova this year. The students and faculty will cast their votes, for whom they believe to be the ugliest person on the campus during the week preceding the Christmas Charity Ball. Both Ray Trapp and Mike Kane, the co-chairmen, are striving to acquire a full house the night of the ball by means of an unusual and enlightening decoration theme.

The Orphans' Outing under the direction of the co-chairmen of this event, Howard Beloin and Tom O'Connor, will follow on Saturday the third. In keeping with the Christmas season, Villanovans will take the orphans from St. John's Home to 69th street where they will spend the morning visiting the department stores followed by a prepared luncheon at Kostic's. Afterwards, they will attend "Jailbusters" at the 69th street Theatre. Admission will be free.

Because it will be necessary to insure enough Villanova men to take out the "Johnnies", arrangements have been made to sign up in the Pie Shoppe the week of November 14th.



Members of the class Steering Committee will visit all religion sections during the week of November 14, seeking contributions from the student body. "These voluntary contributions constitute about half the funds available for the weekend," Klammer declared. "I hope that everyone will co-operate in making the weekend a success."

Longest Name in AF?

Here's One Candidate

Laughlin AFB, Tex. (AFPS)—An airman third class assigned here may not have the longest name in the Air Force but he has won local honors.

His given name: Anthony Allan Eric Edward Johnathan Audian, just 37 letters in all.

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

U.S. Air Force

MAIL THIS COUPON TODAY
AVIATION CADET INFORMATION
DEPT. SCL011, BOX 7608,
WASHINGTON 4, D. C.

I am between 19 and 26½, a citizen of the U. S. and a high school graduate with ... years of college. Please send me detailed information on the Air Force Aviation Cadet program.

NAME_____
STREET_____
CITY_____
COUNTY_____ STATE_____

Have a real cigarette—have a CAMEL

The best tobacco makes the best smoke!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

portraits

Star Rises To Fall

"The theatre is like quicksand. The more shows you do, the more you want to do." These words of senior marketing major John McGarry clearly express his views on acting in general and his future in particular.

McGarry's career in the theatre began with humble minstrel shows at Seton Hall Prep in South Orange, N. J. When Mr. Richard A. Duprey, Theatre Department Director, asked for would-be actors at the end of McGarry's freshman year at Villanova, John responded willingly, progressing from a walk-on role in the 1958 production of "Tiger At The Gates" to his lead role in the current Belle Masque production of Clifford Odets' "Country Girl."

Yearbook Business Manager

A native of Scotch Plains, N. J., McGarry has been very active in other campus organizations. He is Business Manager of the 1961 BELLE AIRE, in addition to his membership in the senior class Steering Committee and the Marketing Club. His first love, however, is the theatre, and he already has applied for admission to Villanova's Graduate Theatre Dept.

McGarry, who has starred in "The Merchant of Venice," "Twelfth Night," and a number of other plays, stated "I would love to do a show on Broadway. When you go to Hollywood, you do something once. You just don't get the feel of an audience in movies. When you play to an audience, however, you can make them laugh, cry—you direct their emotions. You improve your performance night by night, creating a personality and developing a new aspect of it every time."

ACTOR McGARRY
. . . Broadway Bound?

Greatest Challenge

The twenty-year-old thespian is facing his greatest challenge to date in the role of Odets' Frank Elgin, a forty-five-year-old actor, "a liar, a man of many dispositions." And it affords him a great opportunity for more realistic acting, because "Country Girl" is Belle Masque's initial modern dress production.

McGarry believes that "this will be of greater interest to the entire student body than costume dress."

Odets Nixed Reds On Party Writing

Philadelphia-born playwright, Clifford Odets, started his show business career as a bit part actor. His first attempt at playwriting was "Awake and Sing", which is second only to his latest effort, "The Country Girl".

Shortly after "Awake and Sing" came "Waiting for Lefty", which the critics acclaimed for its exciting, revolutionary implications of his theme and hailed him as the most promising young playwright of his generation.

His economic opinions are decidedly to the left; he calls himself "some kind of Socialist". In 1952 Odets testified before a House Un-American Activities Committee that he had been a member of the Communist Party for eight months in 1934, but quit the party, because it tried to force him to write according to a party line pattern.

the traditional look in broadcloth sport shirts

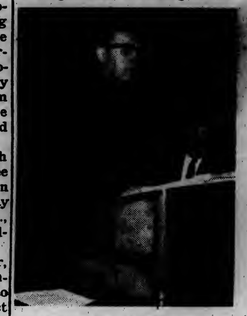
The fabric, the fashion, the feeling . . . all lend the look of classic authenticity to these favored sport shirts. Distinctively printed on broadcloth in handsome, muted colorings . . . styled with button-down collar and back pleat. Tailored in exact sleeve length.
$5.00

cum laude collection
by
ARROW

University President Lauds Council For Job Well Done

The Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., President of the University, in addressing the Student Council last week, commended the organiation for the work it has done, particularly in cultural respects. "This council," he said, "is a very fine representative student body. I greatly appreciate the fact that you are doing so much. This shows that you are interested in the best kind of future for Villanova."



In speaking of an interest in culture, Father Klekotka said, "I'm afraid this has been a field in which Villanova is seriously lacking." He added that he is happy to see such a great interest in higher activities, and further stated that he would do everything possible to encourage this. "The present interest is good," he said, "because it is inspired by the students themselves."

The lag in interest in educational and intellectual excellance was noted by the President. He requested support "to the full" of theater productions, lectures on a higher plane, and other events designed to raise the general tone of the student body.

Student Suggestions

The problem of student deportment was then mentioned. Father Klekotka said that he has received many good comments on student appearance and behavior. The few who present a problem, however, must be handled in some way. To this end, Father said that he would welcome suggestions from the student body.

Much of the behavior problem is exagerrated, according to the

PRESIDENT KLEKOTKA
. . . Rise In Culture

President. He said, in effect, that because people don't like to blame themselves for their faults, they select others, especially younger people. He gave the juvenile delinquency and cheating complaints as two illustrations of this point.

"Cheating is something which goes on in all walks of life. Unfortunately, students must bear the brunt of blame for a fault which is part of the whole social pictue," Father said. He reminded the students to remember, nevertheless, that they are future leaders, and must prepare themselves accordingly.

Crash Program

A motion made by Bob Scalia to institute a crash program for the improvement of the football team was passed unanimously. John Oberlies spoke in favor of the motion.

Chuck Butler's motion to shorten the orientation period from 10-14 days to one week, and to habe a three-day penalty period following Muff Day was also passed.

The Council also nominated senior Jim Strazzella as Villanova's entry in a nation-wide Catholic youth award contest. Strazella was chosen from a field of eight prominent VU students.

Chairman DeLisa requested the co-operation of the Student Council members in making Student Government Week, which will be held later this month, a complete success.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the Rev. Dante Girolami, O.S.A., made the following announcement: "The school officially tolerated the unofficial rally held after the wonderful win at Rutgers." This statement referred to the temporary ban on rallies which was instituted following the COP game.

Gene Felch Elected NFCCS Vice-President At Regional Council

The Regional Council of NFCCS met on Sunday, October 16, at Villanova University. Remarks of welcome were made by Fr. Quinn, N.F. moderator at Villanova, to delegates from nine Catholic colleges.

A special election of Regional Officers was held at which time Sharon LaRose of Imaculatta was elected regional president, Gene Felch of Villanova, Regional Vice-President, and Jean Jourdan of Chestnut Hill was elected CURA Administrator. Dave Doyle of Villanova remained treasurer by virtue of a prior election.

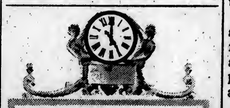
A new programming review for the region was established, designed to be more flexible, efficient, and simple than was the prior Commissions system. The Commission System was abolished on a national level at the National Congress in Louisville, Ky. early in September.

This new devise, called an Intercampus Bureau, will promote cooperation between schools in developing on campus activities, sponsor some committees to operate specific regional projects in fields of special interest, and will publish a bulletin of events of student interest which are taking place in the region.

This is considered an interim measure pending more extensive revamping in the region. Director of the Bureau is Gerry Lahr of LaSalle College.

Franklin Institute To Present Award Films From The World Over

Eleven double-feature programs presenting prize-winning feature films from all over the world screened for the membership of Exceptional Films Society during its 10th anniversary season, with the first program on October 6, 7 and 8 at the Franklin Institute, 20 St. and the Parkway.



At three-week intervals, each program will be offered on three successive evenings, always on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, starting at 7:15 p.m., with the second feature scheduled at 9:00 p.m.

According to Walter Lubar, Associate Director of Exceptional Films Society, "We decided to undertake the enormous project of double-feature programs this season as a way of celebrating our 10th birthday. To our knowledge, no other film club in American has ever presented such an ambitious schedule.

Among the "new" features scheduled by Exceptional Films are India's "Aparajito;" Russia's "The Forty-First;" France's "God Needs Men," and "Four Bags Full," Italy's "The Roof," by DeSica, and "I Vitelloni," by Fellini; Greece's "A Girl In Black;" Spain's "The Lovemaker;" Japan's "The Magnificent Seven;" Denmark's "Dittie, Child of Man;" and the long neglected Orson Welles production of "The Magnificent Ambersons."

Schedules and subscription fees may be procured at Gimbel's Ticket Office or at Exceptional Films Society 34 S. 17th St., Philadelphia.

Special rates are available to teachers and students.

For a WEEKEND in NEW YORK
it's
The BILTMORE
naturally

SPECIAL COLLEGE RATES

$5.25 per person (3 to a room)
$6.25 per person (2 to a room)
$8.00 single

For information or reservations address Mr. Ralph Schaffner, The Biltmore, New York 17, N. Y. Madison Avenue at 43rd Street MUrray Hill 7-7000

"WHERE EVERYONE MEETS UNDER THE CLOCK"

A Plea

Yesterday's election may be said to have been unique in many respects. In the past campaign, there were more debates, discussions, demonstrations and declamations. There is no instrument which can guage the involvement of American college students in this political activity, but it appears that it has been of considerable importance.

Within the confines of the Villanova campus, partisan feeling ran high, fostered by political action on the part of numerous student organizations. The International Relations Society discussed foreign affairs aspects of the campaign, the Intercollegiate Conference on Government sponsored a debate between Republican and Democratic faculty members and conducted a straw vote among the student body, The VILLANOVAN also conducted a student poll and printed articles designed to assist in clarifying various issues involved in the Presidential race.

Beyond Ithan Avenue, however, student participation in politics attained a degree of considerably greater intensity. The Philadelphia EVENING BULLETIN, in an article published on October 27, stated that the Dean of Men at St. Joseph's College assisted his students in obtaining employment with major parties for the duration of the campaign. Men and women at many of the other local colleges were mentioned by name as having assisted in election work.

In the same article, Villanova University was noted as having "officially prohibited" student participation in politics. An administration official was reported to have expressed the opinion that undergraduate sentiment was equally divided between the Republican and the Democratic parties. Ironically, on the very afternoon that The BULLETIN article appeared, the VILLANOVAN headlined a story indicating that a scientifically selected cross section of the student body favored the election of John F. Kennedy by a 70% majority.

We have not meant to imply herein that any of the abovementioned political activity on the part of Villanova students was suppressed, or even frowned upon, by the University Administration. Our protest and objection is that students were not permitted to carry their interest and enthusiasm beyond the campus, to work with other student groups in the area for the advancement of one or another political cause. Neither the Administration nor the Student Council made any noticeable effort to bring noted political speakers to the University, or to invite either of the candidates themselves to our thriving, 2000-vote community.

The quest for "Veritas" includes politics also. Today's college students will be tomorrow's voters. Certainly the educational opportunity afforded by participation in a political campaign should not be stifled by a "drop in the bucket," "too little too late," policy. We trust that, in the future, it will not be.

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove
Charles Simmonds
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Dascenso
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1938; under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

"No, I wasn't working at the polls yesterday. I didn't think I was permitted."

Counterpoint

Attendance System Discussed

By Bill Speers

It is our impression that very few students took note of the small paragraph in the 1960-61 Villanova Handbook which limits, even further the rules for class attendance.

This new rule states in effect that anyone who flunks attendance and receives half his cuts in one class, automatically fails that course also.

The initiation of this ruling now states in no uncertain terms that the possibility of administration acquiescence to student-faculty opposition in this matter is nil.

In examining this peculiar aspect of Villanova, we must uncover why the administration believes that this is the best way to handle the attendance situation—and indeed, it must.

Best System

It is the feeling of both Fathers Joseph Kemme, V.P. of Student Affairs and Joseph Gildea, V.P. of Academic Affairs that our system is not only the best, but the fairest.

Father Kemme believes that the scholastic record gives only a partial picture of the student's four-year stay at Villanova. "We want the employer to know the complete student", Father has told us, "and we think we have a moral responsibility to give the true, complete record on all our students." Father Gildea's feelings on the subject are along much the same lines.

The two questions to be answered on this subject are: (a) is attendance at classes part of college education and (b) if so, is a matter for a student's permanent record and at Villanova, should credits be given for it and a mark incorporated in his cummulative average.

We agree with Father Kemme that some sort of disciplinary record should be kept on every student. However, we believe that the scope of such a record should be severely limited.

Between Prof and Student

A college education should surely indicate more than what is just presented in text books; yet, it should not be allowed to equal or pass in importance scholastic achievement.

We think only those actions committed by a student that tend to mar the name of the school or that of other persons, should be included on a record. Class attendance is strictly between the instructor and the student.

In fact, on a random survey of five colleges in the area we found out that they all were similar in their methods of dealing with attendance, i.e. the instructor would set his own limits on cuts and all cuts over this standard would result in points deducted from the students final mark in the course.

We believe this to be a far fairer method in that it allows both teacher and student flexibility and takes into consideration all extenuating circumstances which could conceivably make cutting necessary. For it is a fact that in many courses, more can be accomplished outside of class, than in class.

Secondary Importance

It is our feeling that our present system puts far too much emphasis on class attendance, just for the sake of attending and completely loses sight that the sole purpose of the class is to present the material and is of secondary importance to the course. The most important part is study on the part of the student, and this takes place outside of class.

This brings us to what we believe is the most unfotunate part of the situation—that of "grading" attendance. Attendance at Villanova is the equivalent of a two credit course. An overwhelming fact when one considers that it is on a par with the rather stiff Genetics course and Religion courses.

This means that the impact of the attendance mark on a permanent record is two-fold and with the new ruling possibly three-fold: (a) it appears as a graded mark (b) it is incorporated in the cummulative mark (c) it could possibly be the cause of a failing mark even though a passing mark is maintained throughout a course.

These facts would seem to indicate that the business of class attendance here, requires more looking into. We would propose that both the administration and faculty get together on this problem and come up with a system that is "true and complete" while being balanced and undistorted.

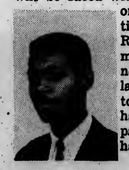
CAMPUS CAMERA

By Jim Phillips and John Rossella

QUESTION: Disregarding your own political feelings, what do you believe will be the most momentous and difficult task facing the next President of the United States?

Obviously, our next chief executive will face many and varied problems ranging from the rejuvenation of our national economy to the very complicated business of dealing with the malegomaniac in Moscow.

Analyzing back we must grant that unemployment is gross in many sections of the United States; therefore, our national economy definitely must be altered. Unless this is accomplished we might as well forget the whole idea of remaining a first-rate power and relinquish the world to Mr. Khrushchev.



Frank Thornton
Sociology, '61

I think that the most difficult task of the President-elect will be in co-operating with the other great powers in maintaining world peace. This is dependent upon a sound foreign policy and a competent Secretary of State.

It is also dependent upon a President who will be willing to meet at a summit conference with the other members of the Big Four. The summit conference is probably the only means whereby such very important matters as disarmament, nuclear test banns, peaceful use of atomic energy etc., can be effectively discussed.

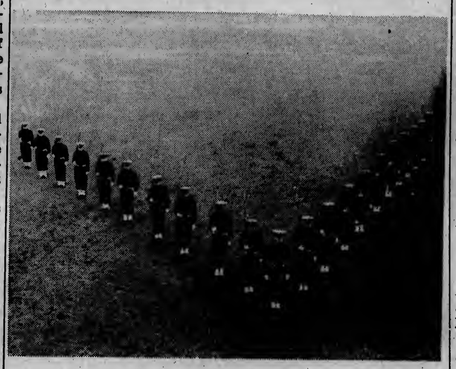
Vincent Marchesani
Accounting, '61

There is no doubt that the next President will be faced with the problem of maintaining or advancing our present position in the "Cold War" with Russia. However, his most momentous and difficult task will not be in having sufficient legislation passed through Congress to handle foreign affairs, but in having satisfactory legislation passed through Congress to handle domestic affairs.

The fate of America abroad could well be decided by the next President's handling of domestic issues. If and how our next President will handle the growing domestic issues at home remains to be seen.

Paris B. VonLochette
Arts, '64

Certainly, the next President will have many a momentous decision to make, but in my mind none will be so all-important as those concerning the military future of the U. S.



It soon will be time, if it is not already time, to take positive action in order to check the Communist control of Cuba. Also, the new President will have to establish definite policy in relation to Matsu, Quemoy, Berlin, and Korea.

I strongly suspect that the Communists will test the new President with severe uprisings in one of these areas soon after his election; and here, I feel, he will have to make his most momentous decision.

James M. Rhodes
Mech. Eng., '61

Letters to the Editor Are Your Open Forum .... Write Them

VU Navy Drill Team Brings Color, Prestige To Campus

Villanova's N.R.O.T.C. drill team strikes a formation in preparing for this week's competition on campus.

This Saturday, November 12, marks the day of the second annual Villanova invitational Drill Meet, an excellent example of positive contributions to the University's prestige by a highly spirited group of conscientious young men.

The campus' NROTC Drill Team under the tutelage of Major J. J. Reilly will host the competition of drill teams representing all services from most area colleges.

Among these will be teams from St. Joseph's College (Phila.), University of Pennsylvania Military College, Princeton University, LaSalle College and many others, including two teams from Rutgers University, the Queen's Guard (USAF) and the Scarlet Rifles (USA).

Midshipman Lieutenant A. Michel Clement will lead into the meet a team with numerous honors to its credit. They have earned the permanent trophy of the Fourth Naval District by winning first place in four of the last six years.

Five Championships

In addition, in competition with all NROTC teams of the Philadelphia area, Villanova's Middies have come home with five championships in seven participations.

Further distinction has been earned by the team in the Cherry Blossom Festival, which is held in Washington, D. C. This competition is the last word in the rating of drill teams, it being nationwide and claiming the annual participation of some seventy-five teams.

Villanova has entered the festival on two occasions, winning seventeenth place two years ago and moving up to twelfth last year.

The drill team, a part of the inclusive Pershing rifles, unique in that they were the first member group of that association, composed entirely of Navy Personnel, has also competed in meets at St. Peter's in Jersey City, the Regimental Meet in Indiantown Gap, Pa. and the Pershing Rifles Battalion Meet at Pennsylvania Military College, a tournament in which they placed first over all.

This includes, in addition to drilling, the Pershing Rifles' Shooting Team. The Pershing Rifles were founded at Villanova in the Spring of 1955.

Villanova In Class A

The competition at Villanova will be executed much along the lines of older meets. These will be three divisions scored variously by a panel of judges. Basic drill consists of straight drill, rifle manual, etc.

There are no fancy drills or stunts in this division. These and other precision maneuvers will be included in the trick drill classification of the meet. This division, due to the difficulty and precision of the drilling will be separated into two classes.

Class A will include all teams which finished twenty-fifth and better in the Cherry Blossom Festival last year. Class B of course, includes all other teams. Villanova, as twelfth place finisher last year, will compete in the former.

The necessity for separating the teams can be realized by anyone who has ever observed trick drill. Some of this precision marching was offered to the students at the College of the Pacific game, this year.

The third division of the meet will be individual drill in which "the best" of all teams will respond to orders given by impartial judges. Jerry Corrigan, Alex Ward, Roger Bride and Donald Cannava will represent Villanova.

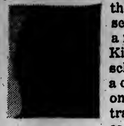
It is unfortunate that a group such as the drill team which officially represents the University is so unknown and neglected by the bulk of the student body. For the last few years, they and the Pershing Rifles have brought to the campus many awards and incalculable prestige and good feeling toward Villanova.

Of course, attendance at drill meets is never going to rival football or track but the drill team should not be taken with a shrug either.

River Styx

By Jonik

"I have an idea—let's build a colossus at Rhodes.



Spoeritualism

Frats Bring Smiles To Mile

By Bill Speers

Fortunately, this space has been used more than once to hurl venomous verbal darts at our indefatigable campus fraternities. However ,we staunchly, upheld our belief that in every bit of darkness there's a little bit of light; even with fraternities.

These convictions were rejuvenated last Thursday, when the frats presented the fifth annual Joyce Kiely Mile. This school event is actually the only bona - fide tradition (if you can yet refer to it as such) that we have at Villanova. Almost unbelievable when one considers that we are now approaching our 120th year of existence.

SPEERS

Our frats, then, should be congratulated for taking the long awaited first step in establishing some semblance of tradition here at VU.

The Kiely Mile this year, as in previous years, was a riotous spectacle that was gratefully spectacle that was greatfully enjoyed by the few hundred students present and for our money displayed the frats' better side.

* * *

Are all individualists dead? No. Are they being suppressed? Yes.

Len Galiulo is a member of the VU band. Every year about this time he grows a beard for reasons that are nobody's business but his own. Maybe its just force of habit, or warmer; or perhaps he runs out of blades and doesn't bother to replenish his supply until spring.

But as we said, that's his business. Yet recently this drum playing individualist received word that unless he removed his masculine currycomb he could keep rythm elsewhere. Pro forma, of course.

Reluctantly, Len complied. Off came the briar and another victory for the conformist. Now, for the sake of art Len walks the length and breath of the campus, day after day. normal looking enough, yet naked; and beneath that clean-cut face a suppressed personality burns.

Another individualist squelched!

* * *

At this writing, the voting polls won't be opened for another 20 hours; and reflecting upon the last three months it appears that the circus tent should be torn down—for good.

It seems strange to us that we Americans who deem the office of the Presidency as our most dignified position, should stand by and watch it vied for by two candidates who by necessity are forced to reduce this position to one indian hat wearing, baby kissing, dog patting, etc.

The term "public servant" seems to be taken too literally. No person seeking the presidency should be subjected to the strain and humiliation that we've witnessed this year.

With the modern innovations of radio and television, there's no reason why the people should expect to be personally serenaded by the presidential candidates.

Personal appearances should be dictated by the candidates themselves and not subservient to the bellows of local committee chairman and the hurt feelings of the populace.

Growing Latin American Storm

Anti-Red Group Prepares To Brace Itself For Assault

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was submitted to the VILLANOVAN by two Cuban students who are now studying in the United States. It is an official pronouncement of the Democratic Association of Latin America, of which the two Cubans are members.

Cuba is nowadays, to her own disgrace, the first battlefield of the forces that will dispute America. What is happening in Cuba is merely a preamble. It is not only the future of Cuba, which hangs in the balance this year of 1960, it is the future of Latin America, and later on the future of all mankind.

In other words, symbolically and in reality, Cuba is the stage where the drama of our contemporary world is being enacted, where the western ideals of life and the democratic concept of communal existence are being subjected to a formidable, deliberate, continuous, ruthless bombardment.

Cuba suffers, and suffers profoundly. All kinds of injustices take place, and the reign of terror rules. She is in peril, beset by the gravest peril since she took her place in the concert of free nations. However, the danger which threatens our country is not her economic prosperity or her sugar quota, but something that is more transcendental: her national heritage.

The spirit which has guided the Cubans from the moment they became conscious of themselves, and the ideological foundations of the country. The Cuban people have been deceived; what constituted the hope of a whole country, has been supplanted by a totalitarian and communist regime submissive to the will of Russia.

• • •

If at any time in history the duty of universal solidarity has to be called upon the free people of the world, it is now that it has been endangered by the communist beachead established in Cuba by Fidel Castro.

For these reasons, the Cuban students, as well as all the Latin American students who believed in the sacred interests of: GOD, COUNTRY, LIBERTY and DEMOCRACY are once more ready to defend these ideals. However, the citizens and students of the United States of America, and of the free world cannot remain indifferent or as simple spectators in this Cuban-world conflict.

We give our warning cry to all the free students of the Continent and denounce before the world, the increasing communist infiltration, that is trying to take over all the free nations of America, and to control by terror the consciences of the people which by nature hate the atheist and marxist totalitarism.

We denounce before world and American public opinion, the methods used by the Castrist-Communist tyranny in its desperate effort to control the Cuban youth that has never and will never tolerate dictatorships of any kind.

We demand from all our companions of America their solidarity in our fight for freedom.

A.D.E.L. (Democratic Association of Latin American Students).

"A rumor is about as hard to unspread as butter."

Wayne Urbane; Kaye Not O.K.

By Joe Zawacki

Highlights of the week in the big city: (or, how to get by on $3.00 per night out). To borrow fom an old, tired cliche', it is the American (blare of trumpets and choir of voices in the background) tradition that everyone is entitled to their own taste. In effect, this makes everyone an armchair critic with license to disagree with the professional species of critic. This reporter found himself in a similar position on a few occasions while covering the local area in the past week and a half.

It was with mixed emotions that we trudged to the Midtown a week ago Saturday to see the newest version of that old perennial, "The Alamo". John Wayne has always been a favorite in our domicile and we tend to like most things that he does, while at the same time recognizing his limits as an actor. Therefore, with 12 million bucks in the kitty for this production, it was quite surprising to find all three local critics panning it without reservations. But, lo and behold (this is national cliche week), we ran forth from hours later proclaiming the merits of "The Alamo" while vigorously crying out, "Down With the critics".

ZAWACKI

★★★★★★★★★★★

What it boils down to is that this matter of rating pictures is all relative. For example, when Guinness makes a movie, what do you expect? Something special, of course. When it falls short of that, you're naturally disappointed. On the other hand, a John Wayne western doesn't raise your expectations as high, no matter how much a picture supposedly costs. And that's exactly what "The Alamo" is; a typical John Wayne western, which is a compliment in any man's dictionary. There's nothing new about the story, but as old as it is, it comes to new life under Wayne's John Ford-like direction. The acting is what you might expect from reliables like Wayne, Richard Widmark, and Laurence Harvey. And a pleasant note to report is the fact that, though running four hours with intermission, "The Alamo" is over too soon.

For the first time in a while, we forced ourselves to settle in front of the "idiot box" for something other than sports events. The occasion was the debut of Danny Kave, one of the finest of comics and a long-time favorite of ours. The morning after found all three TViewers in the area raving about it. Sitting in a living room with five other adults, we unanimously found it to be an hour of old Kaye material that would have been better served up on the Late Show. Happily, later returns supported our convictions as the general eaction was practically 50-50.

Local South Philly comic Joey Bishop paved his home town a return visit last week and a pleasant one it was. Mixing his jokes with rapid-fire patter and cracks about his home town, Bishop gave a packed house at Sciolla's an example of how a pro operates. On for nearly an hour, he went off in the proper manner, with the audience clamoring for more.

Finally caught with the local sports scene this past weekend and came away with mixed emotions. Friday night found us in the "whistle factory" at 34th and Spruce along with 6394 other "goonball" devotees. It wasn't hard to separate the men from the boys as the Warriors tripped and skipped their way to a 136-123 victory over the Detroit Pistons. It seemed unbelievable, but some of the "children" in the stands still go into ecstacy when there occurs a "Dipper Dunk" (Ugh!), as if a 7-foot giant shouldn't be expected to be able to dunk. Unfortunately, some of the local scribes are just as bad, for while they were heaping their praises on to the world's supposedly greatest player, he proceeded to miss all ten foul attempts from the 15-foot line. It was enough to ruin a child's fond memories of that winter night in 1949 when a then 10 year old "Round Midnight"-er sat enthralled as a man named Joe Fulks burned the cords for 63 points without benefit of the 24 second rule. But then, pro goonball was a sport then.

★★★★★★★★★★★

Only 2,068 sat in the Arena Saturday night, but all went away satisfied as the local Ramblers won their fourth straight, 5-3, over the New York Rovers. Though minor league in quality, the Red-shirts you can't make it to Madison Square Garden in suburban Philly, then you might find a trip to 46th and Market a profitable one.

Sunday proved to be the most profitable as 58,324 showed that they will support a winner by trudging into Franklin Field. For once, the Eagles didn't disappoint their followers as they coasted into first place with a breezy 34-7 conquest of the Steelers. The Eagles performance was so good that it may even have tempted Hugh Brown to throw off his cynic's coat. Who Knows, if the green-shirts bring a championship to our town, maybe Hughie will let me wear his trusty armor for a year.

Bellamy and Garson Award Contenders For "Sunrise"

By Al LaMastra

After an absence of five years from screen production (let's forget about the debacle "Lonelyhearts"), producer Dore Schary has brought his brilliant stage production of "Sunrise At Campobello" even more luminously to the neighborhood theater. The engrossing drama deals very intimately with the three pre-presidential years (1921-1924) in the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt, his wife and family.

Beginning with a few glimpses of typically happy summer vacationers at the Campobello resort, the bulk of the film deals with FDR's attack of infantile paralysis and gives the viewer a detailed look into the authenticated victory over discouragement and the beginnings of the long road back to normal living and public life. It is truly a motion picture of distinction and artistic achievement to be remembered as one of the high points of film history.

With the understanding that he would have complete control over every aspect of the film, producer Schary bided his time and waited till the right studio (Warner Bros.) bidded for the filming rights of his stage success. He relied upon the use of the technicolor process in the motion picture, which the audience, can be grateful for. The coloring adds a great amount of beauty both to the outdoor scenery and indoor period sets instead of detracting from the dramatic aspects of the movie as first thought. Ralph Bellamy had become so identified with the role of Roosevelt, that any preconceived notions of obtaining the role for Gable or Grant were immediately disregarded.

ACTOR BELLAMY
... Beat Grant, Gable

Theatrical Production

In viewing this movie, one immediately realizes that he is actually seeing the Broadway production. This theatrical approach in the treatment of the screenplay is the genius stroke of director Vincent J. Donahue, a highly capable man in his Broadway efforts as well.

Stellar performances are achieved by all members of the cast. Ralph Bellamy, Greer Garson and Ann Shoemaker will most likely receive Oscar nominations and win the awards if the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science doesn't suddenly find some new overnight sensations as it usually does. Hume Cronyn turns in his best performance to date as the witty but pointed advisor. Audiences, at first, might find it hard in believing vibrant Greer Garson to be Eleanor Roosevelt, teeth and all; but once the magnitude and depth of her portrayal are fully absorbed, the glamorous "Mrs. Miniver" and "Random Harvest" star tops any performance of her earlier Hollywood career.

Warmth, comedy, pathos and brilliancy in every line of production plus great historical value: these are all "Sunrise At Campobello."

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

A MODEST PROPOSAL

A movement is afoot—a shocking, startling movement—to solve the problem of overcrowded colleges by the simple expedient of refusing admission to women at coeducational schools!

It is argued by proponents of this plan that in today's world a college education is absolutely essential for a man, while for a woman it is merely a pleasant interlude between adolescence and housewifery. There is simply not room enough for both men and women in our overburdened colleges; therefore, in all fairness, women who have far less need of a degree than men, must yield their places.

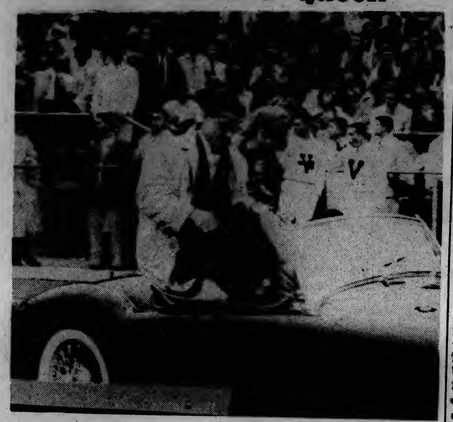
Well sir, when I heard this drastic proposal, I was so shocked that I sat right down and lit a Marlboro. I always sit right down and light a Marlboro when I am shocked. I also always sit right down and light a Marlboro when I am not shocked. There is no time, no condition, no mood, no estate when it isn't a source of soul-deep gratification to settle back and have a full-flavored smoke—Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste—Marlboro, the jewel of cigarettes—Marlboro, the pinnacle of the tobacconist's art—Marlboro, my comfort, haven, and snug harbor.

Well sir, I sat smoking my Marlboro and thinking over the shocking proposal to keep women out of coed schools, and hoping fervently that another solution can be found. If the calamitous day ever comes when women are banned from coed colleges, I will gnash my teeth and rend my garments and take to my bed without supper. Like any other Marlboro man, I love women. I love the sight and sound of them, the cut of their jibs, their beauty and grace, their cunning little spitcurls, their sleek dimples, their middy blouses, their aura and effluvium. Moreover, I freely admit that when it comes to brainpower, they can give the average man cards and spades and big casino too. It would be a shame, a disgrace and a catastrophe to keep these beautiful, intelligent creatures out of college.

However, it is always wise in time of fair weather to prepare for foul. What if the advocates of keeping women out of college begin to gather strength? We who abhor this fiendish plan must be ready with a substitute . . . and it just so happens I have one—and a mighty ingenious little plan it is, if I say so myself.

Granted that classroom seats are in short supply, and granted that men need degrees more than women, it is still not necessary to bar women from college. Let them go to college but—here is the beauty part of my plan—don't let them go to class!

This solution, it seems to me, answers every requirement. It releases hundreds of thousands of classroom seats to needy males. At the same time, it does not deprive women of the rich and varied benefits of campus life. They can join sororities, shoot pool at the Union, build bonfires for Homecoming games, pour at the Dean's tea, plait daisies in their hair, organize drag races, sculpt in ice, hook rugs, walk their cheetahs, play Monopoly, find love—in short, they can do anything except go to class.



Tell the truth, girls: Is that bad?

© 1960 Max Shulman

• • •

Classroom space is short, but smoking pleasure is in abundant supply. Try Marlboros—or Marlboro's unfiltered sister cigarette—mild, flavorful Philip Morris, now available in regular size or the sensational new king-size Commander. Have a Commander—welcome aboard!

Hail To The Queen

Villanova senior Bob Friend rides atop car with his homecoming queen date between halves at the Villanova-Boston College game. The queen parade was one of the big events of the homecoming weekend.

Campus News Briefs

AIEE Convention Held

This year the annual District No. 2 AIEE Student Branch Convention was held at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa. on October 28 and 29.

John Wojciechowicz, branch chairman, and Professor Richard D. Avil, branch counsellor, represented Villanova University. There are a total of 14 colleges and universities in Section No. 2 representing Penna., New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia.

In short, the purpose of the AIEE is the dissemination of knowledge of the theory and practice of all aspects of electrical engineering and allied fields, as well as the furtherance of the professional development of the student.

The purpose of this convention was to have the different branch chairmen and counsellors discuss and evaluate the programs and activities undertaken at the respective schools during the past year and those planned for this coming year. Also discussed was the Summer General Meeting held this past summer at Atlantic City, the Prize Paper Contest at the University of Pennsylvania this spring, and the National AIEE services to the Student Branch.

VU Rifle Match

On November 19, the Villanova Varsity Team will play host to Kings College in the first Official Meet of the year. Seniors Nat Coursey, Ed Hogan, Charlie Russell, Jan Gariglino and Pete Debus provide the team with the necessary strength to easily take this first match says coach Sergeant Reilly USMC.

Be A Big Brother
Call LO 3-7796

Movie On Astronomy

The Astronomy Club has announced that it will present the movie "The Strange Case of Cosmic Rays" in conjunction with the Chemical Society this evening at 7:30 in 215 Mendel Hall.

Under the leadership of Father Jenkins, the moderator and Eugene Guicheteau, president the astronomy club promises to be even more active this year than it has been in the past. Frequent movies, slides, and student talks will foster the purpose of the club, from the constitution: "To provide a medium through which all students interested in astronomy and related fields may aid each other in their knowledge of, and in this science".

The club was founded in the Fall of 1953 by Father Jenkins, who built a six inch reflecting telescope, which was replaced in 1959 by the six inch unitron refractor now in Mendel Observatory.

After meetings, members are free to avail themselves of the facilities of the observatory on clear nights. Also available is equipment for taking and developing pictures.

Upon completion of the new Science Building, Father Jenkins' reflecting telescope will once again return to Mendel Observatory for more frequent use by the club, while the refractor will be moved to the new observatory until a larger one is bought.

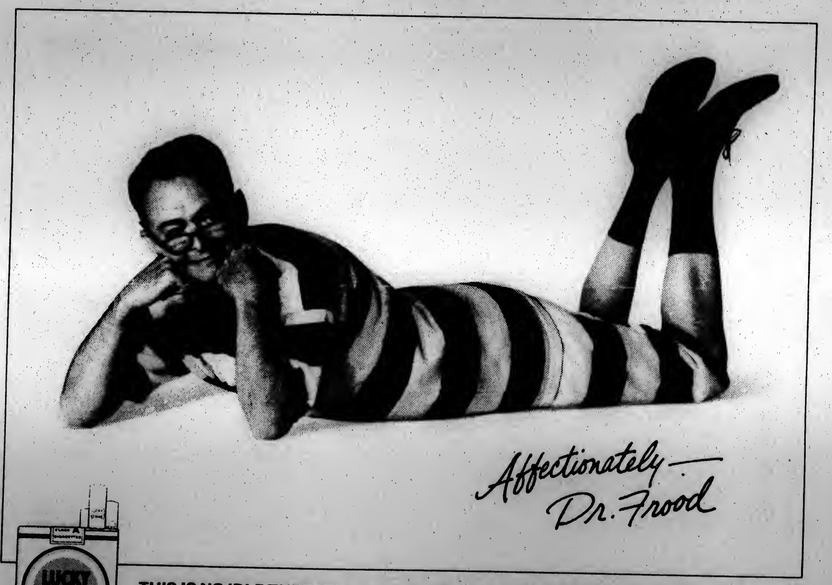
A trip to the Franklin Institute and Fels Planetarium will be conducted and guest speakers will be arranged later on this year. Also responsible for the projects of the Astronomy Club are Richard Busenkell, Vice-President; Richard Cordell, Secretary Treasurer; Jack Ames, Publicity Director; and Vincent Lamanna, Refreshment Chairman.

IRS Seeks 400 Grads

Mr. John A. Moritz, Villanova Placement Director, attended a panel discussion during the meeting of the district directors of the Internal Revenue Service at Penn Center Plaza last Thursday, November 3.

The discussion was directed to provide information for improving the recruitment of the Internal Revenue Service.

The reason for this special attention to college recruiting is the fact that IRS plans the employment of a minimum of 25,000 college graduates between now and 1968. This will be in addition to normal hiring to replace losses.



At the discussion, the panel members said that during this year the Internal Revenue Service will be looking for over 400 college graduates. In succeeding years, the goal of IRS will be even higher.

In addition to Mr. Moritz, the panel members included Mr. J. S. Obecny, a graduate of Rutgers University, Mr. J. Lyon Rogers, a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, and a University of Delaware alumna, Mrs. Geraldine M. Wyatt.

READ YOUR VILLANOVAN!

YOU MAY RECEIVE A LIFE-SIZED, AUTOGRAPHED PORTRAIT OF DR. FROOD—UNLESS YOU ACT NOW!

Hurry! Rush out now and buy a pack of Luckies! Smoke them quickly! Send the empty pack to Dr. Frood. If you do it now—Frood guarantees not to send you this photo.

THIS IS NO IDLE THREAT! Dr. Frood portraits will be mailed at random beginning November 15. Only students who send us empty Lucky packs will be safe! TAKE NO CHANCES! Mail those empty packs today. Send them, with your name and address, to Dr. Frood, Box 2990, Grand Central Station, New York 17, New York.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

© A. T. Co.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Fedigan Hall is shown adorned in its Basca night finery. All the dorms participated in the festivities with attractive decorations.

Lohr's' Eleven — by Ed Lohr

DETROIT vs. Villanova	I pick them to lose—they win
OHIO STATE vs. Iowa	Buckeyes coming fast
PITTSBURGH vs. Army	Battle of Orange squeezers
MISSOURI vs. Oklahoma	Big Eight champs
YALE vs. Princeton	Home team wins the Ivy
PURDUE vs. Minnesota	All bets in 14 Sheehan
MISSISSIPPI vs. Tennessee	I must be crazy
MICHIGAN STATE vs. Northwestern	Bad pick
RICE vs. Texas A&M	Bounce back in close one
WASHINGTON vs. California	Smell those Roses
SAM HOUSTON vs. Stephen Austin	Big Intersectional clash

Seasons Total: 39-22-5

Jim Strazzella VU Choice For National Catholic Prize

Last Wednesday evening at the Student Council meeting, Jim Strazzella, a senior Philosophy student, was elected Villanova's candidate for the outstanding Catholic Youth Award. Strazzella was chosen from a group of 12 nominees.

The award is given each year by the National Council of Catholic Youth. Each NFCCS college, each Newman Club, and each Dioceson Youth Director may submit one candidate. The nominees are then judged by the National Directors of the three organizations on the basis of their accomplishments and merit. The winner is then given national recognition as the Outstanding Catholic Youth.

SENIOR STRAZZELLA
. . . "Good Chance"

Strazzella, who is from Hanover, Pa., attended Delone Catholic High School where he was active in both curricular and extra-curricular activities. He was a member of the student council for three years, serving as president during his senior year, and was editor-in-chief of the school newspaper which received three press awards under him. Jim also took part in dramatics and glee club, played basketball for four years, and was school winner in the Dioceson Forensic contest.

Many Awards

While attending high school, Strazzella received awards from the Sons of the Revolution, the Rotary Club, and the Exchange Club. He was also an award winner in the National Current Affairs Essay Contest. At the same time, Strazzella was president of the Hanover Area Youth Council for two years, and helped with the youth program at Holy Name, his parish, in his spare time.

Upon graduation from Delone, Strazzella received an award from the York County Pharmaceutical Association for being the outstanding chemistry student. He also received awards for excellence in extra-curricular affairs, excellence in social studies, outstanding achievement in oratory, and oustanding achievement in journaliam. He graduated seventh in a class of 140, and received a scholarship from the P. H. Glatfelter Co.

Jim entered the University of Delaware, where he was a member of the Student Council and the Orientation Planning Committee. He was President of the Newman Club and officer of Alpha Phi Omega, an honorary service fraternity.

Transferred to Villanova

After completing his freshman year at Delaware, Jim transferred to Villanova. Since his arrival here, he has been a member of the Philosophy Club, Literary Club, Pre-Law Society, Beta Gamma Debating Society, NFCCS Committee, Student Council, Student Cabinet, Junior Steering Committee, and various class committee. He was Co-Chairman of the Mothers' Day Committee and is announcer for the Villanova Band.

In addition, Strazzella was Chairman of the Junior Ring Mass. He is President of the Sanctuary Society, Copy Editor of the Lynx, and Executive Vice-President of Educational Affairs. With regard to his scholastic ability, Strazzella carries a 3.57 cumulative.

Strazzella, a third degree member of the Knights of Columbus, stands an exxcellent chance of winning, according to Gene Felch, who is NFCCS senior delegate.

U.S. Educational System Is Geared To Entertain Student

By Bob Durney

Americans today attain a special importance to education. Knowledge has a special value to the American mind, but, if we look closely, we will discover that our educational system today is wholly inadequate to meet the demands of a tension-filled modern world.

We must have the best possible school system; we do not have this at the present time. Parents have an obligation to investigate their local school districts and join public school boards if possible. One motive should be to keep God in our public schools.

The student's mind must be trained by stimulating his interest in his own future education. He must develop a program of self-education to guide his adult life in an ever-changing turbulent world.

Many of our schools today are being ruined by Pragmatism, Academic Freedom, and the general attitude that the purpose of school is to entertain the student. Some school authorities have the foolish idea that children of twelve or thirteen years are capable of electing the subjects best suited for their mental development.

Skin Diving and Fishing

Indispensable subjects such as mathematics, the sciences, and foreign languages are rapidly being replaced by basket-weaving, fishing, skin-diving, personality development, and advanced gear-shifting. This is a serious problem today in our colleges as well as our high schools.

Young men and women must be taught the techniques of learning, for example, efficient study habits. If education is to grow, its object must be the discipline of the mind. This in turn will mean spiritual and mental maturity in later life.

Cardinal John Henry Newman stressed the need for self-education. We must never cease our efforts to learn more. He tells us that the study of God conditions the mind to the reception of other knowledge. It is extremely unfortunate that many of our educators today ignore this principle, along with some jurists who wrongly interpret the First Amendment pertaining to "Separation of Church and State".

As we all know, there is a wide difference of opinion today concerning moral standards. With proper education there would be no question whatsoever. It is most important that the student learn how to integrate his own studies. Proper formal education lays the framework for prudent integration of one's private studies later in life.

Read and Understand

Private learning outside the classroom is a must in our troubled times. Remember, we can never hope to get all our education in schools. We must realize that this problem of education will greatly influence the future destiny of America.

How can we accomplish our goal of self-education? By reading and by prudent association with our fellow-man. We must understand their problems. Therefore, we must read the best material available.

What should we read? Many Americans will say, "Let George do it," or "Let Bert and Harry take care of it." The following seems to be a good rule: Read all pertinent information on as many important subjects as we possibly can find time to discuss.

This means more than just the daily newspaper. Read important periodicals on world events, as well as the Catholic Digest, your diocesan newspaper, worthwhile books, and so forth. Finally, be sure to read all the informative journals concerning your chosen profession.

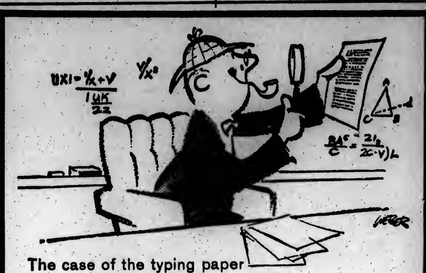
As that famous Augustinian priest often says, "But you wouldn't say that outside the Reservation, would you?" Well, unless a great number of people throughout the country begin saying these things off the "Reservation", it will not be long before our "democratic" civilization as we know it today will either fall into decay or be annihilated by atheistic Communism.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT NOVEMBER 14-18

SAM To Visit Brewery And Automobile Plant

John Drees, President of SAM, released the schedule of activities for the month of November for the chapter. The major activities include a record number of field trips, one for each class. The seniors will have the annual brewery trip to Valley Forge Brewery on November 16; the juniors to Scott Paper in Chester on November 3; the sophomores are to visit Ford Motors assembly plant at Chester on November 15.

In addition to the scheduled trips SAM will feature an address by Dr. M. S. Heidingsfield, Associate Dean of C&F and head of Market Research in industry will be followed by a question and answer period.



Tom McHale, social director, reported that arrangements for the fourth annual SAM Dinner dance have been completed. The affair which will follow the Villanova-Detroit game, will be held at the Beau & Belle in Bryn Mawr. A reception before dinner will be followed by music furnished by Bill Diamond and the Debonairs.

NROTC Has Review

The annual Fall Review of the N.R.O.T.C. Battalion will take place November 15, at 3:30 on Austin Field. The battalion will be reviewed and inspected by Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A. and Rear Admiral Charles H. Lyman, III, USN.

During the review the Unit's Drill Team will perform.

After the ceremonies, open house will be held in John Barry for the distinguished guests and guests of the Midshipmen.

The case of the typing paper that erased without a trace—or,

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND
Typewriter Paper

It's a cinch to "rub out" typing errors and leave no "clues", when you use Eaton's Corrāsable Bond Paper. Never smears, never smudges—because Corrāsable's like-magic surface . . . erases without a trace! (A flick of the wrist and a pencil eraser puts things right!) This fine quality bond paper gives a handsome appearance to all your work. It's a perfect crime not to use it!

Erasable Corrāsable is available in all the weights you might require—from onionskin to heavy bond. In convenient 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. A Berkshire Typewriter Paper, backed by the famous Eaton name.

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND
Made only by Eaton
EATON PAPER CORPORATION (E) PITTSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

CHESTERFIELD, L&M and OASIS invite you to the Villanova – Xavier Game Contest!

JUST PREDICT THE SCORE AND WIN UP TO...

$300 FIRST PRIZE JACKPOT

$150 SECOND PRIZE JACKPOT

$50 THIRD PRIZE JACKPOT

FOR THE STUDENTS AND FACULTIES OF THE ABOVE COMPETING COLLEGES ONLY!

Pick up a pack and take a crack at experting the big game. If you are the only one to come up with the correct half-time and final scores, the first prize jackpot is all yours. If there are ties, you share the money. The same applies to winners of the second and third jackpots. Enter as often as you like . . . and to make it easy, use the backs of packs* as your entry blanks. So each time you finish a pack . . . take a crack at the big money!

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO WIN...

1. Predict the final score for each team.
2. Predict the half-time score for each team.
3. Use an empty pack* as your entry blank.

READ THESE EASY RULES...

1. On the coupon below or on the back of an empty wrapper or on a plain sheet of paper, select the winner of the above game. Predict the final score and the half-time score (predict ties if you wish). Each entry must be accompanied by an empty wrapper from L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis cigarettes (or a single hand drawn copy of the lettering L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis as it appears on the face of the package). If entry is submitted on back of empty wrapper, be sure to include name and address, printed clearly.
2. Mail entries to Liggett & Myers, at the address appearing in coupon below. All entries must be postmarked by midnight five days prior to date of game and received by midnight the day prior to date of game. Enter as often as you want, but be sure to enclose an empty wrapper (or acceptable substitute) with each entry. Illegible entries will not be considered.
3. Prizes: FIRST PRIZE JACKPOT—$300; SECOND PRIZE JACKPOT—$150; THIRD PRIZE JACKPOT—$50. Winning entries will be selected according to the accuracy of the entry against the following in the order listed: (a) the winning team; (b) the final score, and, as a tie-breaker, if necessary (c) the accuracy in determining the leading half-time team and the half-time score. In the event of ties among contestants, the prize money for each of the three prize categories will be divided equally among contestants tied for the respective prizes.
4. This contest is under the supervision of the Bruce, Richards Corporation, an independent judging organization, whose decisions are final and binding on all contestants. Only one prize per family.
5. This contest is open to the college students and college faculty members of the above competing colleges only. Employees and members of their families of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company and its advertising agencies are not eligible to enter.
6. All entries become the property of the sponsor, and none will be returned. Winners will be notified by mail. A complete list of winners is available to anyone sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the address below.
7. This contest is subject to all Federal, state and local laws and regulations governing contests and their validity.

L&M has found the secret that unlocks flavor in a filter cigarette. (Pack or Box).

© Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CHESTERFIELD—Now "Air-Softened", they satisfy even more! (King or Regular).

OASIS—Most refreshing taste of all. Just enough menthol . . . just enough!

*or acceptable substitute (see rules).

Write clearly the final score and half-time score of the game to be played November 19, 1960 in boxes indicated:

	FINAL	HALF-TIME
VILLANOVA	( )	( )
XAVIER	( )	( )

Mail this entry to:
LIGGETT & MYERS, P. O. BOX 462, NEW YORK 46, N. Y.
Attach an empty pack (or an acceptable substitute, see rules) of L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis cigarettes with this entry.

NAME _____
(PLEASE PRINT)
ADDRESS _____

Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight November 14, 1960, and received at the above P.O. Box in New York by midnight November 18, 1960. Submit as many more entries as you want on the backs of empty packs.* On each one print the team names and scores with your name and address as shown above.

Fedigan Hall is shown adorned in its Basca night finery. All the dorms participated in the festivities with attractive decorations.

Lohr's' Eleven — by Ed Lohr

DETROIT vs. Villanova	I pick them to lose—they win
OHIO STATE vs. Iowa	Buckeyes coming fast
PITTSBURGH vs. Army	Battle of Orange squeezers
MISSOURI vs. Oklahoma	Big Eight champs
YALE vs. Princeton	Home team wins the ivy
PURDUE vs. Minnesota	All bets in 14 Sheehan
MISSISSIPPI vs. Tennessee	I must be crazy
MICHIGAN STATE vs. Northwestern	Bad pick
RICE vs. Texas A&M	Bounce back in close one
WASHINGTON vs. California	Smell those Roses
SAM HOUSTON vs. Stephen Austin	Big Intersectional clash

Seasons Total: 39-22-5

Jim Strazzella VU Choice For National Catholic Prize

Last Wednesday evening at the Student Council meeting, Jim Strazzella, a senior Philosophy student, was elected Villanova's candidate for the outstanding Catholic Youth Award. Strazzella was chosen from a group of 12 nominees.

The award is given each year by the National Council of Catholic Youth. Each NFCCS college, each Newman Club, and each Dioceson Youth Director may submit one candidate. The nominees are then judged by the National Directors of the three organizations on the basis of their accomplishments and merit. The winner is then given national recognition as the Outstanding Catholic Youth.

SENIOR STRAZZELLA
. . . "Good Chance"

Strazzella, who is from Hanover, Pa., attended Delone Catholic High School where he was active in both curricular and extra-curricular activities. He was a member of the student council for three years, serving as president during his senior year, and was editor-in-chief of the school newspaper which received three press awards under him. Jim also took part in dramatics and glee club, played basketball for four years, and was school winner in the Dioceson Forensic contest.

Many Awards

While attending high school, Strazzella received awards from the Sons of the Revolution, the Rotary Club, and the Exchange Club. He was also an award winner in the National Current Affairs Essay Contest. At the same time, Strazzella was president of the Hanover Area Youth Council for two years, and helped with the youth program at Holy Name, his parish, in his spare time.

Upon graduation from Delone, Strazzella received an award from the York County Pharmaceutical Association for being the outstanding chemistry student. He also received awards for excellence in extra-curricular affairs, excellence in social studies, outstanding achievement in oratory, and oustanding achievement in journalism. He graduated seventh in a class of 140, and received a scholarship from the P. H. Glatfelter Co.

Jim entered the University of Delaware, where he was a member of the Student Council and the Orientation Planning Committee. He was President of the Newman Club and officer of Alpha Phi Omega, an honorary service fraternity.

Transferred to Villanova

After completing his freshman year at Delaware, Jim transferred to Villanova. Since his arrival here, he has been a member of the Philosophy Club, Literary Club, Pre-Law Society, Beta Gamma Debating Society, NFCCS Committee, Student Council, Student Cabinet, Junior Steering Committee, and various class committee. He was Co-Chairman of the Mothers' Day Committee and is announcer for the Villanova Band.

In addition, Strazzella was Chairman of the Junior Ring Mass. He is President of the Sanctuary Society, Copy Editor of the Lynx, and Executive Vice-President of Educational Affairs. With regard to his scholastic ability, Strazzella carries a 3.57 cumulative.

Strazzella, a third degree member of the Knights of Columbus, stands an exxcellent chance of winning, according to Gene Felch, who is NFCCS senior delegate.

U.S. Educational System Is Geared To Entertain Student

By Bob Durney

Americans today attain a special importance to education. Knowledge has a special value to the American mind, but, if we look closely, we will discover that our educational system today is wholly inadequate to meet the demands of a tension-filled modern world.

We must have the best possible school system; we do not have this at the present time. Parents have an obligation to investigate their local school districts and join public school boards if possible. One motive should be to keep God in our public schools.

The student's mind must be trained by stimulating his interest in his own future education. He must develop a program of self-education to guide his adult life in an ever-changing turbulent world.

Many of our schools today are being ruined by Pragmatism, Academic Freedom, and the general attitude that the purpose of school is to entertain the student. Some school authorities have the foolish idea that children of twelve or thirteen years are capable of electing the subjects best suited for their mental development.

Skin Diving and Fishing

Indispensable subjects such as mathematics, the sciences, and foreign languages are rapidly being replaced by basket-weaving, fishing, skin-diving, personality development, and advanced gear-shifting. This is a serious problem today in our colleges as well as our high schools.

Young men and women must be taught the techniques of learning, for example, efficient study habits. If education is to grow, its object must be the discipline of the mind. This in turn will mean spiritual and mental maturity in later life.

Cardinal John Henry Newman stressed the need for self-education. We must never cease our efforts to learn more. He tells us that the study of God conditions the mind to the reception of other knowledge. It is extremely unfortunate that many of our educators today ignore this principle, along with some jurists who wrongly interpret the First Amendment pertaining to "Separation of Church and State".

As we all know, there is a wide difference of opinion today concerning moral standards. With proper education there would be no question whatsoever. It is most important that the student learn how to integrate his own studies. Proper formal education lays the framework for prudent integration of one's private studies later in life.

Read and Understand

Private learning outside the classroom is a must in our troubled times. Remember, we can never hope to get all our education in schools. We must realize that this problem of education will greatly influence the future destiny of America.

How can we accomplish our goal of self-education? By reading and by prudent association with our fellow-man. We must understand their problems. Therefore, we must read the best material available.

What should we read? Many Americans will say, "Let George do it," or "Let Bert and Harry take care of it." The following seems to be a good rule: Read all pertinent information on as many important subjects as we possibly can find time to discuss.

This means more than just the daily newspaper. Read important periodicals on world events, as well as the Catholic Digest, your diocesan newspaper, worthwhile books, and so forth. Finally, be sure to read all the informative journals concerning your chosen profession.

As that famous Augustinian priest often says, "But you wouldn't say that outside the Reservation, would you?" Well, unless a great number of people throughout the country begin saying these things off the "Reservation", it will not be long before our "democratic" civilization as we know it today will either fall into decay or be annihilated by atheistic Communism.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT NOVEMBER 14-18

SAM To Visit Brewery And Automobile Plant

John Drees, President of SAM, released the schedule of activities for the month of November for the chapter. The major activities include a record number of field trips, one for each class. The seniors will have the annual brewery trip to Valley Forge Brewery on November 16; the juniors to Scott Paper in Chester on November 3; the sophomores are to visit Ford Motors assembly plant at Chester on November 15.

In addition to the scheduled trips SAM will feature an address by Dr. M. S. Heidingsfield, Associate Dean of C&F and head of Market Research in industry will be followed by a question and answer period.

Tom McHale, social director, reported that arrangements for the fourth annual SAM Dinner dance have been completed. The affair which will follow the Villanova-Detroit game, will be held at the Beau & Belle in Bryn Mawr. A reception before dinner will be followed by music furnished by Bill Diamond and the Debonairs.

NROTC Has Review

The annual Fall Review of the N.R.O.T.C. Battalion will take place November 15, at 3:30 on Austin Field. The battalion will be reviewed and inspected by Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A. and Rear Admiral Charles H. Lyman, III, USN.

During the review the Unit's Drill Team will perform.

After the ceremonies, open house will be held in John Barry for the distinguished guests and guests of the Midshipmen.

The case of the typing paper that erased without a trace—or,

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND
Typewriter Paper

It's a cinch to "rub out" typing errors and leave no "clues", when you use Eaton's Corrāsable Bond Paper. Never smears, never smudges—because Corrāsable's like-magic surface . . . erases without a trace! (A flick of the wrist and a pencil eraser puts things right!) This fine quality bond paper gives a handsome appearance to all your work. It's a perfect crime not to use it!

Erasable Corrāsable is available in all the weights you might require—from onionskin to heavy bond. In convenient 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. A Berkshire Typewriter Paper, backed by the famous Eaton name.

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND
Made only by Eaton
EATON PAPER CORPORATION (E) PITTSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

CHESTERFIELD, L&M and OASIS invite you to the

Villanova – Xavier

Game Contest!

JUST PREDICT THE SCORE AND WIN UP TO...

$300 FIRST PRIZE JACKPOT

$150 SECOND PRIZE JACKPOT

$50 THIRD PRIZE JACKPOT

FOR THE STUDENTS AND FACULTIES OF THE ABOVE COMPETING COLLEGES ONLY!

Pick up a pack and take a crack at experting the big game. If you are the only one to come up with the correct half-time and final scores, the first prize jackpot is all yours. If there are ties, you share the money. The same applies to winners of the second and third jackpots. Enter as often as you like . . . and to make it easy, use the backs of packs* as your entry blanks. So each time you finish a pack . . . take a crack at the big money!

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO WIN...

1. Predict the final score for each team.
2. Predict the half-time score for each team.
3. Use an empty pack* as your entry blank.

READ THESE EASY RULES . . .

1. On the coupon below or on the back of an empty wrapper or on a plain sheet of paper, select the winner of the above game. Predict the final score and the half-time score (predict ties if you wish). Each entry must be accompanied by an empty wrapper from L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis cigarettes (or a single hand drawn copy of the lettering L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis as it appears on the face of the package). If entry is submitted on back of empty wrapper, be sure to include name and address, printed clearly.

2. Mail entries to Liggett & Myers, at the address appearing in coupon below. All entries must be postmarked by midnight five days prior to date of game and received by midnight the day prior to date of game. Enter as often as you want, but be sure to enclose an empty wrapper (or acceptable substitute) with each entry. Illegible entries will not be considered.

3. Prizes: FIRST PRIZE JACKPOT—$300; SECOND PRIZE JACKPOT—$150; THIRD PRIZE JACKPOT—$50. Winning entries will be selected according to the accuracy of the entry against the following in the order listed: (a) the winning team; (b) the final score, and, as a tie-breaker, if necessary (c) the accuracy in determining the leading half-time team and the half-time score. In the event of ties among contestants, the prize money for each of the three prize categories will be divided equally among contestants tied for the respective prizes.

4. This contest is under the supervision of the Bruce, Richards Corporation, an independent judging organization, whose decisions are final and binding on all contestants. Only one prize per family.

5. This contest is open to the college students and college faculty members of the above competing colleges only. Employees and members of their families of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company and its advertising agencies are not eligible to enter.

6. All entries become the property of the sponsor, and none will be returned. Winners will be notified by mail. A complete list of winners is available to anyone sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the address below.

7. This contest is subject to all Federal, state and local laws and regulations governing contests and their validity.

START SAVING PACKS NOW!

The more often you enter . . . the more chances you have to win.

L&M has found the secret that unlocks flavor in a filter cigarette. (Pack or Box).

© Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CHESTERFIELD—Now "Air-Softened", they satisfy even more! (King or Regular).

OASIS—Meet refreshing taste of oil. Just enough menthol . . . just enough!

*or acceptable substitute (see rules).

Write clearly the final score and half-time score of the game to be played November 19, 1960 in boxes indicated:

	FINAL	HALF-TIME
VILLANOVA	( )	( )
XAVIER	( )	( )

Mail this entry to:
LIGGETT & MYERS, P. O. BOX 462, NEW YORK 46, N.Y.
Attach an empty pack (or an acceptable substitute, see rules) of L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis cigarettes with this entry.

NAME _____ (PLEASE PRINT)

ADDRESS _____

Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight November 14, 1960, and received at the above P.O. Box in New York by midnight November 18, 1960.

Submit as many more entries as you want on the backs of empty packs.* On each one print the team names and scores with your name and address as shown above.

Junior Ring Mass And Communion Breakfast

Preceding the home football with Detroit, the Junior Class will sponsor its first social event of the year. A Mass in the University Chapel will be held at 9:30, followed by a Communion Breakfast in the cafeteria of the Commerce and Finance Building. Breakfast will be supplied by a caterer.

The Rev. Father Thomas Kenny, O.S.A., will be the celebrant of the Mass and will bless the class rings at the same time. He will also be assisted by two Junior Class servers.

The Communion Breakfast will sponsor two guest speakers. The Rev. Father John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., President of the University and Mr. Gordon Burlingame. The speakers topic shall be the economic and academic future of Villanova University. Mr. Burlingame will speak on the development fund and utilization of the alumni and students in the expansion of the University.

Tickets may be purchased for $2.00 in the Pie Shoppe or from members of the ticket committee.

VU Grads Pass Bars

Word was received several days ago of the results of the Bar examinations given during the past summer in New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

Four of this year's Villanova Law School garduates took the Bar examinations in the District of Columbia and two took the New Jersey State Bar examinations. In both the District of Columbia and New Jersey, all Villanova candidates were successful.

Senator Joseph Clark (right) is interviewed by WWVU's Program Director Charlie Laubus. Laubus also taped an interview with Senator John Kennedy which marked a first for the station.

WWVU Interviews Kennedy & Clark

The Villanova radio station, WWVU, at the Delaware County Democratic Dinner, received a personal interview with Senator Joseph Clark and Congressman William Green. At this campaign dinner, a tape was made of Senator John F. Kennedy's short speech which was broadcast over a special WWVU radio editorial on Monday evening last.

After a sleepless night, the interviewers drove to the George Washington Motor Lodge to personally interview Senator Kennedy. Charlie Labus, program director, under abject circumstances obtained an on-the-spot interview.

The WWVU mobile crew was invited to join Kennedy's official motorcade for the rest of the day. Our station was the only radio station to obtain an interview with the Senator. Large Philadelphia network stations were unable to get this privilege, granted WWVU.

Charlie Labus, Dave Hughes, and John Plaatje were invited and attended the $100 a plate dinner at Convention Hall as press representatives of Villanova University.

The Senator's major speech in Philadelphia was taped and broadcast along with other political speeches on the special program Monday night.

The close, on-the-spot coverage was a first in our radio station's history. Emphasis will be placed on more extensive news and sports on-location coverage.

Catholic Charities Director Appeals For Big Brothers

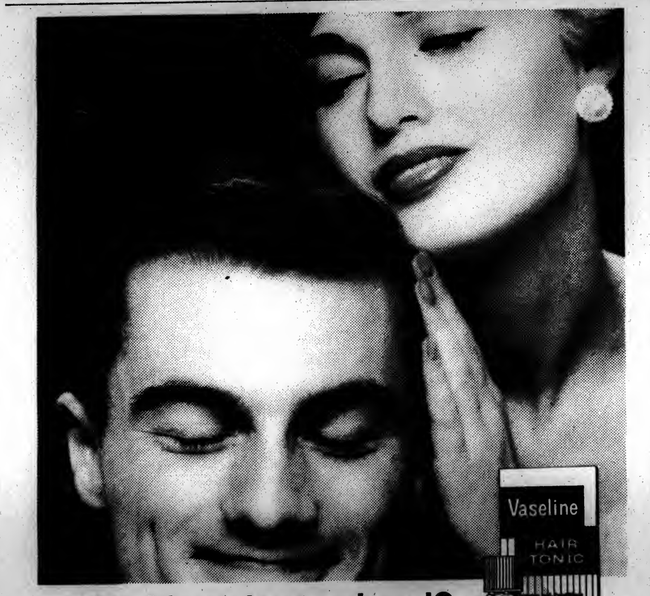
The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Thomas J. Rilley, director of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia, has appealed to Rev. Dante Girolami, O.S.A., requesting "the aid of volunteers" from Villanova to assist in the Archdiocese's Big Brother Association.

The main objective of the association is to aid the youth of Philadelphia through constructive programs and activities.

A brief description of the various staff areas will give anyone interested in the program a better understanding of the association's work, the program should be of particular interest to those students majoring in sociology and psychology, or who have a desire to partake in social work.

The Game Room Leader heads a room which is a casual gathering place. It is, however, a very sensitive program area, and its informality attracts many boys. In a casual atmosphere a man can best pick out an unhappy boy, give him some recognition and consideration, and with the combined efforts of all of ls, straighten him out.

The Senior Lounge resembles the Game Room in activity, but is set apart for boys 14 and over. It is instituted with the realization that older boys have different interests and require different approaches.



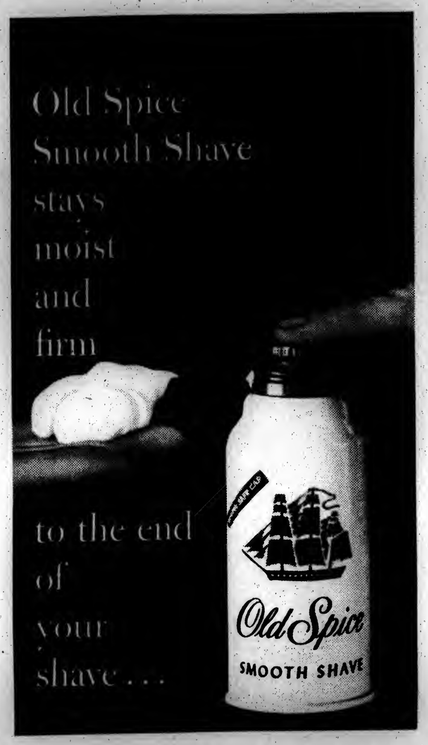
The Athletic Program includes basketball, swimming, softball, and crafts. Well-qualified instructors do an invaluable job of organization in each of these fields.

Roamers Walking Delegates are people who have no fixed spot or room, but travel through the building and observe what the boys are doing. In this way they frequently find a boy at loose ends. Doing nothing is everyone's privilege, but the Delegates' job is to help a boy find what he wants to do and assist him in doing it.

The Big Brother Boys' Club is open each afternoon 2:00 to 5:30 and evenings 7:00 to 10:00 Monday through Friday, and Saturday 9:00 to 5:00.

Volunteers who could assist one evening a week or part of Saturday should contact:

Thomas G. Cairns
25 South Van Pelt Street
Philadelphia 3, Pa.
or call LO 3-7796



do girls go to your head?

Or do they just go? If so try 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic—made specially for men who use water with their hair tonic (and who doesn't!). 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic's 100% pure, light grooming oil replaces oil that water removes. It will not evaporate — will stay clear and clean. Your hair looks great, stays neater longer. Just a little does a lot!

IT'S CLEAR ♪ ♫ IT'S CLEAN! IT'S VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

Your razor rides easy all the way. Softens the most stubborn beard instantly for a faster, closer shave, soothes and lubricates your skin. Extra-rich, extra-thick, push-button quick. Regular or Mentholated, only 1.00

Old Spice SMOOTH SHAVE

SHULTON

Billy Paczkoskie—Bilocator Between Lab and Gridiron

By Bill Cercone

Vincent "Billy" Paczkoskie was born and raised in an obscure town in Pennsylvania—Shamokin, but this was not a detrimental factor because he developed into one of the finest fullbacks ever to come out of the coal regions.

As a youngster, Billy was large and well proportioned, the result of many laborious days in the coal fields. When he reached high school the coach was extremely impressed by his size and physique.

Asked to try out for the football team, Billy nonchalantly shrugged his massive shoulders and said, "Sure I'll give it a try."

TD On First Carry

Well, try he did. The first time that he carried the ball in a scrimmage game he plowed through the line and then with a burst of lightning speed outraced the defensive backs to score on a play covering 70 yards.

The coach was flabbergasted; Billy made the first team, a position that he ably maintained throughout his high school days.

So, Billy lived in an obscure town and played for an even more obscure school — Coal Township High School. But once the "Shamokin Express" started rolling everyone had heard of this small school.

In Billy's senior year he was in the limelight. Everybody wanted him to go to college and he received approximately 80 offers from colleges all over the country. He had attained the highest honors possible; All-State and All-American. Because of these noteworthy awards and his great ability, innumerable agents appeared at his home trying to entice him to matriculate at colleges from Notre Dame to L.S.U.

Chose Villanova

But Billy had other plans. He wanted to stay close to home and yet play for a big team. So his choice fell on Villanova; a choice he does not regret to this day.

Kept out of his freshman year by a knee operation, he stormed back in his sophomore year to ramble like an unchained bull. He won wide acclaim and was picked for stardom.

Fans would never forget the game against Richmond in which Billy was called on continuously and how well he responded by ripping off huge gains. The rain poured down; yet not a person left the stadium because Billy was running wild and no one wanted to miss that. He had at last displayed his great potential, and everything said about him was verified.

Academic Handicap

One factor Billy had to overcome every Saturday is his lack of practice, which is no fault of his or the coaching staff. Most afternoons when the rest of the team is practicing, Billy is in lab studying to pursue his education in the field of medicine. He gets to practice twice a week, but shows no indication of this handicap once the opening whistle is heard on Saturdays.

This season Billy has not played to a great extent, but every time he does get into the game there are visions of the "Shamokin Express" chugging through the line and as the thunderous sound of colliding leather slowly diminishes, Billy's smile can be seen as he lifts himself from the gridiron.

Stalwart defensive tackling and a tremendous blocking are other factors which cause trepidation to rush through opposing players as the gigantic form of Billy goes racing onto the field.

Doesn't 'Rattle' Easily

Billy has never been known to get 'rattled,' and very cooly sits on the bench awaiting his chance. When his name is called he lumbers onto the field to do the job expected of him. He knows his job and is ready to perform it.

This past Saturday Billy was called upon to p'unge the final four yards and he did just what was expected. He scored! This game against Rutgers also gave every indication that the "Shamokin Express' is ready and will once more blast through the line terrorizing all that get in his path.

A man with a purpose, that's Vincent "Billy" Paczkoskie. Whether it be medicine or football, he always does his job.

Villanova's undefeated 1960 cross country team, which wound up the season with a 19-38 victory over LaSalle last Wednesday.

Traynor and Sivieri Head All-'Cat First Four Places As Harriers Down Red Men

By Ed Lohr

Villanova's undefeated cross country team journeyed to the 'big city' on Saturday, October 26 and returned with a 19-36 victory over the Redmen of St. John's University and the two fastest times posted over the rugged Van Cortland Park course this season.

Pat Traynor placed first once again and led the Wildcats home in fine style in 24-51 over the five-mile ordeal.

Capturing the first four places, the Villanova harriers beat a good St. John's team composed mainly of sophomores from last year's freshman IC4A cross country championship team. St. John's had one previous loss and that was to powerful Army.

Sivieri Second

Angelo Sivieri also ran a great race finishing second in 25:32; Owen Maguire placed third and Jon Dante rounded out the first-four place sweep for the Wildcats.

After the La Salle meet on November 2, Villanova is pointing toward the IC4A cross country championships in New York City on November 14.

Coach Jim Tuppeny noted the greatest competition for the team title would come from Penn State, Army and defending champion Michigan State.

Individual standouts will probably be: Dick Norman of Penn State, Jim Howe of Brown, Tom Laris of Dartmouth and Bi'l Verdesco of Georgetown.

"This is a good team but it could be better and continued hard work will make it just that!" emphasized Tuppeny. He also hinted that a trip to the NCAA would be warranted from a good showing at the IC4A's.

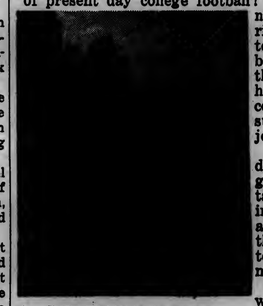
In The Groove

'Famine': One Comes; Then One Goes

By Dan Grove

On a gray October day, twenty-six years ago the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse rode across the Plains of West Point in the guise of Notre Dame football players. These horsemen—Famine, Destruction, Pestilance, and Death—were so dubbed by an itinerant typewriter-pounder named Grantland Rice.

In real life these men were Stuldreher, Miller, Layden, and Crowley, Knute Rockne's backfield. This group wreaked destruction on a tough Army team that day. They rode through the remainder of their college careers to become a legend in American sports annals.



Last week one of these four cowboys directed his chauffeur-driven Cadillac into the Fieldhouse driveway. Harry Stuldreher, the first horseman, had come back to the place where he started his successful coaching career. He had moved up the ranks of athletes from All-American, to coach, to athletic director (at Wisconsin). Now the ex-Saturday afternoon idol is a human relations man with the U. S. Steel Company.

From Pigskin to Pigiron

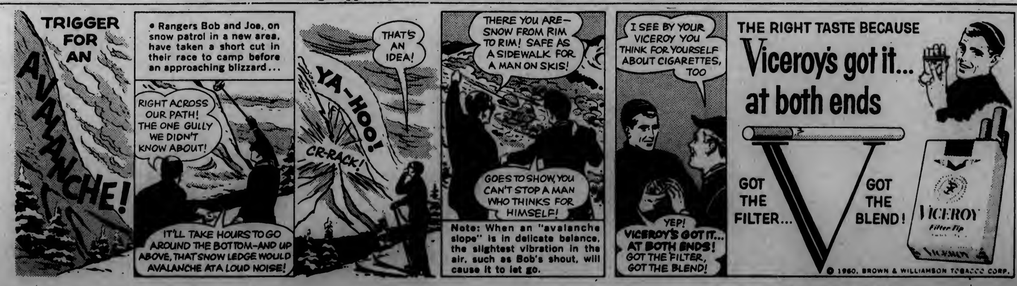
Stuldreher was on a mission of mercy. To bring a kind word into the life of two of his former Villanova charges, Alex Bell and Ed Michaels, who along with the rest of the Villanova coaching staff and team, were feeling lower than the poolsters who picked Syracuse to take Pitt.

Stuldreher had a short talk with the two coaches, then walked around the fieldhouse renewing old acquaintances.

What did he tell Bell and Michaels? What did he think of present day college football? "Al and Mike feel that nothing is going to happen right. They have a young team and have had lots of bad breaks. I assured them that soon things would happen right. I have every confidence that the present staff is capable of doing a job."

THE FAMINE IS OVER

"In college football today there are no coaching genuises. Manpower and a tailwind to get them moving are the prerequisites of a good college team. Today there are many more good teams than there were in my day."



The dapper little man who had guided Villanova's football fortunes for eleven years, was correct in his analysis of both situations. Against Rutgers the tailwind was found. The offense and defense worked as cohesive units. The spirit was still there, even after the terrible shellacking the Hudson River GI's handed them. The manpower was approximately equal, for a change.

Rutgers waved their press clippings as John Bateman watched the newly found tailwind blow; his dream of an undefeated season out the window. The old Horseman named Famine had called the play. Alex Bell and Ed Michaels began to believe in spritual things again, and the football player didn't have to turn a deaf ear on the cliched "tough luck Saturday", phrase.

Perhaps Stuldreher's sage observation was a timely piece of luck. No matter. The winning spirit and morale are restored. We can win against equal opponents. The Philadelphia press lost their weekly whipping boy and Villanovan sportswriters no longer shirk the assignment of rehashing the game.

Right Area, Wrong Game

Harry Stuldreher left as quickly as he had come. Perhaps his short talk with the coaches was as impressive as his short interview with me. He certainly is a living refutation to the image of the big dumb football player who majors in underwater penmanship. His only mistake was his choice of weekend entertainment. He passed up the Rutgers game for the Navy-Notre Dame classic in Philadelphia. Ah well, maybe he'll stay for the whole show next time.

Junior Ring Mass And Communion Breakfast

Preceding the home football with Detroit, the Junior Class will sponsor its first social event of the year. A Mass in the University Chapel will be held at 9:30, followed by a Communion Breakfast in the cafeteria of the Commerce and Finance Building. Breakfast will be supplied by a caterer.

The Rev. Father Thomas Kenny, O.S.A., will be the celebrant of the Mass and will bless the class rings at the same time. He will also be assisted by two Junior Class servers.

The Communion Breakfast will sponsor two guest speakers. The Rev. Father John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., President of the University and Mr. Gordon Burlingame. The speakers topic shall be the economic and academic future of Villanova University. Mr. Burlingame will speak on the development fund and utilization of the alumni and students in the expansion of the University.

Tickets may be purchased for $2.00 in the Pie Shoppe or from members of the ticket committee.

VU Grads Pass Bars

Word was received several days ago of the results of the Bar examinations given during the past summer in New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

Four of this year's Villanova Law School garduates took the Bar examinations in the District of Columbia and two took the New Jersey State Bar examinations. In both the District of Columbia and New Jersey, all Villanova candidates were successful.

Senator Joseph Clark (right) is interviewed by WWVU's Program Director Charlie Laubus. Laubus also taped an interview with Senator John Kennedy which marked a first for the station.

WWVU Interviews Kennedy & Clark

The Villanova radio station, WWVU, at the Delaware County Democratic Dinner, received a personal interview with Senator Joseph Clark and Congressman William Green. At this campaign dinner, a tape was made of Senator John F. Kennedy's short speech which was broadcast over a special WWVU radio editorial on Monday evening last.

After a sleepless night, the interviewers drove to the George Washington Motor Lodge to personally interview Senator Kennedy. Charlie Labus, program director, under abject circumstances obtained an on-the-spot interview.

The WWVU mobile crew was invited to join Kennedy's official motorcade for the rest of the day. Our station was the only radio station to obtain an interview with the Senator. Large Philadelphia network stations were unable to get this privilege, granted WWVU.

Charlie Labus, Dave Hughes, and John Plaatje were invited and attended the $100 a plate dinner at Convention Hall as press representatives of Villanova University.

The Senator's major speech in Philadelphia was taped and broadcast along with other political speeches on the special program Monday night.

The close, on-the-spot coverage was a first in our radio station's history. Emphasis will be placed on more extensive news and sports on-location coverage.

Catholic Charities Director Appeals For Big Brothers

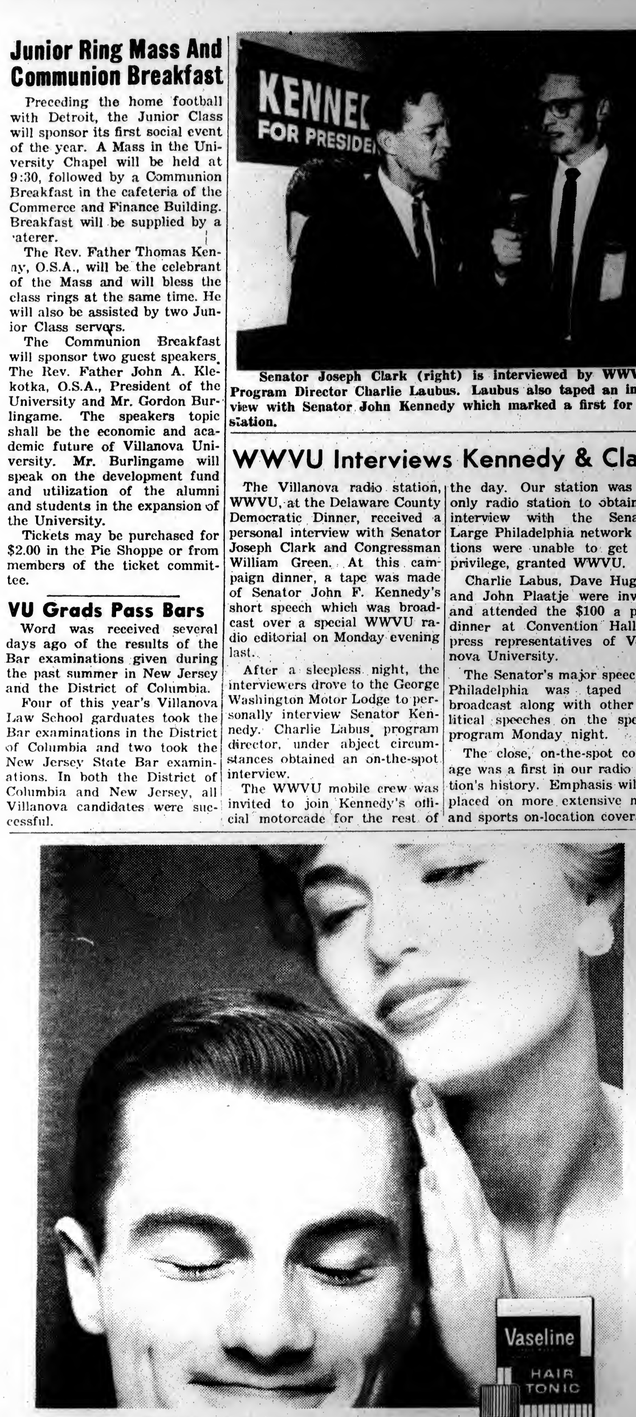
The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Thomas J. Rilley, director of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia, has appealed to Rev. Dante Girolami, O.S.A., requesting "the aid of volunteers" from Villanova to assist in the Archdiocese's Big Brother Association.

The main objective of the association is to aid the youth of Philadelphia through constructive programs and activities.

A brief description of the various staff areas will give anyone interested in the program a better understanding of the association's work, the program should be of particular interest to those students majoring in sociology and psychology, or who have a desire to partake in social work.

The Game Room Leader heads a room which is a casual gathering place. It is, however, a very sensitive program area, and its informality attracts many boys. In a casual atmosphere a man can best pick out an unhappy boy, give him some recognition and consideration, and with the combined efforts of all of ls, straighten him out.

The Senior Lounge resembles the Game Room in activity, but is set apart for boys 14 and over. It is instituted with the realization that older boys have different interests and require different approaches.



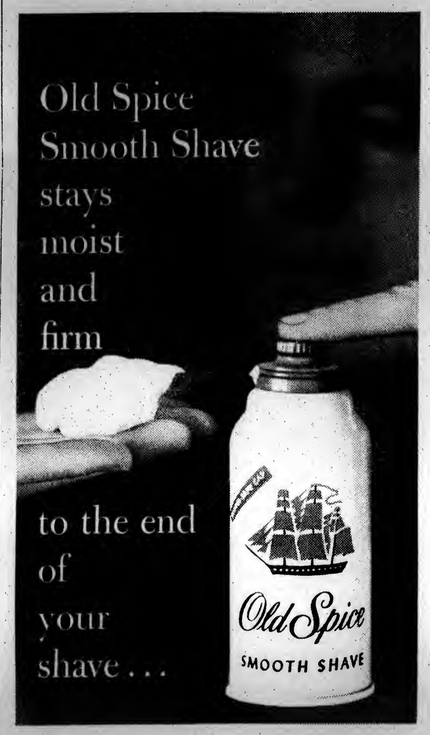
The Athletic Program includes basketball, swimming, softball, and crafts. Well-qualified instructors do an invaluable job of organization in each of these fields.

Roamers Walking Delegates are people who have no fixed spot or room, but travel through the building and observe what the boys are doing. In this way they frequently find a boy at loose ends. Doing nothing is everyone's privilege, but the Delegates' job is to help a boy find what he wants to do and assist him in doing it.

The Big Brother Boys' Club is open each afternoon 2:00 to 5:30 and evenings 7:00 to 10:00 Monday through Friday, and Saturday 9:00 to 5:00.

Volunteers who could assist one evening a week or part of Saturday should contact:

Thomas G. Cairns
25 South Van Pelt Street
Philadelphia 3, Pa.
or call LO 3-7796



do girls go to your head?

Or do they just go? If so try 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic—made specially for men who use water with their hair tonic (and who doesn't!). 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic's 100% pure, light grooming oil replaces oil that water removes. It will not evaporate — will stay clear and clean. Your hair looks great, stays neater longer. Just a little does a lot!

IT'S CLEAR ♪ ♫ IT'S CLEAN IT'S VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

Your razor rides easy all the way. Softens the most stubborn beard instantly for a faster, closer shave, soothes and lubricates your skin. Extra-rich, extra-thick, push-button quick. Regular or Mentholated, only 1.00

Old Spice SMOOTH SHAVE

SHULTON

Billy Paczkoskie—Bilocator Between Lab and Gridiron

By Bill Cercone

Vincent "Billy" Paczkoskie was born and raised in an obscure town in Pennsylvania—Shamokin, but this was not a detrimental factor because he developed into one of the finest fullbacks ever to come out of the coal regions.

As a youngster, Billy was large and well proportioned, the result of many laborious days in the coal fields. When he reached high school the coach was extremely impressed by his size and physique.

Asked to try out for the football team, Billy nonchalantly shrugged his massive shoulders and said, "Sure I'll give it a try."

TD On First Carry

Well, try he did. The first time that he carried the ball in a scrimmage game he plowed through the line and then with a burst of lightning speed outraced the defensive backs to score on a play covering 70 yards.

The coach was flabbergasted; Billy made the first team, a position that he ably maintained throughout his high school days.

So, Billy lived in an obscure town and played for an even more obscure school — Coal Township High School. But once the "Shamokin Express" started rolling everyone had heard of this small school.

In Billy's senior year he was in the limelight. Everybody wanted him to go to college and he received approximately 80 offers from colleges all over the country. He had attained the highest honors possible; All-State and All-American. Because of these noteworthy awards and his great ability, innumerable agents appeared at his home trying to entice him to matriculate at colleges from Notre Dame to L.S.U.

Chose Villanova

But Billy had other plans. He wanted to stay close to home and yet play for a big team. So his choice fell on Villanova; a choice he does not regret to this day.

Kept out of his freshman year by a knee operation, he stormed back in his sophomore year to ramble like an unchained bull. He won wide acclaim and was picked for stardom.

Fans would never forget the game against Richmond in which Billy was called on continuously and how well he responded by ripping off huge gains. The rain poured down; yet not a person left the stadium because Billy was running wild and no one wanted to miss that. He had at last displayed his great potential, and everything said about him was verified.

Academic Handicap

One factor Billy had to overcome every Saturday is his lack of practice, which is no fault of his or the coaching staff. Most afternoons when the rest of the team is practicing, Billy is in lab studying to pursue his education in the field of medicine. He gets to practice twice a week, but shows no indication of this handicap once the opening whistle is heard on Saturdays.

This season Billy has not played to a great extent, but every time he does get into the game there are visions of the "Shamokin Express" chugging through the line and as the thunderous sound of colliding leather slowly diminishes, Billy's smile can be seen as he lifts himself from the gridiron.

Stalwart defensive tackling and a tremendous blocking are other factors which cause trepidation to rush through opposing players as the gigantic form of Billy goes racing onto the field.

Doesn't 'Rattle' Easily

Billy has never been known to get 'rattled,' and very cooly sits on the bench awaiting his chance. When his name is called he lumbers onto the field to do the job expected of him. He knows his job and is ready to perform it.

This past Saturday Billy was called upon to plunge the final four yards and he did just what was expected. He scored! This game against Rutgers also gave every indication that the "Shamokin Express" is ready and will once more blast through the line terrorizing all that get in his path.

A man with a purpose, that's Vincent "Billy" Paczkoskie. Whether it be medicine or football, he always does his job.

Villanova's undefeated 1960 cross country team, which wound up the season with a 19-38 victory over LaSalle last Wednesday.

Traynor and Sivieri Head All-'Cat First Four Places As Harriers Down Red Men

By Ed Lohr

Villanova's undefeated cross country team journeyed to the 'big city' on Saturday, October 26 and returned with a 19-36 victory over the Redmen of St. John's University and the two fastest times posted over the rugged Van Cortland Park course this season.

Pat Traynor placed first once again and led the Wildcats home in fine style in 24-51 over the five-mile ordeal.

Capturing the first four places, the Villanova harriers beat a good St. John's team composed mainly of sophomores from last year's freshman IC4A cross country championship team. St. John's had one previous loss and that was to powerful Army.

Sivieri Second

Angelo Sivieri also ran a great race finishing second in 25:32; Owen Maguire placed third and Jon Dante rounded out the first-four place sweep for the Wildcats.

After the La Salle meet on November 2, Villanova is pointing toward the IC4A cross country championships in New York City on November 14.

Coach Jim Tuppeny noted the greatest competition for the team title would come from Penn State, Army and defending champion Michigan State.

Individual standouts will probably be: Dick Norman of Penn State, Jim Howe of Brown, Tom Laris of Dartmouth and Bill Verdesco of Georgetown.

"This is a good team but it could be better and continued hard work will make it just that!" emphasized Tuppeny. He also hinted that a trip to the NCAA would be warranted from a good showing at the IC4A's.

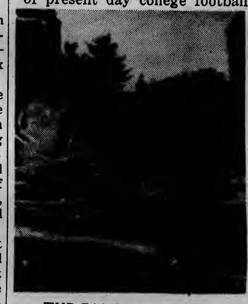
In The Groove

'Famine': One Comes; Then One Goes

By Dan Grove

On a gray October day, twenty-six years ago the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse rode across the Plains of West Point in the guise of Notre Dame football players. These horsemen—Famine, Destruction, Pestilance, and Death—were so dubbed by an itinerant typewriter-pounder named Grantland Rice.

In real life these men were Stuldreher, Miller, Layden, and Crowley, Knute Rockne's backfield. This group wreaked destruction on a tough Army team that day. They rode through the remainder of their college careers to become a legend in American sports annals.



Last week one of these four cowboys directed his chauffeur-driven Cadillac into the Fieldhouse driveway. Harry Stuldreher, the first horseman, had come back to the place where he started his successful coaching career. He had moved up the ranks of athletes from All-American, to coach, to athletic director (at Wisconsin). Now the ex-Saturday afternoon idol is a human relations man with the U. S. Steel Company.

From Pigskin to Pigiron

Stuldreher was on a mission of mercy. To bring a kind word into the life of two of his former Villanova charges, Alex Bell and Ed Michaels, who along with the rest of the Villanova coaching staff and team, were feeling lower than the poolsters who picked Syracuse to take Pitt.

Stuldreher had a short talk with the two coaches, then walked around the fieldhouse renewing old acquaintances.

What did he tell Bell and Michaels? What did he think of present day college football? "Al and Mike feel that nothing is going to happen right. They have a young team and have had lots of bad breaks. I assured them that soon things would happen right. I have every confidence that the present staff is capable of doing a job."

THE FAMINE IS OVER

"In college football today there are no coaching genuises. Manpower and a tailwind to get them moving are the prerequisites of a good college team. Today there are many more good teams than there were in my day."

The dapper little man who had guided Villanova's football fortunes for eleven years, was correct in his analysis of both situations. Against Rutgers the tailwind was found. The offense and defense worked as cohesive units. The spirit was still there, even after the terrible shellacking the Hudson River GI's handed them. The manpower was approximately equal, for a change.

Rutgers waved their press clippings as John Bateman watched the newly found tailwind blow his dream of an undefeated season out the window. The old Horseman named Famine had called the play. Alex Bell and Ed Michaels began to believe in spritual things again, and the football player didn't have to turn a deaf ear on the cliched "tough luck Saturday", phrase.

Perhaps Stuldreher's sage observation was a timely piece of luck. No matter. The winning spirit and morale are restored. We can win against equal opponents. The Philadelphia press lost their weekly whipping boy and Villanovan sportswriters no longer shirk the assignment of rehashing the game.

Right Area, Wrong Game

Harry Stuldreher left as quickly as he had come. Perhaps his short talk with the coaches was as impressive as his short interview with me. He certainly is a living refutation to the image of the big dumb football player who majors in underwater penmanship. His only mistake was his choice of weekend entertainment. He passed up the Rutgers game for the Navy-Notre Dame classic in Philadelphia. Ah well, maybe he'll stay for the whole show next time.

Talented Titans To Defend 'Burke Trophy Against Cats

by Jack Dorazio

The Villanova Eleven will try to lower Detroit University's growing prestiege as a small college football power this Saturday afternoon. The 'Cats will be trying to avenge the 40-6 setback it suffered last year at the hands of Detroit and bring the Cyril J. Burke Trophy, named for the prominent Detroit businessman and Villanova alumnus, back to Philadelphia.

Detroit coach, Jim Miller, will be trying to better his first year record of 6-4. The starting backfield will have soph Gerry Gross at QB. Bob Lusky, a 6' senior from Tamaqua, Pa., who led the Titans in total offense with 621 yds. in 194 plays, will be lost the rest of the season due to an ankle injury.

However, Gross, a two-time high school All American, ran and passed for 339 yds. against the Quantico Marines from variations of the split 'T', which Detroit employs. Jim Post, who had a 4.4 yds. avg. last season, will be at right halfback. Juniors Ted Karpowicz and Tom Shanahan, who does the place kicking chores, share the left halfback position. Soph Tom DeLuca will be at fullback. The ends will be manned by a pair of 6'3", 200 lb., juniors named Larry Vargo and Steve Stonebreaker.

Young Line

The interior line is young, inexperienced, but big—averaging 6'1", 210 lbs. Junior Tom Marshall, a nationally ranked punter, has a 40 yd. average this year.

After losing their first game to Iowa St., 44-21 (it was 21-21 at the end of the third period), Detroit has beaten: Xavier, 26-6; Cincinnati, 14-0; Boston College, 19-17; Dayton, 13-0; Quantico Marines, 28-7; and 32-12, Marquette. They will be riding high for their game with Villanova, carrying a six-game win streak—the longest since 1920. Larry Sopko's place kicking, which ended another streak two weeks ago, will play a big role for the 'Cats.

Detroit will be meeting Villanova for the twenty-eighth time since 1931. Villanova leads in the series with 15 wins, there have been two ties. Villanova last won in 1958, 7-0.

The Titans will arrive at Villanova with a creditable record, but may not be able to improve it at the 'Cats expense. The 'Cats have finally found themselves after a slow start, but will not be at full strength for the Midwest invaders.

CYRIL J. BURKE TROPHY

Wildkittens Drop Second of Season; Rain, Rams Blamed

By Bob Larkin

Villanova's freshmen football team traveled to West Chester last week where it dropped its second game of the campaign 7-0. Injuries, inexperience and a costly fumble spelled the difference.

West Chester's tally came early in the first period when they took advantage of a Wildcat miscue. The Mainliners, deep in their own territory, fumbled on the four yard line. West Chester recovered and scored off their own left tackle. The kick was good for the extra point and the Rams led 7-0. The game remained scoreless thereafter with neither team posing a serious scoring threat.

Inexperience, etc.

Due to inexperience and poor weather conditions the Mainliners offense could not penetrate the Rams forward wall. On two occassions the 'Cats drove down to West Chester's 20 yard line only to have the drive falter. The freshmen team's passing attack was limited by the weather and the Rams concentrated on stopping the running of Corsetti and Russo.

One of the bright spots of the afternoon was the fine defensive play of the linemen. Three of the players turned in iron men performances playing the full 60 minutes. Sullivan played the full game at end as did Impedduglia at guard and Papa at center.

The freshmen now have an 0-2 record after dropping the opener to Bullis Prep last week 14-2. Next Friday they will try to get into the win column when they play the plebes at West Point.

Richie Richman (15), Villanova's sophomore QB, eludes Dave Yelle (64) and Harry Crump (33) of BC enroute to another good gain in the second period of Saturday's homecoming game.

Cats End Rutgers Success Story; Wet Homecoming

By Jack Duffy

For the first time this season the ride home was short and sweet for the Villanova football team. The ride could have been a thousand miles instead of a hundred but still it would have been short, as all victory rides are. The Villanova University football team had won a game. It had knocked off undefeated Rutgers 14-12.

The Rutgers football game had great significance for Villanova football men. For the coach, Alex Bell, it meant the end of a frustrating experience. After six consecutive losses Coach Bell must have thought we would never win and then success.

The Big Game

For the team this was the one they knew they had to win. Here was Rutgers, a mighty Eastern power, if you listened to the propaganda out of New Brunswick, unbeaten and looking for their first undefeated season in the history of the school.

Rutgers was making statements to the effect that they would beat Villanova by more points than Army and Navy combined. The Scarlet was confident and they told everyone of their intentions but the Villanova football team.

Needless to say the boys in the red football suits were lucky to keep the score as close as it was. The men in the blue and white outplayed them, outfought them, and outscored them. A questionable call by an an official late in the first half deprived the victors of another touchdown.

Many Heroes

The Wildcat football players were as happy about their victory as a bunch of kids on Christmas morning. Almost everyone in uniform was a hero. The backfield was brilliant and the line tremendous. Richie Richman played a masterful game at quarterback.

This agile sophomore always came through with the big play in the clutch. The halfbacks, Larry Glueck and Mike Pettine also turned in fine games. Glueck, with the aid of a charging defensive line, picked off three Rutgers' passes and throttled the Scarlet air attack.

At fullback, Bill Paczkowskie and Lou Rettino were men of iron: Something like if the right fist doesn't get you the left one will. It was Paczkowskie's 4-yard plunge in the last period that accounted for the winning touchdown.

Line Brilliant

The line men also should come in for praise. Joe Luzzi, Rich Ross, Charlie Johnson, and Henry Gotard played heads up ball in the middle of the line. Sam Gruneison's fine catch of Richman's pass for the first TD was indeed the work of a very fine end.

The game meant a lot to other people too. To Joe Chase, the sports publicist, this was the week the press came to him for information on Saturday's heroes.

To the Philadelphia press, who had been following a loser all year this was the sunlight in the rainstorm.

And to the Villanova student body this was the week. The campus Saturday afternoon looked like Fifth Avenue on the day after the election. And to one Villanovan, let's call him Smith, this was his day too. He picked Villanova in the football pool.

BC Game

The Boston College Eagles with the aid of two third period fumbles captured the Homecoming Day victory and their first win of the season at the expense of Villanova's Wildcats by the score of 20-6 on Saturday. The visitors from Beantown dominated the first half and then had to hang on for dear life in the third period as the grid 'Cats came on with a rush.

The big man for the Eagles was a swift scatback by the name of Johnny McCann, who skirted Villanova's ends with pro-like aplomb. McCann tallied the first BC touchdown on a ten yard jaunt around the right end at the close of the first period. Then halfway through the last quarter that man McCann eased through the Villanova secondary and was on the receiving end of a twenty-five yard touchdown aerial from George Van Catt. Fullback Frank Robetti tallied the other Eagle score on a one yard plunge in the second period.

Not Outclassed

Although they were beaten, the Wildcats were not outclassed Only pure bad luck and misfortune separated the "'Cats" from their winning ways. Outplayed the first half, the 'Cats took the second half kickoff and marched 75 yards for a touchdown. Richman scored from the one yard line, after key passes to Gruneisen and Pettine, and a 23 yard option play with Richman and Glueck kept the offense moving.

The Wildcats defense kept Boston pinned deep in their own territory in the third period and resulted in Boston gaining only 10 yards in that period.

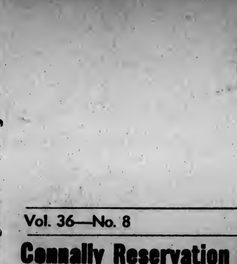
To illustrate just how unfortunate the Wildcats were, take a pass Richman threw to Meyers in the first half. Myers was ahead of the "Eagle" defenders, inside the B.C. 20 yard line, and had momentary possession of the ball-and dropped it, the goof!

Another Richman to Myers pass, on which Myers made a sensational catch among three Eagle defenders on the five yard line was called back for holding.

Bulling up the middle to the four yard line, VU's Billy Paczkowskie has left Rutgers' end, Ronegan (84) in his wake. Witnesses to the action are Nick Russo (41) of the 'Cats and Sam Mudie (11) and Bob Yardstick (14) of the Scarlet. On the next play Paczkowskie slammed over for the game winning Wildcat TD.

Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 8 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. November 17, 1960



Connally Reservation Debated At Law Forum Pro And Con Heard

The second session of the Villanova Law Forum met on Monday evening in Garey Hall, the Law Building, to debate the Connally Reservation.

The Reservation pertains to the jurisdiction of the World Court over international judicial problems. It states that the U.S. will submit to an interpretation of the World Court as to whether a problem is a problem only when it has been determined as a domestic or an international problem by the United States.

Mr. Robert Dechert of the Philadelphia Bar argued for the rejection of the resolution. He maintained that the world has no hope if the nation retains "merely the negative point of view," and he identified the Connally Reservation as such.

He stated that the U.S. must show the world "the way of democracy." He continued that "the self-judging aspect of this reservation, the reservation by which we judge our own cases, is the thing that turns people away from us." He asserted that we must give the world leadership, but that this will necessarily involve some risk.

OPPONENTS DECHERT and MONTGOMERY

He continued that we must maintain the status of the free and neutral nations of the world, and also attempt to influence people behind the Iron Curtain.

"We need a declaration which will demonstrate that we have the will to lead, the consistency to lead, and the skill to lead." He asserted that we must keep the peace and that law is the only substitute for force in so doing.

Mr. George S. Montgomery of New York City defended the retention of the resolution. He identified the arguments for the abolition of the reservation as unrealistic in our times.

He asserted that if it is rejected or abolished "the United States will be open to some of the most devastating litigation" that has ever been brought against us. He typified the arguments against the reservation as being unrealistic in modern politics in a statement of "how can anyone expect to make an impression on evil men?" He continued that if it is abolished, most of the world will eventually be communist.

Ron Klemmer and Dan Martin Co-Chairmen of The Johnnies Weekend look over some unseen figures on the coming event.

Annual Orphans' Outing Is Slated For December 3

Decorated in pre-Christmas gaiety, the 69th Street shopping area will provide magic atmosphere as the background to this year's Orphans' Outing. After Thanksgiving, the stores begin the big Christmas season which generates the happy confusion that no other time of the year can offer. Every Villanovan who takes out a "Johnnie" will enter into this holiday atmosphere.

Buses will arrive in the Villanova parking lot at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, December 3, to provide transportation. Nevertheless Outing Chairman Bud Beloin urges that "all those who are able to drive do so." The buses will proceed to Saint John's Orphanage and then to the 69th Street area where the "Johnnies" will visit Kiddie City, Gimbels, Lits, and Penneys, to name only a few. Next door to Gimbels, several kiddie rides have been arranged and will be available all afternoon free of charge. Santa Claus will meet and talk to each "Johnnie" personally during the day.

Lunch will be served this year at Kostick's from 11:30 to 12:30. There will be a hot roast beef dinner with a beverage and dessert for $1.25.

Dates Encouraged

From lunch the group will proceed to the 69th Street Theatre where "Gang Busters," starring the Bowery Boys, and twenty cartoons will be shown. The show is scheduled to begin at 2:00 p.m. Tom O'Connor, Co-Chairman, said, "We hope there is a large turnout so all the boys can go." O'Connor also encouraged men to bring dates.

The assigning of "Johnnies" will be done during the week preceeding the outing. Men will be stationed in the Pie Shoppe to sign up those who wish to take out orphans.

In the past there have always been 'orphaned" Villanovans because of the tremendous turnout of students. Tom O'Connor stated "the necessity for an early sign-up is due only because we do not want last minute disappointments to those who wish to take out a 'Johnnie.' "

Tuesday afternoon, December 6, is the date of the annual Christmas Party for the orphans. This party is given at the orphanage each year as the climax to the orphans' weekend. Under the direction of Jim Braithwaite and Dan Peschio, Co-Chairman for the event, the party, beginning at two p.m., will include entertainment and refreshments. At this time, individual gifts will be presented

(Continued on Page 11)

Council Conducting Student Government Week For Campus

The purpose of Student Government Week, which is now in progress, is "to develop and strengthen the relationship between the Student Council and the student body." according to Tom Wall, Chairman of the event.

The activities commenced on Monday at 6:30 p.m. with the Student Senate meeting in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall.

On Tuesday a lecture was given by Dr. Robert O'Shea of the Philosophy Department. His speech, "The Value of Student Government," was delivered in the East Lounge.

The Student Congress meeting held last night provided a demonstration of student government in action for those who attended as visitors.

Tonight there will be a panel discussion in Room 110 C&F at 7:30 p.m. The purpose of this activity will be to give the student body an opportunity to resolve all questions regarding the Student Council and its usefulness at Villanova.

Wall stated that "all students who attend these metings should obtain a comprehensive picture of the organization which represents them," and that their outlook on Student Government at Villanova will be "vastly changed" if they do so. A special invitation was extended to all freshmen and to those who have aspirations concerning the Council or class office.

Soph "Cotillion Carnival" Tomorrow In Field House

The annual Sophomore Cotillion will be held in the Villanova Field House from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. this Friday. It is to be a semi-formal dance for the entire student body.

The Cotillion will be the only social function under the sponsorship of the sophomore class this year. Its chairman, Jim Shiels, has said, "We are going all out to make this event the best Cotillion that Villanova has seen on campus in a long time. We have obtained the orchestra of Al Raymond who proposes to make the evening an enjoyable and memorable one for the sophomore class."

The dance is titled the "Cotillion Carnival" and presents the circus idea as its theme. Great emphasis will be placed upon the front hall of the Field House with the surrounding effects of a carnival while the main gym itself will be transformed to give the effect of the big-top.

Raymond Selects Queen

The queen of the Sophomore Cotillion will be crowned during the dance from the five finalists who were recently chosen by the Student Council from a group of thirty finalists submitted by the students of the sophomore class. They will be introduced to Mr. Raymond prior to the dance, and will later be present on stage to the band leader Mr. Raymond alone will have the enviable honor of selecting the Sophomore Cotillion Queen. The four remaining girls will make up her court.

The queen will then be presented with a crown and flowers while remembrances of the occasion will be given to the other girls of her court. Pictures of the finalists are found on page of the Villanovan.

According to Jim Shiels, all the committees have finished ahead of schedule and "are to be congratulated for their efficiency and cooperation."

Joe Ruggiero, Head of the Decoration Committee, is credited for having designed all the decorations which will be seen during the dance.

Tickets will be sold for $3.00 a couple both in the Pie Shoppe and in the Commerce and Finance Cafeteria and will also be available at the door. Besides being open to the student body, the dance is also open to all the faculty and administration, who have ben urged to attend by Shiels and Dan Pistelli, President of the Sophomore Class. Invitations have also been sent out to the Student Council Presidents of the surrounding colleges.

Progress Report Submitted

The Rev. Dante Girolami, O.S.A., Sophomore Class Advisor, is reported to be pleased with the smoothness with which the class handled the difficulties which arose. Progress reports of the various committees have been given at meetings held every Wednesday for the past two months.

Shiels also said, "I trust that all the sophomores will unite to make this cotillion an event of which they can be well proud."

The sophomores and their dates also have a block of choice seats reserved for the Villanova-Xavier home football game.

Religious Affairs Committee Schedules Retreat In January

A list of approved Laymen's retreat houses located in the various home areas of most members of the student body is on file in the Chaplain's Office, 223 Mendel ,the Rev. Norbert W. Whitley, O.S.A., University Chaplain, has announced.

The Religious Affairs Committee of the Student Council has arranged for a weekend retreat at the St. Pius X Retreat House in Blackwood, N. J., during January.

Details regading this reteat, and registration procedure for it will be announced shortly. The Committee has urged that all students make reservations at Retreat Houses as early as possible, in order to avoid disappointment or refusal.

St. Joseph's in the Hills has specifically requested that no students present themselves at the Retreat House within a previous reservation.

Al LeMastra (L) comments on Joe Ruggiero's (R) artistic abilities. The group is working on Sophomore Cotillion decorations.

Opinion Magazine Seeks Contributors Administration OK's It

Mediocre minds discuss events "Small minds discuss people Great minds discuss ideas."

The author of the above statement, whoever he may be, seems to say a great deal in very few words; and if what he says is true, it is perhaps a tremendous indictment of college students in general and Villanovan's in particular. Why so? Because if we use the above statement as a criterion for the greatness of man's mind, and if we sit around the Pie Shoppe for any length of time gathering in the conversation that permeates the air, we are forced to a rather low conclusion of the average Villanovan's intellect. We who are supposed to be students at a fine Catholic University, a real cathedral of learning, seems to be discussing little other than the nurses, frat parties, and football games—topics that could hardly be considered intellectual by and standards (no offense meant to the nurses).

There are of course exceptions to this rule, but exceptions are exactly what they are. And in the Pie Shoppe those who are exceptions are not particularly encouraged to continue being exceptions. The force of the crowd is a strong one, and damn be him who wants to discuss existence when Maverick had a good show on last night.

Less Than Desirable

There are, however, a number of students on this campus who feel that a situation such as just described is something less than desirable, and a few of their number have actually put forth a concrete proposal which they hope will help to remedy it. These students have proposed that a magazine be founded whose general purpose would be to further the intellectual development of the Villanova student.

What sort of a magazine? It would be, purely and simply, a forum of ideas, written by the students themselves to be read by other students. he ideas could come from any field or combination of fields imaginable, with the exception of those that would fall under already existing campus publications. The only criteria for acceptance would be that they must be of interest to any intelligent Villanovan, and that they be carefully investigated and expertly presented.

To Stimulate Thinking

As implied above, the primary purpose of this magazine would be to stimulate the thinking of the Villanova Student Body by presenting to it worthwhile and interesting ideas. The secondary purpose would be to encourage good students to thoroughly investigate difficult concepts which they regard as being important, and then to present their own well thought out views on these concepts in such a manner that they will be of interest to a large number of students.

This last requirement is particularly important. This publication will not be a haven for old term papers. The material can not be dull and lifeless. It must be written expertly enough that it will arrest the students attenion and hold it throughout the article. To express a complex idea in just such a clear and interesting manner, and still imoress the reader with its basic importance, is one of the most difficult of all endeavors.

Administration Approval

Thus far the magazine has received the approval of the administration and the enthusiastic supoort of a number of faculty members. What is now needed is the vital interest of many students who are willing to devote a great deal of time to writing articles for this magazine and toward performing the hundred and one other tasks necessary to make this publication a reality.

Gene Feich discusses VISA with interested onlookers.

Joseph Linihan of the Villanova Math Dept. and also moderator of the Belle Air discusses problems in the Belle Air office.

Charity Ball To Feature Xmas Fixings, Villanovans

The purpose of this year's Charity Dance, to be held on Friday, December 2, is the same as that of previous years: to raise funds for St. John's Orphanage. The ball, however, will differ from those of other years in three basic respects. "The decorations for this year's dance will be bigger and better than those used in any other year," assures Ray Trapp, Dance Chairman.

Trapp said that his committee is using a completely new idea for decorations. Formerly the dance has been decorated on a charity basis, but as a result of student requests, this has been changed to a Christmas theme. Decorations will include a fireplace as a centerpiece, with gaily decorated Christmas trees and Santa Claus to spread Christmas cheer. Mike Kane, Dance Co-Chairman, will incorporate a special lighting effect planned to impart an appropriate mood and atmosphere.

Music will be provided by the new seven piece Villanova Orchestra which will play selected and popular dance music. Ray Trapp said that he was happy to engage the orchestra because they have a "big band sound" and are able to play selections of the many popular big bands.

Two Singing Groups

During the intermission entertainment will be provided. This is the first time that any type of show will be presented at a dance of this nature. The entertainment will be supplied by two new singing groups. The first group is "The Criterions," who will sing folk songs and ballad-type songs. This group, "The Spires," will do Christmas songs and carols. The latter group consists of several members of the Villanova Singers.

Gerry McNulty, who is handling the publicity for the weekend, expects this dance to be one of the largest held during this semester. He said that he anticipates much success because of the special features offered by the dance, and also because this dance is the last of the social semester.

Tickets In Pie Shoppe

Tickets for the dance, which are $2.00, may be purchased from members of the Dance Committee. They will also be on sale in the Pie Shoppe during the week preceding the dance. In addition, salesmen will visit the various resident dorms during that week. Pete Federico, Ticket Chairman, urges all students who are going to the dance to make plans to buy their tickets as early as possible because the dance is expected to be a complete sell-out.

The dance is the beginning of a weekend which will include an Orphans' Outing and an Orphans' Party. The dance is the main source of funds which will go for gifts, donations and a scholarship fund for the orphans.

Visa Comes To VU Campus To Help Foreign Students

The initial meeting of VISA, the Villanova International Student Association, took place last Sunday afternoon with an international array of members present.

The meeting was opened by Gene Feich, NFCCS Senior Delegate, who presented a brief introduction to the Federation. The purpose of VISA, which was founded under NFCCS auspices, was then outlined by John Simone, acting president.

According to Simone, the organization has a twofold purpose. It was originated to aid the foreign student in the problems that he afces on American campuses in general and at Villanova in particular. Secondly, VISA hopes to promote better international understanding among foreign and American students through discussions of various aspects of the culture of the countries represented.

Constance Lam Speaks

Miss Constance Lam, a representative of the International Grail, was the main speaker. She was accompanied by Miss Mary Kent, also a Grail representative. Miss Lam stated that the world exists in a condition of international interdependance which must be recognized by all men.

International friendship, according to Miss Lam, must begin now. "Develop friendship," she said, "on a fraternal level—not patronizing or condescending, but equal."

Prof. Garcia and U.N.

Professor Carlo Garcia of the C & F School then spoke to the group on the advisability of having VISA become a branch of the United Nations Student Organization. Mr. Garcia headed the International Student Organization at Vanderbilt University, and as such had dealings with the U. N. Organization.

The group then had a general discusion of the problems of foreign students. In addition to Americans, Villanovans from Jordan, Viet Nam, Germany, Cuba, Columbia, and many other countries participated.

The fact that the organization exists for Americans as well as for foreign students was stressed. "It is good to see that such a movement was begun by Americans," said Prof. Garcia.

Next Meeting

After establishing a temporary governing body, Simone, acting as president, announced that the next meeting of VISA will be held on Sunday, December 11.

State Att'y General Alpern To Address Forum December 5

The third in a series of five meetings of the Law Forum of the Villanova University School of Law will be held on December 5. The guest speaker will be Miss Anne X. Alpern.

Miss Alpern was a former Allegheny County Judge and is the first woman Attorney General in the history of the state of Pennsylvania. She was apointed by Governor Lawerence in January of 1959.

Miss Alpern will speak on "The Unrealistic Approach to Criminals and Their Treatment." Forum sessions are held primarily for university students but are open to the public.

Touch system or hunt-and-peck—
Results are perfect with

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND

Typewriter Paper

Whatever your typing talents, you can turn out neat, clean-looking work the first time, with Eaton's Corrāsable Bond Paper. Reason why: Corrāsable has a special surface—it erases without a trace. Just the flick of an ordinary pencil eraser and typographical errors disappear. No smears, no smudges. Saves time, temper and money!

Corrāsable is available in several weights—from onionskin to heavy bond. In handy 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. A fine quality paper for all your typed assignments. Only Eaton makes erasable Corrāsable.

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND

A Berkshire Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION (E) PITTSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

Pair Take Debate Honors; Beta Gamma Fails To Place

Terry Stratman and Frank Battaglia were designated 12th and 13th speakers, respectively, but the Villanova debating contingent failed to finish among the top ten schools at a tournament held at St. Joseph's last Saturday.

30 schools and 120 speakers were represented in the tourney which constituted Beta Gamma's first intercollegiate competition of the year.

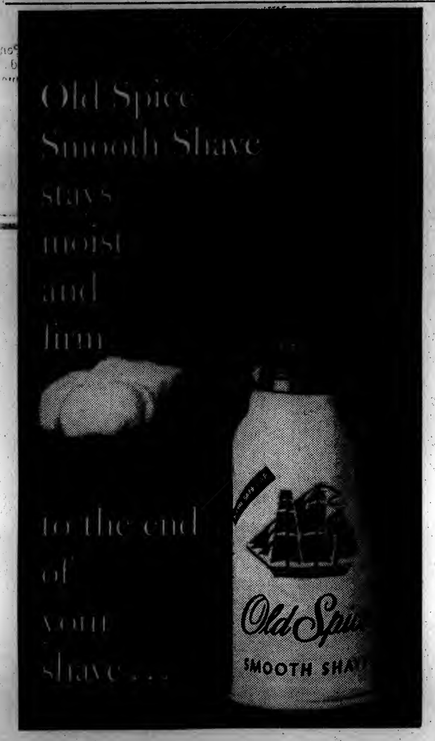
Georgetown, with a record of 9-1, won first place honors.

The Villanova reoresentatives were Stratman and Bill Freind, affirmative, and Battaglia and Jim Rhodes, negative.

Topic

The topic for this year is "Resolved: That The United States Should Adopt A Program Of Compulsory Health Insurance For All Its Citizens."

"The debate society novices have also been busy," says novice co-chairman Frank Battaglia. In their striving for varsity status they have already put in a good showing at a debate clinic held at Lehigh University in late October, and plans are currently underway to send winning teams to the Temple Novice Debate Tournament on December 3.



The biggest news at Beta Gamma, however, is the first invitational tournament in the history of debating at Villanova. Teams invited to the December 10 tournament will discuss the topic; "The United States should adopt a program of compulsory health insurance for all citizens."

Awards To Be Given

Three rounds of debating will be concluded by the awarding of trophies to the three top teams. The list of just some of the teams includes Temple, Swarthmore, St. Joseph's, St. Peter's, Haverford, and University of Pennsylvania. "The event promises to be a real test of the organizational ability of the newly expanded Debate Society," said Jim Rhodes, Beta Gamma president.

"The debates will be according to 'orthodox procedure,' a term no doubt incomprehensible to all those who have never witnessed a debate," Battaglia said vaguely.

"Anyone wishing to so enliven a normally placid Saturday afternoon, is assured of finding something of interest in the Commerce and Finance building, if not incisive arguments, then girls," Rattigan promised.

Your razor rides easy all the way. Softens the most stubborn beard instantly for a faster, closer shave, soothes and lubricates your skin. Extra-rich, extra-thick, push-button quick. Regular or Mentholated, only 1.00

Old Spice SMOOTH SHAVE

SHULTON

Accounting Majors Urged To Attend Forum At LaSalle

Frank M. Rudney, Chairman of the Committee on Cooperation with Educational Institutions, announced that the Eighteenth Annual Accounting Forum will be held on Thursday, November 17, at 1:30 P.M. in the Campus Theatre at La Salle College. The Forum will be sponsored by the Philadelphia Chapter of the Penna. Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

LaSalle will play host to more than 500 college and university students, accounting professors, and practitioners in the Philadelphia area. In the past, the Forum has been staged on the campuses of Drexel, Penn, Temple, St. Joseph's, and last year, at Villanova.

Current Developments

The program is designed to inform the students of current developments in the accounting profession and to discuss with the students of the area schools the opportunities available to them in the accounting profession. In the social hour that follows the Forum, the students will have an opportunity to talk with practitioners about the profession, what to expect from it, and what will be expected from them in return.

Among the speakers will be William Craemer, Jr., President of the Philadelphia Chapter, presenting greetings from the Penna. Institute of CPA's. Other speakers include Mr. Robert Seider, who will speak on "Personal and Financial Rewards"; Mr. John H. Kennedy, LaSalle, Class of '51, who will discuss "Training Formal and CPA Requirements"; and Mr. Albert Zanger, whose topic will be "Background and Personal Qualities."

The main address will be "The Profession of Public Accounting", and will be delivered by Dr. Frederick E. Horn, CPA, PhD, formerly chairman of the Graduate School of Business, Columbia University. Currently Dr. Horn is National Director of Personnel, with Arthur Young and Co., New York.

All Accounting majors of VU are invited. The seniors are especially urged to attend.

Portrette

A Queen Of Our Own

Cecile Mugnier (pronounced Munyay), besides being the first Villanova nurse ever to be selected a queen of any VU campus function, is also Villanova's first anonymous Homecoming Queen.

Ceil, a sophomore, was honored at the Homecoming festivities but was unfortunately neglected by the VILLANOVAN. Although a picture of the queen and her date, Bill Freind, was published in these pages (Volume 36, Number 7), by some oversight her name was omitted. Miss Mugnier took this in stride, however, and registered no complaints, although many of her friends felt that she had been slighted.

A graduate of West Catholic High School, Ceil has not regretted her decision to come to Villanova. "I came here," she said, "because I wtnted to be a nurse and I also wanted a college degree. I like Villanova very much," she continued, "and I find the curriculum very satisfactory."

Reaction to Environment

When asked how she felt about attending a school where the boys so greatly outnumber the girls, Ceil answered, "When I first came, it bothered me because there were so many boys, but after a while you get used to it."

Although Ceil is the first Villanovan ever to achieve such an honor, this is not her first award of this type. While attending high school, she was Queen of LaSalle College Glee Club and Miss Spire (Bonner's newspaper).

Queen Cecile

Miss Mugnier is a member of the newly-organized Women's Glee Club, Pi Theta Chi Sorority, and the Spirit Committee.

After her graduation, Ceil plans a future in nursing, preferably as an operating room nurse.

Villanova Reaccredited By Middle States Association

The Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has reaffirmed the general accreditation of Villanova University, it was announced November 10 by the Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., University President.

Notification of continued accreditation was received from Dr. Albert Meder, Chairman of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the Middle States Association. A detailed examination of colleges and universities within the Middle States group is made every ten years.

A team of evaluators, headed by Dr. Meder, visited Villanova earlier this year for the purpose of this evaluation. The last previous evaluation took place in 1950. Inspectors seek to determine the extent to which a college or university is attaining its particular objectives.

Engineers, Too

Father Klekotka was also notified this week of the continued accreditation of the Villanova School of Enginering by the Engineers Council for Professional Development.

"oxford accent"...
prints of distinction

The sport shirt that gives you that rugged masculine appeal... printed in neat figures in uniquely attractive colorings. Well-cut collar style in classic button-down lines with box pleated back. In traditionally favored oxford cloth.

$5.00

cum laude collection
by
ARROW

A Myth?

Does Student Government exist at Villanova? More important, can student government exist at Villanova? In order to investigate these questions and their practical ramifications, the Student Council each year designates a "Student Government Week."

As it happens, we are currently in the midst of Student Government Week 1960. Because this week effects every member of the student body, and indirectly influences everyone associated with the University, it seems essential that serious and objective thought be given to the matter of student government at Villanova.

In a discussion of student government and student responsibility conducted before a Student Government Symposium on Tuesday, the point was proposed that true student government is based on a sense of responsibility which in turn is based on a psychological orientation toward the concept of honor.

Honor, it seems, is a fundamental attribute to freedom. Only in the unfettered give-and-take of human inter-relationship does the concept of honor exist. For only a tradition of freely given and freely kept promises to his fellow beings can give rise to the quality of honor in a man.

An alternative philosophy of life to that of individual freedom of initiative is the monastic philosophy embodied in the vow of obedience. Although this vow is, per se, a great act and exercise of freedom, in that a man freely and knowingly surrenders his right to the exercise of his will, in its ramifications it does not permit extensive individual initiative.

It seems that, the monastic philosophy being righteously observed by members of the Villanova Administration, and the philosophy of individuailty being almost innately ingrained in the persons of students, no adequate middle ground may be found, whereon students may actually govern themselves in freedom and honor under the approving aegis of the University Administration, without one or the other party involved surrendering its principles.

The essence of true student government cannot be said to be the more or less convulsive or calisthenic activity in which the Student Councils of many Catholic colleges, among them Villanova, indulge. Worthy as these activities may be individually, collectively they do not correspond to Cardinal Newman's criterion for Catholic academic action: honor.

Honor is not granted, as are the rights and privileges which Villanova's Student Council substitutes for true government. It is not acquired, as is the prestige to which the Council aspires. Honor is a quality innate in a human being. It is an attribute, however, which must be fostered actively if it is to grow and thrive.

An assumption on the part of the Administration of the honorable intentions of all students is basic to the fostering of this attribute at Villanova. Selectivity in admitting only seemingly honorable students to the freshman class might be followed by the abolition of enforced attendance at classes, proctoring of examinations, closed library stacks, etc. In short, the student body should be allowed free rein, regardless of outsiders' opinions as to the "morality" of whatever reactions might occur.

The only restrictions imposed on the students' actions should be those instituted and implemented by the Student Council. This complete assumption of disciplinary power on the part of the Council would thus be true government—a government, by law, supported by means of enforcement, of individual students' relationships with one another, in much the same way that the state governs society in general.

If true student government is ever to exist at Villanova: if a feeling of mutual trust is to evolve between the Administration and the student body; if the University is to become a true social microcosm, unconcerned with the opinions of the outside world, so long as it is maintaining the absolute standard of morality; a radical alteration of will has to be occasioned in the basic thinking of both Administration and student body. But when or where or why or how this alteration will occur, in view of the existing circumstances, is anyone's guess.

What do you think of Student Government?

Letters To The Editor

★

The comment by your reporter that Ron Meyers was a "goof" merely because he dropped a pass, is the worst thing I have ever seen. I am not defending Meyers' ability as an end, but I certainly think that comments of this sort are uncalled for. If the object of the Vilanovan is to promote better football, they are using the wrong approach.

Ridicule will not do the job. Editorials favoring more athletic scholarships may provide the answer.

Tom McFadden '62

The comment referred to above was not the fault of the reporter but rather the editor and the printer. "The goof" was ours. Due to an oversight in proofreading this typographical error was printed. We apologize to Mr. Meyers and Jack Duffy, the writer.

THE EDITORS

During the months of the presidential campaign Villanova has come to be known as a "non-partisan" campus, having forcefully rejected any type of organized political activity. On the Monday afternoon, preceding the election, a group of students who were going to work for the Nixon-Lodge ticket gathered for a meeting in Vasey Hall auditorium. They were soon asked to leave the building by the campus police, not because this building was being used for another purpose, but because this was a "non-partisan" campus. One can only imagine what the two prominent Phila. gentlemen who were to address the meeting must have thought of Villanova when they were asked to take their meeting off the campus.

On this so called "non-partisan" campus we have a faculty, composed mainly of Democrats. Also, the radio station recently had a pre-election program on this "non-partisan" campus. Although a speech by Vice President Nixon was somehow played, probably by mistake, the center of attention was centered on three taped interviews with Democratic Senator Kennedy, Democratic Senator Clark and Phila. Democratic City Chairman Green.

I would like to know where everyone was when three buses left the Villanova "non-partisan" campus for a Kennedy rally in Norristown; during the Miami-Villanova game when a stand selling only Kennedy stickers, Kennedy buttons, and Kennedy hats was set up in the parking lot; and finally the night WWVU blared with the "voices of the Democratic Party."

In conclusion, I would like to ask the administration, faculty, and police officers on this campus how, in the wildest stretch of the imagination, Villanova can be called "non-partisan?"

Mal Carton
Political Science '62

Revolution of Hate

Editor's Note: The following article was written by a Cuban student now studying in the United States. For obvious reasons, he chooses to remain anonymous.

We have received the following information via the New York Times, October 31 issue. Monseigneur Eduardo Boza Masvidal, assistant Bishop of Havana and president of Santo Thomas de Villanova University in Havana, has just written in the Franciscan magazine La Quincena an article titled "is the Social Revolution of Cuba Christian?"

FROM PATRIOTIC STOCK

Monseigneur Boza Masvidal is a member of an old Cuban family from Camaquey, one of the six Cuban provinces. The Monseigneur can boast of several ancestors who fought in the War of Independence against Spain, but patriotism is not restricted only to his ancestors. He was one of the first priests in the ecclesiastical hierarchy who denounced infiltration of Communism in Cuba.

MAJORITY OPINION

In his article, Monseigneur Masvidal declares that Roman Catholics in Cuba can not support the tendencies toward a materialistic Communism and totalitarianism in the Cuban revolution. He is not alone in his opinion, since Monseigneur Enrique Perez Serantes, Archbishop of Santiago—capital of Oriente province—has also expressed his views against the infiltration of Communism in Cuba. Monseigneur Boza Masvidal pointed out in his article that the Cuban revolution was spreading hate and arousing class struggle, and he also said that the cries "to the wall" are an example of hate and vengeance replacing justice. The Bishop said that, "The failure to recognize the dignity of the human person and liberty of the sons of God, "Who has given to each man the right to think, write, speak, act, and to have initiative," is just one of the reasons the Cuban revolution was not Christian. He also said in his article that the revolution lacked respect for the natural right of property, which is indispensable for the exercise of individual liberty. Monseigneur Boza Masvidal points out also that the friendship of the revolutionary leaders with the Soviet Union and other communistic countries "is too intimate to be casual." He also states that such a relationship "can only exist between those who think in the same manner and have the same ideals."

EXAMPLE OF PATRIOTISM

This article by Monseigneur Boza Masvidal will be judged undoubtedly as a fine example of patriotism and will be avidly read by all those Cubans who are suffering the repressions and persecutions of the communist dictatorship. Monseigneur Boza Masvidal is the man of the day in Cuba since to publish an article against dictator Castro is a sign of strong fearless convictions and an act of love to God.

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove
Charles Simonds
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matusic
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Ducceno
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

Religion, Personality Elect President

By John J. McAteer

The Political Analyst and the Monday Morning Quarterback are of the same temperament. Both supposedly know all the answers after their topic has run its full course. However, it would be apropos to attempt an analysis of Kennedy's victory if for no other reason than that it is typical for Americans to always be asking why.

That Kennedy won is history. How or why he won will be the subject of much discussion for many weeks to come. Undoubtedly his victory will be attributed to one or more of the following causes: Economic, Foreign Affairs, Personality, Religion, and so on.

If we were to choose among these causes, we would say that Kennedy won because of his Catholicism and his Personality. Surely many will disagree, but how can anyone underestimate these "issues"

In regard to the issues which should elect a President, Kennedy possessed no more knowledge of them than Vice-President Nixon. Both men were about equal in experience and were also in agreement on most issues. Of course there was some disagreement as to the implementing of each of their policies. Both basically the men were the same except in their religious convictions and in the projection of their images before the American people .

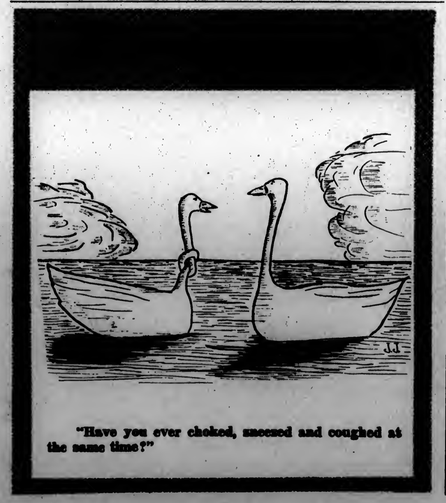
Election Drama: The Players

Until the first TV debate Kennedy was practically anonymous outside his native New England. On the other hand Nixon was a familiar figure to most Americans. But when seventy million persons went to bed after the first debate, to many of them Kennedy was no longer an immature and inexperienced candidate. He had met and come off quite well against the Vice-President. What the body-politic saw in the first and subsequent debates was a cool-headed fast-thinking young man. Had there never been the political debates, Nixon would now be the President-Elect.

Assuming that the debates were a major factor in displaying Kennedy's magnetic personality and of prime importance in ensuring his victory, we can say that a triumph deriving itself from these non-essential factors is empty, nothing more or nothing less. The American people should be criticized for their ignorant voting habits. Many voted for a man not because of his sagacity or his wisdom but because of reasons which should never have been considered. By the same token a good many of Nixon's backers should be sanctioned for voting for him. They voted on grounds which if judged should deny them the right to vote.

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans should pride themselves on the size or the

(Continued on Page 7)



Heavy Exercise Fails; Country Girl "Overweight"

By F. Anthony Macklin

A rather overweight "Country Girl" was dragged into Villanova by Belle Masque last week. But the visitor who appeared in Vasey Auditorium Nov. 9-13 was not the one Clifor Odets knew. The ravages of time had taken their toll, the sojourn with Belle Masque had added extra flesh to her once proud frame.

Her new unwieldy poundage was in the form of additional speeches directed at the audience during scene changes by a minor character, Ralph (Jim McMahon. These additions were superfluous and bulged awkwardly from her person.

The rewriting hurt the unity of the play, it sidetracked the audience away from the play itself. The scene changes were often ludicrous, with McMahon trying to deliver his lines as the stage crew banged behind him. McMahon fought to keep his composure, but it was a losing battle and he wound up with a rather sick smile on his face.

"Have you ever choked, sneezed and coughed at the same time?"

The high point in his uneasiness came when he had to walk across the stage quoting from Ecclesiasticus. We were then ready for anything, for him to burst into song with "Tea For Two" or even "God Bless America."

Sublety is dead.

Human Beings

The idea behind speeches delivered by McMahon was that "most people don't realize people in the theatre are real people." Belle Masque was going to show the theatre of "real" people.

The audience was let in on the secret but unfortunately someone had forgotten to inform the cast. Then again, perhaps the cast felt that since the audience "knew," reality would flow by itself.

"Real people." We have said before, and must say again, that realistic theater (and "The Country Girl" is a realistic play) demands naturalness, sensitivity, and sincerity. Noise and activity are not enough.

"The Country Girl," like last year's performance of "The Crucible," was generally well received. Perhaps we expect too much, but we write with an eye fixed on potential. The actors and actresses in "The Country Girl" possess this; much potential glimmers beneath the storming and shouting. But lacks in control, discipline, and pace stymie its fulfillment.

The definition of potential is capacity for development. There must be development. If there is not, the alert theatregoer must be disappointed.

John McGarry gave an uneven performance as Frank Elgin, the alcoholic actor and pathological liar. He was at his best in the scenes where he was the passionate actor struggling uncertainly, and then certainly, with a part. He was at his weakest as the husband and man. His scenes with his wife Georgie (Kathy Crane) were unconvincing.

Both he and Miss Crane had difficulties in making transitions, stating conflict, and establishing a believable, "real" relationship. There was little rapport between them, they played to themselves rather than to one another.

As Georgie, Kathy Crane gave a—which expression, which gesture next?—type performance. She came alive in the last scene of act one, but faltered badly at the start of act two. Ineffective use of hands and body diminished her performance. She is a better actress than she

(Continued on Page 6)

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

HOW TO BEAT THE BEAT GENERATION

My cousin Herkie Nylet is a sturdy lad of nineteen summers who has, we all believed until recently, a lively intelligence and an assured future. Herkie's father, Walter O. Nylet, is as everyone knows, president of the First National Artificial Cherry Company, world's largest maker of artificial cherries for ladies' hats. Uncle Walter had great plans for Herkie. Last year he sent Herkie to the Maryland College of Humanities, Sciences, and Artificial Cherries, and he intended, upon Herkie's graduation, to find him a nice fat wife and take him into the firm as a full partner.

Could a young man have more pleasing prospects? Of course not. But a couple of months ago, to everyone's consternation, Herkie announced that he was not going into the artificial cherry business. Nor was he going to stay in college. "I am," said Herkie, "a member of the Beat Generation. I am going to San Francisco and grow a beard."

Well sir, you can imagine the commotion in the family when Herkie went traipsing off to San Francisco! Uncle Walter would have gone after him and dragged him home, but unfortunately he was right in the middle of the artificial cherry season. Aunt Thelma couldn't go either because of her old leg trouble. (One of her legs is older than the other.)

So I went. I searched San Francisco for weeks before I found Herkie living under the counter of a Pronto Pup stand. "Herkie, how are you?" I cried, looking distraughtly upon his tangled beard, his corduroy jacket, his stricken eyes.

"Beat," said Herkie.

I offered him a Marlboro and felt instantly better when he took it because when one smokes Marlboros, one cannot be too far removed from the world. One still has, so to speak, a hold on the finer things of life—like good tobacco, like easy-drawing filtration, like settling back and getting comfortable and enjoying a full-flavored smoke. One is, despite all appearances, basically happiness-oriented, fulfillment-directed, pleasure-prone.

"Herkie, what are you doing with yourself?" I asked.

"I am finding myself," he replied. "I am writing a novel in the sand with a pointed stick. I am composing a fugue for clavier and police whistle. I am sculpting in experimental materials—like English muffins."

"And what do you do for fun?" I asked.

"Come," he said and took me to a dank little night club where men in beards and women in basic burlap sat on orange crates and drank espresso. On a tiny stage stood a poet reciting a free-form work of his own composition entitled Excema: The Story of a Boy while behind him a jazz trio played 200 choruses of Tin Roof Blues.

"Herkie," said I, "come home with me to the artificial cherries."

"No," said Herkie, so sadly I went home to tell Uncle Walter the bad news. He was less distressed than I had feared. It seems Uncle Walter has another son, a quiet boy named Edvorts, about whom he had completely forgotten, and today Edvorts is in business with Uncle Walter and Herkie is beat in San Francisco, and everyone is happy.

© 1960 Max Shulman

• • •

And you too will be happy—with Marlboros, or if you prefer an unfiltered smoke, with Philip Morris. Try the brand-new Philip Morris king-size Commander—long, mild, and leisurely. Have a Commander—welcome aboard!

A Myth?

Does Student Government exist at Villanova? More important, can student government exist at Villanova? In order to investigate these questions and their practical ramifications, the Student Council each year designates a "Student Government Week."

As it happens, we are currently in the midst of Student Government Week 1960. Because this week effects every member of the student body, and indirectly influences everyone associated with the University, it seems essential that serious and objective thought be given to the matter of student government at Villanova.

In a discussion of student government and student responsibility conducted before a Student Government Symposium on Tuesday, the point was proposed that true student government is based on a sense of responsibility which in turn is based on a psychological orientation toward the concept of honor.

Honor, it seems, is a fundamental attribute to freedom. Only in the unfettered give-and-take of human inter-relationship does the concept of honor exist. For only a tradition of freely given and freely kept promises to his fellow beings can give rise to the quality of honor in a man.

An alternative philosophy of life to that of individual freedom of initiative is the monastic philosophy embodied in the vow of obedience. Although this vow is, per se, a great act and exercise of freedom, in that a man freely and knowingly surrenders his right to the exercise of his will, in its ramifications it does not permit extensive individual initiative.

It seems that, the monastic philosophy being righteously observed by members of the Villanova Administration, and the philosophy of individuailty being almost innately ingrained in the persons of students, no adequate middle ground may be found, whereon students may actually govern themselves in freedom and honor under the approving aegis of the University Administration, without one or the other party involved surrendering its principles.

The essence of true student government cannot be said to be the more or less convulsive or calisthenic activity in which the Student Councils of many Catholic colleges, among them Villanova, indulge. Worthy as these activities may be individually, collectively they do not correspond to Cardinal Newman's criterion for Catholic academic action: honor.

Honor is not granted, as are the rights and privileges which Villanova's Student Council substitutes for true government. It is not acquired, as is the prestige to which the Council aspires. Honor is a quality innate in a human being. It is an attribute, however, which must be fostered actively if it is to grow and thrive.

An assumption on the part of the Administration of the honorable intentions of all students is basic to the fostering of this attribute at Villanova. Selectivity in admitting only seemingly honorable students to the freshman class might be followed by the abolition of enforced attendance at classes, proctoring of examinations, closed library stacks, etc. In short, the student body should be allowed free rein, regardless of outsiders' opinions as to the "morality" of whatever reactions might occur.

The only restrictions imposed on the students' actions should be those instituted and implemented by the Student Council. This complete assumption of disciplinary power on the part of the Council would thus be true government—a government, by law, supported by means of enforcement, of individual students' relationships with one another, in much the same way that the state governs society in general.

If true student government is ever to exist at Villanova; if a feeling of mutual trust is to evolve between the Administration and the student body; if the University is to become a true social microcosm, unconcerned with the opinions of the outside world, so long as it is maintaining the absolute standard of morality; a radical alteration of will has to be occasioned in the basic thinking of both Administration and student body. But when or where or why or how this alteration will occur, in view of the existing circumstances, is anyone's guess.

What do you think of Student Government?

Letters To The Editor

★

The comment by your reporter that Ron Meyers was a "goof" merely because he dropped a pass, is the worst thing I have ever seen. I am not defending Meyers' ability as an end, but I certainly think that comments of this sort are uncalled for. If the object of the Vilanovan is to promote better football, they are using the wrong approach.

Ridicule will not do the job. Editorials favoring more athletic scholarships may provide the answer.

Tom McFadden '62

The comment referred to above was not the fault of the reporter but rather the editor and the printer. "The goof" was ours. Due to an oversight in proofreading this typographical error was printed. We apologize to Mr. Meyers and Jack Duffy, the writer.

THE EDITORS

During the months of the presidential campaign Villanova has come to be known as a "non-partisan" campus, having forcefully rejected any type of organized political activity. On the Monday afternoon, preceding the election, a group of students who were going to work for the Nixon-Lodge ticket gathered for a meeting in Vasey Hall auditorium. They were soon asked to leave the building by the campus police, not because this building was being used for another purpose, but because this was a "non-partisan" campus. One can only imagine what the two prominent Phila. gentlemen who were to address the meeting must have thought of Villanova when they were asked to take their meeting off the campus.

On this so called "non-partisan" campus we have a faculty, composed mainly of Democrats. Also, the radio station recently had a pre-election program on this "non-partisan" campus. Although a speech by Vice President Nixon was somehow played, probably by mistake, the center of attention was centered on three taped interviews with Democratic Senator Kennedy, Democratic Senator Clark and Phila. Democratic City Chairman Green.

I would like to know where everyone was when three buses left the Villanova "non-partisan" campus for a Kennedy rally in Norristown; during the Miami-Villanova game when a stand selling only Kennedy stickers, Kennedy buttons, and Kennedy hats was set up in the parking lot; and finally the night WWVU blared with the "voices of the Democratic Party."

In conclusion, I would like to ask the administration, faculty, and police officers on this campus how, in the wildest stretch of the imagination, Villanova can be called "non-partisan?"

Mal Carton
Political Science '62

Revolution of Hate

Editor's Note: The following article was written by a Cuban student now studying in the United States. For obvious reasons, he chooses to remain anonymous.

We have received the following information via the New York Times, October 31 issue. Monseigneur Eduardo Boza Masvidal, assistant Bishop of Havana and president of Santo Thomas de Villanova University in Havana, has just written in the Franciscan magazine La Quincena an article titled "is the Social Revolution of Cuba Christian?"

FROM PATRIOTIC STOCK

Monseigneur Boza Masvidal is a member of an old Cuban family from Camaquey, one of the six Cuban provinces. The Monseigneur can boast of several ancestors who fought in the War of Independence against Spain, but patriotism is not restricted only to his ancestors. He was one of the first priests in the ecclesiastical hierarchy who denounced infiltration of Communism in Cuba.

MAJORITY OPINION

In his article, Monseigneur Masvidal declares that Roman Catholics in Cuba can not support the tendencies toward a materialistic Communism and totalitarianism in the Cuban revolution. He is not alone in his opinion, since Monseigneur Enrique Perez Serantes, Archbishop of Santiago—capital of Oriente province—has also expressed his views against the infiltration of Communism in Cuba. Monseigneur Boza Masvidal pointed out in his article that the Cuban revolution was spreading hate and arousing class struggle, and he also said that the cries "to the wall" are an example of hate and vengeance replacing justice. The Bishop said that, "The failure to recognize the dignity of the human person and liberty of the sons of God, "Who has given to each man the right to think, write, speak, act, and to have initiative," is just one of the reasons the Cuban revolution was not Christian. He also said in his article that the revolution lacked respect for the natural right of property, which is indispensable for the exercise of individual liberty. Monseigneur Boza Masvidal points out also that the friendship of the revolutionary leaders with the Soviet Union and other communistic countries "is too intimate to be casual." He also states that such a relationship "can only exist between those who think in the same manner and have the same ideals."

EXAMPLE OF PATRIOTISM

This article by Moseigneur Boza Masvidal will be judged undoubtedly as a fine example of patriotism and will be avidly read by all those Cubans who are suffering the repressions and persecutions of the communist dictatorship. Monseigneur Boza Masvidal is the man of the day in Cuba since to publish an article against dictator Castro is a sign of strong fearless convictions and an act of love to God.

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove
Charles Simmonds
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Religion, Personality Elect President

By John J. McAteer

The Political Analyst and the Monday Morning Quarterback are of the same temperament. Both supposedly know all the answers after their topic has run its full course. However, it would be apropos to attempt an analysis of Kennedy's victory if for no other reason than that it is typical for Americans to always be asking why.

That Kennedy won is history. How or why he won will be the subject of much discussion for many weeks to come. Undoubtedly his victory will be attributed to one or more of the following causes: Economic, Foreign Affairs, Personality, Religion, and so on.

If we were to choose among these causes, we would say that Kennedy won because of his Catholicism and his Personality. Surely many will disagree, but how can anyone underestimate these "issues"

In regard to the issues which should elect a President, Kennedy possessed no more knowledge of them than Vice-President Nixon. Both men were about equal in experience and were also in agreement on most issues. Of course there was some disagreement as to the implementing of each of their policies. Both basically the men were the same except in their religious convictions and in the projection of their images before the American people .

Until the first TV debate Kennedy was practically anonymous outside his native New England. On the other hand Nixon was a familiar figure to most Americans. But when seventy million persons went to bed after the first debate, to many of them Kennedy was no longer an immature and inexperienced candidate. He had met and come off quite well against the Vice-President. What the body-politic saw in the first and subsequent debates was a cool-headed fast-thinking young man. Had there never been the political debates, Nixon would now be the President-Elect.

Assuming that the debates were a major factor in displaying Kennedy's magnetic personality and of prime importance in ensuring his victory, we can say that a triumph deriving itself from these non-essential factors is empty, nothing more or nothing less. The American people should be criticized for their ignorant voting habits. Many voted for a man not because of his sagacity or his wisdom but because of reasons which should never have been considered. By the same token a good many of Nixon's backers should be sanctioned for voting for him. They voted on grounds which if judged should deny them the right to vote.

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans should pride themselves on the size or the

(Continued on Page 7)

Election Drama: The Players

Heavy Exercise Fails; Country Girl "Overweight"

By F. Anthony Macklin

A rather overweight "Country Girl" was dragged into Villanova by Belle Masque last week. But the visitor who appeared in Vasey Auditorium Nov. 9-13 was not the one Clifford Odets knew. The ravages of time had taken their toll, the sojourn with Belle Masque had added extra flesh to her once proud frame.

Her new unwieldy poundage was in the form of additional speeches directed at the audience during scene changes by a minor character, Ralph (Jim McMahon. These additions were superfluous and bulged awkwardly from her person.

The rewriting hurt the unity of the play, it sidetracked the audience away from the play itself. The scene changes were often ludicrous, with McMahon trying to deliver his lines as the stage crew banged behind him. McMahon fought to keep his composure, but it was a losing battle and he wound up with a rather sick smile on his face.

The high point in his uneasiness came when he had to walk across the stage quoting from Ecclesiasticus. We were then ready for anything. for him to burst into song with "Tea For Two" or even "God Bless America."

Sublety is dead.

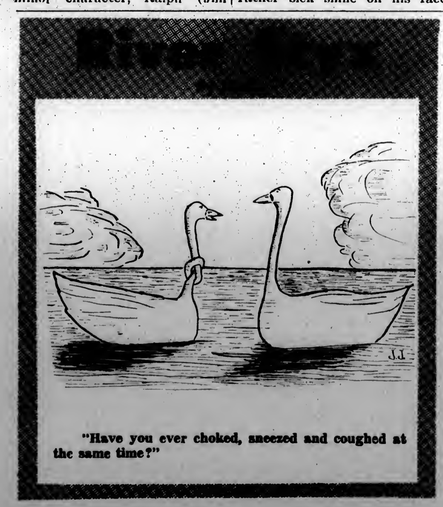
Human Beings

The idea behind speeches delivered by McMahon was that "most people don't realize people in the theatre are real people." Belle Masque was going to show the theatre of "real" people.

The audience was let in on the secret but unfortunately someone had forgotten to inform the cast. Then again, perhaps the cast felt that since the audience "knew," reality would flow by itself.

"Real people." We have said before, and must say again, that realistic theater (and "The Country Girl" is a realistic play) demands naturalness, sensitivity, and sincerity. Noise and activity are not enough.

"The Country Girl," like last year's performance of "The Crucible," was generally well received. Perhaps we expect too much, but we write with an eye fixed on potential. The actors and actresses in "The Country Girl" possess this; much potential glimmers beneath the storming and shouting. But lacks in control, discipline, and pace stymie its fulfillment.



The definition of potential is capacity for development. There must be development. If there is not, the alert theatregoer must be disappointed.

John McGarry gave an uneven performance as Frank Elgin, the alcoholic actor and pathological liar. He was at his best in the scenes where he was the passionate actor struggling uncertainly, and then certainly, with a part. He was at his weakest as the husband and man. His scenes with his wife Georgie (Kathy Crane) were unconvincing.

Both he and Miss Crane had difficulties in making transitions, stating conflict, and establishing a believable, "real" relationship. There was little rapport between them, they played to themselves rather than to one another.

As Georgie, Kathy Crane gave a—which expression, which gesture next?—type performance. She came alive in the last scene of act one, but faltered badly at the start of act two. Ineffective use of hands and body diminished her performance. She is a better actress than she

(Continued on Page 6)

"Have you ever choked, sneezed and coughed at the same time?"

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

HOW TO BEAT THE BEAT GENERATION

My cousin Herkie Nylet is a sturdy lad of nineteen summers who has, we all believed until recently, a lively intelligence and an assured future. Herkie's father, Walter O. Nylet, is as everyone knows, president of the First National Artificial Cherry Company, world's largest maker of artificial cherries for ladies' hats. Uncle Walter had great plans for Herkie. Last year he sent Herkie to the Maryland College of Humanities, Sciences, and Artificial Cherries, and he intended, upon Herkie's graduation, to find him a nice fat wife and take him into the firm as a full partner.

Could a young man have more pleasing prospects? Of course not. But a couple of months ago, to everyone's consternation, Herkie announced that he was not going into the artificial cherry business. Nor was he going to stay in college. "I am," said Herkie, "a member of the Beat Generation. I am going to San Francisco and grow a beard."

Well sir, you can imagine the commotion in the family when Herkie went traipsing off to San Francisco! Uncle Walter would have gone after him and dragged him home, but unfortunately he was right in the middle of the artificial cherry season. Aunt Thelma couldn't go either because of her old leg trouble. (One of her legs is older than the other.)

"Herkie, how are you?"

So I went. I searched San Francisco for weeks before I found Herkie living under the counter of a Pronto Pup stand. "Herkie, how are you?" I cried, looking distraughtly upon his tangled beard, his corduroy jacket, his stricken eyes.

"Beat," said Herkie.

I offered him a Marlboro and felt instantly better when he took it because when one smokes Marlboros, one cannot be too far removed from the world. One still has, so to speak, a hold on the finer things of life—like good tobacco, like easy-drawing filtration, like settling back and getting comfortable and enjoying a full-flavored smoke. One is, despite all appearances, basically happiness-oriented, fulfillment-directed, pleasure-prone.

"Herkie, what are you doing with yourself?" I asked.

"I am finding myself," he replied. "I am writing a novel in the sand with a pointed stick. I am composing a fugue for clavier and police whistle. I am sculpting in experimental materials—like English muffins."

"And what do you do for fun?" I asked.

"Come," he said and took me to a dank little night club where men in beards and women in basic burlap sat on orange crates and drank espresso. On a tiny stage stood a poet reciting a free-form work of his own composition entitled Excema: The Story of a Boy while behind him a jazz trio played 200 choruses of Tin Roof Blues.

"Herkie," said I, "come home with me to the artificial cherries."

"No," said Herkie, so sadly I went home to tell Uncle Walter the bad news. He was less distressed than I had feared. It seems Uncle Walter has another son, a quiet boy named Edvorts, about whom he had completely forgotten, and today Edvorts is in business with Uncle Walter and Herkie is beat in San Francisco, and everyone is happy.

© 1960 Max Shulman

* * *

And you too will be happy—with Marlboros, or if you prefer an unfiltered smoke, with Philip Morris. Try the brand-new Philip Morris king-size Commander—long, mild, and leisurely. Have a Commander—welcome aboard!

SPEERITUALISM

Can Pseudo-Status Symbol

SPEERS

By Bill Speers

★ ★ ★

As a member of the VILLANOVAN staff over the past five semesters, we have been privileged to have met and observed in action the many Villanova students who work in student organizations virtually unassisted and minus Sunday's headlines.

We aren't familiar with the workings of the VU sports machine. However, all we have heard over the last three football seasons from our sports staff is an endless tale of Villanova athletes who can play, but either won't play or only play when they feel like it.

We have seen such organizations as Belle Masque work under strenuous conditions at all hours of the night and weekends without the hint of a loss in enthusiasm or initiative. We have also seen the name of Villanova substantially advanced by such student organizations as ICG, IRS and CCD.

These organizations and others, ardently, work the school year through without benefit of scholarships, not only for their "bench-warmers", but none for their fine leaders ,as well.

Have our American universities reached the point where they believe themselves so academically and culturally impotent that they must field a team of two hundred pound, armored head knockers to attract top students, foundation grants, and alumni approval; or has it just reached the point where we must keep up with the Joneses.

We all want to see an excellent Villanova, but we will never achieve excellence by joining ranks with football factories by playing semi-pro ball and becoming a minor league team for the NFL. Villanova must stand apart, or it will be lost in the crowd.

Only when scholarships are granted to deserving scholars and college athletics are participated in by the student body at large, can Villanova hope to escape the pit of perversity which our collegiate athletic scene has become and holds its head high as an "institution of higher learning."

A few weeks back we printed an item here concerning the imposition placed upon the Thursday edition of the lowly Villanova Music Society by the football team, who by taking over the faculty dining room as a training room forced the faculty into the east lounge; thereby, casting the Music Society into "Temporary oblivion."

We were unexpectedly accosted by at least a half dozen Villanovans who seriously took exception to the charge and bravely defended the gridders.

Then last week we were taken aback by a feeble motion introduced and passed unanimously by the Student Council which called for a "crash program" to improve VU football.

In the light of these two rather insignificant happenings plus the athletic situation both here and throughout the country, we are prone to believe that the national athletic picture has become distorted and has gotten completely out of hand.

"Sure, the intellectual aspects of university life is fine, but you don't seem to realize that we come to college to be socially and athletically developed also," is the refrain we usually hear. To the contrary, we see these most important aspect of our education only too well.

The fact is, however, that athletics are no longer used to develop the individual, but in many schools the individual is being used to develop athletics. The student-alumni cry here at Villanova is not for better athletic programs for the students—which would be a far more noble echo—but for a better football team, the middle twentieth-century collegiate status symbol.

Yet the status symbol has slipped away from the grasp of the student bodies of our universities. In many universities men are literally being paid to play football; "ape-houses" where players are housed from Saturday to Saturday are campus land-marks all over the country and athletic scholarships are commonplace.

The college athletic scholarship is both the paradox and the scourge of the modern college. Here at VU if 20 football scholarships were granted next year (and this is an extremely conservative "crash program") it would cost at least $160,000 for the players four-year stay here.

★ ★ ★

Now if this bill is footed by the Alumni funds as it is at most colleges, then it means that the school loses on two sides. First of all it loses the $160,000 that could be better spent in expanding the university and secondly,, it forfeits the 20 chairs in the classroom that would normally be paid for by regular students.

Remember, this is only considering a conservative football program, forgetting basketball and track scholarships.

Lois Greyson applies make-up prior to "Country Girl."

Belle Masque Review

(Continued from Page 5)

showed.

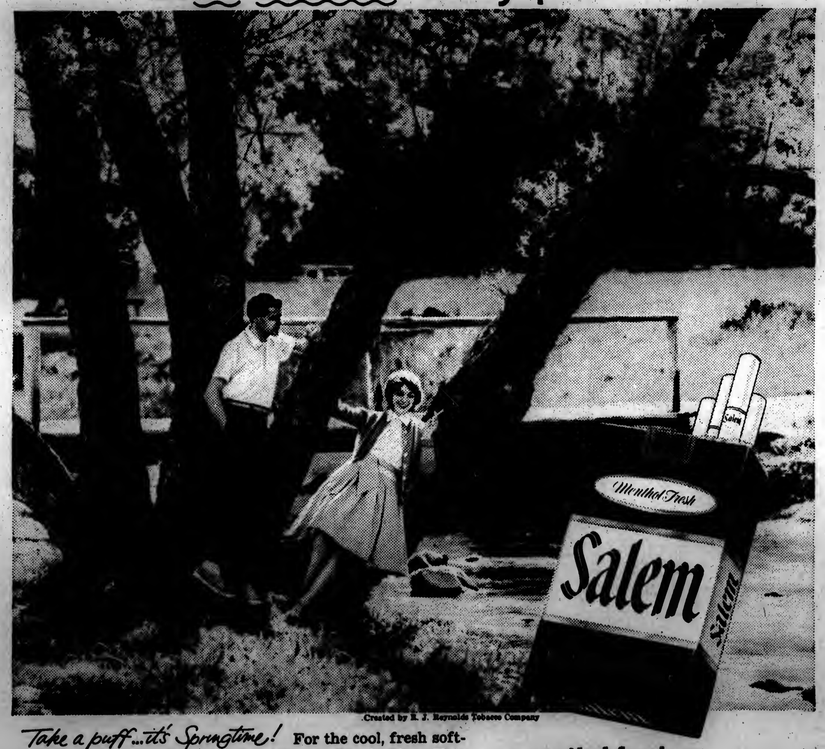
Unconvincing Playwright

It was hard to believe Gerry Paonessa was a playwright, Mr. Paonessa's offstage credits to the contrary. If the producer, Phil Cook, as characterized by Tom Flynn, was a "real" character we'll eat his cigar.

The show's saving grace was graduate student Mike Kennedy, a graduate of St. Ambrose College. Finally, we had a "real" character. He gave a performance of strength and poise as the director, Bernie Dodd. He fought valiantly to hold the show together in the second act. He knows the meaning of sensitivity, naturalness, control, and underplaying.

Dick McIntyre (Larry) gave a good performance, as did inexperienced, but vital Gail Wolter (Nancy). Jim McMahon (Ralph) didn't stand a decent chance.

All in all, Belle Masque emphasized reality, and then gave us larger than life theatre. One question remains—if Belle Masque felt that the play failed to get Odets' message across why didn't they select another play instead of trying to clarify it during the scene changes. Or were the scene change additions merely a stamp of ill-advised individuality.



Needs No Help

Actually it seems that Odets says the same things the added script does, and he says them better.

At one point in the proceedings the narrator says, "The Boston critics make the New York and Philly critics seem as kind as campfire girls." With "The Country Girl," Belle Masque handed these Philly "campfire girls" a marshmallow — sweet for some, sticky for others.

Salem refreshes your taste

"air-softens" every puff

Created by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

Take a puff...it's Springtime! For the cool, fresh softness in Salem's smoke is the very essence of springtime. This most refreshing cigarette of all is made even more so by Salem's special High Porosity paper that "air-softens" the smoke. You'll be delighted with Salem's springtime freshness — its rich, tobacco taste. Smoke refreshed . . . smoke Salem!

● menthol fresh
● rich tobacco taste
● modern filter, too

'Round Midnight

Rickles Is Original And Funny Comedian

By Joe Zawacki

Borrowing a page from the Advertiser's Journal of cliches: Friend, are you a clod? Do you get the left out of cut-up sessions at school because you're not fast with the quips? Do you yearn to be able to strike back with vehemence at your tormentors? If so, then take heart, for all is not lost. "'ROUND MIDNIGHT" comes to the rescue with a brand new course entitled "Cut-up 101". It's the most inexpensive one-hour course in the land just one lecture may turn you from a party-pooper to a super-duper (Gad, If I hadn't already heard that on TV, I wouldn't write it.)

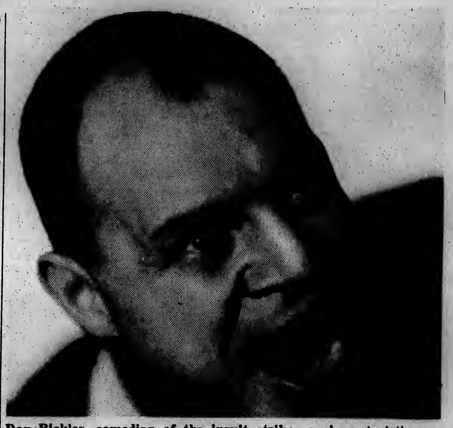
Tuition Cheap

Class is being conducted at the Celebrity Room (Juniper and Locust) in downtown Philly until November 19 and the course fee from $2 to $5, depending on where you sit. The Prof is "your Emperor", Don Rickles, and after one of his lectures we guarantee you'll go home loaded with enough retorts to last you for a semester.

Rickles is a 34-year-old New Yorker, who after almost ten years in the business, suddenly finds himself rising to star promnence in meteroc fashion, and all because of the U.S. Navy and some inherent self-determination. You see, Rickles is known as an "insult" comedian and much of his success is based on the fact that people seem to love to be told what clods they are. Rickles is often compared to Jack E. Leonard (they're close friends) but actually Leonard relies more on stand-up type jokes.

Took Verbal Beatings

How do you get started on this type of humor? It seems to depend on the individual and circumstances. As Don tells it, "I was working at the Wayne Room in Washington about ten years ago as a regular stand-by comedian and some nights I took a verbal beating from some of the sailors who frequent the place. In retaliation, I learned to lay into them and when this type of assault went over with the audience, I made it more and more a part of my act until now it's finally the basis for my show." That Rickles has polished this nto an art is evident from the number of celebs that jammed Basin Street East (in suburban Philly) recently to be castigated by him.



However, Rickles rarely seems to offend his audience. His "subjects" sems to realize that he is really decying hypocrisy, not the individual. He runs his act at a fast pace with a minimum of format. If he finds something that goes over well with the audience, he elaborates on it and improvises from there.

That he has "arrived" as a star is easily seen by the fact that he drew the largest opening night crowd of the season here and is also under contract to do 16 weeks annually at the Sahara in Las Vegas. Probably the best indication of why he has been a success came when I asked him what he does with a cold audience. With pure, simple logic, he answered, "I just work harder."

Also featured on the bill is a talented 23-year-old songstress from the Motor City named Annette Madden. With a voice to match her figure, Miss Madden is drawing both male and female approval for her winning ways with a song. Her style makes a good contrast for Rickles' rapid-fire humor. Following this attraction into the Celebrity Room will be another another fine comedian, Dick Shawn. While handing out bouquets, "'Round Midnight" thanks publicist Herb Freedman whose cooperation facilitates much of this columnist's work.

Comedians In Spotlight

RANDOM NOTES: Jazz in the big city finds, strangely enough, comedians in the spotlight this week. Redd Foxx is featured along with vibist Lem Winchester at the Showboat and another of the "new school" comedians, Lenny Brauce, at the Red Hill. Songstress Lorez Alexandria and Chris Columbo's Quintet hold the fort at Pep's. As usual, tape-recorded interviews will be featured on my radio show Tuesday and Thursday at 10:00.

Don Rickles, comedian of the insult strikes a characteristic pose.

The stage is now set for the showdown betwenu the Eagles and Giants this Sunday on TV and next Sunday at Franklin Field. With both teams barely winning last Sunday, first place remains at stake in what looms as one of the best finshes in recent NF history. Anyone desirng tickets for the home battle had better get them now because ther aren't too many left.

Tony Martin headlines the curent show at the new Latin Casino to be folowed on November 21 by Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme. Jack E. Leonard comes into Palumbo's the Friday after Thanksgiving. Folk singer Josh White comes into the Academy of Music for a one-nighter on the 23rd, the night after Mantovani's concert at the same place.

(AFPS Feature)

Housewife: "I can't serve as a juror, your honor. One look at that man convinces me he's guilty."

Judge: "Sh-h-h. That's the district attorney."

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team. U.S. Air Force

MAIL THIS COUPON TODAY
AVIATION CADET INFORMATION
DEPT. SCLOTO, BOX 7606,
WASHINGTON, 4, D. C.
I am between 19 and 26½, a citizen of the U. S. and a high school graduate with ____ years of college. Please send me detailed information on the Air Force Aviation Cadet program.
NAME _____
STREET _____
CITY _____
COUNTY _____ STATE _____

Rogers Peet

New Lines in Cheviot Overcoats

The call is still for classic herringbones in warm wool cheviot. This year these coats are cut a little shorter and the trim fly-front the newest note. Here where our collection is large and in correct good taste you'll shop with confidence.

Browns and greys
$80 & $85

Outfitters to Men and Boys since 1874

Rogers Peet company

New York: Fifth Ave. at 48th & 41st Sts. • Broadway at Warren St.
Boston: Tremont at Bromfield Sts.

Presidential Analysis

(Continued from Page 5)

closeness of the vote. The main reason for the huge turnout of voters was not due to the patriotism of the American people, as the "my country right or wrong my country," brand of historians will say. It was due instead to the many Protestants who had to stop the Catholic Kennedy, to the many Catholics who wanted one of their own in the White House, and to the many who voted on the personality of the candidates.

Our attack is not directed to either of the candidates. Kennedy and Nixon had many advantages and disadvantages as candidates inevitably do. Nixon was forced to run on the not so admirable record of the present President. Kennedy was termed by many as a bold young liberal. Nixon's forte was pro status-quo; Kennedy's was anti status-quo. If the American voter had voted according to these issues, we feel that Kennedy would still have won. But they voted in accordance with their lower nature. Emotion controlled intellect, and ignorance prevailed over knowledge.

While the voting habits of many Americans should be condemned, we feel that a few words should be devoted to the political machinists who were able to make use of the typical voter's ignorance. The Democrat machine was able to use to its advantage the many minority groups which constitute American society. Catholics, Negroes, and Jews were able to roll up huge majorities in the big cities of the East. It was in the Eastern cities where Kennedy won the election. We are not underrating the farm vote for Nixon either. The Vice-President captured many Mid-West votes on the grounds that it would be better to be starving and have a non-Catholic in the White House than to be starving and have a Catholic as President.

In the case of the Southern voter, they had to choose between the lesser of two evils. If they voted for Nixon, they would have broken tradition and the South seldom breaks tradition. So they voted for Kennedy not because he was the better man but because he was a Democrat.

It is a pity that everyone has the right to vote. Some people have no conception of issues or problems facing the nation. But the media of communication stresses that it is their duty to vote. Hence, they vote—"the blind ignorant usurpers." Our opinion may sound too idealistic for the machine politician but it is the same opinion held by the founding fathers. And they are regarded by historians as the most realistic of men.

The tragedy of the past election is that many people who voted did so for their own personal and for the most part bigotted reasons. The victory of Kennedy and the defeat of Nixon can best be summed up by stating that the winner was able to make better use of the non-essential issues than the loser.

Band Prexy Explains Operation Of Group In Slating Shows

by Bob Settilaro

In the past year the Villanova University Band has transformed from an outfit trying to make some noise at the football games to an efficient organization which is the center of the spirit and the center of attraction at the half-time shows.

What has been done, and who is responsible for this change? As President of the band I maintain that the spirit of co-operation among the members of the band is the true cause of our success.

During the week I draw up a half-time show which I hope to be appropriate and enjoyable from the viewpoint of the fans. On Monday evening the band practices the music, and on Thursday evening the formations are practiced. In a matter of a few hours an entire show is prepared for every week. This is the example of hard work and co-operation of which I speak.

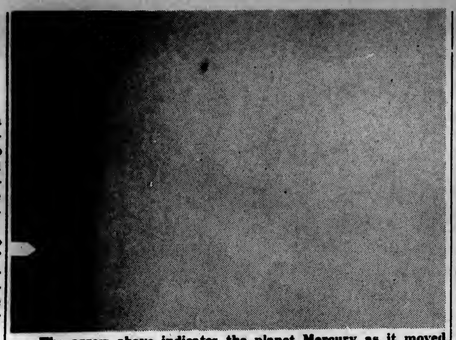
The members give of their time freely and receive no material reward. The organization is present at all the games and performs for many of the extra activities which require the presence of a fine musical group.

Most Active

The band is the most active organization on campus. This can be seen in its varied activities. It plays at pep rallies, pregame shows, half-time, Parents' Day Concert, Christmas Concert, and a complete schedule of concerts during the second semester at various colleges in the area. In addition, it gives a Concert on the Green for the students at Villanova.

The band has traveled to West Point and Rutgers in order to give the necessary spark to the away football games. Our travels also include trips to colleges in the area in order to give concerts and a trip to Atlantic City.

In looking at the band, the spotlight falls on the director, Mr. Herbert Fiss, and the moderator, Father Henry Syvinski, OSA, Mr.. Fiss has been the driving force which has made the organization a truly musical one. He has built up the level of musicianship in the Band and keeps our members at a high degree of proficiency.



Spirit of Unity

Father Syvinski keeps the spirit of unity in the band and is the organization's medium of communication with the Administration. The officers of the band keep it a smooth and well-run organization and thereby deserve much credit.

As President I am responsible functions of the band. Jim Wilde, Psychology '62, is the Vice-President and is in charge of social events. Bob Lento, Pre-Law '61, is responsible for the setting out of equipment and for the outfitting of the group.

John Astorr, Pre-Med '63, is the Student Council Representative in charge of representing us at all meetings. Ross Anzaldi, Pre-Law '63, is the Student Director who is in charge of musical activities of the band.

The arrow above indicates the planet Mercury as it moved in front of the Sun on Nov. 7. This photo which can't be duplicated for ten years was taken at the Villanova Observatory.

LKD Holds Talk by FHA-Union Official

The Pre-Medical Fraternity, Lambda Kappa Delta, will hold its first guest lecture at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday in Mendel Hall.

Joseph J. McComb, Chairman of the Federal Housing Authority and President of the Retail Clerks Central Labor Union of Southern New Jersey, will address the group. McComb's topic will be "Labor's Views toward Public Health."

LKD President Ed Morhauser, said that Mr. McComb has been lecturing at various colleges and labor organizations for many years. "In addition, Mr. McComb will conduct a question and answer period if time allows," Morhauser disclosed. "All students are welcome, as this topic not only pertains to the field of medicine, but also to the fields of Labor Management and Government," the LKD president said.

Read The Villanovan

Logue To Discuss Locke Before Philos. Club Today

The Philosophy Club has announced that it will present a lecture by Professor John J. Logue of the History and Political Science Department on "The Influence of John Locke on American Political Thought". It will be held today at 3:30 in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall.

Professor Logue received his MA from the University of Pennsylvania and Yale, and is currently finishing his doctoral work at the University of Chicago. At Villanova he teaches courses on the graduate and undergraduate level, including The Development of American Diplomacy; Great Power Foreign Policies; The Role of the Political Party; Great Power Relations with Asia and Africa; and Municipal Government.

Acclaimed By Many

The professor has written articles and studies in several fields. His booklet, "The Great Debate on Charter Reform: A Proposal to Strengthen the United Nations," was published by Fordham University Press in 1958. Thomas K. Linkletter, former Secretary of the Air Force, contributed a preface in which he recommends the study highly. Others who have commended favorably on it are President-elect John F. Kennedy; Congressman Chester Bowles (former U. S. ambassador to India); Norman Cousins, Editor of "The Saturday Review"; and Hans J. Morgenthau, Director of the Center for the Study of American Foreign and Military Policy.

Villanova University Press recently published Professor Logue's monograph, "Suburban Report: The Problem of Organizing Countrywide Civic Organizations in the Philadelphia Suburbs." It is based on intensive interviews of over forty civic and governmental leaders in the suburbs around Philadelphia and in the city itself. The study focuses on groups which are interested in preserving the suburban character of their counties.

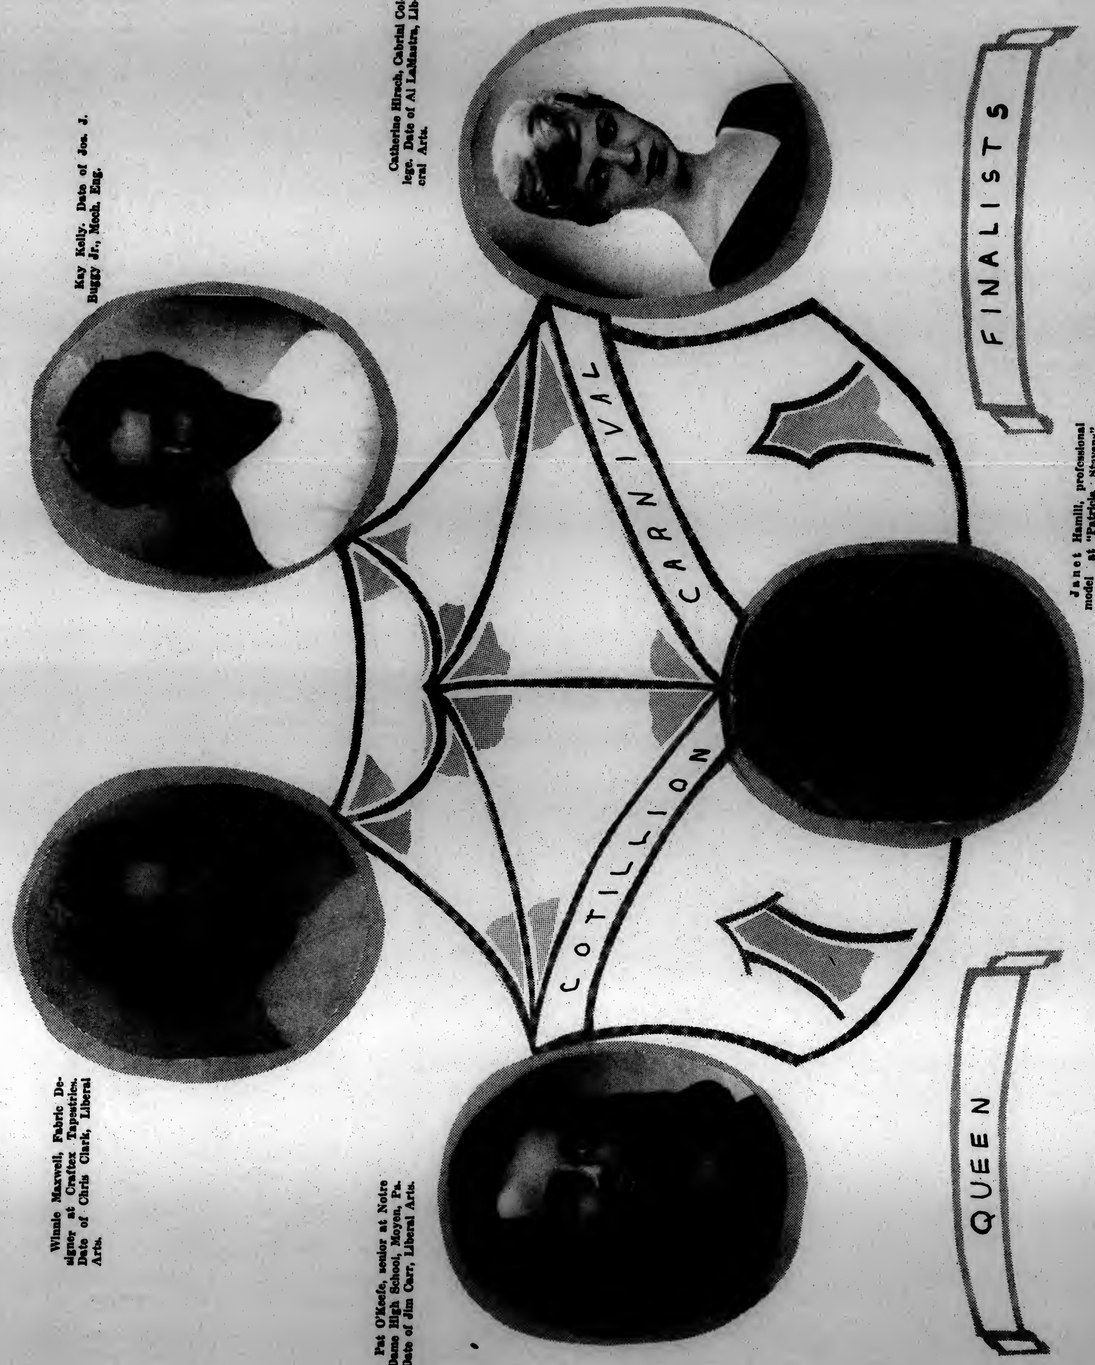
Professor Logue was the first executive secretary of the Philadelphia Area Council of United World Federalists. In 1952 he served as a page for CBS Television at both National Presidential Conventions. He is currently a member of the Speakers Bureau of the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia and serves on the board of directors of the Citizens Council of Delaware County.

Filters for flavor

—finest flavor by far!

Tareyton has the taste

Dual Filter does it!



Here's how the DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL ... definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth ...

2. with a pure white outer filter. Together they select and balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton's flavor-balance gives you the best taste of the best tobaccos.

NEW DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Kay Kelly, Date of Jos. J. Buggy Jr., Mech. Eng.

Catherine Hirsch, Cabrini College, Date of Al LaMastra, Liberal Arts.

Janet Hamill, professional model at "Patricia Stevens". Date of Bob Medick, C & F.

Winnie Maxwell, Fabric Designer at Craftex Tapestries. Date of Chris Clark, Liberal Arts.

Pat O'Keefe, senior at Notre Dame High School, Moyes, Pa. Date of Jim Carr, Liberal Arts.

Band Prexy Explains Operation Of Group In Stating Shows

by Bob Sottilaro

In the past year the Villanova University Band has transformed from an outfit trying to make some noise at the football games to an efficient organization which is the center of the spirit and the center of attraction at the half-time shows.

What has been done, and who is responsible for this change? As President of the band I maintain that the spirit of co-operation among the members of the band is the true cause of our success.

During the week I draw up a half-time show which I hope to be appropriate and enjoyable from the viewpoint of the fans. On Monday evening the band practices the music, and on Thursday evening the formations are practiced. In a matter of a few hours an entire show is prepared for every week. This is the example of hard work and co-operation of which I speak.

The members give of their time freely and receive no material reward. The organization is present at all the games and performs for many of the extra activities which require the presence of a fine musical group.

Most Active

The band is the most active organization on campus. This can be seen in its varied activities. It plays at pep rallies, pregame shows, half-time, Parents' Day Concert, Christmas Concert, and a complete schedule of concerts during the second semester at various colleges in the area. In addition, it gives a Concert on the Green for the students at Villanova.

The band has traveled to West Point and Rutgers in order to give the necessary spark to the away football games. Our travels also include trips to colleges in the area in order to give concerts and a trip to Atlantic City.

In looking at the band, the spotlight falls on the director, Mr. Herbert Fiss, and the moderator, Father Henry Syvinski, OSA, Mr. Fiss has been the driving force which has made the organization a truly musical one. He has built up the level of musicianship in the Band and keeps our members at a high degree of proficiency.

Spirit of Unity

Father Syvinski keeps the spirit of unity in the band and is the organization's medium of communication with the Administration. The officers of the band keep it a smooth and well-run organization and thereby deserve much credit.

As President I am responsible functions of the band. Jim Wilde, Psychology '62, is the Vice-President and is in charge of social events. Bob Lento, Pre-Law '61, is responsible for the setting out of equipment and for the outfitting of the group.

John Astorr, Pre-Med '63, is the Student Council Representative in charge of representing us at all meetings. Ross Anzaldi, Pre-Law '63, is the Student Director who is in charge of musical activities of the band.

The arrow above indicates the planet Mercury as it moved in front of the Sun on Nov. 7. This photo which can't be duplicated for ten years was taken at the Villanova Observatory.

LKD Holds Talk by FHA-Union Official

The Pre-Medical Fraternity, Lambda Kappa Delta, will hold its first guest lecture at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday in Mendel Hall.

Joseph J. McComb, Chairman of the Federal Housing Authority and President of the Retail Clerks Central Labor Union of Southern New Jersey, will address the group. McComb's topic will be "Labor's Views toward Public Health."

LKD President Ed Morhauser, said that Mr. McComb has been lecturing at various colleges and labor organizations for many years. "In addition, Mr. McComb will conduct a question and answer period if time allows," Morhauser disclosed. "All students are welcome, as this topic not only pertains to the field of medicine, but also to the fields of Labor Management and Government," the LKD president said.

Read The Villanovan

Logue To Discuss Locke Before Philos. Club Today

The Philosophy Club has announced that it will present a lecture by Professor John J. Logue of the History and Political Science Department on "The Influence of John Locke on American Political Thought". It will be held today at 3:30 in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall.

Professor Logue received his MA from the University of Pennsylvania and Yale, and is currently finishing his doctoral work at the University of Chicago. At Villanova he teaches courses on the graduate and undergraduate level, including The Development of American Diplomacy; Great Power Foreign Policies; The Role of the Political Party; Great Power Relations with Asia and Africa; and Municipal Government.

Acclaimed By Many

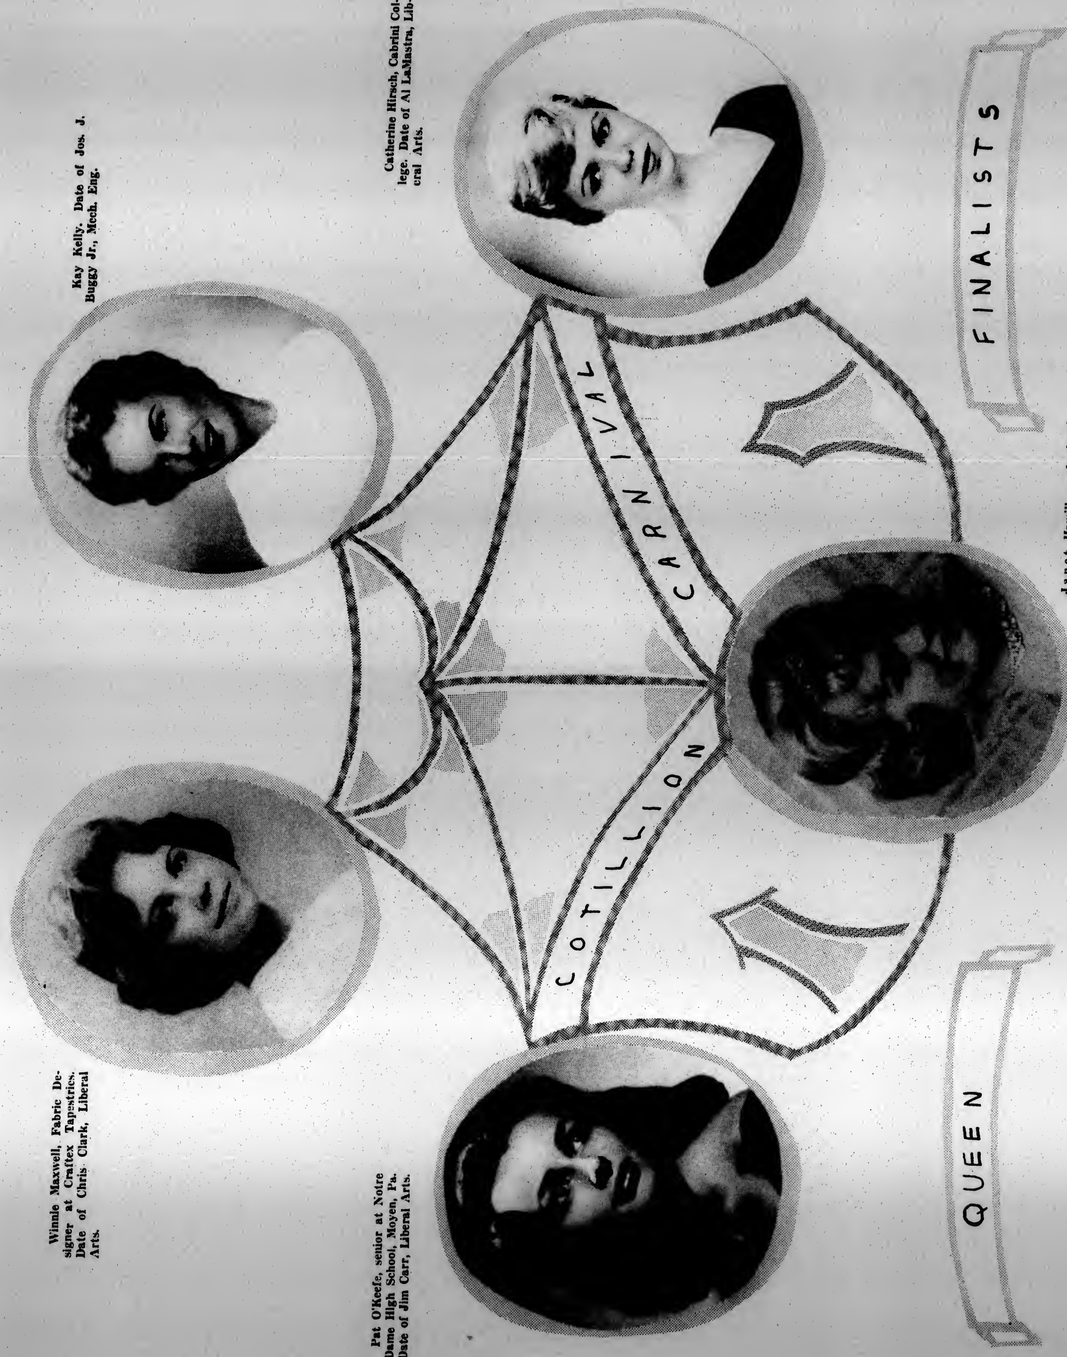
The professor has written articles and studies in several fields. His booklet, "The Great Debate on Charter Reform: A Proposal to Strengthen the United Nations," was published by Fordham University Press in 1958. Thomas K. Linkletter, former Secretary of the Air Force, contributed a preface in which he recommends the study highly. Others who have commended favorably on it are President-elect John F. Kennedy; Congressman Chester Bowles (former U. S. ambassador to India); Norman Cousins, Editor of "The Saturday Review"; and Hans J. Morgenthau, Director of the Center for the Study of American Foreign and Military Policy.

Villanova University Press recently published Professor Logue's monograph, "Suburban Report: The Problem of Organizing Countrywide Civic Organizations in the Philadelphia Suburbs." It is based on intensive interviews of over forty civic and governmental leaders in the suburbs around Philadelphia and in the city itself. The study focuses on groups which are interested in preserving the suburban character of their counties.

Professor Logue was the first executive secretary of the Philadelphia Area Council of United World Federalists. In 1952 he served as a page for CBS Television at both National Presidential Conventions. He is currently a member of the Speakers Bureau of the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia and serves on the board of directors of the Citizens Council of Delaware County.

Filters for flavor
–finest flavor by far!

Tareyton has the taste
Dual Filter does it!



Here's how the DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL ... definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth ...

2. with a pure white outer filter. Together they select and balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton's flavor-balance gives you the best taste of the best tobaccos.

NEW DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name" ©A. T. Co.

Kay Kelly, Date of Jos. J. Buggy Jr., Mech. Eng.

Catherine Hirsch, Cabrini College. Date of Al LaMastra, Liberal Arts.

Janet Hamill, professional model at "Patricia Stevens". Date of Bob Medick, C & F.

Winnie Maxwell, Fabric Designer at Craftex Tapestries. Date of Chris Clark, Liberal Arts.

Pat O'Keefe, senior at Notre Dame High School, Moyen, Pa. Date of Jim Carr, Liberal Arts.

IRS Hears Talk by Cuban Expatriate

On Tuesday evening, November 15, the Villanova International Relations Society hosted Mr. Miguel F. Kohly who spoke on the subject entitled "The United States and the Cuban Crises." Mr. Kohly is a well-known former Cuban business and civic leader who was forced to leave his homeland due to the pressure applied by Fidel Castro.

Since arriving in the United States Mr. Kohly has been preparing a book on Inter-American Relations aside from giving lectures in Philadelphia, New York, and Washington to professional organizations, businessmen, college and high school students. While in Cuba, Mr. Kohly was Executive Vice-President and Investment Consultant in a Real Estate Development and Investment firm. He also has served as a delegate from Cuba to many international congresses and conventions.

Inter-American Relations

In his lecture to the IRS, Mr. Kohly expressed his economic, spiritual, cultural, and political observations in regard to Inter-American Relations. Throughout the question and answer period which followed, he answered many interesting questions concerning Castro's personality, plans, and relations with the Kremlin.

The large attendance indicated that Villanova students definitely have a sincere interest in foreign affairs and this interest has been stimulated through the efforts of the International Relations Society.

The Society also announced plans for a field trip to the United Nations on Tuesday, December 6.

Midshipman Lieutenant A. Michael Clement (far right) leads the Villanova Drill Team through its paces at the Second Annual Villanova Invitational Drill Meet. The VU team outpointed all other participants including St. Joseph's College (Phila.), PMC, Princeton, LaSalle, and Rutgers to cop the Meet's first prize.

Mass And Blessing For Navy Battalion Scheduled Saturday

The fourth anual Military Mass for the NROTC battalion will be held this Saturday, November 19. The Battalion will assemble in front of John Barry Hall and then march to the University Chapel where the ceremony of the "blessing of the colors" will take place.

Following the ceremony the Midshipmen will march into church for a Soemn High Mass celebrated by Fr. Klekotka. The speaker at the Mass will be Fr. John T. Mitchell, pastor of St. Ignatius Parish, Philadelphia, retired Lieutenant Commander in the Navy.

Later, the Battalion will march to the Commerce and Finance Cafeteria for a Communion Breakfast at which they will be adressed by Capt. J. B. Donnally USN-ret. Assistant Prof. of ME.

Progress of Science Bldg. Allows Summer Session Use

Since classes have resumed in September, work on the new Science Building has been progressing paridly. With the installation of the windows, the exterior of the building is very nearly completed. The only remaining work on the outside is finishing off the arch-way and completing the stone facing on the main entrance.

Most of the work is now being concentrated on the inside of the building. All walls and partitions have been completed and 90% of them have been painted. The doors and hardware for the rooms are now being installed.

The entire building has been wire dand the lighting fixtures are now going in place. Practically all of the heating units have been installed in the rooms and will be in operation by the end of the month.

Three different types of floorring are being incorporated in the building. The corridors will have traga floors which has allready been installed. The rest of the building will use asphalt tile, except where vynile tile is necessary.

Unique Features

Some unique features of the building wil be the heat resistant glass drain pipe found in the chemistry section. The siminar rooms will contain kitchenettes for the convenience of the faculty.

The observatory, which will house two telescopes, has also been designed differently than th one now on Mendal Hall. Inroof is mounted on tracts and will roll away to reveal the sky.

There have been two recent additions to the overall plan for the building. A retaining wall has been incorporated in the front of the building. This is to give a better architectural appearance and better drainage. At present it is about 25% complete. he size of the parking lot on the east side has been increased by 50% and this will be black-topped next week.

The furnishings for the building wil larrive by January 1st. Although some old furniture from Mendal Hall will be used, it will be reconditioned to match the new.

This is the condition of the building to date and it will be completed in time for use during the Summer session.

"Noche Espanol" by Spanish Club Features Music, Play, and Speech

Noche Espanol, a "literary musical fiesta," will be presented by the Spanish Club of Villanova in Vasey Auditorium on Friday night, December 2, at 7 p.m. The evening will be divided into three parts: a musical, a play, and a closing address by Dr. Francisco X. Claro, the featured speaker.

The first part of the program, the musical, will be emceed by Mr. Vito Di Vincenzo who is the club moderator. Members of the club are taking part in the festivities along with students from nearby colleges.

The opening number will be a piano selection, "Malaguena," featuring Louis Martucci. An accordian recital by Angel Louis Ramos, "La Comparsita," will follow. Two vocals round out the musical part of the night. The first, "Siboney," will be sung by Judy Rodriguez.

Father Oroz To Sing

The Rev. Policarpo Oroz, O.R.S.A., studying here for his degree in English, will sing the second song, "Granada," accompanied by Martucci on the piano. Father Oroz and Mr. Di Vincenzo are co-directors of the second part of the program. Refreshments will be served before the play.

"Wanted—an Instructor of English" is the name of the one-act farce which will be spoken in Spanish and English. The instructor will be portrayed by Fernando Galatas, a Villanova senior. His wife will be played by Ann Abadia, the lead female part.

Kay Uribe and Pat D'Alonzo, freshman nurses here, and Judy Rodriguez, a student of Cabrini College, have the featured female roles. Francesco de Jesus, Alfredo Salazar, and Armando Berriz, all Villanova students, have the featured male roles. Others in the play include Kenneth M. Long, Michael R. Benson, and Henry E. David.

Dr. Claro will deliver the final address to the members of the Spanish Club, their friends, and distinguished guests after the play. These guests will include the Consuls from Columbia, Venezuela, Panama, and Chile, and their wives. The Rev. John Grifferty, OSA, from Malvern Prep, and students from neighboring girls' schools will also attend. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Noche Espanol, the first of the two major annual Spanish Club functions, was started twenty-seven years ago by the Rev. Lorenzo Lozano, the former moderator of the club. It is held every year on the first Friday of December.

READ YOUR VILLANOVAN!

Orphans' Outing

(Continued from Page 1)

to every "Johnnie" by Santa Claus, better known to his classmates as Jack Foley.

Entertainment will include Kevin Shay's renowned magic act, the appearance of sport celebrities, and carol singing by all. The Junior Class nurses, headed by Janet Pomponio, will act as hostesses for the boys and will also prepare the refreshments. The gymnasium will be decorated with an assortment of Christmas trees, lights, stockings and candy.

Braithwaite, in concluding his plans, said, "I think when we see the orphans' smiles at the end of the day all the long hours of work will be forgotten."

Ugly Man Contest

To help finance the Orphans' Party, a fascinating new contest will soon make its Villanova debut. All forecasts predict the upcoming "Ugly Man" election to receive a tumultuous response from the entire student body. Students, faculty and administration members alike will have an opportunity to select their favorite ugliest man on campus during the week of November 28.

The novel idea was created by Jim McMonagle, '62, in an effort to raise funds to underwrite the expenses of the Orphans' Party. A penny will be charged for each vote cast with students encouraged to vote for their idol more than once. It is suggested that classes and organizations support a "favorite son" ugly man. A minimum of 50 votes will be needed to put a contestant in the running. Election HQ's will be in the Pie Shoppe and the C&F Cafeteria.

A chart will be posted on the main bulletin board in Dougherty Hall showing the results of each day's voting. The eventual winner will be crowned Mr. Ugly and awarded a free ticket to the Christmas Charity Bal. At the dance he will be presented a "handsome" 12-inch trophy.

Students are advised by McMonagle to look closely at friends and enemies until election wek to insure an accurate vote for the ugliest man at VU.

THERE WILL BE A MEETING OF THE VILLANOVA SPORTS STAFF TODAY AT 3:30 IN THE VILLANOVAN OFFICE. ALL MUST ATTEND.

two heads are better than one

Especially when one happens to be a delectable girl-type head. Lovely heads are always attracted to male heads that use 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic — made specially for men who use water with their hair tonic. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic's 100% pure grooming oil replaces oil that water removes. In the bottle and on your hair the difference is clearly there! Just a little does a lot!

IT'S CLEAR ♪ ♫ IT'S CLEAN IT'S

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

Cheerless leader

Not a "rah rah" left in him! He's just discovered there's no more Coke. And a cheer leader without Coke is as sad as a soap opera. To put the sparkle back in his eye—somebody!—bring him a sparkling cold Coca-Cola!

Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

The Philadelphia Coca-Cola Bottling Company

What, no sports car cap? You don't need a little cap with a belt in the back, or knowledge of some esoteric automotive jargon to enjoy a Corvette. All you need is a desire to own a car that is designed for your use personally. This is no station wagon, no family sedan, this is your car and nobody else's. It is the ultimate development of a fine car that has known five years of unparalleled success in the maelstrom of sports car competition, and yet it can be tailored to your personal tastes—even if you don't know a tappet from a teapot.

Push-button door handles, inside door locks and a side-view mirror are some of the Corvette conveniences you don't get on most other sports cars. You also have a wide choice of power teams—ranging from the standard 230-horsepower engine (which can be matched with Powerglide* to delight the boulevardier) to the swashbuckling Fuel Injection* V8 with four-speed close-ratio transmission.* Talk it over with your dealer. Whatever version you decide on, you're in for the greatest adventure of your driving career!

'61 CORVETTE BY CHEVROLET

*Optional at extra cost

See the new Corvette, Chevrolet cars and Chevy Corvairs at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

For a WEEKEND in NEW YORK it's

The BILTMORE naturally

SPECIAL COLLEGE RATES

$5.25 per person (3 to a room)
$6.25 per person (2 to a room)
$8.00 single

For information or reservations address Mr. Ralph Schaffner, The Biltmore, New York 17, N. Y. Madison Avenue at 43rd Street MUrray Hill 7-7000

"WHERE EVERYONE MEETS UNDER THE CLOCK"

CAMPUS NEWS BRIEFS

Pope John Astounds Young Negro Prelate; Names Him Cardinal

"I'm afraid the Holy Father has made a mistake this time," was the reaction of Laurian Rugambwa, Bishop of Rutabo, Tanganyika, when he learned last March 2 that he had been made a Cardinal. The story of this remarkable young African prelate is told in 11 pages of pictures and text in the November issue of The Sign, national Catholic magazine, published in Union City, N. J.

Undetected Mistake

Nobody else thought the Pope had made a mistake, reports Glenn D. Kittler, author of The Sign article. "By nightfall," he writes of that day, "the wireless station at Bukoba, thirty miles away on the western shore of Lake Victoria, was swamped with cables and telegrams from people who had heard the announcement on the Vatican radio and the BBC. That evening, hundreds of natives journeyed barefoot through the bush to Cardinal Rugambwa's house, bringing him gifts of fruit, eggs and chickens."

Cardinal Likes U. S.

The Negro Cardinal likes the United States. "You Americans," he told Kittler "how much Africa owes you! This is the part of you the rest of the world understands—your generosity. When your government gives money away, you are accused of buying friendship. But generosity is your nature, each of you, one by one. I have been it myself, and I believe it is why God has given you so much in return. I hope you are never discouraged by ingratitude, for then the spirit of Christian charity would dim everywhere. You have no idea what an example you are to others."

Encounters Prejudice

The Cardinal has also seen the other side of America. In 1957 while visiting the United States, he was, because of his color, refused service in a white barbershop in New Jersey. To this example of prejudice, his reaction was, "It is all right. I prayed for the man."

Another incident during that visit sheds light not only on his awareness of racial problems but also on his gentle penetrating wit. "We were riding in a New York taxi one afternoon," Kittler relates, "and when we were stopped by a traffic light Rugambwa noticed several Negroes among the pedestrians crossing the street. 'Ah,' he said, 'there are some of my people.'

"We had just been discussing race relations in America, which he hopefully predicted would improve once people stopped exaggerating the accident of individual pigmentation. I looked at the pedestrians and said, 'I understand there are over a million Negroes in New York.'

"A smile tugged at his lips. He mused, 'I wonder why they don't turn white?' Puzzled, I asked him what he meant. 'Well,' he said, 'when your people come to my country you turn black.'"

W3YP Teaches Radio

The Villanova Amateur Radio Club has announced the inauguration of a series o fclasses for anyone interested in learning about amateur radio. According to Ed Hogan, club prexy, the classes will be directed toward one who desires a adio license as well as one who wishes meerly to acquaint himself with "ethe" commmunication.

The club, under the station call W3YP has been in full operation for over a year since the procurement of a room in Mendel Hall basement as an operating shack. With a suplus transmitter and a university-bought eceiver, the club has has made good use of the salvaging talents of Vice President Gorden Kittel and Don Dallai.

We wish anyone interested to come to the station which is located in the "Villanova Engineer office."

Faculty Wives Meet

The Villanova Faculty Wives Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, November 10, 1960 at 8:30 p.m. The group meets in the lounge of the Naval Science Building at Villanova University. All wives of Villanova faculty members are invited to attend the club meetings.

Mrs. Paul Duffy of Duffy Caterers, Daylesford, Pa., will discuss "The Art of Hors d'oeuvre-Making."

Plans for the Christmas Party for faculty children will be announced by the party co-chairmen, Mrs. Charles Bruderle of Havertown and Mrs. Raymond Cummings of Plymouth Meeting.

Mrs. Henry T. Koonce of Villanova will be hospitality chairman for the evening. Refreshments will be served.

Law School Grads Top

The Pennsylvania State Board of Bar Examiners announced the results of the July, 1960 examinations this week. Graduates of the Villanova University School of Law achieved a passing average superior to that of all other Pennsylvania law schools except the University of Pittsburgh.

This achievement continues the fine record which the School of Law has won not only in this state but in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Delaware, the District of Columbia, and elsewhere.

SEE THE DISPLAY

IN THE LIBRARY

THEN, READ

THE LYNX

Theatre Lab Today

The Laboratory Play Series, produced by the Graduate Theatre Department, continues its series with two one-act plays this afternoon, Thursday, November 17. The plays, under the supervision of Mr. Bernard Coyne, will be enacted in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall at 2:30 p.m.

"Sham," the first presentation of the afternoon, will be directed by Liz Meagher. The second, "Rising of the Moon," is directed by Mike Kennedy, who had a featured role in the Belle Masque production of "Country Girl."

A critique will follow the two plays, which have a combined total of forty minutes running time. The next Laboratory production will be "The Constant Lover," directed by Mike D'Alonzo. It has been scheduled for Thursday, December 1.

Telephone engineer Bill Pigott, left, and helicopter pilot plan aerial exploration for microwave tower sites.

"I ENGINEERED MICROWAVE TOWER LOCATIONS ON MY FIRST ASSIGNMENT"

When Bill Pigott knocked on the door of Pacific Telephone, he had two big assets. One was an electrical engineering degree from Seattle University. The other was a craving to jump right into vital engineering problems.

It was not long before Bill was exploring Washington's rugged Cascade Range in a helicopter to find sites for microwave relay towers—part of a multimillion dollar telephone construction job. Today, it's considerable satisfaction to him to see these towers spanning the mountains, knowing that his planning helped put them there.

Other important assignments followed: engineering maritime radio systems, SAGE systems—figuring engineering costs for Air Force Titan missile bases.

"Our people respect a man's engineering training—you really get a chance to show what you've got on the ball," Bill says. "I was up to my neck in tough engineering problems right from the start."

If you want a job where you put your training to work from the day you hang up your hat—you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

Student Presents Lit Club Discussion Of Beat Poetry

Leonard Galiulo, a sophomore English Literature major, delivered a lecture on "Beat Generation Attitudes and Poetry" to the Literary Club yesterday afternoon.

"Three general philosophies surge through the beat generation," he said. "These include: Outsider Existentialism, Zen Buddhism, and an Epicurean type of Freudianism."

Following a discussion of each category, he stated, "The celebration of spontaneous creativity (modern abstract art, extemporaneous poetry, and a multitude of jazz types), poverty, dope, sex and either the purposeless or gay life is the beat's sometimes ritualistic approach to these philosophies."

He stated that the practice of poverty is, "one of the outstanding virtues of the beat generation and has separated it from those past ideologies which throughout the history of mankind have attempted to procure wealth for a certain class of people through social protest or revolution.

Class of Status Seekers

"If a certain class did achieve its goals, it succeeded only in provoking a new class of money-mongering status seekers. Thus the beat finds his forte in a socialistic system.

"This is also the reason for his extreme protest against moneytheism, the almighty buck, the 105%-American attitude, the race-in-space, Madison Avenue, commercial shallowness, suburbia, the social debutante, pseudo-lovers, Howard Johnson's or Jack Parr's America, and the flag-waving war-mongers.

"Many people have tended to overlook the beat generation as an intellectual and literary force. And while it has shortcomings in certain moral or immoral attitudes, it is one of the few movements that has struggled to instill and practice universal brotherhood, and it is probably the only open movement that has the guts to fly into the face of bourgeoise complacency—all in a world torn by anxiety, fear, and hostility."

He explained that many people have brushed aside beat generation poetry because of its occasional use of obscene words or Freudian symbolism.

Vice Must Be Sordid

"These same people do not stop to consider that unless the moral poet makes vice appear ugly and sordid, his poetry will move few readers. While most beat poets do not proclaim to be moralists, and often do not write with a moral purpose, some exponents such as the Roman Catholic, Philip Lamantia, is a striking example of the fiery poet. His stirring poem, 'Put Down The Whore of Babylon' can move us to do no less than help him spit on the attitude of a prostitute."

Throughout the lecture, he read selected poems which express the various attitudes of beat poets.

A modern missile costs approximately $100 a pound, not including the warhead.

All set to play Santa Claus?

What you need is a red suit, white beard, fat pillow, and a pack full of Esterbrook Classic Pen and Pencil Sets. You can be anyone's favorite Santa if you give the smoothest-looking, smoothest-writing Christmas gift this side of the North Pole. Your choice of 6 holiday colors and 32 changeable pen points, too.

Esterbrook Pens ®T.M. The Esterbrook Pen Co. $4.95 SET

THERE'S A POINT CHOICE OF 32—ONE IS CUSTOM-FITTED FOR YOU!

student broad fine medium

The Brothers Four, top collegiate entertainers cracked jokes between songs during homecoming concert.

Contented Bathgate Lauds Superlative Basca Weekend

"It was the most successful Homecoming Wekend ever held here," beamed Senior class president Larry Bathgate.

The class prexy used nothing but superlatives to describe attendance at both the Nick Basca Dance and the Brothers Four concert. "The dance was the most heavily attended in Villanova's social history," Bathgate revealed. "More than 1500 people danced to he music of Paul Judge."

Bathgate praised "Doc" O'Connor and Frank Pizzi for their aggressive ticket sales campaign. Gerry Billing and Jack O'Malley, cocktail party co-chairmen, were also singled out by Bathgate as deserving commendation.

2000 Tipplers

"Almost 2000 people attended the party held at Treadway Inn, Wayne. It was the most heavily attended cocktail party ever sponsored by the Villanova alumni," Bathgate superlativized.

"To top off a perfect weekend," the stocky prexy concluded, "the Brothers Four told me that their reception here was the most enthusiastic that they can remember."

From a finanical viewpoint the concert was the most successful Augustinian Seminary Guild venture since the Louis Armstrong appearance in 1957.

"All in all you might say it was a superlative weekend," Bathgate said contentedly.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH

Protective Pouch Keeps Tobacco

44% FRESHER!

This protective aluminum foil pouch keeps famous, mild Sir Walter Raleigh 44% fresher than old-fashioned tin cans. The sturdy pouch is triple laminated. Carries flat. Sir Walter Raleigh is choice Kentucky burley—extra aged! Try it.

SMELLS GRAND — PACKS RIGHT!
SMOKES SWEET — CAN'T BITE!

BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION THE MARK OF QUALITY IN TOBACCO PRODUCTS

V.U. Navy Unit Plans Newspaper To Cover All NROTC Activity

A new campus publication is fast approaching its initial deadline. The endeavor is a project of the NROTC Unit, but is completely independent from the Navy itself.

The paper will cover all Nevy activities, with Unit functions serving as its primary interest. Features, sport stories, and local advertising will complement the news items.

The staff forecasts a circulation of 500, which will include all Midshipmen and their parents. Copies will also be circulated around campus.

Editor Joe Willmott forecasts an early December date for the first issue. With preliminary printing and advertising problems solved, Willmott states that all those involved look forward to a highly successful venture.

SUPPORT ORPHANS' OUTING

Dell Rushes Season; Al's Got Troubles

By Dan Grove

There is every indication that the round-ball season will soon be underway. DELL Magazine has already named this year's top teams and All-Americans, and called the shots on 400 of the season's top games.

Al Severance's cigar consumption has doubled, and talk of which post-season tournament the 'Cats should attend is heard circulating through the Pic Shoppe.

Stop this madness! The football season is not yet finished.

However, since this is the last issue of The VILLANOVAN before the basketball preview of December 1, perhaps a few thousand of the loquacious Mr. Severance's words on the upcoming campaign should be recorded for posterity.

Al's Got Troubles

In short, Al's got troubles (sounds like a statement from the football season). Returning are three starters from last year's NIT quarter-finalists: co-captains Jimmy Huggard and Dick Kaminski, and pre-season All-American Hubie White. Up from the frosh squad are three of the most potential-loaded players in the area: Tom Hoover, Bernie Chavis, and Tom Galia.

Facing this group is a "down through Dixie" schedule against some really top-flight competition. Severance is going to make more forays into the south than did a G.I. named Sherman almost a century ago.

Long Interview

To hear him bemoan them, Severance's problems are manifold. One cannot fully appreciate a statement from Severance to this effect unless one has a copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary and a couple of Latin scholars handy.

After deciphering my notes on the interview, I do come up with some pretty interesting problems that confront the 1960-61 edition of the basketball team.

First of all, the schedule is tough. Wake Forest, North Carolina State, Niagara, Detroit, West Virginia, Duquesne, and Memphis State are all good. Add to these the Dixie Classic (Wake Forest, Duke, North Carolina State, Marquette, Wyoming Maryland, and Villanova), and the Big Five competition, and you can begin to feel the first pangs of apprehension that creep into any coach's dreams.

Rose Colored Glasses

As Severance put it, "Although at first blush, people would assume everything is fine because of our present wherewithal, these people are looking at the situation through rose colored glasses. There are wide gaps of deficiency in the basic fundamentals of our present personnel."

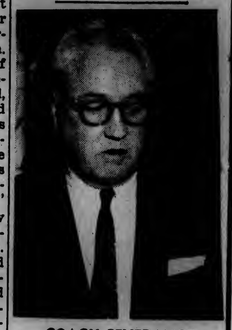
He went on, "In some cases, the personnel show a complete lack of defensive tactics. Usually, seniors should give balance and stability to a club, but the age-old spectre of 'senioritis' from time to time has given a warning knell of shoals ahead." (Here, the reader may take two minutes to breathe and digest).

Translated, this means that the team is not yet just that. Individualism is a problem. Cohesiveness in offense and defense is not yet present. To top it all off, much is desired of defensive play of several key players.

Field House Lost

The ex-maigstrate also decried the fact that the Field House has been or will be taken away from him on 26 practice days this season. This will hurt especially in pre-season preparation.

He pointed out that his starting five are definitely not set yet. As he said, "New faces could grace the scene at any time. I would be remiss if I failed to single out individuals such as Bernie Chavis, Dave Severance, Joe Walsh, and Tom Samulewicz for their intense desire and demonstration of competitive spirit and execution. These men are making a strong bid for the starting five. A continuation of their fine play could support their claims."



Spirit OK

When asked about the spirit of the team, the veteran mentor expressed his approval of overall team spirit and co-operation.

He did interject that some of his pseudo-starters might become complacent when he said, "Some men have the tools and the forte to do the job. That is not enough. This must be supplemented with an intense desire to rise above the herd. It is this quality in all respects that separates the men from the boys."

At this point, the interview stopped sounding like a National Pessimists Convention. The graying coach expressed confidence that the above problems could be ironed out and that the next few weeks of practice would permit a better evaluation of the situation.

He added that with the tremendous support of the student body as in past years, his job would be an easy one.

COACH SEVERANCE
. . . Rose Colored Glasses

when you look at a knot

do you want to untie it?

If you're the type who enjoys unraveling tough problems . . . who finds it hard to resist any challenge . . . you're apt to discover unique satisfaction and opportunity in the dynamic field of electronic data processing.

The marketing of data processing systems is challenging and fascinating. After comprehensive training, you work with management executives in diverse industries, study their business or scientific problems, figure out the solutions by use of data processing systems, and assist the customer in putting the solutions into effect.

Electronic data processing offers great opportunities for outstanding, technically trained young men with a flair for business. It's a new professional occupation offering unusual opportunities for personal and financial growth. There are openings throughout the country in the marketing of systems or direct sales.

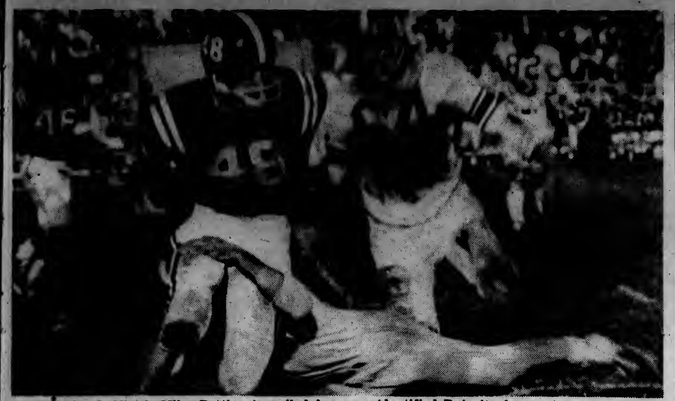
If you are a candidate for a bachelor's or advanced degree in engineering, science, mathematics, or business, see your placement director for additional information about IBM and arrange for an interview. If you prefer, feel free to write or call me:

Mr. L. M. Sterner, Branch Manager, IBM Corp., 812 Welsh Street, Chester, Pa., TR 4-4356

You naturally have a better chance to grow with a growth company. IBM DATA PROCESSING DIVISION

SPEND YOUR HOLIDAYS IN THE WORLD'S MOST EXCITING CITY

The world's most famous YMCA invites you to its special holiday programs.



Clean, comfortable and inexpensive accommodations for young men and groups of all sizes are available.
Rates: $2.05-$2.40 single; $3.40-$3.80 double.

Write Residence Director for Folder

WILLIAM SLOANE HOUSE Y.M.C.A.

356 West 34th St. (nr Ninth Ave.)
New York, N.Y. Phone: OXford 5-5133
(One Block From Penn Station)

Junior halfback Mike Pettine is nailed by an unidentified Detroit player as teammate Bobby Merenda (46) looks on.

Detroit

(Continued from Page 16)

minutes earlier Ron Myers had punted out of bounds on the Titans five. But Richman elected, or was instructed to go for the yardage. He never got a chance to pass as the Detroit left end barreled in, unblocked, to drop Richman for a 13 yard loss and Detroit took possession near midfield.

"I'm glad it turned out the way it did," Miller said, "but you can't really criticize coach Bell," he hedged. "Remember Richman had the team rolling. It was just a calculated risk."

Cross Country

(Continued from page 16)

five of each team count in the scoring.) Lance Hugelmeier and Gerry Hackett were the two other 'Cat finishers.

Traynor's Illness Hurts

The 'Cats could have finished higher if Sooh sensation Pat Traynor had been in top shape. The lean distance man was weakened by the effects of a bad cold and faded from ninth place at the one and one-half mile mark to fifty-sixth at the end. His time was two minutes slower that he had run on the same course previously this year.

In the freshman race, Smeck placed fourteenth for Villanova while Reilly placed thirty-fourth.

Successful Season

This year's sixth place finish was a vast improvement over last year's seventeenth. It marked the end of a very successful season for Jim Tuppeny's harriers who were undefeated until this blue-gray, Monday afternoon at Van Coorland Park.

Tried Regular Filter Cigarettes?

Tried Other Menthol Cigarettes?

NOW! Come Up...All The Way Up to the MENTHOL MAGIC of KOOL!

When your taste tells you it's time for a change, remember: Only Kool—no regular filter cigarette, no other menthol cigarette—gives you real Menthol Magic!

©1960, BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION THE MARK OF QUALITY IN TOBACCO PRODUCTS

Pat Traynor — Villanova's Ace In The Endurance Race

By Bill Cercone

As the young man breaks from the starting line so effortlessly and gracefully one would think that he has been a cross-country runner all his life. Well, this is not the case with this runner, flashy Pat Traynor, Villanova's ace in the endurance race.

The former Monsignor Bonner basketball captain has been running cross country only since his senior year in high school when he was discovered by winning an intramural race in a time faster than that of the fastest man on the track team.

A local contribution to the realm of athletics at V.U., Pat resides in Philadelphia and attended Bonner High School where he was an honor student and a good basketball player. Running cross country for the first time in his senior year he won the Catholic Cross Country Championship; played basketball where he was an all around stalwart on the hardwood; and then returned to the cinders to capture the mile title.

Basketball Offers Refused

Coming out of Bonner High School he had many basketball offers but refused them all to run for Villanova's famous track team. He knew that the harriers of V.U. ranked with the best in the country and to this "select group" Pat wanted to belong.

Pat certainly let his presence be known and has found a place with this "select group" and is rumored to rank as one of the best. A versatile athlete, Pat can do many things equally well and has displayed plenty of determination linked closely with desire which has enabled him to overcome many obstacles. As an example, Pat reported to practice overweight but through severe running sessions, exercises and a continuous diet he managed to shave off many unnecessary pounds which would have slowed him up considerably.

This season, Pat is undefeated in cross country competition and it does not look as if anyone will defeat him because with every passing meet he gets faster and stronger. The resultant of an extensive training program.

Sets Record

A few weks ago Pat's record shattering performance which high-lighted Villanova's stunning 21-34 upset of St. Joseph's MAC cross country champs caused Coach Jim Tuppeny to smile and say, "It was one of the greatest cross country races ever ran by a V.U. athlete."

Traynor smashed the Cobbs Creek Park record held by Carl Homen, Finnish flyer from Delaware University, when he covered the four and three-quarter mile course in 23:24. Homen's previous record was 23:45.

Displaying this same flawless form from Pat also breezed to victory in record time at the difficult Van Cortland Park course in New York.

In order to ever be able to do something really well it requires plenty of patient practice and this Pat certainly strives to attain. Everyday he is out on the track running to stay in shape and also to improve himself because one thing that Pat always stresses is perfection—whether it be on the track or in the classroom. As Pat trains, he knows that another race is coming up and if he wants to remain in "select group" he must win. And to win he must practice.

HARRIER TRAYNOR
. . . Ace Hill 'n' Daler

Winning Formula

Watching Pat run is truly a treat for he runs as if he were on clouds and just glides along, pressing only when the finish line is in sight. As Pat (in the process of warming up) ran by, an obviously practice Tuppeny remarked in a low tone, beginning to pay off." So rounding the last turn and pouring on the blazing finishing kick one could readily see that as long as Pat Traynor would continue to run as he does there would be no possibility that he should ever relinquish his honored position among the great runners in the history of Villanova cross country.

It seemed that as Pat dashed across the finish line that races would continue to be won, records broken, all because a math major discovered the long sought after formula for victory.

Intramurals

(Continued from Page 16)

student who does not wish to play but would like to assist in officiating should contact Mr. Geisz, the Intramural Director, or any member of the Intramural Council.

On November 28, the Soccer League will commence on Austin Field. This is a new activity at Villanova which was inaugurated last year. Increased enthusiasm has been demonstrated this season and an increase in the number of participants is expected. Entry blanks are available in Room 112, Alumni Hall. Any student who is not a team member but would like to play may submit his individual name to the Intramural Department and he will be assigned to a team.

Hexathon Soon

The Hexathon, which is designed for the individual who is proficient at all sports, will begin on Monday, November 28 and run until December 5. This activity consists of participation in six different sports. The entrant must show proficiency in track, (300 yard run) swimming (200 yard swim), basketball (foul shooting), football (pass and punt for distance), marksmanship and gymnastic exercises. The entrant is scored for each activity on the basis of the Marine Corps Physical Fitness Program and the winner is decided on the basis of the highest point score.

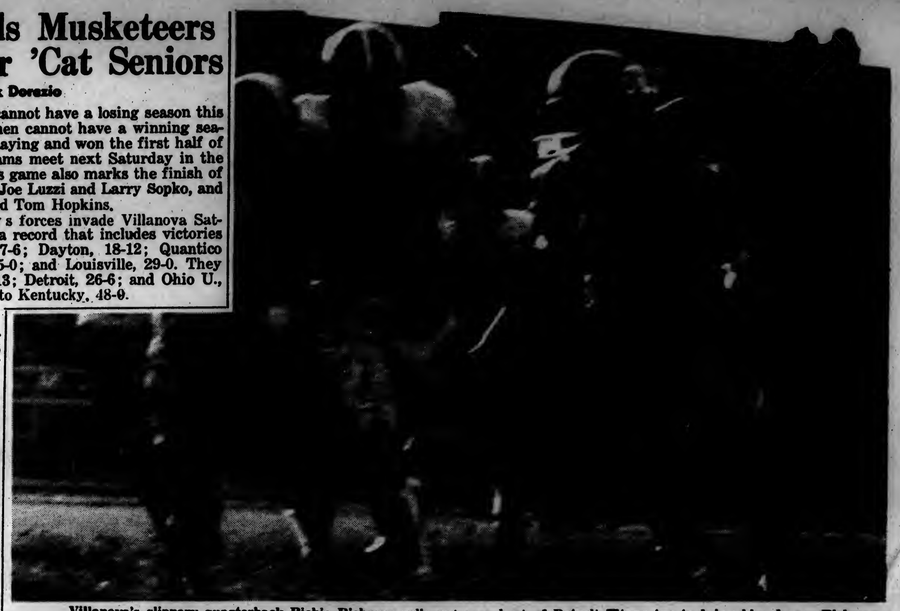
Costello Leads Musketeers In Finale For 'Cat Seniors

By Jack Dorazio

The Xavier U. gridmen cannot have a losing season this year. The Villanova U. gridmen cannot have a winning season, even if they continued playing and won the first half of next year's schedule. The teams meet next Saturday in the final game of the season. This game also marks the finish of four Wildcat seniors; guards Joe Luzzi and Larry Sopko, and fullbacks Bill Paczkowskie and Tom Hopkins.

When Coach Ed Doherty's forces invade Villanova Saturday, they will be sporting a record that includes victories over: Miami U. of Ohio, 17-6; Dayton, 18-12; Quantico Marines, 28-20; Cincinnata, 5-0; and Louisville, 29-0. They been beaten by Wichita, 20-13; Detroit, 26-6; and Ohio U., 6-0. Last Saturday they lost to Kentucky, 48-0.

Stingy Defense



Villanova's praisworthy followers should remember the 555 net yards that Xavier ripped off last year against V.U.—339 in the first period. The "Musketeers" will be trying to even this relatively new series at 2-2, Villanova winning the initial pair. Xavier has been rapidly improving on defense this year, one of their downfalls last year. The "Musketeers" yield yardage freely in the open fild, but once their territory is threatened they become very stubborn. Xavier's left guard and interior linebacker, John Nelson—a high school All-American—leads the crack defensive unit.

Success Through The Air

Top quarterback, Ron Costello of Erie, Pa., has already set Xavier career records for passing yardage and passes completed. In 8 games this year, Costello has attempted 136 passes and completed 57 for 629 yds. and 3 TDs. His favorite target is captain Jim Mullen, left end, who has caught 21 passes for 298 yds. and 2 TDs. Mullen, who also has set a career record for pass receiving at Xavier, is ranked among the nation's top 15 receivers. However, the 'Musketeers' running game leaves much to be desired. Their leading ground gainer is left halfbach, Larry Cox, who has gained 149 yds. in 73 carries for a 2.1 avg. in 8 games.

Complex Offense

The 'Musketeers' offense appears to be a hodgepodge of tumult at first glance. Both ends are split, with the split right end, a lonesome end. The fullback is a slot-back on the right side. Coach Doherty prefers to call him "isolated." The lonesome end and the "isolated" fullback never join the team in the huddle. Richie Richman & Friends could sorely use the services of the 'Cats three backfield casulties — Glueck, Langone, and O'Rourke—in containing the air-minded Xavier offense. But with it all, Villanova could end the season with a victory and look to brighter things ahead next year.

Villanova's slippery quarterback Richie Richman rolls out as a host of Detroit Titans try to bring him down. Richman played his usual outstanding game against tough Detroit.

Titan Coach Lauds Richman, Predicts 'Cats Win Saturday

by Mike Donahue

Villanova came frustratingly close to doubling its victory total last Saturday. "You'll beat Xavier, though," Detroit coach Jim Miller predicted confidently after his team had squeaked by the Wildcats 13-7. The affable red-headed mentor was visibly relieved at the conclusion of Saturday's cliffhanger.

"Don't believe a word of those reports that had us brushing you people off as pushovers," Miller iterated.

Local Papers Wrong

The clarification was prompted by reports in local papers to the effect that Detroit had not even bothered to scout the Wildcats, so confident were the Titans of victory.

"We scouted you five times," Miller corrected. "Furthermore, we were worried about the improvement you showed in the Rutgers and Boston College games.

"You showed us today that we had good cause to worry. Of your efforts, you should have won the game," Miller insisted.

Queried as to why he thought Alex Bell's minions could impale Xavier's Musketeers, Miller replied: "Because Bob Gross is better than Larry Costello."

Costello is Eddie Doherty's aerial-minded quarterback who, while no John Unitas, is, nevertheless, a better than average field general.

Don't overlook Richie Richman the 'Cat quarterback who bettered his Boston College effort which earned him local Player-Of-The-Week honors. He mixed his plays so well that Villanova was able to dominate the game until the last four minutes.

At that juncture Titan ace Bob Gross directed an 11 play, 70 yard drive that culminated in Detroit's second and winning touchdown. Sophomore Gross, a future All-American, and the best all around back the 'Cats have seen this season, picked wo 29 yards on keeper plays and passed for 18 more.

Second Guessing

Press box observers were dubious about a play that occurred with slightly less than ten minutes to play. The Wildcats were leading, 7-6, and had driven to the Detroit 38. On three plays they could gain only three yards. 4th and seventh.

In a similar situation several

(Continued on Page 15)

Lohr's Eleven

VILLANOVA vs. Xavier	'Cats show notice for future
IOWA vs. Notre Dame	Hawkeyes crush hapless Irish
PENN STATE vs. Pitt	Who else?
DUKE vs. North Carolina	Revenge: last year N.C. 59-0
SYRACUSE vs. Miami (Fla.)	Davis & Co. explode
TENNESSEE vs. Kentucky	Vols in a squeaker
MISSOURI vs. Kansas	What a surprise No. 1
OREGON ST. vs. Oregon	Always a toss-up
RICE vs. T.C.U.	See you Jan. 2
MINNESOTA vs. Wisconsin	Easy after last week
GRAMBLING vs. Wiley	Its been a great year

Last week: 9-1-1
Season's total: 48-23-6
Pct. .677

Wildcat fullback Billy Joe, smacks over tackle for a substantial gain against Detroit last Saturday. Although they finished on a short end of a 13-7 score, the 'Cats played what many believe was their finest game of the season. Detroit, which clashes with Michigan State next Saturday is regarded as one of the best teams in the Midwest.

Mural Football End In Sight; Hexagon, Basketball Coming

The Intramural Department is currently at work at directing the busiest season of the school year. Football playoff games are now in progress and will be continued daily up until Monday, November 21, when the two top teams will meet to decide the 1960 Intramural Championship football team. There are at least four or five teams which are capable of winning this title and it is still too soon to predict. However, there is no doubt that the final game, to be played on Mendel Field at 3:30 p.m., will produce excitement for all.

In conjunction with this big season for intramurals, the Golf Championships will be held on Monday, November 21, at the Main Line Golf Course. There will be no fee, any student entered may play the course free of charge. The course is located on Lancaster Pike, in Radnor, within walking distance of school. Any additional information concerning the golf championships may be obtained at the Intramural Office, Room 112, Alumni Hall.

Basketball Entries

Basketball entry blanks are now available in the Intramural Office or at the Swimming Pool. The league begins on December 5 with games being run daily afternoon and evening. Any

(Continued from Page 15)

Cat X-Country Team Cops Sixth In IC4A Championship In N.Y.

Monday afternoon the Villanova Cross-country team finished sixth in the 52nd Annual IC4A Cross-country Championships at Van Coortland Park in New York City.

Penn State Victor

The team championship was won by Penn State who finished with an aggregate score of 70. Runnerup Army had 119, while Michigan State, last year's champ totaled 130. Rounding out the top six were Manhattan (138), Yale (231), and Villanova (284).

The individual champion was Robert Lowe of Brown who covered the tortuous five mile grind in the "good" time of 24 minutes, 40.4 seconds. This time is far off the record pace set by Crawford Kennedy of Michigan State, last year's champion. Kennedy's time in 1959 was 23:51.8.

Sivieri Leads 'Cats

Junior Angelo Sivieri led the Wildcat hill-and-dalers by placing twenty-fifth with a time of 27.06. Jon Dante was forty-eighth and Pat Traynor was fifty-sixth for the Wildcats. Owen Maguire (66th) and Bob Collins (89th) were the remaining 'Cat placers. (Only the first

(Continued on Page 15)

Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 9 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. Dec. 1, 1960

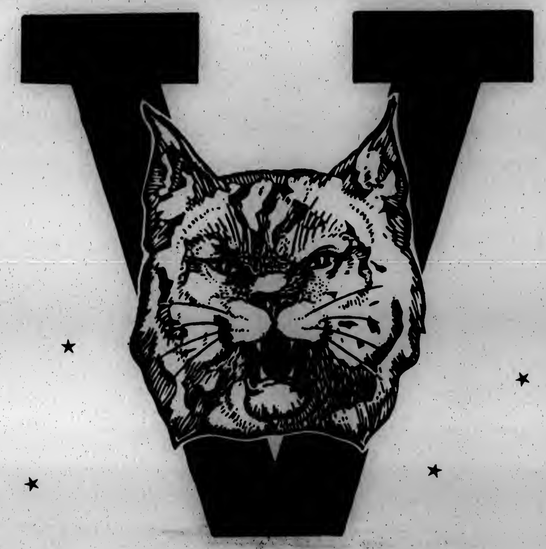
Severance Opens Silver Season

Wildcats Invade Scranton U Talent-Laden and Optimistic

Coach Al Severance leads his talented Wildcat basketball team into action tonight against the Scranton Royal Purples at Scranton. This game will mark the opening of Severance's 25th year of coaching at Villanova.

During Severance's tenure the Main Line Wildcats have won 404 games while losing only 186. Severance will be out to fatten this already juicy record against the upstate Purples.

Last year the Wildcats turned on their greatest scoring splurge as they humbled Scranton, 110-68, at the Villanova Fieldhouse.



The Purples of Coach Fiore Caesor will be out to avenge this defeat. It may be noted that they defeated the Cats the last time they played in Scranton in 1957.

Starting Lineups

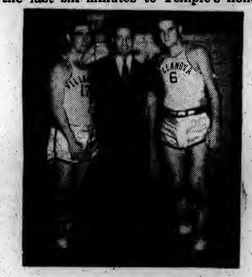
The Cats will start a lineup consisting of two seniors, one junior, and two sophomores. The seniors, co-captains Jim Huggard and Richie Kaminski are returning starting guards from last year's 20-6 starting five. The junior, Hubie White is also a returning starter at forward. White has been heralding as a pre-season All-American. The two sophs, 6'9" Tom Hoover and 6'3" forward Bernie Chavis are the picks now, but changes could be made.

Also expected to see plenty of service are Tom Samuelwicz, Dave Severance, Joe Walsh, Tom Galia, and Bob Liberatore.

Scranton will counter with sophs Bill Barluiti, a 6'5" center, and 6'1" Tom Foley, a guard. John Jordan, a 6'2" forward, and Mike Akdalla, a 5'11" guard, will team up with up with 6'1" Bill Frances to round out the Purples double pivot offense.

The Era of Al Severance —Twenty Four Years of Colorful Collegiate Basketball

by Vic Strano



On October 6, 1936, Alexander G. Severance succeeded "Doc" Jacobs as varsity basketball coach. This event was to start a new era at Villanova, the Severance era of top-flight, star-studded basketball.

The Wildcat ball-hawks got off to a flying start when they bowled over a strong Seton Hall quintet by a score of 23-21 in the first game of the season under the new coach. The game played in Villanova's gym was a typical early season battle, with neither club exhibiting the smoothness that comes with with midseason form.

Probably the feature game of the season was with a traditional rival, Temple, which the Cats lost a 28-23 count in a close exciting duel. But overall the season was rather successful as VU rolled over such well known opponents such as Providence, Duquesne, CCNY, and St. John's, and ended with a 16-7 record.

Three Good Years

'38, '39 and '40 were destined to be fine seasons for Severance and his players. Again the Temple game was the big one in '38. Before 12,000 cheering fans, Villanova plucked a feather from the Owls, later rated national champions, when, paced by the current star, Duzminski, VU scored eight points in the last six minutes to Temple's none to cinch the game as the final score read, 36-28. The 'Cats finished the season with an impressive 25-5 log.

Severance with Wood and Kelly . . . In The Beginning

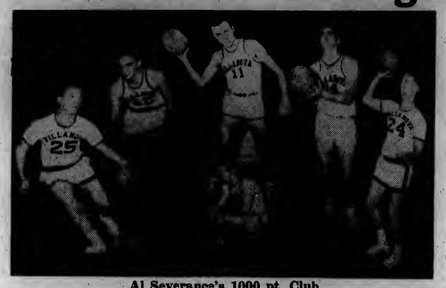
1939 marked a year in which Villanova would enter its first National Tournament, for with 19 wins and 4 losses the Wildcats were invited to the NCAA tournament. VU drew and beat Brown in the opener but the next game was a different story. Ohio State beat the 'Cats by a score of 53-36.



The next year found Villanova defending their Middle Atlantic States intercollegiate championship. The 'Cats put in a strong bid for Eastern Supremacy, as they waded through a heavy 19 game schedule, losing only to Indiana and Baltimore.

Basketeers Continue To Look Impressive

A glance at the impressive record of the '40-'41 team shows that the prowness of the incumbent 'Cats was not inferior to that of their illustrious predecessors who had valid claims to the eastern championship. The 'Cats showed their true colors by winning big over teams like Niagara, Wake Forest, and Kansas State.

It was indeed a dimunitive band of courtsters who trotted out onto the Field House floor early in December of the '42 season to encounter a trouble-laden 22 game schedule. With only 4 returning lettermen and a decided lack of height, the season proved to be disastrous. The hoopsters turned in a record of only 13 wins against 9 losses.

Although playing a war time schedule which included many service teams, the Wildcats managed to snap back in '43. With now familiar stars like Joe Lord, Maje McDonnell and Chuck

Al Severance's 1000 pt. Club
(L to R) Bob Shafer (2094), Jack Devine (1263), Paul Arizin (1648), Larry Hennessy (1737), Jim Smith (1014), Joe Lord (1125).

. . . Cream of the Crop

Drizin, Villanova managed to roll up a fine 19-2 season.

The Dismal Era

The Draft had caught up with Villanova in '44. The next three years would be among the gloomiest in their court history.

The '44 Wildcats presented a heterogenous group of Navy, Marine and civilian students with names unfamiliar to their loyal followers. This would be so far the worst season of all.. In a typical losing cause, Norfolk Naval training station put a fitting climax to the year's debacle by throwing in everything but the water bucket in administering a 69-19 defeat over VU. The final tally showed a total of only 8 wins against 12 losses.

'45 and '46 were just as poor, as the 'Cats could not make up for the loss of the stars who went into the service. Lord and McDonnell came back in '46 but were not up to full potential as yet.

Winners Again

Captain Joe Lord played phenomenally in '47 and helped the Wildcats have their first winning season since 1943. Lord established a new Villanova individual season's total with 438 points, bettering his own record of 303 points set in '46.

'48 was a very significant year as it brought to the varsity one of the great personalities of basketball. The never to be forgotten Paul Arizin reached his peak that year in a game against Seton Hall where he not only held 6' 7" Harry Renner to three field goals, but also managed to score 27 points and play a fine game under the boards. The sensational sophomore's selection to the Basketball Writers' "All District" team was a great tribute to a most worthy player.

He was to continue his noteworthy play in the following year which would be a most successful season for all concerned. In one of the big games of the '49 season, VU beat NC State by a score of 62-59 before a record Field House of over 5000 fans. Another 1000 spectators were turned away at the door. No sooner had the 'Cats edged NCS than they were named to the 8th spot in National Ratings.

A Rough Road Trip

Villanova was to encounter some road difficulties however. After beating three NY teams, the Wildcats entered the Midwest as one of the 2 unbeaten teams in the country and as a 7th ranked national team. But disaster struck as they lost to Duquesne, and Loyo'a. This wrecked hopes for an unbeaten season.

But after returning to the East, the Wildcats were to engage the Naval Air Material center in a game that was to make basketball history. Willowy Paul Arizin, making a remarkable 63% of his shots scored 85 points to break every existing NCAA record.

The 'Cats won their last 4 games of the season and received an NCAA bid. In the tourney, however, VU faced Kentucky in the opening game. The Kentuckians were presently ranked number one and went on to beat VU by a score of 85-72. The 'Cats beat Yale in a Consolation game, and finished with a 23-4 record.

Arizin a Senior and All-American

The 49-50 edition of Al Severance's Wildcats had undertaken the longest and probably the most formidable schedule ever attempted by Mainline basketeers.

In the opening attraction at the Palestra, the 'Cats met St. Francis of Brooklyn and Paul Arizin took it upon himself to tie the individual scoring mark for the Palestra of 52 points.

Journeying down to the New Orleans Sugar Bowl Tournament, Arizin again showed his true worth by scoring 50 points in two games and helped VU to beat Tulane after losing the opener to a tough Kentucky team. The sports-writers, broadcasters and the 9000 fans were left spellbound by VU's candidate for All-American honors.

The Grand Finale

Towards the end of the season with their five most difficult games, NC State, Toledo, St. Bonaventure, Georgetown and Duquesne remaining, the 'Cats reached their peak with five straight victories.

Led, as usual, by Arizin, the 'Cats beat NC State in an overtime clash, 65-64. On the following Wed. Toledo was taken, 82-62; and on Sat. of the same week, St. Bonnie became the 23rd victim. Playing their 3rd game in six days, the 'Cats humbled Georgetown 79-69 in the final game at the Field House. VU's Seniors wrote finis to their brilliant careers with a scintillating triumph over Duquesne, 68-52, before a packed house at the Palestra.

Thus with a record of 25-4 and a unanimous All-American, the basketball team ended the most outstanding chapter of Villanova court history.

New Names, New Faces, New Talent!

Although losing ten lettermen plus Arizin for the '51 season Villanova again came up with a whole crop of new talent that would include such names as Sam Glassmire, Larry Hennessey, Jim Mooney and Tom Brennan. The 'Cats attained national ranking and wound up with a 25-5 tally in a season which had them playing NC State three times and beating them twice.

A slight depression was reached in '52 as the 'Cats could not keep up with the records of the past years and slumped to a fair 19-8 record.

The 'Cats were back in shape, however, the following year as they turned in a brilliant 22-9 log against the nation's top teams. The campaign was an eventful one beginning with the kidnapping of scoring ace Bob Schafer, the ineligibility of Hennessy reaching a climax with an NIT bid rejection, and ending with a sad defeat to a lowly regarded Valparaiso quintet. Hennessey competing in only 16 games smashed Paul Arizin's career and individual Palestra records and was placed on 3rd team All-America. He ended with a career total of 1737 points, and Schafer led the team for the season with 537 points.

Schafer Second In National Scoring

Any discussion of the '54 season must include a discussion of Bob Schafer. Only a junior, he finished second in national scoring, fifth in national per-game average, and broke a Palestra record with 46 points. He was lauded left and right by rival coaches as "best set shot in the nation," and "best shot in the country." He ended up the year with a 27 point average.

Devine (34) and Shaffer . . . . . One Two Punch

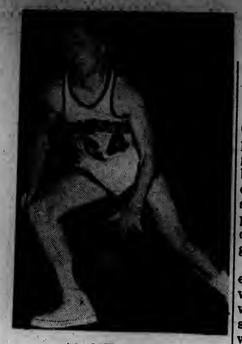
Bob made history in '55 by becoming a member of that elite group of ten ball players ever to attain 2000 points during their college careers. Meanwhile, the 'Cats went 18-10 for the season.

All good things must come to an end and so it did in '56 and the 'Cats slumped to a 14-12 record.

(Continued on Page 7)



Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Published weekly by students of Villanova University. Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office, Dec, 27, 1928. Under the Act of March 3, 1879. This paper is dedicated to one of the finest who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Editor in Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Co-Editors Basketball Preview ..... Charles Simmonds
Daniel G. Grove
Format Editor ..... Edward Farrell
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Copy Staff ..... Edward Graham
Carol Clark
Carol Burton
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.
Contributors—Vic Strano, Ed Lohr, Jack Duffy, Bob Larkin, Howard Beloin, Bill Cercone, Dan Bell

1960-61 Scouting Report

Ned Twyman

Scranton
Middle Atlantic Conference
Coach, Flore Caesar

In the 1959-1960 season the Scranton Royal Purple offense sputtered at times, and on occasion the defense could have been better. This winter, however, things look brighter in the Scranton picture. Two sophomores, Joe Barlutti, 6' 5", at center, and Tom Foley, 6' 1", at guard, should prove to be the heart of the Scranton offense. Add to this duo John Jordan 6' 2", a junior, and seniors Bill Francis, 6' 1", and Mike Abdalla, 5' 11", and you have the starting team. Jordan, Frances, and Abdalla were starters last year. Caesar has a flock of sophomores in reserve rolls and among them are Ed Flowers and Warner Stock at center and Bob Barone and John Ryan at the guard positions.

The basic Scranton offense is a double pivot attack while on defense they use a switching man to man.

Scholar dollars travel farther with SHERATON HOTELS

STUDENT-FACULTY DISCOUNTS

Save on the going prices of going places at Sheraton Hotels.

Your Sheraton card gets you special save-money rates on singles and greater savings per person when you share a room with one, two or three friends. Generous group rates arranged for athletic teams, clubs and college clans on-the-go.

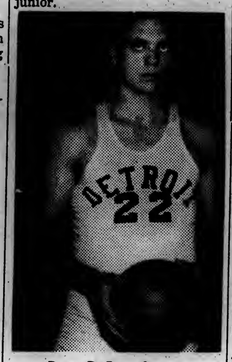
Send for your Sheraton Student I.D. Card or Faculty Guest Card with credit privileges. Please tell us where you are a student or full-time faculty member when you write to:

Mr. Robert L. Sherman
Box 819
Villanova University
Villanova, Pa.

Wake Forest
Atlantic Coast
Coach, Bones McKinney

When the Wildcats invade Greensboro, North Carolina, to play Wake Forest, they will be greeted by one of the country's best 1-2 punches. This quick combination appears in the persons of pre-season All-American picks Len Chappell, 6' 8" junior center, and Billy Packer, 5' 10" guard.

To add to V.U. Coach Al Severance's worries, Wake Forest will be the tallest club Villanova will play all season. Probable starter up front with Chappell will be 6' 8" Jerry Steels, and 6' 10" Bob Woolard.



With this great height and speed—experience and youth—Wake Forest could possibly be the toughest opponent that the Wildcats will meet all year.

Buffalo
Independent
Coach, Len Serfustini

The Buffalo Bulls are constantly one of the best small college teams in the nation both in the size of the school and the size of the team.

The Buffalo starting team should consist of Nick Shasho, 5' 10", a junior, and Bob Myszwaski, 5' 10", a senior, as guards. The forwards will be Ken Pair, 6' 2", a senior, and Bill Hojohn, 6' 0", a sophomore.

The center is Jim Walker, 6' 3", a senior. The only other men on the bench with any height are Earl Thiele, 6' 5", a sophomore, and Jerry Tilipski, 6' 4", a junior.

Dave DeBusschere

Toledo
Middle American Conference
Coach, Ed Melvin

The Toledo Rockets will prove an early season hurdle for Villanova's Wildcats. One of the best defensive teams in the nation, the Rockets happened to catch the Wildcats on the rebound last year and were bombed 74-52 at the Palestra. This year the game is at Toledo and the Rockets have an ambush planned for the Blue and White.

The big man for Toledo is senior George Patterson, 6' 7". The forwards for the Ohioans are Larry Jones, 6' 2", and senior Jim Galicki, 6' 4". The backcourt is manned by two speedsters, juniors Jim Miller and Ralph Lewis.

The chief bench strength for Toledo lies in seniors Bob Pawlak, 5' 8", and Paul Macy, 6' 4". Coach Ed Melvin is stressing sped and defense this year in an attempt to better last year's record. The Rockets were doing very well last year until they lost 5 out of their last 7. They still finished 18 and 6.

North Carolina State
Atlantic Coast
Coach, Everett Case

Coach Everett Case expects a definite improvement, with nine lettermen returning, over last lear's 11-15 record.

The veteran front court will be led by center Bob DiStefano, 6' 6", and forward Stan Niewierowski, 6' 4". Bruce Hoadly and Russ Marvel both at 6' 6" will fight it out for the other corner position along with Dan Wherry.

Denny Lutz and Bob McCann will return to the "Wolfpack" backcourt this year which has added two highly touted newcomers. Sophomores Jon Speaks and Ken Hohloff should be able to provide the scoring punch in the backcourt that has been lacking.

Princeton
Ivy League
Coach, Cappy Cappon

Princeton is the defending Ivy League champ. The Tigers have four starters back from their championship team and figure to be strong.

The pick of the litter in the tiger camp is Pete Campbell, 6' 1", the Ivy League's scoring champion. To go with Campbell, the Tigers have 6'4" Al Kaemmerlen, at center, and Don Swan and Mike Burton, both 6' 3", at the forwards. Drew Hyland, 5' 9", a senior, and his brother Art, 6' 0", a sophomore, are both trying to be the fifth starter and it looks like brother Art has the advantage. The top reserves are Andy Higgins, 6' 2", a junior, and Tony Adams, 6' 4", a sophomore.

The Princeton offensive is built around Campbell, but if anything should befall Peter, the Tigers could be in trouble.

Fordham
Independent
Coach, John Bach

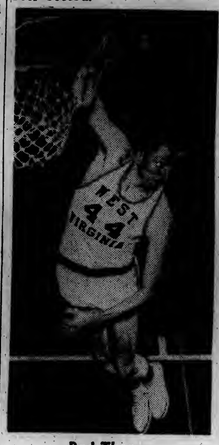
Coach Johnny Bach will be counting heavily on his sophomores to reverse an 8-18 season last year, into a winning campaign for the Rams.

Height has been Bach's biggest problem in the last several years, and this year is no exception. Veterans Joe Dempsey, 6' 5", and John Coalman, 6' 4", will have to carry the Rams' rebound load.

Rookies will be rounding the top five. Frank Cipriani, 6' 0", and Bob Lawry, 5' 9", will probably hold down the backcourt slots, while the Frosh's leading scorer, 6' 3" Bob Melvin, 25 p.p.g., will be up front.

The Rams use a straight pivot attack and have the speed to fast break when they get the rebounds. Bach is looking toward the future and will use his sophs

Stan Niewierowski



Niagara
Independent
Coach, John Gallagher

The Eagles of Niagara support one of the finest scoring stars in collegiate basketball today in the person of 6' 2" senior Al Butler, who ranked sixth in the nation.

In addition to Butler, reliable seniors Don Jones, 6' 6", and Jim Whelan, 6' 0", are to be counted on heavily. The leading prospects for forwards are sophomores Joe Moddrey, 6' 4", and Roy Glenn, 6' 5".

The Eagles are strong in the backcourt, and have senior Sal Vergopia, 6' 4", and junior Ed Ladley to give them a substantial bench. The Eagles use a wheeling offense and a man to man defense.

Butler has to be the big threat as these statistics show: 49 points against West Ontario (a Niagra home court record); 44 and 39 points agaist Connecticut; 33 points against Saint John's, and 38 points against Seton Hall. He tallied 712 points in all for the season and has 1,182 points over a two year span. Butler only needs 500 points to break the Niagra career record.

Rod Thorn
Detroit University
Independent
Coach, Bob Calihan

Nine lettermen, led by All-American Dave DeBusschere, reported to University of Detroit basketball coach Bob Calihan to begin preparation for the 1960-1961 season.

DeBusschere, 6' 5" Austin Catholic product, was ninth in the nation in scoring (25.6 p.p.g.) as he led Detroit to a 20-7 mark and a bid to the N.I.T. last year. Just a sophomore last winter, DeBusschere was the only Detroit player to finish among the top ten in both scoring and rebounding.

Also returning, is junior Charlie North. North, 6' 6", was second in team scoring and rebounding with 19.8 and 14.3 averages in the respective departments.

Captain Larry Hughes, 6' 3", who averaged 11.7 p.p.g., and sometime starter Frank Chickowski, 6' 1", will form the backcourt combo.

The overall picture looks very promising and is strengthened with such promising sophs as 6' 4" Harrison Munson, who led the frosh with a 19.0 p.p.g., and Ray Kovalesky, second to Munson, with a 17.0 p.p.g., yield. to get ready for it.

Charlie North

Muhlenburg
Middle Atlantic
Coach, Kenneth T. Moyer

The Mules have their three top scorers back from last year, 6' 4" Ron Druckenmiller (13.5), 6' 0" George Gifillan (11.8), and 6' 2" Chris Hiotis (8.8). Their one great drawback is the lack of height. But, they do have experience and speed, and will prove quite capable in throwing scares into most of their opponents.

Army
Independent
Coach, George Hunter

Army will field a bigger, but less experienced, basketball team than the one that compiled a 14-9 mark in a successful 1959-1960 season.

Army's top two scorers, Stu Sherard, a guard, and Lee Sager, a forward, return and should be the backbone of the team. Sherard averaged 19.1 p.p.g. Sager had an 18.6 p.p.g. He nabbed 255 rebounds in 22 games for an 11.6 p.p.g. Foley, at 6' 7" and 210 pounds, is a potential great and should break into the starting lineup.

Other starters are Ron Hannon, a guard, Lee Anderson, a 6' 6" powerful center, and Bob Strauss, a 6' 6" senior. Al DeJardin, a quick junior guard, and Gordon Arbogast, another tall man at 6' 6", up from the plebes, will both be strong reserves, giving Army greater bench strength.

West Virginia
Southern Conference
Coach, George King

The "Mountaineers" have lost two mainstays to the pros, All American Jerry West and head coach Fred Schaus. However, able replacements seem to be at hand. Sophomore Rod Thorn, 6' 4", led the frosh with a 20.9 point average and is said to play the same type of all around game as his publicized predesessor, West. Coach King will also welcome back veterans Lee Patrone, 5' 11" guard, and Jim Ritchie, 6' 4" forward.

Rounding out the first five will probably be sophs Dave Shuck 6' 8" and Jim McCormick 6' 3". Pushing these two sophs will be veterans Joe Posch, a 6' 7" center, and Paul Miller, a 6' 6" forward who is a tough boardman.

As usual, the Mountaineers will be off and running for the whole game, but unless the sophs come through, their fastbreak will not be as awesome as in the past.

DECEMBER 1 VU..... vs.....SCRANTON

DECEMBER 3 VU..... vs.....BUFFALO

DECEMBER 10 VU..... vs.....TOLEDO

DECEMBER 12 VU..... vs.....PRINCETON

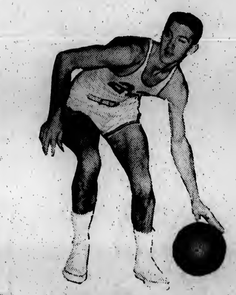
DECEMBER 14 VU..... vs.....FORDHAM

DECEMBER 17 VU..... vs.....NIAGARA

DECEMBER 29-30-31 DIXIE CLASSIC

JANUARY 4 VU..... vs.....DETROIT

JANUARY 7 VU..... vs.....MUHLENBERG



JANUARY 11 VU..... vs.....ARMY

JANUARY 14 VU..... vs.....WEST VIRGINIA

1960 - 1961 ...AT RECORD

Bernie Chavis, 6' 2",
Sophomore, Washington, D.C.

Tom Samulewicz, 6' 5",
Senior, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jimmy Huggard, 5'8"
Senior, Philadelphia, Pa.
Co-Captain

Bob Liber... 5' 2",
Senior, ... Pa.

Bill M...
Senior, ...er

Tom Galia, 6'0"
Sophomore, Chester, Pa.

Dave Severance, 6' 4"",
Senior, Berwyn, Pa.

Joe Walsh, 6' 5",
Junior, Trenton, N.J.

Dick Kaminski, 6' 2",
Senior, Jersey City, N.J.
Co-Captain

Hubie White, 6' 3",
Junior, Philadelphia, Pa.

Tom Hoover, 6' 9",
Sophomore, Washington, D.C.

JANUARY 18 VU..... vs.....PENN

JANUARY 21 VU..... vs.....DUQUESENE

JANUARY 25 VU..... vs.....PITTSBURGH

JANUARY 28 VU..... vs.....ST. JOSEPH'S

FEBRUARY 4 VU..... vs.....SETON HALL

FEBRUARY 8 VU..... vs.....CANISUIS

FEBRUARY 11 VU..... vs.....MEMPHIS STATE

FEBRUARY 18 VU..... vs.....WAKE FOREST

FEBRUARY 23 VU..... vs.....N. C. STATE

FEBRUARY 25 VU..... vs.....TEMPLE

MARCH 4 VU..... vs.....LASALLE

Scouting Report

(Continued from Page 3)

Duquesne University
Independent
Coach, Bob Calihan

Duquesne has four regulars returning from last season's team which compiled a deceiving 8-15 record attested to by their loses to Cincinnati and Saint Bonaventure.

Expected to lead the team is senior Ned Twyman, who averaged 12 points per game last season. Finishing with a great flourish, he averaged 17 points and shot for better than 50% in Duque's last eight games.

Other key players are 6' 6" junior Paul Benec and 6' 6" junior Clyde Arnold. Promising newcomers are backcourtman Mike Rice, who may alleviate the serious problem the Dukes had in that spot last season, and 6' 5" Terry Malloy, who will fight for a starting position.

Overall height will continue to be an asset to the team. The only real loss is the departure of George Brown, last season's leading scorer.

Pittsburgh University
Independent
Coach, Bob Timmonds

The thought of all the lettermen returning would be enough to cheer any coach, but, alas, Bob Timmons knows that there is something lacking and what it exactly is no one knows.

The team is led by stalwarts John Fridley, 6' 5", who scored 304 points, Dick Falenski, 6' 3", who scored 314 points, and Bob Stanky, 6' 4", who was a tremendous asset in the back court with his amazing ball handling. Expected to bolster the varsity is soph Ben Jinks.

Although coach Timmons is quite optimistic concerning the future of his floor-men, only time will tell.

John Fridley

Memphis State
Independent
Coach, Bob Vanatta

The loss of graduation was a big one, because it took the leading scorer and rebounder, George Price. But, it looks as though Wayne Yates, 6' 8", is ready to take the big man's place.

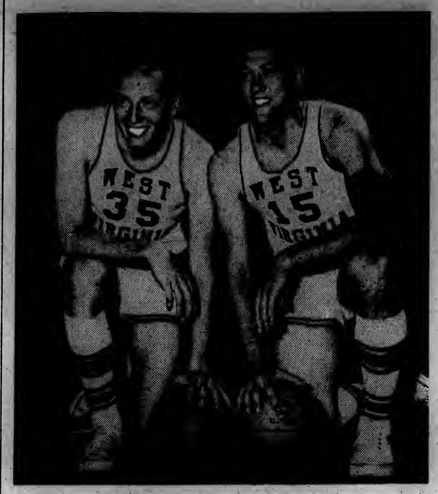
Completing the potential starting team are Frank Snyder 6' 5" and Lowery Kirk 6' 6" holding down the forward spots. The guards will be veterans Gene Wilfong 6' 0" and Skip Wolfe 6' 0". The bench is composed of veterans Tom Jackson, Fred Mangum and Phil Kibley.

Over all, the Tigers can run or play a control game. They have good strength, a strong bench, and a fine coach.

Seton Hall
Independent
Coach, Richie Regan

Although new coach Regan will use, former mentor, Honey Russell's maneuvers, he will have the Pirates do much more outside shooting with screens and picks. Of last season's top eight, only Jack Rowley and Hugh Dunnion have graduated. The three top scorers, Art Hicks (393), Hank Gunter (322), and Ken Walker (250) are on hand. Other men who should profit by a year of experience are; Al Senavitis, 6' 2", Bill Brooks, 6' 1", Ron Olender, 6' 3", and Hank Furch, 6' 4". Mike Murray, Dom Klein, and Jim Burkhardt are sophomores who should add bench strength. Of these, Murray, 5' 11", led the frosh team in scoring with 401 points.

As it looks now, the Pirates will have scoring power, a good bench, good height, and an improved defense. A winning season is definitely expected, but how far the Hall will go remains to be seen.



Canisius
Independent
Coach, Bob MacKinnon

Last year the Golden Griffins had one of their worst seasons in history, 10-13. This year, highlighted by the return of six veterans and the arrival of six sophomores, Canisius will be a much improved ball club.

The veterans are led by Larry Sarafinis, 6' 6", their center and captain. Sarafinis is a graduate of North Catholic and is a close friend of Tom Samuelwicz. Other returning veterans include Joe Latruci, 6' 2", last year's leading scorer, and Dick McCann, 5' 10", one of the starting guards.

Up from the freshmen team, which compiled a 17-1 record, are Bill O'Connor, 6' 4", the leading scorer at 17 p.p.g., Tom Chester, 6' 3", and John Whelan, 6' 3". Whelan is a local boy having played at Bonner High.

The Griffins used a pivot attack with Sarafinis the man in the middle. They also use picks and screens for jump shots. On defense they are strictly man to man.

Jim Ritchie and Lee Patrone

Filters for flavor
–finest flavor by far!

Tareyton has the taste—
Dual Filter does it!

HERE'S HOW THE DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL... definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth...
2. with a pure white outer filter. Together they select and balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton's flavor-balance gives you the best taste of the best tobaccos.

NEW DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Freshmen Coach Ed Scullin Begins First Season Here

The Villanova freshman basketball team, 1960-61 edition, will be for the most part a collection of running backcourt men. Their speed will prove to be a tremendous asset in their quest for a successful season.

The "Wildkittens", again this year have only three players on scholarship but they are the pick of the crop so to speak. At the head of the list is George Leftwick, an alumnus of Archbishop Carroll High in Washington. George, at 6' 1", is made in the image of Hubie White. A few inches shorter than Hubie, George is a wonderful jumper and can dunk the ball easily.

The second scholarship player is Wally Jones from Overbrook High. Wally is also 6' 1" and is the equal of Leftwick in speed and is as good if not better at handling the ball. Wally shoots a jump shot that amazes many people.

Jerry Stefanic is the only big man on scholarship. Jerry is not what you would call a pivot man, although he is no slouch on underneath shots.

The other big men on the team are Jack Kellegher, 6' 5", Bill Kennedy, 6' 4", and Joe (Dipper) Kruguiski, 6' 8". Kellegher, from Trenton Catholic and Kennedy from Saint Joe's Prep are waging a battle for the one open forward position.

At 6' 8", Joe Kruginski is the tallest on the squad. Kruginski has the altitude to be a big help to the team, but his basketball experience is limited.

Starting Position Debated

The battle between Kellegher and Kennedy for a starting position is not the only struggle in coach Scullin's 3 guard offense. Warren (Butch) Winterbottom, who played for city basketball champion Monsignor Bonner and Pat Mahoney from Malvern are fighting tooth and nail to be on the floor when the whistle blows. Both are quick, agressive, and good ball handlers.

Other team members are Teddy Morris, 6' 5", a redhead from Camden Catholic who is a good rebounder; Frank Fernandez, 6' 2", Bob Howard, 6' 1", and Gene Schue, 6' 1".

Outstanding Rookie Coach

This year the freshmen have a new coach in Ed Scullin. Mr. Scullin graduated from Saint Joe's College in 1939. For the past seven years he has been coach at North Catholic High School. Mr. Scullin won Catholic league championships in 1956 and 1957 and won the city title in 1956 by beating West Philadelphia High 69-68. West Philadelphia that year had Chuck Scott, 6' 9", and Villanova's Hubie White. Coach Scullin had produced many fine ball players in his years at North Catholic. Among them are Bobby McNiel of the New York Knicks, Joe Gallo of Saint Joe's, Larry Sarafinis of Canisius, Jim Kenny formerly of Villanova and Tom Samelewicz and Joe Zawacki, presently on our varsity.

In college coach Scullin, who is now 43, played basketball and was on the track team. He was basketball captain in his senior year of 1939.

The 1960 edition of the Wildkittens. Kneeling are George Leftwich (13) and Wally Jones (23). Standing are (L to R) Bill Kennedy, ButchWinterbottom, and George Stefanic.

Zeroing in on the future

At Gen Tel, our aim is to develop the supercommunications system that will be needed to meet the demands of tomorrow. And we're constantly shooting new ideas at this target.

In our 24 research laboratories, more than 3500 scientists and engineers have their sights set on entirely new concepts in order to achieve these results.

Example: a task force of General Telephone & Electronics scientists, working in the unexplored areas of electroluminescence and photoconductivity, have developed an operating model of a switching device with no moving parts, that may revolutionize telephone communications. It is a thin wafer only 3 inches square that may someday connect and disconnect up to 10,000 telephone lines.

Meanwhile, this new discovery holds promise of having numerous applications in other fields, including switching and read-out devices for electronic computers.

Research is but one of the many areas in which General Telephone & Electronics is thinking and working ahead—not only to meet today's communications needs, but tomorrow's as well.

GENERAL TELEPHONE & ELECTRONICS

Era of Severance

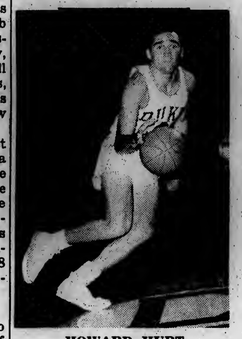
(Continued from Page 2)

Worst Season In A Decade

About the only good thing that happened in '57 was Jimmy Smith's movement into the ranks of the Villanova high scorers. In his final game against Drexel, Smitty scored 24 points which earned him a position on the coveted 1000 points Club; his associates in this club are the great names in VU basketball — Arizin, Hennessey, Schafer, Devine and Lord, all high scorers. Smith's efforts, however, could not stop the 'Cats from having one of their few losing seasons.

Any basketball season that can boast the West Virginia "five second" fiasco, the triple overtime LaSalle thriller and the snapping of an 81-game home winning streak is one to be remembered and so Al Severance's Wildcats gave Villanovans plenty of action during the '57-'58 court season, despite a somewhat dissapointing 12-11 log.

A Return To the Glory Road



The last few years are so easily recalled that only a brief resume' need be given here.

Al Severance's 'Cats were supposedly a year away from the top pinnacles of national basketball in '59 but the fiery determination of the soph-laden squad was not to be denied. Villanova leaped right to national prominence with the opening of the season, putting together an 8-game win streak before its first loss; then coasted along to an 18-6 record. VU went to the NIT but lost to the Tourney winner St. John's by a score of 75-67. It was, however, the best court season in years for the hoopsters.

Last year proved to be rather successful for the 'Cats who boasted an overall 20-6 record. The 'Cats were ranked as high as sixth by the UP poll and ended the season ranking 9th in the nation on the same poll. It was the season in which Coach Severance gained his 400th win, the 'Cats earned themselves a berth in the NIT, and the talented soph, Hubie White, displayed his abilities to the sports world.

Enter Twenty-fifth Year

And so it is over. 24 years of basketball under the persistant Al Severance. As one can see, there were few losing seasons as his overall record comes out to be 404 wins and 186 losses. Many great players passed through the portals of Villanova court history, but the Arizins, Schafers, Devines, Lords, and the Galias will try to replace them and add to the achievements of the fine hoop history of the past, as we look to a new era of great Villanova basketball.

HOWARD HURT
. . . Dixie Dandy

Scouting Report

Dixie Classic

Villanova will square off agains thighly rated North Carolina State (see below) in the initial contest on the hardwood. The strains of "Dixie" will just about be fading as the "Yankees" from V.U., if successful against North Carolina State, (which they should be!), will take on the victor of the Duke-Wake Forest battle of the giants. Duke this year has an experienced team preparing to take the court whereby Wake Forest is trying to do a rebuilding job since last year's graduation took a heavy toll.

Rounding out the teams in this year's Roundball Classic are; Marquette, which has bench strength which is the extent of its power; Maryland, which is supposed to have one of its usual strong, fast scoring teams; and finally the "Cowboys" of Wyoming, who are reported not to be making the long trip for nothing.

An overall picture of this Dixie spectacle looks very promising, as far as the type of basketball which will be played.

'Cats and Hawks Scrap For Big Five Laurels

This year, as always, the five major teams in the Philadelphia area will be shooting for the "Big Five Championship". The city crown has been annexed by St. Joseph's for the past two seasons with Villanova being co-champs in 1960.

Always in the past the City Series odds have been thrown out the window when a crucial game was up for grabs at the Palestra. This year will be no exception. However, The Villanovan sports desk in this effort will attempt to present at least a fairly accurate picture of the pre-season prospects.

Villanova

At Villanova, Al Severance has the nucleus of last year's NIT quarterfinalists. Last year's big men are missing but Tom Hoover, a 6'9" sophomore, will be a terror under any basket especially if he can control his propensity for fouls. As far as scoring goes Hoover doesn't shoot much since he would rather play defense.

Capable Co-Captains

Getting back to veterans, the Cats have two good ones in guards Jimmy Huggard (5'10"), and Dick Kaminski (6'2"), this year's co-captains. Huggard is the key and on his shoulders falls the task of leadership. When "Hug" is one, he's the best little man in the Big Five.

Co-captain Kaminski is another key that might open the gates to success. His play last year varied from the brilliant to the timid. This year Dick, with a lot of experience under his belt, now seems more steady and self-confident. Kaminski has a deadly outside shot, is a strong driver.

Jack Egan

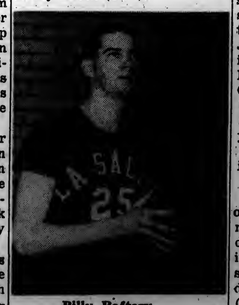
Wonderful White

At the forward posts, Hubie White is expected to star again while Tom Galia, the leading frosh scorer last year, is the other leading candidate.

Hubie can do anything that is possible with a basketball and more. His cat-like reflexes and accurate shooting eye make him a major scoring threat. Under the boards White can get up with men six inches taller than his 6'3" stance. This All-American prospect's one failing is his hesitancy to drive. If he does drive this year, defenses will be hard put to stop him.

Tom Galia, the 6'0" Chester flash, is a definite question mark. The redoubtable Tom can drive, jump, and shoot with the best but is lax at times on defense and teamwork. His quick reflexes and great desire may overcome these, however.

Trying hard to break into this five with be Sophs Bernie Chavis and Jim O'Brien both 6'3", yeoman Tom Samulewicz (6'5"), Dave Severance (6'4"), both seniors, (6'5") junior Joe Walsh, expert backcourt man Bob Liberatore (6'2") and senior Don McGinley (6'11").



For the Wildcats, Hoover and Galia must knit with the veterans quickly for success in the tough Dixie Tournament at Christmas. The depth in the backcourt is sufficient but the situation up front is a poser. On the Mainline this year, the flesh is able, but is the spirit willing?

St. Joseph's

Saint Joseph's, as always, will have a good team. Heading the list of returning veterans are Jack Egan, Frank Majewski, and Vince Kempton. The Hawks, although noticeably weakened by graduation have some talented sophs to cushion the shock. These capable new faces are Jimmy Lynham, Tom Wynne, and Bill Hoy.

Coach Ramsey is hoping that the backcourt load can be ably carried by Lynham and Hoy, who teamed up with Wynne to give the Hawks the best freshman squad in the city last year. The big question mark here is Hoy, who set a St. Joe freshman scoring record with a 21.4 average.

The frontcourt can stand even with anyone in the East with the tough Wynne (6'5"), and Junior Bob Dickey (6'3"), a leaper, backing up Egan (6'5"), Majewski (6'3"), and Kempton (6'8"). Behind these two untested in the backcourt sophs are steady senior Bob Westhead (6'1") and junior sparkplug Harry Booth (5'7").

Billy Raftery

The Hawks use a fast breaking attack which can explode quickly and the new speed could apply the fuse. The threat of long range accuracy is missing but the slack is somewhat taken up by this speed and rebounding strength. The Hawks' overall picture is a pretty one that could carry them back to the NCAA playoffs as well as to a lofty spot in the ECAC Christmas Tournament.

Ed Devery

La Salle

The Explorer's hopes are the cloudiest for the upcoming campaign. Coach Dudley Moore is pessimistic due to lack of height and experience but the silver lining up Olney way is soph sensation Bill Raftery (6'4").

The "ifs" are many for Moore since only three fairly experienced men return and the backcourt situation shows unproven sophomores in key roles. The starting unit appears to be returnees George Fredrick (6'5"), Joe Carey (6'5"), and Raftery in the frontcourt. With Captain Bob McAteer (6'1"), and either Curt Fromal (6'9"), an all State high school selection who averaged 20.8 as a freshman last year, or soph Tony Abbott (5'11") assuming the lead roles in the forcourt.

Untried Reinforcements

The veterans do not loom as outstanding scorewise, since none of the three averaged in double figures last year. The reinforcements are mostly untried sophomores in the persons of defensive ace, Johnny Beck (6'2"), Vince Berry (6'6"), Ed owler (6'4"), a transfer from Virginia Tech, plus lone senior Tim Welsh (6'4").

With the added speed in the backcourt, the Explorers will stress defense. If McAteer and Carey can play well steadily, Fredrich can fullfill the promise he showed as a freshman, and the sophs, especially Raftery, can some through with some decent play; then Coach Moore may have fewer sleepless nights. The many ifs, however, loom heavily.

Penn

The Quakers of Jack McCloskey have a new look this year since many sophs play prominent roles in the hustling attack. With the nucleus of the best freshman team at Penn in many seasons, McCloskey, as always, wil stress hustle and a fast break.

In Bob Milkvy (6'4"), the keystone of the team, Penn has one of the best frontcourt performers in the Big Five. He led the team in rebounds, assists, and scoring last season, proving his versatility and ability.

The Quakers have good balance in the height department. Senior Stew Greenleaf (6'5"), along with sophs Jim Doherty (6'5"), J. D. Graham (6' 4"), and Dave Robinson (6' 5") have respectable size and rebounding ability. They should provide the boards for the speedy guards John Wideman (6' 1") and Sid Amira (6'0") to run the racehorse game that McCloskey plans.

Potent Pair

Wideman and Amira, both sophomores, could develop into a potent duo. The stocky Wide-man, the leading frosh scorer, possesses a deadly eye and is called the best prospect at Penn since Ernie Beck. Amira is hustling playmaker who is a good driver as well. Backing up this pair are veterans John Canzano (6'1") and Dave Kwait (5'11") along with sophs Ron Reagan and Bob Kelly, both 6 footers.

Bob McAteer

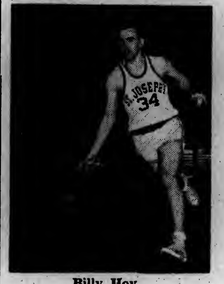
Early Maturity Needed

It is essential that Milkvy take over the leadership status that the departed Joe Cooke assumed during the past season in order to steady the green sophs. If McCloskey can drive these sophs into an early maturity, and the fast break can operate with any degree of potency, Penn fans will have a lot to cheer about in the next four months.



Temple

The Owls this year present to Palestra fans the most experienced first team in the Big Five. Coach Harry Litwack's club had only one casualty in the graduation losses, that being All-American Bill Kennedy.

Drysdale Is New Leader

As in previous years, that big little man is again present in the diminutive person of 5'10" Bruce Drysdale. The pesky backcourt mate of Kennedy's is the new field general at Litwack Tech. Drysdale had a 14.7 average via the combination of a smooth drive and a respectable outside shot.

The other guard position appears to be taken by John Koskinen (5'11") who was a valuable number six man last season. Six-footer Gary Kasmer who led the frosh in scoring with a 19.5 ppg. could be the surprise in the backcourt.

Billy Hoy

Veteran Frontcourt

The frontcourt chores of the Owls will be performed by Gordon who is perhaps the best rebounder and pick man inch for inch in the Big Five and the East. Proctor and Devery are steady but not outstanding ballplayers and their lack of scoring punch could hinder the Temple attack.

In the forecourt, Litwack has some experience in Bernie Ivens (6'2") and Mike Gold (5'10"). Sophs Ken Kramer (6'3"), Bill Purdy (6'5"), and Bruce Fleming (6'5"), a transfer from Lafayette, could help ease the height problem and even be the answer.

Drysdale, Koskinen, and Co. do have the speed to run if these defensive rebounds come in a sufficient number. Gordon and Proctor should take up some of the scoring slack. If one of the tall sophs can work with some efficiency under the basket, the Owls could shake up the Big Five picture and seriously challenge the Hawks in the MAC.

There in a nutshell are the prospects, good, bad, and indifferent.

Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 10 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. DECEMBER 7, 1960

Senior Jim Strazzell's gives a "Johnnie" an authorized demonstration of block building while Kay Kellman, the Villanovan's date, inquires about purchasing a gift for the little fellow during the orphans' outing.

Johnnies Treated To Outing, Orphanage Party By Juniors

The junior class gave the "Johnnies" of St. John's Orphanage a special Christmas treat last Saturday, December 3, as they guided the boys on their annual Christmas outing. Over 200 dads and moms took the 180 orphans around the 69th street shopping area in a day of seasonal joy and excitement.

The day started with a grand tour of department stores including Gimbels, Lits and Penney's. While they visited the shops, the students bought gifts for the orphans. Later, all the Johnnies enjoyed free amusement rides next door to Gimbels, and each Johnny personally talked to Santa Claus during the day.

The group watched a show during a hot roast beef meal at Kosticks, after which they received toys. Lunch was followed by the movie "Gang Busters" which featured the Bowery Boys, and twenty cartoons at the 69th street theater.

Orphanage Show

This day of holiday gaiety for the orphans was financed partly by proceeds from the annual Christmas Charity Ball, given on December 2, and partly by voluntary contributions of Villanova students.

The climax to the orphans' weekend was their annual Christmas party, given yesterday afternoon at the orphanage. The party included entertainment, refreshments, and presentations of individual gifts to every Johnnie by Santa Claus (Jack Foley). Entertainment included Kevin Shay's renowned magic act, the appearance of sport celebrities, and carol singing.

Junior class nurses did the cooking, wrapped the gifts, and acted as hostesses. The decorations included a 30 foot Christmas tree with 1200 lights, stockings, and candy. About 70 Villanovans who participated directly in organizing the Orphans' Weekend were abel to attend the party.

The junior class is donating six hundred dollars to the orphanage's scholarship fund, which periodically sponsors a boy to Villanova.

Valva Warns Students "...Park Properly Or Be Amply Disciplined"

Disciplinary action will definitely be taken against any individual violating the rules in the parking lot, announced Jack Valva, chairman of the Student Union and Special Problems Committee.

The parking problem came to a head this time last year and is just as keen now as it was then, as numerous abuses of parking privileges have recently been revealed, Valva said.

"There is ample room for parking, both on the newly-opened section of the Field House lot and toward the rear and center of the main lot. But students just won't drive a few extra feet. They'll park properly or be amply disciplined," the ample senior threatened.

Too Much of A Hurry

Valva further stated that the reason for this appears to be that "everyone wants to be the first one out of the lot after class, so everyone tries to park as close to the exits as possible."

Students who have been ticketed twice will be subject to disciplinary action. Valva, in commenting on his committee's action on the problem, declared that "both Father McLaughlin and Captain Murphy have been thinking as the committee has in this matter."

"We are sure that, with students aware of the problem, parking abuses will stop, but if they continue, the campus police and the discipline office will work with the committee to curtail violations."

Williams' "Glass Menagerie" Opens Tonite In Vasey Hall

Tennessee William's "The Glass Menagerie" opens tonight in Vasey Hall Theatre for a five night run. Curtain each night is 8:30 p.m. including tonight's special preview in which seminarians, the faculty members and their wives and guests will be admitted free.

Tickets for the play, which runs December 7 through 11, may be purchased in the Pie Shoppe, at the Theatre Office, or from any member of the theatre department. General admission is $1.80. Students and faculty will be admitted at the reduced rate of $1.25.

William's Best

Director Bernard A. Coyne, who also directed last year's graduate productions, "Our Town" and "Twelfth Night," emphasized the goals of a graduate theatre department production: "Audiences will see acting of a professional calibre." In connection with this he said, The Glass Menagerie is easily William's best and we have tried to retain the integrity of the communication of Mr. William's theme."

In the cast are graduate students, Thomas Flynn as Tom, Elizabeth Meagher as Amanda, and Margaret Stein as Laura. Villanova junior, Stanley Moore, will be seen as the "gentleman caller." Mr. Flynn is a graduate of Manhattan College where he appeared in many productions. Miss Meagher, a graduate of Detroit's Marygrove College, is a professional band vocalist, and has made many TV appearances. A native of Chicago, Miss Stein received her BA in drama at Clark College in Dubuque, Iowa. Moore was featured as George Gibbs in last year's "Our Town."

First produced in New York by Eddie Dowling and Louis J. Singer in 1945, The Glass Menagerie represents an earlier and healthier Williams before he became enamoured of the bizarre psycopaths so prominent in his later plays. William's first Broadway play is a drama of four people in a tenement apartment off a St. Louis alley.

The plot concerns a one-time Southern belle (Amanda) with delusions of former grandeur who has few illusions about her errant son, Tom. The menagerie is the collection of glass miniatures which Amanda's crippled, super-sensitive dtughter, Laura, keeps as a hobby as she seeks to find a husband. The "gentleman caller," a friend of Tom with certain marital intensions, walks into Laura's parlor and walks out again, out of her life, doing her more good than harm.

Drama Critics Award

The critics called The Glass Menagerie "eloquent and touching," acclaimed William's dialogue and extra-dimensional characterizations. Williams received the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award for Menagerie in 1945. He received this same award for two of his more earthy plays, in 1948 for "A Streetcar Named Desire," and in 1955 for "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." Williams also received Pulitzer Prizes for drama for the latter two plays.

C. and F. Polls Proposal Defeated Again By 24.5-15

The Student Coucil meeting held last Wednesday was sparked by a debate between Jim Hooker and Charles Laubus, both C & F-er's, on the advisability of multiple polling places on campus. Following a heated exchange between the two, the motion was defeated by a 14-24.5 vote. (More complete coverage of this issue can be found on page two.)

A report on "The Student Council and Its Problem of Communication" set the tone for much of the evening since several motions on the agenda were concerned with the same problem.

The report on the Council's problem of communication was presented by Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs. This report said, in effect, that although Villanova's Student Council has done a good deal of worthwhile work, it is still viewed in an unfavorable light by the administration, faculty, students, and university in general, simply because all are unaware of Council efforts.

Strazzella stated that the communication problem must be tackled on each of these levels. Further, he presented several suggestions to implement his ideas on each level.

Seven Motions

Seven motions involving the publicity and communications problem were made during the meeting, six by Gene Felch, NFCCS senior delegate, and one by Jim Strazzella. Of these "cures for apathy," three were passed, two defeated, and two withdrawn, but only after a lengthy period of debate.

DeLisa Lauds Paper

While discussing publicity, Bob DeLisa, Student Council Chairman, stated, "Incidentally, I'd like to take this opportunity to compliment the Villanovan on the excellent coverage it has given the Student Council this year."

During the course of the evening, the following incidents occurred:

John Simone, Acting President of VISA, was elected as Alternate Delegate for NFCCS.

Bob DeLisa congratulated the Junior Class for their effort in the "Ug'y Man" contest which they sponsored. "I have not seen so much enthusiasm stimulated in the past three years," he stated.

Ouotdoor Graduation?

A program designed to enable day-hops to form car pools was sent to a committee for investigation and implementation.

Chairman DeLisa announced that outdoor graduation has been approved by the Council and is now pending Administration approval. An alternate plan is required in case of bad weather, however, before any approval can be given.

(Photo by Frank Matunis)

Graduate Theater students Margaret Stein (left) and Elizabeth Meagher emote during one of the crucial scenes in Glass Menagerie which opens tonight in Vasey Hall auditorium.

State Legislator Mullin Addresses Pre-Law Society

Senator William V. Mullin addressed the Villanova Pre-Law Society on Thursday of last week. Mr. Mullin spoke on the presidency, which he termed the "most powerful elective office in the world."

SENATOR MULLIN
UNIVAC picked Harry

A delegate to the last five Democratic Conventions, Mr. Mullin discussed the success and failures of their presidential nominees. He related the little known fact that in the 1948 election UNIVAC was the only authority that predicted a Truman victory.

According to the senator, Stevenson was a capable candidate in both tries at the presidency. His defeating factor was his unwillingness to fight for the office. Mullin also stated that the country has gone backwards in the past eight years.

"Today a man runs for president not in the single campaign year but for the whole four years". Mr. Mullin said he thought that John F. Kennedy would run the country to its best interests regardless of cost and will recognize change.

Philosphy Staff Contribute Papers To Many Publications

Besides their role as teachers, many members of Villanova's Philosophy Department have achieved distinction by publications and contributions to various publications.

Professor James Whalen's translation from French into English of Jules LeBreton's "The Spiritual Age of the New Testament," was published by the Newman Press recently.

Dr. O'Brien wrote an article for "The Thomist," a major philosophical periodical, and Dr. Gallagher submitted reviews to the "International Bibliography of Philosophy."

Dr. Anderson has submitted his text book "Natural Theology", written for the Christian Culture and Philosophy Series, to the publisher.

The Very Rev. John Russell, OSA., is completing his translation of three of Saint Augus-Jaques Maritain," a comprehenthe Church Series, of which he is an editor.

Ten-Year Project

Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher are completing "The Achievement of Jacsues Maritain," a comprehensive bibliography with a critical introductory essay, the culmination of a ten year project. They are negotiating with Doubleday and Co. for publication. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher are also preparing the introductions for their translation of the "De Moribus Ecclesiae Catholicae" of Saint Augustine for the Fathers of the Church Series.

Dr. Kluxen has just completed a book in German, "The Foundation of Philosophical Ethics in Saint Thomas Aquinas." He plans to write an article in English based on this work for publication in the "New Scholasticism."

Dr. Dalcourt had two articles accepted for publication by "Dialectica," the international journal of philosophy published in Switzerland, and by the "Catholic Library World."

Co-Editors Announce LYNX To Feature New Cover, 10 Poems

The campus literary production, the LYNX, is scheduled to make its initial 1960-1961 appearance next Tuesday, December 13th. The LYNX is a magzine dedicated to publishing the literary endeavors and offerings of those students at Villanova who have shown exceptional talents.

Vince Kirk, senior co-editor of the magazine, has stated that the issue would include sixty-four pages with vivid illustrations appearing with many of its stories. The issue consists of many articles and poems which should prove to be quite interesting to the Villanova students and faculty. Mike Wesley, the other co-editor, also emphatically acclaimed the numerous poems and the one critical essay among the other various features of the magazine.

New Cover Innovated

"In addition," says Vince Kirk, "an entirely new type of cover in color has been selected, especially when it is compared to those of the past several years. The cover features a soft, conservative background which amply emphasizes the colorful foreground embodying a glass containing several pens, pencils, and paint brushes pointing toward the general direction of the title. We also made another novel innovation when we ventured to install a new stock of paper."

For advance publicity, the staff has pasted the cover on all the major bulletin boards on the campus. Anyone, wishing an opportunity to join the circulation staff, is asked to contact Bill Friend who is in charge of the sale of copies. Moreover, there will be a limited amount of copies available this year. Only 525 editions will be placed on sale and sale will be restricted to the Pie Shoppe. The price per copy is twenty-five cents.

The first issue will feature seven short stories which represent new ideas or which are treated in a novel manner. "Our moderators, Dr. John Phillipson and Mr. James Mitchell," says Vince Kirk, "expect this issue to sell out even more quickly than last spring's publication which were gone in less than two days."

The largest ship sunk by a submarine during WWII was the Japanese carrier Shinano, 62,000 tons, which was sent to the bottom by the USS Archerfish.

Hooker, Labus Breathe Fire

By William Speers

Jim Hooker, Student Council treasurer and Charlie Labus, C and F junior class representative to the Student Council locked jaws last Wednesday night in a heated debate over a Hooker motion to decentralize Villanova voting polls.

The motion was defeated by a roll call vote of 24½-14 following a dramatic plea by Hooker to the council to objectively reconsider the motion after it had been defeated at a previous council meeting three weeks ago and recommended for defeat in last Monday's Senate meeting, by a 6-5 vote.

The idea of decentralizing the polls at Villanova has been introduced almost annually in the Student Council; however, it has been decisively defeated each time.

More recently, former senior class president Sheldon Pollock sought to have polling places installed in the Commerce and Finance Building last year, his fate was that of Hooker's.

C and F Influx

The traditional polling place for class officer elections each Spring has been the Alumni Hall Gymnasium. However, since the completion of the C and F Building and the vast influx of students into our business school, C and F student leaders have avidly sought the institution of permanent polling places in the C and F Building.

Before Hooker approached the podium to speak on the 1960 version of "voting poll decentralization" it appeared that he would be squelched before he started when Labus introduced a motion to drop the poll proposal which he stated "has all been hashed out at the last meeting." The Labus motion was narrowly defeated, however.

With debate limited to five minutes and a set council membership ripe for "nayes" Hooker launched his speech with a fiery last-ditch, desperate tone.

"The Villanova system of voting is based on Democratic principles," shouted the red faced Hooker, "and in this system every one votes, and the majority rules. It is up to us as members of the student government to insure each and every member of the student body the best of all possible opportunities to cast his ballot for his class officers."

Hurls Accusation

Then heaving a brickbat at his opposition, Hooper bluntly asked if those that were against his motion feared defeat in student elections. "My motion is aimed to attain greater student participation in the elections," said Hooker deliberately. "And if it is defeated, we will retain the "bloc vote" that has prevailed here at Villanova, and it would be a vote against the Democratic system."

"However," Hooker continued, "if this motion is adopted, time will heal all wounds and all the hard feelings would blow over, as has happened in the case of the U-2 incident."

Standing and speaking at his own seat in the Congress Labus quickly slashed into Hooker with the accusation that the motion promulgated interest in voting only and not in student government. The bespectacled accounting major threw basic practicalities up to the already decided Council. He pointed out the fact that more voting machines would have to be procured, that more student poll watchers would have to be employed, and that soace limitations in Vasey and Mendel Halls would not allow equal decentralization.

"I believe that all the money that would have to be spent in installing polling machines," uttered Labus sternly, "could be used more wisely on programs that are more beneficial to the student body. We as members of the Student Council do not represent the interest of any one class or one division but are representative of the entire school."

Bathgate Miffed

After the Student Council meeting, both Hooker and Larry Bathgate offered strenuous objection to the final action of the Council. "The decision of the Congress here tonight" stated a disgruntled Bathgate, "will only serve to heighten C and F animosity and we will continue to have the "bloc vote" in the C and F school." Senior class prexy indicated that of the eight officers elected from his class in the last two years six have been C and F students. "They (Council) wouldn't even listen to him (Hooker)" concluded a fed-up Bathgate.

Still steaming from the hot discussion Hooker pounded his fist on a chair and lamented to the VILLANOVAN that he did not "understand why they defeated a motion which would allow greater student opportunity to vote". Before walking out of the East Lounge in a huff Hooker snarled "If they were so set on voting a motion down, why didn't they offer a solution to this decentralization problem. Are they afraid to have more people vote?"

Throughout the post-debate discussion with this reporter the Council treasurer emphasized that he was not representing solely the C and F school in this matter, but the entire University.

Later on in the Dougherty Hall corridor Hooker revealed that on the resumption of school after the Christmas holidays, he was going to introduce into the Student Council a completely new system of Villanova balloting similar to that of the U.S. electoral college.

KOUNCIL KAPERS — Sorry to see the picayuness of two Council members who objected to having the unopposed candidate for alternate delegate to the NFCCS, John Simone, elect-

(Continued on Page 8)

SIR WALTER RALEIGH

Protective Pouch Keeps Tobacco

44% FRESHER!

This protective aluminum foil pouch keeps famous, mild Sir Walter Raleigh 44% fresher than old-fashioned tin cans. The sturdy pouch is triple laminated. Carries flat. Sir Walter Raleigh is choice Kentucky burley—extra aged! Try it.

SMELLS GRAND — PACKS RIGHT!
SMOKES SWEET — CAN'T BITE!

BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION — THE MARK OF QUALITY IN TOBACCO PRODUCTS

Pa. Attorney-General Makes Plea for Prison Clean-Up

By Mark Quinn, Jr.

Before a capacity audience in Garey Hall last Monday night, the Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, Honorable Anne X. Alpern proposed an ambitious five-year experiment in an all-out attempt to make definite improvements in the condition of Pennsylvania jails.

Miss Alpern, who entitled her address "A Realistic Approach to Criminals and Their Treatment", has the distinction of being the first woman lawyer to hold the posiiton of attorney-general in any state.

"There has never been any improvement of jails in Pennsylvania with the exception of juvenile and mental facilities," stated the attorney-general. Then she proceded to explain in detail her two-level five-year program which would include all non-violent crimes.

U. S. Toughest

She proposed that the first level of the experiment encompass three fields: duration of sentence, disparity of sentences and a system of sentencing by a fixed maximum and fixed minimum terms.

With regards to her first point, Miss Alpern stated that "there is no country in the world which gives as long sentences as does the United States." She went on to say that the average sentence for burglary in Europe was 2-3 years while in the United States a comparable crime could be punished by a 20-year sentence.

However, the attorney-general also pointed out that it was not so much the amount of time spent in confinement that was the all-important matter, but rather what the prisoner did with his time.

She also criticized the variety of sentences meted out in the courtrooms by the various judges on similar cases without regard to upholding any from of consistency and castigated the system of minimum and maximums as an "extraordinary almonry which provides no incentive for prisoner rehabilitation."

Seeks Grad Workers

The second level of Miss Alpern's plan was a technical and financial one. She urged college graduates to fill the vast need in the fields of custodial care and social work through foundation grants.

She further proposed that the criminal in prison be taught a trade or be permitted to continue his schooling. Miss Alpern believes that by doing this the criminal's outlook would be vastly changed upon his release.

It is Miss Alpern's general belief that if these an dother reforms are made in our prisons "at least 80% of those who are in jail can be rehabilitated with proper care and treatment, never again to return to prison, once released."

This airplane is actually a flying classroom. The course taught in it is Air Navigation, under real conditions. The students are young men who have been selected as possible future leaders of the Aerospace Team. Graduation after 32 weeks of training will win each of the students the honored silver wings of an Air Force Navigator and an Officer's Commission.

For certain young men, this training can open the way to a bright career of executive potential. Right now the Air Force is scoring impressive technological advances in the fields of navigation, guidance and tracking, electronics and radar. And here is where its highly trained and experienced Navigators will be expected to take over command positions of increasing responsibility.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet, you must be between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. And you must want to build an exciting, interesting career in the Aerospace Age. If you think you measure up, we'd like to talk to you at the nearest Air Force Recruiting Office. Or clip and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

U.S. Air Force

MAIL THIS COUPON TODAY
AVIATION CADET INFORMATION
DEPT. SOL012A
BOX 7608, WASHINGTON 4, D. C.
I am between 19 and 26½, a citizen of the U. S. and a high school graduate with ____ years of college. Please send me detailed information on the Aviation Cadet program.

NAME_____
STREET_____
CITY_____
COUNTY_____ STATE_____

VISA Christmas Party To Be Held Sunday In C&F Cafeteria

The International Christmas Soiree, the Christmas meeting of the Villanova International Student Organization, will be held on Sunday, December 11, in the C & F Cafeteria.

The theme of the combined meeting and party, which begins at 2:30 p.m., will be "Christmas Around the World." Students from the many foreign countries represented on campus and also from the United States will sing some traditional Christmas songs of their native lands.

The program presentation will be diveded into five geographic areas: Central Europe, the Far East, the Middle East, Latin America, and the United States.

Refreshments

Following the entertainment, refreshments will be served and a social afternoon will be held. Admission is free to all students both international and otherwise, according to John Simone, Acting President of VISA. He added that the students of many area schools have also been invited.

VISA, an organization begun under NFCCS auspices, was originated to help the foreign student in the problems he faces in America, and to promote better international understanding.

"The meeting we have planned for Sunday can help to fulfill both purposes of the organization," said Simone. "In addition, it provides an excellent opportunity for students to demonstrate 'Good will toward men' during the Christmas season."

Fabian Okon Speaks

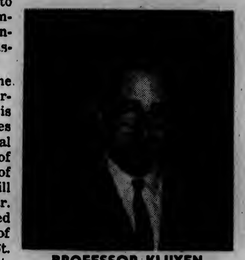
Fabian Okon, a graduate student in the History and Political Science Department and a native Nigerian, recently delivered a talk before the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Catholic Sociology Society. The topic of his discussion was "Nigeria Today."

Portretto

Visiting Fulbright Prof.

Dr. Wolfgang Kluxen, having come to Villanova on a Fulbright grant from the University of Cologne, Germany, is a member of the Philosophy Department as a visiting professor.

He will be here for the scholastic year of 1960-61 to teach graduate courses of Principle and Techniques of Philosophic Research and Introduction to St. Thomas Aquinas. This semester he is also teaching an undergraduate course on the History of Ancient Philosophy.



Assistant director of the Thomas Institute at the University of Cologne, Dr. Kluxen is well known in European circles for his scholarship in medieval philosophy. He is treasurer of the International Congress of Medieval Philosophy, which will meet in September of next year.

Dr. Kluxen has just finished a book on the "Foundation of Philosophical Ethics in St. Thomas Aquinas." At present, Dr. Kluxen is writing a book on Metaphysics, which is a commentary of "De Primo Principio" by Duns Scotus.

Having studied at Bonn, Cologne, and Louvain, Dr. Kluxen also has had a full course in theology. He received his Ph.D. in philosophy on a dissertation on the Jewish Philosophy of the Middle Ages.

Dr. Gallagher, Vice-Chairman of Villanova's Philosophy Dept. met Dr. Kluxen in Louvain. When he was in Brussels in 1953 on a Fullbright grant in Philosophy, Dr. Gallagher visited Dr. Kluxen who is now in the United States for the first time.

When asked for one notable difference between German and American Universities, Dctor Kluxen observed that American Students enter college with a much smaller background in languages. In Germany, all students are required to know three foreign languages before entering a university, and the first two years in a German university are comparable to the last two in an American university. Exams are taken only at the end of the four years, in which time an ambitious student can attain a doctorate.

PROFESSOR KLUXEN
. . . "Seem Attentive

Doctor Kluxen also said American students seemed interested and attentive, and in the United States a greater percentage of the population receives a college education.

Beta Gamma Hosts Debators In First Tournament At V.U.

On Saturday, December 10, the Beta Gamma Debating Society will host the first tournament in its history. The actual debating will be held in the Commerce and Finance Building, beginning at 7 a.m. and proceeding until 4:30 p.m.

At the time of this writing, six local schools have replied affirmatively to the invitation: Holy Family College, College of Mater Misericordiae, the University of Pennsylvania, St. Joseph's College, Temple University, and Rutgers State University.

These schools will be permitted to submit one team to represent them and each will participate in 3 individual rounds. At the conclusion of the day, trophies will be awarded by Beta Gamma President Jim Rhodes to the three most impressive teams.

Men who face wind and weather choose the protection of...

Old Spice
AFTER SHAVE
LOTION

Skin protection, that is. Old Spice refreshes and stimulates, guards against the loss of vital skin moisture. Feels great, too. Brisk, bracing, with that tangy Old Spice scent. It does seem to attract female admirers, but what red-blooded man needs protection against girls? 1.00 plus tax

SHULTON

SPEND YOUR HOLIDAYS IN THE WORLD'S MOST EXCITING CITY

The world's most famous YMCA invites you to its special holiday programs.

Clean, comfortable and inexpensive accommodations for young men and groups of all sizes are available.
Rates: $2.05-$2.40 single; $3.40-$3.80 double.

Write Residence Director for Folder

WILLIAM SLOANE HOUSE Y.M.C.A.
356 West 34th St. (at Ninth Ave.)
New York, N.Y. Phone: Oxford 5-5133
(One Block From Penn Station)

An Appeal

It is extremely unfortuante that The VILLANOVAN must ote the fact that an unpleasant controversy, long thought dead and better left buried, has arisen on campus again. The Treasurer of the Student Council, a C & F'er who has always had the interest of his division at heart, in effect threatened the Council last week with an unavoidable resurrection of the old "C & F cession" movement unless the Council approved a motion to erect polling places in the C & F Building at campus election time this year.

In all the argument over whether or not the business school students have sufficient school spirit to walk that famous two hundred yards from the C & F Building to the traditional Alumni gym polling place, one significant fact seems to be consistenly overlooked: So many C & F students must work to remain in school that the division's schedule is arranged to allow for chiefly morning classes, with afternoons left free for day-hops to work.

Thus, there is no significant question of school spirit involved here. Rather, it is a question of financial feasibility. C & F students, for the most part, literally cannot take the time to walk to Alumni, vote, return to their cars, and get to work on time.

On the other hand, there is a significant argument in favor of Alumni gym as the polling place: the gym is the traditional polling place, more or less neutral ground, and is centrally located on the campus.

If the weight of the two arguments—the one in favor of the C & F students. the other in favor of Alumni gym—cannot be gauged and evaluated, and some progressive program for voting initiated by the Council, perhaps it would be better to maintain the status quo.

In any case, the true concept of a University, especially of a Catholic univesrity, as an integral, united, cohesive organism should remain inviolate. The VILLANOVAN, for the first time in its history, pleads with the Council to take immediate steps to remedy a situation which can only result in almost-dead embers being stirred to a new life which could only produce a dagerous dissolution of essential inter-relationships at Villanova.

Kudos

Kudos to the junior class, and to everyone associated with Orphans' Weekend. No other activity on the part of the student fbody so perfectly exemplifies what should be the motivating spirit behind extra-curricular activities.

Justice and Charity, virtues which should influence every phase of student activity on the campus, reigned supreme during the weekend: in addition, the proverbial good time was had by all.

The few difficulties attendant upon the Ugly Man Contest will, we trust, be eliminated in future years, and the contest will stand with the Joyce Kiely Mile as one of the notable lighter-hearted Villanova traditions.

Despite the Ugly Man difficulties, the Weekend was an overwhelming success. Congratulations from the entire Villanova "family" are in order to junior class President Jim McMonagle and his Orphans Committee for a perfectly planned and executed weekend.

Letters to the Editor Are Your Open Forum . . . . Write Them

Christmas Came Early

I'll see you next year, Johnnies.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

Congratulations are in order to you and your staff for the fine work which has so far been evident in the VILLANOVAN. The appearance of good constructive criticism in the voice of the students is certainly refreshing after the columns of hogwash we have been subjected to in previous years. It is the duty of the newspaper to express the students' opinions and not merely report facts or serve as a medium for quasi-humorists. Keep up the good work!

If I may defend Mr. Conlin's article from Mr. Tighe's reactionary conservatism, I would do so by asking the other students who sympathize with Conlin's views (and they are numerous), to shake off the shackles which have been keeping them from free expression, support him, and encourage him by letters and the like.

Do not mistake me (nor Conlin, I'm sure), as radicals or iconoclasts, but as loyal Villanovans who would like to see certain things improved.

Again, congratulations on the good work and I hope it continues.

Tony Coccia
Junior Arts

To the Editors:

A unique all-day Institute on Law as a Career will be conducted on Saturday, December 10, at the Boston College Law School.

Among the questions to be discussed by experts will be the following: (1) What of the coming shortage of Lawyers (2) Who Should Be a Lawyer? (3) How Should One Interpret a Score on the Law School Admission Test? (4) Is a Legal Education Still The Best Way to Top Executive Positions in Boston?

The all-day seminar, which is open to all college students, will begin at 10:30 with a sample class, followed by a talk by Assistant Dean Daniel T. Coughlin on Opportunities in the Legal Profession. Lunch will follow at which all participants will be guests of the Lew School.

Open Forum

A trial conducted by senior students will be followed by an open forum at which three faculty members and a student representative will discuss every possible question which pre-legal students might have.

All students interested in a career in law are invited to attend this Institute. No reservations are required.

Charlie Straub
Boston College, '62

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove
Charles Simmonds
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Leo G. Treboid
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Mafunis
Business Manager ..... Gary F. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

CAMPUS CAMERA

Do you think that separate divisional polling places for the spring class officer elections would be desirable as opposed to the present system?

I do not feel that seperate polling places are either essential or necessary for the proper election of our class officers. If, however, a greater percentage of the students would vote when this system was used, I would be willing to lend my support.

Kevin Flynn, Psychology, '61

I believe divisional polling is much better than the old form because it will enable the students in each section to vote more suickly, and thereby bring out a greater number of voters. It is also more advantageous than the other system because it is more convenient for the students.

Allan Tolomea, Arts, '64

Maybe in 1970, the campus will be large enough to warrant more than one polling place, but until then, Villanovans should not run the risk of encouraging disinterested students to vote on matters that do not seem to concern them.

Vince Kirk, Math, '61

Our present system of centralized polls is very poor. To many students, especially in the C & F division find it difficult to get to Alumni Hall to vote. If polling places were extended to Mendel, Alumni, and C & F, it would make voting easier for everyone and there would be an increased number of student votes.

Tom Stagliano, IA, '63

Since Villanova has expanded to such a large extent, change has to inevitably occur. That is why I believe that there should be added polling centers. In regular elections, the parties try to facilitate means for the voters to vote and not to cause them reasons to avoid it.

Judy Jones, Nursing, '62

EISENHOWER FUND DEDICATED

Princeton, N. J.—(I.P.)—President Eisenhower's leadership in the world has been honored at Princeton University with the creation of The Dwight D. Eisenhower Fund dedicated "to the preparation of young men for careers in International fields of endeavor and to improved understanding of foreign nations and peoples."

Announcement of the establishment of The Eisenhower Fund, with the express approval of President Eisenhower, was made here by Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton, who reported that an anonymous Princeton family has made a gift of $500,000 to create a permanent fund in recognition of the Eresident's broad interest and constructive influences in world affairs.

"Initially," Dr. Goheen said, "income from The Eisenhower Fund will be used to strengthen our faculty in the field of modern descriptive linguistics as applied to foreign-language teaching, for the study of language, properly conceived and undertaken, is a prime avenue of understanding into the aspirations, the intimate feelings, the thought patterns of others.

Cultural Affairs Calendar

Philadelphia Museum of Art
December 11, Recital: Stringart Quartet, Contemporary Chamber Music Society.
December 11, Prints of the French Renaissance, an illustrated talk by Colin Eisler, New York University Institute of Fine Arts.

* * *

Theatre
Forrest: The World of Suzie Wong.
Shubert: My Fair Lady with Michael Evans and Caroline Dixon.
Erlanger: Wildcat, starring Lucille Ball.
Holy Family College: Jenny Kissed Me. Dec. 9, 10, 11.

* * *

Villanova Grad. Theatre Dept. — Vasey Hall Auditorium
The December 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 8:30 p.m.

The New York Alumni Club

Invites Everyone to Its

CHRISTMAS DANCE

Terrace Suite – Hotel Roosevelt
New York City

Tickets $5.00

Monday Dec. 26; 9 to 1

For tickets and table reservations contact Jim Kelly, 112 Sullivan or Kevin Driscoll, 232 Sheehan.

Orchids For Zany 'Send Me' No Flowers; Wayne Stars

By Stan Gogoj

To take what appears to be a one shot joke and successfully make a two and a half hour comedy out of it is a difficult thing to do but Norman Barasch and Caroll Moore have done just this in "Send Me No Flowers".

Take one hypochondriac who overhears his doctor talking about a dying man and thinks it himself, add some pretty wild neighbors, a pretty wife and an old boyfriend and you can foresee some of the results. Although some of the situations are obvious they do prove fun.

Witness the scene in which the "doomed man" talks to a happy-go-lucky cemetery lot salesman (he likes people) and when told that all the tombstones must be four feet high only, replies that it must be like an after-life Levittown. Or, take the scene when he decides to marry off his wife with her old boyfriend, or he confesses to the unfaithfulness that his wife accuses him of to clear the air, all these seem fairly wild and improbable but in the context of the show prove very funny.

Wayne As Hypochondriac

In the chief role of the hypochondriac we have a very talented David Wayne. Like Jack Benny, his one look in certain situations is worth a thousand words. His comedy talents add immeasurably to the show. It's a pleasure to see him back on the scene.

Co-starring with Mr. Wayne is the very pretty Nancy Olson. Portraying his wife she registers just the proper amount of reaction to her wild husband and forms a perfect balance to his actions. Like Mr. Wayne and the rest of the cast she seems to have a lot of fun in the role, a spirit which adds to the enjoyment of the audience.

The supporting cast is also excellent. Frank Merlin as the Doctor causes laughter with just an appearance on the stage. Heywood Hale Broun as the cemetary lot salesmen is just wild enough and Richard McMurray and Peter Turgeon develop their supporting roles well.

Direction by James Dyas is sufficiently light to keep things moving at a funny pace. Scenery by Frederick Fox is appealing and serves well in the difficult daydream scenes.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

If you have been reading this column—and I hope you have; I mean I genuinely and sincerely hope so; I mean it does not profit me one farthing whether you read this column or not; I mean I am paid every week by the makers of Marlboro and my stipend is not altered in any particular by the number of people who read or fail to read this column—an act of generosity totally typical, you would say, if you knew the makers of Marlboro as I know the makers of Marlboro; I mean here are tobacconists gray at the temples and full of honors who approach their art as ingenuously, as eagerly, as trustingly as the youngest and most innocent of practitioners; I mean the purpose of the Marlboro makers is simply to put the best of all possible filters behind the best of all possible tobaccos and then go, head high, into the market place with their product, confident that the inborn sense of right and wrong, of good and bad, of shoddy and meritorious, which is the birthright of every American, will result in a modest return to themselves for their long hours and dedicated labors—not, let me hasten to add, that money is of prime consideration to the makers of Marlboro; all these simple men require is plain, nourishing food, plenty of Marlboros, and the knowledge they have scattered a bit of sunshine into the lives of smokers everywhere: if, I say, you have been reading this column, you may remember that last week we started a discussion of what to give our friends for Christmas.

The first president with power steering

We agreed, of course, to give cartons of Marlboro to everyone we know or would like to know. Today let us look into some other welcome gifts.

Do you know someone who is interested in American history? If so, he will surely appreciate a statuette of Millard Fillmore with a clock in the stomach. (Mr. Fillmore, incidentally, was the only American president with a clock in his stomach. James K. Polk had a stemwinder in his head and William Henry Harrison chimed the quarter-hour, but only Mr. Fillmore, of all our chief executives, had a clock in his stomach. Franklin Pierce had a sweep second hand and Zachary Taylor had seventeen jewels and Martin Van Buren ticked, but, I repeat, Mr. Fillmore, and Mr. Fillmore alone, had a clock in his stomach. Some say that Mr. Fillmore was also the first president with power steering, but most historians assign this distinction to Chester A. Arthur. However, it has been established beyond a doubt that Mr. Fillmore was the first president with central heating. No wonder they called him Old Hickory!)

But I digress. To get back to welcome and unusual Christmas gifts, here's one that's sure to please—a gift certificate from the American Chiropractic Society. Accompanying each certificate is this fetching little poem:

Merry Christmas, Happy New Year,
Joyous sacro-iliac!
May your spine forever shine,
Blessings on your aching back.
May your lumbar ne'er grow number,
May your backbone ne'er dislodge,
May your caudal never dawdle,
Joyeux Noel! Heureux massage!

© 1960 Max Shulman

* * *

And greetings of the season from Marlboro's newest partner in pleasure, the unfiltered, all-new, king-size Philip Morris Commander. At Yuletide, at any tide, welcome aboard!

An Appeal

It is extremely unfortuante that The VILLANOVAN must ote the fact that an unpleasant controversy, long thought dead and better left buried, has arisen on campus again. The Treasurer of the Student Council, a C & F'er who has always had the interest of his division at heart, in effect threatened the Council last week with an unavoidable resurrection of the old "C & F cession" movement unless the Council approved a motion to erect polling places in the C & F Building at campus election time this year.

In all the argument over whether or not the business school students have sufficient school spirit to walk that famous two hundred yards from the C & F Building to the traditional Alumni gym polling place, one significant fact seems to be consistenly overlcoked: So many C & F students must work to remain in school that the division's schedule is arranged to allow for chiefly morning classes, with afternoons left free for day-hops to work.

Thus, there is no significant question of school spirit involved here. Rather, it is a question of financial feasibility. C & F students, for the most part, literally cannot take the time to walk to Alumni, vote, return to their cars, and get to work on time.

On the other hand, there is a significant argument in favor of Alumni gym as the polling place: the gym is the traditional polling place, more or less neutral ground, and is centrally located on the campus.

If the weight of the two arguments—the one in favor of the C & F students, the other in favor of Alumni gym—cannot be gauged and evaluated, and some progressive program for voting initiated by the Council, perhaps it would be better to maintain the status quo.

In any case, the true concept of a University, especially of a Catholic univesrity, as an integral, united, cohesive organism should remain inviolate. The VILLANOVAN, for the first time in its history, pleads with the Council to take immediate steps to remedy a situation which can only result in almost-dead embers being stirred to a new life which could only produce a dagerous dissolution of essential inter-relationships at Villanova.

Kudos

Kudos to the junior class, and to everyone associated with Orphans' Weekend. No other activity on the part of the student fbody so perfectly exemplifies what should be the motivating spirit behind extra-curricular activities.

Justice and Charity, virtues which should influence every phase of student activity on the campus, reigned supreme during the weekend: in addition, the proverbial good time was had by all.

The few difficulties attendant upon the Ugly Man Contest will, we trust, be eliminated in future years, and the contest will stand with the Joyce Kiely Mile as one of the notable lighter-hearted Villanova traditions.

Despite the Ugly Man difficulties, the Weekend was an overwhelming success. Congratulations from the entire Villanova "family" are in order to junior class President Jim McMonagle and his Orphans Committee for a perfectly planned and executed weekend.

Letters to the Editor Are Your Open Forum . . . . Write Them

Christmas Came Early

I'll see you next year, Johnnies.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

Congratulations are in order to you and your staff for the fine work which has so far been evident in the VILLANOVAN. The appearance of good constructive criticism in the voice of the students is certainly refreshing after the columns of hogwash we have been subjected to in previous years. It is the duty of the newspaper to express the students' opinions and not merely report facts or serve as a medium for quasi-humorists. Keep up the good work!

If I may defend Mr. Conlin's article from Mr. Tighe's reactionary conservatism, I would do so by asking the other students who sympathize with Conlin's views (and they are numerous), to shake off the shackles which have been keeping them from free expression, support him, and encourage him by letters and the like.

Do not mistake me (nor Conlin, I'm sure), as radicals or iconoclasts, but as loyal Villanovans who would like to see certain things improved.

Again, congratulations on the good work and I hope it continues.

Tony Coccia
Junior Arts

To the Editors:

A unique all-day Institute on Law as a Career will be conducted on Saturday, December 10, at the Boston College Law School.

Among the questions to be discussed by experts will be the following: (1) What of the coming shortage of Lawyers (2) Who Should Be a Lawyer? (3) How Should One Interpret a Score on the Law School Admission Test? (4) Is a Legal Education Still The Best Way to Top Executive Positions in Boston?

The all-day seminar, which is open to all college students, will begin at 10:30 with a sample class, followed by a talk by Assistant Dean Daniel T. Coughlin on Opportunities in the Legal Profession. Lunch will follow at which all participants will be guests of the Lew School.

Open Forum

A trial conducted by senior students will be followed by an open forum at which three faculty members and a student representative will discuss every possible question which pre-legal students might have.

All students interested in a career in law are invited to attend this Institute. No reservations are required.

Charlie Straub
Boston College, '62

Villanovan

VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove, Charles Simmonds
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello, Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore, Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

CAMPUS CAMERA

Do you think that separate divisional polling places for the spring class officer elections would be desirable as opposed to the present system?

I do not feel that seperate polling places are either essential or necessary for the proper election of our class officers. If, however, a greater percentage of the students would vote when this system was used, I would be willing to lend my support.

Kevin Flynn, Psychology, '61

I believe divisional polling is much better than the old form because it will enable the students in each section to vote more suickly, and thereby bring out a greater number of voters. It is also more advantageous than the other system because it is more convenient for the students.

Allan Tolomea, Arts, '64

Maybe in 1970, the campus will be large enough to warrant more than one polling place, but until then, Villanovans should not run the risk of encouraging disinterested students to vote on matters that do not seem to concern them.

Vince Kirk, Math, '61

Our present system of centralized polls is very poor. To many students, especially in the C & F division find it difficult to get to Alumni Hall to vote. If polling places were extended to Mendel, Alumni, and C & F, it would make voting easier for everyone and there would be an increased number of student votes.

Tom Stagliano, IA, '63

Since Villanova has expanded to such a large extent, change has to inevitably occur. That is why I believe that there should be added polling centers. In regular elections, the parties try to facilitate means for the voters to vote and not to cause them reasons to avoid it.

Judy Jones, Nursing, '62

EISENHOWER FUND DEDICATED

Princeton, N. J.—(I.P.)—President Eisenhower's leadership in the world has been honored at Princeton University with the creation of The Dwight D. Eisenhower Fund dedicated "to the preparation of young men for careers in International fields of endeavor and to improved understanding of foreign nations and peoples."

Announcement of the establishment of The Eisenhower Fund, with the express approval of President Eisenhower, was made here by Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton, who reported that an anonymous Princeton family has made a gift of $500,000 to create a permanent fund in recognition of the Eresident's broad interest and constructive influences in world affairs.

"Initially," Dr. Goheen said, "income from The Eisenhower Fund will be used to strengthen our faculty in the field of modern descriptive linguistics as applied to foreign-language teaching, for the study of language, properly conceived and undertaken, is a prime avenue of understanding into the aspirations, the intimate feelings, the thought patterns of others.

Cultural Affairs Calendar

Philadelphia Museum of Art
December 11, Recital: Stringart Quartet, Contemporary Chamber Music Society.
December 11, Prints of the French Renaissance, an illustrated talk by Colin Eisler, New York University Institute of Fine Arts.

* * *

Theatre
Forrest: The World of Suzie Wong.
Shubert: My Fair Lady with Michael Evans and Caroline Dixon.
Erlanger: Wildcat, starring Lucille Ball.
Holy Family College: Jenny Kissed Me. Dec. 9, 10, 11.

* * *

Villanova Grad. Theatre Dept. — Vasey Hall Auditorium
The December 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 8:30 p.m.

The New York Alumni Club

Invites Everyone to Its

CHRISTMAS DANCE

Terrace Suite – Hotel Roosevelt
New York City

Tickets $5.00

Monday Dec. 26; 9 to 1

For tickets and table reservations contact Jim Kelly, 112 Sullivan or Kevin Driscoll, 232 Sheehan.

Orchids For Zany 'Send Me' No Flowers; Wayne Stars

By Stan Gogoj

To take what appears to be a one shot joke and successfully make a two and a half hour comedy out of it is a difficult thing to do but Norman Barasch and Caroll Moore have done just this in "Send Me No Flowers".

Take one hypochondriac who overhears his doctor talking about a dying man and thinks it himself, add some pretty wild neighbors, a pretty wife and an old boyfriend and you can forsee some of the results. Although some of the situations are obvious they do prove fun.

Witness the scene in which the "doomed man" talks to a happy-go-lucky cemetery lot salesman (he likes people) and when told that all the tombstones must be four feet high only, replies that it must be like an after-life Levittown. Or, take the scene when he decides to marry off his wife with her old boyfriend, or he confesses to the unfaithfulness that his wife accuses him of to clear the air, all these seem fairly wild and improbable but in the context of the show prove very funny.

Wayne As Hypochondriac

In the chief role of the hypochondriac we have a very talented David Wayne. Like Jack Benny, his one look in certain situations is worth a thousand words. His comedy talents add immeasurably to the show. It's a pleasure to see him back on the scene.

Co-starring with Mr. Wayne is the very pretty Nancy Olson. Portraying his wife she registers just the proper amount of reaction to her wild husband and forms a perfect balance to his actions. Like Mr. Wayne and the rest of the cast she seems to have a lot of fun in the role, a spirit which adds to the enjoyment of the audience.

The supporting cast is also excellent. Frank Merlin as the Doctor causes laughter with just an appearance on the stage. Heywood Hale Broun as the cemetary lot salesmen is just wild enough and Richard McMurray and Peter Turgeon develop their supporting roles well.

Direction by James Dyas is sufficiently light to keep things moving at a funny pace. Scenery by Frederick Fox is appealing and serves well in the difficult daydream scenes.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

If you have been reading this column—and I hope you have; I mean I genuinely and sincerely hope so; I mean it does not profit me one farthing whether you read this column or not; I mean I am paid every week by the makers of Marlboro and my stipend is not altered in any particular by the number of people who read or fail to read this column—an act of generosity totally typical, you would say, if you knew the makers of Marlboro as I know the makers of Marlboro; I mean here are tobacconists gray at the temples and full of honors who approach their art as ingenuously, as eagerly, as trustingly as the youngest and most innocent of practitioners; I mean the purpose of the Marlboro makers is simply to put the best of all possible filters behind the best of all possible tobaccos and then go, head high, into the market place with their product, confident that the inborn sense of right and wrong, of good and bad, of shoddy and meritorious, which is the birthright of every American, will result in a modest return to themselves for their long hours and dedicated labors—not, let me hasten to add, that money is of prime consideration to the makers of Marlboro; all these simple men require is plain, nourishing food, plenty of Marlboros, and the knowledge they have scattered a bit of sunshine into the lives of smokers everywhere: if, I say, you have been reading this column, you may remember that last week we started a discussion of what to give our friends for Christmas.

The first president with power steering

We agreed, of course, to give cartons of Marlboro to everyone we know or would like to know. Today let us look into some other welcome gifts.

Do you know someone who is interested in American history? If so, he will surely appreciate a statuette of Millard Fillmore with a clock in the stomach. (Mr. Fillmore, incidentally, was the only American president with a clock in his stomach. James K. Polk had a stemwinder in his head and William Henry Harrison chimed the quarter-hour, but only Mr. Fillmore, of all our chief executives, had a clock in his stomach. Franklin Pierce had a sweep second hand and Zachary Taylor had seventeen jewels and Martin Van Buren ticked, but, I repeat, Mr. Fillmore, and Mr. Fillmore alone, had a clock in his stomach. Some say that Mr. Fillmore was also the first president with power steering, but most historians assign this distinction to Chester A. Arthur. However, it has been established beyond a doubt that Mr. Fillmore was the first president with central heating. No wonder they called him Old Hickory!)

But I digress. To get back to welcome and unusual Christmas gifts, here's one that's sure to please—a gift certificate from the American Chiropractic Society. Accompanying each certificate is this fetching little poem:

Merry Christmas, Happy New Year,
Joyous sacro-iliac!
May your spine forever shine,
Blessings on your aching back.
May your lumbar ne'er grow number,
May your backbone ne'er dislodge,
May your caudal never dawdle,
Joyeux Noel! Heureux massage!

© 1960 Max Shulman

* * *

And greetings of the season from Marlboro's newest partner in pleasure, the unfiltered, all-new, king-size Philip Morris Commander. At Yuletide, at any tide, welcome aboard!

"War Is A Terrible Thing" Or "Let Us All Be Friends"

By Al LaMastra

World War II ended fifteen years ago, but the perennial war film never fails to revive every aspect of the five-year nightmare. From 1941 to 1947 the film industry concenterated on the war itself. "Bataan," "Guadalcanal Diary," "Purple Heart" and "Cross of Lorraine" provide wholesome propagandist entertainment for all the Jacks and Jills who stayed at home and out of the trenches.

Following the war years and redevelopment period, the theatres of American were flooded with dozens of oanal tintypes of the above motion pictures and were also introduced to the psychological war film ("Hope of the Brave," "The Men," "To Hell and Back").

Today, producers and directors, realizing that these approaches to war are old hat and that even Korea has become another name on the globe, have finally found a way to drag the skeleton out of the closet, while no longer hurting the feelings of our wartime enemies (now friends), and above all, making sure of the foreign purchasing power of a film. It looks as if, Dino Di Laurentis ("War and Peace," "Tempest") has taken the lead in this latest trend with the introduction of Paramount's "Under Ten Flags" to the nabes.

Fundamentally Sound

Fundamentally this World War II action drama is a very sound film. Based on a true story of a German naval captain of a surface raider (excellently portrayed by Van Heflin), who preyed on Allied and neutral ships traveling the high seas, the melodrama runs fast and furious with nary a dull moment on the screen. His war of nerves with the British admiralty, magnificently represented in the always welcome presence of the great Charles Laughton, comes off well and the audience is soon absorbed in the simultaneously running intense counterplots. It is in the incredible and unbelievable plot twists that this film falls flat.

Di Laurentis has produced a solid and slick package of entertainment but in his desire for good box-office returns, he has stretched the original true story to the point of breaking, while making sure he has not hurt the feelings of any war veterans in the audience who might remember what "over there" was really like. His philosophy follows. The German nation is no longer an enemy. Nazism is dead and they are our friends. Why outrage them with the truth?

The Nazi naval captain must do his job. He is really a friend and it is too bad that all the "meanies" in the world misunderstand him. He doesn't really want to sink ships and the sight of blood repulses him. That is the "real" reason why the benevolent Fuhrer will make him an Admiral in charge of genocide next month. He loves everyone, especially Jewish war prisoners whom he treats with the utmost of courtesy and respect; and heaven help the crew if a tiny chigger or tick is found in a freshly linened day bed supplied for the comfortable journey of all war prisoners.

Pearl Harbor Dump?

Let's just hope this joke isn't carried too far or next month they'll be telling us that the Japanese thought Pearl Harbor was really an ammunition dump for the war surplus, created when China and Southeast Asia decided to become good neighbors to Japan in 1939. I wonder who the absent minded plumber was that accidentally crossed the water piper with the gas pipe at Buchenwald? Can fifteen years change the attitude of a nation that much?

Sounding Off

Although the quality of motion pictures to be shown on campus this year has improved ("Giant," "The Robe"), the fact still remains that such programming is still far behind that of the average colleges and universities in the local area or in the nation for that matter.

It seems that the Villanova Entertainment Committee is purposely funneling past "box-office bonanzas" into Vasey Auditorium because as they might say: "the student body of Villanova University isn't capable of appreciating anything else." In other words our intellect is capable of grasping suggestive comedy ("Don't Go Near the Water") and plasma-dripping war stories ("Hell To Eternity"); but as far as the real screen classics are concerned, we just won't spend the $.50 (so badly needed by the Entertainment Committee) for admission to the auditorium.

"Julius Caesar," "Lili," "The Brothers Karamazov," "Show Boats," "Lust For Life," "American in Paris," "Quo Vadis," "Richard III," and dozens of other films can be enjoyed in hundreds of institutions from the University of San Francisco to Newark State Teachers College, and can be played to paying capacity customers; but our "Motion Picture Service" must wait another twenty years while Villanova students learn to appreciate the Classics. Is that so? or Is that so!

Physics Talk Slated

Mr. Robert A. Tracy, manager of the Applied Science Department of Burroughs Corporation, Paoli, Pa., will speak to the Villanova Chapter of the American Institute of Physics on Thursday, December 15 at 10:30 a.m. in the Physics Lab located on the fourth floor of Mendel Hall. Mr. Tracy's topic will be "Magnetic Research."

Part Time
$200 a Month Salary

Sell Min-max, new teaching machine for students. Ten men needed for promotion and demonstration of this new machie. Must be available four evenings per week from 6-9 p.m. No selling experience necessary. Auto supplied.

Call Mr. Carroll, TR 7-3020
MI 9-3020

Speeritualism

"Ugly" Contest - Tradition?

By Bill Speers

One complaint frequently made of Villanova by thinking-students both on and off campus, is our lack of student unity. The outsider sees this dearth at athletic contests and as students we see it thwarting sometime — noble endeavors by our student government or splitting an already divided campus.

SPEERS

Once in a while, but o' so rarely, something will glitter over the horizon, that has promise of accomplishing some semblance of VU student body unity.

We believe that the Joyce Kiely Mile is such an example. Run by the three campus fraternities, the Mile is a Villanova student activity in the true sense—run for, by, and with VU students.

Last week we witnessed here once again this elusive unifying spirit in the Ugly Man Contest initiated and executed by the junior class.

Unfortunately, there were a couple of isolated cases of student-faculty displeasure concerning both the entry of certain names in the contest and the advisibility of conducting such a contest that could possibly be construed as offensive.

We say unfortunately for any cries of antipathy or "foul" can only serve to impede the continuation of the contest in the future; especially now, in its infant stage.

As to the contest's being generally offensive, we can only ask that one objectively consider the sight of a burly, cilia-legged, mop-headed, replica of a girl, complete with a balooned 98½ inch bust, boldly streaking through the campus gayly waving to all in sight atop the back seat of an opened car, and attempt to think of it as anything but offensive.

Yet every fall for the past five years this spectacle has taken place at Villanova and has been laughed up by student and faculty, alike and shows promise of becoming a great Villanova tradition.

This is because the Joyce Kiely Mile is participated in the spirit in which it was intended and is taken no more seriously than a glass of water. Such should be the spirit in which the Ugly Man Contest be taken.

Undoubtedly, in the first days of the contest there was a definite tinge of antimosity among the voters toward the candidates, but it is also our belief that any animosity evident toward the close of the contest was fostered by these certain candidates themselves when voter antagonism had all but disappeared.

(Continued on Page 7)

Marking another Milestone

Rich in history and rich in promise, too – that's York County, Pennsylvania.

And the telephone company covering this prosperous and progressive community has recently become a member of the General Telephone family.

York's pattern of growth is typical of the areas Gen Tel serves in 31 states. Long famous for its fertile fields and well-kept farms, the county has enjoyed a remarkable industrial expansion since World War II.

Typical, too, of these growing areas is their growing need for more telephones. And that is where Gen Tel comes in with the experience to provide improved service and the willingness to invest in modern communications equipment.

This is just one of the ways we are working to supply more and better telephone service for a growing America – present and future.

GENERAL TELEPHONE & ELECTRONICS

'Round Midnight

Movies ARE Better Than Ever; Foreign Ones, That Is

By Joe Zawacki

A few years ago, the threat of the "idiot box" threw the movie distributors of America into a panic. New devices were sought to bring the lost patrons out of their living room tombs and as in all crusades, a motto was found at the front where it could easily be waved at us like a flag. This slogan, as almost everyone knows, was the heart-rendering cry of the money makers, "Movies are better than ever."

'I'M ALL RIGHT JACK.' Ian Carmichael (right) and Peter Sellers

In line with this amusing bit of propaganda, "B" pictures were virtually eliminated and more money was spent on bigger pictures. Bigger, that is, in cost, not quality; hence such marathon ache - producers as "Ben-Hur", "Spartacus", and "The Alamo". The producers even saw to it that "Ben Hur" set a new record for Academy Awards in sweeping almost everything but Wilt Chamberlain's foul-shooting trophies at last year's fiasco. Of course, no one took the time to mention that "Big Ben" ran out of gas (after the chariot race) for everyone except those equipped with built-in reservoirs of tears.

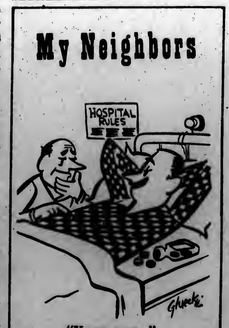
★ ★ ★

Now with all this blaring of trumpets and public relations trash, you no longer see important pictures at regular prices and in continuous shows. Oh no! It costs more money to make bigger stinkers so charge the suckers more cash and get them to believe that if they don't shell out $2.05 for our orgy that they will not only be missing the event of their lives, but they will also be squares. Ergo, you get a bunch of clowns who just have to be "in" and P. T. Barnum's theory gets proven again.

However, all is not lost, for the minority is not to be denied. The "voice in the wilderness" still has a chance to be heard (if he shouts loud enough). Like all ponderous monsters, the Hollywood giants have made a fatal mistake. They have underestimated the enemy, for despite all the hullaballo, attendance continues to dwindle and movies still lose money by the bushel. Why? It's elementary. All the money in the world is not going to create quality that isn't there, and it is here that Hollywood exposes its Achilles Heel.

★ ★ ★

Just as in politics, it is our overseas competition that is taking advantage of our stupidity, and it is here that the movie-goer who cares will find his elixir, namely, quality. In 1952, when a genius named Guinness captured the fancy of the Art House devotees with a sprightly romp entitled "The Lavender Hill Mob", the foreign moguls suddenly realized that there was a sizable market in "Disneyland" for their relatively low-cost pictures.



And how far has this revolt progressed? Well, it's only one person's opinion but a week ago, Mildred Martin of the Inquirer picked her annual Top Ten and this writer was most surprised to find that seven of these ten were foreignmade. Now ordinarily, this corner stays clear of "top ten" lists because they too often reflect a person's arbitrary taste. But take note again that the percentage was 7 out of 10, and this from a hard-boiled critic who has seen more than a few movies.

Where does this leave you and me? Well, if you're mature enough to want more for your money than Hollywood's comedies which must depend on sex for laughter ("The Apartment"), or their dramas which have slipped so low as to include incest ("Suddenly Last Summer"), or their horrendous war-films, in which you can't hear the bombs through the cliches ("All The Young Men"), then take the time to be more discriminate. If you want trash, there's always TV. But if you're going to spend money, for your own sake, get your money's worth.

★ ★ ★

The foregoing is not meant to lead you to believe that Hollywood cannot produce anything worthwhile. On the contrary, we can look back on the past year and find much to be satisfied with in the likes of the memorable "On The Beach", depressing though it may have been. Also "The Dark At The Top Of The Stairs", "The Magnificent Seven" and more recently, "Inherit The Wind".

But is this not comparable to drops in the stream when compared to the seemingly endless succession of brilliant British satires that weave their merry way into the Green Hill (eg, "I'm All Right, Jack" and the current "Left, Right, and Centre") Or to just mention a few due to lack of space, how about the delightful Belgian documentary, "Masters Of The Congo Jungle", which even gave old Uncle Walt himself a lesson in the filming of true-life films. And from Greece, the American exile Jules Dassin sent us the poignant "Never On Sunday", a lecture against would-be do-gooders, which Dassin wrote, produced, directed, and starred in. Finally from Britain, two of the finest performances of the year in Alec Guinness' spy in "Our Man In Havana" and Laurence Harvey's brilliant heel in the colorful "Expresso Bongo".

"Your move."

Speeritualism

Contest Possible Tradition

(Continued from Page 6)

While we take strong exception to those individuals (voters and candidates) who attempted to transform the contest into a personal battleground, we don't believe that that early feeling is representative of the overall spirit in which the contest was conducted and should be passed off as first year growing pains.

The concept of an Ugly Man Contest is nothing new. A glance at the many exchange newspapers that flow into the VILLANOVAN office daily reveals that many other colleges throuhout the country conduct similar contests and that the usual translation of the word "ugly" in regard to this contest is popular.

A too literal interpretation of the word "ugly", we believe, lies somewhere at the root of the contest's troubles this year.

Interpretation is an important factor in this contest and we don't think that the spirit of the contest was more aptly translated than by the football players who canvassed he dorms last Thursday night and collected a sum reported in excess of $50, in an attempt to put their favorite over the top.

Their effort was in the true spirit of the contest and preceding from it we envisioned that in coming years each club and group on campus will boost their own candidates in an attempt to cap the "Ugly" trophy.

Through spirit of this caliber, we can attain the student unity missed here on campus so badly.

If we have failed to mention the fact that all proceeds from the contest go to charity, it is because we believe this fact to be irrelevant when dealing with the desirbility and the ethics of the contest itself.

Our only suggestion for the future running of the contest would be to exclude administration and faculty members and restrict candidacy to the students.

★ ★ ★

GNUVOB . . . We see where the eternally vigilant American Civil Liberties Union is seeking to abolish the singing of Christmas Carols in public school classrooms around the country . . . We suppose the ultimate move by the Union someday, will be to confiscate from every mint all coin presses bearing "In God We Trust" tie them to the feet of Irving Berlin for writing "God Bless America" and cast off the edge of Mt. McKinley to the tune of a tenor sax solo of the national anthem by a navajo Indian.

how to get a head

It's easy to make headway (female-wise, campus-wise and every-wise) if you use 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic . . . made specially for men who use water with their hair tonic. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic's 100% pure, light grooming oil replaces oil that water removes. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic will not evaporate . . . will remain clear and clean. And just a little does a lot!

IT'S CLEAR ♪ ♫
IT'S CLEAN IT'S

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC

Opinion Magazine To Foster Serious Student Thought

The founders of the new "idea" magazine, Frank McCormick, Frank Battaglia, and Joe Mastromato, have announced definite plans which are hoped will become a reality in a polished literary production issued sometime after the mid-semester break.

"At the current time," asserts McCormick, "the format of the magazine will be similar to that of America or The National Review and will probably contain from thirty to forty pages." The deadline for material is now tentatively set for the fourth of January which would, according to McCormick, "give any interested student the required time to complete any necessary research for their article." He also stressed the fact that the ideas would have to come from the students themselves and that they should concern themselves with a subject in which they are particularly interested.

Organizational Meeting

An organizational meeting will be held on next Monday, December 12th, for all prospective writers and personnel. All prepared material may be submitted at this meeting. The only criteria for acceptance would be that they contain ideas of interest to most Villanovans and that the subject be carefully investigated and expertly presented.

The primary purpose of this magazine is to stimulate the thinking of the Villanova Student Body by presenting to it worthwhile and interesting ideas. In reference to material, McCormick also states, "his magazine must not be a haven for old term papers but must seriously endeavor to be written expertly enough to arrest and hold the reader's attention."

"Thus far," emphasizes McCormick, "our publication has received the approval of the administration and the enthusiastic support of a number of faculty members, in particular Dr. O'Shea, Dr. Rofinot, and Mr. McGowen who have also been appointed as our activity moderators."

Three Johnnies examine gifts heaped upon them at Gimbels by their "dates" for the day.

Council

(Continued from Page 2)

ed by acclamation . . . "Not big enough," they said, "for acclamation" . . . small, boys, small . . . Glad to see Bob DeLisa can his cud cutting after the first few minutes of the meeting . . . wonder if he stuck it underneath the podium . . . Lloyd Nery caught reading the stock quotations . . . also Joe Remy caught studiously scanning Robert's Rules of Order at the outset of the meeting . . . must have anticipated the subtle bedlam later on in the meeting . . . Gene Felch may not have been the best dressed of the evening but in his Peruvian style shirt-jacket he certainly was the most colorful . . . meeting brightened by appearance of Mrs. Bob Scalia . . . excellent report compiled and read by Jim Strazella on the Student Council communication problem with Administration, faculty, and students . . . liked especially his idea on a VILLANOVAN series on history and function of the Student Government . . . however, we would need better than fifty per cent cooperation from the Council if the series is ever to become a reality . . . DeLisa needled throughout evening by thorn named Williams . . . unfortunate that Frank Carolan had to admonish himself and the Council for "the disgraceful performance here tonight" . . . but o' tis true, tis true . . . Gene Felch's average is improving . . . in the Senate meeting, out of his six motions, five were recommended for defeat, however, at the Congress meeting, only four of these were nixed . . . keep it up, Gene . . . despite all the hot air that has emitted during the course of the nearly three-hour meeting, the East Lounge drafts still iced one's toes.

Tutor Program Goes Into Effect Sometime Next Week

The Student Tutor Association will be in full time operation early next week, according to Charlie Laubus, co-ordinator of the Association.

At the present time Laubus and his committee are arranging schedules for the tutors and the students who request their assistance.

The main purpose of the tutor program is to provide students who are having difficulty in a particular subject with the necessary help which will assist them in passing.

Laubus emphasized that this service is free of charge and is given on a confidential basis. He added that any student desiring to tutor or who is seeking help, may sign up for the program at a table set up in Dougherty Hall on Friday, December 9.

After this Friday, anyone desiring to sign up should contact Jim Stradzela in 319 Sheehan, Charlie Laubus in 323 Sheehan or inquire in the Student Council Office, 2nd floor of Dougherty Hall.

★ ★ ★

Laubus continued, "Whenever the student feels that he has received sufficient aid he may discontinue the tutoring. No tutoring will be given within two weeks of semester exams, unless it is agreeable to both the student and the tutor."

He concluded that the organization was created with the belief that better understanding can sometimes come through a person closer in age—a fellow student.

The primary goal of the tutor is to induce better understanding. He will also try to help if the student has bad study habits or has misinterpreted the subject matter. If these problems are overcome the sincere student will certainly improve.

The Association assigns a student tutor to the individual. The tutor then meets with the student and they decide on the number and times of their meetings. From that point on, the sucness depends on the tutor and the student.

FACULTY WIVES NEED ENTERTAINER FOR ANNUAL XMAS PARTY. APPLY TO MR. CUMMINGS IN HISTORY OFFICE.

Filters for flavor

–finest flavor by far!

Tareyton has the taste–

Dual Filter does it!

HERE'S HOW THE DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL... definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth...
2. with a pure white outer filter. Together they select and balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton's flavor-balance gives you the best taste of the best tobaccos.

NEW DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

★ CAMPUS NEWS BRIEFS ★

Physics Talks

Since it is common knowledge that all too many great scientific minds are hampered by the inability to express their ideas, the Villanova Chapter of the American Institue of Physics has initiated a series of student talks in an attempt to alleviate this situation.

On November 17, Ronald P. Leppig, a senior physics major, delivered an influential talk on, "The Momentum of Photons." Carrying on the crusade for better expression, John DeSanto, a junior physics major and vice-president of the club, spoke on the topic of, "Probability," at the December 1 meeting.

Self-Expression

The primary purpose of these student talks is to provide the members, especially the seniors, with the necessary experience to convey their learning. This public speaking will be required of all science majors when they enter the industrial world. Every senior physics major will be given an opportunity to speak to the club in the hope that this inability of expression, so prevalent in the scientific world, will be greatly limited in Villanova graduates.

Those interested in taking advantage of this offer should contact the president, Al Casella to make the necessary arrangements.

"Messiah" At Concert

A superb rendition of Handel's Messiah, given by the combined glee clubs of Villanova and Rosemont, was the highlight of last Monday evening's Christmas Concert. Under the direction of Mr. Herbert Fiss, the chorus splendidly conveyed the stirring and inspirational message of Handel's masterpiece.

A large crowd, including members of the faculty and administration, was present as the sounds of the joyous Christmas season echoed through the Field House.

Villanova's Concert Band and the Villanova Singers provided the additional entertainment. The Singers performed some of the excellent, but not too popular music of the season, while the concert band countered by playing the more familiar Christmas songs.

The entire performance went smoothly and provided an enjoyable evening in the spirit of Christmas.

Astronomers' Plans

The Astronomy Club of Villanova was organized in the fall of 1953 to promote interest in the study of the universe. Through the inexhaustible energy of its moderator, the Very Rev. Edward F. Jenkins, OSA, much time and effort has been put into the Villanova Astronomical Observatory atop Mendel Hall.

The Astronomy Club is always of topical interest and is of much value to the student interested in contemporary world affairs. Created on the threshold of the space age, it is becoming increasingly important to the modern-day student. The club members are looking forward to the day when they can avail themselves of the observatory facilities on the roof of the new Mendel Hall.

The Astronomy Club will undertake a field trip to the Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia on Wednesday, December 7. Members will be entertained by the movie "Eye on the Universe." Aides are being arranged for any member interested in attending the show by the Club's president Gene Guicheteau.

Psych Club Grows

One of the less widely heralded organizations on campus is the Villanova Society for Psychological Investigation, otherwise known as the Psych Club. This year, as part of an extensive porgram, the Psych Club has fostered lectures by prominent men in the field of psychology. These men have been from such institutions as the Devereaux Foundation, Saint Joseph's Parapsychology Laboratory, the Wyeth Laboratories, and from Villanova itself.

The moderator of the club is Dr. Frank McGurk, who is certainly one of the well known authorities in the area of psychology today. We, therefore, take pleasure in announcing the opportunity for all interested students and faculty members to listen to Dr. McGurk lecture on December 14 at 7:30 p.m. in Mendel Hall. The title of Dr. McGurk's lecture is "The Validity of Discussion of Race Differences in Psychology."

A brief preview of the contents of this lecture is in the following abstract. "The validity of race differences rests not on moral considerations, but on factual ones. Thus, political equality is not the same as psychological or physical equality, because the former is based on value judgments about a desirable political system, and the latter are based on measurable evidence—not on value judgments."

IRS Travels To UN

The Villanova International Relations Society made its annual field trip to the United Nations on Tuesday, December 6.

The members and their moderator, Dr. Fritz Nova of the History and Political Science Dept., left the University Field House by chartered bus at 7 a.m., and arrived at New York at 10 p.m. The group attended a session of the General Assembly followed by an extensive guided tour of the United Nations Building. One of the highlights of their day was an address by a UN official on the problems confronting Southeast Asia.

The club returned to the Villanova campus at 7:30 that evening, completing a very educational trip with a clearer understanding of the structure and the diversified functions of the United Nations.

Bus Service Planned

Joe Tate and Butch McNally, co-chairmen of the Spirit Committee, have recently announced the possibility of arranging a bus service to away games. This service, as outlined by Tate, is intended to increase the attendance and school spirit at these games.

OUR STANDARDS ARE HIGH, TOO

. . . and our opportunities and rewards are great. Because data processing applications have been growing rapidly, we have a number of different kinds of openings in Data Processing Marketing for outstanding men with exceptional ability and ambition.

The rewards are excellent and the work challenging. Men who qualify will be trained to introduce the most modern data processing techniques to top executives in business and industry, and to act as consultants to present users.

We would like to talk to you if you will be receiving a bachelor's or advanced degree in engineering, science, mathematics, economics, or business administration. IBM will interview on your campus soon. See your Placement Director for additional information and to arrange an appointment. Or, if you prefer, please write:

Mr. L. M. Sterner, Branch Manager, IBM Corp., 812 Welsh Street, Chester, Pa., TR 4-4356

You naturally have a better chance to grow with a growth company. IBM DATA PROCESSING DIVISION

Grid Appraisal:

Injuries Mar 1960 Season; 36 Varsity Men Return In '61

By Jack Duffy

The Alex Bell-coached Villanova Wildcats compiled a disappointing 2-8 record this past football season. There is, however, a small consolation in the fact that with a small amount of Lady Luck's grace, the football fortunes of Villanova would have been greatly improved. The big bugaboo for the 'Cats, as it is for most athletic teams, was injuries. The list of seriously wounded included among others Tom O'Rourke, incapacitated at a time when he threatened to double the college pass interception record; stellar linemen Joe Luzzi, Larry Sopko, and Sam Grunelsen, and backfield aces Nick Langone, Larry Glueck, and Lou Rettino.

The Wildcats started things off on a rather optimistic note against Marquette, although they lost the game. Very nervous in the first half, the sophomore studded eleven spotted Marquette two touchdowns and, on the running of fullback Lou Rettino, came storming from the rear only to lose the game on a bad snap from center in a punt situation.

The following week, with spirit ablaze, the 'Cats set sail for Annapolis to pull the upset of the young season. The prognosticators who picked Navy by 35 points were for the most part right. The only discrepancy in their evaluation was that the 'Cats handed the Middies 4 of their 6 touchdowns. Mike Pettine's 56 yard jaunt down the side line in front of President Eisenhower was not enough to stave off a 41-7 defeat.

The third game against Dayton was probably Villanova's worst of the season. The 'Cats offense was stifled. No powerhouse they, yet the Flyers managed to avenge their '59 defeat by downing the Bellboys, 14-0.

Identical Home Openers

The 'Cats' first two home games were out of the same script. The 'Cats lost both games in the last period. But more important was the emerging of Richie Richman as a top flight college quarterback.

The Army game was nothing but a trip for Villanova football fans. Army had been upset and knocked down the two previous weeks and the 'Cats just happened to be there when the Black Knights arose. The Cadets ran over, under, around and through the Villanova defense on their way to 54 points.

First Success

Finally, on October 29, the Wildcats met with success. With every Villanova player performing as a perfect cog in a football machine, the 'Cats beat Rutgers 14-12 in a game which Rutgers was lucky to keep so close.

Against Boston College, the 'Cats looked good but spotted B.C. two touchdowns and fumbled away their chance of getting even in a 20-6 loss.

The Detroit game was a cardiac case. The 'Cats led 7-6 through the entire game only to lose it in the last minute when Detroit's quarterback Jerry Gross couldn't find a pass receiver and had to bring the ball on a 34 yard run to the Villanova 4. Detroit scored and won the game 13-7.

The final game with Xavier was encouraging. Although the 'Cats fumbled to Xavier 5 times, they showed the offensive and defensive sting necessary to win 21-7.

Optimistic Outlook

Next year the Villanova football picture looks bright. The 'Cats have 36 of 39 varsity men returning and about half a dozen freshmen who should see some action. Villanova is looking expectantly toward the NCAA coaches' yearly meeting, awaiting the return of two platoon football. It is the Villanova coaches' opinion that with free substitutions the Wildcats can really come into their own. Time will tell.

Intramural Playoff Game

Jack Valva holds as John Buckley of the victorious Dwarfs kick off to the Raff Raiders in intramural football championship playoff held last Monday on Austin Field.

You only think you're not an enthusiast!

For every Corvette owner who regularly runs in sports car rallies, there's one who uses his Corvette exclusively for bread-and-butter transportation. ■ The Corvette brings a kind of pleasure to each man's driving that he couldn't get anywhere else. It can take the unpleasantness out of heavy rush traffic, just the way it turns an ordinary country road into something very special. Why? Because few cars from this or any other country can come remotely close to it for flashing performance, good handling and hair-trigger responsiveness. ■ Don't take our word for this; drive one. Unless you're accustomed to driving sports cars in the ten to fifteen thousand dollar category, you'll be absolutely astonished. The Corvette is an outstanding combination of performance and luxury that really belies its relatively low price. With extra-cost options like Powerglide and electric windows or with Fuel Injection and four-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission, it's really something! Try one. The feeling it imparts will make you chuckle with pleasure, just driving the son-of-a-gun around the block. CORVETTE BY CHEVROLET

See the new Corvette, Chevrolet cars and Chevy's Corvair at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Jones, Leftwich Shine In Debut For Freshman Five

By Bob Larkin

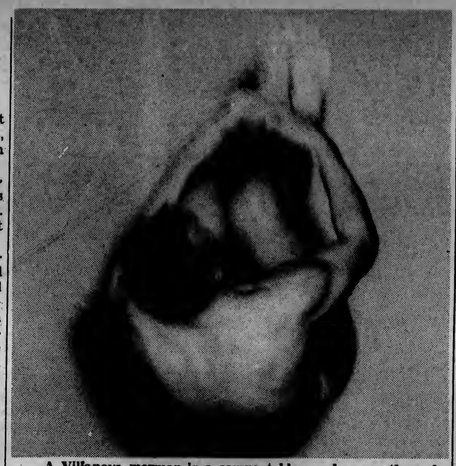
Villanova's freshman basketball team traveled to Scranton last Thursday where it dropped its season opener, 78-76. The Scranton freshmen received a lift from the capacity home crowd and took advantage of numerous charity tosses in winning the heated contest.

Despite the loss the Mainliner backcourt combination showed great potential. Sparkplugs Wally Jones and George Leftwich proved their mettle in their first closing seconds. Leftwick, an Archbishop Carroll alumnus, exhibited great ball handling throughout the game and donated 24 points. Ballhawking Jones from Overbrook High led all scorers with 25 points.

Fouls Hurt

Throughout the game the freshmen were plagued with foul difficulty. Scranton went to the foul line twenty six times while being called for only fourteen. Villanova's big man George Stefanic at 6'5" rebounded well but saw limited action due to fou's, finally leaving the ball game in the fourth period.

Backcourt man, Frank Fernandez, who chipped in 13 points also fouled out of the contest. Kennedy and Morris, both at 6'4", ran into foul trouble.



On several occasions the usually mild mannered coach, Ed Scullin, vehemently protested the referees' calls.

In spite of this the freshmen gave a good account of themselves. Coach Scullin's five showed an effective fast break and a remarkable scoring combination in Jones and Leftwick.

Solid Performances

Fernandez and Winterbottom also turned in solid performances. Although the tall men proved vulnerable to fouls they rebounded effectively.

The freshmen will be on the rebound next Monday in their game against the Pennsylvania freshmen at the Field House. Their game will be followed by the Villanova-Princeton game. In the two weeks following the freshmen will be put to the test by Temple, Rider and the Plebes at West Point.

A Villanova merman is a compact blur as he goes through some mid-air contortions at the Field House pool.

HOW FAR DO YOU WANT TO GO?

There's no stopping a man at Du Pont... if he is well educated, with capacity to grow... if he has ideas and job-interest. For as our employees grow, we grow. The more experience they get on the job, the more they come to know about their fields, the more challenges they meet successfully... the better it is for all of us.

That's the philosophy that guides our training program, our way of working. It's the reason why, when you go places with Du Pont, you're in good company... with many other "achievers."

There are good jobs with Du Pont for engineers, chemists, physicists and mathematicians — B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. For more information about opportunities here, write us. Tell us your course of study so we can send you the appropriate booklet. Du Pont, Room 2430-12 Nemours Building, Wilmington 98, Delaware.

DU PONT

Better Things for Better Living ... through Chemistry

I HAVE ALWAYS HAD an abiding hatred for the bottom crust of rye bread. There is no particular reason for making this point, except that whenever I think of Fort Lauderdale, I think of rye bread. There is no particular reason for that either, but I have been thinking of Fort Lauderdale. Fort Lauderdale is "where the boys are." Right now, that is. Most of the time, serenity reigns in Fort Lauderdale. (The Chamber of Commerce will hate me; they say it never rains in Fort Lauderdale.) But, for two weeks, twenty thousand collegians descend on this peaceful community and take it apart, peace by peace. They call it Spring Vacation, but it's more like amateur night at Cape Canaveral. They capture Florida and throw the Keys away. But I shouldn't joke—not while people are holding mass prayer meetings for an early hurricane season.

This is "where the boys are." And girls, too. Such girls, it makes you dizzy to look at them. If you look long enough, you reach an advanced stage of dizziness called aphrodizzier. It's like being in love. That's what happened to me, and it will happen to you, too. Everywhere you turn — beaches full of them, motels and hotels full of them, cars full of them, pools full of them, bathing suits full of them. Ah, bathing suits . . . when the man said, "It's the little things in life that count," he must have been thinking of bathing suits. But mostly, it's the girls.

Girls in love, girls in trouble, bright girls with a future, not-so-bright girls with a past, rich girls in the lap of luxury, poor girls in any lap that'll have them, girls of every size and discretion. It isn't any wonder that this is "where the boys are." And the things that happen are wacky and wild and wicked and warmly wonderful "where the boys are." Someone should make a movie about it. Hey, someone did! M-G-M calls it "Where The Boys Are," starring Dolores Hart, George Hamilton, Yvette Mimieux, Jim Hutton, Barbara Nichols, Paula Prentiss, with Frank Gorshin and introducing popular recording star Connie Francis in her first screen role. You'll want to see all the things that happen "Where The Boys Are."

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presents
"WHERE THE BOYS ARE"
A Euterpe production in CinemaScope and METROCOLOR.
Screenplay by George Wells, based on the novel by Glendon Swarthout.
Directed by Henry Levin.
Produced by Joe Pasternak.

Toledo Hosts Cats

(Continued from Page 12)

inspiration of Brangan. Villanova can expect a good scoring punch from the Ivies' top gun, 6'1" Pete Campbell (20.9 ppg.), plus robust rebounding from 6'3" Captain Don Swan and 6'4" Al Kaemerlen. Tom "Skyhook" Hoover should get his first real challenge on the boards in this tussle.

Campbell compiled his outstanding record as a soph starter. He just has to get better this year. The Tigers have already downed Lafayette. Four excellent lettermen plus five heavy-duty reserves from that title team, and bolstering from an outstanding soph addition, Art Hyland, makes for big trouble in the 'Cats lajr.

Fordham

By the time the Wildcats meet Fordham, the Rose Hill Rams will have started their uphill struggle from last year's depressing 8-18 mark. The young talent will improve the Rams for Coach John Bach, but initially they will be hampered by lack of experience. The lone starter coming back is Captain Jack Coalmon.

The "Hubcap" goes up for two of many points in the 'Cats' opening victory over Scranton 106-72. White (15) wound up with a game high of 28.

Severance Men Top Scranton In Debut Are Upset Victims of Buffalo Ambush

In contrast to Thursday's waltz, the Wildcats played the fiddler at the Palestra Saturday by losing 63-62 to a sparked up Buffalo team.

Coach Al Severance's men showed little to excite the partisan crowd. The smaller, smooth playing Bulls outhustled the lethargic Wildcats both defensively and off the boards.

Shifting Defense

Buffalo played a man to man defense which shifted two men on Hubie White and Tom Hoover when the ball came to them. The Bull's rugged defensive screens made room under the basket for teammates to pick off vital rebounds.

Hubie White, hampered somewhat by the tight defense, drew enough fouls to wind up with 22 points to head the 'Cats' scoring column. Tom Hoover, improving greatly on his Thursday performance, hit for 14 points and 17 rebounds.

Jittery Attack

Despite these two efforts, the 'Cats' overall attack, marred by bad passes and forced shots, was slow and jittery. Villanova couldn't muster up any lengthy surge to break open the continually close game.

Led by Hubie White's 28 point performance Villanova's traveling basketeers launched the new 1960 season with a bang by rolling over the University of Scranton 106-72. The Club showed mid-season form in the rout as five men hit double figures.

The game was turned into a rout by the first quarter scouring antics of co-captain Jim Huggard and the sensational White. The two veterans combined for 15 field goals in 22 attempts during the first period.

Fine Team Effort

The team effort of the Wildcats was sparked by the fine showing made by two members of its "Big Three". Sophomores Bernie Chavis and Tom Galia chipped in with 10 points apiece. The third soph, pivotman Tom Hoover, got into early foul trouble and spent the better part of the game on the bench.

Co-captain Dick Kaminski combined his usual good floor game and 16 points while Tom Samulewicz took up the slack left by Hoover by hustling for 14 rebounds and 8 points.

The Cats' speedy co-captain Jim Huggard drives down the Palestra lane in the Buffalo debacle which saw V.U. tripped by the Bulls, 63-62.

Toledo Hosts 'Cats Saturday; Princeton Five Here Monday

By Jack Dorazio

In the manner of coaches the world over, Al Severance is cautious about the coming season but confides that the Wildcats should be "a bit stronger." Our own attitude is considerably more bullish. The 'Cats have the material to rank as the best in the East, one of the best in the nation.

Toledo

After trotting through Scranton and Buffalo, the 'Cats take on a stubborn Toledo five which should give them their first capable opposition of the season. Toledo has a balanced attack and a strong defense that held their opponents to 58.1 ppg., eleventh best in the nation. The "Rockets" will be weaker on the boards this season, but will have more speed than last year and so it is possible they will equal their 18-6 record. Coach Eddie Melvin attributes Toledo's success to balanced scoring.

A rash of injuries, which has harried the Rockets from the beginning of practices last October, has made Melvin's task of settling upon a starting lineup an extremely difficult one. The Rockets have already fizzled against Southern Illinois' veteran's club. Five lettermen are on hand but the raves are for 6-2 soph, Larry Jones. An uncanny shooter, Jones averaged 27.6 points and 13.7 rebounds a game last year. Larry has great speed and can jump with men six inches taller than he is.

George Patterson, a 6'7" senior, is a capable scorer who has yet to reach his peak. A forecast of Villanova's fortunes might well be based on this early season battle.

Princeton

The fur will fly when the 'Cats tangle with the Princeton Tigers Monday, in the V.U. Field House. The single absent quality of last year's Ivy League champs is the leadership of a take-charge man—Jim Brangan. However, Coach Cappy Cappon teams are always soundly drilled, and he will undoubtedly develop a player to supply the craft and

(Continued on Page 11)

"Dwarf" Footballers Rise To Occasion, Rip "Raff Raiders"

In one of the hardest fought and most spirited performances ever effected here in intramurals, with the lead roles played by the "Raff Raiders" and the "Dwarfs," the curtain fell on our intramural football season. The "Dwarfs" upstaged the "Raiders" to the tune of 18-6. However, this score is not truly representative of the efforts contributed by the members of the two teams.

Producers and directors are often unsung. However, in this game, these supporting roles, fulfilled by four varsity football members, are deserving of an ovation in light of the fact that they doubled both as football referees and puglistic mediators.

Officials Needed

The basketball league is now underway with over 70 teams participating in both the Field House and in Alumni Gym. There is still a need for students to officiate at these games and anyone interested should contact Mr. Geisz, the Intramural Director at his office in Room 112, Alumni Hall.

"Amateur Night," the traditional pre-Christmas night of fun and entertainment, will be held this Tuesday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Vasey Hall Auditorium. Participation in this annual talent show is open to any Villanova student. A panel of faculty members will be chosen to serve as judges. The winner will be picked by the judges upon consideration of stage presence, ability, presentation, and audience reaction. Last year's winner, Bob Redmond will again participate this year.

Bellino, Vanderbush Head Cats' All-Opponent Team

A man who has won every award that is presented to a college football player each year heads-up the Villanova University 1960 All-Opponent football team. Joe Bellino, Navy's jolting all-everything halfback was a unanimous choice even though against the 'Cats he only gained 33 yards in nine carries.

At one end post is Art Graham, a Boston College sophomore, who is somewhat of a surprise choice since he is not even listed as a starter for the Eagles. Greg Mather, a standout veteran from Navy, is the other end.

Robert DeMarco, a 6-3 230 pound bruiser from Dayton, was selected for one of the tackle slots along with another Orange Bowl-bound Middie, senior Ron Erchul.

Vanderbush and Kammerer

The guards need no introduction—Al Vanderbush, Army's brilliant 6-2, 220 pound co-captain, who was also elected to the All-East teams and many All-American squads, and who by the way is a Dean's List student at the Point; and Carl Kammerer, 6-3, 245 pounds, who did a lot of damage to the 'Cat linebackers and hails from the College of the Pacific.

The center who probably is the most underrated lineman on this year's team comes from the Naval Academy. He is Frank Visted, 6-2, 206 pounds, who has blazing speed for a big man and has been called brilliant by many opposing coaches.

Gerry Gross of the Detroit Titans, a small but accurate passer, landed in the quarterback position over such standouts as Hal Spooner, Tom Blanda, and Ron Costello.

Theisen from Marquette

Along with Bellino is another fleet-footed sophomore from Marquette, Dave Theisen at halfback. Junior Bill Triplett of Miami (O). rounds out the 1960 dream team at fullback. The hard running 210 pound back is already being touted as a very good pro prospect.

The line on this team averages 217 pounds including the ends and also supports three sophomores and a junior to serve notice that the 'Cats will be seeing a few standouts next season.

Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 11 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. DECEMBER 15, 1960

Debate Tourney Winners

by Dan Buckley

Pictured above are the individual winners in last Saturday's debate tournament won by College of Mater Misercoridia. Dorothy Laurence, (third from left) of the winning school, holds the team trophy.

Twenty-Seven Selected For Intercollegiate Who's Who

Twenty-seven members of Villanova's senior class have been named to the national "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

The "Who's Who," a private publication, yearly recognizes student leaders from campuses all over the United States.

The 27 student leaders, representing every division of the University, include Lawrence Bathgate, Robert Bohn, Thomas Brown, Francis Carolan, Joseph Cramer, William Cassin, Paul Crawford, and Nicholas DeAngelis.

Also, Thomas Dillon, Michael Donahue, John Donohue, David Grenon, Eileen Greyson, Henry James McAteer, John McGarry, Francis McNally, Timothy McNamar, and Clinton Norris.

Also, Paul O'Rourke, Joseph Remy, James Rhodes, Thomas Samulewicz, Michael Spahn, John Valva, Michael Wesley and Richard Wilder.

Photographs and complete biographical material on the nominees appears on pages 7, 8, and 9 of this issue of The VILLANOVAN.

A student committee composed of Student Body President and former sophomore class President Bob DeLisa, former junior class President Bob Scalia, senior class President Larry Bathgate, BELLE AIR Editor Mike Spahn and VILLANOVAN Editor Jim McAteer submitted a list of 50 candidates for Administrational approval to "Who's Who."

The Deans of all divisions of the University also nominated several students for the national distinction. Likewise, the moderator of each student organization was eligible to suggest two candidates for the honor.

A final selection committee composed of the Rev. Joseph Kemme, OSA, Vice President for Student Affairs; the Rev. Dante Girolami, OSA, Dean of Student Activities; The Rev. George McLaughlin, OSA, Dean of Men; The Rev. Norbert Whitley, OSA, University Chaplain; the Rev. William Farrell, OSA, Assistant Chaplain, DeLisa, and Bathgate, then selected the 27 finalists from the composite list of candidates.

"Autumn" Edition Of LYNX On Sale Today In Pie Shoppe

This year's autumn issue of the LYNX went on sale today in the Pie Shoppe. The magazine will sell for 25c. (See review on page 5.)

Co-editors Vince Kirk and Mike Wesley expressed great enthusiasm over their initial attempt as editors-in-chief and anticipate a rapid sale of the 700 copies made available to the student body.

"We realize that by publishing as close to Christmas as we have," explained Kirk, "We run the risk of not selling as many copies as we might have hoped; however, with the fine advertising effort by publicity manager Dan Grove and his staff and a concerted sales drive by Bill Friend and his cohorts we believe that our autumn issue will with tremendous success.

LYNX moderators, Dr. John Phillipson and James Mitchell of the English Department are also eagerly awaiting the magazine's reception on campus.

Thanks Everybody

"We have turned down many contributions by the students," proclaimed Dr. Phillipson, "in an effort to have only those endeavors printed that come up to LYNX standards."

Kirk also expressed his gratitude to his staff and the crucial role they played in the composition of the issue.

"Without the untiring efforts of art editor Joe Ruggiero, copy editor Jim Strazzella, layout editor Bill Speers and their staffs, there just wouldn't be any autumn LYNX," the co-editor expounded.

Kirk pointed to the minor, yet significant improvements in the autumn LYNX, as typifying the "new blossoming" of the literary magazine.

"A new cover style, and new paper stock, along with varied type faces and dutiful art work," he echoed, "all mean that with this issue, we have heralded in a new era in LYNX publication."

Retreat Deadline

Those wishing to take the retreat at Blackwood, New Jersey, during the week-end of January 6 must sign before December 16 according to the Religious Affairs Committee of the Student Council. This religious exercise will be recognized as the annual retreat required of all Villanova students.

The cost of the retreat will be twenty-two dollars. A five-dollar deposit is necessary to register. The balance must be paid by Wednesday, January 4. If the money is not in at this time students will not be able to make this retreat.

Additional information concerning the retreat is posted on the various bulletin boards and those wishing to register may do so in the Student Council Office, second floor, Dougherty Hall.

Poetry Reading

Dr. Joseph C. Reino, assistant Professor of English, will conduct a special telecast of Christmas readings on Monday, December 26, on WFIL-TV (Channel 6).

Reino, who is teaching his first year at Villanova, will read poems by T. S. Eliot and some children's stories by Hans Christian Anderson.

Last year Professor Reino presented a similar telecast along with two series of programs on modern poetry for the University of the Air.

WFIL-TV officials stated that both programs were well received by the public.

The post-Christmas show will be presented between 11:00-11:30 a.m.

Mater Misercordia Wins First Annual Debate Tournament

The first Debating Tournament of any type on the Villanova campus made its initial appearance last Saturday. Sponsored by the Beta Gamma Debating Society of Villanova and organized by Jim Rhodes, President of the Society, the tournament included many of the major colleges in the Philadelphia area with teams competing from Rutgers, the University of Pennsylvania, the College of the Mater Misericordia, Rosemont, Temple, Saint Joseph's, Ursinus, Holy Family, and Villavona.

Rhodes, General Chairman for the tournament, emphasized the present intentions of the society to continue this tournament as an annual affair and eventually to expand it to national proportions. The steps which are presently under consideration would be a big five debate conference, and a championship contest, a forensics tuornament in the spring, and a possible high school tournament of the best schools in the Northeast.

The tournament was highlighted by the award of the Beta Gamma Rotating Trophy to Misericordia College who completed a perfect day with six wins and no losses. The University of Penn placed second with a five and one card and were followed by the Vilanova team who complied a four and two record. The other winners of trophies were Miss Dorothy Laurence of Miscoricordia as the best affimative speaker and Miss Scott of Rosemont as the best negative speaker.

The large silver trophy which was awarded to Misericordia was donated to Beta Gamma by Shandleman's of Philadelphia and will be presented to the winner of each year's tournament. Any school which wins it for the third time will be allowed to retire it.

Acting as hosteses were the Villanova freshman nurses to whom Rhodes also expressed his thanks for their cooperation and efforts.

Renovated Radio Station Presents Christmas Show

The Villanova radio station, WWVU, will present its traditional Christmas music show on Thursday, December 15. Between the hours of 2 p.m. and 11 p.m., the regular program will be replaced entirely by Christmas music of all types to be broadcast throughout Dougherty Hall and the rest of the campus. The annual WWVU special may include excerpts from the High Mass said by the Augustinian Community and sung by the Seminarians. This broadcast will originate from the studio.

Dan O'Mara, station manager, announced the Christian format in his almost-renovated office.

"The reconstruction of the main office of WWVU, is nearly completed," O'Mara sighed. The new equipment is expected to be installed and the painting finished by the expected termination date, January 1. According to O'Mara, the purpose of the changeover is "to provide facilities for better and more efficient work and to produce higher fidelity sound from the broadcast studio."

General Expansion

The renovation, which is part of a general program of expansion including more broadcast time and wider coverage, has been carried on by the Prendergast Construction Company under the supervision of John Lavinska. The layout of the station was designed and developed by Ed Johnston, coordinator for WWVU; the renovation of technical equipment was under the direction of Al Lawler.

Some of the additions include new cabinets for the record library, more working space and files, a third broadcasting studio, and a horseshoe table which enables the disc jockey to control the broadcast without leaving his chair.

by Mike Pastore

Tom Carlek (right) instructs and Dan O'Mara oversees as workmen renovate the WWVU office.

National Recognition But . . .

Former Editor Decries Demise Of Business Whirl

The Business Whirl, the first and only Villanova publication to be catalogued in the Library of Congress, will be no longer published, announced former Editor-in-Chief Charles R. Presley.

"The publication was allotted $1300 last year," said Presley, "and received many letters of recognition and praise from colleges and business concerns across the nation." The Business Whirl had connections with the Commerce Department, NBC, and CBS, so had access to important events as rapidly as national magazines. A national airline also placed the magazine on many of its planes, and received favorable comments on it.

Not Only for C & F

"The magazine was not intended to be confined only to the Commerce and Finance school," stated Presley, "as is seen by the staff, which includes Arts majors also. This publication fostered the knowledge of Villanova in industry, put the University on the map, and thus assisted placement of students.

"After all these accomplishments, plus the foreign recognition of Mr. Blyn's article 'Adequacy of India's Half Century Growth in Agricultural Output,' and a report in another magazine of 'The Lasting Effects of the New Deal,' by Dr. Henry Rofinot, the finance and permission to publish this year were curtailed. A faculty publication will replace it.

"The new General Electric plant in the vicinity had requested the "Business Whirl" to print a story on their establishment and there was sufficient material to publish a magazine in two weeks, had the funds been allocated."

CCD prexy Murphy

Mike Murphy Named New CCD President Plans Expansion Soon

One of the charter members of the Villanova Chapter of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine has been elected its new president. Mike Murphy, a junior English major, upon accepting the head position of the fifty-member CCD, expressed hopes for the expansion and revision of the present CCD program.

Mike is currently teaching the fundamentals of religion to mentally retarded inmates at the Pennhurst State Hospital in Spring City. He is assisted by five other men in this project, which he considers CCD's chief function. Mike also teaches a religion course to freshmen from public high schools.

"If we can build sufficient interest in CCD," says Mike, "the new members will have a opportunity to receive an excellent course in effective teaching methods, which will eventually be applied directly to CCD work." Students with such ambitions are requested to investigate the activities of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, according to Murphy.

Pysch Club Lecturer Praises Use of ESP Recognition Needed

Dr. Carroll B. Nash, a biologist in the Parapsychology laboratory of St. Joseph's College, presented his ideas on extrasensory perception on Wednesday, December 7, in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall. His talk was one of a series sponsored by the Psychology Club. Dr. Nash predicted that, mental telepathy, clairvoyance, and precognition will eventually be taught in general psychology courses, as hypnosis is taught today.

Dr. Nash outlined some of the criticisms standing in the way of scientific recognition for parapsychology. He then attempted to disprove each of these criticisms by logic.

Maintaining strict controls, and limiting chance to one in a hundred, he asserted that there are significant results which indicate the existence of this phenomenal sixth sense.

Controversial Point

One of his most controversial points was that a characteristic of ESP is in its non-physical nature. This is in complete discord with the basic concepts of science. He showed that distance plays no part, that mass is irrelevant, and that the time theory does not hold.

He cited some cases illustrating spontaneous occurence and induced phenomena. These cases were selected from his personal experience. Again, he invoked some controversy with his interpretations of these occurances. He attributed them to spiritualism, extensions of personaliy, and ESP.

A question and answer period followed his talk in which Dr. Nash defended his interpretations and explained some phenomena.

Villanova's generous Junior Class proves once again that there is a Santa to this "Johnny" who arrived early for the Christmas party at the orphanage.

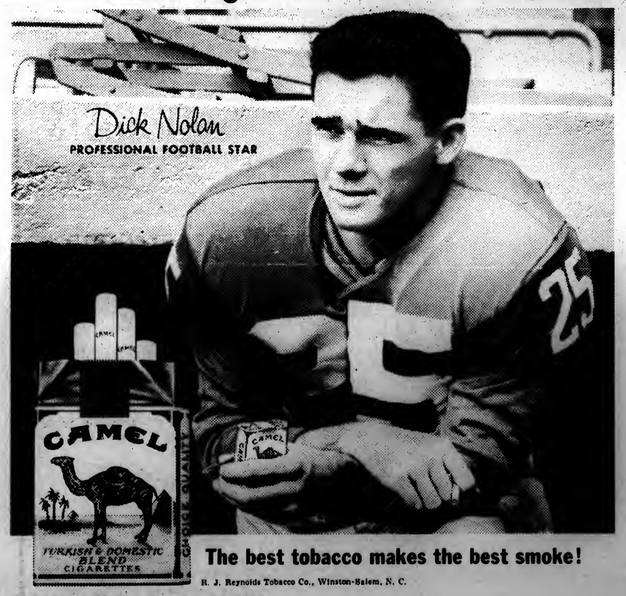
Accounting Forum Notes Opportunity

The Career Conference Program for senior Accounting Majors was held last Wednesday evening in the Commerce and Finance Building under the preparation of Mr. J. Chorba, acting Accounting Chairman. Representatives from Public, Industrial, and Government Accounting, Investments, Banking, and Accounting systems each gave brief addresses to a group of 100 students on the opportunities that are available after graduation.

Mr. Chorba also suggested graduate school and education at the end of the meeting and offered his thanks to the participating speakers for their deliveries.

The meeting was followed by an informal discussion period in the downstairs Cafeteria over coffee and donuts during which the seniors questioned the evening's speakers.

IRS Travels To UN Hears Arabian Talk



The International Relations Society of Villanova visited the United Nations Building in New York on Tuesday, December 6. First on the agenda was a talk on Algeria delivered by the delegate from Saudi Arabia. In urging Algerian independence, the delegate attacked France, the United States, and NATO.

After lunch, the Villanovans went on a guided tour of the building. They then attended a briefing on Southeast by Mr. Pete Morton of the U.N. Mr. Morton discussed the technical assistance offered to these Asian countries by the U.N.

After the lecture, the group toured New York. Those who stayed to attend the General Assembly session, however, heard the Cuban Foreign Minister deliver an invective against the United States' policy toward Cuba, Puerto Rico, and Latin America.

Christmas Greetings

Have a real cigarette—have a CAMEL

The best tobacco makes the best smoke!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Rogers Peet

Order Early Today Wear it Tonight

Because you hardly have time to unpack before the holiday rounds start, we offer this special holiday service. Order your dinner suit at Rogers Peet on one morning and enjoy its light weight worsted comfort that very evening. You'll wear it year round, too! Sizes 36 to 44. Regulars, Longs, Extra Longs, Shorts.

$79.50

Outfitters to Men and Boys since 1874

Rogers Peet company

New York: Fifth Ave. at 48th & 41st Sts. • Broadway at Warren St.
Boston: Tremont at Bromfield Sts.
Washington: 14th & G Streets, N.W.

Portrette

Kirk, Wesley Edit LYNX

Vince Kirk and Mike Wesley are what might be called the "mystery editors" of the LYNX. Since the semester began, the two have labored tirelessly behind the headlines and cameras to put together the much-awaited literary magazine.

by Mike Pastore

Co-Editors Wesley and Kirk

Kirk, a senior Math major from Norristown, Pa., has devoted most of his spare time to the most unmathematical activities on campus. Having terminated a successful two-years as an announcer on WWUV, he now writes for The VILLANOVAN, The BELLE AIR, and The MENDEL BULLETIN, as well as serving actively on NFCCS.

Wesley Active

Wesley, also a senior, is a general arts major from Rochester, N. Y., where he attended Aquinas Institute. In addition to his LYNX duties, he serves as Copy Editor of the BELLE AIR, as Council representative for the Spanish Club, and as an active member of the Sanctuary Society and the Music Society.

Both Kirk and Wesley laid foundations for their present literary activities while in high school, where the former was Editor-in-Chief of the yearbook; the latter Literary Editor of the yearbook and anofficer in various language clubs.

Kirk expressed the satisfaction of the entire staff with its efforts. "Although we have not accomplished everything we set out to do," he said, "we feel that we have been most successful. We always aim high, so wherever we land cannot be low."

Both men also emphasized that for the future, The LYNX looks to the student body to produce" not only purely creative writing, but opinion, commentary, and related matter. For instance," Wesley declares, "an analysis of the past politcal campaign would be most interesting and welcome in the Spring edition of The LYNX." The Editors urged all students, regardless of their year or division, to contribute to their magazine.

V. P. Announces Exercises Outdoor Graduation Begun

Graduation exercises will be held outdoors this year, weather permitting, according to Paul J. O'Rourke, Vice-President of the Student Council Academic Affairs Committee. O'Rourke stated that two types of tickets will be distributed for the ceremony.

A large number of tickets will be issued for the outdoor exercises to be held in the stadium. Fewer tickets will be distributed for the field house, however, in case of bad weather.

The Student Council has also secured the posting of final examination schedules at least one full week before examinations.

In addition, a list of courses to be offered each semester, along with the times for those courses, will be posted at least two weeks before pre-registration. According to Jim Strazzella, Vice-President of the Educational Affairs Committee of The Student Council, and maker of the motion, the purpose of the list is to allow students more time in which to consider their choices of courses.

Debating Society In Tie For First Place At Temple Tourney

The novices of the Beta Gamma Debating Society finished in a tie for first place in the recent Temole Novice Invitational Tournament. The field included 69 individual teams representing almost every "name" college in the East.

The novices shared the title with the Cadets of West Point who posted an identical card of thirteen debates won and three lost. Included in the tournament were teams from Georgetown, Seton Hall, Penn State, and Saint Joseph's, which are considered among the elite in college debating in the Middle Atlantic States.

The triumphant debaters sent two complete teams to Temple among whom the undefeated negative speakers, Tom Flynn, Joe Rohrer, Dave Gallie and Tom McFadden who captured all their eight debates. The affirmative teams were composed of Carl Green, Carole Toczylowski, Terry Cooney, and Jack Devine. The question resolved was whether it would be feasible for the United States to adapt a system of Compulsory Health Insurance.

To provide an incentive and award for their hard work, Tom Flynn, Terry Cooney, Dave Gallie, and Bill Freind were promoted to the varsity debating team. "When it is realized that this is the first tournament which the novices have participated in this year," savs Frank Battaglia, Novice Chairman, "this can be considered as quite an accomplishment."

Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party for the faculty children will be held Saturday, December 17 at 2:00 in the C&F Cafeteria. "All faculty families are urged to attend this event," Mrs. Kenneth O'Driscoll, Publicity Director, related.

"Games, entertainment, surprises, and refreshments are planned," promised Mrs. O'Driscoll. Santa Claus, who closely resembles Rev. Norbert Whitley, is due to visit the children later in the afternoon. Jerry West, Villanova student accordionist will perform.

by Joe Konieneki

A Villanova version of a Currier and Ives tintype is captured by the camera during the early week snowfall.

Editor Spahn States Yearbook Deadline Will Be 70% Complete

Based on the past performance of the past several editions of the Belle Air, Mike Spahn, this year's Editor-in-Chief, says that the campus yearbook is progressing at a generally favorable pace.

According to Spahn, there are also reasonable hopes of meeting two-thirds of their first deadline which would encompass about 100 pages. "In addition," he further states, "there has been an unusual increase in color in our yearbook with special consideration due John McGarry, the Business Manager, who has been quite successful in procuring funds through extra advertisements."

The staff is assisted by a core of hard-working undergraduates including Sports Editor, Pat Massi and Art Editor, Joe Ruggerio. Senior Editors are Spahn, Robert Schell the Association Editor, and Nick Cassetta, the Managing Editor.

Many of the organizations which have been neglected before will be given coverage in the 1961 edition which will contain about 326 pages, the largest book published by the Belle Air.

The new Sports, Bowling, Rugby and Hockey will also acquire space under the recently appointed female Sports Editor, Pat Massi.

"The purpose of the book," emphasizes Spahn, "is to portray the Villanova life throughout the year. It will be a yearbook that encloses all the facets of the Villanovan, his activities, academics, athletics, and teachers. The deadline for the final Copy is February 15 and the finished product will be handed out sometime in May, in God We Trust."

Social Legislation Subject of LKD Talk Congressman Speaks

The Pre-Medical Fraternity, Lambda Kappa Delta, will present its third guest lecturer of the series, U. S. Congressman William T. Cahill (R., N. J.), tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Vasey Hall auditorium.

Cahill will speak on the controversial topic, "Government and Socialized Medicine." He will discuss the views now being formulated as to the possibility of legislation of this matter in the coming 87th Congress.

Cahill is a resident of Collingswood, N. J. ,and is a graduate of St. Joseph's College and Rutgers Law School. He has served as a teacher, F.B.I. agent, lawyer, prosecutor, and assemblyman. At present he is serving his second term as Congressman. During his first term, he was assigned to the House Judiciary Committee. He introduced various bills, participated in the Congressional investigation of the New York Port Authority, and served as one of seven members of Congress to inspect the North Atlantic Treaty Organizaion (NATO).

Useful To Beta Gamma

L.K.D. President, Edward G. Morhauser, announced that all students are invited to attend the lecture, Morhauser feels that members of Beta Gamma Debating Society will be particularly interested, since their topic for debate this year is Socialized Medicine.

He also expressed the hope that many faculty members would be able to attend, since the lecture includes the fields of medicine, government, economics, labor, research, and sociology.

T'n'T Builds Fund

The Turf and Tinsel Society of Villanova has announced that plans have been completed for a scholarship to be presented to a future student at Villanova.

Jim Mulvihill, Club President, has announced that the present fund, established at $2000, will be submitted to the Rev. John J. Curran, OSA, who will invest the money on behalf of T'n'T.

Oxford

for comfort...quality ...appearance

The rich texturing of fine oxford, the skillful tailoring give the assurance of being well-dressed. Case in point: the Arrow Tabber, the authentic British type improved with self-snap tabs. Your wardrobe is incomplete without this Arrow shirt.

$5.00

cum laude collection by ARROW®

ENGINEERS-SCIENTISTS

HAMILTON STANDARD

Division of

UNITED AIRCRAFT CORP.

will interview on

JANUARY 9, 10, 1961

ENGINEERS—BS, MS, Ph.D degrees in EE, ME, MET for outstanding career positions in analytical, design and development engineering.

SCIENTISTS—BS, MS, Ph.D degrees in Physics, EE, ME for challenging new study programs in Missiles & Space systems, Electron Beam Technology and our Research Laboratories.

A typical project under development: the air induction and environmental systems for the B-70 bomber.

National Recognition But . . .

Former Editor Decries Demise Of Business Whirl

The Business Whirl, the first and only Villanova publication to be catalogued in the Library of Congress, will be no longer published, announced former Editor-in-Chief Charles R. Presley.

"The publication was allotted $1300 last year," said Presley, "and received many letters of recognition and praise from colleges and business concerns across the nation." The Business Whirl had connections with the Commerce Department, NBC, and CBS, so had access to important events as rapidly as national magazines. A national airline also placed the magazine on many of its planes, and received favorable comments on it.

Not Only for C & F

"The magazine was not intended to be confined only to the Commerce and Finance school," stated Presley, "as is seen by the staff, which includes Arts majors also. This publication fostered the knowledge of Villanova in industry, put the University on the map, and thus assisted placement of students.

"After all these accomplishments, plus the foreign recognition of Mr. Blyn's article 'Adequacy of India's Half Century Growth in Agricultural Output,' and a report in another magazine of 'The Lasting Effects of the New Deal,' by Dr. Henry Rofinot, the finance and permission to publish this year were curtailed. A faculty publication will replace it.

"The new General Electric plant in the vicinity had requested the "Business Whirl" to print a story on their establishment and there was sufficient material to publish a magazine in two weeks, had the funds been allocated."

CCD prexy Murphy

Mike Murphy Named New CCD President Plans Expansion Soon

One of the charter members of the Villanova Chapter of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine has been elected its new president. Mike Murphy, a junior English major, upon accepting the head position of the fifty-member CCD, expressed hopes for the expansion and revision of the present CCD program.

Mike is currently teaching the fundamentals of religion to mentally retarded inmates at the Pennhurst State Hospital in Spring City. He is assisted by five other men in this project, which he considers CCD's chief function. Mike also teaches a religion course to freshmen from public high schools.

"If we can build sufficient interest in CCD," says Mike, "the new members will have a opportunity to receive an excellent course in effective teaching methods, which will eventually be applied directly to CCD work." Students with such ambitions are requested to investigate the activities of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, according to Murphy.

Pysch Club Lecturer Praises Use of ESP Recognition Needed

Dr. Carroll B. Nash, a biologist in the Parapsychology laboratory of St. Joseph's College, presented his ideas on extrasensory perception on Wednesday, December 7, in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall. His talk was one of a series sponsored by the Psychology Club. Dr. Nash predicted that, mental telepathy, clairvoyance, and precognition will eventually be taught in general psychology courses, as hypnosis is taught today.

Dr. Nash outlined some of the criticisms standing in the way of scientific recognition for parapsychology. He then attempted to disprove each of these criticisms by logic.

Maintaining strict controls, and limiting chance to one in a hundred, he asserted that there are significant results which indicate the existence of this phenomenal sixth sense.

Controversial Point

One of his most controversial points was that a characteristic of ESP is in its non-physical nature. This is in complete discord with the basic concepts of science. He showed that distance plays no part, that mass is irrelevant, and that the time theory does not hold.

He cited some cases illustrating spontaneous occurence and induced phenomena. These cases were selected from his personal experience. Again, he invoked some controversy with his interpretations of these occurances. He attributed them to spiritualism, extensions of personality, and ESP.

A question and answer period followed his talk in which Dr. Nash defended his interpretations and explained some phenomena.

Villanova's generous Junior Class proves once again that there is a Santa to this "Johnny" who arrived early for the Christmas party at the orphanage.

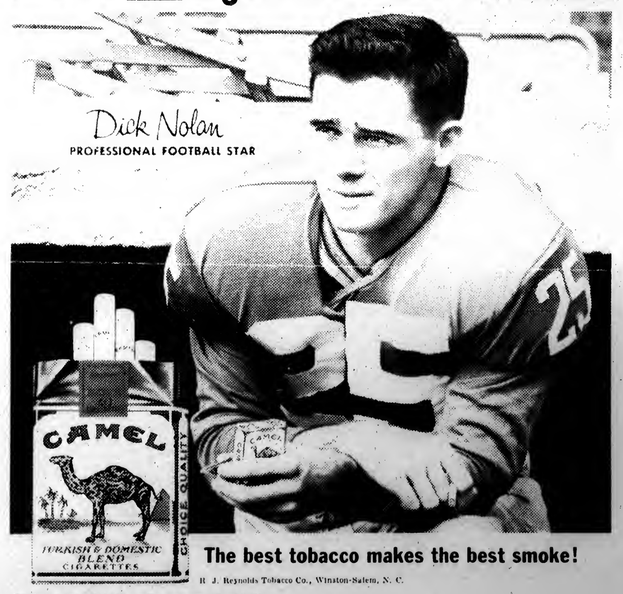
Accounting Forum Notes Opportunity

The Career Conference Program for senior Accounting Majors was held last Wednesday evening in the Commerce and Finance Building under the preparation of Mr. J. Chorba, acting Accounting Chairman. Representatives from Public, Industrial, and Government Accounting, Investments, Banking, and Accounting systems each gave brief addresses to a group of 100 students on the opportunities that are available after graduation.

Mr. Chorba also suggested graduate school and education at the end of the meeting and offered his thanks to the participating speakers for their deliveries.

The meeting was followed by an informal discussion period in the downstairs Cafeteria over coffee and donuts during which the seniors questioned the evening's speakers.

IRS Travels To UN Hears Arabian Talk



The International Relations Society of Villanova visited the United Nations Building in New York on Tuesday, December 6. First on the agenda was a talk on Algeria delivered by the delegate from Saudi Arabia. In urging Algerian independence, the delegate attacked France, the United States, and NATO.

After lunch, the Villanovans went on a guided tour of the building. They then attended a briefing on Southeast by Mr. Pete Morton of the U.N. Mr. Morton discussed the technical assistance offered to these Asian countries by the U.N.

After the lecture, the group toured New York. Those who stayed to attend the General Assembly session, however, heard the Cuban Foreign Minister deliver an invective against the United States' policy toward Cuba, Puerto Rico, and Latin America.

Christmas Greetings

Have a real cigarette—have a CAMEL

The best tobacco makes the best smoke!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Rogers Peet

Order Early Today Wear it Tonight

Because you hardly have time to unpack before the holiday rounds start, we offer this special holiday service. Order your dinner suit at Rogers Peet on one morning and enjoy its light weight worsted comfort that very evening. You'll wear it year round, too! Sizes 36 to 44. Regulars, Longs, Extra Longs, Shorts.

$79.50

Outfitters to Men and Boys since 1874

Rogers Peet company

New York: Fifth Ave. at 48th & 41st Sts. • Broadway at Warren St.
Boston: Tremont at Bromfield Sts.
Washington: 14th & G Streets, N.W.

Portrette

Kirk, Wesley Edit LYNX

Vince Kirk and Mike Wesley are what might be called the "mystery editors" of the LYNX. Since the semester began, the two have labored tirelessly behind the headlines and cameras to put together the much-awaited literary magazine.

by Mike Pastore

Co-Editors Wesley and Kirk

Kirk, a senior Math major from Norristown, Pa., has devoted most of his spare time to the most unmathematical activities on campus. Having terminated a successful two-years as an announcer on WWUV, he now writes for The VILLANOVAN, The BELLE AIR, and The MENDEL BULLETIN, as well as serving actively on NFCCS.

Wesley Active

Wesley, also a senior, is a general arts major from Rochester, N. Y., where he attended Aquinas Institute. In addition to his LYNX duties, he serves as Copy Editor of the BELLE AIR, as Council representative for the Spanish Club, and as an active member of the Sanctuary Society and the Music Society.

Both Kirk and Wesley laid foundations for their present literary activities while in high school, where the former was Editor-in-Chief of the yearbook; the latter Literary Editor of the yearbook and anofficer in various language clubs.

Kirk expressed the satisfaction of the entire staff with its efforts. "Although we have not accomplished everything we set out to do," he said, "we feel that we have been most successful. We always aim high, so wherever we land cannot be low."

Both men also emphasized that for the future, The LYNX looks to the student body to produce" not only purely creative writing, but opinion, commentary, and related matter. For instance," Wesley declares, "an analysis of the past political campaign would be most interesting and welcome in the Spring edition of The LYNX." The Editors urged all students, regardless of their year or division, to contribute to their magazine.

V. P. Announces Exercises Outdoor Graduation Begun

Graduation exercises will be held outdoors this year, weather permitting, according to Paul J. O'Rourke, Vice-President of the Student Council Academic Affairs Committee. O'Rourke stated that two types of tickets will be distributed for the ceremony.

A large number of tickets will be issued for the outdoor exercises to be held in the stadium. Fewer tickets will be distributed for the field house, however, in case of bad weather.

The Student Council has also secured the posting of final examination schedules at least one full week before examinations.

In addition, a list of courses to be offered each semester, along with the times for these courses, will be posted at least two weeks before pre-registration. According to Jim Strazzella, Vice-President of the Educational Affairs Committee of The Student Council, and maker of the motion, the purpose of the list is to allow students more time in which to consider their choices of courses.

Debating Society In Tie For First Place At Temple Tourney

The novices of the Beta Gamma Debating Society finished in a tie for first place in the recent Temple Novice Invitational Tournament. The field included 69 individual teams representing almost every "name" college in the East.

The novices shared the title with the Cadets of West Point who posted an identical card of thirteen debates won and three lost. Included in the tournament were teams from Georgetown, Seton Hall, Penn State, and Saint Joseph's, which are considered among the elite in college debating in the Middle Atlantic States.

The triumphant debaters sent two complete teams to Temple among whom the undefeated negative speakers, Tom Flynn, Joe Rohrer, Dave Gallie and Tom McFadden who captured all their eight debates. The affirmative teams were composed of Carl Green, Carole Toczylowski, Terry Cooney, and Jack Devine. The question resolved was whether it would be feasible for the United States to adapt a system of Compulsory Health Insurance.

To provide an incentive and award for their hard work, Tom Flynn, Terry Cooney, Dave Gallie, and Bill Freind were promoted to the varsity debating team. "When it is realized that this is the first tournament which the novices have participated in this year," says Frank Battaglia, Novice Chairman, "this can be considered as quite an accomplishment."

Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party for the faculty children will be held Saturday, December 17 at 2:00 in the C&F Cafeteria. "All faculty families are urged to attend this event," Mrs. Kenneth O'Driscoll, Publicity Director, related.

"Games, entertainment, surprises, and refreshments are planned," promised Mrs. O'Driscoll. Santa Claus, who closely resembles Rev. Norbert Whitley, is due to visit the children later in the afternoon. Jerry West, Villanova student accordionist will perform.

by Joe Konicncki

A Villanova version of a Currier and Ives tintype is captured by the camera during the early week snowfall.

Editor Spahn States Yearbook Deadline Will Be 70% Complete

Based on the past performance of the past several editions of the Belle Air, Mike Spahn, this year's Editor-in-Chief, says that the campus yearbook is progressing at a generally favorable pace.

According to Spahn, there are also reasonable hopes of meeting two-thirds of their first deadline which would encompass about 100 pages. "In addition," he further states, "there has been an unusual increase in color in our yearbook with special consideration due John McGarry, the Business Manager, who has been quite successful in procuring funds through extra advertisements."

The staff is assisted by a core of hard-working undergraduates including Sports Editor, Pat Massi and Art Editor, Joe Ruggerio. Senior Editors are Spahn, Robert Schell the Association Editor, and Nick Cassetta, the Managing Editor.

Many of the organizations which have been neglected before will be given coverage in the 1961 edition which will contain about 326 pages, the largest book published by the Belle Air.

The new Sports, Bowling, Rugby and Hockey will also acquire space under the recently appointed female Sports Editor, Pat Massi.

"The purpose of the book," emphasizes Spahn, "is to portray the Villanova life throughout the year. It will be a yearbook that encloses all the facets of the Villanovan, his activities, academics, athletics, and teachers. The deadline for the final Copy is February 15 and the finished product will be handed out sometime in May, in God We Trust."

Social Legislation Subject of LKD Talk Congressman Speaks

The Pre-Medical Fraternity, Lambda Kappa Delta, will present its third guest lecturer of the series, U. S. Congressman William T. Cahill (R., N. J.), tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Vasey Hall auditorium.

Cahill will speak on the controversial topic, "Government and Socialized Medicine." He will discuss the views now being formulated as to the possibility of legislation of this matter in the coming 87th Congress.

Cahill is a resident of Collingswood, N. J. ,and is a graduate of St. Joseph's College and Rutgers Law School. He has served as a teacher, F.B.I. agent, lawyer, prosecutor, and assemblyman. At present he is serving his second term as Congressman. During his first term, he was assigned to the House Judiciary Committee. He introduced various bills, participated in the Congressional investigation of the New York Port Authority, and served as one of seven members of Congress to inspect the North Atlantic Treaty Organizaion (NATO).

Useful To Beta Gamma

L.K.D. President, Edward G. Morhauser, announced that all students are invited to attend the lecture, Morhauser feels that members of Beta Gamma Debating Society will be particularly interested, since their topic for debate this year is Socialized Medicine.

He also expressed the hope that many faculty members would be able to attend, since the lecture includes the fields of medicine, government, economics, labor, research, and sociology.

T'n'T Builds Fund

The Turf and Tinsel Society of Villanova has announced that plans have been completed for a scholarship to be presented to a future student at Villanova.

Jim Mulvihill, Club President, has announced that the present fund, established at $2000, will be submitted to the Rev. John J. Curran, OSA, who will invest the money on behalf of T'n'T.

Oxford

for comfort...quality ...appearance

The rich texturing of fine oxford, the skillful tailoring give the assurance of being well-dressed. Case in point: the Arrow Tabber, the authentic British type improved with self-snap tabs. Your wardrobe is incomplete without this Arrow shirt.

$5.00

cum laude collection by ARROW®

ENGINEERS-SCIENTISTS

HAMILTON STANDARD

Division of

UNITED AIRCRAFT CORP.

will interview on

JANUARY 9, 10, 1961

ENGINEERS—BS, MS, Ph.D degrees in EE, ME, MET for outstanding career positions in analytical, design and development engineering.

SCIENTISTS—BS, MS, Ph.D degrees in Physics, EE, ME for challenging new study programs in Missiles & Space systems. Electron Beam Technology and our Research Laboratories.

A typical project under development: the air induction and environmental systems for the B-70 bomber.

★ SEASON'S GREETINGS ★

To the members of the student body, the faculty, the Administration, and the University staff, we of The VILLANOVAN extend our most sincere wishes for a happy and holy Christmas season.

We hope that the coming year will prove abundant in prosperity, grace, and wisdom for all.

Student-Teacher-Truth Reasons For College

Three reasons for the existence of a college present themselves: students, teachers and truth. These three are concommitant; the one exists for and because of the others, and when one suffers at the gain of another, all ultimately suffer.

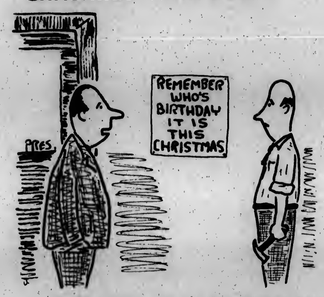
McGeorge Bundy, Dean of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University, writing in last Sunday's NEW YORK TIMES, has examined this three-headed criterion and its relationship to the proposed Ellis Island College.

As an important official in one of the world's finest and wealthiest schools, he speaks from a position which few can match. Certainly Harvard has proceeded quite a distance toward approaching the student-teacher-truth criterion.

But what of the college that has not approached the ideal as closely as has Harvard and a few other American institutions? It does not follow that such a college should in any way compromise the student-teacher-truth norm, for if it should do this, it will have destroyed itself. It will no longer be a college, but something else—perhaps a vocational school or something similar.

All policies of any college must be examined in the light of the above mentioned criterion, for again, if a single area of collegiate operation is neglected, then the whole is neglected. A college is an integral whole, a living growing individual. If, for example, science students are treated as sacrosanct, and are given unlimited financial benefits and physical equipment, while liberal arts students, let us say, must get by on makeshift arrangements and second-rate accommodations, then the policy which has produced this situation has ceased to be collegiate policy. It has become the policy of a training school for technicians.

Again, if a library purchases vast and expensive collections of Horace, Platus and Suetonius, and neglects works of a scientific and economic topics, then it has become a building for housing an impressive array of Latin literature, and has ceased to be a college library.



The question of athletics has become old hat. Heavily-endowed Ivy Colleges have solved the problem as it faces them through deemphasis. But what is the solution to the problem of a college whose whole sports program depends on the gate of last week's game? Provided that the student-teacher-truth relationship is not debased, a college in this position may go to any length to solve its difficulties. One alternative which has been offered is that student participation in sports be abolished, and that teams of professional athletes represent the school. Since few spectators seem really to care who they are watching, as long as they are watching something and it is the best, this might be the most effective way of eliminating sports difficulties.

The entire student-teacher-truth relationship must be carefully and completely aired in the committee rooms of American colleges, particularly in the American Catholic college. For if, as the President's Commission on National Goals and Purposes implied, time is running out for America in the world-wide struggle for existence, so also is disappearing the very existence of many American institutions as colleges. When an institution becomes bogged down in superficialities of policy, when it condemns itself to the slow death of inffectuality, when, in short, it neglects its basic purpose, this can only be because it is ignorant of, or worse, is afraid of, the student, the teacher, or most significantly, the truth.

Joy To The World

Christmas With Jonik

"Sorry, Fenley, none of that around here . . . we don't want to offend anyone."

" . . . er . . . Father Time? Aristole? The Sand Man? The Man In The Moon? Ernest Hemingway . . . "

President's Christmas Message

"For a child is born to us, and a son is given to us, and the government is upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, God the Mighty, the Father of the world to come, the Prince of Peace."

Last week those who were fortunate enough to have attended the concert given by the Villanova Singers, together with the Rosemont College Glee Club, heard a stirring rendition of these words of the prophet Isaias in the magnificent "Messiah" by Handel. The music is inspiring. The Villanova-Rosemont version of it was thrilling to hear.

The transition from the spine-tingling music of Handel and the glorious words of Isaias to the facts and realities of life is disturbing. Where is this peace which the Christ was to have brought to us? We are not actually engaged in physical warfare, but neither can it be said that we are at peace. The world is disturbed. Wherever on the globe you would look, you would find little cause for reassurance. In Africa, in Asia, in Europe, men are on the brink of battle. Worse yet, there is trouble at our doorstep, in Latin America, in Cuba. Where is the Peace of Christ?

I believe that the condition of our world today shows clearly what must be expected to follow from the abandonment of Christ by man. The brutal cynicism with which the Communists throughout the world seize upon any potential trouble spot to stir up revolt and confusion is a manifestation of what can be expected of man when he has rejected Our Lord and His teaching of Love and of Truth.

If we would restore the reign of Christ the Prince of Peace, it will take high courage and firm resolve. For he who would follow Christ must swim against the tide. The enemy would encourage you to relax, enjoy yourself, let others concern themselves with these weighty problems while you take it easy. After all, what can one man do?

One man, indeed, can do nothing. But one man working with God on his side is an invincible army. You alone, doing the things that God expects of you can be a most powerful influence for good. He expects you to fulfill the duties of your state in life as a student. He expects you to study, to learn the habits of industry, of charity, of sobriety, of chastity, that will make you a whole Christian person. He expects you to take some advantage of the many opportunities for grace that are yours: the Mass every day, the sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist. Not everyone has opportunities of this kind. Our Lord hopes that you will be one of His leaders and thus gives you added opportunity for grace.

If you will take the initiative to follow Christ, Our Saviour, you will find that there is much that you can do to work for the restoration of the peace of Christ to this world of ours. It may take a while to bring that peace to the whole world. But as soon as you begin to work for it, you will find the peace of Christ already in your soul.

May I express to all Villanovans, their families and their friends a most sincere wish that the Peace of Jesus Christ, the Saviour, may dwell in your hearts this Christmas time and forever.

Villanovan

VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahoe
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove
Charles Simonelli
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Leo G. Trubold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matonis
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Donovan
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Bongiane, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1933; under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODEREAU

LYNX Theme — Grotesque

by Henry James McAteer

"If authors have abandoned a well balanced approach to life, most critical leaders have discarded objectivity."

Eugene d'Anquila, in this extract, from his essay "Modern Man, Literature, and Values" which appears in today's edition of the LYNX, has succinctly identified the problem of the literary magazine on the Villanova campus.

As in previous editions the LYNX was characterized by, and deplored for, such themes as death and desolation. In the present edition it must certainly be characterized as "grotesque." Whether or not this trend in the literary efforts of students will meet with general approval depends, it seems, upon the objectivity of critical readers.

Pessimism Excusable

While readily confessing to our own former lack of patience with the predominantly pessimistic attitude of most of Villanova's literatures, which perhaps has been evident in our previous reviews of the magazine, we must now admit that perhaps pessimism on the part of writers is not inexcusable.

For although the common concept of the collegiate life as the closest thing to Utopia on earth may be true insofar as immediate comfort and security are concerned, the larger impending spectre of a "Madison Avenue" world, "when the bomb comes," and "What next," is disturbing, to say the least to the mind of the thinking college students.

The current edition of the LYNX, we believe, emphasizes sufficiently, if not always perfectly, the fact that Villanova's writers are as concerned as any with man's circumstances, purposes, and goals. If the magazine fails at all, it is in its contributors manner of expressing themselves.

Initial Story Shows Lynx's Flaw

J. L. MacDonald's "Jonah Smith," the initial story in the current edition, illustrates as well as any the magazine's major flaw. Mr. MacDonald's problem, that of self realization in an antogonistic world, is most crucial. His ideas, however, are lost in a welter of picturesque, often poetic, phrases, which while most effective individually, collectively act as literary quicksand so drawing the readers into an immediate situation of emotions and shock that he tends to forget the problem as an organic whole.

This tendency towards intensity of description is considerably more effective in the vignettes of sordid reality which Mr. MacDonald composes in free form.

Antithetical to Mr. MacDonald's poetic style is that of Geraldine Klekotka whose "I love" and "To My Beloved" are pieces of romantic imagery somewhat more formal in construction and essentially moralistic. Miss Klekotka displays a very gentle poetic imagination and a preoccupation with elements of religion and beauty which is refreshing, if not too subtle or complex.

"Sammy": Epitome of the Grotesque

The epitome of the grotesque in the current edition of the LYNX is Brian Vachon's "Sammy." In the form of a free flowing dialogue between a frighteningly deformed child and an assortment of characters who are usually repulsed but on a few occasions drawn, to the boy, it succeeds as social comment in emphasizing man's inhumanity to his less perfect brothers. It is extremely weak in literary significance, however, and its chief justification can only derive from its largely sensational nature.

John M. Graves' "Chance Meeting" is similar to the above mentioned "Jonah Smith" in that it explores the problem of self realization in relation to a vastly complex universe.

It is distinguished from most of the other prose in that a stream-of-consciousness elements are modulated to the capacity of a short-short story.

The most extreme of the subjective stories is H. Patrick Voelcher's "These I Must Fight." Completely lacking in capitalization, punctuation, and paragraphing, the work is characterized by alternating concepts indicated by Roman and Italic type face. We feel that every reader should note this story particularly, because we ourselves did not read beyond the fifth line.

William Speers' "December Interlude," a story of the Christmas celebration of three Negroes two white men who are outcasts of the human race, is by far the most cohesive, conclusive, complete contribution, possibly because Mr. Speers took the time and space to develop his characters and to present his theme more subtly. Hovweeer, his tendancy to use "almost the right word "almost the right word" in his description is a drawback to the over-all effect of the story.

(Continued on Page 9)

SPEERITUALISM

Xmas Same Every Year

By Bill Speers

For some reason, one of our more vivid childhood memories concerns a fourth grade composition we had written just prior to the Christmas holidays.

Entitled "What Christmas Means To Me", the brave effort abounded in such tinseled images and phrases as "Market Street Fairyland", the promise of the first snow, laughing and crying with lost relatives on Christmas Eve, the "cold, beautiful carolers", and the ultimate morning of gift giving.

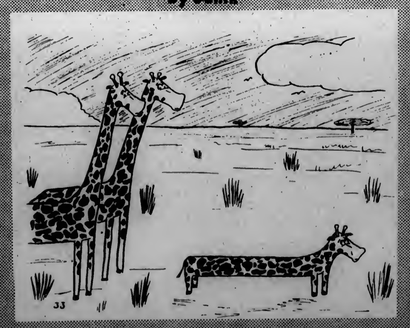
And, of course, to insure a happy mark, we expounded on Bethlehem as a finale.

Enough years have passed since then to force many a cynical, "not again" attitude among us all. The further one seems to get from the "fourth grade" the more entrenched he becomes in Christmas complacency.

We, however, take strenuous objection to those who believe Christmas is only for children.

The "Market Street Fairyland", the first snow, etc. are only the needles which make up the branches which make up the tree.

As adults we must look deeply, but the branches are there. They are symbolic of the Christ, mainly, but also parents, husband, wives, and sweethearts.



The branches are love; instituted by the divine, instilled in us by Christ and maintained by all those we love.

It always seems so opaque, so worn, so everyday. Yet at this time every year, it all seems so clear. That's because Christmas is love, a symphony of love, if you will.

Maybe it's a cycle. We taste it, lose it, then very slowly it returns again. Perhaps, before we all die, the branches have all sprouted, and the elusive tree is finally visible perhaps, each Christmas is an annual ring.

RIVER STYX

By Jonik

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

DECK THE HALLS

The time has come to make out our Christmas shopping lists, for Christmas will be upon us quicker than you can say Jack Robinson. (Have you ever wondered, incidentally, about the origin of this interesting phrase "Quicker than you can say Jack Robinson"? Well sir, the original phrase was French—"Plus vite que de dire Jacques Robespierre." Jack Robinson is, as everyone knows, an anglicization of Jacques Robespierre who was, as everyone knows, the famous figure from the French Revolution who, as everyone knows, got murdered in his bath by Danton, Murat, Caligula, and Aaron Burr.

(The reason people started saying "Quicker than you can say Jacques Robespierre (or Jack Robinson as he is called in English-speaking countries)" is quite an interesting little story. It seems that Robespierre's wife, Georges Sand, got word of the plot to murder her husband in his bath. All she had to do to save his life was call his name and warn him. But, alas, quicker than she could say Jacques Robespierre, she received a telegram from her old friend Frederic Chopin who was down in Majorca setting lyrics to his immortal "Warsaw Concerto." Chopin said he needed Georges Sand's help desperately because he could not find a rhyme for "Warsaw." Naturally, Georges Sand could not refuse such an urgent request.

(Well sir, Georges Sand went traipsing off to Majorca, but before she left she told her little daughter Walter that some bad men were coming to murder daddy in his bath, and she instructed Walter to shout Robespierre's name when the bad men arrived. But Walter, alas, had been sea-bathing that morning on the Riviera, and she had come home loaded with sea shells and salt water taffy, and when the bad men came to murder Robespierre, Walter, alas, was chewing a big wad of salt water taffy and could not get her mouth open in time to shout a warning. Robespierre, alas, was murdered quicker than you could shout Jacques Robespierre (or Jack Robinson as he is called in the English-speaking countries).

(There is, I am pleased to report, one small note of cheer in this grisly tale. When Georges Sand got to Majorca where Chopin was setting lyrics to his immortal "Warsaw Concerto," she was happily able to help him find a rhyme for "Warsaw," as everyone knows who has heard those haunting lyrics:

In the fair town of Warsaw,
Which Napoleon's horse saw,
Singing cockles and mussels, alive alive o!)

Yes, Virginia, there is...

But I digress.

We were speaking of Christmas gifts. What we all strive to do at Christmas is, of course, to find unusual, offbeat, different gifts for our friends. May I suggest then a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes?

What? You are astonished? You had not thought of Marlboros as unusual, offbeat, different? You had regarded them as familiar, reliable smokes whose excellence varied not one jot or tittle from year to year?

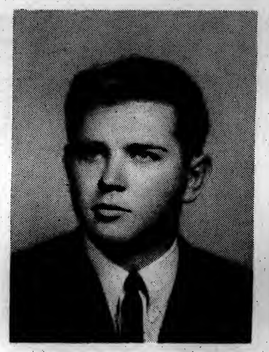
True. All true. But at the same time, Marlboros are unusual, offbeat, different, because every time you try one, it's like the first time. The flavor never palls, never gets hackneyed. Each Marlboro is a fresh delight, a pristine pleasure, and if you want all your friends to clap their hands and exclaim, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus!" you will put them at the very top of your Christmas list.

© 1960 Max Shulman

* * *

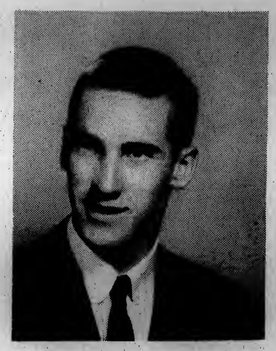
And for further Yuletide joy, give Marlboro's nonfiltered companion cigarette, mild, flavorful Philip Morris—in regular size or the sensational new king-size Commander. You'll be welcome aboard!

The Old Timer



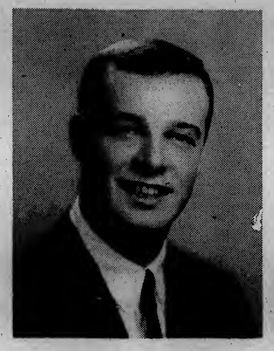
"If you want the world to beat a path to your door, just lie down to take a nap."

BRYN MAWR FETE

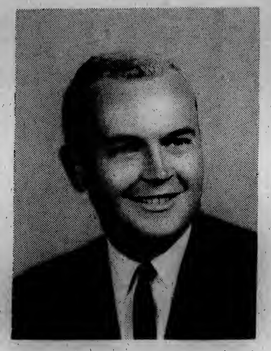


Dr. Arthur Colby Sprague, Professor of English at Bryn Mawr College was the guest speaker at the initial Lecture Program sponsored by the Villanova English Department last Thursday evening.

The topic of Dr. Sprague's discourse was "Shakespeare and his Audience."



1961 WHO'S WHO...



LAWRENCE E. BATHGATE II
R.D. No. 3, Farmingdale, N.J.
Lakewood High School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

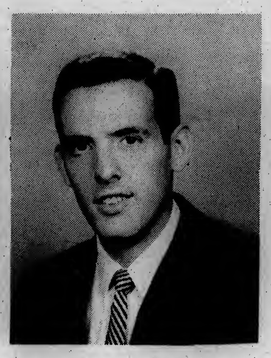
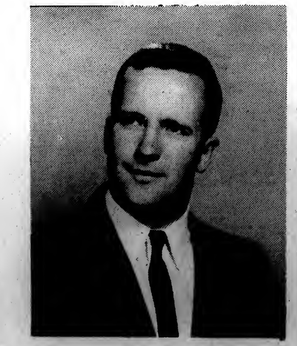
ROBERT H. BOHN, JR.
1892 Timothy Drive N.E.
Atlanta, Ga.
Salesianum High School (Del.)
Bachelor of Arts (English)

THOMAS M. BROWN
11232 McKinney Street
Austin Catholic Preparatory School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

FRANCIS P. CAROLAN
537 W. Olney Avenue,
Philadelphia, Pa.
Northeast Catholic High School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)



WILLIAM F. CASSIN, JR.
39 Monroe Avenue,
Larchmont, N.Y.
Iona Preparatory School
Bachelor of Arts



JOSEPH H. CRAMER
7 Jenkins Road,
Red Creek, N.Y.
Red Creek Central School
Bachelor of Arts (Political Science)

PAUL E. CRAWFORD
610 Mason Avenue,
Drexel Hill, Pa.
Monsignor Bonner High School
Bachelor of Engineering (Mechanical)

NICHOAS J. DeANGELIS
205 James Drive,
Havertown, Pa.
Monsignor Bonner High School
Bachelor of Science (Physics)

THOMAS J. DILLON
689 State Street
Albany, N.Y.
Vincentian Institute,
Bachelor of Engineering (Electrical)

Lawrence E. Bathgate II—Student Council (DPE Representative) 3, Senate 4; Class Vice President 3; Class President 4; Steering Committee 3, 4; Mothers'' Day Committee 3; Prom Committee 3, 4; Dinner Dance Committee 3, 4; Orientation Committee 3, 4; Nick Basca Committe 4! Accounting Society 2, 3, 4; Turf 'n' Tinsel 3, 4; DPE 2, 3, 4; Interfraternity Ball Committee 3, 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

Robert H. Bohn Jr. — Steering Committee 3, 4; Cotillion Decorations Chairman 2; Mothers' Day Committee 3; Prom Committee Chairman 4; Spanish Club 1; Literary Club 3, 4; BELLE AIR 4; DPM 1, 2, 3, 4; Joyce Kiely Mile Chairman 3; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

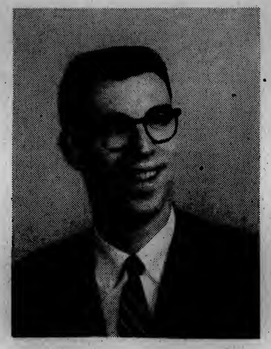
Francis P. Carolan — Student Accounting Society Representative) Steering Committee 3, 4; Prom Committee 4; Ring Committee 3: Accounting Society 2, 3, 4.

William F. Cassin, Jr. — Steering Committee 4; Mothers' Day Committee Co-Chairman 3; Spirit Committee 2; Turf 'n' Tinsel 3; Sanctuary Society 1, 2, 3: DPM 1, 2, 3, President 4; Interfraternity Ball Committee 4; Swimming 1, 2, 3, 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

Joseph H. Cramer — Homecoming Committee 3, 4: Orphans' Committee 3, 4: Spanish Club 1, 2, 3: Baseball 2, 3, 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

Paul E. Crawford — Student Council 4; Sanctuary Society 3, 4: American Society of Mechanical Engineers 2, 3, 4; The VILLANOVA ENGINEER 2, 3. Editor-in-Chief 4; The VILLANOVAN 3; PKP 1, 2, 3, 4; XEM Honor Fraternity 3; PTS Honor Fraternity 3, 4; Interfraternity Ball Committee 2.

Nicholas J. DeAngelis — American Institute of Electrical Engineers & Institute of Radio Engineers 2; American Institute of Physics 4; Physics Club 3, 4; Cross Country 1, 2, 3, 4; Track 1, 2, 3, 4.



Thomas J. Dillon—American Institute of Electrical Engineers & Institute of Radio Engineers 3, 4; Sanctuary Society 2, 3, 4: Russian Club 3, 4; NROTC Battalion Commander 4; Pershing Rifles 1, 2, 3, 4; Semer Fidelis Society 3, 4; Quarterdeck Society 4; EM Honor Fraternity 3, President 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

Michael D. Donahue — Steering Committee 3; Mothers' Day Committee 3; Philosophy Club 2, 3; The VILLANOVAN 1, 2, Campus News Editor, Associate Editor, Junior Week Editor 3, Managing Editor 4; The LYNX 3, 4; Literary Club 3, President 4; WWVU 2, Intramurals 3, 4.

John P. Donohue—Steering Committee 4; Prom Committee 4; Fathers' Day Committee 4; Spirit Committee 1; Nick Basca Committee 4; Finance Club 4; Society for Advancement of Management 2, 3, 4; International Relations Society 1; Turf "n' Tinsel 1, 2; President 3, Treasurer 4; DPE 2, Secretary 3, Treasurer 4; Inter-fraternity Ball Decorations Chairman 3, Ticket Chairman 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

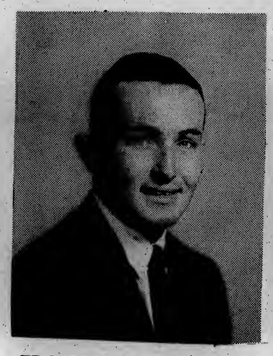
David R. Grenon — Class Treasurer 4; Steering Committee 4; Prom Committee 3, 4; Dinner

WHO THEY ARE...

MICHAEL D. DONAHUE
1503 DeKalb Street
Norristown, Pa.
Bishop Kenrick High School
Bachelor of Arts

JOHN P. DONOHUE
215 Pine Street,
Lakewood, N.J.
Lakewood High School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

DAVID R. GRENON
276 Lincoln Street,
Worcester, Mass.
Assumption Preparatory School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)



EILEEN M. GREYSON
631 Valley View Road
Ardmore, Pa.
Notre Dame High School
Bachelor of Science (Nursing)

HENRY JAMES McATEER
Henry James McAteer
Philadelphia, Pa.
Northeast Catholic High School
Bachelor of Arts (English)

JOHN P. McGARRY
1201 Christine Circle
Scotch Plains, N.J.
Seton Hall Preparatory School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

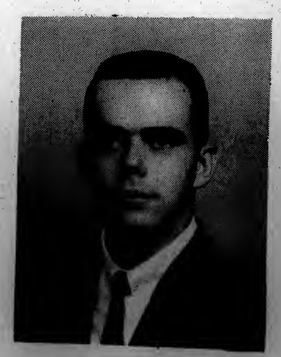
FRANCIS M. McNALLY
N. Maine Street,
Southampton, N.Y.
Southampton High School
Bachelor of Arts (History)

RICHARD T. McNAMAR
1419 S. Newport Avenue,
Tulsa, Oklahoma . .
Cascia Hall
Bachelor of Arts

Dance Committee 4; Cotillion Ticket Chairman 2; Jazz Concert Committee 4; Spirit Committee 2, 4; Publicity Chairman 3; Blue Key 4; Nick Basca Committee 4; Knights of Columbus 1, 2, 3, 4; Pre-Law Society 2, 3, 4; WWVU 2, 3, News and Sports Director ; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

Eileen M. Greyson — Student Council 3; Cotillion Committee 2; Mothers'' Day Committee 3; Orphans' Committee 3; Prom Committee 3, 4; Dinner Dance Committee 4; Spirit Committee 1, 2; Orientation Committee 2, 3; Shamokinaki Program Chairman 2, 3, 4; Nick Basca Committee 4; The BELLE AIR 1, 3, 4, Nursing Editor 2; WWVU 1; Turf 'n' Tinsel 1, 2, 3, 4; Belle Masque 1, 2, 3, 4; The LYNX 1, 2, 3, 4; PT 1, 2, 3, President 4.

Henry James McAteer—Student Council VILLANOVAN Representative 4; Blue Key 4; Russian Club 2: Philosophy Club 3: The VILLANOVAN Feature Editor 2, News Editor, Managing Editor 3, Editor-in-Chief 4; The BELLE AIR 2, 3; WWVU 2, 3; The LYNX 1, 2; Publicity Editor 3; Literary Club 2, 3; Music Society 3, 4; Intramurals 1, 2.



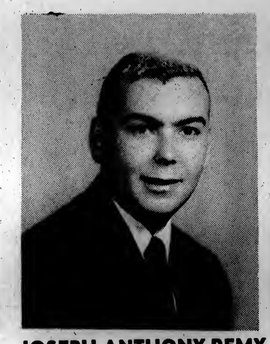
John P. McGarry—Student Council (Belle Masque Representative) 3; Steering Committee 4; Prom Committee 4; Orientation Committee 3; Spirit Committee 2, 3; Nick Basca Committee 4; Marketing Club 2, 3, 4; The BELLE AIR Business Manager 4: Belle Masque 1, 2, 3, 4: Intramurals 1, 2, 3.

Clinton J. Norris—Steering Committee 4; Mothers' Day Publicity Chairman 3; Student Tutor Association 3, 4; Shamokinaki Dance Committee 1; Sanctuary Society 1, 2, 3, 4: American Institute of Chemical Engineers 2. Treasurer 3, President ; PKP 1, 2, 3, 4: XEM Honor Fraternity 3, 4: TBP Honor Fraternity Secretary 4.

Paul J. O'Rourke—Student Council 3, Fraternities and Societies Chairman 4; Steering Committee 2; Cotillion Refreshments Chairman 2; Orphans' Committee 3; Mothers' Day Ticket Chairman 3; Prom Ticket Chairman 4; Spirit Committee 1, 2; Orientation Committee 2, 3, 4: Jazz Concert 3, 4; DES Honor Fraternity 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

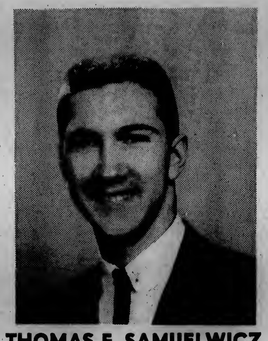
Joseph Anthony Remy—Student Council (Beta Gamma Representative) 3, Parliamentarian, Student Cabinet 4: Student Council Dance Ticket Co-Chairman 3: American Chemical Society 1: Beta Gamma Debate Society 1, 2, 3, 4;

James M. Rhodes, Jr.—Student Council 3; Class Secretary 2; Steering Committee 3; Blazer Committee 2; Cotillion Committee 2; Mothers' Day Committee 3; Student Tutor Association 3; Orientation Committee 2, 3; Sanctuary Society 1, 2, 3; Knights of Columbus 1, 2, 3, 4; American Society of Mechanical Engineers 4; International Relations Society 3; Pre-Law Society 3, 4; Philosophy Club 3, 4; Beta President ; NROTC Company Com-Gamma Debate Society 1, 2, 3, mander 4; Quarterdeck Society 4; PTS Honor Fraternity 4.

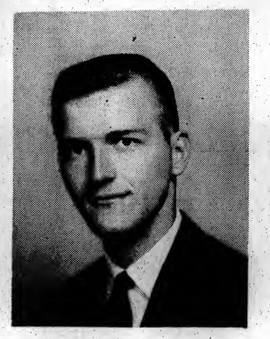


CLINTON J. NORRIS
82-44 Eliot Avnue
Rego Park, N.Y.
Bishop Loughlin Memorial High
Bachelor of Engineering (Chemical)

...WHAT THEY DID!



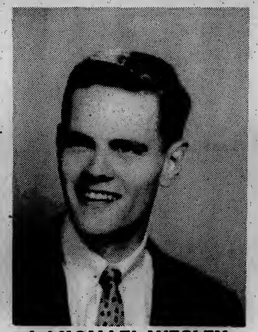
PAUL J. O'ROURKE
733 Anderson Avenue
Drexel Hill, Pa.
Monsignor Bonner High School
Bachelor of Arts (History)



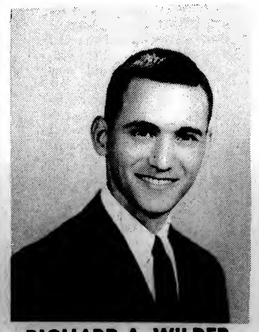
JOSEPH ANTHONY REMY
531 Barr Avenue
Linwood, N.J.
Holy Spirit High School
Bachelor of Science (Mathematics)

JAMES M. RHODES, R.
162 Red Bank Manor
Red Bank, N.J.
Red Bank Catholic High School
Bachelor of Engineering (Mechanical)

THOMAS F. SAMUELWICZ
3361 Salmon Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
Northeast Catholic High School
Bachelor of Arts (General)



MICHAEL J. SPAHN
Cambria Heights, NY.
La Salle Academy
Bachelor of Arts (Political Science)



JAMES A. STRAZELLA
240 Baer Avenue
Hanover, Pa.
Delone Catholic High School
Bachelor of Arts (Philosophy)

JOHN G. VALVA
5 Stark Place,
Lynbrook, N.Y.
Chaminade High School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

J. MICHAEL WESLEY
30 Summer Park
Rochester, N.Y.
Aquinas Institute
Bachelor of Arts

RICHARD A. WILDER
5833 Sylvester Street
Philadelphia, Pa.
Father Judge High School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

Thomas F. Samulewicz — Class Vice President 4; Steering Committee 4; MUFF Day Co-Chairman 3; Jazz Festival Co-Chairman 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4.

Michael J. Spahn — Spirit Committee 1, 2; Orientation Committee 2; Nick Basca Committee 4; Knights of Columbus 1, Outside Guard 3, Warden 4; Intercollegiate Confeernce on Government 3; International Relations Society 2, 3, 4; The BELLE AIRE Sports Editor 3, Editor-in-Chief 4; WWVU 1, 2; NROTC Ensign 4; Quarterdeck Society 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

James A. Strazzella — Student Council Cabinet, Senate, Executive Vice President for Educational Affairs, Student-Faculty Committee Chairman 4; Steering Committee 3; Mothers' Day Committee Co-Chairman 3; Orientation Committee 4; Sanctuary Society 2; Secretary 3, President 4; Philosophy Club 4; Beta Gamma Debate Society 2, 3, 4; Pre-Law Society 3, 4; The LYNX 3, Copy Editor 4.

John G. Valva—Student Council Senate 3, Co-ordinnator 4; Orientation Committee 2; Spirit Committee Co-Chairman 3; Society for Advancement of Management 2; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

J. Michael Wesley — Student Council (Spanish Club Representative) 3, 4; Steering Committee 4; Sanctuary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Confraternity of Christian Doctrine 4; Spanish Club 3, 4; The LYNX Copy Editor 2, 3; Co-Editor-in-Chief 4; Music Society 1, 2, 3, 4; The BELLE AIR Copy Editor 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

Richard A. Wilder — Student Council (Semper Fidelis Representative) 3, Student Union and Special Problems Committee Co-Chairman, Student Senate 4; Steering Committee 4; Orientation Committee 3; Student Council Dance Committee 3; Accounting Society 1, 2, 3, ; NROTC, Semper Fidelis Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

'Round Midnight

By Joe Zawacki

Krechmer's Features Dixieland In Seclusion

Zawacki

Looking for something different to do on Saturday night after the Palestra game, Well, cynics corner of 'ROUND MIDNIGHT has done it again. Taking cognizance of the fact that the college - bred conformists generally look for entertainment of the audience participation variety, we have found a club where you can hear some good old fashioned NEW ORLEANS JAZZ, commonly referred to as "DIXIELAND" by the misinformed. This is something akin to finding an oasis in a desert of rock 'n roll.

The place is simply entitled Billy Krechmer's, named after the owner and clarinetist of the house band; and the biggest difficulty encountered enjoying the music is finding the place. Krechmer's is located on Ramstead street, between 16th and 17th in downtown Philly.

Ramstead, in turn, is located between Market and Chestnut streets.

The music is from 9:15-2:00 during the week and from 8:30 to closing on Saturday. Since there is never a minimum at the bar and the table minimum is $2.50 per persen, it makes an ideal place for a different Saturday night date.

The owner is an unassuming gentleman. Unassuming that is, until he climbs on the bandstand with his licorice stick in hand. Then the foot starts tapping in the most traditional way, and if you'll pardon the use of a cliche, "the joint starts jumping." At 50, Billy Krechmer has been playing professionally for some 34 years, and according to bartender Dave Klein, still recognizes the value of constant practice. This is quite obvious to the patrons.

All-Star Jam Session

Krechmer opened his place back in 1938 for reasons of health which forbade his traveling with a band as had been his way of life 'til then. Among the bands he played with: Red Nichols, Vincent Lopez, and Isham Jones. While still after opening his club the place did not lack music, simply because friends always remained true, no matter when or where. Such musical luminaries as Jimmy Dorsey and Benny Goodman filled in for Billy during the period when good bands were a dine a dozen and good music even more plentiful.

Billy remembered one night in 1939 (when the closing hours were not as strictly enforced) that some of the musicians playing at the Old Earle and Clique would stop in after their show was finished for all-night jam sessions. On this particular night, the group playing in the wee small hours included Jimmy Dorsey, Artie Shaw, Ray McKinley, and Harry James. And if this sounds like a tall tale to you, rest assured, it isn't because Krechmer has the pictures to prove it in a huge album.

The boss' house band has been the training ground for some fine musicians over the years. Among the more prominent alumni are Ray Bryant, oassist supreme Sam Stewart, guitarist Tal Farlow, and Johnny Smith. With a successful club going well for him, Krechmer finds philosophizing easy "In this country," he says, "money is automatic and if you are sincere in your job and work hard at it, you will never starve." Billy Krechmer isn't starving.

****

It's no secret at this late date that British comedy is our cup of tea (the pun is intended) and so we find it no labor at all to report three more finds for your viewing pleasure. The first two are from the same studio, Pinewood and same producer Peter Rogers. "Carry on Nurse" already in the neighborhood circuit here is still playing first run in several major cities.

It is a sparkling film, due mainly to the seemingly devil-may-care attitude of the actors. We won't go into any lengthly detail of the plot, but suffice it to say, that it is recommended to all those in need of a hearty laugh.

The newer presentation is "Please Turn Over," due December 22 at Max Kanefsky's Studio Theatre (16th and Market). Caught last week at a private screening, this one is more in the British vein of satire and benefits from a tighter script. Comedian vaudevillian Ted Ray is the star of this opus and he should be a welcome edition to the art houses if his performance in this film is any indication.

Finally, "Left, Right and Center," is recommended for no other reason then because it is good enough to play at the Green Hill. Experience has proven to us that when the Serena Brothers obtain a picture, it is worth seeing. British stawarts Ian Carmichael and Alastair Sims are two more good reasons for seeing this "expose" of the political game, now in its seventh week at the G. H.

by Tony Carbone

Apologies to "The Glass Menagerie" company (above photo). We intended to see and review the play, but inclement weather prevented tis. We also take this opportunity to wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of our readers.- Zawacki

LYNX Review

(Continued from Page 5)

The LYNX's sole essay, noted at the beginning of this review, is one of better pieces in the magazine, although it is a bit inconclusive. Eugene D'Aquila develops his thesis logically, clearly, and sucinctly. His point, that readers should maintain objectivity in judging creative writing is one that deserves particular attention in a Catholic University.

Art work by Joseph Ruggiero, Joseph Conlin, and John Jonik is particularly noteworthy both in execution and in arangement on the pages. The magazine's cover, a distinct innovation, departs from the usual abstract LYNX cover. Quite attractive, it is being counted on as a strong selling point by the editors, and should succeed in this regard.

On the whole, the tone of the current edition of the LYNX is quite different from that of previous editions. We strongly recommend it to all Villanovans who are in any way concerned with originality and creativity at Villanova.

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1958 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Safe Deposit

John always did take things too seriously . . . like that habit of locking his Coke up in a safe! Sure everybody likes Coca-Cola . . . sure there's nothing more welcome than the good taste of Coca-Cola. But really—a safe just for Coke! Incidentally—know the combination, anyone?

Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

THE PHILADELPHIA BOTTLING CO.

'Wildcat' Moves On To N.Y.

by Al LaMastra

By the time this article appears in The VILLANOVAN, the Michael Kidd-N. Richard Nash production of "Wildcat", starring Lucille Ball, will have left the Erlanger theater for the greener canyons of the Great White Way. The memory of this gusty musical hit, nevertheless, will most certainly linger on for months to come.

Entering the theater with many doubts as to the true value of my ticket, I did not know what to expect. Lucille Ball had always been the number one comedienne in the world at the "box," but her limitations musical-comedy wise were always apparent. A soft-shoe routine while singing ten choruses of "Friendship" was her only forte. In her early RKO and MGM movies, it was Miss Ball's lips that moved but Anita Ellis' voice on the soundtrack.

The curtain ran up and my doubts were somewhat allayed by the opening number, "I Hear," and by scene two with Wildy (Lucy) well-warmed, joining the Countess (Edith King) in "That's What I Want for Janie." I settled back and knew that in spite of my previous misgivings this show would be a two-year hit.

Book By Nash

The book, by N. Richard Nash, tells of an oil wildcatter's daughter who wants to make a strike in order to help a crippled sister and also to fortify her own ego. Although rather weak in construction, the show is well-laced with comic situations bound to evoke laughter.

In the tradition of 'Li'l Abner," "Destry Rides Again," and the still-talked-about movie, "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," Michael Kidd has provided the musical with several show-stopping dance ensembles. Both "Give a Little Whistle" and "El Sombrero" contain the characteristics of the choreographer's earlier Broadway endeavors, while at the same time introducing some very exciting and sparkling new steps which bring down the house.

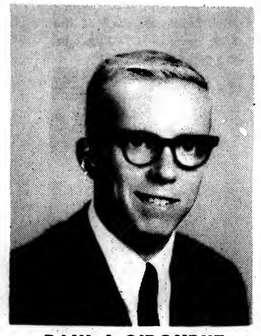
Although some of Cy Coleman's melodies seem rather undistinguished, Carolyn Leigh's lyrics more than compensate for the deficiency, as evidenced in "Tall Hope" and various other numbers sung by the chorus.

Splendid Performance

The supporting cast, under Kidd's direction, turns in a splendid performance. Keith Andes, the male lead seen as Joe Dynamite, has an excellent voice and shows it off to perfection. Edith King as the Countess supplies the show with some of its funniest moments as she shares her whisky with her dog and her parrot and drops flowerpots on the Town Sheriff.

Paula Stewart and Clifford David are well-matched as the young lovers with problems. Don Tomkings as Sookie, the "Old Buzzard" who won't wash so that people will stay away from him, joins Miss Ball in the evening's first show-stopper, "What Takes My Fancy."

Lucille Ball? Well, she is just plain ol' Lucy from beginning to end. Rowdy, conniving, pouting, bubbling, nimble, and explosive, Lucy is back in the limelight; and with the extra-special bellow that only she has, who needs a voice to put a song over? She even gives the audience a little of her wonderful pantomime as she makes faces, gesticulates, and finally lapses into her wonderful sarcastic self.



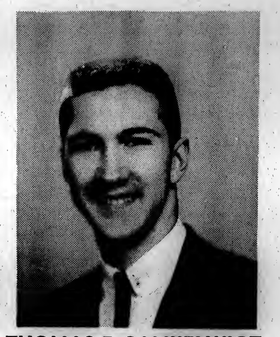
Writer Gets Interview

Apparently, Miss Ball is "enjoying every minute of it" as she said in her dressing room after the show. "I've wanted to do something like this for so many years, but because of TV committments I never got around to it." When I asked her if she had any special plans for the future, she replied, "Right now my future is with this show, but I hope to make a few more pictures. I've just finished a movie with Bob Hope ("Facts of Life") and it should be released in the winter of 1961."

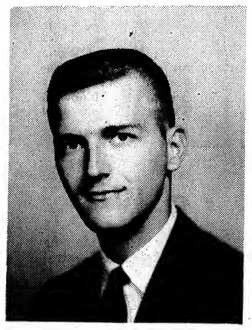
When I asked about Bob Hope, Lucy continued, "It's been so much fun working with Bob. This is the third time we've teamed together on the screen and I'm sure the audience will find it very funny comedy when we get together." She then excused herself and took her children by the hand as they left the theatre for an early dinner so that she could be back in plenty of time for the evening performance.

SUM UP: The play is a must for all Lucy fans. During the holidays, all Philadelphians who missed it should take a trip to New York City and catch it at the Alvin Theatre on 52nd Street.

...WHAT THEY DID!

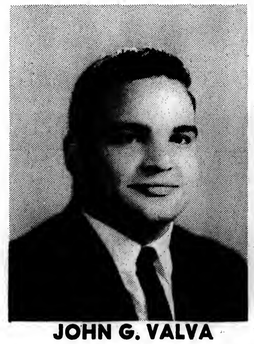


PAUL J. O'ROURKE
733 Anderson Avenue
Drexel Hill, Pa.
Monsignor Bonner High School
Bachelor of Arts (History)

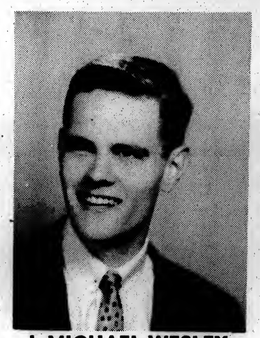


JOSEPH ANTHONY REMY
531 Barr Avenue
Linwood, N.J.
Holy Spirit High School
Bachelor of Science (Mathematics)

JAMES M. RHODES, R.
162 Red Bank Manor
Red Bank, N.J.
Red Bank Catholic High School
Bachelor of Engineering (Mechanical)



THOMAS F. SAMUELWICZ
3361 Salmon Street,
Philadelphia, Pa.
Northeast Catholic High School
Bachelor of Arts (General)



MICHAEL J. SPAHN
Cambria Heights, NY.
La Salle Academy
Bachelor of Arts (Political Science)

JAMES A. STRAZELLA
240 Baer Avenue
Hanover, Pa.
Delone Catholic High School
Bachelor of Arts (Philosophy)

JOHN G. VALVA
5 Stark Place,
Lynbrook, N.Y.
Chaminade High School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

J. MICHAEL WESLEY
30 Summer Park
Rochester, N.Y.
Aquinas Institute
Bachelor of Arts

RICHARD A. WILDER
5833 Sylvester Street
Philadelphia, Pa.
Father Judge High School
Bachelor of Science (Economics)

Thomas F. Samulewicz — Class Vice President 4; Steering Committee 4; MUFF Day Co-Chairman 3; Jazz Festival Co-Chairman 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4.

Michael J. Spahn — Spirit Committee 1, 2; Orientation Committee 2; Nick Basca Committee 4; Knights of Columbus 1, Outside Guard 3, Warden 4; Intercollegiate Confeernce on Government 3; International Relations Society 2, 3, 4; The BELLE AIRE Sports Editor 3, Editor-in-Chief 4; WWVU 1, 2; NROTC Ensign 4; Quarterdeck Society 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

James A. Strazzella — Student Council Cabinet, Senate, Executive Vice President for Educational Affairs, Student-Faculty Committee Chairman 4; Steering Committee 3; Mothers' Day Committee Co-Chairman 3; Orientation Committee 4; Sanctuary Society 2; Secretary 3, President 4; Philosophy Club 4; Beta Gamma Debate Society 2, 3, 4; Pre-Law Society 3, 4; The LYNX 3, Copy Editor 4.

John G. Valva—Student Council Senate 3, Co-ordinnator 4; Orientation Committee 2; Spirit Committee Co-Chairman 3; Society for Advancement of Management 2; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

J. Michael Wesley — Student Council (Spanish Club Representative) 3, 4; Steering Committee 4; Sanctuary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Confraternity of Christian Doctrine 4; Spanish Club 3, 4; The LYNX Copy Editor 2, 3; Co-Editor-in-Chief 4; Music Society 1, 2, 3, 4; The BELLE AIR Copy Editor 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

Richard A. Wilder — Student Council (Semper Fidelis Representative) 3, Student Union and Special Problems Committee Co-Chairman, Student Senate 4; Steering Committee 4; Orientation Committee 3; Student Council Dance Committee 3; Accounting Society 1, 2, 3, ; NROTC, Semper Fidelis Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Intramurals 1, 2, 3, 4.

'Round Midnight

By Joe Zawacki

Krechmer's Features Dixieland In Seclusion

Zawacki

Looking for something different to do on Saturday night after the Palestra game, Well, cynics corner of 'ROUND MIDNIGHT has done it again. Taking cognizance of the fact that the college - bred conformists generally look for entertainment of the audience participation variety, we have found a club where you can hear some good old fashioned NEW ORLEANS JAZZ, commonly referred to as "DIXIELAND" by the misinformed. This is something akin to finding an oasis in a desert of rock 'n roll.

The place is simply entitled Billy Krechmer's, named after the owner and clarinetist of the house band; and the biggest difficulty encountered enjoying the music is finding the place. Krechmer's is located on Ramstead street, between 16th and 17th in downtown Philly.

Ramstead, in turn, is located between Market and Chestnut streets.

The music is from 9:15-2:00 during the week and from 8:30 to closing on Saturday. Since there is never a minimum at the bar and the table minimum is $2.50 per person, it makes an ideal place for a different Saturday night date.

The owner is an unassuming gentleman. Unassuming that is, until he climbs on the bandstand with his licorice stick in hand. Then the foot starts tapping in the most traditional way, and if you'll pardon the use of a cliche, "the joint starts jumping." At 50, Billy Krechmer has been playing professionally for some 34 years, and according to bartender Dave Klein, still recognizes the value of constant practice. This is quite obvious to the patrons.

All-Star Jam Session

Krechmer opened his place back in 1938 for reasons of health which forbade his traveling with a band as had been his way of life 'til then. Among the bands he played with: Red Nichols, Vincent Lopez, and Isham Jones. While still after opening his club the place did not lack music, simply because friends always remained true, no matter when or where. Such musical luminaries as Jimmy Dorsey and Benny Goodman filled in for Billy during the period when good bands were a dine a dozen and good music even more plentiful.

Billy remembered one night in 1939 (when the closing hours were not as strictly enforced) that some of the musicians playing at the Old Earle and Clique would stop in after their show was finished for all-night jam sessions. On this particular night, the group playing in the wee small hours included Jimmy Dorsey, Artie Shaw, Ray McKinley, and Harry James. And if this sounds like a tall tale to you, rest assured, it isn't because Krechmer has the pictures to prove it in a huge album.

The boss' house band has been the training ground for some fine musicians over the years. Among the more prominent alumni are Ray Bryant, bassist supreme Sam Stewart, guitarist Tal Farlow, and Johnny Smith. With a successful club going well for him, Krechmer finds philosophizing easy "In this country," he says, "money is automatic and if you are sincere in your job and work hard at it, you will never starve." Billy Krechmer isn't starving.

****

It's no secret at this late date that British comedy is our cup of tea (the pun is intended) and so we find it no labor at all to report three more finds for your viewing pleasure. The first two are from the same studio, Pinewood and same producer Peter Rogers. "Carry on Nurse" already in the neighborhood circuit here is still playing first run in several major cities.

It is a sparkling film, due mainly to the seemingly devil-may-care attitude of the actors. We won't go into any lengthly detail of the plot, but suffice it to say, that it is recommended to all those in need of a hearty laugh.

The newer presentation is "Please Turn Over," due December 22 at Max Kanefsky's Studio Theatre (16th and Market). Caught last week at a private screening, this one is more in the British vein of satire and benefits from a tighter script. Comedian vaudevillian Ted Ray is the star of this opus and he should be a welcome edition to the art houses if his performance in this film is any indication.

Finally, "Left, Right and Center," is recommended for no other reason then because it is good enough to play at the Green Hill. Experience has proven to us that when the Serena Brothers obtain a picture, it is worth seeing. British stawarts Ian Carmichael and Alastair Sims are two more good reasons for seeing this "expose" of the political game, now in its seventh week at the G. H.

Apologies to "The Glass Menagerie" company (above photo). We intended to see and review the play, but inclement weather prevented tis. We also take this opportunity to wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of our readers.-Zawacki

LYNX Review

(Continued from Page 5)

The LYNX's sole essay, noted at the beginning of this review, is one of better pieces in the magazine, although it is a bit inconclusive. Eugene D'Aquila develops his thesis logically, clearly, and sucinctly. His point, that readers should maintain objectivity in judging creative writing is one that deserves particular attention in a Catholic University.

Art work by Joseph Ruggiero, Joseph Conlin, and John Jonik is particularly noteworthy both in execution and in arangement on the pages. The magazine's cover, a distinct innovation, departs from the usual abstract LYNX cover. Quite attractive, it is being counted on as a strong selling point by the editors, and should succeed in this regard.

On the whole, the tone of the current edition of the LYNX is quite difierent from that of previous editions. We strongly recommend it to all Villanovans who are in any way concerned with originality and creativity at Villanova.

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1958 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Safe Deposit

John always did take things too seriously . . . like that habit of locking his Coke up in a safe! Sure everybody likes Coca-Cola . . . sure there's nothing more welcome than the good taste of Coca-Cola. But really—a safe just for Coke! Incidentally—know the combination, anyone?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

THE PHILADELPHIA BOTTLING CO.

'Wildcat' Moves On To N.Y.

by Al LaMastra

By the time this article appears in The VILLANOVAN, the Michael Kidd-N. Richard Nash production of "Wildcat", starring Lucille Ball, will have left the Erlanger theater for the greener canyons of the Great White Way. The memory of this gusty musical hit, nevertheless, will most certainly linger on for months to come.

Entering the theater with many doubts as to the true value of my ticket, I did not know what to expect. Lucille Ball had always been the number one comedienne in the world at the "box," but her limitations musical-comedy wise were always apparent. A soft-shoe routine while singing ten choruses of "Friendship" was her only forte. In her early RKO and MGM movies, it was Miss Ball's lips that moved but Anita Ellis' voice on the soundtrack.

The curtain ran up and my doubts were somewhat allayed by the opening number, "I Hear," and by scene two with Wildy (Lucy) well-warmed, joining the Countess (Edith King) in "That's What I Want for Janie." I settled back and knew that in spite of my previous misgivings this show would be a two-year hit.

Book By Nash

The book, by N. Richard Nash, tells of an oil wildcatter's daughter who wants to make a strike in order to help a crippled sister and also to fortify her own ego. Although rather weak in construction, the show is well-laced with comic situations bound to evoke laughter.

In the tradition of 'Li'l Abner," "Destry Rides Again," and the still-talked-about movie, "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," Michael Kidd has provided the musical with several show-stopping dance ensembles. Both "Give a Little Whistle" and "El Sombrero" contain the characteristics of the choreographer's earlier Broadway endeavors, while at the same time introducing some very exciting and sparkling new steps which bring down the house.

Although some of Cy Coleman's melodies seem rather undistinguished, Carolyn Leigh's lyrics more than compensate for the deficiency, as evidenced in "Tall Hope" and various other numbers sung by the chorus.

Splendid Performance

The supporting cast, under Kidd's direction, turns in a splendid performance. Keith Andes, the male lead seen as Joe Dynamite, has an excellent voice and shows it off to perfection. Edith King as the Countess supplies the show with some of its funniest moments as she shares her whisky with her dog and her parrot and drops flowerpots on the Town Sheriff.

Paula Stewart and Clifford David are well-matched as the young lovers with problems. Don Tomkings as Sookie, the "Old Buzzard" who won't wash so that people will stay away from him, joins Miss Ball in the evening's first show-stopper, "What Takes My Fancy."

Lucille Ball? Well, she is just plain ol' Lucy from beginning to end. Rowdy, conniving, pouting, bubbling, nimble, and explosive, Lucy is back in the limelight; and with the extra-special bellow that only she has, who needs a voice to put a song over? She even gives the audience a little of her wonderful pantomime as she makes faces, gesticulates, and finally lapses into her wonderful sarcastic self.

Writer Gets Interview

Apparently, Miss Ball is "enjoying every minute of it" as she said in her dressing room after the show. "I've wanted to do something like this for so many years, but because of TV committments I never got around to it." When I asked her if she had any special plans for the future, she replied, "Right now my future is with this show, but I hope to make a few more pictures. I've just finished a movie with Bob Hope ("Facts of Life") and it should be released in the winter of 1961."

When I asked about Bob Hope, Lucy continued, "It's been so much fun working with Bob. This is the third time we've teamed together on the screen and I'm sure the audience will find it very funny comedy when we get together." She then excused herself and took her children by the hand as they left the theatre for an early dinner so that she could be back in plenty of time for the evening performance.

SUM UP: The play is a must for all Lucy fans. During the holidays, all Philadelphians who missed it should take a trip to New York City and catch it at the Alvin Theatre on 52nd Street.

Ross To Captain 'Cat 11 During '61 Season

by Vic Strano

Dick Ross, the new captain of the football team, is a junior guard from Morris Township in New Jersey. While attending and playing at his home town school, Delbarton High, he decided to transfer to Manlius Military School where he also played football for two years with the hope of going to West Point.

He was, however, unimpressed by the probability of a military future and this, along with the influence of his father, led to his decision to attend Villanova. His dad had previously played at VU.

Unfortunately Dick received a shoulder injury as a soph and did not see much action that year. As a matter of fact, he also had a shoulder operation in January of 1960 and missed spring practice later on.

Not Discouraged

Dick was not to be discouraged, however. During this season he was called upon at the outset of the season to fill an important gap. When Coach Bell found himself confronted with a host of injured ends, Dick came in and played this position. Although helping out considerably, he later went back to guard position.

It was at this time, which was just before the Navy game, that the doctor advised him not to play further. Naturally he could have continued on Scholarship without playing for the rest of the season. But he insisted on getting into the Navy game, where as linebacker he managed to play remarkably well. This was to be a turning point of the season for this previously unnoticed but ambitious player.

Later on in the season, he got a chance to start about three or four games. He might have started more but he was competing with senior Joe Luzzi, the regular starter, for guard position.

A Surprise Election

Dick was somewhat surprised at the result of the election of captain because he feels that there was much competition for the position. He did have a hint however, that he was in the running. This was due mostly to his fine play as defensive signal caller in the last three of four games. He was very happy to receive the appointment and expects to do a good job next season.

In fact not only Dick but also the whole team is rather optimistic about the '61 season. This is due to the fact that over 30 lettermen will be returning who are mostly juniors and seniors. "We definitely should have a winning season," Dick reports. Dick also mentioned that he is sorry that Army and Navy are off the schedule and would like to play them again. But he is happy so far at the way the schedule is shaping up, although it is still incomplete.

Part Time
$200 a Month Salary

Sell Mia-max, new teaching machine for students. Ten men needed for promotion and demonstration of this new machine. Must be available four evenings per week from 6-9 p.m. No selling experience necessary. Auto supplied.

Call Mr. Carroll, TE 7-3020
MI 9-3020

Dixie Giants Play Host To 'Cats In Holiday Classic

by Ed Lohr

When the Villanova Wildcats journey below the Mason-Dixon line for the first time this year on December 29, they will be plunging into one of the most colorful and talented basketball tournaments in their history.

The 1960 Dixie Classic supports a fabulous array of teams from all parts of the nation, including the traditional four of North Carolina, Wake Forest, Duke, and North Carolina State, and outsiders Marquette, Maryland, Wyoming, and our own Wildcats.

Wolfpack Opposition

In their opening game (4 p.m. EST, Dec. 29) the Wolfpack of North Carolina State will supply the opposition.

Everett Case, after suffering through his first losing season in 41 years of coaching, is set this season with a fine team which features a Philadelphia boy, senior Bob DiStephano (6-6), at center, and junior Anton Muehltauer (6-2) in the back court.

Case has the enviable position of choosing two forwards from this fine group of good rebounders: letterman Russ Marvel (6-6), Stan Niewierowski (6-5), and Bruce Hoadley (6-6), plus Pete Auskel (6-6 soph) and (6-6) Jim Whitfield.

Other games in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum (12,400 capacity) on December 29 are as follows: Maryland vs. North Carolina (2 p.m.) Marquette vs. Wake Forest (7:30 p.m.) and Wyoming vs. Duke (9:30 p.m.).

Terrapins vs. N. C.

The Terrapins of Maryland (ACC) have the toughest first round assignment in the tourney as they go against third ranked North Carolina.

The big "If" in the Maryland attack has to be the soph Jerry Greenspan, (6-6) is one to watch, as are Bob Eicher (6-2), and Bill Stasilulatis (6-3). So far the Terrapins have knocked off Penn State and showed signs of promise.

All you can say about North Carolina University is that they are loaded. Coach Frank Miguire can field a veteran squad which includes Doug Moe (6-5), a sure bet for All-American honors, and York Larese (6-4), who averaged 16.8 and 15.7 p.p.g. respectively.

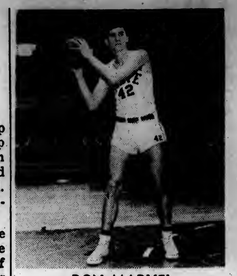
Kepley At Center

At center will be Dick Kepley (6-8) and rounding out the top five of a club that has lived up to its ratings will be senior Jim Donahue (6-8) at forward, and (6-0) Don Walsh, a junior guard. The Tar Heels are the pre-tourney favorites.

Defending champions Wake Forest play host to Marquette and should have an easy time of it. However, Marquette supports one of the finest coaches in the collegiate ranks today in Ed Hickey.

Marquette will have to rely on their sophs: Dave Erickson (6-7) and Tom Jefferson (6-3), but the key man will be senior and All-Midwest Dan Kojis (6-6).

Wake Forest has two men of All-American calibre in Len Chappell, a (6-6) junior who hit 17.4 p.p.g. and Billy Packer (5-10), a speedy guard.



Colorful McKinney

Colorful coach Bones McKinney must be fuming, as his team already has been hit by the rash of upsets sweeping the nation.

The Cowboys of Wyoming suffered through a last place finish in the Skyline Conference and are expected to go up fast but this fine event may still be out of their class.

Especially since they take on the Blue Devils of Duke. Sophomore coach Vic Bubas has 11 of 12 men back including strong Carrol Youngkin (6-6), Doug Kistler (6-9) and Howard Hunt at (6-4). A big soph who averaged 30 p.p.g. or the rosh may also get a shot at a starting berth.

All in all there is no doubt that this will be the most exciting Dixie Classic in history. There has never been so many highly ranked teams or so many potential All-Americans in any holiday tourney.

RON MARVEL
. . . a member of The Wolfpack

Cheerful Christmas Wishes

It's what's up front that counts

Up front is FILTER-BLEND and only Winston has it! Rich, golden tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for full flavor in filter smoking.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should!

Penn Swimmers Top 'Cats Frosh Splash Quakers

The University of Pennsylvania swimmers, led by Canadian Olympic star Bill Slater, splashed to a 54-41 victory over Villanova's tankmen last Wednesday at Hutchison pool.

The meet was a close one all the way, with the final race being the decider. In this one, the 400-yard medley relay, Penn, led by border-jumping Olympian Slater, broke its own pool record in the winning time of 4:12.

Reed stars

Slater and Dan Reed of Villanova were the individual stars. Slater won the 100 and 440-yard freestyle events, in addition to twimming the lead-off leg of the relay.

Reed captured two events, the 200-yard individual medley and the 200-yard backstroke. Ed Brier gained the only other individual first for the 'Cats of Ed Geisz.

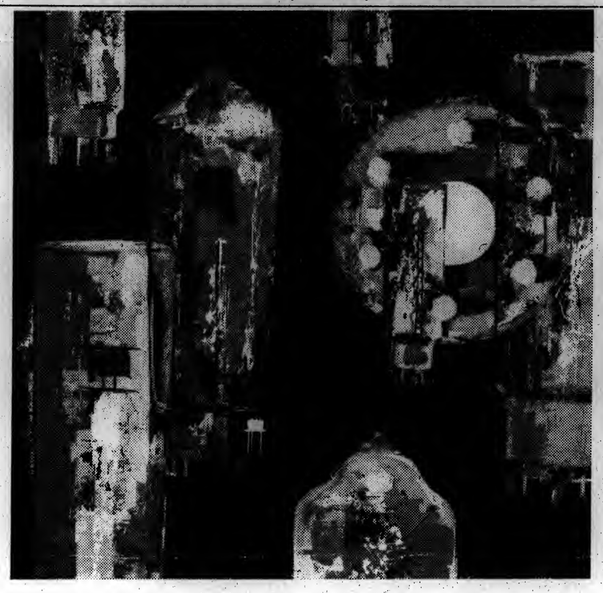
The 400-yard freestyle relay annexed the only other Villanova first. This team of Jim Grimm, Dan Boehmcke, Ed Brier and Mike Powers won in the good time of 3:46.2.

Seven firsts

Penn, on the other hand, snatched the blue ribbon in seven events. Jim Rata, another Quaker star, kicked home first in the 200-yard butterfly and the 50-yard freestyle. Dave Mitchell of Penn bested Al Nencetti of Villianova in the springboard diving event. Harry Hindman of Penn bested teammate Tim Monahan in the 200-yard breast stroke, Brian Reilly of Villanova was third.

Frosh triumph

In the freshman meet, the story was one of complete reversal. The talented yearlings won handily 57-38 over Penn's young natators. Dick McDonough, fourth place finisher in the U.S. Olympic Trials, was a double winner, as was Jack Geoghegan of Villanova. This duo won the 200-yard freestyle, the 200-yard butterfly, the 100-yard freestyle, and the 440-yard freestyle.



New Sailing Club Takes Championship To End Fine Season

The Villanova Sailing Club captured the Greater Philadelphia Sailing Championship in a meet held on the Schuylkill River last month. The newly-formed club bested representatives from Haverford, Penn, Drexel, Swarthmore, and St. Joseph's.

VU's talented sailors were led by Commodore Joe Little and Bob Connell. These two skippers were assisted by crewmen Dave Shea and Dick Corsini.

Earlier in the season Mike Kent qualified for the Monotype Eastern Championship at Annapolis, Maryland. In all, it was a very successful season for the fledgling club.

Vice-Commodore Tony Deutra announced that the season would be renewed in the springtime, and that those interested should contact anyone of the above mentioned.

Solid opportunities with solid state devices

A big part of Western Electric's job is to manufacture the miniature "new arts" products that are changing the science of communications. It's a job which offers you a challenging career—a chance to plan new methods of mass producing ever-improving kinds of transistors, ferrite devices, diodes, special purpose electron tubes, etc.

You'll be with a company that is expanding rapidly in this field. At present our Allentown and Laureldale, Pa., plants are devoted exclusively to making electron devices, and a big new plant is under construction in Kansas City. The needs of the Bell Telephone System for these products are increasing daily and will multiply enormously with the introduction of Electronic Central Office switching now nearing trial operation.

These devices are changing the scene at all our manufacturing plants as they go into the startling new communications products developed by our associates at Bell Telephone Laboratories. From microwave transmission equipment to submarine cable amplifiers, our products call for creative production engineering, installation planning, and merchandising methods. Our job for the Bell System and the U.S. government has grown to the point where we are now one of the nation's "Top 11" in industrial sales. And your chance to play an important part in our future growth is solid!

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. For more information, get your copy of Consider a Career at Western Electric from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 6106, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. Be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Western Electric
MANUFACTURING AND SUPPLY UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM

Principal manufacturing locations at Chicago, Ill.; Kearny, N. J.; Baltimore, Md.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Allentown and Laureldale, Pa.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Buffalo, N. Y.; North Andover, Mass.; Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma City, Okla. Engineering Research Center, Princeton, N. J. Teletype Corporation, Skokie, Ill., and Little Rock, Ark. Also Western Electric distribution centers in 32 cities and installation headquarters in 16 cities. General headquarters: 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

In the groove

? ? ? ?

by Dan Grove

"Good Grief! Not the Basketball team too!"

That was the cry after the Buffalo game.

"Wait until the track season begins." That was the lament in the local taprooms after the Toledo loss.

The cry was changed to "Damn the snow!" on Monday as local radio stations announced the cancellation of the Princeton game which had been scheduled for the Field House.

Mystery Team

So with this grab-bag of mixed cynicism and faint hope, Villanova fans wait until tonight to get a fair evaluation of the Main Line mystery team.

Actually, no one knows what the Wildcats can do. The Scranton game was a mismatch. The Buffalo game was a match between a good little team and, according to DELL Magazine, a good big team. Good big teams always win these games. Villanova wasn't a good big team that night. Al Severance said that "it was the worst exhibition a Villanova basketball team put on in my 25 years."

The Toledo game was anticlimatic insofar as no one saw or heard the game. Severance said that the new 2-3 offense was adequate in this one. "The shots were there, but he fluffed them," the Mainline mentor claimed.

Offense Ineffective

Of course, anything would be an improvement over the Palestra show against Buffalo, in which the 'Cats were as ineffective as an anti-noise campaign on New Year's Eve. This, coupled with the aforementioned Toledo game, changes most of the opinions on this year's edition of the Severancemen.

The picture now seems to be one of a group of potentially good individuals who have suddenly discovered that DELL could be wrong, and that the pessimism conveyed on these pages earlier in the year was not unfounded.

New Problems

Of course then, the problem seemed to be that of finding the right five and letting them jell together. No one pictured the failure of the veterans to hit from the field. Against Toledo, this was the main problem. Jim Huggard and Dick Kaminski hit only three of 21 shots. This is definitely out of step with last year's' performances by these two, Kaminski wound up the season last year by scoring 40 points in two NIT games.

Huggard has been injured, but is still being pressed into the line-up when the going was rough, which has been frequently. On his shoulders was supposed to fall the mantle of leadership. "The little guy" was counted on to implement the offense. He hasn't failed, but neither has he succeeded. Flashes of individualism, sometimes brilliant, but sometimes faulty, have spotted his performances.

What Next?

Realizing that the season is still young, and that one game doesn't present a true picture of a team's ultimate capacity, several questions may nevertheless be posed.

Should Severance give up on the proven quantities of his backcourt, who would he then turn to? Bob Liberatore, a good senior guard, has been injured. Tom Galia is definitely a threat whenever he has the ball, but he still has to obtain some poise and team leadership.

Richie Richman is likely to become the one who will lead the 'Cats back onto the winning trail. He's calm and smart, a throwback to the days of Jim Kenny. But he has problems, too. Shin splints from the football season have prevented him from getting into shape.

Hoover A Question

In the front court the situation is not so baffling. Tom Hoover is Severances first string center. For a sophmore, he has done about what those in the know expected. He has great potential. For a 6-9 man, his moves are excellent.

His work on he boards has improved with each game. He still doesn't get the position he should, perhaps his tendency to watch the ball and not his man is the reason why smaller men sometimes hold him away from the boards

At times he draws useless fouls and is lackadaisical. Perhaps the realization of two straight early season losses will remedy this. Possibly Hoover could turn into a great scoring, as well as rebounding threat.

Crystal Ball All-American

Hubie White, the "Crystal Ball All-American," has lived up to his press clippings. This corner feels that Hubie will improve as the season goes on. He will be confronted with defensive tactics that don't give him room to unleash his graceful jump shot. However, with his tremendous reflexes and dead-eye shooting ability, he will soon begin to drive against the close defense. When this happens, he will spell double trouble for all defenses.

Bernie Chavis and Tom Samuelwicz have divided the fifth team. Sammy was injured against Toledo. Chavis is a hot and cold type ball player. He has not been bombing the basket as he does in practice. However, no body has.

After all of these words, the picture still doesn't seem clear. Too many "ifs" mar the scene. Injuries are in the way and the schedule is getting tougher. Only victories can dispel the creeping lack of confidence. Only time will heal the wounds of early season difficulties of getting a place to practice.

Before the VILLANOVAN comes out again an important part of the schedule will be over. Predictions seems to be in order. Unless the 'Cats come of age against Niagara and the potent but so far dormant Mainline arsenal is set off by some heretofore absent spark, new faces will be given a fair chance to grace the scene. If these new faces get hot for one game, competition for starting posts will make the 'Cats a threat on any court.

They can't remain as cold as a check signed By Santa Claus much longer. Judicious handling of the team will be the key of the knotty problem.

Princeton Beaten; Fordham, Niagara Fives Test Wildcats

The Wildcats played host Wednesday to a young, inexperienced Fordham five, whose only claim to fame is Bobby Melvin, a six-foot-three soph who may well bring the Rams back to the Metropolitan top in a season or two.

Melvin is a fiery, take-charge type of guy who led the Frosh team with a 25.5 point average last season.

Starting up front with Melvin will be vets Joe Dempsey, a 6-5 junior and captain John Coalman, the Rams' leading rebounder last season. Coalman is the balancing factor in the young lineup.

Sophs At Guard

In the backcourt, the Bronx Rams will try to punch a hole in the Villanova Dam with sophs Frank Cipriani and Bob Lawry. Both guards are shorties, standing six feet and 5-9 respectively.

Coach John Boch is looking to the future, and the sophs will get needed experience. With a few breaks, the Rams could better their eight and eighteen mark of last season.

This game could be just what the doctor ordered for the lethargic, loosely-knit Wildcats.

The 'Cats might well be looking up to the Purple Eagles of Niagara Saturday night, unless they can shake the cans from their tails, and act like teammates, not strangers. Four starters, a good bench, experience, and the addition of promising new talent will make the Eagles one of the best in the country.

Butler Fantastic

Fantastic Al Butler—28.6ppg—sixth in the nation—is six foot two, and wings them in from all over the court. Butler will start with hold-overs Don Jones and Len Whelan, with two great sophs joining them. The soph flashes are Joe Maddrey and Ken Glenn, both six foot four.

Maddrey is a rugged rebounder and a good inside shot, while Glenn is also a strong rebounder as well as being in a class with Butler for jump shooting. This strong starting five will be backed up adequately by Ed Ladley, who finished last season as a starter, and Bill Robats, plus two other good sophs—Andy O'Connell and Bill Kennedy. The two could eventually be back court starters.

In the game, expect a back court battle. If the 'Cats can work the ball up front through Niagara's man to man defense, Villanova will have a chance. Even if the 'Cats "get-up" for this one, they will have to battle for the victory.

Hubie White hits the Palestra hardwood with a painful thud in the Buffalo game. "Hubcaps" was down but not out as he arose to score 2 points in a futile effort to stave off Buffalo upset of the 'Cats.

by Tom Yadzis

Cats Continue Cold Streak As Rockets Vent Revenge

The weekend freeze came early for Villanova's traveling Wildcats as they were snowed under Saturday night by Toledo University, 62-55.

This game marked the second straight defeat suffered by Al Severance's Club in the young campaign. The victory was a tasty revenge for Coach Eddie Melvin's Rockets over whom last year's Wildcats romped, 74-52, at the Palestra.

A cold shooting night was again the downfall of the 'Cats as in the previous Buffalo loss. The visiting Villanovans hit a meager 21 out of 59 from the floor with to many lags in their attack at vital moments. Skittish ball handling was another deterent to a smooth Villanova offense.

Hubcaps Hits

The scoring load of the 'Cats was again carried by their phenomenal junior, Hubie White, as 'Hubcaps' hit for a glittering 23 points performance. This effort alone could not stem the tide of the Rockets, however, since none of his teammates could reach double figures. Tom Hoover was closest with nine counters, followed by Jim Hugard and Bernie Chavis with eight apiece.

For the Wildcats it seems that the Fates were against them from the start. Co-captain Jim Huggard, the sparkplug, was hindered by a bad shoulder, and Tom Samuelwicz, the hustling forward, hurt his leg in early first half action. In the same vein the Rockets didn't need to much help from the Fates since they played an aggressive and steady game.

The 'Cats held a slim lead through most of the first half but a scoring spree by Toledo's pivot man, George Patterson, brought the half to a close with Toledo sporting a 1 point margin, 35-34.

Once the Rockets snatched the lead they staved off every Vilanova surge with torrid, clutch sniping. Led by the 6'7" Patterson, a 20 point contributor, plus hard driving Gerry Galicki and Larry Jones, the home team broke the close game wide open midway in the scond half with a ten point scoring streak.

After this outbreak the 'Cats threatened at times but the pad was already there for the Rockets to ride home a winner. The Wildcat threats came on the wings of a tight press breaking from their usual zone defense.

Icemen Open Season With Impressive Win Over Lehigh Skaters

The Villanova ice hockey team The Ramblers opened their season on the successful note of a 5-2 win over a strong Lehigh University sextet at the Main Line Skating Arena. The Ramblers, comprised of Villanova students, are entering their third year of inter-collegiate play. Last year they compiled a 7-1 record.

The Villanova club showed its superiority early in the game when at the six-minute mark Pete Boggey beat the Lehigh goalie from twenty feet out on the right side for the game's first score. In the second period, after Lehigh had knotted the score at one goal apiece, unassisted goals by Jim Gurry and Joe Denahey and Bill Luceno's goal with an assist from Joe Denahey, put the game on ice for Villanova. Denahey also tallied in the third period, with assists going to George McNeil and Bill Luceno. The Villanova club out-skated Lehigh in every period and looked very sharp. Only some terrific saves by the Lehigh goalie prevented the score from mounting.

About 100 well-satisfied customers witnessed the opener for the Ramblers, who are hoping for school support

The Big Five: The Big Question

By Bud Simmonds

The past weekend was a sour note in the young season of Big Five Basketball. Niagara beat LaSalle, Dayton dumped St. Joe's, and Toledo toppled Villanova. After ruminating over these defeats and many other disappointing losses of seasons past, I finally came to question one of the area's infallible credos: The best basketball around the East is played in Philadelphia.

This belief has been absorbed more or less by osmosis. Local sports scribes and anouncers beat the drums with great fervor over the local teams and their great success on the court.

Many Accolades Given

I realize that Big Five teams have complied fine records over the years, but records are deceiving. They have gained a good number of post-season tournament bids. Philly teams have also contributed an adequate share of All-Americans.

Then a question arose in my mind. If all these things are true, why is it that Philadelphia teams rarely score victories over nationally ranked powerhouses!

Five Bids In Two Years

I am not forgetting that three area teams made tournaments last year and two the year before. Yet only one reached as far as the second round. The rest played far below their ability. Pressure is always heavy in these spectaculars and some of these teams did enter the tourneys with sophs playing key roles. This is where experience can hurt. But by the same score, these tournaments are where class can tell, and Philadelphia fives have not shown the class (or is it clutch?) performance.

The two exceptions came about when a pair of super stars were the guiding lights. LaSalle in 1954 was the only local success story when, led by god-like Tom Gola, they copped the NCAA first prize. Temple took third in 1957 when Hal Lear broke the NCAA tournament scoring record.

To pinpoint one reason is difficult. The old standard is that local schools cannot offer the fat scholarship. This is always a strong argument since most of the stars who have come from the Big Five are local high school products. It is the exception to find a ballplayer who resides out of the New York, Pennsylvania, or New Jersey area.

I disagree since Philly clubs do have the talent to turn in respectable and winning performances against the ranked teams not only in tourneys but more important during the regular season.

No Threats In MAC

The difficulty to this writer is that consistently good competition isn't there. In the Big Five, three members are in the Middle Atlantic Conference. The university division champion is perennialy one of these three. Little challenge is offered from the other members. I am not blasting the MAC but facing facts. This takes eight games away from Temple, St. Joe's, and LaSalle. Add the usual amount of early season tuneups and breather games, and you find that there are about five to seven games at the most which are of a national consequence.

Penn is a member of the hallowed Ivy League. The Quakers play thirteen league games. After Big Five games, there are few prestige games on their docket.

'Cats Are The Exception

Villanova, being an independent, plays the only nationally representative schedule in the area. This statement is not a holier than thou potshot at other members but the truth. The 'Cats play six teams from the South, six Eastern powers, plus Big Five members. They also have a few breathers but don't mention this to Al Severance.

Therefore only one team meets consistently solid opposition.

It is understandable, then, why Philadelphia schools fall so often before the big name teams.

Choke Action

One could argue that it should be easier to get psyched up for the big ones. But it seems that as the Philly teams rise for the occasion, the lump also rises. There is no solution to this problem since a drastic shakeup in schedules will probably never come about. Still, there's no reason why it shouldn't.

Out For A Swim

Out for a "dry run" is a Villanova Merman who windmills his way through the Field House pool.

Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 12 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. JANUARY 12, 1961

Original Production By Graduate Theatre To Appear On-Campus

"From Sea to Shining Sea", the original production of Mr. George Herman of the Graduate Theatre Department will make its initial appearance on the Villanova campus on February 15 and will run through Sunday the 19th.

The two-act drama was termed by Mr. Herbert as "a musical fable that humorously satirizes the American way of life emphasizing the peculiar differences that have occured in music, dance, and clothing since the early sixteenth century up until modern times."

The plot primarily concerns itself with a diabolical, underworld agent, Mr. Scratch, played by Jim Willard, who makes a side bet with Michael the Archangel (John Dillon) that he can win the United States over to his side. The United States is personified by the acting of Tom Kennedy as Sam.

The other two principals are Liza the attractive female assistant to Mr. Scratch and Bess, the assistant to Michael. These roles are portrayed by Carol Pierce and Jane Anderson respectively.

The author's previous experience in drama includes thirty-two other musicals in addition to ten serious endeavors. Among his past achievements can be numbered the direction of over 200 plays. This is his first major effort in his first year at Villanova after having written for television and for publication. At present he is entered in the Hallmark Drama Award and is now among the 50 semi-finalists selected from an original field of 1500.

Among those that will attend the opening night performance will be critics from the three major Philadelphia newspapers who will review the play in their columns.

Director Herman further asserted, "This is definitely one of my better plays and I expect it to be pubished in New York within the next few months. Advance tickets for those students or faculty who might be interested may be reserved in the Graduate Theatre Department."

The Reverend Anthony Mullin, OSA, head of the Electrical Engineering Department, examines the intricacies of the ECA computer recently acquired by the Electrical Engineering Lab.

Lee Van Tai, freshman engineer from Viet Nam, confers with VILLANOVA reporter Mark Quinn on problems and issues confronting the Oriental nation.

Upperclassmen Retreat To Take Place On Jan. 22-25

The Rev. Norbert W. Whitley, OSA, University Chaplain, has announced that attendance cards for the annual retreat for senior and junior men students may be picked up in the Center Lounge of Dougherty Hall on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of examination week—January 17, 18, and 19.

Attendance cards will not be distributed from the Chaplain's Office this year.

For the first time at Villanova there will be two retreat masters, Rev. Edward J. Chapman, OSA, and Rev. Henry W. McArdle, OSA. These Augustinian fathers from the Mid-West Province, stationed at the Augustinian Mission House in Fort Wayne, Ind. will conduct the exercises.

All senior and junior men students who have not made a closed retreat at some approved Week-end Retreat House are required to make this retreat. Those students who intend to make a closed retreat instead of the one at Villanova must notify the Chaplain's Office and fill out a form stating the approximate date and place where they intend to make it.

Begins Sunday Night

All retreats must be made prior to the annual retreat for sophomores and freshmen in March, and those students who have not fulfilled their obligation by that time will be required to make this retreat at Villanova.

The retreat will begin Sunday evening, January 22 at 7:30 p.m. with opening exercises, a conference, and Benediction followed by confessions. Mass will be celebrated Monday and Tuesday at 7:00 a.m. for on-campus resident students and at 8:00 a.m. for all other students. Conferences, followed by confessions will be at 9:30 a.m., 11:00 a.m., and 2:00 p.m. on these days.

Confessions will also be heard after the 7:45 p.m. night prayers Monday. Religious articles will be blessed after the 2:00 p.m. conference and Holy Hour will be held at 3:15 p.m. on both days.

Nocturnal Adoration

Nocturnal Adoration has become a tradition on the last night of the Retreat. The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed from after the Holy Hour on Tuesday until the closing of the Retreat on Wednesday morning.

Students are urged to spend one hour in Adoration during that time, and their families and friends are welcome to join them.

The retreat will close Wednesday at 8:30 with Mass, Communion, Benediction, renewal of Baptismal vows, and the Papal Blessing.

Annual Poll on WWVU

The Villanova Radio Station, WWVU, will report the results of the Twenty-fifth Annual Downbeat Poll on a special broadcast tomorrow.

Joe Zawacki will be host on the two-hour program from 9 until 11 p.m. Each winning artist will be announced and a representative recording played.

IN MEMORIAM

Villanovans are asked to remember the following deceased in the prayers and Masses.

Two recent alumni who were killed in auto accidents during the recent holidays:

Ronald S. Zurinskas—Class of 1959.

Terence L. Whalen—Class of 1960.

Mother of Lucian C. St. Onge, C.&F. '63.

Father of Theodore N. Higginson, E.E. '62.

Father of George C. Robertson, C.&F. '62.

Father of Thomas G. Weiss, E.E. '61.

Asian Powderkeg

Student Credits Crisis To China Famine, Laos Disunity

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

South Viet Nam is a small shoestring country of 12,000,000 in southeastern Asia. It is bordered on the east and south by the South China Sea, on the north by Communist North Viet Nam, and on the west by a larger, landlocked country, Laos.

It is the most important part of a peninsular-like hub of the isolated island sovereignities and possessions of the free world in Asia and the Pacific. Some of these are the strategic positions of Formosa, the Philippines, Borneo, Sumatra, and Malaya.

South Viet Nam is a predominately agricultural country. Its most important product is rice, but there are sizeable quantities of corn, sugar, cabbage, and rubber grown. The mineral resources of the country have been developed to only a small extent, but the possibilities for further capitalization on them seem great. Industry is starting to expand with the support of United States development programs.

There is one more fact concerning South Viet Nam that should be mentioned, however. It is that South Viet Nam is an integral factor in the Communist Chinese master plan for the domination of Southeastern Asia.

This is the country of which Le Van Tai is a citizen. His home is located in the major city of the nation, Saigon, a metropolis of 2,000,000. Tai's father is a Professor of Languages in one of the city's high schools. Tai received his primary education there. When he completed this, he received an International Cooperation Administration scholarship for undergraduate study in the U.S.A. He chose Villanova University and now is a Freshman Engineer here.

Army of 250,000

Tai asserted that his countrymen are an "independence-minded people." They maintain a defensive army of some 250,000, an air force, and a navy. Most of the military equipment is the residue of previous French colonial occupation. Tai said that the United States has equipped his country with some arms.

Tai stated that his country and neighboring Laos have entered into "a pact to live peacefully together" and have pursued several programs for development of resources on the border.

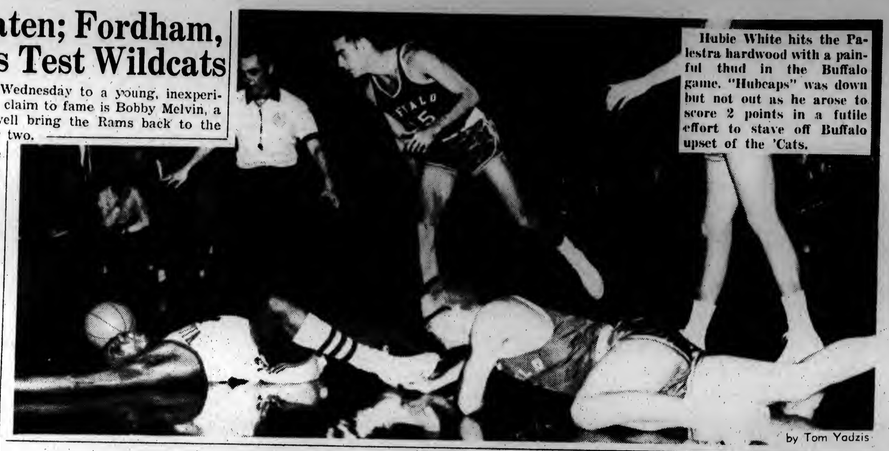
South Viet Nam seems to be the most logical avenue of approach to their invasion-torn neighbor should massive military assistance programs be deemed necessary by Laos from the Western nations. Tai hopes that if any action has to be taken for the defense of the two countries that it will be done under the auspices of the United Nations.

In response to a question concerning the right of transit through South Viet Nam to Laos, Tai believes that "Mr. Diem (the President of the nation) will allow it."

Earlier this week, the Southeastern Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) met in an emergency session and stated that it would work for a peaceful solution of the crisis. But it also declared that if further Communist intervention continues it would greatly imperil the "security of neighboring countries."

Tai stated that revival of the General Conference of the United Nation's Geneva Council, which successfully resolved the Indochina crisis in 1954, might be able to settle the present situation.

Red Guerilla Warfare



He asserted that there have been no major Communist offensives or subversive actions in his country, but that small bands of Communist soldiers have carried on a very high pitch of guerilla warfare. He believes that these troops are the remnants of the Chinese Communist forces which were to have withdrawn from the country under the agreement of the first General Conference. He continued that it is very likely that they are being reinforced from across the border of North Viet Nam.

The campaigns of the guerillas have been centered in the rural districts of the nation. Tai stated that they consisted mainly in intimidation of peasants. He continued, however, that they were gradually moving into the areas of greater population on the coast. They have pursued an intensive program of murder employing snipers and ambushes of the controlling officials of the government and civil service.

Tai stated that there is "a lack of unity in the people themselves" regarding the crisis, but he hopes that it will supply a force to unite the nation to cope with it. He maintained that if all peaceful efforts fail to solve the problem all possible means should be employed to maintain the independence of his people. He is not too certain of the present situation, however, because important things are occurring at very short intervals. The reported great famine in China he believes may be the cause of the invasion of this rich area.

Princeton Beaten; Fordham, Niagara Fives Test Wildcats

The Wildcats played host Wednesday to a young, inexperienced Fordham five, whose only claim to fame is Bobby Melvin, a six-foot-three soph who may well bring the Rams back to the Metropolitan top in a season or two.

Hubie White hits the Palestra hardwood with a painful thud in the Buffalo game. "Hubcaps" was down but not out as he arose to score 2 points in a futile effort to stave off Buffalo upset of the 'Cats.

by Tom Yadzis

Melvin is a fiery, take-charge type of guy who led the Frosh team with a 25.5 point average last season.

Starting up front with Melvin will be vets Joe Dempsey, a 6-5 junior and captain John Coalman, the Rams' leading rebounder last season. Coalman is the balancing factor in the young lineup.

Sophs At Guard

In the backcourt, the Bronx Rams will try to punch a hole in the Villanova Dam with sophs Frank Cipriani and Bob Lawry. Both guards are shorties, standing six feet and 5-9 respectively.

Coach John Boch is looking to the future, and the sophs will get needed experience. With a few breaks, the Rams could better their eight and eighteen mark of last season.

This game could be just what the doctor ordered for the lethargic, loosely-knit Wildcats.

The 'Cats might well be looking up to the Purple Eagles of Niagara Saturday night, unless they can shake the cans from their tails, and act like teammates, not strangers. Four starters, a good bench, experience, and the addition of promising new talent will make the Eagles one of the best in the country.

Butler Fantastic

Fantastic Al Butler—28.6ppg—sixth in the nation—is six foot two, and wings them in from all over the court. Butler will start with hold-overs Don Jones and Len Whelan, with two great sophs joining them. The soph flashes are Joe Maddrey and Ken Glenn, both six foot four.

Maddrey is a rugged rebounder and a good inside shot, while Glenn is also a strong rebounder as well as being in a class with Butler for jump shooting. This strong starting five will be backed up adequately by Ed Ladley, who finished last season as a starter, and Bill Robats, plus two other good sophs—Andy O'Connell and Bill Kennedy. The two could eventually be back court starters.

In the game, expect a back court battle. If the 'Cats can work the ball up front through Niagara's man to man defense, Villanova will have a chance. Even if the 'Cats "get-up" for this one, they will have to battle for the victory.

Cats Continue Cold Streak As Rockets Vent Revenge

The weekend freeze came early for Villanova's traveling Wildcats as they were snowed under Saturday night by Toledo University, 62-55.

This game marked the second straight defeat suffered by Al Severance's Club in the young campaign. The victory was a tasty revenge for Coach Eddie Melvin's Rockets over whom last year's Wildcats romped, 74-52, at the Palestra.

A cold shooting night was again the downfall of the 'Cats as in the previous Buffalo loss. The visiting Villanovans hit a meager 21 out of 59 from the floor with to many lags in their attack at vital moments. Skittish ball handling was another deterent to a smooth Villanova offense.

Hubcaps Hits

The scoring load of the 'Cats was again carried by their phenomenal junior, Hubie White, as 'Hubcaps' hit for a glittering 23 points performance. This effort alone could not stem the tide of the Rockets, however, since none of his teammates could reach double figures. Tom Hoover was closest with nine counters, followed by Jim Hugard and Bernie Chavis with eight apiece.

For the Wildcats it seems that the Fates were against them from the start. Co-captain Jim Huggard, the sparkplug, was hindered by a bad shoulder, and Tom Samuelwicz, the hustling forward, hurt his leg in early first half action. In the same vein the Rockets didn't need to much help from the Fates since they played an aggressive and steady game.

The 'Cats held a slim lead through most of the first half but a scoring spree by Toledo's pivot man, George Patterson, brought the half to a close with Toledo sporting a 1 point margin, 35-34.

Once the Rockets snatched the lead they staved off every Vilanova surge with torrid, clutch sniping. Led by the 6'7" Patterson, a 20 point contributor, plus hard driving Gerry Galicki and Larry Jones, the home team broke the close game wide open midway in the scond half with a ten point scoring streak.

After this outbreak the 'Cats threatened at times but the pad was already there for the Rockets to ride home a winner. The Wildcat threats came on the wings of a tight press breaking from their usual zone defense.

Icemen Open Season With Impressive Win Over Lehigh Skaters

The Villanova ice hockey team The Ramblers opened their season on the successful note of a 5-2 win over a strong Lehigh University sextet at the Main Line Skating Arena. The Ramblers, comprised of Villanova students, are entering their third year of inter-collegiate play. Last year they compiled a 7-1 record.

The Villanova club showed its superiority early in the game when at the six-minute mark Pete Boggey beat the Lehigh goalie from twenty feet out on the right side for the game's first score. In the second period, after Lehigh had knotted the score at one goal apiece, unassisted goals by Jim Gurry and Joe Denahey and Bill Luceno's goal with an assist from Joe Denahey, put the game on ice for Villanova. Denahey also tallied in the third period, with assists going to George McNeil and Bill Luceno. The Villanova club out-skated Lehigh in every period and looked very sharp. Only some terrific saves by the Lehigh goalie prevented the score from mounting.

About 100 well-satisfied customers witnessed the opener for the Ramblers, who are hoping for school support

The Big Five: The Big Question

By Bud Simmonds

The past weekend was a sour note in the young season of Big Five Basketball. Ningara beat LaSalle, Dayton dumped St. Joe's, and Toledo toppled Villanova. After ruminating over these defeats and many other disappointing losses of seasons past, I finally came to question one of the area's infallible credos: The best basketball around the East is played in Philadelphia.

This belief has been absorbed more or less by osmosis. Local sports scribes and anouncers beat the drums with great fervor over the local teams and their great success on the court.

Many Accolades Given

I realize that Big Five teams have complied fine records over the years, but records are deceiving. They have gained a good number of post-season tournament bids. Philly teams have also contributed an adequate share of All-Americans.

Then a question arose in my mind. If all these things are true, why is it that Philadelphia teams rarely score victories over nationally ranked powerhouses!

Five Bids In Two Years

I am not forgetting that three area teams made tournaments last year and two the year before. Yet only one reached as far as the second round. The rest played far below their ability. Pressure is always heavy in these spectaculars and some of these teams did enter the tourneys with sophs playing key roles. This is where experience can hurt. But by the same score, these tournaments are where class can tell, and Philadelphia fives have not shown the class (or is it clutch?) performance.

The two exceptions came about when a pair of super stars were the guiding lights. LaSalle in 1954 was the only local success story when, led by god-like Tom Gola, they copped the NCAA first prize. Temple took third in 1957 when Hal Lear broke the NCAA tournament scoring record.

To pinpoint one reason is difficult. The old standard is that local schools cannot offer the fat scholarship. This is always a strong argument since most of the stars who have come from the Big Five are local high school products. It is the exception to find a ballplayer who resides out of the New York, Pennsylvania, or New Jersey area.

I disagree since Philly clubs do have the talent to turn in respectable and winning performances against the ranked teams not only in tourneys but more important during the regular season.

No Threats In MAC

The difficulty to this writer is that consistently good competition isn't there. In the Big Five, three members are in the Middle Atlantic Conference. The university division champion is perennialy one of these three. Little challenge is offered from the other members. I am not blasting the MAC but facing facts. This takes eight games away from Temple, St. Joe's, and LaSalle. Add the usual amount of early season tuneups and breather games, and you find that there are about five to seven games at the most which are of a national consequence.

Penn is a member of the hallowed Ivy League. The Quakers play thirteen league games. After Big Five games, there are few prestige games on their docket.

'Cats Are The Exception

Villanova, being an independent, plays the only nationally representative schedule in the area. This statement is not a holier than thou potshot at other members but the truth. The 'Cats play six teams from the South, six Eastern powers, plus Big Five members. They also have a few breathers but don't mention this to Al Severance.

Therefore only one team meets consistently solid opposition.

It is understandable, then, why Philadelphia schools fall so often before the big name teams.

Choke Action

One could argue that it should be easier to get psyched up for the big ones. But it seems that as the Philly teams rise for the occasion, the lump also rises. There is no solution to this problem since a drastic shakeup in schedules will probably never come about. Still, there's no reason why it shouldn't.

Out For A Swim

Out for a "dry run" is a Villanova Merman who windmills his way through the Field House pool.

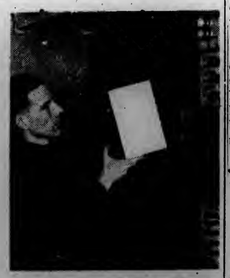
Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 12 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. JANUARY 12, 1961

Original Production By Graduate Theatre To Appear On-Campus

"From Sea to Shining Sea", the original production of Mr. George Herman of the Graduate Theatre Department will make its initial appearance on the Villanova campus on February 15 and will run through Sunday the 19th.

The two-act drama was termed by Mr. Herbert as "a musical fable that humorously satirizes the American way of life emphasizing the peculiar differences that have occured in music, dance, and clothing since the early sixteenth century up until modern times."



The plot primarily concerns itself with a diabolical, underworld agent, Mr. Scratch, played by Jim Willard, who makes a side bet with Michael the Archangel (John Dillon) that he can win the United States over to his side. The United States is personified by the acting of Tom Kennedy as Sam.

The other two principals are Liza the attractive female assistant to Mr. Scratch and Bess, the assistant to Michael. These roles are portrayed by Carol Pierce and Jane Anderson respectively.

The author's previous experience in drama includes thirty-two other musicals in addition to ten serious endeavors. Among his past achievements can be numbered the direction of over 200 plays. This is his first major effort in his first year at Villanova after having written for television and for publication. At present he is entered in the Hallmark Drama Award and is now among the 50 semi-finalists selected from an original field of 1500.

Among those that will attend the opening night performance will be critics from the three major Philadelphia newspapers who will review the play in their columns.

Director Herman further asserted, "This is definitely one of my better plays and I expect it to be pubished in New York within the next few months. Advance tickets for those students or faculty who might be interested may be reserved in the Graduate Theatre Department."

The Reverend Anthony Mullin, OSA, head of the Electrical Engineering Department, examines the intricacies of the ECA computer recently acquired by the Electrical Engineering Lab.

Upperclassmen Retreat To Take Place On Jan. 22-25

The Rev. Norbert W. Whitlev. OSA, University Chaplain, has announced that attendance cards for the annual retreat for senior and junior men students may be picked up in the Center Lounge of Dougherty Hall on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of examination week—January 17, 18, and 19.

Attendance cards will not be distributed from the Chaplain's Office this year.

For the first time at Villanova there will be two retreat masters, Rev. Edward J. Chapman, OSA, and Rev. Henry W. McArdle, OSA. These Augustinian fathers from the Mid-West Province, stationed at the Augustinian Mission House in Fort Wayne, Ind. will conduct the exercises.

All senior and junior men students who have not made a closed retreat at some approved Week-end Retreat House are required to make this retreat. Those students who intend to make a closed retreat instead of the one at Villanova must notify the Chaplain's Office and fill out a form stating the approximate date and place where they intend to make it.

Begins Sunday Night

All retreats must be made prior to the annual retreat for sophomores and freshmen in March, and those students who have not fulfilled their obligation by that time will be required to make this retreat at Villanova.

The retreat will begin Sunday evening, January 22 at 7:30 p.m. with opening exercises, a conference, and Benediction followed by confessions. Mass will be celebrated Monday and Tuesday at 7:00 a.m. for on-campus resident students and at 8:00 a.m. for all other students. Conferences, followed by confessions will be at 9:30 a.m., 11:00 a.m., and 2:00 p.m. on these days.

Confessions will also be heard after the 7:45 p.m. night prayers Monday. Religious articles will be blessed after the 2:00 p.m. conference and Holy Hour will be held at 3:15 p.m. on both days.

Nocturnal Adoration

Nocturnal Adoration has become a tradition on the last night of the Retreat. The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed from after the Holy Hour on Tuesday until the closing of the Retreat on Wednesday morning.

Students are urged to spend one hour in Adoration during that time, and their families and friends are welcome to join them.

The retreat will close Wednesday at 8:30 with Mass, Communion, Benediction, renewal of Baptismal vows, and the Papal Blessing.

Annual Poll on WWVU

The Villanova Radio Station, WWVU, will report the results of the Twenty-fifth Annual Downbeat Poll on a special broadcast tomorrow.

Joe Zawacki will be host on the two-hour program from 9 until 11 p.m. Each winning artist will be announced and a representative recording played.

Lee Van Tai, freshman engineer from Viet Nam, confers with VILLANOVA reporter Mark Quinn on problems and issues confronting the Oriental nation.

Asian Powderkeg

Student Credits Crisis To China Famine, Laos Disunity

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

South Viet Nam is a small shoestring country of 12,000,000 in southeastern Asia. It is bordered on the east and south by the South China Sea, on the north by Communist North Viet Nam, and on the west by a larger, landlocked country, Laos.

It is the most important part of a peninsular-like hub of the isolated island sovereignities and possessions of the free world in Asia and the Pacific. Some of these are the strategic positions of Formosa, the Philippines, Borneo, Sumatra, and Malaya.

South Viet Nam is a predominately agricultural country. Its most important product is rice, but there are sizeable quantities of corn, sugar, cabbage, and rubber grown. The mineral resources of the country have been developed to only a small extent, but the possibilities for further capitalization on them seem great. Industry is starting to expand with the support of United States development programs.

There is one more fact concerning South Viet Nam that should be mentioned, however. It is that South Viet Nam is an integral factor in the Communist Chinese master plan for the domination of Southeastern Asia.

This is the country of which Le Van Tai is a citizen. His home is located in the major city of the nation, Saigon, a metropolis of 2,000,000. Tai's father is a Professor of Languages in one of the city's high schools. Tai received his primary education there. When he completed this, he received an International Cooperation Administration scholarship for undergraduate study in the U.S.A. He chose Villanova University and now is a Freshman Engineer here.

Army of 250,000

Tai asserted that his countrymen are an "independence-minded people." They maintain a defensive army of some 250,000, an air force, and a navy. Most of the military equipment is the residue of previous French colonial occupation. Tai said that the United States has equipped his country with some arms.

Tai stated that his country and neighboring Laos have entered into "a pact to live peacefully together" and have pursued several programs for development of resources on the border.

South Viet Nam seems to be the most logical avenue of approach to their invasion-torn neighbor should massive military assistance programs be deemed necessary by Laos from the Western nations. Tai hopes that if any action has to be taken for the defense of the two countries that it will be done under the auspices of the United Nations.

In response to a question concerning the right of transit through South Viet Nam to Laos, Tai believes that "Mr. Diem (the President of the nation) will allow it."

Earlier this week, the Southeastern Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) met in an emergency session and stated that it would work for a peaceful solution of the crisis. But it also declared that if further Communist intervention continues it would greatly imperil the "security of neighboring countries."

Tai stated that revival of the General Conference of the United Nation's Geneva Council, which successfully resolved the Indochina crisis in 1954, might be able to settle the present situation.

Red Guerilla Warfare

He asserted that there have been no major Communist offensives or subversive actions in his country, but that small bands of Communist soldiers have carried on a very high pitch of guerilla warfare. He believes that these troops are the remnants of the Chinese Communist forces which were to have withdrawn from the country under the agreement of the first General Conference. He continued that it is very likely that they are being reinforced from across the border of North Viet Nam.

The campaigns of the guerillas have been centered in the rural districts of the nation. Tai stated that they consisted mainly in intimidation of peasants. He continued, however, that they were gradually moving into the areas of greater population on the coast. They have pursued an intensive program of murder employing snipers and ambushes of the controlling officials of the government and civil service.

Tai stated that there is "a lack of unity in the people themselves" regarding the crisis, but he hopes that it will supply a force to unite the nation to cope with it. He maintained that if all peaceful efforts fail to solve the problem all possible means should be employed to maintain the independence of his people. He is not too certain of the present situation, however, because important things are occurring at very short intervals. The reported great famine in China he believes may be the cause of the invasion of this rich area.

IN MEMORIAM

Villanovans are asked to remember the following deceased in the prayers and Masses.

Two recent alumni who were killed in auto accidents during the recent holidays:

Ronald S. Zurinskas—Class of 1959.

Terence L. Whalen—Class of 1960.

Mother of Lucian C. St. Onge, C.&F. '63.

Father of Theodore N. Higginson, E.E. '62.

Father of George C. Robertson, C.&F. '62.

Father of Thomas G. Weiss, E.E. '61.

Co-Editor Kirk Sets Material Deadline For The Spring LYNX

Vince Kirk, senior co-editor of the Lynx, has recently promulgated that the deadline for the new spring issue is tentatively set for March 31.

Kirk strenuously stressed the fact that all types of articles will be considered including those embodying criticism, opinion, humor, drama, and essays in addition to short stories and poetry.

Dr. John Phillipson, moderator for the tome, was reportedly quite pleased with the last issue. "The reaction to and acceptance of the fall issue," he said, "was particularly satisfying and both the editors and I trust that this issue will be merely a harbinger of successes to come in future publications."

Dispersement Complete

The complete dispersement of the 500 copies available to the student body prompted Kirk to interject, "Now, there is adequate and ample reason for increasing the present number of copies that are printed to 1000 on account of the great demand for issues after this one sold out."

In answer to interrogation concerning the establishment of the new "idea" pamphlet on the campus, Vince Kirk expounded, "We feel that there will not be any actual conflict between either opus. The Lynx and the 'idea' magazine would not infringe upon each other but would tend to supplement the other by increasing the stimulus among students to write more often and to strive for better refinements and quality in their efforts. In effect, the Lynx seriously welcomes the new magazine to the campus as another step toward the progress which symbolizes Villanova.

"This new blossoming of the magazine," he claimed, "is heralding in the call of opportunity to all literary-minded Villanovans to further the literary standing of the university itself and the chance to advance their own individual status as well as under-developed talents."

Doctor Gallagher Discusses Thomism At Univ. of Delaware

Dr. Donald Gallagher, Chairman of the Philosophy Department, gave a lecture on "Thomism and the Present Predicament in Philosophy" at the University of Delaware last Monday. The program, sponsored by Delaware's Philosophy Club, consited of talks given by professors on various schools of thought about the topic. Dr. Gallagher was invited to give the Catholic viewpoint.

"A Select Bibliography of Jacques Maritain," written by Dr. Donald Gallagher and his wife, Idella, will be published in the February issue of the Catholic Literary World. The bibliography lists all books written in French and English by Maritain.

Dr. Donald Gallagher, Dr. Wolfgang Kluxen, and Prof. John Tich attended meetings of the American Philosophical Association at Yale University on December 28 and 29.

Midwinter Splendor

Dougherty Hall radiates electric brilliance as the focal point of the light-studded campus during the Christmas season.

Jupiter's gravity is so much greater than earth's that a spaceman trying to walk on the planet would be crushed by his own weight.

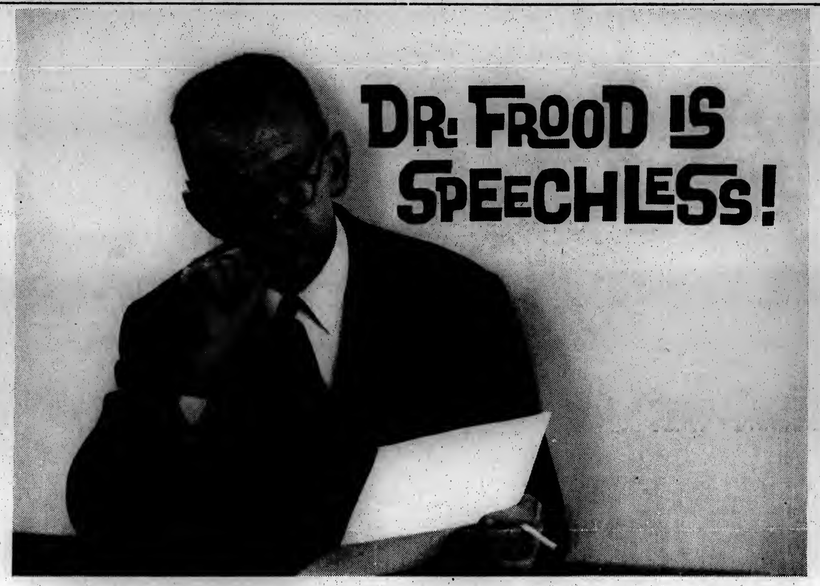
Of 78,789 companies reporting to the Canadian Department of National Revenue in 1958, 30 per cent operated at a loss.

ACAI Convention Hears Bishop Sheen, Goldwater

The challenging role and responsibilities of American industrial management in the 1960's will be the subject for discussion when the 65th Annual Congress of American Industry convenes Dec. 7, 8 and 9, at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

The Congress is sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers and attended by top leaders of the nation's industry.

NAM President Rudolph Bannow will outline the problems to be considered under the Congress theme, "A New Page—A New Age—Challenges America." He will address the Wednesday lunch session.



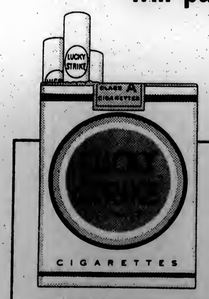
Headliners for the other lunch sessions are two men whose names are widely familiar.

Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, acknowledged leader of conservative Republicans, best-selling author of "The Conscience of a Conservative," will speak on "The Challenge of Leadership."

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York, popular author, television personality and Roman Catholic leader, will discuss "The Spiritual Challenge."

Sen. Goldwater is serving his second Senate term, having been re-elected in 1958 in the face of a nation-wide Democratic landslide.

Bishop Sheen has become known for his ability to interpret moral and theological principles in interesting and easily-understood language and concepts. His radio and television programs and books have made him popular with Americans of many creeds.



DR. FROOD IS SPEECHLESS!

MAKE MONEY! Dr. Frood is unable to answer letter from perplexed student. Your help needed. Lucky Strike will pay $200 for best reply to this letter:

Dear Dr. Frood: How can a man such as yourself be so wrong so often, so stupid so consistently and yet, at the same time, have the intelligence, good sense and outstanding good taste to smoke, enjoy and recommend the world's finest cigarette--Lucky Strike?

Perplexed

If you were Dr. Frood, how would you answer this letter? Send us your answer in 50 words or less. Try to think as Frood thinks, feel as Frood feels. For instance, his answer might be "HAVENT YOU EVER HEARD OF SCHIZOPHRENIA?" You can do better. All entries will be judged on the basis of humor, originality and style (it should be Froodian). Lucky Strike, the regular cigarette college students prefer, will pay $200 to the student who, in the, opinion of our judges, sends the best answer to the letter above. All entries must be postmarked no later than March 1, 1961. Lean back, light up a Lucky and THINK FROOD. Mail your letter to Lucky Strike, P. O. Box 15F, Mount Vernon 10, New York. Enclose name, address, college or university and class.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

© A. T. Co.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Gelinas Quits Quest Quickly As Stud. Council Gets Board

Gerry Gelinas, Chairman of the Fraternities and Societies Committee, tendered his resignation to the Student Council at its meeting last week.

Claiming that his position was simply that of "police chief" over student organizations, he included in his resignation in his regular semester-end report to the Council.

The crux of Gelinas' dissatisfaction was the system of monthly reports which all students groups are required to submit to the F & S Committee. "No one likes the idea of turning reports," the former chairman insisted, "and no one see any use in them."

In elucidating the situation for Council members, Chairman Bob DeLisa stated that the report system has been defended by former F & S chairman Paul O'Rourke, and that O'Rourke was not present to speak in favor of the reports.

The matter was concluded with DeLisa's acceptance of Gelinas' resignation, and request to the Council members that they suggest ways in which the F & S Committee could be made more functional.

Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs, reported that the Cultural Affairs Committee, under the Chairmanship of Bob Bohn, was planning on presenting a modern American author or poet as speaker at one of next semester's series of Council fourms.

At present, Strazzella indihated, critic Allen Tate and poet John Crowe Ransom are under consideration.

Council Vice Chairman Tom Wall, in his report on the success of the Student Administration Committee, declared that the Council has been given permission to erect a bulletin board, for its own exclusive use, in Dougherty Hall.

Wall further stated that the Administration currently had under Advisement a proposal of the Committee to allow the Field House swimming pool to remain open to a later hour on weekends. Vice Chairman indicated that this proposal would probably be accepted.

John Oberlies, Executive Vice President for Student Affairs, stated as part of his report that an attempt by his office to obtain the permission of the Administration to serve liquor at Field House dances was rejected on the grounds that the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages to minors might occur under University auspices if such a proposal were accepted.

Council Treasurer Jim Hooker then moved that the congress consider an amendment to its Constitution to the effect that a junior would be eligible for the Treasurership of the Council.

The meeting concluded with a suggestion by Jim Howley, sophomore C & F representative, that the Secretary record and publish a report of absences from the Student Senate meetings, as well as from Council meetings, "because students have a right to be informed of laxity in attendance on the part of officers of such stature as student senators."

Car Pool Program To Be Initiated During Registration Week

Eugene P. Pasymowski, a freshman C & F er and member of the VILLANOVAN news staff, is heading a newly-inaugurated Car Pool Program. The plan, initiated by Pasymowski, was presented to the Student Council by Jim McMonagle, junior class President. Students can sign for the program during registration week.

The Car Pool will consist of a catalogue listing the names of students who drive to school daily. This catalogue will be set up according to the various schools of the university, e.g., Arts, C&F, Engineering, Nursing.

Geographic Locations

Each division will have the students listed according to the general geographic location of their homes, e.g., Northeast Philadelphia.

COMMUTER PASYMOWSKI
. . . rides for Day-hops

Registration will take place in the Pie Shoppe. The students who wish to submit their names will be asked to fill out a card with the following information: course of study, general area of home, specific area of home, year, phone number, address, route to school, schedule.

Symphony Of Lights Grace VU During Yuletide Season

by Mike Donohue

"My what a beautiful scene that is," remarked the old lady wistfully as the P&W sped by the Villanova campus one evening several weeks ago.

Her comment was occasioned by the profusion of myriad colors emanating from the annual Christmas lights displayed on the front lawn of the campus.

"Golly, there must be a million lights on that tree," exclaimed her wide-eyed grandson as he craned his neck to get a better view of the gayly bedecked spruce tree in front of the monastery."

8000 Bulbs

"Actually, there are only 1300 lights on the blue spruce," Dan Hennessy pointed out. On all the displays combined there are 8000 bulbs, he appended.

Hennessy is the chief electrician for the university and the "idea" man behind the annual extravaganza. He has functioned in this capacity since first coming to Villanova 8½ years ago.

The affable Hennessy refused to take sole credit for the widely acclaimed displays.

"I just come up with the basic ideas," he shrugged nonchalantly, "then my men work from there."

Thanksgiving to Christmas

Hennessy and his staff of seven start work on the Christmas lights shortly after Thanksgiving. "From then until Christmas we work on the display between our regular duties," Hennessy said.

The electrician and his men not only mount the displays but they also build them. "We can't use ready-mounted Christmas scenes because we couldn't purchase any large enough to be seen in any detail from the highway," Hennessy explained.

"The only display we use not constructed by us is the crib that was placed in front of Austin Hall," he disclosed. "It was built by seminarians some years ago and we've been using it ever since."

Santa Claus

This is the only traditional element in Hennessy's well-illuminated repertory. "For instance, as an innovation this year we decided to install two likenesses of Santa Claus, one at either end of Dougherty Hall. By mistake three were built instead of two. So the guard house got a Santa Claus," Hennessy chuckled.

The most brilliant bit of improvisation on Hennessy's part took place last year.

Someone decided that a Christmas dispay would be incomplete without wreaths. But Hennessy had nothing on which to mount them. This however, did not deter Hennessy. Came the night of the faculty party, the lights were flicked on, and lo and behold, there were several dozen illuminated wreaths amidst the pyrotechnical display. His secret?

"I solved the problem by using some discarded hula hoops," he revealed sheepishly. "I couldn't resist the temptation. They were only twenty cents each," Hennessy economically pointed out.

Wives Hold Monthly Meeting Tonite 8:30

The regular January meeting of the Villanova Faculty Wives Club will be held Thursday evening, (tonight) at 8:30. The group will meet in the Lounge of the Naval Science Building, John Barry Hall.

The guest of honor and featured speaker of the evening will be the Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President. All faculty wives are invited to attend this meeting.

Refreshments mill be served after the meeting. Mrs. Harold Reuschlein is hospitality chairman for this event.

Seniors—what can Kearfott's personalized training program offer You?

Check the experiences of These Recent Graduates

JAMES T. ORRICO
Stevens Institute of Technology, '60

During his training program, Jim has already gained valuable experience in two diversified areas. In the Gyrodynamics Test Engineering Laboratory, he worked on the design of translator circuitry and test equipment. At present, he is assigned to the Field Service Department which is responsible for preparing manuals and technical courses. Jim plans to expend his experience even further—into both administrative and technical areas of Gyrodynamics. Eventually, he intends to concentrate on highly advanced systems engineering. Right now he's busy laying the groundwork in the broad spectrum of specialties which systems engineering embraces. Jim feels that this training program is tailor-made to prepare him for exactly the kind of work he wants to do.

PETER L. TODD
Cornell University, '57

Because Pete wanted first-hand experience in several engineering areas—development, design, testing, and manufacturing, he was given engineering responsibilities on a variety of projects. During his assignment to the Systems Electronics Laboratory, for example, he helped develop and test an aircraft navigation system that is now fully operational. After completing his training program, Pete decided to ask for permanent assignment to the Precision Wound Components Section. One of the most important advantages of working at Kearfott, Pete reports, is the project engineer approach. Under it, you can develop specific skills, and, at the same time, gain the engineering perspective that comes from seeing a project through from concept to completed product.

CHARLES R. ELLISON, Jr.
Villanova University, '60

What impressed Charlie most about his Kearfott training program was the immediate opportunity to apply theoretical analysis and optimum design techniques to realistic and stimulating problems. At the same time, he gained a comprehensive experience in the many other engineering aspects of carrying a project through to completion. Encouraged by tuition reimbursement and company sponsored courses, Charlie is now continuing his academic training toward an MS degree—and perhaps beyond. With midtown New York only 40 minutes away, he has easy access to the many fine colleges within the New York/New Jersey area—Columbia, NYU, Stevens, Newark College of Engineering, and others.

VINCENT MONTALTO, Jr.
Penn State, '60

Summer employment with the company in 1959 gave Vince all the reasons he needed to join Kearfott after graduation. He likes the way Kearfott Project Engineers STAY WITH A PROJECT—from the study phase right through design, prototype, production, and reliability testing. They are not only responsible for all technical aspects, but for quality and price structure of finished hardware as well. Vince finds this philosophy opens the way for growth along a variety of paths—gives him experience and perspective in practically every phase of engineering. A family man, Vince enjoys pleasant suburban living with his wife and son in a nearby community—one of many fine residential areas within a 10-mile radius.

A career with a company whose size has grown 20-fold in ten years

—From 300 to 6000 Employees
—25 New Laboratories

Kearfott's remarkable record of expansion is a reflection of its achievements in electronics, electro-mechanical components, precision instrumentation—and now, the development of complete systems. The continued expansion of the company means exceptional growth opportunities for recent graduates in all six major divisions:

Systems Engineering Division
Gyrodynamics Division
Electro-mechanical Division
Precision Components Division
Electronics Division
Power Equipment Division

In keeping with the dynamic atmosphere at Kearfott, a personalized training program gives the young engineer the freedom to explore many engineering fields before selecting the broad area best suited to his career interests. Performance leads quickly to advancement through Kearfott's policy of PROMOTION BY MERIT. For detailed information, see the Kearfott representative when he visits your campus.

KEARFOTT DIVISION
GENERAL PRECISION, INC.
Little Falls, New Jersey

ON CAMPUS INTERVIEWS FEB. 7
FOR ASSISTANT PROJECT ENGINEERS

Make an appointment now with your Placement Director, or write to Mr. Francis X. Jones, Technical Placement Supervisor.

Electrical Engineers-Physicists

•

NORDEN DIVISION UNITED AIRCRAFT CORPORATION WILL INTERVIEW ON

FEB. 8

career positions in Research, Development, Design and Manufacturing in such areas as

Fire Control Systems
Radar Systems
Data Processing Equipment
Inertial Guidance Systems
Television Systems
Aircraft Instrumentation
Navigation Systems and Components.

Co-Editor Kirk Sets Material Deadline For The Spring LYNX

Vince Kirk, senior co-editor of the Lynx, has recently promulgated that the deadline for the new spring issue is tentatively set for March 31.

Kirk strenuously stressed the fact that all types of articles will be considered including those embodying criticism, opinion, humor, drama, and essays in addition to short stories and poetry.

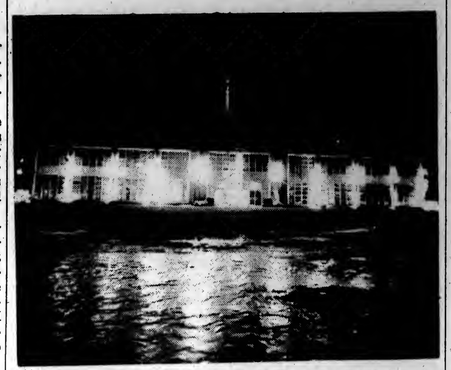
Dr. John Phillipson, moderator for the tome, was reportedly quite pleased with the last issue. "The reaction to and acceptance of the fall issue," he said, "was particularly satisfying and both the editors and I trust that this issue will be merely a harbinger of successes to come in future publications."

Dispersement Complete

The complete dispersement of the 500 copies available to the student body prompted Kirk to interject, "Now, there is adequate and ample reason for increasing the present number of copies that are printed to 1000 on account of the great demand for issues after this one sold out."

In answer to interrogation concerning the establishment of the new "idea" pamphlet on the campus, Vince Kirk expounded, "We feel that there will not be any actual conflict between either opus. The Lynx and the 'idea' magazine would not infringe upon each other but would tend to supplement the other by increasing the stimulus among students to write more often and to strive for better refinements and quality in their efforts. In effect, the Lynx seriously welcomes the new magazine to the campus as another step toward the progress which symbolizes Villanova.

"This new blossoming of the magazine," he claimed, "is heralding in the call of opportunity to all literary-minded Villanovans to further the literary standing of the university itself and the chance to advance their own individual status as well as under-developed talents."



Doctor Gallagher Discusses Thomism At Univ. of Delaware

Dr. Donald Gallagher, Chairman of the Philosophy Department, gave a lecture on "Thomism and the Present Predicament in Philosophy" at the University of Delaware last Monday. The program, sponsored by Delaware's Philosophy Club, consited of talks given by professors on various schools of thought about the topic. Dr. Gallagher was invited to give the Catholic viewpont.

"A Select Bibliography of Jacques Maritain," written by Dr. Donald Gallagher and his wife, Idella, will be published in the February issue of the Catholic Literary World. The bibliography lists all books written in French and English by Maritain.

Dr. Donald Gallagher, Dr. Wolfgang Kluxen, and Prof. John Tich attended meetings of the American Philosophical Association at Yale University on December 28 and 29.

Midwinter Splendor

Dougherty Hall radiates electric brilliance as the focal point of the light-studded campus during the Christmas season.

Jupiter's gravity is so much greater than earth's that a spaceman trying to walk on the planet would be crushed by his own weight.

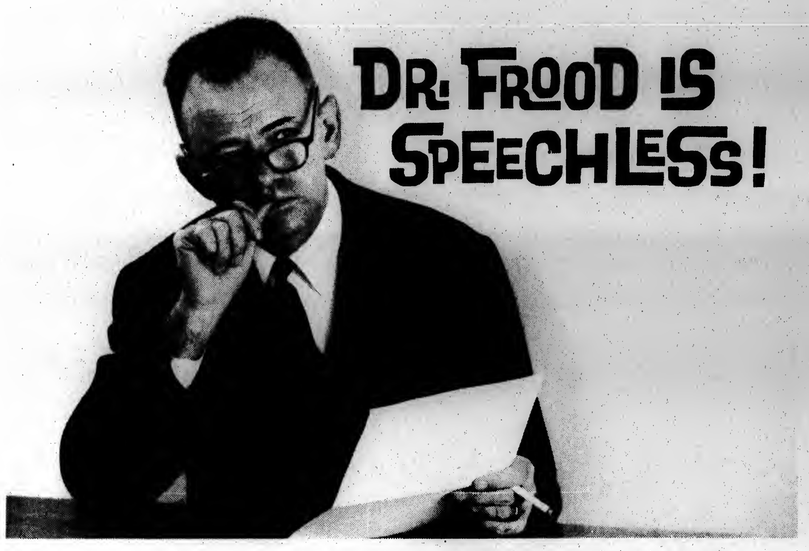
Of 78,789 companies reporting to the Canadian Department of National Revenue in 1958, 30 per cent operated at a loss.

ACAI Convention Hears Bishop Sheen, Goldwater

The challenging role and responsibilities of American industrial management in the 1960's will be the subject for discussion when the 65th Annual Congress of American Industry convenes Dec. 7, 8 and 9, at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

The Congress is sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers and attended by top leaders of the nation's industry.

NAM President Rudolph Bannow will outline the problems to be considered under the Congress theme, "A New Page—A New Age—Challenges America." He will address the Wednesday lunch session.



Headliners for the other lunch sessions are two men whose names are widely familiar.

Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, acknowledged leader of conservative Republicans, best-selling author of "The Conscience of a Conservative," will speak on "The Challenge of Leadership."

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York, popular author, television personality and Roman Catholic leader, will discuss "The Spiritual Challenge."

Sen. Goldwater is serving his second Senate term, having been re-elected in 1958 in the face of a nation-wide Democratic landslide.

Bishop Sheen has become known for his ability to interpret moral and theological principles in interesting and easily-understood language and concepts. His radio and television programs and books have made him popular with Americans of many creeds.

DR. FROOD IS SPEECHLESS!

MAKE MONEY! Dr. Frood is unable to answer letter from perplexed student. Your help needed. Lucky Strike will pay $200 for best reply to this letter:

Dear Dr. Frood: How can a man such as yourself be so wrong so often, so stupid so consistently and yet, at the same time, have the intelligence, good sense and outstanding good taste to smoke, enjoy and recommend the world's finest cigarette--Lucky Strike?

Perplexed

If you were Dr. Frood, how would you answer this letter? Send us your answer in 50 words or less. Try to think as Frood thinks, feel as Frood feels. For instance, his answer might be "HAVEN'T YOU EVER HEARD OF SCHIZOPHRENIA?" You can do better. All entries will be judged on the basis of humor, originality and style (it should be Froodian). Lucky Strike, the regular cigarette college students prefer, will pay $200 to the student who, in the opinion of our judges, sends the best answer to the letter above. All entries must be postmarked no later than March 1, 1961. Lean back, light up a Lucky and THINK FROOD. Mail your letter to Lucky Strike, P. O. Box 15F, Mount Vernon 10, New York. Enclose name, address, college or university and class.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

©A. T. Co.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Gelinas Quits Quest Quickly As Stud. Council Gets Board

Gerry Gelinas, Chairman of the Fraternities and Societies Committee, tendered his resignation to the Student Council at its meeting last week.

Claiming that his position was simply that of "police chief" over student organizations, he included in his resignation in his regular semester-end report to the Council.

The crux of Gelinas' dissatisfaction was the system of monthly reports which all students groups are required to submit to the F & S Committee. "No one likes the idea of turning reports," the former chairman insisted, "and no one see any use in them."

In elucidating the situation for Council members, Chairman Bob DeLisa stated that the report system has been defendcd by former F & S chairman Paul O'Rourke, and that O'Rourke was not present to speak in favor of the reports.

The matter was concluded with DeLisa's acceptance of Gelinas' resignation, and request to the Council members that they suggest ways in which the F & S Committee could be made more functional.

Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs, reported that the Cultural Affairs Committee, under the Chairmanship of Bob Bohn, was planning on presenting a modern American author or poet as speaker at one of next semester's series of Council fourms.

At present, Strazzella indihated, critic Allen Tate and poet John Crowe Ransom are under consideration.

Council Vice Chairman Tom Wall, in his report on the success of the Student Administration Committee, declared that the Council has been given permission to erect a bulletin board, for its own exclusive use, in Dougherty Hall.

Wall further stated that the Administration currently had under Advisement a proposal of the Committee to allow the Field House swimming pool to remain open to a later hour on weekends. Vice Chairman indicated that this proposal would probably be accepted.

John Oberlies, Executive Vice President for Student Affairs, stated as part of his report that an attempt by his office to obtain the permission of the Administration to serve liquor at Field House dances was rejected on the grounds that the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages to minors might occur under University auspices if such a proposal were accepted.

Council Treasurer Jim Hooker then moved that the congress consider an amendment to its Constitution to the effect that a junior would be eligible for the Treasurership of the Council.

The meeting concluded with a suggestion by Jim Howley, sophomore C & F representative, that the Secretary record and publish a report of absences from the Student Senate meetings, as well as from Council meetings, "because students have a right to be informed of laxity in attendance on the part of officers of such stature as student senators."

Car Pool Program To Be Initiated During Registration Week

Eugene P. Pasymowski, a freshman C & F er and member of the VILLANOVAN news staff, is heading a newly-inaugurated Car Pool Program. The plan, initiated by Pasymowski, was presented to the Student Council by Jim McMonagle, junior class President. Students can sign for the program during registration week.

The Car Pool will consist of a catalogue listing the names of students who drive to school daily. This catalogue will be set up according to the various schools of the university, e.g., Arts, C&F, Engineering, Nursing.

Geographic Locations

Each division will have the students listed according to the general geographic location of their homes, e.g., Northeast Philadelphia.

COMMUTER PASYMOWSKI
. . . rides for Day-hops

Registration will take place in the Pie Shoppe. The students who wish to submit their names will be asked to fill out a card with the following information: course of study, general area of home, specific area of home, year, phone number, address, route to school, schedule.

Symphony Of Lights Grace VU During Yuletide Season

by Mike Donahue

"My what a beautiful scene that is," remarked the old lady wistfully as the P&W sped by the Villanova campus one evening several weeks ago.

Her comment was occasioned by the profusion of myriad colors emanating from the annual Christmas lights displayed on the front lawn of the campus.

"Golly, there must be a million lights on that tree," exclaimed her wide-eyed grandson as he craned his neck to get a better view of the gayly bedecked spruce tree in front of the monastery."

8000 Bulbs

"Actually, there are only 1300 lights on the blue spruce," Dan Hennessy pointed out. On all the displays combined there are 8000 bulbs, he appended.

Hennessy is the chief electrician for the university and the "idea" man behind the annual extravaganza. He has functioned in this capacity since first coming to Villanova 8½ years ago.

The affable Hennessy refused to take sole credit for the widely acclaimed displays.

"I just come up with the basic ideas," he shrugged nonchalantly, "then my men work from there."

Thanksgiving to Christmas

Hennessy and his staff of seven start work on the Christmas lights shortly after Thanksgiving. "From then until Christmas we work on the display between our regular duties," Hennessy said.

The electrician and his men not only mount the displays but they also build them. "We can't use ready-mounted Christmas scenes because we couldn't purchase any large enough to be seen in any detail from the highway," Hennessy explained.

"The only display we use not constructed by us is the crib that was placed in front of Austin Hall," he disclosed. "It was built by seminarians some years ago and we've been using it ever since."

Santa Claus

This is the only traditional element in Hennessy's well-illuminated repertory. "For instance, as an innovation this year we decided to install two likenesses of Santa Claus, one at either end of Dougherty Hall. By mistake three were built instead of two. So the guard house got a Santa Claus," Hennessy chuckled.

The most brilliant bit of improvisation on Hennessy's part took place last year.

Someone decided that a Christmas dispay would be incomplete without wreaths. But Hennessy had nothing on which to mount them. This however, did not deter Hennessy. Came the night of the faculty party, the lights were flicked on, and lo and behold, there were several dozen illuminated wreaths amidst the pyrotechnical display. His secret?

"I solved the problem by using some discarded hula hoops," he revealed sheepishly. "I couldn't resist the temptation. They were only twenty cents each," Hennessy economically pointed out.

Wives Hold Monthly Meeting Tonite 8:30

The regular January meeting of the Villanova Faculty Wives Club will be held Thursday evening. (tonight) at 8:30. The group will meet in the Lounge of the Naval Science Building, John Barry Hall.

The guest of honor and featured speaker of the evening will be the Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President. All faculty wives are invited to attend this meeting.

Refreshments mill be served after the meeting. Mrs. Harold Reuschlein is hospitality chairman for this event.

Seniors—what can Kearfott's personalized training program offer You?

Check the experiences of These Recent Graduates

JAMES T. ORRICO
Stevens Institute of Technology, '60

During his training program, Jim has already gained valuable experience in two diversified areas. In the Gyrodynamics Test Engineering Laboratory, he worked on the design of transistor circuitry and test equipment. At present, he is assigned to the Field Service Department which is responsible for preparing manuals and technical courses. Jim plans to expand his experience even further—into both administrative and technical areas of Gyrodynamics. Eventually, he intends to concentrate on highly advanced systems engineering. Right now he's busy laying the groundwork in the broad spectrum of specialties which systems engineering embraces. Jim feels that this training program is tailor-made to prepare him for exactly the kind of work he wants to do.

PETER L. TODD
Cornell University, '57

Because Pete wanted first-hand experience in several engineering areas—development, design, testing, and manufacturing, he was given engineering responsibilities on a variety of projects. During his assignment to the Systems Electronics Laboratory, for example, he helped develop and test an aircraft navigation system that is now fully operational. After completing his training program, Pete decided to ask for permanent assignment to the Precision Wound Components Section. One of the most important advantages of working at Kearfott, Pete reports, is the project engineer approach. Under it, you can develop specific skills, and, at the same time, gain the engineering perspective that comes from seeing a project through from concept to completed product.

CHARLES R. ELLISON, Jr.
Villanova University, '60

What impressed Charlie most about his Kearfott training program was the immediate opportunity to apply theoretical analysis and optimum design techniques to realistic and stimulating problems. At the same time, he gained a comprehensive experience in the many other engineering aspects of carrying a project through to completion. Encouraged by tuition reimbursement and company sponsored courses, Charlie is now continuing his academic training toward an MS degree—and perhaps beyond. With midtown New York only 40 minutes away, he has easy access to the many fine colleges within the New York/New Jersey area—Columbia, NYU, Stevens, Newark College of Engineering, and others.

VINCENT MONTALTO, Jr.
Penn State, '60

Summer employment with the company in 1959 gave Vince all the reasons he needed to join Kearfott after graduation. He likes the way Kearfott Project Engineers STAY WITH A PROJECT—from the study phase right through design, prototype, production, and reliability testing. They are not only responsible for all technical aspects, but for quality and price structure of finished hardware as well. Vince finds this philosophy opens the way for growth along a variety of paths—gives him experience and perspective in practically every phase of engineering. A family man, Vince enjoys pleasant suburban living with his wife and son in a nearby community—one of many fine residential areas within a 10-mile radius.

A career with a company whose size has grown 20-fold in ten years

— From 300 to 6000 Employees
— 25 New Laboratories

Kearfott's remarkable record of expansion is a reflection of its achievements in electronics, electro-mechanical components, precision instrumentation—and now, the development of complete systems. The continued expansion of the company means exceptional growth opportunities for recent graduates in all six major divisions:

Systems Engineering Division
Gyrodynamics Division
Electro-mechanical Division
Precision Components Division
Electronics Division
Power Equipment Division

In keeping with the dynamic atmosphere at Kearfott, a personalized training program gives the young engineer the freedom to explore many engineering fields before selecting the broad area best suited to his career interests. Performance leads quickly to advancement through Kearfott's policy of PROMOTION BY MERIT. For detailed information, see the Kearfott representative when he visits your campus.

KEARFOTT DIVISION
GENERAL PRECISION, INC.
Little Falls, New Jersey

ON CAMPUS INTERVIEWS FEB. 7
FOR ASSISTANT PROJECT ENGINEERS

Make an appointment now with your Placement Director, or write to Mr. Francis X. Jones, Technical Placement Supervisor.

Electrical Engineers-Physicists

•

NORDEN DIVISION UNITED AIRCRAFT CORPORATION WILL INTERVIEW ON

FEB. 8

career positions in Research, Development, Design and Manufacturing in such areas as

Fire Control Systems
Radar Systems
Data Processing Equipment
Inertial Guidance Systems
Television Systems
Aircraft Instrumentation
Navigation Systems and Components.

An Investigation

A view toward moderation has always guided the policies and action of the United States, in theory at least, if not always in practice. This attitude of course, has existed in the minds of thinking citizens since it was first elucidated by Thomas Jefferson and his intellectual contemporaries. Throughout American history it has served as the ballast which smooths and steadies the course of the proverbial "Ship of State."

This moderation is, of course, a refinement of liberalism towards perfection. In 1778, the American concept of freedom, assuring as it did the exposure of all the people to any and all ideas, and permitting them to choose the best method of attaining their goals, stood as one of the most revolutionary ideologies ever promulgated. It has remained a revolutionary ideology. America remains the world's most revolutionary nation.

Despite her stature, however, America's spirit is presently dampened. Beleagured as she is within and without by insidious forces of unprecedented strength and determination, she has recoursed to reaction, instead of action. A possible explanation is that the number of thinking citizens, who preserve and apply the "sensible liberalism" which is the backbone of America, have sadly diminished.

They have been replaced, it seems, by an element of conservative mediocrity who seek to pass off as the contemporary "Spirit of America" a gelatinous vapidity, or worse, an isolationist tyranny. It appears that this element has arisen from the sheer panic which has gripped the United States. Russia, Berlin, Cuba, Laos, The Congo, Venezuela, Nicaragua, etc., etc., etc., have caused a trauma in the American psyche. Instead of decisive action against these influences, America has chosen to withdraw into a shell.

Abroad, it is painfully obvious that America is cringing; at home as well, major furors are being caused by incidents which, in a more liberal age, would be shrugged off with amusement: a self-styled "Liberal Youth Group," so "liberal" that it excludes both the F.B.I. and the daily press from its meetings, produces fearful convulsions; a Broadway play adapted from a best-selling novel is proclaimed "treasonous," if the United States were at war, by the wife of a former President. Other incidents have occurred, within and without the national boundaries, to make obvious the fact that America closed her eyes and is striking about her indiscriminately, wildly, blindly.

Is there a solution? Certainly a latter-day Thomas Jefferson would be most welcome at this juncture. But a Jefferson is not essential—the real power of America is within the minds and hearts of her people. American colleges and universities seem the ideal place for a resurrection of the liberal ideas of previous eras. President-elect John Kennedy has insisted that people must act with vigor to get the country moving again. Before action, however, must come understanding of the national goals and problems; and before this understanding must come an admission that problems do exist, and an investigation and definition of the problems.

At Villanova there exist numerous vehicles for increasing students' awareness of the difficulties faced by the United States. I.C.G., I.R.S., and other co-curricular organizations, the Student Council, The VILLANOVAN, forums, seminars, and speaker programs are all in simultaneous and continual operation to assist in the awakening of America's intelligent youth to the problems facing them. But the ultimate responsibility for the utilization of these facilities devolves on youth itself.

Due to the exams and the mid-semester break there will be no issue of the Villanovan for the next four weeks. All club publicity officals are requested to have all copy in on time during the next semester to facilitate publication.

Counterpoint

Barry May Be Valuable

Bill Speers

"It is conservatism that puts material things in their proper place—that has a structured view of the human being and of human society, in which economics plays only a subsidiary role."

Thus, Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona states his basic political premise in his gospel-like treatise, "The Conscience of a Conservative."

Written simply, forcibly and always candidly, Goldwater has made a fine attempt to explain the commonly misconstrued principles of the right wing of the Republican Party of which he is the acknowledged leader.

Yet we still hear students, among others, stand firmly against the "war monger" from the southwest and his "do-it-yourself citizenship," without really having a firm grasp of the Senator's political philosophy.

Radical Conservative?

And indeed, no matter what one's basic political beliefs are, we have here a man who must be reckoned with in the country's future, especially if the four-year wave of Kennedy liberalism fails.

In our own Pie Shoppe we have heard him irregularly attacked for carrying a conservative tag, because he's a middle-of-the-roader, or because his conservatism is some new form of radicalism.

The modern mind seems unable to conceive of conservative principles mixing with liberal ideals or vice-versa. It seems to be true of most countries today that you are either right or left and if you can afford it, in the middle; the possible fusion of ideas is rarely considered, even theoretically.

However, in the next four years we will be led by a man who is as radically liberal as Goldwater is Conservative. Recent history has shown that when we are governed by a one-sided administration, be it liberal or conservative, we usually meet with some kind of disaster. Under the liberal wing, foreign encounters; under the conservatives, domestic strife.

Barry's No Cure-All

And while it's encouraging to observe the vigor with which the President-Elect has already assumed his office, we hope that the Democratic Party does not feel it must make up for its eight-year presidential dormancy by blarring its main theme so loud that it obliviates the counter theme.

Granted, many of Goldwater's solutions and remedies if permitted to be carried through completely, would prove disasterous at this time, and perhaps at anytime! His ideas on State Rights would hurl us back into the age of Washington and Hamilton; yet his stand on Civil Rights seem worth consideration in the light of recent southern ill-will.

While his stands on both the Farm Problem and Taxes reeks delusion, however, his answers on the Labor question and the Soviet Menace show promise of assisting greatly in the resolution of these present day enigmas.

Funneled into the political beaker, the act is that Barry Goldwater has something to offer the United States, even if its only opposition to the new administration.

And although it may look far from it now, Goldwater's persistent opposition (if he too accepts half of the responsibility and attempts to live and work with the liberal "enemy") may help Kennedy to lead us all safety to that much-predicted promise land of 1964.

Perhaps, too, if the conservatives and liberals running our government learn to co-exist, labor and management and even the U.S. and Russia will find the whole idea of co-existence a little more plausible.

Sometimes Insurance Proves No Assurance

(Special To The Villanovan)

How much is your nose worth? Jimmy Durante values his at $140,000. That's the sum of the insurance he carries on the most famous proboscis since Cyrano's.

Most of us buy insurance to cover life, health, theft, accident, and other common risks, but insurance companies have issued offbeat policies on such items as legs, hair, hands, stocks of whiskey, and Presidential inaugurations. Policies against catastrophe have ranged between such unlikely poles as falling sputniks to the birth of twins.

Calvert Policy

Among the far from mundane policies on business assets is the policy Calvert Distillers took out on the whiskey stock which is its standard of taste and aroma—a one million dollar policy! Calvert matches its entire production to the quality standard. If the standard sample were destroyed, Lloyd's of London would pay one million dollars.

Another company protects its business interests in a different way. The Lincoln Electric Company of Cleveland took out a policy guaranteeing that money earned in France could be converted from francs to dollars.

A big payoff was made by Lloyd's of London when the race horse Your Host broke a leg before a big race in 1951. The company anted up $250,000 for this one.

Odd Insurance

Show business offers many entertaining examples of odd insurance policies. Fred Astaire covered his dancing legs for $650,000, while flamenco artist Jose Greco has four pairs of special elasticized wool trousers which he has insured against splitting at $980 a pair. The comedy team of Abbott and Costello once had a $250,000 policy against disagreement between them during a five year period. In the musical field the legendary Polish pianist Ignace Paderewski had insurance on his remarkable hands.

An unregistered and unorthodox animal—the Loch Ness monster—which had been floating in and out of the headlines in recent years, made insurance news when a policy was taken out against its delivery alive in London.

Would anything seem like more of an insurance "natural" than the fabulously valuable jewels of Great Britain? Yet the gems, on exhibit at the Tower of London, are not insured!

In the state of Texas, where they think big, one company executive is said to have his brain insured. Shopkeepers in Washington, D. C., perhaps influenced by the professional politicians' habit of hedging, once took out a $200,000 policy against Harry S. Truman's failure to show up at the 1949 inauguration.

Mother-In-Law

In the domestic world, one worried man insured against supporting his mother-in-law, while another harried husband took out a policy against hitting his.

Policies have been taken out against the birth of twins, the breakage of false teeth, and death caused by falling sputniks, but the anxious fellow who took out a policy with Lloyd's to insure against baldness certainly proved he had a head for business—and set a shining example for generations of future policyholders.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR ARE YOUR OPEN FORUM—A WAY TO MAKE ACUTE COMMENTS ABOUT YOUR UNIVERSITY

Villanovan

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Greve
Charles Simmonds
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Descenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
William McCall
Exchange Editor ..... Phillip Keany
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Reagiano, O.S.A.

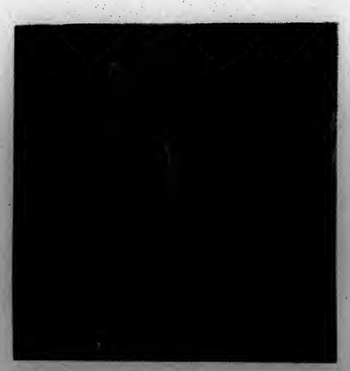
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1933; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Family Album



"Twins!"

"Now, who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder?"

"Martha, where IS my red tie?"

"Don't come in my place til you're twenty-one and can prove it."

'Sons And Lovers', Sundowners', Head Ten Best Movies List

by Al La Mestra

At the year's end we find that movies were bigger, bolder and bawdier in 1960, but unfortunately as usual, not any better.

That's the conclusion this movie fan reached in a year-end review of the Hollywood product. Note I say "movie fan." I firmly believe films offer the best in entertainment, better than 99 per cent of TV, and better than the bulk of Broadway plays.

But 1960 was not a vintage year for films. There was too much tinkering around with morality, too much bigness for bigness's sake. The year saw no standout film of the impact of "Ben-Hur," "On the Waterfront," "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Marty," or "From Here to Eternity," as in previous years.

These seemed best:

1. "Sons and Lovers" had much of the greatness and some of the limitations of the D. H. Lawrence novel. Trevor Howard etched a fine portrait of the father and should be honored for this.

"Sunrise" Downed

2. "The Sundowners" was a well-acted intensely human account of the Australian frontier life, episodic but still warm and entertaining thanks to the firm hand of Fred Zinneman in holding it and its cast together.

3. "Sunrise at Campobello" had value as an American chronicle and for fine impersonations by Ralph Bellamy and Greer Garson, but was still not accepted at the boxoffice as entertainment and joins the long list of the unappreciated.

4. "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" was a touching account of a family's problems, a period piece up to date in spite of the absurd ramblings and obvious overacting of Robert "tired? sick? try Anacin!" Preston.

5. "Bells Are Ringing" was the happiest picture of the year and again proved Judy Holliday's skill in the mucho-mutilated screenplay.

6. "Pollyanna" deserved better than it got. Frankly sentimental, it avoided being sticky and carried a worthy message.

7. "Spartacus was the big epic of the year which proved quite successful thanks to the screenplay by Trumbo and most inventive direction of Stanley Kubrick, a promising newcomer.

Tracy Great

8. "Inherit the Wind" was filmed in the finest tradition of a Stanley Kramer film and won accolades thanks to the fine acting of Spencer Tracy, the overacting of Fred March and the non acting of Gene Kelly in this blockbuster.

9. "Jazz on a Summer's Night" was the only musical that could be termed truly a masterpiece of timing and editing in all of this year's mediocre crop.

10. "Elmer Gantry" was the shocker of the year without all the cheap sideshow techniques applied in Hitchcock's "Psycho."

I don't mean to slight the epics. Or do I? We may need a new category for the latter-day run of DeMille. Qualifications: They must run over three hours, have six or more stars and a half-hour of battle or spectacle scenes and cost over $6 million. With the notable exception of "Ben-Hur," they are seldom satisfying as film achievements.

But they can be worth seeing for the spectacle and the interplay of characters. "Exodus" was the best of the bumper crop. "Spartacus" was impressive visually but still a little too sadistic with gore. "The Alamo" had heroic quality when it didn't dip into pathos. "Cimarron" featured the exciting land rush and familiar frontier characters.

Smelly Innovation

Other films were notable for performances: Doris Day in "Midnight Lace"; Burt Lancaster and Jean Simmons in "Elmer Gantry"; Elizabeth Taylor in "Butterfield 8"; Nancy Kwan in the "World of Suzie Wong" and Cantinflas in "Pepe."

The year also brought the "smelliest" film of all time "The Scent of Mystery" in Smellovision actually, it was an entertaining spoof of spy thrillers. How can 1961 top that?

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

THE ENGINEERS HAVE HAIRY EARS

Today in this age of technology when engineering graduates are wooed and courted by all of America's great industries, how do you account for the fact that Rimbaud Sigafoos, who finished at the very top of his class at M.I.T., turned down hundreds of attractive job offers to accept employment as a machinery wiper at the Acme Ice Company at a salary of $20 a week with a twelve-hour day, a seven-day week, and only fifteen minutes for lunch?

I know what you are thinking: "Cherchez la femme!" You are thinking that Mr. Acme, head of the Acme Ice Company, has a beautiful daughter with whom Rimbaud is madly in love and he took the job only to be near her.

Friends, you are wrong. It is true that Mr. Acme does have a daughter, a large, torpid lass named Clavdia who spends all her waking hours scooping marzipan out of a bucket and staring at a television set which has not worked in some years. Rimbaud has not the slightest interest in Clavdia; nor, indeed, does any other man, excepting possibly John Ringling North.

So how come Rimbaud keeps working for the Acme Ice Company? Can it be that they provide him with free Marlboro Cigarettes, and all day long he is able to settle back, make himself comfortable and enjoy the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste?

—a large, torpid lass named Clavdia

No, friends, no. Rimbaud is not allowed to smoke on the job and when he finishes his long, miserable day he has to buy his own Marlboros, even as you and I, in order to settle back and enjoy that choice tobacco, that smooth, mellow flavor, that incomparable filter, that pack or box.

Well, friends, you might as well give up because you'll never in a million years guess why Rimbaud works for the Acme Ice Company. The reason is simply this: Rimbaud is a seal!

He started as a performing seal in vaudeville. One night on the way to the Ed Sullivan show, he took the wrong subway. All night the poor mammal rode the B.M.T., seeking a helping hand. Finally a kindly brakeman named Ernest Thompson Sigafoos rescued the hapless Rimbaud.

He took Rimbaud home and raised him as his own, and Rimbaud, to show his appreciation, studied hard and got excellent marks and finished a distinguished academic career as valedictorian of M.I.T.

Rimbaud never complained to his kindly foster father, but through all those years of grammar school and high school and college, he darn near died of the heat! A seal, you must remember, is by nature a denizen of the Arctic, so you can imagine how poor Rimbaud must have suffered in subtropical New York and Boston, especially in those tight Ivy League suits.

But today at the Acme Ice Company, Rimbaud has finally found a temperature to his liking. He is very happy and sends greetings to his many friends.

. . .

© 1961 Max Shulman

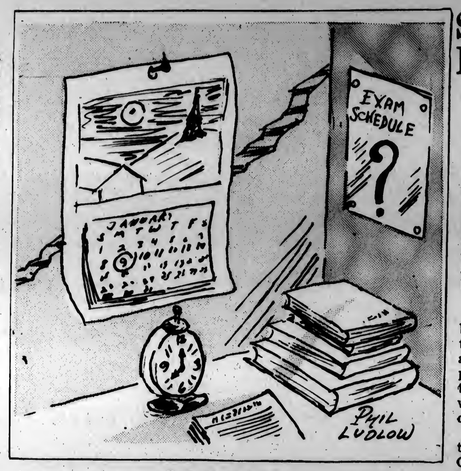
Any time, any clime, you get a lot to like with a Marlboro—and with Marlboro's newest partner in pleasure, the unfiltered, king-size, brand-new Philip Morris Commander. Get aboard!

An Investigation

A view toward moderation has always guided the policies and action of the United States, in theory at least, if not always in practice. This attitude of course, has existed in the minds of thinking citizens since it was first elucidated by Thomas Jefferson and his intellectual contemporaries. Throughout American history it has served as the ballast which smooths and steadies the course of the proverbial "Ship of State."

This moderation is, of course, a refinement of liberalism towards perfection. In 1778, the American concept of freedom, assuring as it did the exposure of all the people to any and all ideas, and permitting them to choose the best method of attaining their goals, stood as one of the most revolutionary ideologies ever promulgated. It has remained a revolutionary ideology. America remains the world's most revolutionary nation.

Despite her stature, however, America's spirit is presently dampened. Beleagured as she is within and without by insidious forces of unprecedented strength and determination, she has recoursed to reaction, instead of action. A possible explanation is that the number of thinking citizens, who preserve and apply the "sensible liberalism" which is the backbone of America, have sadly diminished.



They have been replaced, it seems, by an element of conservative mediocrity who seek to pass off as the contemporary "Spirit of America" a gelatinous vapidity, or worse, an isolationist tyranny. It appears that this element has arisen from the sheer panic which has gripped the United States. Russia, Berlin, Cuba, Laos, The Congo, Venezuela, Nicaragua, etc., etc., etc., have caused a trauma in the American psyche. Instead of decisive action against these influences, America has chosen to withdraw into a shell.

Abroad, it is painfully obvious that America is cringing; at home as well, major furors are being caused by incidents which, in a more liberal age, would be shrugged off with amusement: a self-styled "Liberal Youth Group," so "liberal" that it excludes both the F.B.I. and the daily press from its meetings, produces fearful convulsions; a Broadway play adapted from a best-selling novel is proclaimed "treasonous," if the United States were at war, by the wife of a former President. Other incidents have occurred, within and without the national boundaries, to make obvious the fact that America closed her eyes and is striking about her indiscriminately, wildly, blindly.

Is there a solution? Certainly a latter-day Thomas Jefferson would be most welcome at this juncture. But a Jefferson is not essential—the real power of America is within the minds and hearts of her people. American colleges and universities seem the ideal place for a resurrection of the liberal ideas of previous eras. President-elect John Kennedy has insisted that people must act with vigor to get the country moving again. Before action, however, must come understanding of the national goals and problems; and before this understanding must come an admission that problems do exist, and an investigation and definition of the problems.

At Villanova there exist numerous vehicles for increasing students' awareness of the difficulties faced by the United States. I.C.G., I.R.S., and other co-curricular organizations, the Student Council, The VILLANOVAN, forums, seminars, and speaker programs are all in simultaneous and continual operation to assist in the awakening of America's intelligent youth to the problems facing them. But the ultimate responsibility for the utilization of these facilities devolves on youth itself.

Due to the exams and the mid-semester break there will be no issue of the Villanovan for the next four weeks. All club publicity officals are requested to have all copy in on time during the next semester to facilitate publication.

Counterpoint

Barry May Be Valuable

Bill Speers

"It is conservatism that puts material things in their proper place—that has a structured view of the human being and of human society, in which economics plays only a subsidiary role."

Thus, Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona states his basic political premise in his gospel-like treatise, "The Conscience of a Conservative."

Written simply, forcibly and always candidly, Goldwater has made a fine attempt to explain the commonly misconstrued principles of the right wing of the Republican Party of which he is the acknowledged leader.

Yet we still hear students, among others, stand firmly against the "war monger" from the southwest and his "do-it-yourself citizenship," without really having a firm grasp of the Senator's political philosophy.

Radical Conservative?

And indeed, no matter what one's basic political beliefs are, we have here a man who must be reckoned with in the country's future, especially if the four-year wave of Kennedy liberalism fails.

In our own Pie Shoppe we have heard him irregularly attacked for carrying a conservative tag, because he's a middle-of-the-roader, or because his conservatism is some new form of radicalism.

The modern mind seems unable to conceive of conservative principles mixing with liberal ideals or vice-versa. It seems to be true of most countries today that you are either right or left and if you can afford it, in the middle; the possible fussion of ideas is rarely considered, even theoretically.

However, in the next four years we will be led by a man who is as radically liberal as Goldwater is Conservative. Recent history has shown that when we are governed by a one-sided administration, be it liberal or conservative, we usually meet with some kind of disaster. Under the liberal wing, foreign encounters; under the conservatives, domestic strife.

Barry's No Cure-All

And while it's encourging to observe the vigor with which the President-Elect has already assumed his office, we hope that the Democratic Party does not feel it must make up for its eight-year presidential dormancy by blarring its main theme so loud that it obliviates the counter theme.

Granted, many of Goldwater's solutions and remedies if permitted to be carried through completely, would prove disasterous at this time, and perhaps at anytime! His ideas on State Rights would hurl us back into the age of Washington and Hamilton; yet his stand on Civil Rights seem worth consideration in the light of recent southern ill-will.

While his stands on both the Farm Problem and Taxes reeks delusion, however, his answers on the Labor question and the Soviet Menace show promise of assisting greatly in the resolution of these present day enigmas.

Funneled into the political beaker, the act is that Barry Goldwater has something to offer the United States, even if its only opposition to the new administration.

And although it may look far from it now, Goldwater's persistent oposition (if he too accepts half of the responsibility and attempts to live and work with the liberal "enemy") may help Kennedy to lead us all safety to that much-predicted promise land of 1964.

Perhaps, too, if the conservatives and liberals running our government learn to co-exist, labor and management and even the U.S. and Russia will find the whole idea of co-existence a little more plausible.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR ARE YOUR OPEN FORUM—A WAY TO MAKE ACUTE COMMENTS ABOUT YOUR UNIVERSITY

Sometimes Insurance Proves No Assurance

(Special To The Villanovan)

How much is your nose worth? Jimmy Durante values his at $140,000. That's the sum of the insurance he carries on the most famous proboscis since Cyrano's.

Most of us buy insurance to cover life, health, theft, accident, and other common risks, but insurance companies have issued offbeat policies on such items as legs, hair, hands, stocks of whiskey, and Presidential inaugurations. Policies against catastrophe have ranged between such unlikely poles as falling sputniks to the birth of twins.

Calvert Policy

Among the far from mundane policies on business assets is the policy Calvert Distillers took out on the whiskey stock which is its standard of taste and aroma—a one million dollar policy! Calvert matches its entire production to the quality standard. If the standard sample were destroyed, Lloyd's of London would pay one million dollars.

Another company protects its business interests in a different way. The Lincoln Electric Company of Cleveland took out a policy guaranteeing that money earned in France could be converted from francs to dollars.

A big payoff was made by Lloyd's of London when the race horse Your Host broke a leg before a big race in 1951. The company anted up $250,000 for this one.

Odd Insurance

Show business offers many entertaining examples of odd insurance policies. Fred Astaire covered his dancing legs for $650,000, while flamenco artist Jose Greco has four pairs of special elasticized wool trousers which he has insured against splitting at $980 a pair. The comedy team of Abbott and Costello once had a $250,000 policy against disagreement between them during a five year period. In the musical field the legendary Polish pianist Ignace Paderewski had insurance on his remarkable hands.

An unregistered and unorthodox animal—the Loch Ness monster—which had been floating in and out of the headlines in recent years, made insurance news when a policy was taken out against its delivery alive in London.

Would anything seem like more of an insurance "natural" than the fabulously valuable jewels of Great Britain? Yet the gems, on exhibit at the Tower of London, are not insured!

In the state of Texas, where they think big, one company executive is said to have his brain insured. Shopkeepers in Washington, D. C., perhaps influenced by the professional politicians' habit of hedging, once took out a $200,000 policy against Harry S. Truman's failure to show up at the 1949 inauguration.

Mother-In-Law

In the domestic world, one worried man insured against supporting his mother-in-law, while another harried husband took out a policy against hitting his.

Policies have been taken out against the birth of twins, the breakage of false teeth, and death caused by falling sputniks, but the anxious fellow who took out a policy with Lloyd's to insure against baldness certainly proved he had a head for business—and set a shining example for generations of future policyholders.

Villanovan

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove
Charles Simmonds
Campus New Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... Gary F. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
William McCall
Exchange Editor ..... Phillip Kenny
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Bongiorno, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928; under the Act of March 3, 1927.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

Family Album

"Twins!"

"Now, who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder?"

"Martha, where IS my red tie?"

"Don't come in my place til you're twenty-one and can prove it."

'Sons And Lovers', Sundowners', Head Ten Best Movies List

by Al La Mastra

At the year's end we find that movies were bigger, bolder and bawdier in 1960, but unfortunately as usual, not any better.

That's the conclusion this movie fan reached in a year-end review of the Hollywood product. Note I say "movie fan." I firmly believe films offer the best in entertainment, better than 99 per cent of TV, and better than the bulk of Broadway plays.

But 1960 was not a vintage year for films. There was too much tinkering around with morality, too much bigness for bigness's sake. The year saw no standout film of the impact of "Ben-Hur," "On the Waterfront," "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Marty," or "From Here to Eternity," as in previous years.

These seemed best:

1. "Sons and Lovers" had much of the greatness and some of the limitations of the D. H. Lawrence novel. Trevor Howard etched a fine portrait of the father and should be honored for this.

"Sunrise" Downed

2. "The Sundowners" was a well-acted intensely human account of the Austrailian frontier life, episodic but still warm and entertaining thanks to the firm hand of Fred Zinneman in holding it and its cast together.

3. "Sunrise at Campobello" had value as an American chronicle and for fine impersonations by Ralph Bellamy and Greer Garson, but was still not accepted at the boxoffice as entertainment and joins the long list of the unappreciated.

4. "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" was a touching account of a family's problems, a period piece up to date in spite of the absurd ramblings and obvious overacting of Robert "tired? sick? try Anacin!" Preston.

5. "Bells Are Ringing" was the happiest picture of the year and again proved Judy Holliday's skill in the mucho-mutilated screenplay.

6. "Pollyanna" deserved better than it got. Frankly sentimental, it avoided being sticky and carried a worthy message.

7. "Spartacus was the big epic of the year which proved quite successful thanks to the screenplay by Trumbo and most inventive direction of Stanley Kubrick, a promising newcomer.

Tracy Great

8. "Inherit the Wind" was filmed in the finest tradition of a Stanley Kramer film and won accolades thanks to the fine acting of Spencer Tracy, the overacting of Fred March and the non acting of Gene Kelly in this blockbuster.

9. "Jazz on a Summer's Night" was the only musical that could be termed truly a masterpiece of timing and editing in all of this year's mediocre crop.

10. "Elmer Gantry" was the shocker of the year without all the cheap sideshow techniques applied in Hitchcock's "Psycho."

I don't mean to slight the epics. Or do I? We may need a new category for the latter-day run of DeMille. Qualifications: They must run over three hours, have six or more stars and a half-hour of battle or spectacle scenes and cost over $6 million. With the notable exception of "Ben-Hur," they are seldom satisfying as film achievements.

But they can be worth seeing for the spectacle and the interplay of characters. "Exodus" was the best of the bumper crop. "Spartacus" was impressive visually but still a little too sadistic with gore. "The Alamo" had heroic quality when it didn't dip into pathos. "Cimarron" featured the exciting land rush and familiar frontier characters.

Smelly Innovation

Other films were notable for performances: Doris Day in "Midnight Lace"; Burt Lancaster and Jean Simmons in "Elmer Gantry"; Elizabeth Taylor in "Butterfield 8"; Nancy Kwan in the "World of Suzie Wong" and Cantinflas in "Pepe."

The year also brought the "smelliest" film of all time "The Scent of Mystery" in Smellovision actually, it was an entertaining spoof of spy thrillers. How can 1961 top that?

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

THE ENGINEERS HAVE HAIRY EARS

Today in this age of technology when engineering graduates are wooed and courted by all of America's great industries, how do you account for the fact that Rimbaud Sigafoos, who finished at the very top of his class at M.I.T., turned down hundreds of attractive job offers to accept employment as a machinery wiper at the Acme Ice Company at a salary of $20 a week with a twelve-hour day, a seven-day week, and only fifteen minutes for lunch?

I know what you are thinking: "Cherchez la femme!" You are thinking that Mr. Acme, head of the Acme Ice Company, has a beautiful daughter with whom Rimbaud is madly in love and he took the job only to be near her.

Friends, you are wrong. It is true that Mr. Acme does have a daughter, a large, torpid lass named Clavdia who spends all her waking hours scooping marzipan out of a bucket and staring at a television set which has not worked in some years. Rimbaud has not the slightest interest in Clavdia; nor, indeed, does any other man, excepting possibly John Ringling North.

So how come Rimbaud keeps working for the Acme Ice Company? Can it be that they provide him with free Marlboro Cigarettes, and all day long he is able to settle back, make himself comfortable and enjoy the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste?

No, friends, no. Rimbaud is not allowed to smoke on the job and when he finishes his long, miserable day he has to buy his own Marlboros, even as you and I, in order to settle back and enjoy that choice tobacco, that smooth, mellow flavor, that incomparable filter, that pack or box.

Well, friends, you might as well give up because you'll never in a million years guess why Rimbaud works for the Acme Ice Company. The reason is simply this: Rimbaud is a seal!

He started as a performing seal in vaudeville. One night on the way to the Ed Sullivan show, he took the wrong subway. All night the poor mammal rode the B.M.T., seeking a helping hand. Finally a kindly brakeman named Ernest Thompson Sigafoos rescued the hapless Rimbaud.

He took Rimbaud home and raised him as his own, and Rimbaud, to show his appreciation, studied hard and got excellent marks and finished a distinguished academic career as valedictorian of M.I.T.

Rimbaud never complained to his kindly foster father, but through all those years of grammar school and high school and college, he darn near died of the heat! A seal, you must remember, is by nature a denizen of the Arctic, so you can imagine how poor Rimbaud must have suffered in subtropical New York and Boston, especially in those tight Ivy League suits.

But today at the Acme Ice Company, Rimbaud has finally found a temperature to his liking. He is very happy and sends greetings to his many friends.

© 1961 Max Shulman

. . .

Any time, any clime, you get a lot to like with a Marlboro—and with Marlboro's newest partner in pleasure, the unfiltered, king-size, brand-new Philip Morris Commander. Get aboard!

Speeritualism

Seeks Limited Open Stacks

By Bill Speers

Whether a student's use of it is extensive or scant, there can be no doubt that the campus library is the hard core of every college campus. It is both a first and last resort.

Utilized by teachers and student alike as the key research center and chief study hall, the library is the intellectual haven for the serious student.

Havens allot freedom and the library is no exception. However, at Villanova we have a peculiar situation in that the student has not been permitted entrance to the stacks for the last three years.

We think that without exception, there isn't a person on this campus who honestly believes that the closed stacks method is the more desireable way to run our library.

When the stacks were first closed, Father Falvey, the library director, was quoted in the VILLANOVAN as "being convinced" that closed stacks was not the ideal way to run a collegiate library; however, losses had made the move expedient.

Now after 2½ years under wraps, we believe the time is ripe for a gradual return to the former system whereby students had free access to the library stacks.

This return could be brought about through a plan of limited student influx into the stacks. Since the C and F School has its own library and the engineering students have their labs, it may be well to begin to return with the Arts students.

The plan could be even further limited by eliminating frosh and sophomore Arts and granting the stack privilege to junior and senior Arts majors only, who procure a card of admittance from the chairmen of their respective departments. The card would be good for one semester.

Without ready statistics on hand, we would say that this band of "stack students" would number 100-150. With this small group, perhaps a check system could be implemented whereby the library could better serve those students who make more frequent use of the library.

If this plan works for a semester, then Psych and Science majors could be included in the plan the following term and so on until the entire school once again embraces the library spirit of old.

CAMPUS NOTES . . . The VILLANOVAN loses one of its top sports writers when Bill Cercone leaves VU at the end of the semester for the University of Vienna . . . and Beta Gamma loses one of its ace debaters for the second semester when Frank Battaglia leaves ol' VU, where he's currently studying under an engineering scholarship in favor of an English scholarship at La Salle . . . Oh, well . . . Tom Wall's student - administration report at the last Student Council meeting was one of the most sorrowful disclosures we've ever heard in its' chambers . . . for all their troubles and woes with the Council this year the best the members could procure the administration was another Dougherty Hall bulletin board . . . say, that make nine!

READ YOUR VILLANOVAN!

'Round Midnight

Bergman Still Batting 1.000

By Joe Zawacki

Zawacki

Like the baseball player who caps a perfect "4 for 4" day with a home run in the last inning to win all the marbles, Ingmar Bergman, the current "critics' delight" has returned with another masterpiece. The Swedish film director (probably the only director in the world to get his name on the marquee) has topped his previous performances of "The Seventh Seal", Wild Strawberries", and "The Magician" with "The Virgin Spring", currently running at the World (18th and Market).

Through not as steeped in symbolism as are his previous efforts, "Spring" finds Bergman once again turning to religion for his foundation. Like all Bergman films, the storyline is simple and the dialogue sparse, but under the magic touch of the master's camera, it becomes a series of vivid tapestries, one moment brutal, the next soft. To put it into the vernacular, it is almost poetry in motion, if you can conceive of such a thing.

"The Virgin Spring" is a tale of vengeance essentially. It concerns the assault and death of a young girl by three goatherders as she takes candles to church on a feast of the Blessed Virgin. The murderers unwittingly seek refuge for the night at her farm and try to sell the girl's clothing to her parents. The angry father methodically slays them and when he finds his dead daughter's body, he vows to build a church to God on that spot to atone for his sin of vengeance. God, in his justice and mercy, shows his satisfaction by creating a miracle.

For those who have seen earlier Bergman films, you will not be surprised to see Max Von Sydow again. This time the capable Swedish actor has the role of the bereaved father, who displays no emotion at all until he has avenged his daughter's death.

The scene where he digs up and strips the tree that he planted on his girl's birth becomes one of the most touching that I have ever seen. Matching this in starkness is the murder scene which is definitely not for the squeamish.

Accompanying this film is an equally satisfying short subject called "The Divided World", which, in successfully contrasting our world of comfort with the fight for survival which constantly rages in the animal world, should serve well to remind us that we lived that way and if we're not careful with our bombs, could very easily return to it.

8,000 Management Opportunities!

That's right. There will be 8,000 supervisory jobs filled from within the Western Electric Company by college graduates in just the next ten years! How come? Because there's the kind of upward movement at Western Electric that spells executive opportunity. Young men in engineering and other professional work can choose between two paths of advancement—one within their own technical field and one within over-all management.

Your progress up-the-ladder to executive positions will be aided by a number of special programs. The annual company-wide personnel survey helps select management prospects. This ties in with planned rotational development, including transfers between Bell Companies and experience in a wide variety of fields. Western Electric maintains its own full-time graduate engineering training program, seven formal management courses, and a tuition refund plan for college study.

After joining Western Electric, you'll be planning production of a steady stream of communications products—electronic switching, carrier, microwave and missile guidance systems and components such as transistors, diodes, ferrites, etc. Every day, engineers at our manufacturing plants are working to bring new developments of our associates at Bell Telephone Laboratories into practical reality. In short, "the sky's your limit" at Western Electric.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. For more information, get your copy of Consider a Career at Western Electric from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 6106, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. Be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System team visits your campus.

Western Electric
MANUFACTURING AND SUPPLY UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM

Principal manufacturing locations at Chicago, Ill.; Kearny, N. J.; Baltimore, Md.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Allentown and Laureldale, Pa.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Buffalo, N. Y.; North Andover, Mass.; Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Columbus, Okla; Oklahoma City, Okla. Engineering Research Center, Princeton, N. J. Teletype Corporation, Skokie, Ill., and Little Rock, Ark. Also Western Electric distribution centers in 32 cities and installation headquarters in 16 cities. General headquarters: 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

What do YOU play?

Here's something new for you. A sport that requires no uniforms, deep breathing, big muscles. That's flying. All you need is a love of high places . . . of controlled speed . . . a drop or two of adventurer's blood . . . some reflexes . . . and you've got the makings of a pilot.

Did you ever sit in the front seat of a sports plane—and hear the answer it gives when you shove the throttle to its limit? Come over and hear that answer—at our expense. Cut out this ad and bring it with you for a free ride.

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction

HORIZON AERO SERVICE

BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

Team Manager Impressed By Hospitality In Dixie

by Jack Duffy

The Villanova University basketball team, ever on the go, traveled to Raleigh, North Carolina, during the Christmas holidays to participate in the 12th Annual Dixie Classic. The theme expressed on our arrival was "welcome to Raleigh" and our welcomers, North Carolina State fans all, were soon dismayed by the way the 'Cats bumped favorite State out of their own tournament.

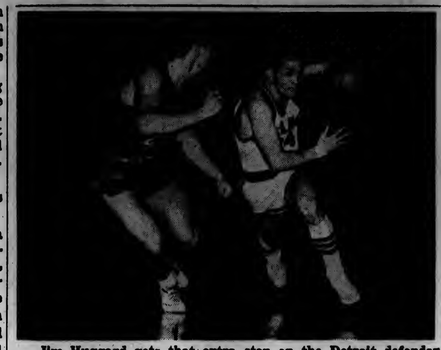
The VU team was accommodated under the east stands of the State football stadium, a la Doctor Monette and the Bastille. It was particularly disturbing for VU center Tom Hoover, since only half of him would fit in the bed provided. The 'Cats dined in the State student union building, which resembles the Waldorf Astoria, and were fed like kings. Through an odd and fortunate coincidence the chef was from Philadelphia.

A Bit of Pool

The first day down, Wednesday, the ball players had a brief period of free time and were invited to use the game room. A billiard tournament was soon organized and Bill Murphy, the senior manager, walked off with all the money.

$$$$

The Reynolds Coliseum, a mammouth structure costing many millions of dollars, is indeed a thing of beauty. It is reminiscent of Madison Square Garden, but every seat has an unobstructed view of the playing court.



The 'Cats started out in the first half of the State game as if they were annoyed at having to stop their pool games. When they emerged at halftime from their locker room in the depths of the coliseum the 'Cats were indeed a different team.

With Jimmy Huggard playing a fiery brand of basketball the 'Cats caught and passed the N.C. State boys who thought that with their fourteen-point lead the game was over at halftime.

Tragedy

The North Carolina game was a tragedy.

The Marquette game was a battle between two equally-matched teams. The difference, however, was Tom Hoover. Hoover played the game as only he really can, and proved that when he is available and not hampered by fouls, the 'Cats are the equal of any team in the country.

Jim Huggard gets that extra step on the Detroit defender enroute to a field goal at the Palestra.

One-Stop Shopping makes it easy to make the right buy at your Chevrolet dealer's!

No need to look farther than your Chevrolet dealer's to find the car you're looking for. There under one roof you can pick from 30 models—almost any type of car for any kind of going. A whole new crew of Chevy Corvairs for '61, including four wonderful wagons unlike any built before in the land. Thrifty Chevrolet Biscaynes, beautiful Bel Airs, elegant Impalas and six spacious Chevy wagons—all with a Jet-smooth ride. Come in and choose the one you want the easy way—on a one-stop shopping tour!

New '61 Chevrolet IMPALA 2-DOOR SEDAN

Here's all anyone could want in a car! One of a full line of five Impalas with Chevy's sensible new dimensions, inside and out.

New '61 Chevrolet 4-DOOR BISCAYNE 6

NOW—BIG-CAR COMFORT AT SMALL-CAR PRICES

These new Biscaynes—6 or V8—are the lowest priced full-sized Chevies. Yet they give you a full measure of Chevrolet roominess.

New '61 Corvair 500 LAKEWOOD STATION WAGON

One of Corvair's wonderful new wagons for '61, this 6-passenger Lakewood gives up to 68 cu. ft. of storage space.

New '61 Chevrolet BEL AIR 2-DOOR SEDAN

Beautiful Bel Airs, priced just above the thriftiest full-sized Chevies, bring you newness you can use. Larger door openings, higher easy-chair seats, more leg room in front, more foot room in the rear.

New lower priced 700 CORVAIR CLUB COUPE

Corvair brings you space, spunk and savings in '61. Thriftier sedans and coupes with more luggage space. That rear engine's spunkier, too, and there's a new gas-saving rear axle ratio to go with it.

See the new Chevrolet cars, Chevy Corvairs and the new Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Speeritualism

Seeks Limited Open Stacks

By Bill Speers

Whether a student's use of it is extensive or scant, there can be no doubt that the campus library is the hard core of every college campus. It is both a first and last resort.

Utilized by teachers and student alike as the key research center and chief study hall, the library is the intellectual haven for the serious student.

Havens allot freedom and the library is no exception. However, at Villanova we have a peculiar situation in that the student has not been permitted entrance to the stacks for the last three years.

We think that without exception, there isn't a person on this campus who honestly believes that the closed stacks method is the more desireable way to run our library.

When the stacks were first closed, Father Falvey, the library director, was quoted in the VILLANOVAN as "being convinced" that closed stacks was not the ideal way to run a collegiate library; however, losses had made the move expedient.

Now after 2½ years under wraps, we believe the time is ripe for a gradual return to the former system whereby students had free access to the library stacks.

This return could be brought about through a plan of limited student influx into the stacks. Since the C and F School has its own library and the engineering students have their labs, it may be well to begin to return with the Arts students.

The plan could be even further limited by eliminating frosh and sophomore Arts and granting the stack privilege to junior and senior Arts majors only, who procure a card of admittance from the chairmen of their respective departments. The card would be good for one semester.

Without ready statistics on hand, we would say that this band of "stack students" would number 100-150. With this small group, perhaps a check system could be implemented whereby the library could better serve those students who make more frequent use of the library.

If this plan works for a semester, then Psych and Science majors could be included in the plan the following term and so on until the entire school once again embraces the library spirit of old.

CAMPUS NOTES . . . The VILLANOVAN loses one of its top sports writers when Bill Corcone leaves VU at the end of the semester for the University of Vienna . . . and Beta Gamma loses one of its ace debaters for the second semester when Frank Battaglia leaves ol' VU, where he's currently studying under an engineering scholarship in favor of an English scholarship at La Salle . . . Oh, well . . . Tom Wall's student - administration report at the last Student Council meeting was one of the most sorrowful disclosures we've ever heard in its' chambers . . . for all their troubles and woes with the Council this year the best the members could procure the administration was another Dougherty Hall bulletin board . . . say, that make nine!

READ YOUR VILLANOVAN!

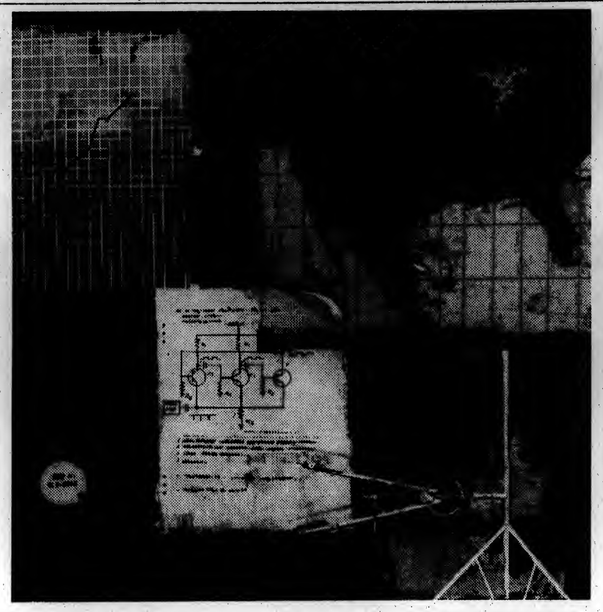
'Round Midnight

Bergman Still Batting 1.000

By Joe Zawacki

Zawacki

Like the baseball player who caps a perfect "4 for 4" day with a home run in the last inning to win all the marbles, Ingmar Bergman, the current "critics' delight" has returned with another masterpiece. The Swedish film director (probably the only director in the world to get his name on the marquee) has topped his previous performances of "The Seventh Seal", Wild Strawberries", and "The Magician" with "The Virgin Spring", currently running at the World (18th and Market).



Through not as steeped in symbolism as are his previous efforts, "Spring" finds Bergman once again turning to religion for his foundation. Like all Bergman films, the storyline is simple and the dialogue sparse, but under the magic touch of the master's camera, it becomes a series of vivid tapestries, one moment brutal, the next soft. To put it into the vernacular, it is almost poetry in motion, if you can conceive of such a thing.

"The Virgin Spring" is a tale of vengeance essentially. It concerns the assault and death of a young girl by three goatherders as she takes candles to church on a feast of the Blessed Virgin. The murderers unwittingly seek refuge for the night at her farm and try to sell the girl's clothing to her parents. The angry father methodically slays them and when he finds his dead daughter's body, he vows to build a church to God on that spot to atone for his sin of vengeance. God, in his justice and mercy, shows his satisfaction by creating a miracle.

For those who have seen earlier Bergman films, you will not be surprised to see Max Von Sydow again. This time the capable Swedish actor has the role of the bereaved father, who displays no emotion at all until he has avenged his daughter's death.

The scene where he digs up and strips the tree that he planted on his girl's birth becomes one of the most touching that I have ever seen. Matching this in starkness is the murder scene which is definitely not for the squeamish.

Accompanying this film is an equally satisfying short subject called "The Divided World", which, in successfully contrasting our world of comfort with the fight for survival which constantly rages in the animal world, should serve well to remind us that we lived that way and if we're not careful with our bombs, could very easily return to it.

8,000 Management Opportunities!

That's right. There will be 8,000 supervisory jobs filled from within the Western Electric Company by college graduates in just the next ten years! How come? Because there's the kind of upward movement at Western Electric that spells executive opportunity. Young men in engineering and other professional work can choose between two paths of advancement—one within their own technical field and one within over-all management.

Your progress up-the-ladder to executive positions will be aided by a number of special programs. The annual company-wide personnel survey helps select management prospects. This ties in with planned rotational development, including transfers between Bell Companies and experience in a wide variety of fields. Western Electric maintains its own full-time graduate engineering training program, seven formal management courses, and a tuition refund plan for college study.

After joining Western Electric, you'll be planning production of a steady stream of communications products—electronic switching, carrier, microwave and missile guidance systems and components such as transistors, diodes, ferrites, etc. Every day, engineers at our manufacturing plants are working to bring new developments of our associates at Bell Telephone Laboratories into practical reality. In short, "the sky's your limit" at Western Electric.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. For more information, get your copy of Consider a Career at Western Electric from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 6106, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. Be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System team visits your campus.

Western Electric
MANUFACTURING AND SUPPLY UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM

Principal manufacturing locations at Chicago, Ill.; Kearny, N. J.; Baltimore, Md.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Allentown and Laureldale, Pa.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Buffalo, N. Y.; North Andover, Mass.; Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma City, Okla. Engineering Research Center, Princeton, N. J. Teletype Corporation, Skokie, Ill., and Little Rock, Ark. Also Western Electric distribution centers in 32 cities and installation headquarters in 16 cities. General headquarters: 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

What do YOU play?

Here's something new for you. A sport that requires no uniforms, deep breathing, big muscles. That's flying. All you need is a love of high places . . . of controlled speed . . . a drop or two of adventurer's blood . . . some reflexes . . . and you've got the makings of a pilot.

Did you ever sit in the front seat of a sports plane—and hear the answer it gives when you shove the throttle to its limit? Come over and hear that answer—at our expense. Cut out this ad and bring it with you for a free ride.

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction

HORIZON AERO SERVICE
BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

Team Manager Impressed By Hospitality In Dixie

by Jack Duffy

The Villanova University basketball team, ever on the go, traveled to Raleigh, North Carolina, during the Christmas holidays to participate in the 12th Annual Dixie Classic. The theme expressed on our arrival was "welcome to Raleigh" and our welcomers, North Carolina State fans all, were soon dismayed by the way the 'Cats bumped favorite State out of their own tournament.

The VU team was accommodated under the east stands of the State football stadium, a la Doctor Monette and the Bastille. It was particularly disturbing for VU center Tom Hoover, since only half of him would fit in the bed provided. The 'Cats dined in the State student union building, which resembles the Waldorf Astoria, and were fed like kings. Through an odd and fortunate coincidence the chef was from Philadelphia.

A Bit of Pool

The first day down, Wednesday, the ball players had a breif period of free time and were invited to use the game room. A billiard tournament was soon organized and Bill Murphy, the senior manager, walked off witn all the money.

$$$$

The Reynolds Coliseum, a mammouth structure costing many millions of dollars, is indeed a thing of beauty. It is reminiscent of Madison Square Garden, but every seat has an unobstructed view of the playing court.

The 'Cats started out in the first half of the State game as if they were annoyed at having to stop their pool games. When they emerged at halftime from their locker room in the depths of the coliseum the 'Cats were indeed a different team.

With Jimmy Huggard playing a fiery brand of basketball the 'Cats caught and passed the N.C. State boys who thought that with their fourteen-point lead the game was over at halftime.

Tragedy

The North Carolina game was a tragedy.

The Marquette game was a battle between two equally-matched teams. The difference, however, was Tom Hoover. Hoover played the game as only he really can, and proved that when he is available and not hampered by fouls, the 'Cats are the equal of any team in the country.

Jim Huggard gets that extra step on the Detroit defender enroute to a field goal at the Palestra.

One-Stop Shopping makes it easy to make the right buy at your Chevrolet dealer's!

No need to look farther than your Chevrolet dealer's to find the car you're looking for. There under one roof you can pick from 30 models—almost any type of car for any kind of going. A whole new crew of Chevy Corvairs for '61, including four wonderful wagons unlike any built before in the land. Thrifty Chevrolet Biscaynes, beautiful Bel Airs, elegant Impalas and six spacious Chevy wagons—all with a Jet-smooth ride. Come in and choose the one you want the easy way—on a one-stop shopping tour!

JET-SMOOTH RIDE
CHEVROLET

New '61 Chevrolet IMPALA 2-DOOR SEDAN
Here's all anyone could want in a car! One of a full line of five Impalas with Chevy's sensible new dimensions, inside and out.

New '61 Chevrolet 4-DOOR BISCAYNE 6
NOW—BIG-CAR COMFORT AT SMALL-CAR PRICES
These new Biscaynes—6 or V8—are the lowest priced full-sized Chevies. Yet they give you a full measure of Chevrolet roominess.

New '61 Corvair 500 LAKEWOOD STATION WAGON
One of Corvair's wonderful new wagons for '61, this 6-passenger Lakewood gives up to 68 cu. ft. of storage space.

New '61 Chevrolet BEL AIR 2-DOOR SEDAN
Beautiful Bel Airs, priced just above the thriftiest full-sized Chevies, bring you newness you can use. Larger door openings, higher easy-chair seats, more leg room in front, more foot room in the rear.

New lower priced 700 CORVAIR CLUB COUPE
Corvair brings you space, spunk and savings in '61. Thriftier sedans and coupes with more luggage space. That rear engine's spunkier, too, and there's a new gas-saving rear axle ratio to go with it.

See the new Chevrolet cars, Chevy Corvairs and the new Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Huble White rises to the occasion as Dave DeBusschere fails to impede the scoring antics of Villanova's junior All-American candidate in the convincing 81-69 'Cat triumph over Detroit.

Two Touch Ones

'Cats Face W.Va. Saturday, Hawks Between Semesters

by Mike Donahue

West Virginia, with a new coach, new faces, and no Jerry West will journey to the Palestra Saturday night to do battle with the revved up minions of Al Severance.

The Mountaineer offense, paced by localite Jim Ritchie, pepperpot Lee Patrone and soph phenom Rod Thorn, will seek a repeat of last year's 89-81 thriller at Morgantown. Ritchie, 6-4, is coach George King's bread and butter rebounder while Patrone sets up the plays. Thorn is the 6-4 tyro who occasioned legislative action in West Virginia when as a high school senior he evinced an interest in an out-of-state college. The state legislature passed a bill urging him to remain loyal to his native state. As a high school senior he scored at better than a point a minute clip.

Upset Memphis State

George King's team is probably not so strong as some of the Freddy Schaus powerhouses of the past, it can not be taken lightly. In the Sugar Bowl tourney, inspired by the brilliant 32 point play of Patrone, it stormed from behind to beat highly rated Memphis State.

The Cats' next opponent, January 18 will be Jack McCloskey's Penn five. This game will be the 'Cats first encounter with a Big Five team and should not provoke too much stress and strain if the H-bombs, Hubgard and Hubie, are anywhere near form. Nevertheless, McCloskey has a knack for upsets and if Bob Milkvy who might be the second best all around player in the city, hits his 1959-60 stride the 'Cats will be in for a rough evening.

Dukes Not Too Tough

Following the Penn game, Duquesne and Pitt will be met during the mid-semester layoff. The Dukes of Red Manning are not even reasonable facsimiles of the Dukes of Dudey Moore's reign. Hence Duquesne doesn't look too formidable.

On the other hand, Pitt does. Off their early season conquest of Terry Dischinger-led Purdue, at least. A closer look, however, shows a team without a consistent big man. John Fridley, of dental fame, is the Panthers' ace.

Both the Duquesne game and the Pitt fray will be played in Pittsburgh.

Following the Iron City encounters, also during the semester break, the 'Cats tangle with arch-rival St. Joseph's in a single game at the Palestra, Saturday, January 28. Because local hoop afficionados delight in terming this annual inter-city skirmish the Big One, and because St. Joseph's rooters with typical short-sighted abandon annually induce a state of ecstatic frenzy in the Hawks with their primitive exhortations, the 'Cats will be in for a battle royal.

Down With "Psyching Up"

Past performance notwithstanding, the Severancemen should take the Hawks on ability alone sans "psyching up". This should be the case even if The Silver Fox sticks to his sane and sensible idea of putting each game in its proper perspective. If, by some devious machination of fate, or by sheer superiority the Hawks manage to duplicate last year's feat, a state of Main Line melancholy need not set in. Directed thinking will preclude such a state of mind; thinking directed toward future opponents such as Memphis State, Wake Forest, North Carolina State, and Temple.

Wildcats Topple Tall Titans, Maul Mules For Wins 7 & 8

By Bud Simmonds

Returning to the friendly confines of the Palestra after their Dixie trip, Villanova's Wildcats defeated Detroit University Wednesday night, 81-69. Since the tall Titans came to town 11th ranked in the polls, the satisfying win was solid evidence that the 'Cat court machine is starting to roll after some early season jitters.

Villanova's two H?bombs, Jim Huggard and Hubie White, were in rare form for the 'Cats fans, exploding for 55 points and some crowd-pleasing plays.

Huggard and Hubie Sparkle

The fiery co-captain, Huggard, inspired the 'Cats and rattled the highly-touted Titans with his steals, playmaking, and 28 points. White, after a shaky start, dazzled the crowd with his dribbling antics, leaping dunk, and tallied 27 points.

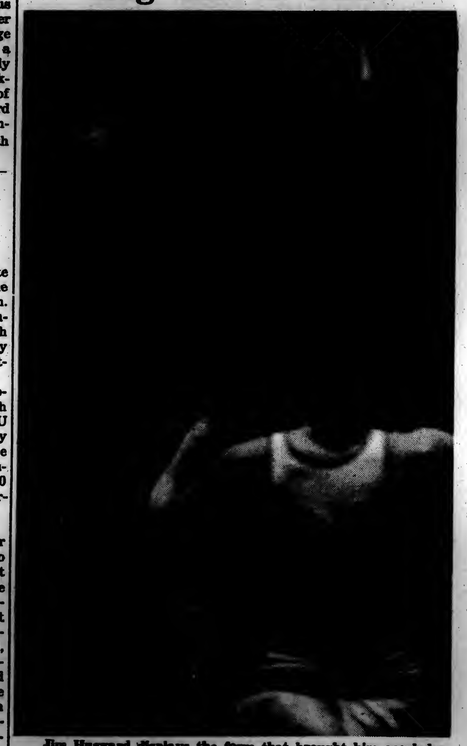
Hubie outshone his fellow All-American candidate, Dave DeBusschere, who in attempting to stop White got into foul trouble and was limited to 13 points by the dogged Villanova zone defense.

The 'Cats pulled ahead in the first half scoring 18 points to Detroit's 1, and built a halftime lead to 41-32. Despite consistent surges, one resulting in their pulling ahead for a brief period, the fine clutch play of the entire team thwarted these challenges.

Fine Team Effort

Tom Samulewicz answered the relief call of Coach Al Severance and capably filled in for the foul-troubled Tom Hoover with his usual hustling floor game. Bernie Chavis with 12 rebounds and co-captain Dick Kaminski with 13 points gave fine support to the V. U. attack.

Win Over Mules



The Wildcats notched their eigth win of the season Saturday as they swept over Muhlenberg, 74-53, at Allentown. In their second game of the new year, the Cats followed up the Detroit win with the smooth, workmanlike victory over the Mules.

Sparkplug Jim Huggard once again took over the familiar rein of leadership and led the 'Cats in a hustling 18 point performance. Huble White was second high for the Villanova cause with 16 points.

In search of an upset, the home team threw a four-man box defense against the 'Cats with the fifth man sticking like glue to V.U.'s star forward. "Hphoaps" took advantage of the situation and played a fine game from the pivot suprising the Muhlenberg defense.

A keynote of the game was the Wiltdcas' shooting from the freethrow line (20/27). This accuracy has been a major factor in recent victories for Villanova.

Hug Hits In Dixie

Jim Huggard displays the form that brought him accolades and won him a spot on the All-Tourney five in the Dixie Classic. Despite such successful sniping as this against North Carolina, the Wildcats' incurred their only loss of the tourney to the Tarheels, 87-67.

Wildcat Thinclads Open Indoor Season In Boston

Two Olympic team members, the IC4A outdoor hurdles champion and several returning lettermen from the team which won both the indoor and outdoor IC4A championships will comprise the contingent of Villanova trackmen scheduled to compete Saturday night at Boston in the first indoor track meet of the season.

Frank Budd and Rolando Cruz are the members of Jumbo Jim Elliott's stable who spent the latter part of August in Rome. Budd competed in the 100 meter dash, finishing fifth against the world's toughest competition. He also ran a leg on the ill-fated US 400 meter relay team which was disqualified.

Cruz Finished Third

Cruz, a freshman, fared somewhat better. Competing for his native Puerto Rico, the slender graduate of Lawrenceville Prep vaulted 14'11⅛" to garner third place and a bronze medal. He was bested only by future Thespian Don Bragg and his US teammate Ron Morris.

Budd will compete in the 50 yard dash and Cruz will stick to his specialty.

Leon Pras and Charlie Hammock will represent Villanova in the 60 yd. high hurdles. Pras, a junior, was nipped by hirsute Bill Johnson of Maryland in the IC4A indoor final last March. In the IC4A outdoor championships he capped the 120 high hurdles crown, being the only individual winner as the Elliottmen nipped Penn State.

Hammock is the lithe sophomore from Roman Catholic High School who is the local AAU hurdles champ at 60 yards, by virtue of an easy win in the meet last February at Convention Hall. He later won at 120 yards outdoors in a meet in Norristown last June.

9 Letter Men

Elliott also plans to enter teams in both the mile and two mile relays. The mile quartet will be comprised of four of these five middle distance men according to Jim Tuppeny, assistant coach: Otie Drayton, Joe Manion, Carl Wagner, Bobby Coffill, and Bob Raemore. The Marlboro pole vaulter also disclosed that members of the two mile four would be selected from these six: Al Jackman, Nick DeAngelis, Jon Dante, Jerry Hackett, Frank Hegarty, and Pat Nicastro.

Of the aforementioned ten all are veterans except Jackman who is a sophomore.

Villanovan

Vol. 36 No. 13 — VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. — February 9,1961

SEVERANCE ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Coach Reveals Decision At Sportswriters Meeting

by Dan Grove, Sports Editor

Alex G. Severance, Villanova's varsity basketball coach for the past 25 years, will announce his retirement from that position at today's weekly meeting of the Philadelphia Basketball Writers' Association.

The VILLANOVAN learned last night of Severance's resignation, which will become effective at the end of the current season. The news was confirmed by Francis X. Reagan, the University's Director of Athletics.

Severance said that the decision to retire was entirely his and was made because of personal reasons. He said no pressure was put to him. He summed up his feelings by saying, "32 years is a long time, I feel that now is as good a time as any to bow out."

His future plans were not revealed, but it is felt by many that a man with Severance's knowledge, contacts, and magnetic personality will be prevailed upon by the university to remain in some capacity.

Although the resignation was a surprise to all concerned it typified Severance's career which can probably best be summed up in one word—spectacular!

37 Years of Service

Al Severance has been connected with Villanova for 37 years. He enrolled here in 1925 and graduated as validictorian of the class of 1929. During his undergraduate years he was co-captain of the basketball team, the school's 135 pound boxing champion, and a half miler on the track team.

He was named freshman coach upon graduation and with the exception of the 1932-33 season held that post until, and on some occasions after, he was named head coach. His overall record with the yearling clubs was 159 wins against 31 losses.

At various times during his career at Villanova, Severance has held the post of graduate manager of athletics, publicity director and Athletic Director.

When George "Doc" Jacobs resigned as head coach in 1936, Severance was named his successor. At that post for the past 25 years Severance has raised Villanova from a small time power. His record for those 25 seasons is 415 wins against 196 losses.

Tournaments and Stars

He has coached his teams to 4 N.C.A.A. and 2 N.I.T. post season tournaments. In addition his clubs have participated in most of the "name" midseason tournaments.

Under his tutelage many stars have risen on the Mainline horizon. Five All-Americans Joe Lord, Paul Arizin, Larry Hennessy, Sammy Glassmire, and Bobby Schaefer are perhaps the most notable products of the Gray Fox.

Exciting Era

Severance's 25 year era has been an exciting one for local sports fans. His teams have defeated heavy favorites and lost to unregarded underdogs. They have caused rule changes, kidnaping investigations and tirades as well as raves from the press. His humorous anecdotes and dramatic pregame orations are a legend in the East.

His 37 years of loyalty to Villanova are sure to be a favorite egend in the school's tradition. No amount of print can eulogize his contributions here at Villanova. Perhaps the two awards that Al has received in the past year sum up the feeling for him. These two awards, The Alumni Loyalty Award, and the Helm's Basketball Hall of Fame Award are a perfect ending to 25 years of hardwood glory.

COACH SEVERANCE
. . . 25th year to be his last.

Speers Resigns As Associate Editor Of The VILLANOVAN

William Speers, Associate Editor of the VILLANOVAN, has resigned his position, effective this week.

Speers is leaving Villanova to accept a position as Assistant Editor of The STAR HERALD, official newspaper of the Diocese of Camden.

COLUMNIST SPEERS
. . . farewell and good luck.

A junior English major, Speers began his career on the campus newspaper in his freshman year, as Campus News Editor. As a sophomore, he served as both News and Feature Editors. He was appointed Associate Editor of The VILLANOVAN for the current academic year.

In addition to his editorial duties, Speers was the writer of "Speeritualism," a weekly column devoted to an investigation and analysis of problems affecting the Villanova campus.

Speers also served in editorial capacities on other campus publications, and was a frequent contributor to The LYNX, the campus literary magazine.

Car Pool Success Assured By Enthusiastic Showing

The Car Pool Program, a new service of the Student Council is being met with great enthusiasm from the Student Body.

During the first three days of its existence, over 300 persons joined the program. This is one-quarter of the total number of students who drive to Villanova. Because of such a great response to this experimental program, it has been made a permanent program by the Student Council.

Eugene P. Pasymowski, Freshman C&F student and member of the VILLANOVAN News Staff, who formulated the newly devised Geographic Catalog system of the Program said "The success of this program proves the close unity of the Student Council with the Student Body."

The Car Pool Program furnishes a means by which students who are looking for rides or seeking rides can easily check the catalog listing for other students who have the same destination in mind.

The way in which the catalogue is set up serves two purposes. First, if the student is seeking a ride to school he may look in the catalogue according to his geographic area for people who are driving from his section. Thus he may find other students who are driving to school and are willing to take passengers.

Second, if a student drives to school and wishes to offer his car to other Villanovans he may look up the catalogue listing of prospective riders from his area.

The result of this program is beneficial to the student, the University, and to the public.

The student would benefit by lowering his transportation costs. It would be much cheaper to have six people in one car than one person in the same car.

At present, the student parking lot, which holds 1400 cars, is being utilized to its capacity; thus through many riders the Universitv would not need additional parking space.

John Q. Public would also be a beneficiary of the program in an indirect way. If the program would work at peak efficiency 250 cars would replace 1400 cars now using the highways. Although this program will not alleviate the traffic problem completely, it is a step forward.

Father Joseph W. Kemme, OSA, the Vice President of Student Affairs, who complimented the Student Council and Eugene Pasylowski on their undertaking, confirms the success of the Car Pool Program.

V.U. English Prof. On Television Show "University of Air"

Dr. Joseph C. Reino, Assistant Professor of English, made his third appearance on WFIL-TV's "University of the Air" series on Monday, February 6 on Channel 6.

This was the first in a series of 16 lectures designed to stimulate interest in poetry for the general public, and subjects will range from Mother Goose rhymes to T. S. Eliot.

Some of the poems to be discussed include: "The Listeners," by Walter de la Mare: "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayam," by Edward Fitzgerald; "The Raven," by Edgar Allen Poe; "Casey at the Bat," by Ernest Lawrence Thayer; and "Poems of a Jew," by Karl Shapiro.

Dr. Reino received his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania in 1951, and joined the faculty of Villanova in the Fall of 1960.

Red Cross Drive Needs 800 Faculty And Student Donors

The Annual Red Cross Blood Drive will take place in Alumni Hall Gymnasium this year on March 1 and 2. Gerry Gelinas, representing the Student Council for the drive has stated that registration for the drive will take place on February 14 and 15. Authorities from the Wayne Chapter of the Red Cross will process the prospective donors.

Gelinas emphasized that faculty members as well as students are encouraged to contribute as part of the desired 800 needed donors. All persons under 21 years of age will be required, however, to obtain written parental permission in order to donate blood.

In return, the donors and their families will be guaranted complete fulfillment of their blood needs for one year.

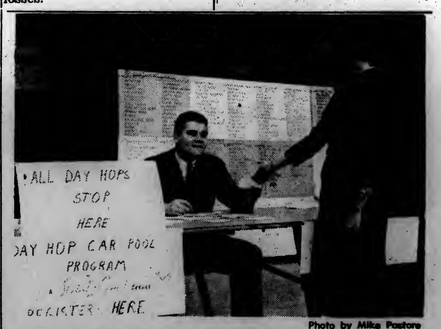


Photo by Mike Postore

"Drexel Hill? Well, let's see. We have several Bridesburg students who need riders . . . ", Gene Pasymowski cheerfully informs a co-ed. Pasymowski's car pool program met with enthusiastic response from several hundred day-hops.

Hubie White rises to the occasion as Dave DeBusschere fails to impede the scoring antics of Villanova's junior All-American candidate in the convincing 81-69 'Cat triumph over Detroit.

Two Touch Ones

'Cats Face W.Va. Saturday, Hawks Between Semesters

West Virginia, with a new coach, new faces, and no Jerry West will journey to the Palestra Saturday night to do battle with the revved up minions of Al Severance.

The Mountaineer offense, paced by localite Jim Ritchie, pepperpot Lee Patrone and soph phenom Rod Thorn, will seek a repeat of last year's 89-81 thriller at Morgantown. Ritchie, 6-4, is coach George King's bread and butter rebounder while Patrone sets up the plays. Thorn is the 6-4 tyro who occasioned legislative action in West Virginia when as a high school senior he evinced an interest in an out-of-state college. The state legislature passed a bill urging him to remain loyal to his native state. As a high school senior he scored at better than a point a minute clip.

Upset Memphis State

George King's team is probably not so strong as some of the Freddy Schaus powerhouses of the past, it can not be taken lightly. In the Sugar Bowl tourney, inspired by the brilliant 32 point play of Patrone, it stormed from behind to beat highly rated Memphis State.

The Cats' next opponent, January 18 will be Jack McCloskey's Penn five. This game will be the 'Cats first encounter with a Big Five team and should not provoke too much stress and strain if the H-bombs, Hubgard and Hubie, are anywhere near form. Nevertheless, McCloskey has a knack for upsets and if Bob Milkvy who might be the second best all around player in the city, hits his 1959-60 stride the 'Cats will be in for a rough evening.

Dukes Not Too Tough

Following the Penn game, Duquesne and Pitt will be met during the mid-semester layoff. The Dukes of Red Manning are not even reasonable facsimiles of the Dukes of Dudey Moore's reign. Hence Duquesne doesn't look too formidable.

On the other hand, Pitt does. Off their early season conquest of Terry Dischinger-led Purdue, at least. A closer look, however, shows a team without a consistent big man. John Fridley, of dental fame, is the Panthers' ace.

by Mike Donahue

Both the Duquesne game and the Pitt fray will be played in Pittsburgh.

Following the Iron City encounters, also during the semester break, the 'Cats tangle with arch-rival St. Joseph's in a single game at the Palestra, Saturday, January 28. Because local hoop aficionados delight in terming this annual inter-city skirmish the Big One, and because St. Joseph's rooters with typical short-sighted abandon annually induce a state of ecstatic frenzy in the Hawks with their primitive exhortations, the 'Cats will be in for a battle royal.

Down With "Psyching Up"

Past performance notwithstanding, the Severancemen should take the Hawks on ability alone sans "psyching up". This should be the case even if The Silver Fox sticks to his sane and sensible idea of putting each game in its proper perspective. If, by some devious machination of fate, or by sheer superiority the Hawks manage to duplicate last year's feat, a state of Main Line melancholy need not set in. Directed thinking will preclude such a state of mind; thinking directed toward future opponents such as Memphis State, Wake Forest, North Carolina State, and Temple.

Wildcats Topple Tall Titans, Maul Mules For Wins 7 & 8

By Bud Simmonds

Returning to the friendly confines of the Palestra after their Dixie trip, Villanova's Wildcats defeated Detroit University Wednesday night, 81-69. Since the tall Titans same to town 11th ranked in the polls, the satisfying win was solid evidence that the 'Cat court machine is starting to roll after some early season jitters.

Villanova's two H?bombs, Jim Huggard and Hubie White, were in rare form for the 'Cats fans, exploding for 55 points and some crowd-pleasing plays.

Huggard and Hubie Sparkle

The fiery co-captain, Huggard, inspired the 'Cats and rattled the highly-touted Titans with his steals, playmaking, and 28 points. White, after a shaky start, dazzled the crowd with his dribbling antics, leaping dunk, and tallied 27 points.

Hubie outshone his fellow All-American candidate, Dave DeBusschere, who in attempting to stop White got into foul trouble and was limited to 13 points by the dogged Villanova zone defense.

The 'Cats pulled ahead in the first half scoring 18 points to Detroit's 1, and built a halftime lead to 41-32. Despite consistent surges, one resulting in their pulling ahead for a brief period, the fine clutch play of the entire team thwarted these challanges.

Fine Team Effort

Tom Samulewicz answered the relief call of Coach Al Severance and capably filled in for the foul-troubled Tom Hoover with his usual hustling floor game. Bernie Chavis with 12 rebounds and co-captain Dick Kaminski with 13 points gave fine support to the V. U. attack.

Win Over Mules

The Wildcats notched their eigth win of the season Saturday as they swept over Muhlenberg, 74-53, at Allentown. In their second game of the new year, the Cats followed up the Detroit win with the smooth, workmanlike victory over the Mules.

Sparkplug Jim Huggard once again took over the familiar rein of leadership and led the 'Cats in a hustling 18 point performance. Hubie White was second high for the Villanova cause with 16 points.

In search of an upset, the home team threw a four-man box defense against the 'Cats with the fifth man sticking like glue to V.U.'s star forward. "Hpbcaps" took advantage of the situation and played a fine game from the pivot suprising the Muhlenberg defense.

A keynote of the game was the Wiltdcas' shooting from the freethrow line (20/27). This accuracy has been a major factor in recent victories for Villanova.

Wildcat Thinclads Open Indoor Season In Boston

Two Olympic team members, the IC4A outdoor hurdles champion and several returning lettermen from the team which won both the indoor and outdoor IC4A championships will comprise the contingent of Villanova trackmen scheduled to compete Saturday night at Boston in the first indoor track meet of the season.

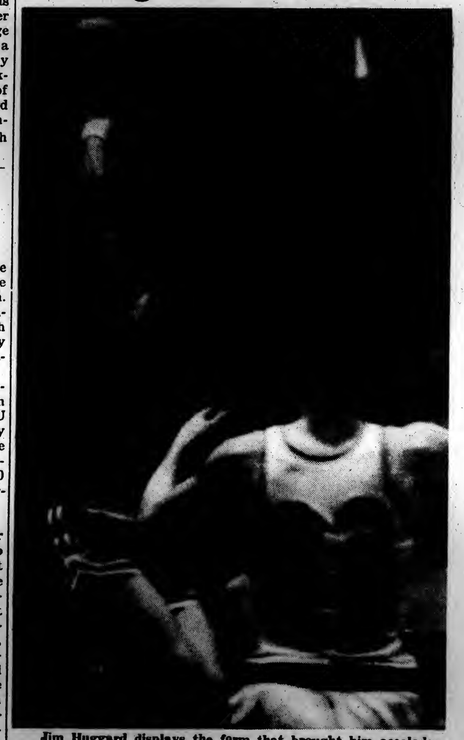
Frank Budd and Rolando Cruz are the members of Jumbo Jim Elliott's stable who spent the latter part of August in Rome. Budd competed in the 100 meter dash, finishing fifth against the world's toughest competition. He also ran a leg on the ill-fated US 400 meter relay team which was disqualified.

Cruz Finished Third

Cruz, a freshman, fared somewhat better. Competing for his native Puerto Rico, the slender graduate of Lawrenceville Prep vaulted 14'11⅛" to garner third place and a bronze medal. He was bested only by future Thespian Don Bragg and his US teammate Ron Morris.

Budd will compete in the 50 yard dash and Cruz will stick to his specialty.

Leon Pras and Charlie Hammock will represent Villanova in the 60 yd. high hurdles. Pras, a junior, was nipped by hirsute Bill Johnson of Maryland in the IC4A indoor final last March. In the IC4A outdoor championships he capped the 120 high hurdles crown, being the only individual winner as the Elliottmen nipped Penn State.



Hammock is the lithe sophomore from Roman Catholic High School who is the local AAU hurdles champ at 60 yards, by virtue of an easy win in the meet last February at Convention Hall. He later won at 120 yards outdoors in a meet in Norristown last June.

9 Letter Men

Elliott also plans to enter teams in both the mile and two mile relays. The mile quartet will be comprised of four of these five middle distance men according to Jim Tuppeny, assistant coach: Otie Drayton, Joe Manion, Carl Wagner, Bobby Coffill, and Bob Raemore. The Marlboro pole vaulter also disclosed that members of the two mile four would be selected from these six: Al Jackman, Nick DeAngelis, Jon Dante, Jerry Hackett, Frank Hegarty, and Pat Nicastro.

Of the aforementioned ten all are veterans except Jackman who is a sophomore.

Hug Hits In Dixie

Jim Huggard displays the form that brought him accolades and won him a spot on the All-Tourney five in the Dixie Classic. Despite such successful sniping as this against North Carolina, the Wildcats' incurred their only loss of the tourney to the Tarheels, 87-67.

Villanovan

Vol. 36 No. 13 — VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. — February 9,1961

SEVERANCE ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Coach Reveals Decision At Sportswriters Meeting

by Dan Grove, Sports Editor

Alex G. Severance, Villanova's varsity basketball coach for the past 25 years, will announce his retirement from that position at today's weekly meeting of the Philadelphia Basketball Writers' Association.

The VILLANOVAN learned last night of Severance's resignation, which will become effective at the end of the current season. The news was confirmed by Francis X. Reagan, the University's Director of Athletics.

Severance said that the decision to retire was entirely his and was made because of personal reasons. He said no pressure was put to him. He summed up his feelings by saying, "32 years is a long time, I feel that now is as good a time as any to bow out."

His future plans were not revealed, but it is felt by many that a man with Severance's knowledge, contacts, and magnetic personality will be prevailed upon by the university to remain in some capacity.

Although the resignation was a surprise to all concerned it typified Severance's career which can probably best be summed up in one word—spectacular!

37 Years of Service

Al Severance has been connected with Villanova for 37 years. He enrolled here in 1925 and graduated as validictorian of the class of 1929. During his undergraduate years he was co-captain of the basketball team, the school's 135 pound boxing champion, and a half miler on the track team.

He was named freshman coach upon graduation and with the exception of the 1932-33 season held that post until, and on some occasions after, he was named head coach. His overall record with the yearling clubs was 159 wins against 31 losses.

At various times during his career at Villanova, Severance has held the post of graduate manager of athletics, publicity director and Athletic Director.

When George "Doc" Jacobs resigned as head coach in 1936. Severance was named his successor. At that post for the past 25 years Severance has raised Villanova from a small time power. His record for those 25 seasons is 415 wins against 196 losses,

Tournaments and Stars

He has coached his teams to 4 N.C.A.A. and 2 N.I.T. post season tournaments. In addition his clubs have participated in most of the "name" midseason tournaments.

Under his tutelage many stars have risen on the Mainline horizon. Five All-Americans Joe Lord, Paul Arizin, Larry Hennessy, Sammy Glassmire, and Bobby Schaefer are perhaps the most notable products of the Gray Fox.

Exciting Era

Severance's 25 year era has been an exciting one for local sports fans. His teams have defeated heavy favorites and lost to unregarded underdogs. They have caused rule changes, kidnapping investigations and tirades as well as raves from the press. His humorous anecdotes and dramatic pregame orations are a legend in the East.

His 37 years of loyalty to Villanova are sure to be a favorite egend in the school's tradition. No amount of print can eulogize his contributions here at Villanova. Perhaps the two awards that Al has received in the past year sum up the feeling for him. These two awards, The Alumni Loyalty Award, and the Helm's Basketball Hall of Fame Award are a perfect ending to 25 years of hardwood glory.

COACH SEVERANCE
. . . 25th year to be his last.

Speers Resigns As Associate Editor Of The VILLANOVAN

William Speers, Associate Editor of the VILLANOVAN, has resigned his position, effective this week.

Speers is leaving Villanova to accept a position as Assistant Editor of The STAR HERALD, official newspaper of the Diocese of Camden.

COLUMNIST SPEERS
. . . farewell and good luck.

A junior English major, Speers began his career on the campus newspaper in his freshman year, as Campus News Editor. As a sophomore, he served as both News and Feature Editors. He was appointed Associate Editor of The VILLANOVAN for the current academic year.

In addition to his editorial duties, Speers was the writer of "Speeritualism," a weekly column devoted to an investigation and analysis of problems affecting the Villanova campus.

Speers also served in editorial capacities on other campus publications, and was a frequent contributor to The LYNX, the campus literary magazine.

V.U. English Prof. On Television Show "University of Air"

Dr. Joseph C. Reino, Assistant Professor of English, made his third appearance on WFIL-TV's "University of the Air" series on Monday, February 6 on Channel 6.

This was the first in a series of 16 lectures designed to stimulate interest in poetry for the general public, and subjects will range from Mother Goose rhymes to T. S. Eliot.

Some of the poems to be discussed include: "The Listeners," by Walter de la Mare: "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayam," by Edward Fitzgerald; "The Raven," by Edgar Allen Poe; "Casey at the Bat," by Ernest Lawrence Thayer; and "Poems of a Jew," by Karl Shapiro.

Dr. Reino received his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania in 1951, and joined the faculty of Villanova in the Fall of 1960.

Car Pool Success Assured By Enthusiastic Showing

The Car Pool Program, a new service of the Student Council is being met with great enthusiasm from the Student Body.

During the first three days of its existence, over 800 persons joined the program. This is one-quarter of the total number of students who drive to Villanova. Because of such a great response to this experimental program, it has been made a permanent program by the Student Council.

Eugene P. Pasymowski, Freshman C&F student and member of the VILLANOVAN News Staff, who formulated the newly devised Geographic Catalog system of the Program said "The success of this program proves the close unity of the Student Council with the Student Body."

The Car Pool Program furnishes a means by which students who are looking for rides or seeking rides can easily check the catalog listing for other students who have the same destination in mind.

The way in which the catalogue is set up serves two purposes. First, if the student is seeking a ride to school he may look in the catalogue according to his geographic area for people who are driving from his section. Thus he may find other students who are driving to school and are willing to take passengers.

Second, if a student drives to school and wishes to offer his car to other Villanovans he may look up the catalogue listing of prospective riders from his area.

The result of this program is beneficial to the student, the University, and to the public.

The student would benefit by lowering his transportation costs. It would be much cheaper to have six people in one car than one person in the same car.

At present, the student parking lot, which holds 1400 cars, is being utilized to its capacity; thus through many riders the University would not need additional parking space.

John Q. Public would also be a beneficiary of the program in an indirect way. If the program would work at peak efficiency 250 cars would replace 1400 cars now using the highways. Although this program will not alleviate the traffic problem completely, it is a step forward.

Father Joseph W. Kemme, OSA, the Vice President of Student Affairs, who complimented the Student Council and Eugene Pasylowski on their undertaking, confirms the success of the Car Pool Program.

Red Cross Drive Needs 800 Faculty And Student Donors

The Annual Red Cross Blood Drive will take place in Alumni Hall Gymnasium this year on March 1 and 2. Gerry Gelinas, representing the Student Council for the drive has stated that registration for the drive will take place on February 14 and 15. Authorities from the Wayne Chapter of the Red Cross will process the prospective donors.

Gelinas emphasized that faculty members as well as students are encouraged to contribute as part of the desired 800 needed donors. All persons under 21 years of age will be required, however, to obtain written parental permission in order to donate blood.

In return, the donors and their families will be guaranted complete fulfillment of their blood needs for one year.

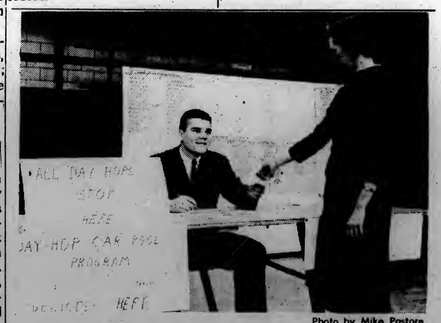


Photo by Mike Pastore

"Drexel Hill? Well, let's see. We have several Bridesburg students who need riders . . . ", Gene Pasymowski cheerfully informs a co-ed. Pasymowski's car pool program met with enthusiastic response from several hundred day-hops.

Graduate Theatre Readies 2d Play For Five Day Run

An A-bomb will be detonated in Vasey Auditorium next Wednesday evening. This spectacle is only one of the many stirring events which occur in George Herman's "From Sea to Shining Sea," an original musical fable.

Tickets for the production can be purchased in the Pie Shoppe or in the Graduate Theatre Office in Mendel Hall. Prices are $1.80 for general admission and $1.25 for students.

"The new work is unique," according to Mr. Herman, "because it does not use the music and dancing in the conventional manner of American musical-comedies. For one thing, it does not necessarily advance the storyline or delineate characterization. It is used as music is normally used everyday — as background to the events and experiences of our daily lives."

Kennedy As Sam

The cast for this show is composed of both graduate and undergraduate students. Mike Kennedy appearing in the role of Sam and representing America is a student in the Graduate Theatre Program and a recent graduate of St. Ambrose College in Davenport Iowa. Kennedy in symbolizing America acts as a prize for either the force of good, played by John Dillion as Michael the Archangel or the force of evil portrayed by Jim Willart as Scratch, the agent of the devil.

John Dillion is making his first theatrical performance in the role of Michael. He is a sophomore math major and a native of Willimantic, Conn. Jim Willart as Scratch is a graduate of St. Ambrose College. He has had extensive acting experience in summer stock productions.

Female Roles

The major female roles are being played by Carol Pearce, who takes the part of Liza, the assistant to Scratch and by Jane Anderson as Bess, the assistant to Michael.

Both Misses Pearce and Anderson are graduates of Iowa colleges. Miss Pearce came to Villanova from Clark College in Dubuque. She has previously appeared in summer stock. Miss Anderson is a graduate of Marycrest College in Davenport. She is presently the drama and diction coach of Eden Hall Academy in Torresdale, Pa.

Appearing in the role of Sam Jr. is Bob Heenan, a sophomore social studies major. The technical work is being supervised by Mike D'Alonzo, the lighting engineer. He is a junior General Arts major who is taking a drama minor.

* * * *

Did you hear about the cigarette manufacturer who requested that he be buried in a fliptop box?

Father Curran Named Administrative Head Of Athletic Board

Rev. John J. Curran, OSA, Vice President for Financial Affairs, has assumed administrative direction of Villanova's Athletic Program, it was announced recently by the Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President.

Administrative direction of the Athletic Policy at Villanova has been in the hands of the University's Vice President for Student Affairs, the Rev. Joseph W. Kemme, OSA, for the past five years.

The change was necessitated by the increasing problems caused by a rapidly rising enrollment and which are the responsibility of the office of the Vice President for Student Affairs.

"Relieved of his athletic duties, Father Kemme will have more time to devote to student housing, study, discipline, student welfare and religious obligations as well as other areas of supervision," Father Klekotka said.

CAMPUS NEWS BRIEFS

Counsellors Needed

Mr. John A. Moritz, Placement Director, has announced that the Pennsylvania State Employment Service has job openings for summer camp counsellors who can teach archery, dramatics, arts and crafts, dancing, swimming, nature study, and other specialties.

While previous camping or counselling experience is preferred, job openings also exist for those without experience, provided they have had at least two years of college education.

Employment Service representatives will interview students for this type of employment in Sheehan Hall, March 9th 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

IRS Obtains Speaker

Joe Clark, president of International Relations Society, announced at Tuesday's meeting that a new program is to be attempted to bring prominent speakers to Villanova.

These speakers would be invited to discuss their topic in the following manner: (a) presentation of the speakers views on the selected subject, or a presentation of objective views on the subject, (b) folowed by a discussion of the subject by Liberal and Conservative factions of the club membership, (c) with the speaker offering a resume at the end of discussion, (d) and finally, there is planned an audience question and answer period.

Mr. Clark thereby hopes to stimulate thinking on the campus, and use the plan in an attempt to increase IRS's membership.

Among the other business items brought up at the meeting were the establishing of tentative dates for the Dinner Dance (May 12) and the Washington Field Trip (April 7th and 8th). All of these proposals, with the endorsment of the club's moderator, Dr. Nova, are expected to receive no opposition with the membership.

LYNX Deadline Mar. 28

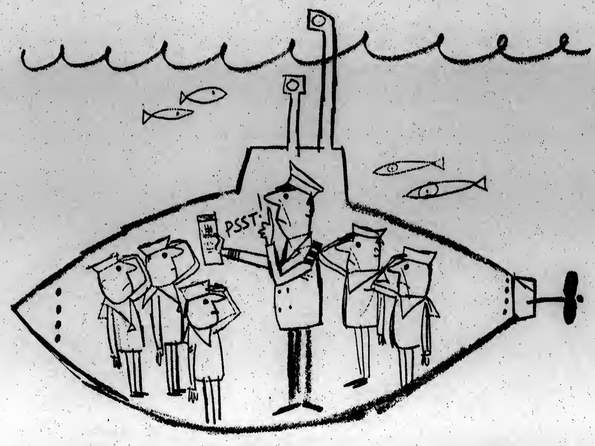
Vince Kirk, co-editor of the Lynx, the campus literary magazine, is now accepting short stories, criticisms, and poetry for the magazine.

Deadline for the Spring issue is March 28, 1961. All literary works should be submitted to the Lynx office on the second floor of Doughtery Hall.

Fr. President Honored

The Philadelphia Professional Society, consisting of doctors, lawyers, and other professional people of Polish ancestry, sponsored a testimonial banquet last Sunday evening in honor of the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, OSA, President. The Society is under the direction of its acting President, Dr. Joseph Howitz.

Lucian Pazulski, a prominent Philadelphia Attorney, Dr. Ignatius Hnelski, and Dr. M. J. Kotanchik headed the committee that planned the testimonial to Father Klekotka. Nearly 1500 persons most of whom were of Polish nationality, gathered at the Four Chefs in Philadelphia for the dinner.



Among those attending were Msgr. Peter Klekotka, Father President's brother, and other Villanova personalities.

Student Opera Tickets

Tickets for the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company's presentation of three operas: La Rondine, Friday, February 24; Carmen, Friday, March 10; and Andrea Chemier, Thursday, April 6; are now being sold at reduced student rates (½ price).

These tickets are available at the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company Office, 1422 Chestnut Stret, Philadelphia.

A loaf of bread, a jug of wine, and thou, and soon I'll be fat, drunk, and in trouble.

When things get too close for comfort

Old Spice STICK DEODORANT
comes to the rescue fast!

- Old Spice Stick Deodorant brings you safe, sure, all-day protection!
- Better than roll-ons that skip.
- Better than sprays that drip.
- Better than creams that are greasy and messy.

By land or by sea—you need this Social Security!

We all make mistakes...

ERASE WITHOUT A TRACE ON EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND

Typing errors never show on Corrāsable. The special surface of this paper makes it possible to erase without a trace—with just an ordinary pencil eraser. Results: clean-looking, perfectly typed papers. Next time you sit down at the keyboard, make no mistake—type on Corrāsable!

Your choice of Corrāsable in light, medium, heavy weights and Onion Skin. In handy 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet boxes. Only Eaton makes Corrāsable.

A Berkshire Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION (E) PITTSFIELD, MASS.

Heidingsfield Speaks To American Marketing Assn.

Dr. M. S. Heidingsfield, Associate Dean of Commerce and Finance spoke before the annual meeting of the American Marketing Association in St. Louis, Missouri in December. His talk dealt with the Analytical Techniques in the Consumer Electronics Industry.

His discussion described the various marketing research methods utilized by management in setting up a marketing plan. It indicated the intricacies of forecasting industry and company sales as well as changing styles and colors of finishes. Moreover, there was a section devoted to Image Studies describing the methods used to measure attitudes of consumers and dealers toward the product and related factors.

Dr. Heidingsfield also covered methods used in making general industry studies prior to introducing a new product in the market and discussed the problem of integrating company data with trade association data so that management is always kept informed of the problems that may be breaking in the market place.

One of the most important comments in the paper was that the appliance market was considered a relatively stable one. Historically it was pointed out that the market generally fluctuated between 4.2% and 4.6% of all consumer expenditures on goods. He also indicated that the television set market was 89% saturated and that most future sales would come from replacement and multi-set purchases. Saturation was even greater in the radio market but this was a changing type of multi-set market specifically stimulated by the introduction of the portable transistorized set and the wide acceptance of FM. He indicated that the greatest potential in this industry was in the phonograph 'market where the saturation rate was only 46% and that the innovation of stereo accompanied by acceptance of high fidelity reproduction would be an important stimulus.

The national meeting of the American Marketing Association is held in conjunction with the American Economic Association, and the other allied social science groups. The paper will be printed in the Proceedings of the American Marketing Association.

On January 24 Dr. Heidingsfield spoke before the Methodology group of the Philadelphia chapter of the American Marketing Association at the Warwick Hotel. He discussed forecasting procedure and then went on to describe the methods that he devised.

AIEE-Membership Up

John Wojciechowics, President of The National American Institute of Electrical Engineers, has announced that the Villanova Student Branch of the AIEE is among the top seven in the entire country in active membership.

The Branch has 140 students in the local section, and of this number, 80 of them are national members. These figures also are the highest since the AIEE Student Branch was established at Villanova. Some of the other student branches which were rated are Texas A&M, Maryland, California, and Penn State.

Winter Wonderland?

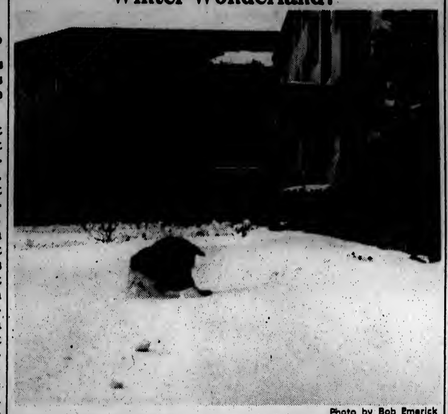


Photo by Bob Emerick

"Wait a while, Lance, Ive gotta find my schedule. I'm already down to a C in attendance."

Parmenides And Islam Are V. U. Philosophy Lectures

The Philosophy Department has announced that its next lecture will be held on Thursday, February 9th at 7:30 p.m. in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall. Professor Felix M. Cleve of the New School of Social Research, New York City, will reconstruct and discuss the philosophy of Parmenides.

Everyone is invited to attend and refreshments will be served following a short discussion period.

In assisting the department to develop interest in philosophy, the Philosophy Club's upcoming lecture will be held on Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in 110 C&F. Doctor Andrew O'Connor of the Philosophy department will speak on "Faith and Reason in Islam—an Object Lesson."

Teacher In Iraq

Doctor O'Connor is a graduate of McGill University and Montreal University. He has worked as a teacher for the government of Iraq, and has contributed articles to Speculum, the Moslem World, and other Philosophical journals.

During the Christmas vacation, Dr. Dalcourt spoke at the American Philosophic Association meeting at Yale, and also lectured on the index to a group in Ardmore.

$300,000 In Grants Supplements V. U. Financial Program

Villanova University has received more than $330,000 in gifts and grants from corporations, foundations, individuals, governmental agencies and other sources during the past six months, it was announced recently by the Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President.

Father Klekotka made the announcement during an Annual Report Dinner attended by more than 200 in Dougherty Hall on campus. Present were many of the Philadelphia area's industrial, professional and business leaders who are aiding Villanova in its twenty year development campaign.

The exact figure of $330,965 did not include results of the University's Alumni fund drive which is still under way. Funds raised by the Alumni will be reported when its campaign is completed next month and should boost the total to nearly a half million dollars.

Francis C. Pray, College Relations Vice President of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, was the chief speaker for the Report Dinner. Other speakers included the Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, OSA, Director of the Villanova Development Foundation.

Pray reported that business is presently giving $150,000,000 a year to education compared to $25,000,000 twelve years ago. He predicted that business support may well reach half a billion by 1970. To help reach this goal Pray called for help from the smaller businesses which are not yet participating.

Group FLYING
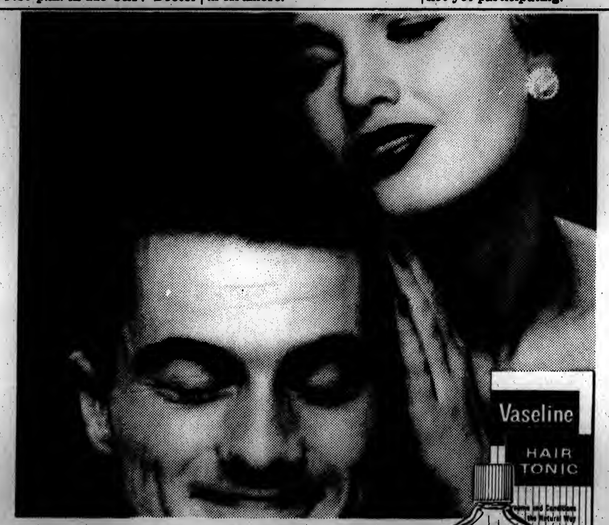
and Sightseeing

Horizon Aero Service offers attractive ground facilities and expertly maintained aircraft to student flying groups. This is an excellent chance for informal groups, ROTC, or clubs to enjoy the fun and excitement of flying at a safe, modern field.



Horizon instructors teach flying for all ratings —single and multi-engine. Now is the time to learn, when the air is so often crisp and clear. And Horizon—soon to be the finest private flyer's field in the East—is the place to learn!

Call or stop by. We'll make convenient arrangements for your club or group.

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction

HORIZON AERO SERVICE
BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

how to win by a head

Winning glances that lead to romance(s) are easy to come by if you go buy 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic—made specially for men who use water with their hair tonic. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic is 100% pure light grooming oil—replaces oil that water removes. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic won't evaporate, stays clear and clean on your hair. And just a little does a lot!

IT'S CLEAR ♪ ♫ IT'S CLEAN! IT'S

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC

An Exhortation

The time for action is now. In the world, in the nation, and on the Villanova campus, students must realize that there is no longer any question of "youth being served." Henceforth, youth must serve.

What must youth serve? And why, and how? Fundamentally, all human action is self-servient. But man being a social animal, he must advance his society in order to advance himself. Presently, the entire world constitutes man's area of operation. Before the passing of this generation, however, man may well have extended his area of operation to the stars themselves. In a civilization extending itself to the boundaries of the universe, and must be prepared, to face a challenge on every possible ront.

In his most recent Christmas Message to the world, Pope John XXIII urged mankind to "think, honor, say, and do what is true." The American Hierarchy, in a joint statement, has stressed the element of personal responsibility in all facets of life. President John F. Kennedy has called upon Americans as individuals to serve their nation "in the hour of her need." In essence, these declarations all require that Americans become awakened to their obligation as individuals to themselves and to their society.

With the major problem elucidated in terms of man's very nature, and with the principles behind a solution clearly delineated in the numerous statements of knowledgeable men, it remains only for the youth to whom the plea for action is addressed to examine and determine the practical path toward a realistic resolution of the existing difficulty.

As with the problem, the solution lies within the individual. In determining his course of action, therefore, the Villanova student in particular must remain cognizant at all times of the peculiar set of circumstances within which he operates. As a Catholic, his course must be along positive lines, in keeping with the Church's status as the most dynamic and revolutionary organism ever created, so that the perpetuation of a "Christian ghetto" will be eliminated, and that, in the complex dialectic of present-day pluralistic society, the truth of his Faith will be effectively asserted.

As an American, his course must accomodate the necessity of a material sharing of wealth, an intellectual sharing of knowledge, and a spiritual sharing of the democratic ideal. As a human being, his course must consider the duty of himself and of every other human being to realize, first and foremost, his own position in the vast cosmos of existence and endeavor.

Theories are of little use, however, in a field which is essentially one of operation. Therefore, in future weeks, the VILLANOVAN will address itself to the methods of applying principles and ideals to practical situations in the hope that the Villanova student may appreciate more fully his immediate obligations to himself and his society and to perceive possible methods of correcting the difficulties that he will inherit as a responsible member of society.

Villanovan

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
Associate Editor ..... William Speers
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove, Charles Simmonds
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello, Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore, Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... Gary F. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Counterpoint

It Shouldn't Happen Here

by Mike Donahue

One of President Kennedy's most widely publicized campaign pledges, to keep intact the gulf between church and state in the field of education, received verbal contemnation from Francis Cardinal Spellman a few weeks ago.

In a pastoral letter, the New York prelate took exception to a Kennedy task force proposal to allocate 9.3 billion dollars in federal aid to public, but not private education.

The Cardinal pointed out that "such legislation would discriminate against a multitude of America's children because their parents choose to exercise their constitltional rights to educate them in accordance with their religious beliefs."

Tax Burden

He also cited the injustice of making supporters of church schools underwrite the cost of public education through taxation.

As cogent and valid as Cardinal Spellman's claims are, however, they are the opinions of a well-meaning prelate.

As seen in his statements, the Cardinal's perspective is limited by his vested interest in the well being of a minority of the school children of America. In his endeavor to allow a minority of parents "to exercise their constitutional right to educate (their children) in accordance with their religious beliefs", untrammeled by unfairly onerous tax burdens, he applies only partially the First amendment. For, if the federal aid to education embraced sectarian schools, in effect the Government would be deploying its legislative power to coerce a majority of citizens to support religious objectives of which they cannot conscientiously approve.

Final Result

Of a more serious nature is the projection of chuch-state affiliation carried to its ultimate conclusion.

If legislation providing for federal aid to parochial education was enacted, it would be only logical to assume that there would be strings attached to this dole. If the Federal Government demands, and rightfully so, a loyalty oath from recipients of National Defense Loans, it would seem that it would be justified in demanding even more allegiance from groups to which financial aid accrues.

The crux of the matter, then, is whether sectarian groups would be willing to pay the price of government assistance.

Perhaps a Lutheran minister's citation of the situation in Puerto Rico, as appeared in the January 30 issue of U. S. News and World Report, is an oversimplification of the problem, but he made a point.

Puerto Rico In Reverse?

"There is only a short step from the securing of Government support for church-sponsored elementary education to the kind of church interference in the processes of Government which was evident in Puerto Rico during the last election," the cleric remarked.

Perhaps, if legislation providing federal aid to sectarian schools were enacted, the reversal of the situation as it occurred in Puerto Rico, with the Government instead of the Church as protagonist, would never happen in this country.

Perhaps.

OPEN LETTER

Fellow students,

In a recent meeting with the Student Body Presidents of the Big Five schools it was decided to revise the Palestra Sportsmanship Trophy.

I agreed, on behalf of the student body, to enter this year's competition because I am fully confident that we will win.

The award is based on a point system regarding the spirit and conduct of players and students alike. The term "sportsmanship" has been defined by the committee as follows: "A school's loyal and active support of its team, whether winning or losing. It is also courtesy in conduct and attitude shown toward opposing schools and players and all other persons concerned. The judges will be representatives of local newspapers and a Palestra police official.

I therefore ask for 100% effort on the part of the students excessively strong spirit and outstandingly good conduct at all future Palestra games. As a result of this effort I'm sure that the sportsmanship trophy will return to our campus.

Thanking you in advance for your support,

I am

Sincerely yours, Bob Delisa
Student Body President

Alcoholism's Effects Costly–and Lethal

Five million Americans—one in every 15 drinkers—is an alcoholic and millions more are likely to become alcoholics. Alcoholism shortens the lifespan of its victims by an average of 12 years and costs industry $500 million a year. Only cancer heart disease and mental illness are greater national health problems. Yet many people are unaware of what alcoholism is, how to recognize its early symptoms, how to deal with it if it strikes.

The key point to remember is that alcoholism is a disease not a moral defect, and has been recognized as such by the American Medical Association, psychiatrists and clergymen. It is a progressive, and often a fatal, disease—if it is not treated. Like other diseases, it cuts across social and professional lines, often to afflict those who "just couldn't be" alcoholics. "There is no way of predicting in advance where alcoholism will strike," according to Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

Who is an alcoholic? Mrs. Mann offers a simple definition: "someone whose drinking causes a continuing and growing problem in any department of his life." If a normal drinker finds that his drinking is causing him trouble, he will either cut down or cut out his liquor consumption. The alcoholic may wish to do so, but he won't—because he can't. He is not necessarily weak-willed; he has simply lost the ability to control his drinking.

AMA Report

This loss of control may take place years before the outside world is aware of it. According to the Journal of the American Medical Association (June 1956), the typical alcoholic drinks from 10 to 15 years before the fact becomes impossible to hide from supervisors and co-workers!

The budding alcoholic gulps drinks—and complains about the slowness of fellow drinkers. He sneaks drinks before going to a function at which drinks will be served, insists on drinks before lunch and dinner and after work, and for "special occasions" such as sports events, the theater, meetings, weekend jaunts. He must have drinks for nerves, worries, depression: "nothing else helps." Yet he is increasingly reluctant to talk about his drinking, and will lie if pressed.

This first stage, which may last as long as 10 years, is remarkably free from hangovers, thick speech and other popularly accepted hallmarks of drunkeness. Blackouts may begin, but can usually be covered up.

Drinking Increases

In the middle stages—from two to five years in duration—"must"' drinking times are moved up, and the morning "eye-opener" becomes a necessity. At home, the alcoholic always fixes the drinks—when visiting others, he insists on it. Always "dog-tired," worried or depressed, he is increasingly irritable between drinking times. Eating is now noticeably irregular, made up for at odd times of the day or night. Because others crithize the now-unmistakable "differentness" of his drinking behavior, the alcoholic now prefers to drink alone. He sometimes gets "anti-social"—pugnacious and destructive—when he drinks.

Hangovers now show in missed days of work and in a hand tremor when he tries to concentrate. Work pace is uneven and output reduced. Going on the wagon, often for long periods, becomes part of the pattern.

The final stage, recognizable to all, can be summed up in one phrase: the alcoholic lives to drink and drinks to live. With proper treatment, recovery is still possible, but it is far less certain.

Causes

What causes the disease of alcoholism? A few scientists believe it stems from a physical imbalance that makes the victim unable to "take" liquor as normal persons can. Many blame personality maladjustments—the head of a state alcoholic rehabilitation center says that alcoholics "lack some skill in the art of living." Too often, alcoholism strikes the most promising member of a family, class or job team—the typical alcoholic employee was rated above average in job skills before his drinking became a problem. An above average sensitivity, turned unhealthly inward, may be partly at fault. But—others with this same emotional difficulty do not develop alcoholism.

Till scientists can strike directly at the cause of alcoholism, they must rely on early detection and treatment. Or, putting it another way, they must rely on you—on your alertness, knowledge, understanding.

"Cloddy" Laurels Festooned With Orchids and Onions

by Al LaMastra

Hollywood smashed traditions and established precedents in 1960. The movie moguls made almost as many films abroad as at home. They turned studios into television canneries and back lots into oil wells, office buildings and motels. Actorwise, they turned juveniles into box-office giants and movie-wise, they turned trash into cash. Theaters on the fringe of disaster gave out trading stamps, dishes, and then finally gave up the ghost.

Nevertheless, more people did go to the movies this year than last, and good pictures broke box-office records around the country, while bad ones still managed to find their level of audience. Films boasted they had become "adult," which too often meant just obscene. Sometimes, however, the movies did measure up to the magnificent potential of a mature art, and when that happened, we had great films. The rest ran the gamut of good, bad, and indifferent—not to say, terrible.

KIM NOVAK

Thus, as the time for the distribution of Awards approaches and everyone from Crowther to Zunser is separating the chumps from the champs, and the bums from the beauts, Villanova University is also putting its finger in the pie by its own bestowal of awards. This year "Cloddy" awards will go to films and stars in the following categories:

Most Moral: "Strangers When We Meet," with Kirk Douglas and Kim Novak in a drama of marital infidelity so very bad it made sin seem dull.

Most Educational: "Seven Thieves," with Edward G. Robinson showing us how we, too, can rob the bank at Monte Carlo.

Goriest Trash: Allied Artists' "The Purple Gang" and Warner Brothers' "The Rise and Fall of Legs Diamond."

Most Attractive Gem Setting: Gina Lollobrigida's ruby-studded navel in "Solomon and Sheba."

Most Adacidal Characterization: Greer Garson's astounding characterization (also the Best) of Eleanor Roosevelt in "Sunrise at Campobello."

Brightest Freckle-Face: Hayley Mills, who made her U. S. debut in "Pollyanna."

Most Morally Irresponsible: Frank Sinatra and his gang in "Ocean's 11," depicting a clique of war-hero buddies who set out to rob, steal and destroy, with no sense whatsoever of right, wrong, guilt or decency.

Greatest Waste: Yves Montand, top French music-hall star opposite Actors Studio student, Mmmm Monroe.

Brightest New Star: Juliet Prowse, for being the one bright moment in "Can-Can".

Best Pop Music: In "Jazz on a Summer's Day"—equally hot with cool cats, squares, longhairs and stewdents.

Scratchit Champ: Marlon Brando, who scratched his head, rubbed his face, picked his nose, itched and shuffled his way through Williams' "The Fugitive Kind"—and lost a snakeskin jacket en route.

Funniest Slapstick: In "Who Was That Lady," the Empire State Building "cellar scene"—with Tony Curtis and Dean Martin outwitting pursuing Russian agents.

Best Classic Music: In "Song Without End," by offscreen pianist Jorge Bolet.

Pleasantest Surprise: Seeing robust Julie Newmar learning to act and watching young Fabian do the same in "North to Alaska."

Warmest Cooking Compliment: From Gladiator Charles McGraw in "Spartacus," who liked the soup de jour so much he drowned in a boiling cauldron of it.

Best Mother Performance: Mildred Dunnock's in "Butterfield 8" and "Story on Page One".

Most Open to Criticism: Unscrupulous theater owners who lure kids into their mousetraps with baited "Recommended for Children" pictures, and then double-bill them with lurid hoodlum, murder, sex and horror junk.

Most Ghoulish: Joe Levine's "Jack the Ripper" with nine corpses crowding the act.

Biggest Muscles: Steve Reeves' in "Giant of Marathon" and Brigitte Bardot's in "Come Dance With Me."

Most Over-dressed Bad Actress: Lana Turner, for the second year running—in "Portrait in Black."

Most Unappreciated Fine Actress: Jo Van Fleet as Grandma in "Wild River."

Greatest Mayhem: That done to M. Twain's 'Huck Finn' in the MGM oozie version.

Toughest Rival: Orson Welles competing with himself in the French-made melodrama, "The Crack in the Mirror." Runner-up: Victor Mature trying to outact the elephants in "Hannibal."

Best Candid Photography: That in the "Savage Eye."

Most Dangerous To Health: Mike Todd Jr's "Scent of Mystery," not recommended for those with hyper-sensitive nostrils.

Most Sordid Sex Comedy: "The Apartment" with Jack Lemmon peddling his bedroom to his bosses for their office-based assignations—his object:

ELVIS PRESLEY

to win office advancement in exchange for his bed.

Act Your Age Grandaddy: Advice to Bing Crosby, after seeing him scamper about as a college boy in "High Time."

Most Distasteful: Elvis Presley in "Flaming 'maiming' Arrow."

Most Misguided Effort: The attempt to "popularize" foreign films by dubbing Americanese into the mouths of foreign players.

Best Travel Film: "Masters of the Congo Jungle."

Bravest: British film-producer Ralph Thomas who dared to try to re-make Hitchcock's 1935 classic thriller, "39 Steps" and then fell flat on his cinema can.

Best Foreign Films: "Tunes of Glory," "Hiroshima Mon Amour" "Virgin Spring," "Never on Sunday" and "I'm All Right Jack."

Best Actor: Burt Lancaster in "Elmer Gantry."

Finest Family Drama: "The Sundowner" is more than welcome in a year of senseless violence, sex, horror and murder.

RIVER STYX by JONIK

"Isn't that cute? He thinks he's Cupid."

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

"THE SLOW RUSH"

Illustrated below is the membership pin of a brand-new national fraternity called Signa Phi Nothing. To join Signa Phi Nothing and get this hideous membership pin absolutely free, simply take a pair of scissors and cut out the illustration and paste it to your dickey.

Let me hasten to state that I do not recommend your joining Signa Phi Nothing. The only thing I recommend in this column is Marlboro cigarettes, as any honest man would who likes a filtered cigarette with an unfiltered taste, who yearns to settle back and enjoy a full-flavored smoke, whose heart is quickened by a choice of soft pack or flip-top box and who gets paid every week for writing this column.

It is difficult to think of any reason why you should join Signa Phi Nothing. Some people, of course, are joiners by nature; if you are one such I must tell you there are any number of better organizations than Signa Phi Nothing for you to join—the Mafia, for example.

But if you should join Signa Phi Nothing, let me give you several warnings. First off, it is the only fraternity that admits girls. Second, there is no pledge period; each new member immediately goes active. Perhaps "inactive" is a more accurate term; there are no meetings, no drives, no campaigns, no sports, no games, no dues, no grip, and no house.

The only thing Signa Phi Nothing has that other fraternities have is a fraternity hymn. In fact, two hymns were submitted to a recent meeting of the national board of directors (none of whom attended). The first hymn goes:

Hotcha, boop-boop-a-doop,
Mother's making blubber soup.

The second hymn is considerably longer:

A Guernsey's a cow,
A road is a lane,
When you're eating chow,
Remember the mein!

Pending the next meeting of the national board of directors, which will never be held, members are authorized to sing either hymn. Or, for that matter, Stardust.

Perhaps you are asking why there should be such a fraternity as Signa Phi Nothing. I will give you an answer—an answer with which you cannot possibly disagree: Signa Phi Nothing fills a well-needed gap.

Are you suffering from mental health? Is logic distorting your thinking? Is ambition encroaching on your native sloth? Are your long-cherished misapprehensions retreating before a sea of facts? In short, has education caught up with you?

If so, congratulations. But tell the truth—wouldn't you like to make an occasional visit back to the good old days when you were not so wise and composed and industrious—when you were, in fact, nuttier than a fruitcake?

If you pine for those old familiar miasms, those dear, dead vapors, join Signa Phi Nothing and renew, for a fleeting moment, your acquaintance with futility. We promise nothing, and, by George, we deliver it!

© 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

We, the makers of Marlboro, promise smoking pleasure and we think you'll think we deliver it—both from Marlboro and from our new unfiltered king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

AMATEUR NIGHT

DAY: THURSDAY, FEB. 9th

TIME: 7:45 P.M. PLACE; VASEY HALL

ENTRY BLANKS AVAILABLE IN ROOM 112 ALUMNI HALL

Speeritualism (Last of A Series)

Columnist Concludes Colorful Career

by Bill Speers

This is the last Speeritualism.

SPEERS

By choice we have submitted to extenuating circumstances—including personal philosophy—to shun both books and pen.

However, before our chapter at Villanova is completely closed we should like to make our peace with the twilight shadows and the campus green.

We have stated many things in this space over the last two years some of them meretricious, others imprudent but all of them sincere.

Our mild tirades directed toward Mendel Hall were more pleas of attention than shouts of damnation, not for ourselves, but for an apathetic student body which never seemed to understand that their "I don't give a damn-ness" at Villanova will only carry over into their lives later on when the authority's attitude toward them will be reciprocol.

The administration at Villanova and other Catholic institutions must also realise that if our brand of education is to survive and be tagged superior, as are our elementary schools, a more positive approch to higher education must be undertaken.

There are too many don't and not enough dos within our educational structure. The student should be exposed, then armed against foreign ideas instead of shielded and cradled from them. This method may be righteous, even necessary in secondary and high school; but the college must positively prepare and not negetively spare the man. If the colleges don't undertake this job, society will—and with a dull thud.

And since the instructor is the immediate contact the student has with knowledge, it is his duty to carry out this responsibility. The instructor may not realize it but in the eyes of most students he is two people — a teacher and a man.

The teacher part of him is not remembered, for the most part, past the final exam; it is the man in him that leaves the burnt impression. And the man in him is revealed outside of the classroom; in informal chats in the Pie Shop, talks after class and in his moderatorship of extra-curricular activities.

It is this latter field that we strongly urge more instructors to become more interested. If we have ever heard of a professor as being respected and influenced by a student at Villanova 99 out of 10 times it has been as the man, and not the teacher. And this impression is invariably made at co-curricular and quasi-social affairs conducted throughout the year.

We could be wrong but we believe "to influence" is the greatest reward given a teacher and this priviedge is alloted by the student only when he believes the teacher has a genuine interest in him as an individual. This field is wide open for it is one in which we believe the Villanova student thinks himself thoroughly starved.

But the student cannot pawn off all the responsibility for his position as a product of Catholic education. His duty is a definite if not an apparent quality.

He must be aware of the fact that a Catholic college is unlike that of any other. The prime element in the type of education he receives is that of sacrifice. A member of the VU administration disclosed to us this year that a student's tuition doesn't begin to compensate for his overall education here.

No federal aid is granted to Catholic Universities, nor does it have access to the large endowment funds made available to the secular colleges. Teachers salaries are lower and the overall rate of growth of Catholic institutions drops steadily each year in comparision to other schools.

Colleges have evolved into large business operations where our schools are competing in a life and death struggle. The fact is that we can't even begin to compete.

"The day may not be far away that we are going to have to decide which arm of education we are going to discontinue," the administration member told us, "and it probably will be colleges."

So instead of lamenting, the students would do well to follow some inaugural advice by the President and "ask what you can do" for Villanova.

Also we hope that such things as the embryonic idea magazine, the VILLANOVAN and the like will be saved and fostered for it is here that the Villanova impression is made to the "outside world."

In fact we would like to see a renewed interest in all things Villanova on the part of the student; for remember no matter what you may think of this University, it will be your alma mater someday. Whatever is good or bad at Villanova will be associated with you by virtue of the diploma which you receive here.

Also remember that the scrap of parchment you receive is no ticket to a life of security. It is only the symbol of the tools you have received to realize this security.

And finally, a plea. The new science building on campus, coupled with the C&F edifice, personifies the new technological and administrative age on which we are approaching. I would ask only that the Arts school not completely be overlooked in this scientific expansion for we can't help to think that in the coming years it will be the humanities and the arts which will maintain our sanity and alert us every once in a while to the beauties of the human and the Divine spirit.

Loren Gergens briefs two of his salesmen on new telephone services for business customers.

"I DIDN'T WANT TO BE STOCKPILED"

When Loren Gergens was working for his B.S. degree in Business Administration at the University of Denver, he had definite ideas about the kind of job he wanted to land. He was determined to profit from the experience of several of his friends who had accepted promising jobs only to find themselves in "manpower pools"—waiting to be pulled into a responsible position. "I didn't want to be stockpiled," Loren says. "That's no way to start."

As a senior, Loren talked to twelve companies and joined The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company, an associated company of the Bell Telephone System.

From his first day challenges were thrown at him thick and fast. First, he supervised a group of service representatives who handle the communications needs of telephone customers. Then he served as manager of several telephone business offices. In these jobs Loren had to prove himself on the firing line, make right decisions and carry them through. He knew his next jump depended on only one man—Loren Gergens.

In July, 1960, he was made Sales Manager in Boulder, Colorado.

"I'm on the ground floor of a newly created telephone marketing organization. And I can tell you things are going to move fast!" Loren says. "It's rough at times, but hard work is fun when you know you're going somewhere—in a business where there's somewhere to go."

If you're interested in a job in which you can be your own prime mover—a job in which you're given a chance to show what you can do, right from the start—you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

'BYE BILL

'Cats Drop Two City Series Games But Bomb West Va.

by Ed Lehr

For the sixth time in six years of Big Five play the Hawks of St. Joseph's put down the 'Cats of Villanova. This time in a low scoring 63-62 cliff-hanger at the Palestra, Saturday night, January 28.

Hubie White, Villanova's on-and-off All-American, had a night to remember as he dazzled the Hawks with flawless ball handling and powerful rebounding while scoring 24 points.

His greatest plays, however, were the blocking of six shots taken by John "the horse" Egan, who had a blazing 8 for 32 night from the floor. Dick Kaminski and Bernie Chavis played fine all-around games, but the Wildcats lost the "Big One".

Al Steals Show

The game scheduled with Duquesne for Saturday, January 21, was cancelled because of 14 inches of snow. Al Severance took a lot of ribbing before stealing the show at the Pittsburgh Sportswriters Luncheon prior to the Pitt game on Wednesday, January 25.

Severance's chance to get even on the floor was suddenly thwarted when a much inferior Panther team, which lost to Westminster by 20, soundly out-rebounded, out hustled Villanova, and cooly edged out a 57-55 decision.

Ben Jinks, a leaping sophomore, was a terror off the boards and blocked, not only many of Hnbie's shots, but also one of Tom Hoover's, who is six inches taller.

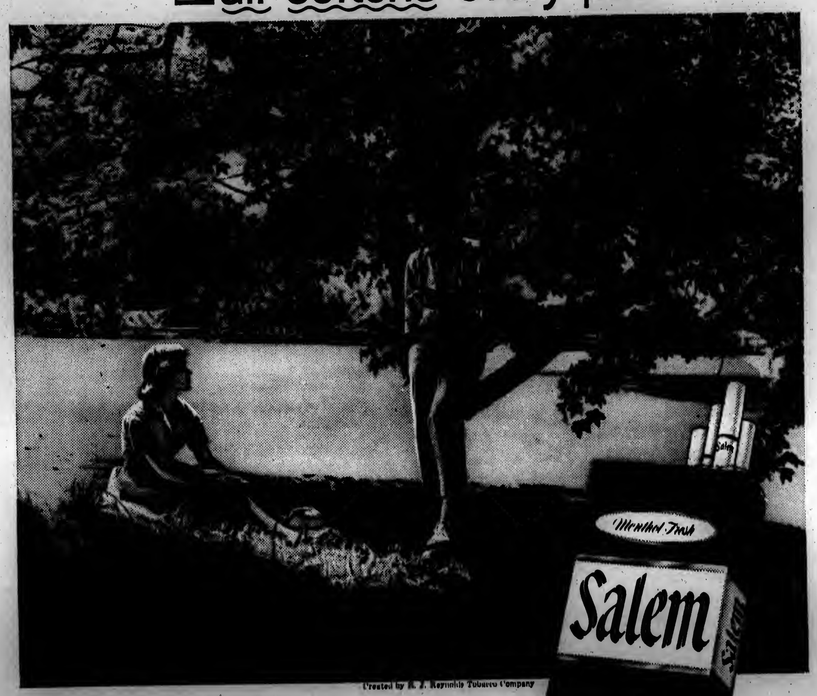
Milkvy Not Alone

"I can't believe it—I just can't believe it," cried Penn's fine All-Ivy senior, Bob Milkvy as the Quakers pulled out the biggest upset in Big Five history on Wednesday, January 18 by a 62-61 count.

As the huge Palestra score board showed six seconds remaining, Bernie Chavis took his usual beautifully calm jump-shot from deep in the corner and after a few short bounces on the rim it popped through—but then it happened—as the official claimed that Chavis had stepped out of bounds before the shot Penn's Red and Blue went wild with victory!

Only Bright Spot

The only bright spot in this very dim rehash was Saturday night, January 14, as the Villanova Wildcats played as if they knew how and sent the Mountaineers of West Virginia reeling to a brilliant 82-77 defeat.



With Jimmy Huggard leading the charge the 'Cats held a 19 point bulge with eight minutes remaining, but Rod Thorn put on a dazzling performance of shooting and rebounding to bring the Mounties to within three points very late in the game.

Photo by Ty Wong

All eyes are on Millrose sprint champ Frank Budd. The Wildcat Olympian who duplicated his 1960 win in the Millrose 60-yard dash last Friday night, obliges an autograph seeker.

Salem refreshes your taste
—"air-softens" every puff

Created by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

Take a puff... it's Springtime! That's what smokers say about Salem, because its smoke is as softly refreshing as the air of a springtime morning. Special High Porosity paper "air-softens" every puff. And Salem's fine tobaccos make Salem taste rich as well as refreshing. Smoke refreshed, pack after pack...smoke Salem!

•menthol fresh •rich tobacco taste •modern filter, too

Inquirer Games

33 Thinclads Slated To Compete Tomorrow Night

Friday night promises to be Blue and White night at Convention Hall.

This was guaranteed by the revelation by assistant coach Jim Tuppeny that 33 members of the Wildcat track legion will descend on the 34th street multi-purpose edifice for the annual Inquirer Charities Track Games.

The minions of Jumbo Jim Elliot will compete in eleven events on the Inquirer program, including three of the "Invitation" special events.

15 Feet for Cruz?

Leon Pras, outdoor IC4A hurdles champion at 120 yards, will attempt to cop the 50 yard event won last year by Hayes Jones. Vic Zwolak, who enlisted at Villanova after a tenure of service in the Marines will compete in the invitation two mile run. Olympian Rolando Cruz will try to clear 15 feet again in an effort to win the invitation pole vault.

Highlight of the remaining eight events will be junior Otie Drayton's second sprint appearance of the indoor season. Drayton's teammate Frank Budd has been promised a run for his medal by diminutive Ira Murchison, the 1956 Olympian who is essaying an indoor comeback.

Other Blue-White entrants include a newly constituted mile relay team (unselected at this writing because of Drayton's entrance in the 50 yard event). Last year's Main Line foursome breezed home in the meet record time of 3:20.3 with anchor man Bobby Raemore coasting to a 30 yard triumph.

Two-Milers Seek Revenge

All of the members of the 'Cat team are back this year including Raemore, Drayton, Nick DeAngelis and Joe Mannion.

The two-mile relaymen, Frank Hegarty, Jerry Hackett, Jon Dants and Pat Nicastro will attempt to better their showing of last year. This same foursome finished second to Manhattan, winner in 7:44.8.

Billy Joe, erstwhile fullback and Jerry Donini, IC4A point getter, will compete in the shot-put; Sophomore Al Jackman will run in the 1000 yard handicap; Angelo Sivieri and Pat Traynor are listed as entrants in the two-mile run, and a freshman distance medley relay team round out the Blue and White participants.

Meet Tonite

The Recreation Club meet tonite will also feature several Villanovans. Jackman and Ernie Muir will run in the 600; freshman Al Adams is slated for the 1000; freshman Harry Smeck, Jim Smyth and John Reilly have been tapped for the mile; and Owen Maguire, Bob Collins and freshman John Angevine will compete in the two mile-run.

Speeritualism (Last of A Series)

Columnist Concludes Colorful Career

by Bill Speers

This is the last Speeritualism.

SPEERS

By choice we have submitted to extenuating circumstances—including personal philosophy—to shun both books and pen.

However, before our chapter at Villanova is completely closed we should like to make our peace with the twilight shadows and the campus green.

We have stated many things in this space over the last two years some of them meretricious, others imprudent but all of them sincere.

Our mild tirades directed toward Mendel Hall were more pleas of attention than shouts of damnation, not for ourselves, but for an apathetic student body which never seemed to understand that their "I don't give a damn-ness" at Villanova will only carry over into their lives later on when the authority's attitude toward them will be reciprocol.

The administration at Villanova and other Catholic institutions must also realize that if our brand of education is to survive and be tagged superior, as are our elementary schools, a more positive approch to higher education must be undertaken.

There are too many don't and not enough dos within our educational structure. The student should be exposed, then armed against foreign ideas instead of shielded and cradled from them. This method may be righteous, even necessary in secondary and high school; but the college must positively prepare and not negetively spare the man. If the colleges don't undertake this job, society will—and with a dull thud.

And since the instructor is the immediate contact the student has with knowledge, it is his duty to carry out this responsibility. The instructor may not realize it but in the eyes of most students he is two people — a teacher and a man.

The teacher part of him is not remembered, for the most part, past the final exam; it is the man in him that leaves the burnt impression. And the man in him is revealed outside of the classroom; in informal chats in the Pic Shop, talks after class and in his moderatorship of extra-curricular activities.

It is this latter field that we strongly urge more instructors to become more interested. If we have ever heard of a professor as being respected and influenced by a student at Villanova 99 out of 10 times it has been as the man, and not the teacher. And this impression is invariably made at co-curricular and quasi-social affairs conducted throughout the year.

We could be wrong but we believe "to influence" is the greatest reward given a teacher and this priviedge is alloted by the student only when he believes the teacher has a genuine interest in him as an individual. This field is wide open for it is one in which we believe the Villanova student thinks himself thoroughly starved.

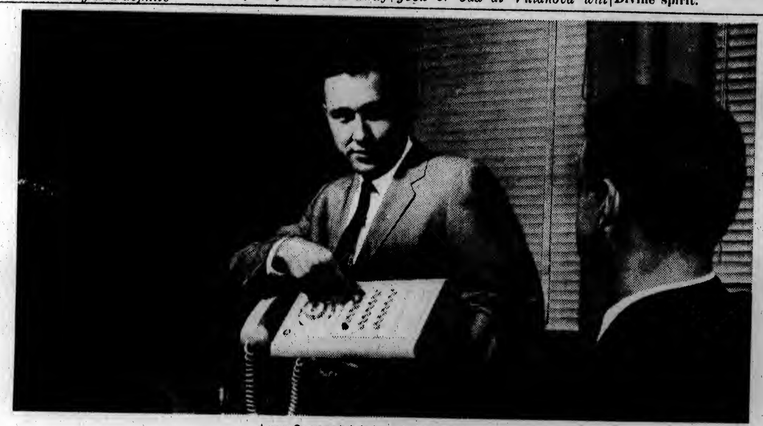
But the student cannot pawn off all the responsibility for his position as a product of Catholic education. His duty is a definite if not an apparent quality.

He must be aware of the fact that a Catholic college is unlike that of any other. The prime element in the type of education he receives is that of sacrifice. A member of the VU administration disclosed to us this year that a student's tuition doesn't begin to compensate for his overall education here.

No federal aid is granted to Catholic Universities, nor does it have access to the large endowment funds made available to the secular colleges. Teachers salaries are lower and the overall rate of growth of Catholic institutions drops steadily each year in comparision to other schools.

Colleges have evolved into large business operations where our schools are competing in a life and death struggle. The fact is that we can't even begin to compete.

"The day may not be far away that we are going to have to decide which arm of education we are going to discontinue," the administration member told us, "and it probably will be colleges."



So instead of lamenting, the students would do well to follow some inaugural advice by the President and "ask what you can do" for Villanova.

Also we hope that such things as the embryonic idea magazine, the VILLANOVAN and the like will be saved and fostered for it is here that the Villanova impression is made to the "outside world."

In fact we would like to see a renewed interest in all things Villanova on the part of the student; for remember no matter what you may think of this University, it will be your alma mater someday. Whatever is good or bad at Villanova will be associated with you by virtue of the diploma which you receive here.

Also remember that the scrap of parchment you receive is no ticket to a life of security. It is only the symbol of the tools you have received to realize this security.

And finally, a plea. The new science building on campus, coupled with the C&F edifice, personifies the new technological and administrative age on which we are approaching. I would ask only that the Arts school not completely be overlooked in this scientific expansion for we can't help to think that in the coming years it will be the humanities and the arts which will maintain our sanity and alert us every once in a while to the beauties of the human and the Divine spirit.

Loren Gergens briefs two of his salesmen on new telephone services for business customers.

"I DIDN'T WANT TO BE STOCKPILED"

When Loren Gergens was working for his B.S. degree in Business Administration at the University of Denver, he had definite ideas about the kind of job he wanted to land. He was determined to profit from the experience of several of his friends who had accepted promising jobs only to find themselves in "manpower pools"—waiting to be pulled into a responsible position. "I didn't want to be stockpiled," Loren says. "That's no way to start."

As a senior, Loren talked to twelve companies and joined The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company, an associated company of the Bell Telephone System.

From his first day challenges were thrown at him thick and fast. First, he supervised a group of service representatives who handle the communications needs of telephone customers. Then he served as manager of several telephone business offices. In these jobs Loren had to prove himself on the firing line, make right decisions and carry them through. He knew his next jump depended on only one man—Loren Gergens.

In July, 1960, he was made Sales Manager in Boulder, Colorado.

"I'm on the ground floor of a newly created telephone marketing organization. And I can tell you things are going to move fast!" Loren says. "It's rough at times, but hard work is fun when you know you're going somewhere—in a business where there's somewhere to go."

If you're interested in a job in which you can be your own prime mover—a job in which you're given a chance to show what you can do, right from the start—you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

'BYE BILL

'Cats Drop Two City Series Games But Bomb West Va.

For the sixth time in six years of Big Five play the Hawks of St. Joseph's put down the 'Cats of Villanova. This time in a low scoring 63-62 cliff-hanger at the Palestra, Saturday night, January 28.

Hubie White, Villanova's on-and-off All-American, had a night to remember as he dazzled the Hawks with flawless ball handling and powerful rebounding while scoring 24 points.

His greatest plays, however, were the blocking of six shots taken by John "the horse" Egan, who had a blazing 8 for 32 night from the floor. Dick Kaminski and Bernie Chavis played fine all-around games, but the Wildcats lost the "Big One".

Al Steals Show

The game scheduled with Duquesne for Saturday, January 21, was cancelled because of 14 inches of snow. Al Severance took a lot of ribbing before stealing the show at the Pittsburgh

by Ed Lohr

Sportswriters Luncheon prior to the Pitt game on Wednesday, January 25.

Severance's chance to get even on the floor was suddenly thwarted when a much inferior Panther team, which lost to Westminster by 20, soundly out-rebounded, out hustled Villanova, and cooly edged out a 57-55 decision.

Ben Jinks, a leaping sophomore, was a terror off the boards and blocked, not only many of Hnbie's shots, but also one of Tom Hoover's, who is six inches taller.

Milkvy Not Alone

"I can't believe it—I just can't believe it," cried Penn's fine All-Ivy senior, Bob Milkvy as the Quakers pulled out the biggest upset in Big Five history on Wednesday, January 18 by a 62-61 count.

As the huge Palestra score board showed six seconds remaining, Bernie Chavis took his usual beautifully calm jump-shot from deep in the corner and after a few short bounces on the rim it popped through—but then it happened—as the official claimed that Chavis had stepped out of bounds before the shot Penn's Red and Blue went wild with victory!

Only Bright Spot

The only bright spot in this very dim rehash was Saturday night, January 14, as the Villanova Wildcats played as if they knew how and sent the Mountaineers of West Virginia reeling to a brilliant 82-77 defeat.

With Jimmy Huggard leading the charge the 'Cats held a 19 point bulge with eight minutes remaining, but Rod Thorn put on a dazzling performance of shooting and rebounding to bring the Mounties to within three points very late in the game.

Photo by Ty Wong

All eyes are on Millrose sprint champ Frank Budd. The Wildcat Olympian who duplicated his 1960 win in the Millrose 60-yard dash last Friday night, obliges an autograph seeker.

Inquirer Games

33 Thinclads Slated To Compete Tomorrow Night

Friday night promises to be Blue and White night at Convention Hall.

This was guaranteed by the revelation by assistant coach Jim Tuppeny that 33 members of the Wildcat track legion will descend on the 34th street multi-purpose edilce for the annual Inquirer Charities Track Games.

The minions of Jumbo Jim Elliot will compete in eleven events on the Inquirer program, including three of the "Invitation" special events.

15 Feet for Cruz?

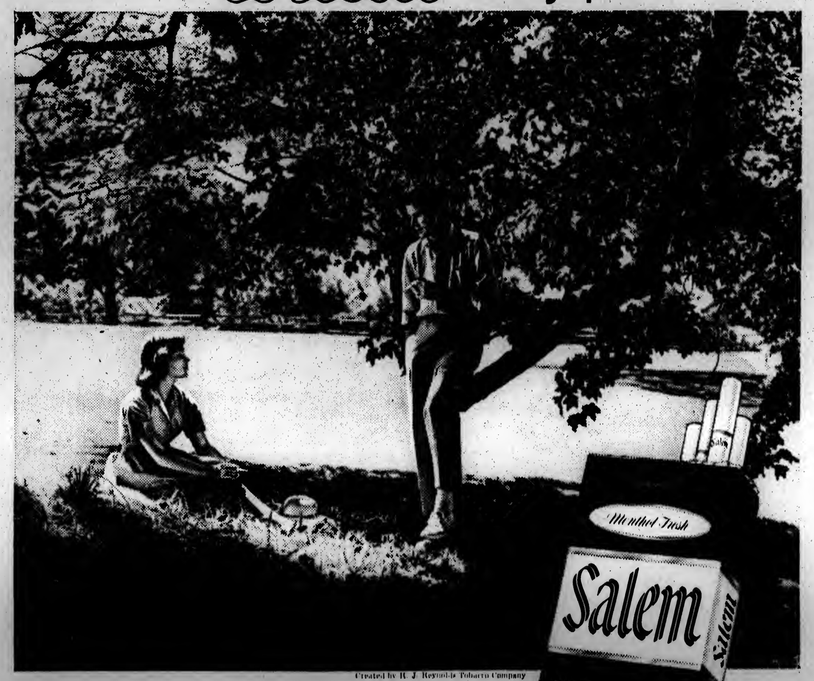
Leon Pras, outdoor IC4A hurdles champion at 120 yards, will attempt to cop the 50 yard event won last year by Hayes Jones. Vic Zwolak, who enlisted at Villanova after a tenure of service in the Marines will compete in the invitation two mile run. Olympian Rolando Cruz will try to clear 15 feet again in an effort to win the invitation pole vault.

Highlight of the remaining eight events will be junior Otie Drayton's second sprint appearance of the indoor season. Drayton's teammate Frank Budd has been promised a run for his medal by diminutive Ira Murchison, the 1956 Olympian who is essaying an indoor comeback.

Other Blue-White entrants include a newly constituted mile relay team (unselected at this writing because of Drayton's entrance in the 50 yard event). Last year's Main Line foursome breezed home in the meet record time of 3:20.3 with anchor man Bobby Raemore coasting to a 30 yard triumph.

Two-Milers Seek Revenge

All of the members of the 'Cat team are back this year including Raemore, Drayton, Nick DeAngelis and Joe Mannion.



The two-mile relaymen, Frank Hegarty, Jerry Hackett, Jon Dante and Pat Nicastro will attempt to better their showing of last year. This same foursome finished second to Manhattan, winner in 7:44.8.

Billy Joe, erstwhile fullback and Jerry Donini, IC4A point getter, will compete in the shot-put; Sophomore Al Jackman will run in the 1000 yard handicap; Angelo Sivieri and Pat Traynor are listed as entrants in the two-mile run, and a freshman distance medley relay team round out the Blue and White participants.

Meet Tonite

The Recreation Club meet tonite will also feature several Villanovans. Jackman and Ernie Muir will run in the 600; freshman Al Adams is slated for the 1000; freshman Harry Smeck, Jim Smyth and John Reilly have been tapped for the mile; and Owen Maguire, Bob Collins and freshman John Angevine will compete in the two mile-run.

Salem refreshes your taste
—"air-softens" every puff

©1961 R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

Take a puff...it's Springtime! That's what smokers say about Salem, because its smoke is as softly refreshing as the air of a springtime morning. Special High Porosity paper "air-softens" every puff. And Salem's fine tobaccos make Salem taste rich as well as refreshing. Smoke refreshed, pack after pack...smoke Salem!

•menthol fresh •rich tobacco taste •modern filter, too

in the groove

The End Of An Era

by Dan Grove

When Al Severance stuffs a dog ... red program into his coat pocket and shuffles across the Palestra floor for the final time after the LaSalle game, many thoughts will probably run through his mind.

When he opens the dressing room door and takes a cigar from his old friend and associate, team trainer Jake Nevins, perhaps a pang of sentimentalism will grip his emotions.

Players will shake his hand for the last time, and alumni and priests will jam into the small steam filled cubicle in the bowels of the Palestra, to pay some semblance of a farewell tribute to a truly great Villanovan.

As all of this sad, rather melodramatic and anticlimactic scene unfolds, a colorful era will come to an end at Villanova.

"Severance Era"

This era, which undoubtedly will be called "The Severance Era", was truly a great one in the annals of Villanova history. For Alexander G. Severance came off the sidewalks of New York to Villanova where he stayed and made a home and a way of life.

Here is where he rose from coach of an obscure eastern independent team that played its games in the musty confines of tiny Alumni Gym, to the well known mentor of a national power which thrilled great crowds from Madison Square Garden to Reynolds Colliseum.

The daily newspaper and sports magazines will parrot his records and newsworthy actions in the following weeks. All time teams and most thrilling moments will be recalled for all to read.

As the Severance Era ends, another of the old school of the fiery, cigar-smoking mixture of the strategist, the father confessor, the publicity agent, the psychologist and above all the individualist; makes way for the new stereotype of the crew cut, Ivy dressed, expert in zone defenses and College Board exams.

Most Colorful

Some say the new is better than the old, others will disagree. No matter which is the case most will agree that the old type, typified by Severance, was the most colorful. Statistics may be quoted and All Americans remembered but all of this seems rather shallow. For, as mentioned before, this breed thrived on individualism. From this arose many great characters. In the end that is the purpose of all of the many hours of practice and sweat, of upset stomachs and disappointments as well as joyful endings.

Severance was a party to all of these things. His strategy against Rhode Island State, one of the first fastbreak teams in basketball, is history. He caused a rule change by lining his substitutes at the scorers bench and inserting them each time the ball was given to Rhode Island out of bounds.

The father confessor role has been his many times, perhaps the most famous incident in this vein is the love letter he dictated to a player from the Midwest to save the boy's romance with a home town girl.

Publicity Agent Par Excellence

Severance was a publicity agent par excellence. I myself have seen him in action, enthralling reporters with humorous as well as serious stories. His oratory captured the hearts of the North Carolina press in the recent Dixie Classic. As recently as the last road trip he entertained a Sportswriters Luncheon in Pittsburgh which had been postponed a day in order to hear him speak. Through his lips Villanova's name has been spread far and wide. Many sportswriters have hacked away at him via the paragraph, but they always are there listening in silent respect when the Gray Fox spills out a few thousand of his well chosen words.

As far as psychology goes Severance rates with the best of the Amateur Guild of the coach-of-the-couch fraternity. He used simple logic and common sense to bring much sought after All American high schooler Joe Ryan to Villanova while Big Ten and Southern schools tried high pressure and good deal methods.

While talking to Ryan, Severance merely said that Joe was welcome to Villanova if he chose to stay in the Philadelphia area. He talked to Joe's parents and guaranteed the lad a good education. In all of this time he didn't deride any of the other schools or try to tell Ryan that he could offer the best deal. Ryan and family were impressed, and Villanova got a great player.

Flounders, Kidnappings, Sanity Codes

The individualism of Severance is illustrated in all that has been written here. What other type of man could shake off a large flounder heaved at him by some misguided or misplaced fan. Who else but an individual could weather the storm of the kidnapping of a star player as happened in the Shaefer incident of 1952-53 season; or the honest and injuring refusal of his school to live up to the N.C.A.A. "Sanity Codes" of 1950. In this incident Villanova, because of its honest refusal was barred from the tournament even though many other schools openly flaunted their failure to comply with the regulations, but publicly agreed to it. So Severance missed out on a national title chance with a team that was ranked 11th in the country and best in the East.

Heartbreak has been no stranger at his door. Probably the Sanity Code affair was one of his greatest setbacks. His Wildcats loss to an undefeated and top ranked West Virginia Club in 1958 was clearly caused by an unwise and uncalled for invocation of the obscure five second rule. Movies showed that the officials were wrong but Severance didn't berate the official; instead he expressed his opinion of the man's honesty to the press.

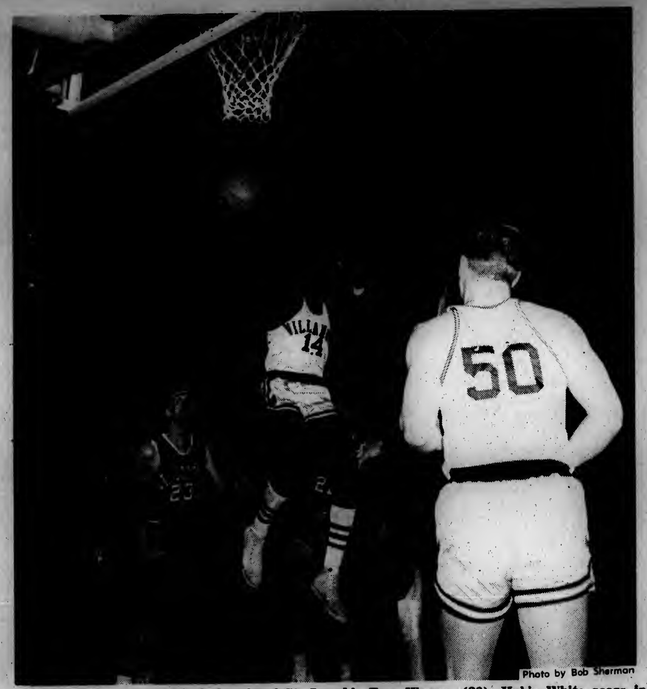


Photo by Bob Sherman

Much to the open-mouthed chagrin of St. Joseph's Tom Wynne, (23), Hubie White soars in for a two pointer. Hub's all-around brilliance was not enough to ward off defeat at the hands of the City Liners.

Powerful Memphis State Set To Challenge Wildcats

Success has also been a frequent passerby in the life of Severance. Simply look at his record with two of the nation's great powers year in and year out, Temple and North Carolina State.

Two Sided Coin

Success can be a two sided coin in the coaching profession. The other side, the Severance favorite, is the molding of men. War heroes like Chuck Drizin, orphans like George Raveling, businessmen like Joe Walters and guys who couldn't make their high school team like Paul Arizin became men under the influence of his sage handling.

This is the kind of job Al thrived on. Perhaps that's why he's getting out of the business now that major college basketball is becoming a business. The personal touch is becoming a thing of the past.

Probably some of the smug set of Philadelphia fans will order another brew with a shot, and say, thank God they finally got rid of the old man out there. For criticism is another part of a career of coaching . Severance has received his share. He has been alternately reproached for not using a zone defense and then when he adopted it for using it too much. He has been criticized for being too tough on his players and again for being too lenient. He has been praised for not humiliating opponents and castigated for running up the score by others.

Criticism and Praise

He has been accused of losing the big ones, and lauded as one of the nation's top upset coaches. He has been criticized and praised and criticized and praised. The list could go on for many lines. All of this rolls off of his back like water off a duck.

Next winter he can get to bed at a decent hour instead of tiptoeing into the house after a game in Allentown. The Sunday papers won't be as interesting, but after 25 years I imagine even the thrill of reading about how your team looked last night wears off. Yes, the excitement is over.

His Memory Will Linger On

Next season a new coach will give the scouting reports, and the pre-game fight talk. Palestra customers will get used to his face and tactics. Sportswriters will write about him. Still it won't be the same. The Squire won't be on the Fieldhouse floor on wintery afternoons to direct the practice. Interested onlookers won't come to see whether he's running around giving orders in a suit or a pair of gym shorts.

In time the smell of Dutch Masters will fade from the gym in which his teams were undefeated for 11 years. Someday a confused Frosh will blink and say "who was Severance?"; but he will be told quickly. Perhaps the era is over but the memory will linger on.

Memphis State, selected Monday to participate in the NIT tournament, next month will attempt to prove their championship mettle against the reluctant Wildcats, Saturday night at the Palestra. Coach Bob Vanatta has the nucleus of last year's NIT participants.

The lone loss was a big one because it took the leading scorer and rebounder, George Price. 6-8 Wayne Yates, however is taking his place. Yates averaged only 5.5 points a game last year, and didn't start. Now, in this season, he is currently averaging about 20 points a game.

Other starters include forwards Frank Snyder who is 6-5 and 6-6 Lowery Kirk who was hurt but is now ready to play. In the backcourt are guards Gene Wilfong, who averages 10.4 points per game last year and 6-0 Wolfe with a former 12.1 average per game. Phil Kibbey, 6-2, is their sixth man who helped out while Kirk was injured.

Nationally Ranked

So far this season they have beaten such notables as Brigham Young, Seattle, Western Kentucky, and Murray State but they lost a big one to West Virginia in the Sugar Bowl tournament final by a score of 82 to 86 in overtime. Although they have been playing a fairly weak schedule their 15-1 record so far this year has kept them consistently in the national rankings.

Memphis State is supposed to have fielded its strongest and deepest team in the school's history this year. Under Vanatta they have won 74 out of 91 games.

Villanovan

Vol. 36—No. 14 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. February 16, 1961

Student Body President Bob DeLisa expounds his theories of the ideal student government at Villanova before the Student Council last night.

Photo by Tom Yodzis

University In Expansion; Awareness Needed: DeLisa

Student Council Chairman Bob DeLisa, in his capacity as Student Body President, last night delivered an unprecedented "State of the Union" address before the newly-reconvened Student Council.

The "union" referred to by DeLisa in this case is that which, he contended, "should exist among the three constituents of Villanova University: the students, the faculty, and the administration." In his address, the Student Body President implied that the degree of unity presently to be found at Villanova is less than adequate.

Agrees with TIMES

In obvious agreement with recent comments made by many significant publications, among them TIME Magazine and The New York TIMES, DeLisa stressed the necessity of student awareness of the problems facing them, and demanded a concerted effort on the part of all engaged in the educational process to resolve these difficulties.

Taking full advantage of the "congressional immunity" afforded him by the Council's Constitution, the President berated numerous aspects of University activity, pointing out that "no one party is fulfilling its obligation to the others 100 per cent. Students are not acting to prove that they are mature, intelligent Catholic men, with whom the administration can deal reasonably; nor are they willing to demonstrate a readiness to transcend mere class requirements to assist themselves and their teachers intellectually.

Faculty Faulty

"Faculty members do not seem willing to extend the benefit of their knowledge and experience with other educational systems to assist the administration in handling Villanova's problems.

"In the same vein, the administration should demonstrate a willingness to regard the teacher as a valuable associate, instead of simly as an employee; and should respond to the interest of the student body by confiding more of its hopes and plans in the students."

On the positive side, DeLisa first pointed out that there are many extenuating circumstances involved in Villanova's problems, among them the fact that most faculty members must commute to school from fair distances, that there is a shortage of clerical manpower at present, and that the size of the student body inevitably involves the presence of some troublemakers.

"On all sides," he continued, "the good far outweighs the bad. It is simply a matter of uniting the intentions and abilities of all concerned into a single dynamic force for mutual advancement."

Specific Difficulties

Turning from the discussion of the relative positions of the students, faculty and administration, and of the principles which should guide their mutual co-operation, the President then concentrated on a number of specific difficulties.

"Because of the tremendous state of flux in which the University finds itself," DeLisa declared, "uncomfortable transitional situations may arise. These the students should accept as part of the inevitable growth, change, and improvement of Villanova. We can all rest assured that they will pass quickly.

"Meanwhile, the students must unite to do their part to aid in a solution of the difficulties. Among ourselves, first of all, let us remember that student government is not a police agency. Primarily, it is a service organization. Every representative elected to Council has the absolute duty to work for the religious, intellectual, and social betterment of himself and his constituents.

Help Wanted

"Many of us are always ready to complain about the status quo, but how many of us are ready to help to change that status quo?"

(Continued on Page 6)

Plan Elicits Reactions: Apathy, Antipathy, Approval

Consideration is being given to conducting semester examinations during regular class hours rather than a special examination period in the undergraduate full-time division. In accordance with this plan, classes for Juniors and Seniors would be conducted through May 27, 1961, and for Freshmen and Sopohomore through June 3, 1961. Subject to divisional and departmental regulations, examinations could be administered for as many periods as were judged necessary with the firm understanding that class meetings, according to the regular schedule, would be held through the closing date, whether or not all periods during the final week were given over to examinations.

Varied Reaction

The general reaction to the release was one of both disfavor and indifference. The various professors interviewed were opposed to the idea. Most think that they are "more secure with something familiar". On the other hand, most administrators were in favor of the proposal.

Rev. Robert Sullivan, OSA, Dean of the School of Arts and Science, said "Yes, I am in favor of it; I think it is a very good idea. It would completely eliminate the conflicts in scheduling". Rev. Joseph Bartley, Dean of the School of Commerce and Finance, said, "It would do away with the student facing the traditional and fearful three hour exam. It could, also, mean that grades would be in earlier." Dean Stanley Morehouse of the Engineering School, said that, generally speaking, he liked the idea, but that there are many points yet to be ironed out, and one thing to be avoided is the possibility of running a week short of school.

In opposition to the proposal was Reverend Robert Russell, Philosophy Department Chairman, who said, "The imposition on the teacher would be small, but the psychological effect on the student would be tremendous." He pointed out as an example, the student with five three credit courses and one two credit course, for a total of seventeen credit hours, with the possibility of a student facing seventeen exam hours in one week.

Doctors Bernard Bonniwell and Frank McGurk, and Mr. Gerald DeWitt, all of the Psychology Department, opposed the idea on the grounds that it would be impossible to administer several exams of equal difficulty.

More Dissent

Commander Claude Frazier,

(Continued on Page 9)

CCD Discussion Group Airs Church-State Separation Problem

The separation of Church and State was the actively discussed topic at a recently held panel discussion sponsored by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

Under the guidance of panel moderator Mike Murphy, the panel members, Gene Felch, John Simone, and John Neary, discussed the topic in the light of general principles, emphasized education, duties of Catholics in politics, and aid to education.

A question from the floor opened an ardent discussion as to whether close unity of the Church and the State would bring about a condition whereby the State would dominate and the Church would fall to exist.

Another point discussed during the two hour session was the form state aid should take to Catholic schools. It was generally agreed by the panel that this aid should be help to the Catholic student rather than to the school itself. Thus it might consist of books, lunches, and government student loans.

"Are You Kidding Me . . . ?"

A bewildered young man from the audience is pussied by the prestidigitation of Kevin Shea during Amateur Night festivities last Thursday night.

Photo by Tom Yodzis

Capacity Audience On Hand As Guarch Tops Amateur Nite

Opening with the Dixieland strains of "The Villanovans," the annual Amateur Night last Thursday survived technical difficulties to provide an overflowing Vasey Auditorium audience with an evening's entertainment.

Two loudspeakers and a microphone were called into service when the public address system in Vasey Hall was found inoperable. Bob Haverlin assisted Master of Ceremonies Bob Redmond in keeping the over-capacity crowd entertained while the emergency apparatus was set up.

During this period, "The Villanovans" returned for an encore, and Kevin Shea displayed his talent as a magician.

When the sound was restored to good order and the show was in full swing, Guy Calissi gave his interpretation of an Indianapolis Speedway announcer. Guy Guarch followed with "Sounds of Villanova University." His imitation of noises heard by typical Villanovans took his audience from Ithan Avenue, through Thum's, to the cafeteria and dorms.

Only Freshman

The only freshman in the show, Thomas Joyce, was accompanied by "The Villanovans" in singing "Foggy Day," "The Lady Is A Tramp," and "Up A Lazy River." "The Four Fifths" closed the show with several Kingston Trio-style numbers. After a large round of applause, they returned with their versions of "I've Had It," and "When The Saints Go Marchin' In."

Participants were rated on ability, presentation, poise, and audience reaction. The Rev. Henry B. Syvinski, OSA, Rev. John R. Dunne, OSA, Mr. Ed Geisz, and Jack Lumsden served as judges. Guy Guarch was declared the winner, with Kevin Shea, Guy Calissi, and Thomas Joyce finishing second, third, and fourth, respectively.

McCormick Replaces Rhodes As Beta Gamma President

During the mid-term break, the Beta Gamma Debating Society made two important announcements. One, its previous president, Jim Rhodes, submitted his resignation and two, Frank McCormick, the society's vice president, was appointed as his successor.

Many difficulties hindered the efforts of Rhodes during his attempt to establish a solid, enterprising society which would stem the gradual ebb of its members' interest and participation. Hopes now rest upon McCormick to cope with the problems of reviving interest in the society.

In addition to the resignation of Rhodes, the recent transfer to other colleges of two of the club's more singular debaters, Frank Battaglia, former Novice Chairman, and Joe Liggera gravely dim the outlook of any significant successes in debating circles.

Now, Beta Gamma, under the direction of McCormick, will commence a drive for new members who will work and an entreaty to all the present members to begin to take full advantage of the opportunities of travel and tournament trophies offered to them.

President McCormick and new Novice Chairman Tom Flynn offer a hope for the future by starting to lay the foundations of a strong, energetic group of debaters at Villanova. The acceptance of approximately fifteen invitations to different select tournaments in the east begun by Rhodes and McCormick should prove to be the basis of the awakening of the society.

These tournaments include the upcoming Kings College Tournament in Wilkes Barre on February 10, 11 where Beta Gamma will be represented by Bill Freind, Tom Flynn, Joe Rohrer, and Terry Stratman. McCormick feels that the outlook should live up to last year's effort when Villanova placed third.

Other future scheduled tournaments consist of invitations to Dartmouth, Georgetown, Pittsburg, City College of New York, and West Point among others.

"Future plans," asserts McCormick," consist of inter-collegiate debates between our teams and those of Rosemont and several other colleges and universities in the Philadelphia area.

PREXY McCORMICK
. . . Succeeds Jim Rhodes

LYNX Asks Material For Expanded Issue, Deadline March 28

Vince Kirk, co-editor of the Lynx, the campus literary magazine, has announced the deadline date for material to be used in this spring's edition as March 28. "No material after this date will be accepted," Kirk said. The spring edition will be on sale May 1.

The theme of the material can range from poems, short stories, essays, ideas, and vignettes, to one act plays. This material should be submitted to either of the editors with the contributor's name and address attached.

Kirk went on to say that a poetry or essay contest will be announced sometime in the near future.

With the resignation of William Speers, the Lynx is without a Layout Editor. Kirk said that anyone who is interested and has had any experience in this line should contact him at BR 2-7579, or visit the Publications Office in Dougherty Hall.

Kirk also hinted that this spring's edition may publish an original translation for the first time.

Princeton Professor Discusses Liberalism At History Lecture

The History and Political Science Department last Wednesday sponsored the second of its two special lectures this year. Presided over by Dr. Harold Hartman, Chairman of the Department, the lecture was attended by a capacity crowd in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall.

The guest lecturer, Dr. Eric F. Goldman, Professor of History at Princeton ,addressed the audience on "Trends In Modern American Liberalism." In 1935 and 1938 respectively, Dr. Goldman obtained his Masters and Doctorate at John Hopkins University and since 1942, he has instructed at Princeton, becoming a full professor in 1955.

In addition to his five published historical works, Dr. Goldman is the moderator of "The Open Mind", an open forum presented by NBC television, while also acting as a consultant to the center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, California, where his activities particularly include the Fund of the Republic.

Sectioned Lecture

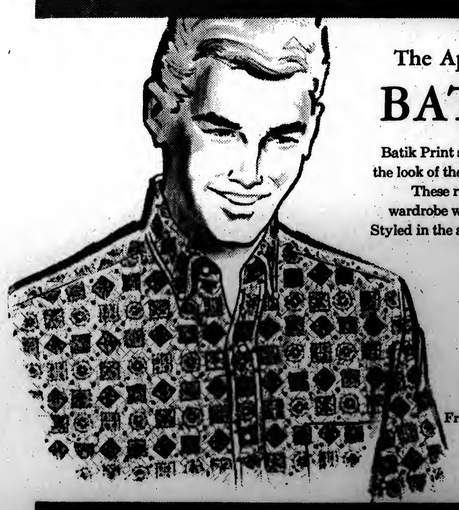
Dr. Goldman divided his lecture into three sections which dealt primarily with the development of and the different trends which are characteristic of American liberalism during the past seventy years. In the first period, 1890 until 1930, the economic and social opportunities in America were emphasized more than the existing liberal movements while private instrumentalities were distrusted as a means for opportunity. Continuing his discussion into the second period, 1930-1946, Dr. Goldman explained that the emphasis was still on opportunities more than on individual liberties even while there appeared a new emphasis on security.

Advent of McCarthyism

The third period from 1946 until the present, he stressed, was seriously influenced by the advent of McCarthyism which hit the liberals in their faith that in giving Americans additional economic advantages they would become a better human being.

After the lecture, Dr. Hartman announced that this is the fifth annual Departmental Lecture with future ones on March 8, 15, 22.

Pictured above are the Four Fifths, a musical quartet which will entertain during the intermissions at the Shamokinaki Dance. From left the foursome includes Bob Redmond, Tom Bourne, John Livezey, and Butch McNally. Photo by Tom Yodzis



Villanovans, Four-Fifths To Sparkle At Shamokinaki

The annual Shamokinaki Mission dance will be held on Friday evening, March 10, in the Field House with music provided by the Villanovans. The Four-Fifths, a campus vocal group, will entertain during intermission.

Tickets will go on sale February 25 in the Pie Shoppe and in the C&F Cafeteria. The price will be $1.50 per couple until March 7 at which time the price will be raised to $2.00. Ken Horn, ticket chairman, has advised all students to purchase their tickets as early as possible because of the limited number available. He added that the Shamokinaki dance, because of its immense popularity among the students, has in previous years caused an overflow turnout. This year only 550 tickets will be available.

The moderator of the affair is Rev. Robert Burke, OSA. The student committee which will handle most of the arrangements is headed by Earl Denlinger, general chairman. The various committee chairmen working with Denlinger are: Ken Horn, tickets; George Denlinger and Lois Greyson, programs; Leo Trebold, refreshments; Ron Bullotta, publicity; and Jake Krupa and Mike Cattie, decorations.

Horn concluded by saying that a Japanese tea set will be awarded as the door prize. There will also be other prizes awarded throughout the evening.

The Appeal of BATIK

Batik Print sport shirts by Arrow capture the look of the hand-worked prints of Java. These rich muted tones provide your wardrobe with a new expression of color. Styled in the authentic button-down collar.

Long sleeves $5.00
Short sleeves $4.00

ARROW®
From the "Cum Laude Collection"

Can you get your mind completely off your work ?

Quickly now—can you? It's a proven fact—a person who can completely forget his work—for just an hour now and then—can do far better than one who can't.

Flying does that for you. Flying is fun, of course. But beyond that, it's the best soothing medicine there is. Go up to 5000 feet and just take a look at the world. Next Friday's test won't loom so big anymore!

Cut out this ad and bring it with you for a free dose of soothing medicine.

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction
HORIZON AERO SERVICE
BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

Fr. Burke Is Named Coordinator Of All Activity Schedules

Rev. Robert M. Burke, OSA, has been appointed to the new post of Scheduling Coordinator. His function will be to coordinate the scheduling of various meetings of students or outside groups with the class schedule of the University.

Organizations wishing to change their meeting place, outside groups such as representatives from industry, and special class meetings which professors may desire to arrange, must be cleared through Father Burke's office if they involve the use of University classrooms or auditoriums.

Fr. Burke stated that if everyone does not cooperate in this undertaking, then his office cannot be responsible for any confusion in the assignment of rooms for university activities.

If anyone wishes to discuss a scheduling problem, he may contact Fr. Burke in his office, in Room 104-5 Mendel Hall, or on Ext. 222.

Dr. Rocco To Deliver Philosophy Lecture

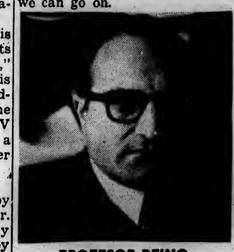
The Department of Philosophy of Holy Family College is presenting a talk by Doctor Rocco E. Porreco, Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Georgetown University, on "The Useful: The Economic Value". The talk is sponsored by the College's Second Annual Institute of Philosophy, and will be delivered on Thursday, February 16th, at 7:30 p.m.

The Department has stated that the Villanova faculty and student body are invited to attend this free lecture.

Portrette

English Prof TV Star

One of the more popular local television personalities in this era of specials and spectaculars is dark, stocky, and "quietly extroverted" member of Villanova's English Department. Dr. Joseph C. Reino, who joined the faculty at the beginning of the current academic year, has become known to thousands of people across the country as the "poetry professor from Philadelphia."



Presently in the midst of his third series of TV broadcasts for the "University of the Air," Dr. Reino is seen weekly in this area on a live, 15-minute broadcast which is videotaped by the ABC network in its WFIL-TV studios for re-broadcast at a later date by stations all over the country.

On TV by Accident

"I got into television quite by accident a few years ago," Dr. Reino explained. "I simply answered an advertisement by the 'University of the Air' and was accepted. Happily, I seem to have been successful in conveying the proper message to my audience, for I have been asked to repeat the series twice, and have drawn a phenomenal amount of mail from the viewers."

As illustration of the success of his program, the professor cited numerous examples, among them the automobile mechanic who became a "fan" of John Keats as a result of the televised poetry series, and the housewife who sent in a set of large, brightly-colored children's volumes of nursery rhymes so that Dr. Reino could appropriately illustrate his lectures on the hidden political satire in Mother Goose rhymes.

"It is response such as this," Dr. Reino declared, "that compensates for all the difficulties of performing on live TV. For instance, three minutes before my show goes on the air, a children's show goes off. During station break and commercials, twenty-five children have to be removed from the studio so that we can go on.

PROFESOR REINO
. . . Public Poetry Purveyor

There is a continual babble and chattering and whispering of directions from the director and the control booth, so that any dramatic pauses I may have planned are drowned out. Then there is always the difficulty of making clear a complex idea in the little time allowed to me. It usually requires from six to eight hours of rehearsal for me to perfect one 15-minute boadcast.

But I enjoy TV work immensely. I only wish that programs such as this one could be broadcast at a prime evening hour, instead of early in the morning or in the middle of the day.

Two Frosh Council Reps To Be Elected In Month

John Oberlies, Student Council Executive Vice President of Student Government, has announced that nominations for the Freshman Class Student Council Representatives are scheduled to be held during a class meeting within the next two weeks.

The two elected representatives will serve a term of office that will carry through their sophomore year. After this, they will be eligible for reelection to the Council. The two candidates will represent the resident and day students respectively.

Scully & O'Connell

Co-chairmen of the Election Committee John O'Connell and Brian Scully are charged with the correlation of the election proceedings and will preside over them. They also have decided to hold the elections a week following the nominations for which they stressed, "there will be no need of petitions."

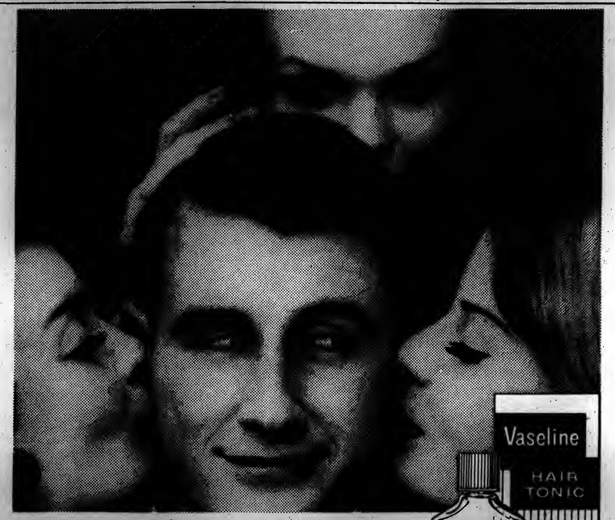
The offices are open to any freshman who has completed the first semester at Villanova and who has complied with the qualification requirements of maintaining a 2.0 quality point average and of receiving the approval of the Dean of Men, the Rev. George J. McLaughlin, OSA, the University Chaplain, the Rev. Norbert Whitley, OSA, and the Dean of Student Activities, the Rev. Dante L. Girolami, OSA.

Irregularities Penalized

O'Connell moreover asserted, "Severe penalties will be imposed upon anyone participating in election irregularities. In order to avoid voting irregularities, two sources of identification may be requested of the student in addition to his matriculation card. If this election is treated with the proper respect, it will be an excellent opportunity for freshman to advance their interest in student government. We hope that there will be a strong student turnout at the polls to show their support for the Student Council."

Among the several restrictions which O'Connell and Scully emphasized are included the necessity to remove all campaign posters before the election results are announced and the enforcement of a strict budget requirement of not more than twenty-five dollars for which an account must be turned into the Student Council Office on the second floor of Dougherty Hall the evening before the elections.

Campaigning Limited



There will also be no posting of campaign posters on bulletin boards, in the classroom, or on any campus windows. "Campaigning will be," repeated O'Connell, "prohibited within twelve feet of the polls. No loud speaker announcements, no posters, nor any under persuion will be alowed except within the ten minute break between classes. Further announcements concerning the election will be posted on the freshman bulletin board in Dougherty Hall."

Physics Club Hears A-Scientist's Tape

The Villanova Division of the American Institute of Physics has obtained tape recordings of E. U. Condon, world famous Atomic Physicist, speaking on "The Atom". The tapes, each one half hour long, will be played at the regular Thursday morning meeting on February 9 and February 16. Attempts are being made to obtain additional tapes of well known physicist Enrico Ferni, famous for his work on the nucleus of the atom.

The meetings are held every Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in the Physics Lab on the fourth floor of Mendel Hall, and anyone interested in Physics, or science in general, is invited to attend.

Golf is a game in which a ball 1½ inches in diameter is placed on another ball 8,000 miles in diameter. The idea is to hit the little one but not the big one.

keep a head of the game!

Gentlemen preferred by blondes, brunettes, and redheads prefer 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. That's because most men use water with their hair tonic – and 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic is specially made to use with water! The 100% pure grooming oil in 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic replaces the oil that water removes from your hair. In the bottle and on your hair, the difference is clearly there! Just a little 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic does a lot!

it's clear
it's clean...it's
VASELINE HAIR TONIC
"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

We all make mistakes...

ERASE WITHOUT A TRACE
ON EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND

Touch-type, hunt-and-peck, type with one hand tied behind your back—it's easy to turn out perfect papers on Corrāsable. Because you can erase without a trace. Typing errors disappear like magic with just the flick of an ordinary pencil eraser. There's never a telltale erasure mark on Corrāsable's special surface.

Corrāsable is available in light, medium, heavy weights and Onion Skin. In convenient 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. Only Eaton makes Corrāsable.

A Berkshire Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION PITTSFIELD, MASS.

A Suggestion

The Rev. Joseph Gildea, OSA, Vice President for Academic Affairs, has announced that a plan has been proposed whereby final examinations, instead of being scheduled for three hour periods during the week following the termination of classes, would be administered during the last three class periods of the semester. The obvious ramifications of this proposed system are that it would eliminate the infuriating problem of conflicting examination schedules, but would also require the extension of the semester for at least one week beyond the normal length.

Father Gildea's announcement of the proposal is indicative of the increasingly apparent solicitousness of the University for the student, in that it attempts to eliminate a difficulty, the problem of conflicts, for whose continued existence few at Villanova can see any justification. However, the proposed system raises the difficulty that, for almost all academic courses, the final three days of class will fall within the same week.

This means that, on the average, students will have to prepare for the equivalent of 19 full hour exams during a single consecutive five-day period.

Father Gildea has requested that comments and opinion regarding the proposed system be addressed to his office. We suggest that as many students and teachers as are able should avail themselves of the opportunity to express an opinion on this matter, and should request that Father Gildea point out to the administrators supporting the new plan that a considerable amount of clarification is in order before the proposed system will be functional.

A Challenge

Student Council chairman, Bob Delisa made an appraisal of things communicative at Villanova last night in a unprecedented "state of the union" address to the august undergraduate legislative body.

The appraisal proved to be agonizing. Delisa found campus communication to be in a sorry state. This he correctly attributed to a lack of unity at Villanova.

Communication on this campus is an example of compartmentalization at its worst. Intra-communication, that is a student-to-student, teacher-to-teacher, administrator-to-administrator is satisfactory. Inter-communication among these groups is virtually non-existent.

How can this be remeied? And by whom?

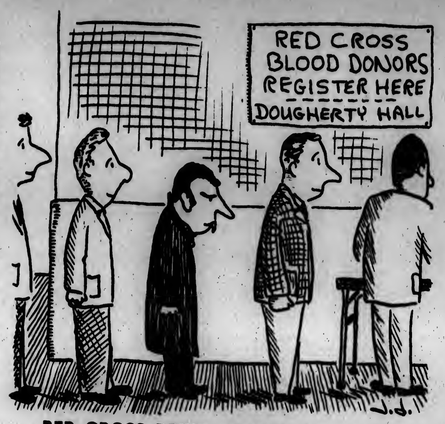
The burden of student self-assertion in this dilemma which could come back to haunt us as alumni, rests on the select group of undergraduates who have access to all three of the aforementioned groups.

Your chairman exhorted you to "start the ball rolling."

It's up to you, Council.

Villanovan

VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY



Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Greve, Charles Simmonds
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Layout Editor ..... Edward Farrell
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore, Francis Matonis
Business Manager ..... Gary F. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett, William McCall
Exchange Editor ..... Phillip Kenny
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1926; under the Act of March 3, 1927.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODERAU

RED CROSS DRIVE—MARCH 1st & 2nd

Counterpoint

Religious Re-emphasis Required

by Henry James McAteer

Villanovans are painfully "out of touch" with one another. As is mentioned in this week's editorial, "A Challenge," intercommunication among the various groups comprising the Unversity is vitally necessary now, if any degree of pre-emience is to be achieved and maintained.

Prior to actual communication however, must exist a medium for that communication. Basic to all pursuit of excellence, also, must be a common standard by which excellence may be judged. In an institution of such magnitude and such diverse components as Villanova, in which the religious and the laity, the quite young and the very elderly, the wealthy and the middle-income classes, the intelligent and the intellectually average students, the Caucasian, Negro, and Mongolian races, the English-, Spanish-, and Chinese-speaking cultures, all associate as a supposedly united entity, the common denominator must necessarily be the Catholic Faith.

Non-Catholic Villanovans

Granted, there are a number of non-Catholics in various capacities at the University. Nevertheless, the vast preponderance of those associated with Villanova are Catholic. Further, the school was officially established under the auspices of the Augustinian Fathers, and has as its final cause the education of the spiritual, ntellectual, and physical person—n a word, the proverbial "well-rouded" man.

This emphasis on the spiritual and moral aspects of the student, an emphasis peculiar to Villanova and the Catholic school system in general, must then be the unique element in this University's existence as an educational institution. Thus, this spiritual element must serve as the common background against which all all Villanova stand.

Strengthened Substratum

It would seem that strengthening of the various facets of the University can result only from a strengthening of the substratum. How, then, can regeion be strengthened at Villanova? As a point of reference, we offer in the column at the right the recent statement of the American Hierarchy, emphasizing the necessity of increased personable responsibility in daily life.

Since all statements by pastors are directed primarily to their flocks, unless specifically stipulated otherwise, no Catholic may automatically assume that he transcends the course charted by his bishops. His duty is to fulfill the requirements of this course.

How is this course to be fulfilled at Villanova? By greater attention to the Catholic Faith. This is not to say that everyone is to become an escetic recluse, divorced from the world about him. Christianity is essentially a lynamic organism, requiring active adherents and proselytizers. Mankind, however, has a tendency to become lazy. Youth, moreover, has a further propensity to attempt to slough off without thorough investigation and comprehension the mores, religious or otherwise, under which it developed.

Inclinations Are Assets

These inclinations could be turned into definite assets in an attractive, interesting, vital program whereby the veracity of the Faith was illustrated through an intense system of analysis and synthesis. Indeed, a program of thi nature seems virtually a necessity, for in a scientifically orientated civilization, no authority has a right to expect that anything but a scientific exposition of its status will convince potential adherents. Let the basis of the Faith, the Scriptures and Tradition, be subject to an intensive critical examination and explanation. Let the basis of other faiths be similarly investigated. Let the Faith be contrasted to the faiths. If competently performed before an intellectually sincere audience, this can only result in that profound conviction of truth which transcends knowledge: Belief.

American Bishops Ask Responsibility

WASHINGTON (NC).—The following is the full text of the statement entitled "Need for Personal Responsibility" issued by the Administrative Board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference on behalf of the cardinals, archbishops and bishops of the United States following their annual meeting here.

The history and achievements of America stand as a monument to the personal responsibility of free men. Our institutions and our industry, the fruit of the American sense of responsibility, have in the past inspired, guided and helped many other nations of the world. If our future is to be worthy of our past, if the fruit of America's promise is not to wither before it has reached full maturity, our present pre-ominent need is to reaffirm the sense of individual obligation, to place clearly before ourselves the foundation on which personal responsibility rests, to determine the cause of its decay and to seek the means by which it can be revived.

THE FOREMOST SIGNS of the decline of personal responsibility are to be found in the family. Marriage, a sacred and binding contract, all too often is considered merely as an arbitrary arrangement to satisfy the instinct of pleasure. The failure of parents to fulfill their responsibilities, as revealed in the frequency of divorce, desertion, and broken homes, is a national disgrace. Any delinquency of parents may well be reflected in the delinquency of youth, which is now commonly considered our greatest national domestic problem.

Equally conspicuous is the evidence of decline of responsibility within our industrial organization and in our general economic life. At a time when so much depends upon the soundness of our economy and upon our ability to produce to meet the needs of a rapidly developing world, we have been faced by a frequent lack of truly responsible leadership, both on the part of management and of labor. Among the evident instances of the breakdown of personal responsibility most deplorable has been the widespread cynical reaction to the recent revelation of dishonesty, waste, and malfeasance in industrial relations.

Although personal responsibility and initiative have been our national characteristics, explaining in large measure our country's progress in human welfare, yet pressures are growing for a constantly greater reliance on the collectivity rather than on the individual. An inordinate demand for benefits, most easily secured by the pressures of organization, has led an ever-growing number of our people to relinquish their rights and to abdicate their responsibilities. This concession creates a widening spiral of increasing demands and pressures with a further infringement on personal freedom and responsibility. The result is the condition recently noted by our Holy Father: "Modern Man sees that the sphere in which he can think for himself, act on his own initiative, exercise his responsibilities and affirm and enrich his personality is in many cases restricted to an excessive degree." (Letter of July 12, 1960, to the "Semaine Sociale' in Grenoble.) Intensive socialization can achieve mass benefits, but man and morality can be seriously hurt in the process.

THIS TENDENCY to delegate excessive responsibility to an organization is discernible also in the realm of international affairs. Some manifest no sense of personal responsibility in the affairs of the international community. On the other hand, many citizens seem to feel that our mere adherence to the United Nations absolves us from further responsibility in the international order and that decisions made by the United Nations, regardless of their objective value, are always to be regarded as morally right. Admitting the undoubted value of a policy of supporting the United Nations and recognizing the genuine contribution it has made in many areas, we must understand clearly that the citizens of this country, and of all countries, have a responsibility to judge and to evaluate the United Nations' deliberations and decisions according to objective norms of morality universally binding. This involves also the duty of citizens to make proper representation of such judgement to their respective governments.

However varied the above-mentioned evils, ranging from the single act of wrongdoing to the moral laxity of the mass mind, the root cause is the same—the rejection of personal responsibility. This is a moral evil, as are all the major ills that beset the present world. As such their Scriptwriters Cram Pepe; Mgrs. Cram Tickets In N.Y.

by Al LaMastra

Cantinflas, Mexico's greatest comedian, has returned to the American screen for the first time since his brilliant slapstick portrayal of the zany valet in "Around the World in Eighty Days." The comedian, whom many consider to be the most original in his field since Chaplin, has the title role in Columbia's "Pepe." Technically the production is slick. Settings, costumes, background, and production values are eye-poppers and the color photography on the cinemascope screen is dazzling. However, scenariowise and finance-wise the picture is a flop. Having opened in New York City two months ago, the managers of the Times Square Criterion theatre must now be papering the walls with reserved seat tickets. For this reason it will be seen in Philadelphia on a general admission basis.

LaMastra

The comic bullfighter, rancher, and master of the droopy-pants, little man routine is not to be blamed for the failure of this gargantuan motion picture revue-extravaganza. Nor are his equally talented co-stars: Dan Dailey, Shirley Jones, and Edward G. Robinson. The fault can be traced to the scriptwriters who have thrown too much into the three-and-a-half hour running time allotted to the pic. As Hollywood would say, "It has everything." comedy, music, vaudeville, fantasy, burlesque, romance, soapy fan-magazine hero-worship of Hollywood stars and studios, all sprinkled with saccharine sentimentally and scenic sequences that come as close to travelogue-boosters as anything you'll find in the travel folders.

Star Dazed

In addition, the studio has seen fit to include the "cameo" appearances of thirty-five top stars. It then becomes obvious that the plot is really just an excuse for these persons to put in an appearance, say a few words, dance a few steps and then leave. With the omission of a dozen or more of the "big name stars," sharper cutting and simplification of plot, this presentation of a week's TV show (condensed) might have been a mammoth achievement in the advancement of the screen musical. Too much!

The rags-to-riches story line revolves around a Mexican peon ("Pepe, that's me!") who loves a magnificent white stallion. When the horse is sold to a Hollywood producer (Dan Dailey) he follows it north, and has various elaborate misadventures above and below the border before he and his fourfooted friend are reunited. This basic plot wobbles around Cantinflas, Shirley, Jones (the hard luck girl), and Edward G. Robinson (the big boss).

As the story develops, Pepe becomes involved in comic skits, revues and song and dance numbers, some better than others. The most prominent of these would include a parking lot skit with Jack Lemmon; a snappy dramatic nightclub group and solo dance sequence with Michael Callan and Miss Jones; a funny gambling casino bit with Jimmy Durante; an amusing husband-wife-and-unexpected visitor skit with Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis, and the title song with a chorus of hundreds.

Dough Fails To Rise

The laughs in this multi-million-dollar production—like raisins in a loaf—are all there, but too much dough gets in the way. Let's hope I'll have better things to say about the up and coming film versions of "West Side Story" and "Music Man."

Campus Camera: After a miserable attempt in the earlier part of the year at providing the resident student body of this university with adequate entertainment (The Bloody Halls of Montezuma — Sugary Tammy and Her Slushy Bachelor) the entertainment committee has finally taken its head out of the mud and deserves a "small" round of applause for their latest choices shown in "la petite théatre Vasey." Both "Operation Mad Ball" and "Long Gray Line" proved to be superior films in their individual fields when released in 1958 and 1955 respectively.

Random inquiries among the students were answered in the affirmative with regard to this type of filmfare. But many students still wanted to know: "when will we get 'real' quality?" This I could not answer and as I'm sure the entertainment committee can offer no logical explanation either, we'll just have to cross our fingers and hope that the big business boys will see the light and follow a higher goal for the benefit of all of us. Get with it, huh?

RIVER STYX by Jonik

"In local weather—we're only going to have a few snow flurries today . . . but . . ."

CONCEPT Explores Vacuum In Students' Intellectual Life

Have you ever complained that an "intellectual vacuum" exists at Villanova? Are you one of those people who are saying that freedom of speech and press are "phantom rights" at our University?

Examine yourself to determine if you are one of the "dissenters", and, if you judge affirmatively, ask yourself again what you have done to clear up the situation. Have you been an armchair philosopher or have you been offering constructive criticism and aid to those groups which are actively combatting this "deficiency?"

If you fall into the latter category you probably realize that this deficiency has more of a phantom existence than our rights. You realize that there are various means of expressing yourself and the administration is very helpful in many ways and although your plans aren't always approved, hope that in the future your sincerity and hard work will convince the front office of your desire to do good both to the University and to yourself.

It is here that we must distinguish between those workers who see the true problems and those who don't. Those who are "in the know" realize that the good of the University must come before that of themselves. In other words, the question of the common good must be broached. If you, for instance, belong to a club that wishes to launch a project under the auspices of Villanova University (in any way, shape, or form), you must first weigh the consequences this project will have on the University and compare the results with the benefits you and your club will accrue from said plan. If the University does not benefit in equal amount as your club or more, then, let's face it, you're being selfish and unjust if you insist that your project be actualized.

Because the administration does apply a standard similar to this, some of our plans are justly canned and because the administration is not infallible a few are condemned because their merit cannot be seen immediately. In this latter case only real sincerity and hard work will put your plan through.

Now to return to the dissenters who do not actively object. These people must again introspect to determine whether their biting sarcasm impresses the nurses in the "Pie Shoppe" (who are evidently easy to impress) or because they really want to help correct the situation but don't know how. The "Pie Shoppe" Romeos probably don't really care much about the problems so our attention must be directed to those who are ignorant of the means the workers utilize, and yet wish to do something.

The first thing this type of person must realize is that criticism gains nothing unless it takes on a more subtle form.

An article, well written and interesting, utilizing some original thought and imagination and dealing with a topic attractive to the student body, presented in a campus publication such as the new idea magazine, CONCEPT, is more valuable than complaints about "phantom rights." These complaints never reach a big audience and never accomplish anything positive. The article in CONCEPT, however, will reach many, including the administration, and make them aware of the talent on the campus and the willingness of those talented people to work. This, in turn, usually brings about good effects, for it is positive action that underlines sincerity and capability.

CONCEPT magazine is willing to present your views if they are interesting and show some thought. The magazine has not yet appeared but it has the approval of the administration and is near the printing stage. Many articles have already been received and deal with a variety of subjects such as politics, fine arts, philosophy, etc.

These articles are not rejuvenated term papers; rather they demonstrate the ability of some students to apply and correlate

(Continued on Page 6)

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

"I'VE GOT NEWS FOR YOU"

I know all of you have important things to do in the morning—like getting down to breakfast before your roommate eats all the marmalade—so you really cannot be blamed for not keeping up with all the news in the morning papers. In today's column, therefore, I have prepared a run-up of news highlights from campuses the country over.

SOUTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Willard Hale Sigafoos, head of the department of anthropology at Southern Reserve University, and internationally known as an authority on primitive peoples, returned yesterday from a four-year scientific expedition to the headwaters of the Amazon River. Among the many interesting mementos of his journey is his own head, shrunk to the size of a kumquat. He refused to reveal how his head shrinking was accomplished. "That's for me to know and you to find out," he said with a tiny, but saucy grin.

NORTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Mandrill Gibbon, head of the department of zoology at Northern Reserve University, and known to young and old for his work on primates, announced yesterday that he had received a grant of $80,000,000 for a twelve-year study to determine precisely how much fun there is in a barrel of monkeys.

Whatever the results of Dr. Gibbon's researches, this much is already known: What's more fun than a barrel of monkeys is a pack of Marlboro. There is zest and cheer in every puff, delight in every draw, content and well-being in every fleecy, flavorful cloudlet. And what's more, this merriest of cigarettes comes to you both in soft pack and flip-top box wherever cigarettes are sold at prices that do no violence to the slimmest of purses. So why don't you settle back soon and enjoy Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste.

To determine precisely how much fun there is...

EASTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

The annual meeting of the American Philological Institute, held last week at Eastern Reserve University, was enlivened by the reading of two divergent monographs concerning the origins of early Gothic "runes," as letters of primitive alphabets are called.

Dr. Tristram Lathrop Spleen, famed far and wide as the discoverer of the High German Consonant Shift, read a paper in which he traced the origins of the Old Wendish rune "pt" (pronounced "krahts") to the middle Lettic rune "gr" (pronounced "albert"). On the other hand, Dr. Richard Cummerbund Twonkey, who, as the whole world knows, translated "The Pajama Game" into Middle High Bactrian, contended in his paper that the Old Wendish rune "pt" derives from the Low Erse rune "mf" (pronounced "gr").

Well, sir the discussion grew so heated that Dr. Twonkey finally asked Dr. Spleen if he would like to step into the gymnasium and put on the gloves. Dr. Spleen accepted the challenge promptly, but the contest was never held because there were no gloves in the gymnasium that would fit Dr. Twonkey.

(The reader is doubtless finding this hard to believe as Eastern Reserve University is celebrated the length and breadth of the land for the size of its glove collection. However, the reader is asked to remember that Dr. Twonkey has extraordinarily small hands and arms. In fact, he spent the last war working in a small-arms plant, where he received two Navy "E" Awards and was widely hailed as a "manly little chap.")

© 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

Now from the makers of Marlboro is the king-size unfiltered Philip Morris Commander—made in a brand-new way for a brand-new experience in smoking pleasure. Get aboard.

American Bishops Emphasize: Personal Responsibility Needed

(Continued from Page 4)

cure is largely within the power of individual persons. A godly society is the work of godly men. Even the most universal evil and the threatened mechanization of man can be made to yield before the just and determined wills of individual persons.

Our Holy Father has pointed out the capacity of the individual in the fact of such problems. "Does it follow that the process of socialization is impossible to control and that, increasing constantly in its breadth and depth, it will one day surely reduce men to the role of automatons? Certainly not. For socialization is not the result of forces of nature acting according to determination that cannot be changed. It is the work of man, of a free being conscious of and responsible for his acts." (Letter of July 12, 1960 to 'Semaine Sociale' in Grenoble.)

WHAT IS PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY in the context of man's relation to the world? It presupposes the acceptance of one's dignity as a son of God in whatever environment he may be placed and the acknowledgment of binding moral law. It requires the free and deliberate acceptance of one's obligations in the position he occupies—in the family, in the church, in the corporation, in the labor union, in the community, in the nation, in the family of nations. It demands the rule of conscience, not self-satisfaction. It recognizes that every deliberate action of the human person has a relationship with his Creator and His purpose in creating the world. It affirms that every human action a man performs derives its significance from that relationship and makes him a cooperator with his Creator in forwarding the Kingdom of God. It is the solemn profession that consequently every product of his mind and his hand, every bounty wrung from the earth is to serve that high purpose. As man, bearing the image of his Creator, is the brother of every other human person, his noblest work is to bring to his fellowman the blessings of the destiny intended for him by God.

It must be emphasized, especially in these times, that the freedom innate in man, as well as the social nature he enjoys, demands as a correlative the fullest personal responsibility. "Therefore every one of us will render an account for himself to God." (Romans 14: 12.) The marvelous inventiveness of the human mind, conquering space and making each man a neighbor of every other human being on earth, gives urgency to this twofold need: to maintain one's freedom by using it according to the limits and norms of rightful authority; to use it also according to his social nature and the needs of his fellow-man.

If we are to restore man to his sense of personal responsibility and to the acceptance of life as a mission, we must understand more clearly the moral causes which have undermined men's sense of responsibility.

First among these causes has been the marked decline in the force of religious convictions. Washington warned the American people that they should indulge with caution the supposition that national morality could exist without religion. In spite of the much discussed increase of church membership it cannot be doubted that for a long time religious influences have been losing their vigor among the American people, with a debilitating effect in consequence on both public and private life.

As a result of this decline of religious convictions the grasp on moral principles has been greatly weakened. Through a faulty concept of morality Modern Man has come to imagine that sudden and drastic changes in situations change principles; that principles no longer control situations, but rather that situations shaape principles. Inevitably this type of "situational ethics" denies all unchanging principles and makes futile all moral judgments on which the sense of responsibility rests. The need which the world faces is the acceptance of an objective norm of morality, and hence of conduct.

THIS DECLINE IN RELIGIOUS BELIEF and moral conviction leaves Modern Man blind to his immutable spiritual nature. Thus, wittingly or unwittingly, he aligns himself with the forces of materialism among whose tenets there is no room for the concept of personal responsibility.

Finally, the social ideals and purposes of Modern Man, due to the declining influence of religious and moral convictions and to the triumph of the material, tend in many subtle ways to efface the sense of responsibility. As a people we seem to be moving more deply into a sensate culture. There is an excessive preoccupation with material security at the expense of spiritual well-being. Uniformity of thought and supine loyalty to the organization, whether it be the industrial corporation, the labor union, or the political party, are too often encouraged and rewarded.

The correction of these basically moral evils and the restoration of a vigorous sense of personal responsibility belong primarily to the field of religion. The development of a truly Christian character is primarily the task of religion, although its inculcation is of vital concern to the state. It is the function of religion to teach man his unique dignity as a son of God and brother of Christ. Pope Pius XII explicitly stated this in describing the function of the Church: "Always and everywhere, by unceasingly adapting herself to the circumstances of time and place, she seeks to model persons, individuals and, as far as possible, all individuals according to the laws of Christ, thus attaining the moral basis for social life. The object of the Church is man, naturally good, imbued, ennobled and strengthened by the truth and grace of Christ." (September 19,1955.)

Deepened religious convictions will bolster and reactivate the sense of personal responsibility. We must seek to enlarge the area of personal autonomy to protect the human personality from a greater encroachment on its freedom and responsibility. The individual person must assume as his proud right the accomplishment of whatever he can for himself and for others, especially those of his family, and herein lies the importance of the Christian home. The same principle of responsibility must be consistently applied to every level of others. Pope Pius XI explicitly emphasized this principle of subsidiarity in the Quadragesimo Anno published in 1931: "Just as one cannot take away from individuals and transfer to the community the tasks they are capable of accomplishing by themselves, thus it would also be an injustice—and at the same time a harmful disturbance of the social order—if one were to remove from groups of lower rank functions they can exercise themselves and entrust them to a wider collectivity of higher rank.

A FRESH EVOCATION of the principle and practice of personal responsibility can revivify our society and help to stem the seemingly inexorable march toward the automation of human beings and the steady loss of that freedom which is man's distinctive attribute. It will cure the mental lethargy and inertia which permit organizations to usurp, mainly by default, the rights of their members. It will stimulate a self-reliance which will automatically restore the balance between fredom and security. It will reject unwarranted pressure from groups that seek unjustly to aggrandize their power and will restrict them to their lawful ends. It will see in all business ventures of whatever size a means of serving others as well as self. It will have an immediate effect in every sphere of life—in the home, in the office, as well as in the workshop, in the factory, in our schools, in our cultural groups.

AN EFFECTIVE RESPONSE to a call for personal responsibility need not wait for a mass movement. The response belongs to the individual person, as our Holy Father indicated: "Fully conscious of what is at stake, moved by his apostolic zeal, he then makes a personal engagement with these communities that surround him, the result of a free and justified choice of careful thought about himself, his destiny and the world." (Letter of July 12, 1960 to 'Semaine Sociale in Grenoble.) Such a response by a representative number, given only in the silent sanctuary of the heart, will begin to have its leavening effect. Our appeal for action is made directly to our Catholic fellow-citizens, but it reaches out also to all Americans who face the same problems as ourselves.

Before it is too late, we must revive in our midst and present to the world the ideals that have been the real source of national greatness. For America will fulfill its destiny when we have achieved that spiritual maturity, described by Pope Pius XII, as men, "established in their inviolable integrity as images of God; men proud of their personal dignity and of their wholesome freedom; men justly jealous of their equality with their fellow creatures in all that concerns the most intimate depths of human dignity; men solidly attached to their land and their tradition." (Pope Pius XII, February 20, 1946.)

The Annual Snowjob

A perennial picturesque problem, a swift succession of snowstorms blanket the campus, producing minor joys and major headaches throughout.

Photo by Alan Williams

Cuban Magazine Offers Hope To Exiled Students

The article that follows was taken from FREE BOHEMIA: A magazine published in the exile by those Cubans that were obliged to leave because of their traditional belief in God; their loyalty to the Country as understood by Marti "with everybody and for the benefit of everybody," and also for the desire to protect their families from the State, now changed into a beast, ready to devour its own citizens.

This interview was done by Lino Novas with Dr. Manuel Artime, who is in full command of the fighters that are being trained by the Democratic-Revolutionary-Front (or simply the Front, as it is usually known among Latin Americans.)

1) Dr. Artime: What do you think about the militia-men in Cuba?

"Not even half of them are with Castro. If they march and are in, it is because they want to survive. They were obliged to join the militiary pressures in industries, retail stores, unions etc. in order to keep their jobs; but only a minority of communists are in key positions and we are sure that when the opportunity shows up the majority will follow us.

2) Dr. Artime: What about the unions of workers?

"In the name of the laborers "the gang" of Cuba has communized the country. But the laborers of Cuba know better than before that the Castroism has meant only reductions in salaries, inmobilization in the centers of work, and even to be "fired" without further explanation. In other words . . . misery. Now the Cuban proletarians are moved by terror, but at the real moment of the fight, Fidel will be surprised to see in which side are those men that now, by compulsion and menaces, he carries to the meetings."

3) Dr. Artime: What about the Catholics? (Dr. Artime was a former director of the Catholic Youth).

"From this regime will arise a Catholicism fortified and stronger that ever before, it is however a very hard proof. We will win or die. But we are sure to win, and there is no doubt that to Catholics belong a very important role in this campaign."

4) Dr. Artime: What is the feeling of the "guajiro"? (Country-man)

"The "guajiros" are ACTUALLY the most important force in the movement of liberation. They know that what was promised by the Agrarian Reform has not been accomplished. "Guajiros" are considered today as simple laborers paid by the State, not owners of the land. They have no possibility to change places or work, and are under the impossitions of the delegates of INRA (National Institute of Agrarian Reform). Ask the "guajiros" if they think their conditions have improved and you will see that they will not think so, in spite of the "brain wash" operation tried to be accomplished by the government of Guevara and Castro."

5) Dr. Artime: And . . . Russia?

"Russia will try for sure to take advantage from the Cuban tragedy; they are using our country in their campaigns throughout Latin America. However, Cuba is for them just a political piece for the world control that will be sacrified if necessary. I really do not believe that Russia will provoke an atomic war because of our country."

We end this interview recalling the attention of our brothers and friends of America, in relation to the urgent necessity of fighting a crusade against the totalitarian regime of Cuba. This is a fight to save the hemisphere, and nobody can be absent.

The world must know too, now before it is too late, that at the very moment that YOU READERS sit back to enjoy this newspaper, hundreds of Cubans are exposing their lives fighting the monster within the Island. Nobody has the right or the privilege to look with indifference to them and to the Cuban case. The treason of Castro is in reality a question of honor to America.

'Round Midnight

Underprivileged May Laugh But Those Who Swing . . . .

by Joe Zawacki

I dig jazz! $2500 worth of records at home will attest to that. It swings. Don't let anybody kid you. If it doesn't swing, it's not jazz. I believe in it, in my own simple way, not merely as a form of entertainment nor as an escape from the current garbage, but as a true art form, a piece of Americana; and I didn't have to read Down Beat to learn to feel that way. My passion for it gives me wierd ideas sometimes, I guess, and I waver in my convictions about it sometimes, maybe because of human frailty. Maybe . . .

Zawacki

I won't waver for a long time now, because I've met a genius. The unprivileged will laugh at what I'm about to write, but those that swing will understand. Now, a genius doesn't come along every year. Maybe it's a poor analogy, but consider baseball. The past 20 years have produced many worthy players, but only Musial and Williams bore the stamp of greatness.

Jazz hasn't had a genius since 1943 when "Fats" Waller died, and unfortunately "Fats" never completely blossomed because he listened to the conformists, who just wanted to be entertained. Jon Hendricks won't make that mistake. To parapharse Johnson, he realizes that the purpose of Jazz is to instruct while entertaining.

Jon Hendricks?

Many of you won't know who Jon Hendricks is, let alone what he does. Statistically, he is one of three, a vocal group which in less than three years has stood even the most hardened buffs on their ears. The groups, as Jon puts it, is named, "Lambert, Hendricks, and Ross for no other reason than that's who we are! And so that your understanding of our name will gain more clearance, if you dig what I mean, our name describes the order of our appearance on the scene."

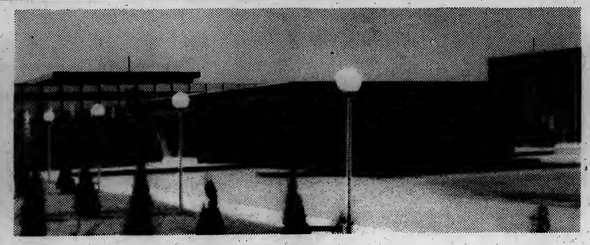
What sets this group so far apart from the others? Jon says. "Music is the sound that the Universe makes going about its rotating and vibrating."

The careers of L-H-R are dedicated to this belief and all their songs have something to say, sort of a slice of life with voices.

The whole gig started when Jon asked Dave Lambert, a vet from the big band era, to do a vocal arrangement of the Jimmy Guiffre classic, "Four Brothers." Dave's belief was that the key to their search lay in the old Basie recordings of the 1939-40's. Considered one of the greatest groups assembled, this band had no schooled musicians. They played from the heart and started their own schools. Finally, Dave convinced Jon and with the former's arranging talents and the latter's poetic pen, the seed had been planted.

Essential Feeling

Creed Taylor, of ABC-Paramount, promised a recording date and Jon set to work writing lyrics to the great Basie originals, and what a beautiful set they were. But they weren't out of the woods yet. The 12 experienced singers who comprised the Dave Lambert Singers (the original name) didn't have "that essential feeling" necessary to give full realization to the songs. However, one of the 12, a red-headed doll named Annie Ross, did know and feel what was going on and the record date was salvaged. The rest is history. Basie liked them so much that he invited them to do an album with his band on Roullette. Now, they are under contract to Columbia and with their travelling group, the Ike Isaacs trio, they have already released two albums. The latest comprising the works of one Duke Ellington is the best yet to these ears and it will be hard to top it. 2 to 1, though, that Hendricks will do it.



Dave Lambert, Annie Ross, Jon Hendricks

Born some 39 years ago, the seventh son of nine children of an American Methodist Minister, Jon Hendrick's background and family life seems to have been the major force behind what has now become one of the major voices in Jazz. But Jon, as mentioned is more than a voice in Jazz. He is, in every respect, a poet and a genius. "Doubting Thomases" are hereby referred to his narration on George Russell's "New York" album for better proof than I could ever offer.

(Continued on Page 9)

IBM WILL INTERVIEW FEBRUARY 16

Candidates for Bachelors or Masters Degrees are invited to discuss opportunities in:

Marketing and Sales
Engineering and Science

This is a unique opportunity to find out about the many career opportunities at IBM. The IBM representative can discuss with you typical jobs, various training programs, chances for advanced education, financial rewards, and company benefits—all important factors that affect your future.

SOME FACTS ABOUT IBM

An Unusual Growth Story: IBM has had one of the exceptional growth rates in industry. It has been a planned growth, based on ideas and products having an almost infinite application in our modern economy.

Diverse and Important Products: IBM develops, manufactures and markets a wide range of products in the data processing field. IBM computers and allied products play a vital role in the operations of business, industry, science, and government.

Across-the-Country Operations: Laboratory and manufacturing facilities are located in Endicott, Kingston, Owego, Poughkeepsie and Yorktown, N. Y.; Burlington, Vermont; Lexington, Ky.; San Jose, Calif.; Bethesda, Md.; and Rochester, Minn. Headquarters is located in New York City with sales and service offices in 198 major cities throughout the United States.

The Accent is on the Individual: No matter what type of work a person does at IBM, he is given all the responsibility he is able to handle, and all the support he needs to do his job. Advancement is by merit.

The areas in which IBM is engaged have an unlimited future. This is your opportunity to find out what that future has to offer you.

Call or stop in at your placement office to arrange an appointment with the IBM representative for the date above. If you cannot attend an interview, write or call the manager of the nearest IBM office:

Mr. R. A. Bennett, Branch Manager
IBM Corporation, Dept. 882
230 South 15th Street
Philadelphia 2, Pa.
KI 5-7700

IBM

You naturally have a better chance to grow with a growth company.

ACTIVITIES OF VILLANOVA

ICG

The Villanova Chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government is an organization devoted to the study and discussion of the problems facing the local, state, and national governments.

John McAteer, a Senior Political Science major is the ICG chairman. Dr. Fred Khouri, associate Professor of the History and Political Science Department, is the moderator.

This year the ICG has for its topic, the government of the State of Pennsylvania. To develop this topic involves a great deal of work on the part of the individual member. Research on a particular phase of the state government must be done. Then after acquiring some knowledge of his subject, the member must prepare a model bill which he presents to the club for debate. This requires the member to be able to speak before an audience and at the same time be able to defend his bill.

Widespread Organization

The activities already mentioned only involve the ICG as it operates here on campus. However, the ICG is a statewide organization which exists on approximately forty college campuses throughout the state. On the state level the ICG is divided into five regions. Villanova is a member school of the Southeast Region. Other schools in this region are the University of Pennsylvania, Drexel, Rosemont, Immaculata, Bryn Mawr, West Chester, and PMC.

During this semester representatives of the colleges in this region will hold a one day mock convention at one of the local chapters. At the convention the bills prepared by Villanova students will be in competition with the bills prepared at other colleges. After much parliamentary debate in committee meetings the bills which survive will be presented to the assembled delegates meeting in general session.

Another phase of the regional convention is the electing of a Speaker who will preside over the general session and who will be the region's candidate for Speaker at the three day ICG state convention which will be held in Harrisburg during the second week in April.

American Bishops Emphasize: Personal Responsibility Needed

(Continued from Page 4)

cure is largely within the power of individual persons. A godly society is the work of godly men. Even the most universal evil and the threatened mechanization of man can be made to yield before the just and determined wills of individual persons.

Our Holy Father has pointed out the capacity of the individual in the fact of such problems. "Does it follow that the process of socialization is impossible to control and that, increasing constantly in its breadth and depth, it will one day surely reduce men to the role of automatons? Certainly not. For socialization is not the result of forces of nature acting according to determination that cannot be changed. It is the work of man, of a free being conscious of and responsible for his acts." (Letter of July 12, 1960 to 'Semaine Sociale' in Grenoble.)

WHAT IS PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY in the context of man's relation to the world? It presupposes the acceptance of one's dignity as a son of God in whatever environment he may be placed and the acknowledgment of binding moral law. It requires the free and deliberate acceptance of one's obligations in the position he occupies—in the family, in the church, in the corporation, in the labor union, in the community, in the nation, in the family of nations. It demands the rule of conscience, not self-satisfaction. It recognizes that every deliberate action of the human person has a relationship with his Creator and His purpose in creating the world. It affirms that every human action a man performs derives its significance from that relationship and makes him a cooperator with his Creator in forwarding the Kingdom of God. It is the solemn profession that consequently every product of his mind and his hand, every bounty wrung from the earth is to serve that high purpose. As man, bearing the image of his Creator, is the brother of every other human person, his noblest work is to bring to his fellowman the blessings of the destiny intended for him by God.

It must be emphasized, especially in these times, that the freedom innate in man, as well as the social nature he enjoys, demands as a correlative the fullest personal responsibility. "Therefore every one of us will render an account for himself to God." (Romans 14: 12.) The marvelous inventiveness of the human mind, conquering space and making each man a neighbor of every other human being on earth, gives urgency to this twofold need: to maintain one's freedom by using it according to the limits and norms of rightful authority; to use it also according to his social nature and the needs of his fellow-man.

If we are to restore man to his sense of personal responsibility and to the acceptance of life as a mission, we must understand more clearly the moral causes which have undermined men's sense of responsibility.

First among these causes has been the marked decline in the force of religious convictions. Washington warned the American people that they should indulge with caution the supposition that national morality could exist without religion. In spite of the much discussed increase of church membership it cannot be doubted that for a long time religious influences have been losing their vigor among the American people, with a debilitating effect in consequence on both public and private life.

As a result of this decline of religious convictions the grasp on moral principles has been greatly weakened. Through a faulty concept of morality Modern Man has come to imagine that sudden and drastic changes in situations change principles; that principles no longer control situations, but rather that situations shaape principles. Inevitably this type of "situational ethics" denies all unchanging principles and makes futile all moral judgments on which the sense of responsibility rests. The need which the world faces is the acceptance of an objective norm of morality, and hence of conduct.

THIS DECLINE IN RELIGIOUS BELIEF and moral conviction leaves Modern Man blind to his immutable spiritual nature. Thus, wittingly or unwittingly, he aligns himself with the forces of materialism among whose tenets there is no room for the concept of personal responsibility.

Finally, the social ideals and purposes of Modern Man, due to the declining influence of religious and moral convictions and to the triumph of the material, tend in many subtle ways to efface the sense of responsibility. As a people we seem to be moving more deply into a sensate culture. There is an excessive preoccupation with material security at the expense of spiritual well-being. Uniformity of thought and supine loyalty to the organization, whether it be the industrial corporation, the labor union, or the political party, are too often encouraged and rewarded.

The correction of these basically moral evils and the restoration of a vigorous sense of personal responsibility belong primarily to the field of religion. The development of a truly Christian character is primarily the task of religion, although its inculcation is of vital concern to the state. It is the function of religion to teach man his unique dignity as a son of God and brother of Christ. Pope Pius XII explicitly stated this in describing the function of the Church: "Always and everywhere, by unceasingly adapting herself to the circumstances of time and place, she seeks to model persons, individuals and, as far as possible, all individuals according to the laws of Christ, thus attaining the moral basis for social life. The object of the Church is man, naturally good, imbued, ennobled and strengthened by the truth and grace of Christ." (September 19,1955.)

Deepened religious convictions will bolster and reactivate the sense of personal responsibility. We must seek to enlarge the area of personal autonomy to protect the human personality from a greater encroachment on its freedom and responsibility. The individual person must assume as his proud right the accomplishment of whatever he can for himself and for others, especially those of his family, and herein lies the importance of the Christian home. The same principle of responsibility must be consistently applied to every level of others. Pope Pius XI explicitly emphasized this principle of subsidiarity in the Quadragesimo Anno published in 1931: "Just as one cannot take away from individuals and transfer to the community the tasks they are capable of accomplishing by themselves, thus it would also be an injustice—and at the same time a harmful disturbance of the social order—if one were to remove from groups of lower rank functions they can exercise themselves and entrust them to a wider collectivity of higher rank.

A FRESH EVOCATION of the principle and practice of personal responsibility can revivify our society and help to stem the seemingly inexorable march toward the automation of human beings and the steady loss of that freedom which is man's distinctive attribute. It will cure the mental lethargy and inertia which permit organizations to usurp, mainly by default, the rights of their members. It will stimulate a self-reliance which will automatically restore the balance between fredom and security. It will reject unwarranted pressure from groups that seek unjustly to aggrandize their power and will restrict them to their lawful ends. It will see in all business ventures of whatever size a means of serving others as well as self. It will have an immediate effect in every sphere of life—in the home, in the office, as well as in the workshop, in the factory, in our schools, in our cultural groups.

AN EFFECTIVE RESPONSE to a call for personal responsibility need not wait for a mass movement. The response belongs to the individual person, as our Holy Father indicated: "Fully conscious of what is at stake, moved by his apostolic zeal, he then makes a personal engagement with these communities that surround him, the result of a free and justified choice of careful thought about himself, his destiny and the world." (Letter of July 12, 1960 to 'Semaine Sociale in Grenoble.) Such a response by a representative number, given only in the silent sanctuary of the heart, will begin to have its leavening effect. Our appeal for action is made directly to our Catholic fellow-citizens, but it reaches out also to all Americans who face the same problems as ourselves.

Before it is too late, we must revive in our midst and present to the world the ideals that have been the real source of national greatness. For America will fulfill its destiny when we have achieved that spiritual maturity, described by Pope Pius XII, as men, "established in their inviolable integrity as images of God; men proud of their personal dignity and of their wholesome freedom; men justly jealous of their equality with their fellow creatures in all that concerns the most intimate depths of human dignity; men solidly attached to their land and their tradition." (Pope Pius XII, February 20, 1946.)

The Annual Snowjob

A perennial picturesque problem, a swift succession of snowstorms blanket the campus, producing minor joys and major headaches throughout.

Photo by Alan Williams

Cuban Magazine Offers Hope To Exiled Students

The article that follows was taken from FREE BOHEMIA: A magazine published in the exile by those Cubans that were obliged to leave because of their traditional belief in God; their loyalty to the Country as understood by Marti "with everybody and for the benefit of everybody," and also for the desire to protect their families from the State, now changed into a beast, ready to devour its own citizens.

This interview was done by Lino Novas with Dr. Manuel Artime, who is in full command of the fighters that are being trained by the Democratic-Revolutionary-Front (or simply the Front, as it is usually known among Latin Americans.)

1) Dr. Artime: What do you think about the militia-men in Cuba?

"Not even half of them are with Castro. If they march and are in, it is because they want to survive. They were obliged to join the militiary pressures in industries, retail stores, unions etc. in order to keep their jobs; but only a minority of communists are in key positions and we are sure that when the opportunity shows up the majority will follow us.

2) Dr. Artime: What about the unions of workers?

"In the name of the laborers "the gang" of Cuba has communized the country. But the laborers of Cuba know better than before that the Castroism has meant only reductions in salaries, inmobilization in the centers of work, and even to be "fired" without further explanation. In other words . . . misery. Now the Cuban proletarians are moved by terror, but at the real moment of the fight, Fidel will be surprised to see in which side are those men that now, by compulsion and menaces, he carries to the meetings."

3) Dr. Artime: What about the Catholics? (Dr. Artime was a former director of the Catholic Youth).

"From this regime will arise a Catholicism fortified and stronger that ever before, it is however a very hard proof. We will win or die. But we are sure to win, and there is no doubt that to Catholics belong a very important role in this campaign."

4) Dr. Artime: What is the feeling of the "guajiro"? (Country-man)

"The "guajiros" are ACTUALLY the most important force in the movement of liberation. They know that what was promised by the Agrarian Reform has not been accomplished. "Guajiros" are considered today as simple laborers paid by the State, not owners of the land. They have no possibility to change places or work, and are under the impossitions of the delegates of INRA (National Institute of Agrarian Reform). Ask the "guajiros" if they think their conditions have improved and you will see that they will not think so, in spite of the "brain wash" operation tried to be accomplished by the government of Guevara and Castro."

5) Dr. Artime: And . . . . Russia?

"Russia will try for sure to take advantage from the Cuban tragedy; they are using our country in their campaigns throughout Latin America. However, Cuba is for them just a political piece for the world control that will be sacrified if necessary. I really do not believe that Russia will provoke an atomic war because of our country."

We end this interview recalling the attention of our brothers and friends of America, in relation to the urgent necessity of fighting a crusade against the totalitarian regime of Cuba. This is a fight to save the hemisphere, and nobody can be absent.

The world must know too, now before it is too late, that at the very moment that YOU READERS sit back to enjoy this newspaper, hundreds of Cubans are exposing their lives fighting the monster within the Island. Nobody has the right or the privilege to look with indifference to them and to the Cuban case. The treason of Castro is in reality a question of honor to America.

'Round Midnight

Underprivileged May Laugh But Those Who Swing . . . .

by Joe Zawacki

I dig jazz! $2500 worth of records at home will attest to that. It swings. Don't let anybody kid you. If it doesn't swing, it's not jazz. I believe in it, in my own simple way, not merely as a form of entertainment nor as an escape from the current garbage, but as a true art form. a piece of Americana; and I didn't have to read Down Beat to learn to feel that way. My passion for it gives me wierd ideas sometimes, I guess, and I waver in my convictions about it sometimes, maybe because of human frailty. Maybe . . .

Zawacki

I won't waver for a long time now, because I've met a genius. The unprivileged will laugh at what I'm about to write, but those that swing will understand. Now, a genius doesn't come along every year. Maybe it's a poor analogy, but consider baseball. The past 20 years have produced many worthy players, but only Musial and Williams bore the stamp of greatness.

Jazz hasn't had a genius since 1943 when "Fats" Waller died, and unfortunately "Fats" never completely blossomed because he listened to the conformists, who just wanted to be entertained. Jon Hendricks won't make that mistake. To parapharse Johnson, he realizes that the purpose of Jazz is to instruct while entertaining.

Jon Hendricks?

Many of you won't know who Jon Hendricks is, let alone what he does. Statistically, he is one of three, a vocal group which in less than three years has stood even the most hardened buffs on their ears. The groups, as Jon puts it, is named, "Lambert, Hendricks, and Ross for no other reason than that's who we are! And so that your understanding of our name will gain more clearance, if you dig what I mean, our name describes the order of our appearance on the scene."

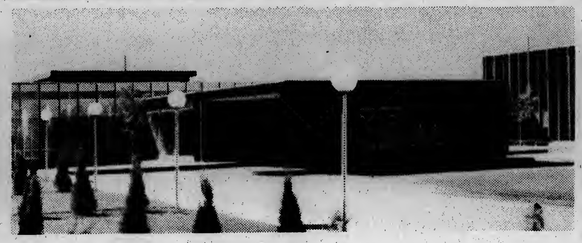
What sets this group so far apart from the others? Jon says. "Music is the sound that the Universe makes going about its rotating and vibrating."

The careers of L-H-R are dedicated to this belief and all their songs have something to say, sort of a slice of life with voices.

The whole gig started when Jon asked Dave Lambert, a vet from the big band era, to do a vocal arrangement of the Jimmy Guiffre classic, "Four Brothers." Dave's belief was that the key to their search lay in the old Basie recordings of the 1939-40's. Considered one of the greatest groups assembled, this band had no schooled musicians. They played from the heart and started their own schools. Finally, Dave convinced Jon and with the former's arranging talents and the latter's poetic pen, the seed had been planted.

Essential Feeling

Creed Taylor, of ABC-Paramount, promised a recording date and Jon set to work writing lyrics to the great Basie originals, and what a beautiful set they were. But they weren't out of the woods yet. The 12 experienced singers who comprised the Dave Lambert Singers (the original name) didn't have "that essential feeling" necessary to give full realization to the songs. However, one of the 12, a red-headed doll named Annie Ross, did know and feel what was going on and the record date was salvaged. The rest is history. Basie liked them so much that he invited them to do an album with his band on Roullette. Now, they are under contract to Columbia and with their travelling group, the Ike Isaacs trio, they have already released two albums. The latest comprising the works of one Duke Ellington is the best yet to these ears and it will be hard to top it. 2 to 1, though, that Hendricks will do it.



Dave Lambert, Annie Ross, Jon Hendricks

Born some 39 years ago, the seventh son of nine children of an American Methodist Minister, Jon Hendrick's background and family life seems to have been the major force behind what has now become one of the major voices in Jazz. But Jon, as mentioned is more than a voice in Jazz. He is, in every respect, a poet and a genius. "Doubting Thomases" are hereby referred to his narration on George Russell's "New York" album for better proof than I could ever offer.

(Continued on Page 9)

IBM WILL INTERVIEW FEBRUARY 16

Candidates for Bachelors or Masters Degrees are invited to discuss opportunities in:

Marketing and Sales
Engineering and Science

This is a unique opportunity to find out about the many career opportunities at IBM. The IBM representative can discuss with you typical jobs, various training programs, chances for advanced education, financial rewards, and company benefits—all important factors that affect your future.

SOME FACTS ABOUT IBM

An Unusual Growth Story: IBM has had one of the exceptional growth rates in industry. It has been a planned growth, based on ideas and products having an almost infinite application in our modern economy.

Diverse and Important Products: IBM develops, manufactures and markets a wide range of products in the data processing field. IBM computers and allied products play a vital role in the operations of business, industry, science, and government.

Across-the-Country Operations: Laboratory and manufacturing facilities are located in Endicott, Kingston, Owego, Poughkeepsie and Yorktown, N. Y.; Burlington, Vermont; Lexington, Ky.; San Jose, Calif.; Bethesda, Md.; and Rochester, Minn. Headquarters is located in New York City with sales and service offices in 198 major cities throughout the United States.

The Accent is on the Individual: No matter what type of work a person does at IBM, he is given all the responsibility he is able to handle, and all the support he needs to do his job. Advancement is by merit.

The areas in which IBM is engaged have an unlimited future. This is your opportunity to find out what that future has to offer you.

Call or stop in at your placement office to arrange an appointment with the IBM representative for the date above. If you cannot attend an interview, write or call the manager of the nearest IBM office:

Mr. R. A. Bennett, Branch Manager
IBM Corporation, Dept. 882
230 South 15th Street
Philadelphia 2, Pa.
KI 5-7700

IBM® You naturally have a better chance to grow with a growth company.

ICG

VILLANOVAN ACTIVITIES

The Villanova Chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government is an organization devoted to the study and discussion of the problems facing the local, state, and national governments.

John McAteer, a Senior Political Science major is the ICG chairman. Dr. Fred Khouri, associate Professor of the History and Political Science Department, is the moderator.

This year the ICG has for its topic, the government of the State of Pennsylvania. To develop this topic involves a great deal of work on the part of the individual member. Research on a particular phase of the state government must be done. Then after acquiring some knowledge of his subject, the member must prepare a model bill which he presents to the club for debate. This requires the member to be able to speak before an audience and at the same time be able to defend his bill.

Widespread Organization

The activities already mentioned only involve the ICG as it operates here on campus. However, the ICG is a statewide organization which exists on approximately forty college campuses throughout the state. On the state level the ICG is divided into five regions. Villanova is a member school of the Southeast Region. Other schools in this region are the University of Pennsylvania, Drexel, Rosemont, Immaculata, Bryn Mawr, West Chester, and PMC.

During this semester representatives of the colleges in this region will hold a one day mock convention at one of the local chapters. At the convention the bills prepared at other Villanova students will be in competition with the bills prepared at other colleges. After much parliamentary debate in committee meetings the bills which survive will be presented to the assembled delegates meeting in general session.

Another phase of the regional convention is the electing of a Speaker who will preside over the general session and who will be the region's candidate for Speaker at the three day ICG state convention which will be held in Harrisburg during the second week in April.

Valentine's Day For Birds Penny Dreadful Now Vogue

Is Valentine's Day for the birds? Until a couple of hundred years ago, most folks would have said yes—they clung to a very ancient belief that birds choose their mates for the year on February 14.

Shaky as this theory is, Valentine's Day has always tempted lovebirds to go out on a limb. The expense of gifts and rhymed sweet talk has been the least of it—in 18th century England, the girl's father considered a Valentine equivalent to a proposal of marriage.

Even riskier, perhaps, was the Valentine "card" of 2,000 years ago—a scrap of folded paper with a girl's name written inside. The boy who plucked that name out of a hat box was considered the young lady's sweetheart for the year.

This "love lottery," popular in ancient Rome, is still played as a party game by some British boys and girls. Other romantic gamblers in England and America preferred to pick as their Valentines the first girls they encountered on February 14, sealing the bargain by kissing the "first-met."

First Valentine

Yet, oddly enough, the man who originally offered himself as a Valentine had nothing so romantic in mind. St. Valentine was a young Roman martyred for refusing to give up Christianity. He died in 270 A.D. on February 14—the very day that, by coincidence, had traditionally been devoted to the love lotteries and to fine-feathered friendship.

According to legend, he left a farewell note for the jailer's little daughter, who befriended him in prison, and signed it "from your Valentine."

For centuries thereafter, "from your Valentine" meant friendship—and nothing more—when affixed to a note or gift on February 14 to commemorate the kindly spirit of St. Valentine. But by 1400 the phrase was appearing on romantic hand-made cords as well.

From there it was an easy step—not even a lover's leap—to the first commercial Valentines, already selling in England by 1800. American publishers got into the act about 1840, and by 1857 hearts were beating faster in card-publishing circles at the news that three million Valentines had been sold in the U. S. that year at prices ranging from three cents to thirty dollars apiece. In 1961 an estimated 500 million Valentines will be exchanged, or roughly 2.8 per American!

"Penny Dreadfuls"

Admittedly, not all of the senders or receivers will be love-struck. Along with the recent debut of the Valentine for Mother, Father, Sister, Cousin and Aunt, the comic Valentine is wisecracking more cynically and successfully than ever. Nearly half the Valentines exchanged this February 14 will express such tender sentiments as the 1960 classic which announced, "It's Leap Year, so I'm going to come right out and ask you—could you fix me up with one of your good-looking friends?

It's not a new trend—"penny dreadfuls and "vinegar" Valentines," so insulting they had to be sent anonymously, were popular about 100 years ago. Long before that, though, Valentine-senders had noted the relative merits of honey and vinegar—and even the sweet-talkers had concluded that sweet talk was not enough.

Gifts have always been traditional. In the 15th century a pair of gloves was the standard Valentine's Day token (symbolizing, perhaps, the value of a bird in hand?) An apple or orange, tagged with an appropriately juicy love note and tossed through the window of a girl who hadn't yet been spoken for, was a popular Valentine in Shakespeare's day. In our time, L'Aimant holds interest for the purveyor and poet alike. But only the heartless could object to that.

Chairman Requests Student Awareness

(Continued from Page 2)

Proper action everywhere, from the Pie Shoppe to the classroom, DeLisa explained, is one way to alter the present state of affairs. Pride in personal appearance, attention in class, and a proper regard for the property of the University and of others, are other methods.

"I don't mean to sound like a sixth grade schoolteacher," he concluded, "nor do I mean to say that the student body is the only group with an obligation to act. It's obvious that changes are essential, that action is needed. Someone has to start the ball rolling. It might as well be us."

CONCEPT Magazine Fulfills Great Need

(Continued from Page 5)

the elements of their scholastic education with everyday problems. All three schools are represented in the material so far received, again emphasizing the diversity of subject matter. All in all, CONCEPT magazine is almost assured of a permanent place among the other University publications.

In summation, then, we must acknowledge the good work of those who are actively engaged in demonstrating Villanova's student talent and make a final appeal to the interested "unproductive dissenters" to take a more positive role on the campus.

Abraham Lincoln — Facts And Fallacies

Two popular myths concerning Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address have gained credence through the years. One such story claims that Lincoln wrote the now famous speech on an old piece of wrapping paper with a borrowed pencil stub while on the train from Washington to Gettysburg. Another tale it has that the address was not composed until Lincoln reached the home of his Gettysburg host, Colonel David Wills. Here are some interesting facts on this subject. The Library of Congress has both a preliminary address and the battlefield copy of the Gettysburg Address. Comparison of the two copies reveal corrections on the battlefield copy, indicating previous preparation of the preliminary address. Mr. Nor Brooks, one of Abraham Lincoln's secretaries, was told by the President several days before the dedication date that the speech already was written and that what he had ready to say was, "short, short, short."

Jon Hendricks For Those Who Swing

(Continued from Page 7)

His goals are numerous, yet one. He wants to spread the word of the joys of life and he will use any medium to do it. Someday, he would like to do a Jazz opera (not as improbable as it may sound), as well as concerts, TV, Broadway, etc. It is indicative of the man that he will probably accomplish his goals. Recognition may not be as swift, but I gathered the impression that this won't hurt him too much.

Jon seems to have unbounding faith in the ultimate triumph of goodness and embraces the beliefs of all religions. That he cand find life in every song was evident the night on the bandstand when he said, "Our next song is by Slim Gaillard, who speaks 7 languages fluently. It's entitled "Cement Mixer, Putty, Putty". And believe it or not, they made just like cement mixers . . . and they swung. The unprivileged will laugh, but those who swing . . .

Princeton Speaker

(Continued from Page 2)

and 22. The general topic will be the significant developments in Modern Europe affecting the traditional relationship between Church and State. "The basic purpose," asserted Dr. Hartman, "is to develop an association between the undergraduate majors and oustanding scholars in order to inspire us to better scholastic efforts within the academic community."

See the new Chevrolet cars, Chevy Corvairs and the new Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Campus News Briefs

Masque Is Postponed

Mr. Richard A. Duprey, Chairman of the Theater Department has announced the postponement of the Belle Masque's second production of the year, "The Matchmaker," until April 6 to April 9. The production was originally scheduled to run from March 15 to 19.

The inability to rehearse during the recent inclement weather is the reason for the postponement. The cast includes Don Murphy, John McGarry and Joann Dynakowski of Villanova, and Donna Rago of Immaculata.

This comedy by Thorton Wilder was a Broadway success, and Vasey Hall Auditorium will be the scene of the Belle Masque's presentation.

NFCCS Offers Trips

Gene Felch, Senior Delegate of NFCCS, announced that NFCCS is offering five travel programs for the 1961 summer vacation. These tours vary in length from 34 to 67 days in Europe and between 700 and 1300 dollars all inclusive charges.

The schedule is co-ordinated to include visits to all the noteworthy sights and allots time for individual exploration or for relaxation and rest. Any worries with language difficulties, schedules, or foreign monies are all taken care of by NFCCS.

The groups are open to men and women between the ages of 17 and 25 with the student electing either air or sea for his trip over to Europe depending on hi. own particular preference.

Further information concern ing the tours may be obtaine(in the Student Council Office or the second floor of Dougherty Hall from Gene Felch, John Simone, Peggy McCormick or any other member of a committee by requesting a detailed brochure.

Exam Change

(Continued from Page 1)

USN, in the absence of Captain John E. Boyle, commanding officer of the NROTC unit, said, "The proposed system would place more of a premium on basic knowledge and daily work, but to be practical we all have to realize that students always find it necessary to cram for final exams, and this would be detrimental to them." He added that he feels the only way to administer a fair final examination is to give it to all the boys at once, so that they all get the same test. He added rhetorically, "Why change from a system where there is only one problem, conflicts, to a system where there would be many?"

Dr. Lowery, of the Biology Department, is in agreement with Commander Frazier, adding, that it is easier on the student to "get it over with."

The students interviewed were not quite sure of what the proposal would mean. They asked for public elaboration on the topic before committing themselves. The administration is welcoming all opinions on the part of faculty and students which should be addressed to the office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

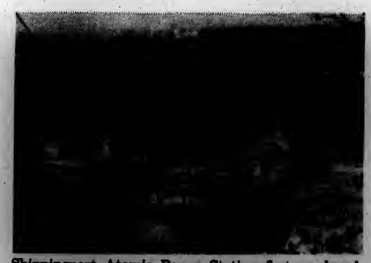
VU Officials at Conf.

Rev. Joseph J. Gildea, OSA, Vice President for Academic Affairs; Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Dean of the Graduate School; Dr. John I. McEnerney, Assistant to the Vice President of Academic Affairs and Dr. Albert Buford, Assistant Dean of the Graduate School, will represent the University during the Sixteenth National Conference on Higher Education in Chicago, March 5 to March 8.

Law Prof. on WRCV-TV

Thomas J. O'Toole, Vice Dean of the Villanova School of Law and Chairman of its Institute of Church and State, will participate in a televised panel program over station WRCV-TV on Saturday evening, February 18, beginning at 9:30 p.m. This will be part of the National Broadcasting Company's program "The Nation's Future."

NROTC Men At Pensacola



Villanova midshipmen, 37 in all, assemble for the camera during a three-day sojourn at Pensacola (Fla.) Naval Air Station. Accompanied by Rev. Edward Jenkins, OSA, Dr. Frank Manno, and Lt. Robert Zemaitis, USN, the NROTC members left Willow Grove Naval Air Station on January 25, returned to V.U. after flight training and demonstrations on January 28. (U.S. Navy Photo)

Story from Life

When does a man make the most important decision of his business career? When G. M. Oldham graduated from college in 1927 he could not have foreseen that his joining a Pennsylvania public utility would be that "most important decision." No crystal ball could have told him that his decision then would lead to his present position as superintendent of the world's first full-scale atomic power station devoted exclusively to civilian needs. But he did know that joining the progressive electric industry in Pennsylvania could mean a bright and rewarding career.

One Man's Career with a Pennsylvania Electric Utility

Shippingport Atomic Power Station first produced power on December 18, 1957. The date was a milestone for the atomic energy program, the electric industry . . . and for G. M. Oldham who, through his work in an electric utility, has become one of the leading authorities in the nation on the nuclear reactor.

The first refueling in the United States of a large-scale nuclear station took place under Oldham's supervision and presented novel problems. Shown above during the refueling process is the fuel assembly extractor crane, at the top of the photo, removing a spent fuel element from the reactor.

PENNSYLVANIA is one of the leading states in the nation in the development of atomic power generation. This field opens many new challenges for engineering graduates, including those whose special interests are physics, mathematics and chemistry. Before you make that important decision—which industry you will join—talk with your placement counselor and electric utility representatives about the opportunities for graduates in Pennsylvania's electric industry. For more information write to: P.E.A., State Street Building, Harrisburg, Pa.

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTRIC ASSOCIATION

21 Independent, Investor-Owned Electric Companies of Pennsylvania

Injury-Ridden Mile Relayers Longshots Friday

by Mike Donahue

Villanova's injury-riddled mile relay team will be cast in the unfamiliar role of underdogs Friday night at the New York A. C. Games in Madison Square Garden.

Last year in this race the crack fousome of Otie Drayton, Nick DeAngelis, Joe Manion, and Bob Raemore erased the previous meet of 3:17.9, in blazing to a 3:17.0 victory. This quartet is on hand again this year but Raemore is nursing a weak arch. In addition, an alternate starter on Jumbo Elliott's six-man four, Bobby Coffill, injured his heel in a 50 yard hurdles race at the Recreation Club meet last week. He probably will not be available for Friday night's competition.

Raemore A Possible Entry

Raemore has not been ruled hors de combat yet. His status will not be known until shortly before the meet, according to assistant coach Jim Tappeny.

"If Raemore is not able to run, though, DeAngelis will not run in both the mile and two mile relays as he did in the Inquirer Games, since they'll be run back to back." Tuppeny explained.

He was referring to the versatile senior's "double" in the Inquirer Charities meet last Friday night at Convention Hall.

DeAngelis led off the two mile relay by yielding only a few yards to Manhattan's John Cory. About 45 minutes later Nick came back to anchor the mile relay team, losing out to Morgan State's Lawson Smart because of a first turn jostle.

Poetic Justice

Poetic justice dicated the victory of Morgan State with Smart running second, had the misfo[r]tune of falling on the first turn; thus the Baltimoreans were forced to withdraw from the race thereby assuring a Villanova victory. Ironically enough, the 'Cats, who set a meet record of 3:20.3 — which Morgan State missed last week by 0.2 seconds — were anchored by Raemore.

The only win turned in by a Villanovan was Frank Budd's win in the 50 yard dash. Budd, undoubtedly the class of the indoor crop of sprinters, bested Morgan State's Paul Winder by a yard in 5.3 seconds. It was the Sheehan Olympian's fourth consecutive indoor triumph.

The most pleasant surprise of the evening for Elliott and Tuppeny was the outstanding showing of the two mile relayers. In finishing second to world record holder Manhattan, the 'Cat foursome of DeAngelis, Jerry Hackett, Jon Dante, and Pat Nicastro knocked 2.1 seconds off the Inquirer meet record in posting a 7:40.7. The Jaspers' winning-time was 7.39.5.

Hammock Nipped

Other Blue-White participants in the Annenberg track spectacular were Charlie Hammock, Pat Traynor, Rolando Cruz, Leon Pras, Al Jackman, and Vic Zwolak.

Hammock won four qualifying races in the 50 yard high hurdles and then was placed fourth in a finish in which he was separated from winner Dick Emberger by less than half a yard.

Frank Budd is a blazing blur as he seems to pull up just short of the wire in the invitation 50 yard dash at the Inquirer Charities meet last Friday. The Sheehan Olympian's fourth consecutive indoor sprint win was effected at the expense of Paul Winder (center), Ed Collymore (rear), and Jonas Spiegel.

Photo by Mike Pastore

CHEMICAL GRADUATES

ATLAS

An expanding, diversified chemical organization offers outstanding opportunity and responsibility to qualified young men at all degree levels in Chemistry and Chemical engineering.

Training through orientation and on the job assignments assist the newer members of our technical staff to adjust rapidly to the amazing and stimulating world of industrial chemistry.

Looking to the future while conquering the present is the theme of the company from the new $4 million Tech Center in Wilmington, to the laboratory and production facilities in 11 states, to the smallest sales office.

Advancement on merit, interesting projects, good salaries and a planned program of management development will all please the man on his way to a career in a dynamic company.

See your placement officer now to make an appointment with our representative who will visit your campus on March 10, 1961 to discuss your career opportunities with —

ATLAS

ATLAS Powder Company
Wilmington 99, Delaware

Is your future up in the air?

As the communications needs of our nation become steadily greater and more complex, the Bell Telephone System is continuing its pioneer work in microwave by "taking to the air" more and more to get the word across.

To this end, Western Electric—the manufacturing arm of the Bell System—has the monumental task of producing a large part of the microwave transmission equipment that knits our country together by shrinking thousands of miles into mere seconds.

In spite of its great technological strides, the science of radio relay is a rapidly-changing one. And new break-throughs and advances are common occurrences. A case in point: our Bell System "TH" Microwave Radio Relay. This newest development in long-distance telephone transmission will eventually triple the present message-carrying capacity of existing long-haul radio relay installations. A full-scale system of 6 working and 2 protection channels can handle 11,000 telephone messages at the same time.

To make microwave work takes a host of special equipment and components: relay towers, antennae, waveguides, traveling wave-tubes, transistors, etc. But just as important, it takes top-caliber people to help us broaden our horizons into such exciting new areas as communication by satellites!

And microwave is only part of Western Electric's opportunity story. We have—right now—hundreds of challenging and rewarding positions in virtually all areas of telephony, as well as in development and building of defense communications and missile guidance systems for the Government.

So, if your future is "up in the air," you owe it to your career to see "what's up" for you at Western Electric.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. For more information, get your copy of "Western Electric and Your Career" from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 6106, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Western Electric
MANUFACTURING AND SUPPLY UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM

Principal manufacturing locations at Chicago, Ill.; Kearny, N. J.; Baltimore, Md.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Allentown and Laureldale, Pa.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Buffalo, N. Y.; North Andover, Mass.; Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma City, Okla. Engineering Research Center, Princeton, N. J. Teletype Corporation, Skokie, Ill., and Little Rock, Ark. Also Western Electric distribution centers in 33 cities and installation headquarters in 16 cities. General headquarters: 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

Swimmers Lose To LaSalle To Even Season's Record

by Matt Mone

Despite near-perfect performances from Mike Powers and Don Reed, and the encouraging support of a packed gallery of partisans, Villanova's varsity mermen dropped a 56-39 decision to the LaSalle College swimmers last Wednesday night in the Field House pool.

As is often the case in a swimming meet, the seemingly overwhelming score belies the excitement and closeness of the contest. Villanova entered the meet with a 3-3 record, with wins over Rutgers, Lafayette and Fordham, while LaSalle boasted a more impressive 3-1 standing.

However, all previous performances were forgotten long before the first event got underway. Everyone knew and understood that previous performances did not mean much when Villanova and LaSalle entered an athletic contest.

Explorers Take Early Lead

Led by Neal McDonnell and Tom Duffy, LaSalle kept Villanova out of the winner's column through the first four events and built up a commanding 23-11 lead. Al Nencetti and George Robertson turned the tide in the diving event with a 1-2 sweep Nencetti's perormance, with a 59.98 total, was his best performance.

Powers, after losing to LaSalle's Herb Trefferson by a hairbreadth in the 50-yd. freestyle, came back to whip the same man by almost five yards in the 100-yd. event with a 0.54:6 clocking. This was also a season's best for Powers.

In the 440-yd. freestyle another repeat performance saw Villanova's Ed Brier face his conquerors in the 220-yd. event. Trailing LaSalle's Duffy for 15 laps, Brier put on a tremendous surge of energy for the last 100 yards to win in the record-breaking time of 5.06:5.

Round Midcourt

Writer Picks All Americans

by Joe Zawacki

HIGHLIGHTS OF A MONTH OF ROUNDBALL: OR, WHEN DOES SPRING TRAINING START? It's about that time of year when everybody and his cousin starts picking his All-American team, so not to be outdone, this corner would like to start out the 2nd semester with its own limited version. With the Palestra schedule being what it is, we had to make a few trips to the Garden to find some of the top ballplayers in the land but the results seem noteworthy. From where we sat, we liked: Jerry Lucas, Ohio State; Tom Stith, St. Bonaventure; Bill McGill, Utah; Chet Walker, Bradley; Roger Kaiser, Georgia Tech.

Not having seen the likes of Dischinger, Bellamy, Rudometkin, et al, our scope is understandably limited. Ironically, none of the fine players' teams could be induced to travel the extra 90 miles to play in the Palestra. Why?

While we're in a mood for predictions, watch for the Bonnies, Ohio State, and Bradley to reach the NCAA finals with the Bonnies revenging thier earlier loss to State. Don't scoff, unless you've seen both teams play.

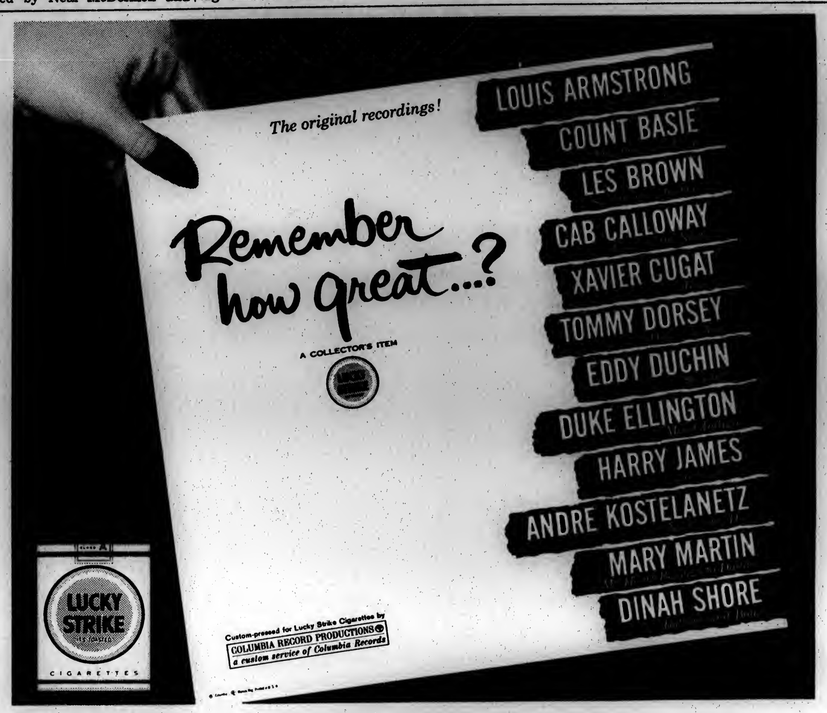
An ironic note in the Temple upset by NYU last month. Backcourtman Ray Paprocky, of the Violets, playing with a cast on his wrist, gave an exhibition of passing with the one good hand that most players can't accomplish with two . . . When a club is loaded in the backcourt, the defense generally is aimed at stopping the smaller men, often at the expense of leaving one of the big men alone. This bit of strategy brought Temple a victory over LaSalle recently at the Palestra but it cost Penn their game with the Explorers. George Freidrich broke the Quakers' back with some fancy second half shooting in the latter game but neither he nor Joe Carey could produce sufficiently against Temple to relieve the pressure on Bob McAteer and Bill Raftery . . . In the same game, McAteer hounded Bruce Drysdale of the Owls with near perfection for 40 minutes yet Drysdale's cored 30 with some jump shots that even he didn't know he had.

West Virgina's Rod Thorn ut on a sparkling two-handed jump shot exhibition against our Wildcats that backed his claim for future All-American honors, along with Duke hotshot Heyman. However, the two questionable technicals called against George King will hardly give us great treatment on our next trip to West Virginia . . . In the same game, what Philadelphia sportswriter was openly viewed by many rooting for West Virginia in their futile bid to overcome the Cats' lead? And why???

Incidentally, the same ref mentioned in the West Virginia game had the fans on his ear again in the Garden last week when he worked the Manhattan-Connecticut game . . . Connecticut, by the way, has a 26 year old backcourtman named George Uhl. Like the 'Cats' Jim Huggard, he likes to drive and is handy with the ball . . . The first half of the Villanova-St. Joe annual was the worst 20 minutes of basketball that these eyes have seen all winter. The tenseness of the Big 5 game disappeared noticably in the second half. In the same game, Hubie White led his team with a fervor that should be seen in every game by a player of his ability. Easily his best performance of the year.

How Thick Can you Be Dep't? . . . It's a wonder that someone hasn't told those fans who delight in booing or rooting against any of the other Big Five schools that they are way off the mark. I wonder if it has ever occurred to these same children that everytime a Villanovan beats a West Virginian, a Temple beats a Kentucky, or a St. Joe's beats a St. John's that the whole Big Five, collectively and individually, benefits.

Another genius is the guy who, Saturday night, said that St. Joe's Jack Egan is a gunner and a bum. Tch! Tch! Imagine being a gunner that night after shooting only 11 for 20 and being a bum who has scored a thousand points in his collego career.



Finally, it was a pleasure to hear the ovation which Memphis' Wayne Yates received upon fouling out on Saturday night. Especially after hearing some of the heckling he received after having a healing cut reopened.

Yates Adapted

Incidentally, Yates proved his mettle to this viewer when, after two fine blocks by Hubie White, he moved to the corner on orders from Coach Bob Vanetta and displayed a beautiful touch for a man of his proportions.

Had Canisius' Bill O'Connor worked for his shots half as hard last Wednesday in the second half, he would have helped his own cause as well as his team's much more than he did.

Still on Saturday's game, Memphis showed much poise in dissipating the 'Cats' early lead, despite many mechanical mistakes they made. Fortunately for our side, Huggard's second-half hot hand offset White's poor night to keep us in the game.

Get these twelve great original recordings—in one 12" LP album—for $1.00 and ten empty Lucky Strike packs!

Custom-pressed by Columbia for Lucky Strike—an album of unforgettable hits!

Look at this album. Imagine these 12 great artists, great hits together on one record! Here are the original recordings—magnificently reproduced by Columbia Record Productions ($3.98 value). Never before have all these great artists been brought together in one album! Never before have you been able to buy these great hits at such a bargain price! To get your album, fill in and mail the shipping label at right with $1.00 and ten empty Lucky Strike packs to "Remember How Great," P. O. Box 3600, Spring Park, Minnesota.

REMEMBER HOW GREAT CIGARETTES USED TO TASTE? LUCKIES STILL DO

©THE AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.

Remove cellophane—open packs top and bottom—remove inner foil wrap—tear packs down side. Button, and mail with $1.00 and shipping label.

To get "Remember How Great" album, enclose and mail $1.00 and 10 empty Lucky Strike packs, together with filled-in shipping label. Please print clearly. Orders received after May 31, 1961, will not be honored. If sending check or money order, make payable to "Remember How Great."

SHIPPING LABEL

"Remember How Great"
P. O. Box 3600
Spring Park, Minnesota

TO
YOUR NAME _____ (PRINT YOUR NAME HERE)
STREET _____
CITY _____ ZONE _____ STATE _____

Offer good only in U. S. A. and Puerto Rico.

Irrepressible Hubie White glides between Memphis State's Wayne Yates and Gene Wilfong enroutt to a field goal Saturday night during the first half of the heartbreaker. Tuesday night, despite White's 24 points and Jim Huggard's career high of 30, the 'Cats careened to their ninth loss at Seton Hall.

Photo by Bob Sherman

Land of Dixie Is Scene For Hopeful 'Cats "Must" Games

Villanova's lone shot at a bid from the National Invitational Tournament lies south of the Mason-Dixon Line this week as the 'Cats invade Dixie to tangle with Wake Forest and North Carolina State.

The Slumping Deacons of Wake Forest will present the opposition on Saturday at Greensboro, N.C. Most recently Wake Forest has suffered a most disastrous losing streak including back-to-back Atlantic Coast Conference losses to Duke, 90-100, and North Carolina, 78-93.

Last year the Demon Deacons romped to a 89-70 victory over Villanova as Len Chappell poured in 20 and Billy Packer 26 as sophs in a game at Winston-Salem.

Chappell Only A Junior

Chappell, a sure-fire All-American, was a unanimous pick as center on the All-A.C.C. team last year. The massive 6-8, 240 pound junior averaged 17.4 ppg and grabbed off an average of 12.5 rebounds per game last season.

Packer, a 5-11 guard, who averaged 13.0 ppg, teams up with Alley Hart, 5-11, to give the Deacons an excellent backcourt duo.

Fiery coach, Horace "Bones" McKinney, also has 6-5 Bill Fennell, 6-8 Jerry Steele, and 6-3 Tom McCoy returning from last year's Dixie Classic championship team.

When Villanova makes a return flight south to oppose North Carolina State, an Alexander, Severance coached Wildcat team will meet Everett Case's Wolfpack for the last time brought about by the announced retirement of Severance.

Wolfpack Unpredictable

N. C. State has been an unpredictable team this year but upset a good Duke team February 7 for a big A.C.C. victory. Earlier this season in the Dixie Classic, the Wildcats used a superior comeback, being down 17 points at the half, to upend the host team in the tourney, 82-73.

Veteran coach Case's team features 6-6 Philadelphia senior Bob DiStefano who averaged 12.7 ppg, and 9.7 rpg, Captain Stan Niewierowski 6-4 senior and Anton Muhlbauer 6-2 junior, both from Brooklyn, N.Y.

In the backcourt will probably be Bob McCann 6-0 and Jon Ed Sinbeck 6-3; and as added board strength the Wolfpack boasts 6-6 Bruce Hoadley and 6-6 Russ Marvel—all of whom are lettermen.

The game is scheduled for next Thursday at the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum (cap. 12,400) home of the red and white clad Wolfpack in Raleigh, N.C.

'Cats Clout Canisius Cagers, Tumble To Taller Tigers

by Dan Grove

The past week fans saw the tournament ambitions of the Villanova Wildcats rise to the heights and then fall back into what is now almost oblivion.

Last Wednesday the 'Cats turned on the gas in the final 11 minutes and left a good Canisius club in their wake, while enroute to a 108-77 win.

Saturday night the 'Cats gave their all against a tall hot shooting Memphis State team that hit when it counted often enough to win, 78-74.

Against Canisius the 'Cats played just a little bit better than they had to for the first 29 minutes. Then with the score 63-59, Villanova, the Severancemen were ignited by a spark that unleashed the might of the Main Line arsenal. When the dust settled, they were the impressive winners over a good club. Hubie White and Tom Galia led the hot-shooting Main Liners. White had a Palestra season high of 34; sophomore Galia hit 8 for 10 from the floor to wind up with 18 big markers.

Co-captains Jim Huggard and Rich Kaminski led the nets for 17 apiece while Hug added 10 assists to an already sharp exhibition.

Soph Bill O'Connor was Canisius' big gun with 21 points in the first half. His performance was somewhat muffled when coach Severance switched the 'Cats to a man to man defense at the start of the second half.

Hubie White played O'Connor close and held him to nine points, most of which came on tap-ins after the verdict was sealed. His 34 points tied a Palestra season high for visiting players.

The 'Cats shot a hot 55.9% for the game. The most heartening thing about the whole performance was the use of a man-to-man defense which is conducive to a running game than a zone. This will be employed a lot from now on by the small Wildcats who must run to win.

Memphis State, one of the biggest aggregations to grace the Palestra hardwood for a while, was just too big and smart for the Villanovans Saturday night. The Tigers, recipients of the first NIT bid, moved in front by six points at halftime and stayed there despite Hug's 20 point second half spree.

Wayne Yates, a 6-8 behemoth, who's been running into foul trouble all year, exhibited how a big man should play as he hit alternately from in close and outside for 25 points. His worth didn't end there, however, as he cleared the boards 23 times.

The 'Cats pulled up close once early in the second half, 51-49. The tourney-bound Tigers seemed to look over their shoulders and put on that little extra burst that makes a good team.

The 'Cats never gave up even after Memphis State broke their hearts with two 10 point flurries. For the second straight game Villanova played man-to-man. As in the Canisius game it worked well. The overall height advantage that gave the Tennesseans a decided edge on both boards plus Yates' hot hands were the Hub's poor night from the floor (4-25) and you have Saturday's story.

Sports Chatter

Questions, Questions

by Mike Donahue

In the last few weeks three happenings on the Villanova athletic scene have occasioned the firing of many penetrating and telling questions at members of the athletic family by outsiders.

"Does the appointment of Father Curran mean that Villanova will never agree to a home-and-home series with Montana State.?" wondered a Butte alumnus, ruefully.

"Is it true that the disappointing showing by the basketball team to date means that the school will drop the sport and replace it with j'ai alai?," a Honolulu grad queried, hopefully.

Agostini Indictment

"Alluding to the Agostini indictment of Villanova's "shamateurish practices," is there any truth to the rumor that Ron Delany came to Villanova only because Jim Tuppeny promised him the use of his private United Airlines DC-7 to fly home on alternate Wednesdays?," stormed an official of Eastern Airlines, pietistically.

If "outsiders" can take such an avid interest in Villanova's internal athletic affairs leave us, too, wax inquisitive.

Whatever happened to G. David Schine?

Wouldn't Bernie Chavis increase the effectiveness of his jump shot if he 1) didn't "telegraph" it by taking a long step and then turning his body before releasing it, and 2) drove more as he did so successfully as a freshman. Wouldn't such improvement coupled with his fantastic ability to position himself for rebounds make him the sorely needed third all-around threat in the 'Cat lineup?

Musn't Richie Kaminski's twisting layup in the St. Joe's game make him the equal of LaSalle's Bobby McAteer when it comes to body control shots?

Whatever happened to Henry Cabot Lodge?

Didn't Sports Illustrated's failure to consult the people at Villanova impugned by Mike Agostini in his "expose" of "shamateurish" track practices lower the prestige value of SI and not the prestige value of Messrs Elliott and Tuppeny and Villanova athletics in general? If SI had taken the effort to corroborate some of the phony sounding details of Agostini's disjointed lament and had they sought out the Villanova coaches for their side of the story, would Agostini's confession be unpublished today?

Whatever happened to Roy (Cut 'n Shoot) Harris?

Doesn't the announcement by high school two-miler Dick Hyland (St. Peters, Jersey City) that he leans toward Villanova as his future loping grounds prove that nothing succeeds like consecutive indoor and outdoor IC4A crowns?

It also proves that the many extra-curricular hours devoted to creating an impressive image (not by under the table grants in aid, SI notwithstanding) by Elliott and Tuppeny pay-off by inducing boys of championship caliber to enroll at V. U. Don't be surprised to see in addition to Hyland, two of the country's top high-school-middle-distance runners at Villanova come next September.

Whatever happened to the Bauer Sisters?

P.S.

For the definitive essay on Coach Severance read Milton Cope's article in the January issue of True Magazine. Unlike other Severance scholars, Cope does not satisfy himself with merely reprinting the text of one of our mentor's perorations. Rather he probes into Severance's "modus operandi" regarding coaching in all phases. In fact, it's downright enlightening. An intensive reading of Cope's masterpiece is just liable to result in many defections on the part of numerous Severance detractors, who in these days, ripe with strife, are becoming legion.

Whatever happened to Genghis Khan?

"Twoscore & Five Years Ago . . ."

"As Cicero put it . . . ", expounds retiring mentor Al Severance at the Sportswriter Luncheon last Thursday afternoon at the Penn Sherwood hotel. Sports editor Jack Wilson of the Philadelphia BULLETIN reflects on the Latin passage cited by the Silver Fox. Tucked in Severance's left-hand pocket is the first copy of the VILLANOVAN, which "broke" the story of the coach's retirement.

Villanovan

VOL. 36—NO. 15 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. MARCH 2, 1961

Belle Masque Selects 'The Matchmaker' For April Presentation

Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker" will be presented by Belle Masque during the first week in April. Director of the play, Mr. Richard A. Duprey, chairman of the Theatre Department, has introduced new blood to support the more experienced thespians in order to encourange more participation in theatre.

Veteran Belle Masque, John McGarry, is cast in the male lead as Mr. Vandergelder. McGarry, a senior here at Villanova, starred in "The Country Girl" last November. The female lead will be handled by newcomer Donna Rago, a sophomore from Immaculata who has experience in summer stock. Miss Rago is cast as Mrs. Levi.

The other veteran players are Jack Milton and Joanne Dynakowski. Newcomers in more prominent roles are Immaculata sophomores, Lois Leiden and Patt Williams. The stage manager for the spring production is William Allard. His stage crew chief will be Mike D'Alonzo. Handling the publicity campaign is Bill Freind.

New Bloodors

The male "New-bloodors" are Peter Smith, Donald Murphy, Eugene Corcoran, John Futre, Paul Norton, Jim Brennan, and Michael Ferrarra. Female newcomers, all Villanova nurses, are Lorraine Birkhols, Nina DiJoseph, and Kathleen Roos.

"The Matchmakers" concerns the merry adventures, or misadventures, of two young clerks who sneak away from their counters at Vandergelder's General Store in Yonkers for a day in New York City. It will be held in Vasey Auditorium on the evenings of April 6-9.

Belle Masque president, Paul Breen, had the following comments: "This is a show the whole organization is excited about, and one we have been waiting to do for a long time. I am especially happy at the turnout of new faces at auditions.

Varsity baseball coach Arthur L. Mahan was appointed Director of Athletics at Villanova replacing Francis X. Reagan, it was announced yesterday by University officials.

The release of Reagan "Is no reflection of his ability to do the job," a University spokesman said. "It came about as part of the overall policy adjustment. He takes with him the very best wishes of the University."

Red Cross Blood Drive

The Wayne Chapter of the American Red Cross is presently supervising the donation of whole blood by Villanovan students in Alumni Hall Gym. In return, the students are being guaranteed complete fulfillment of their entire family's blood needs for one year.

Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President, listens as Villanova Law Dean, Harold G. Reuschlein (left) and Will Maslow, Executive Director of the American Jewish Congress discuss point of law prior to Maslow's appearance before Law Forum last Tuesday night, Feb. 21. "Public School Desegregation in the North" was the subject of the New York lawyer's talk in the fifth session of the Forum.

March 17 Named Free Day At "State of Union" Session

The Student Council held its first meeting of the semester on Wednesday, February 13. The meeting, highlighted by two speeches, was further sparked by discussion about the free day, the proposed revision of the examination schedule, and the resignation of Bob Scalia, former Alumni Representative.

Bob DeLisa, Chairman of the Student Council, opened the meeting with an unprecedented "State of the Union" address in which he called for greater unity among the students, the faculty, and the administration. He said that the three groups should cultivate a sense of awareness and cooperation among them for their mutual advancement.

Complete coverage of the speech was given in the preceding issue of the VILLANOVAN (Vol. 36, No. 14.)

Development Foundation

Following his talk, Chairman DeLisa introduced Clem Birch of the Villanova Development Foundation. Birch, a 1958 graduate of Villanova, explained the purpose and work of the Development Foundation, which recently moved its offices from Suburban Station to Austin Hall.

He also outlined the University's expansion in the past 15 years, its method of fund-raising by means of the Development Foundation, its outstanding expenses, and some of the plans for Villanova's future.

Mr. Birch's talk was followed by a question-and-answer period from the Council floor.

Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice-President of Educational Affairs, announced that the Academic Affairs Committee has secured several prominent speakers for the upcoming Student Council Forums. He stated that the names of these speakers will be announced as soon as definite dates are set for the Forums.

Outdoor graduation will be a reality this year, weather permitting, according to Strazzella. Fifteen tickets will be issued for outdoor ceremonies but only three, specifically designated, can be used if the proceedings take place indoors.

(Continued on Page 8)

Sears Employee Wills $150,000 To VU For Student Loans

A scholarship fund for students at Villanova University is to be set up from the entire estate of James L. Powers, a retired employee in the paint division of Sears Roebuck and Co.

The estate is estimated for probate at $150,000 in personal property and $10,000 realty.

Powers, a bachelor who lived at 1978 W. Cheltenham Avenue, died January 22. He was 65 and had retired about three years ago.

His single-page will directs that his entire estate be given to Villanova "to be used for loans to deserving and worthy undergraduate students . . . at the discretion of the scholarship board."

Non-Interest Loans

It directs that the loans are to be repaid without interest, also at the discretion of the board, and that the fund be a memorial to his parents, James A. and Mary A. Powers.

Villanova officials indicated that more than 200 students a year could receive financial aid as a result of Mr. Powers' generosity. The Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., called the "James A. and Mary A. Powers Scholarship Fund, a wonderful gesture of charity which will give countless young people the opportunity for an education they might not otherwise have been able to obtain."

'De Facto' Segregation Exists In North — Maslow

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

Last Tuesday night, Will Maslow, prominent New York attorney and executive director of the American Jewish Congress, explored the problem of public school segregation in the North.

Mr. Maslow cited sociologists' statistics which conclude that school segregation may be considered to exist when more than ninety per cent of a student body is non-white. He stated that there are several major cities in the North in which this problem is present. Among these cities are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Philadelphia.

Mr. Maslow declared that "Hundreds of thousands more Negro children living in Northern cities attend segregated schools than go to segregated schools in Southern metropolitan areas."

Different Segregation

Attorney Maslow stated that, "the pratices of segregation that exist in the North are quite different than those that exist in the South." Maslow declared that the practices used to bring about and maintain segregation in the North include gerrymandering of school districts, arbitrary school-site selection, transfer policies, arbitrary policies of school utilization, and "culpable inaction" of school boards in permitting a school to become desegregated.

These policies of "de facto" segregation may be held unlawful, Mr. Maslow stated, "even if the words 'race' or 'Negro' are scrupuously avoided in official declarations."

The United States Supreme Court ruling that school segregation "has a tendency to retard the educational and mental development of Negro children" was not limited to segregation imposed by law," Mr. Maslow continued.

He described three methods which could be used effectively to eliminate "de facto" school segregation in the North: the "open enrollment policy", which gives pupils the option of transferring to schools outside the neighborhood which have room for them; the "Princeton plan", which reclassifies schools so that predominently white or Negro schools would achieve genuine integration; and permissive bussing, by which students from over-crowded schools can be transported to underutilized schools.

"By breaking with the traditional requirement that children attend schools in their neighborhoods," Mr. Maslow declared, "school boards have a unique opportunity to provide equal education for all the children entrusted to them."

Heated Debate Marks Freshmen Council Nomination Sessions

A record turnout of members of the class of '64 flocked to the polls in Dougherty Hall spurred by heated "backroom" politics unprecedented in the annals of Villanova freshman classes.

Results of the lection of one resident and one dayhop student council representative who will serve until the end of their sophomore year were not available as the VILLANOVAN went to press.

The election itself, however, was an anticlimax to the furor which preceded it.

One week ago, nominations for the positions were held in Vasey Hall. After the meeting was closed, a fraction of the class entered the room, contended that they had been mislead to the whereabouts of the meeting and demanded that the nominations be reopened. This motion was denied by a majority of the class members present.

As a result, furor erupted with charges of political nepotism, incompetency, on the part of the elections committee, unconstitutionality of procedure, and unethical politics being hurled among the various protagonists.

(Continued from Page 8)

Honor Frat Nominees

Members of Delta Epsilon Sigma pose dignifiedly with moderator Rev. Robert Sullivan, OSA. Front row (left to right) are Tim McNamar; Doctor John McClain, Chairman, Biology Dept.; Father Sullivan; Dr. John McEneaney, special assistant to Rev. Joseph Gilden, OSA; and Jim Strazzela. Back row includes Joe Remy, Jack McDonnell, Ted 'Boundas, Jim McGill, Charles Weaver, Lou Retacco, Mike Donahue, Rick Gormley, Mike Wesley and Paul O'Rourke. Absent members of DES include Tom Samulewics, Dennis Lynch, Bob Kerr, John Judson, and Tom Kennedy.

(Photo By Frank Matunis)

Irrepressible Hubie White glides between Memphis State's Wayne Yates and Gene Wilfong enroutt to a field goal Saturday night during the first half of the heartbreaker. Tuesday night, despite White's 24 points and Jim Huggard's career high of 30, the 'Cats careened to their ninth loss at Seton Hall.

Photo by Bob Sherman

Land of Dixie Is Scene For Hopeful 'Cats "Must" Games

Villanova's lone shot at a bid from the National Invitational Tournament lies south of the Mason-Dixon Line this week as the 'Cats invade Dixie to tangle with Wake Forest and North Carolina State.

The Slumping Deacons of Wake Forest will present the opposition on Saturday at Greensboro, N.C. Most recently Wake Forest has suffered a most disastrous losing streak including back-to-back Atlantic Coast Conference losses to Duke, 90-100, and North Carolina, 78-93.

Last year the Demon Deacons romped to a 89-70 victory over Villanova as Len Chappell poured in 20 and Billy Packer 26 as sophs in a game at Winston-Salem.

Chappell Only A Junior

Chappell, a sure-fire All-American, was a unanimous pick as center on the All-A.C.C. team last year. The massive 6-8, 240 pound junior averaged 17.4 ppg and grabbed off an average of 12.5 rebounds per game last season.

Packer, a 5-11 guard, who averaged 13.0 ppg, teams up with Alley Hart, 5-11, to give the Deacons an excellent backcourt duo.

Fiery coach, Horace "Bones" McKinney, also has 6-5 Bill Fennell, 6-8 Jerry Steele, and 6-3 Tom McCoy returning from last year's Dixie Classic championship team.

When Villanova makes a return flight south to oppose North Carolina State, an Alexander, Severance coached Wildcat team will meet Everett Case's Wolfpack for the last time brought about by the announced retirement of Severance.

Wolfpack Unpredictable

N. C. State has been an unpredictable team this year but upset a good Duke team February 7 for a big A.C.C. victory. Earlier this season in the Dixie Classic, the Wildcats used a superior comeback, being down 17 points at the half, to upend the host team in the tourney, 82-73.

Veteran coach Case's team features 6-6 Philadelphia senior Bob DiStefano who averaged 12.7 ppg, and 9.7 rpg, Captain Stan Niewierowski 6-4 senior and Anton Muhlbauer 6-2 junior, both from Brooklyn, N.Y.

In the backcourt will probably be Bob McCann 6-0 and Jon Ed Sinbeck 6-3; and as added board strength the Wolfpack boasts 6-6 Bruce Hoadley and 6-6 Russ Marvel—all of whom are lettermen.

The game is scheduled for next Thursday at the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum (cap. 12,400) home of the red and white clad Wolfpack in Raleigh, N.C.

'Cats Clout Canisius Cagers, Tumble To Taller Tigers

by Dan Grove

The past week fans saw the tournament ambitions of the Villanova Wildcats rise to the heights and then fall back into what is now almost oblivion.

Last Wednesday the 'Cats turned on the gas in the final 11 minutes and left a good Canisius club in their wake, while enroute to a 108-77 win.

Saturday night the 'Cats gave their all against a tall hot shooting Memphis State team that hit when it counted often enough to win, 78-74.

Against Canisius the 'Cats played just a little bit better than they had to for the first 29 minutes. Then with the score 63-39, Villanova, the Severancemen were ignited by a spark that unleashed the might of the Main Line arsenal. When the dust settled, they were the impressive winners over a good club. Hubie White and Tom Galia led the hot-shooting Main Liners. White had a Palestra season high of 34; sophomore Galia hit 8 for 10 from the floor to wind up with 18 big markers.

Co-captains Jim Huggard and Rich Kaminski led the nets for 17 apiece while Hug added 10 assists to an already sharp exhibition.

Soph Bill O'Connor was Canisius big gun with 21 points in the first half. His performance was somewhat muffled when coach Severance switched the 'Cats to a man to man defense at the start of the second half.

Hubie White played O'Connor close and held him to nine points, most of which came on tap-ins after the verdict was sealed. His 34 points tied a Palestra season high for visiting players.

The 'Cats shot a hot 55.9% for the game. The most heartening thing about the whole performance was the use of a man-to-man defense which is conducive to a running game than a zone. This will be employed a lot from now on by the small Wildcats who must run to win.

Memphis State, one of the biggest aggregations to grace the Palestra hardwood for a while, was just too big and smart for the Villanovans Saturday night. The Tigers, recipients of the first NIT bid, moved in front by six points at halftime and stayed there despite Hug's 20 point second half spree.

Wayne Yates, a 6-8 behemoth, who's been running into foul trouble all year, exhibited how a big man should play as he hit alternately from in close and outside for 25 points. His worth didn't end there, however, as he cleared the boards 23 times.

The 'Cats pulled up close once early in the second half, 51-49. The tourney-bound Tigers seemed to look over their shoulders and put on that little extra burst that makes a good team.

The 'Cats never gave up even after Memphis State broke their hearts with two 10 point flurries. For the second straight game Villanova played man-to-man. As in the Canisius game it worked well. The overall height advantage that gave the Tennesseans a decided edge on both boards plus Yates' hot hands were the Hub's poor night from the floor (4-25) and you have Saturday's story.

Sports Chatter

Questions, Questions

by Mike Donahue

In the last few weeks three happenings on the Villanova athletic scene have occasioned the firing of many penetrating and telling questions at members of the athletic family by outsiders.

"Does the appointment of Father Curran mean that Villanova will never agree to a home-and-home series with Montana State.?" wondered a Butte alumnus, ruefully.

"Is it true that the disappointing showing by the basketball team to date means that the school will drop the sport and replace it with j'ai alai?," a Honolulu grad queried, hopefully.

Agostini Indictment

"Alluding to the Agostini indictment of Villanova's "shamateurish practices," is there any truth to the rumor that Ron Delany came to Villanova only because Jim Tuppeny promised him the use of his private United Airlines DC-7 to fly home on alternate Wednesdays?," stormed an official of Eastern Airlines, pietistically.

If "outsiders" can take such an avid interest in Villanova's internal athletic affairs leave us, too, wax inquisitive.

Whatever happened to G. David Schine?

Wouldn't Bernie Chavis increase the effectiveness of his jump shot if he 1) didn't "telegraph" it by taking a long step and then turning his body before releasing it, and 2) drove more as he did so successfully as a freshman. Wouldn't such improvement coupled with his fantastic ability to position himself for rebounds make him the sorely needed third all-around threat in the 'Cat lineup?

Musn't Richie Kaminski's twisting layup in the St. Joe's game make him the equal of LaSalle's Bobby McAteer when it comes to body control shots?

Whatever happened to Henry Cabot Lodge?

Didn't Sports Illustrated's failure to consult the people at Villanova impugned by Mike Agostini in his "expose" of "shamateurish" track practices lower the prestige value of SI and not the prestige value of Messrs Elliott and Tuppeny and Villanova athletics in general? If SI had taken the effort to corroborate some of the phony sounding details of Agostini's disjointed lament and had they sought out the Villanova coaches for their side of the story, would Agostini's confession be unpublished today?

Whatever happened to Roy (Cut 'n Shoot) Harris?

Doesn't the announcement by high school two-miler Dick Hyland (St. Peters, Jersey City) that he leans toward Villanova as his future loping grounds prove that nothing succeeds like consecutive indoor and outdoor IC4A crowns?

It also proves that the many extra-curricular hours devoted to creating an impressive image (not by under the table grants in aid, SI notwithstanding) by Elliott and Tuppeny pay-off by inducing boys of championship caliber to enroll at V. U. Don't be surprised to see in addition to Hyland, two of the country's top high-school-middle-distance runners at Villanova come next September.

Whatever happened to the Bauer Sisters?

P.S.

For the definitive essay on Coach Severance read Milton Cope's article in the January issue of True Magazine. Unlike other Severance scholars, Cope does not satisfy himself with merely reprinting the text of one of our mentor's perorations. Rather he probes into Severance's "modus operandi" regarding coaching in all phases. In fact, it's downright enlightening. An intensive reading of Cope's masterpiece is just liable to result in many defections on the part of numerous Severance detractors, who in these days, ripe with strife, are becoming legion.

Whatever happened to Genghis Khan?

"Twoscore & Five Years Ago . . ."

"As Cicero put it . . . ", expounds retiring mentor Al Severance at the Sportswriter Luncheon last Thursday afternoon at the Penn Sherwood hotel. Sports editor Jack Wilson of the Philadelphia BULLETIN reflects on the Latin passage cited by the Silver Fox. Tucked in Severance's left-hand pocket is the first copy of the VILLANOVAN, which "broke" the story of the coach's retirement.

Villanovan

VOL. 36—NO. 15 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. MARCH 2, 1961

Belle Masque Selects 'The Matchmaker' For April Presentation

Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker" will be presented by Belle Masque during the first week in April. Director of the play, Mr. Richard A. Duprey, chairman of the Theatre Department, has introduced new blood to support the more experienced thespians in order to encourange more participation in theatre.

Veteran Belle Masque, John McGarry, is cast in the male lead as Mr. Vandergelder. McGarry, a senior here at Villanova, starred in "The Country Girl" last November. The female lead will be handled by newcomer Donna Rago, a sophomore from Immaculata who has experience in summer stock. Miss Rago is cast as Mrs. Levi.

The other veteran players are Jack Milton and Joanne Dynakowski. Newcomers in more prominent roles are Immaculata sophomores, Lois Leiden and Patt Williams. The stage manager for the spring production is William Allard. His stage crew chief will be Mike D'Alonzo. Handling the publicity campaign is Bill Freind.

New Blooders

The male "New-blooders" are Peter Smith, Donald Murphy, Eugene Corcoran, John Putre, Paul Norton, Jim Brennan, and Michael Ferrarra. Female newcomers, all Villanova nurses, are Lorraine Birkholz, Nina DiJoseph, and Kathleen Roos.

"The Matchmakers" concerns the merry adventures, or misadventures, of two young clerks who sneak away from their counters at Vandergelder's General Store in Yonkers for a day in New York City. It will be held in Vasey Auditorium on the evenings of April 6-9.

Belle Masque president, Paul Breen, had the following comments: "This is a show the whole organization is excited about, and one we have been waiting to do for a long time. I am especially happy at the turnout of new faces at auditions.

Varsity baseball coach Arthur L. Mahan was appointed Director of Athletics at Villanova replacing Francis X. Reagan, it was announced yesterday by University officials.

The release of Reagan "Is no reflection of his ability to do the job," a University spokesman said. "It came about as part of the overall policy adjustment. He takes with him the very best wishes of the University."

Red Cross Blood Drive

The Wayne Chapter of the American Red Cross is presently supervising the donation of whole blood by Villanovan students in Alumni Hall Gym. In return, the students are being guaranteed complete fulfillment of their entire family's blood needs for one year.

Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President, listens as Villanova Law Dean, Harold G. Reuschlein (left) and Will Maslow, Executive Director of the American Jewish Congress discuss point of law prior to Maslow's appearance before Law Forum last Tuesday night, Feb. 21. "Public School Desegregation in the North" was the subject of the New York lawyer's talk in the fifth session of the Forum.

March 17 Named Free Day At "State of Union" Session

The Student Council held its first meeting of the semester on Wednesday, February 13. The meeting, highlighted by two speeches, was further sparked by discussion about the free day, the proposed revision of the examination schedule, and the resignation of Bob Scalla, former Alumni Representative.

Bob DeLisa, Chairman of the Student Council, opened the meeting with an unprecedented "State of the Union" address in which he called for greater unity among the students, the faculty, and the administration. He said that the three groups should cultivate a sense of awareness and cooperation among them for their mutual advancement.

Complete coverage of the speech was given in the preceding issue of the VILLANOVAN (Vol. 36, No. 14.)

Development Foundation

Following his talk, Chairman DeLisa introduced Clem Birch of the Villanova Development Foundation. Birch, a 1958 graduate of Villanova, explained the purpose and work of the Development Foundation, which recently moved its offices from Suburban Station to Austin Hall.

He also outlined the University's expansion in the past 15 years, its method of fund-raising by means of the Development Foundation, its outstanding expenses, and some of the plans for Villanova's future.

Mr. Birch's talk was followed by a question-and-answer period from the Council floor.

Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice-President of Educational Affairs, announced that the Academic Affairs Committee has secured several prominent speakers for the upcoming Student Council Forums. He stated that the names of these speakers will be announced as soon as definite dates are set for the Forums.

Outdoor graduation will be a reality this year, weather permitting, according to Strazzella. Fifteen tickets will be issued for outdoor ceremonies but only three, specifically designated, can be used if the proceedings take place indoors.

(Continued on Page 8)

Sears Employee Wills $150,000 To VU For Student Loans

A scholarship fund for students at Villanova University is to be set up from the entire estate of James L. Powers, a retired employee in the paint division of Sears Roebuck and Co.

The estate is estimated for probate at $150,000 in personal property and $10,000 realty.

Powers, a bachelor who lived at 1978 W. Cheltenham Avenue, died January 22. He was 65 and had retired about three years ago.

His single-page will directs that his entire estate be given to Villanova "to be used for loans to deserving and worthy undergraduate students . . . at the discretion of the scholarship board."

Non-Interest Loans

It directs that the loans are to be repaid without interest, also at the discretion of the board, and that the fund be a memorial to his parents, James A. and Mary A. Powers.

Villanova officials indicated that more than 200 students a year could receive financial aid as a result of Mr. Powers' generosity. The Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., called the "James A. and Mary A. Powers Scholarship Fund, a wonderful gesture of charity which will give countless young people the opportunity for an education they might not otherwise have been able to obtain."

'De Facto' Segregation Exists In North — Maslow

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

Last Tuesday night, Will Maslow, prominent New York attorney and executive director of the American Jewish Congress, explored the problem of public school segregation in the North.

Mr. Maslow cited sociologists' statistics which conclude that school segregation may be considered to exist when more than ninety per cent of a student body is non-white. He stated that there are several major cities in the North in which this problem is present. Among these cities are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Philadelphia.

Mr. Maslow declared that "Hundreds of thousands more Negro children living in Northern cities attend segregated schools than go to segregated schools in Southern metropolitan areas."

Different Segregation

Attorney Maslow stated that "the pratices of segregation that exist in the North are quite different than those that exist in the South." Maslow declared that the practices used to bring about and maintain segregation in the North include gerrymandering of school districts, arbitrary school-site selection, transfer policies, arbitrary policies of school utilization, and "culpable inaction" of school boards in permitting a school to become desegregated.

These policies of "de facto" segregation may be held unlawful, Mr. Maslow stated, "even if the words 'race' or 'Negro' are scrupulously avoided in official declarations."

The United States Supreme Court ruling that school segregation "has a tendency to retard the educational and mental development of Negro children" was not limited to segregation imposed by law," Mr. Maslow continued.

He described three methods which could be used effectively to eliminate "de facto" school segregation in the North: the "open enrollment policy", which gives pupils the option of transferring to schools outside the neighborhood which have room for them; the "Princeton plan", which reclassifies schools so that predominently white or Negro schools would achieve genuine integration; and permissive bussing, by which students from over-crowded schools can be transported to underutilized schools.

"By breaking with the traditional requirement that children attend schools in their neighborhoods," Mr. Maslow declared, "school boards have a unique opportunity to provide equal education for all the children entrusted to them."

Heated Debate Marks Freshmen Council Nomination Sessions

A record turnout of members of the class of '64 flocked to the polls in Dougherty Hall spurred by heated "backroom" politics unprecedented in the annals of Villanova freshman classes.

Results of the lection of one resident and one dayhop student council representative who will serve until the end of their sophomore year were not available as the VILLANOVAN went to press.

The election itself, however, was an anticlimax to the furor which preceded it.

One week ago, nominations for the positions were held in Vasey Hall. After the meeting was closed, a fraction of the class entered the room, contended that they had been mislead to the whereabouts of the meeting and demanded that the nominations be reopened. This motion was denied by a majority of the class members present.

As a result, furor erupted with charges of political nepotism, incompetency, on the part of the elections committee, unconstitutionality of procedure, and unethical politics being hurled among the various protagonists.

(Continued from Page 8)

Honor Frat Nominees

Members of Delta Epsilon Sigma pose dignifiedly with moderator Rev. Robert Sullivan, OSA. Front row (left to right) are Tim McNamar; Doctor John McClain, Chairman, Biology Dept.; Father Sullivan; Dr. John McEneaney, special assistant to Rev. Joseph Gilden, OSA; and Jim Strazzela. Back row includes Joe Remy, Jack McDonnell, Ted 'Boundas, Jim McGill, Charles Weaver, Lou Retacco, Mike Donahue, Rick Gormley, Mike Wesley and Paul O'Rourke. Absent members of DES include Tom Samulewicz, Dennis Lynch, Bob Kerr, John Judson, and Tom Kennedy.

(Photo By Frank Matunis)

SAM Discusses New Plans; Noted Speakers Engaged

John Drees, president of the Villanova chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management, has announced the second semester schedule.

An array of field trips is planned. The seniors who attended a luncheon-field trip at Yale and Towne may be permitted to attend other trips after underclassmen have been accepted. Planned trips include the following: Budd Manufacturing, Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton, Midvale Steel and Du Pont.

Speakers Planned

Two speakers are planned for the month of March. The first on March 3 at 10:30 will be Mr. George Fellmeth, chief industrial engineer of Yale and Towne Mfg. Co. who formerly taught at Villanova as a member of the Industrial Administration staff. The second speaker is the public relations officer for the Philco Corp. His topic will be the role of public relations in an industrial society.

Motivation in industry will be the topic at the March meeting of the Philadelphia chapter of the National S.A.M. at the Poor Richard Club on March 7. The evening has been designated as "President's Night" and all local university chapter presidents will be the guests of the area chapter.

Smoker Slated

Social co-chairmen Tom McKale and Joe Gallo announced that a smoker will be held in April to introduce the freshmen to the I.A. dept. and its goals.

Joe Hellenbrand, chapter representative, reported that the area conference, which is to be held at Drexel, will center on the role the computer will play in modern industry. The effects of its use, future, and social impact will be discussed. Highlight of the conference will be the use of a computer for a business game. Tickets are available from any officer.

Incentive Awards

Secretary Dan Luango reported the establishment of two incentive awards in recognition of outstanding members of the organization. An award of a savings bond will be presented to the senior with the highest average who is also active in the organization. The second award, also of a savings bond will be made to the member who has made the most significant contribution to the chapter.

Jim Tulley, editor of the chapter's newsletter, announced that the national chapter has recognized the newsletter as a significant contribution to the chapter and of noteworthy praise. According to Mike Alba, associate editor, the newsletter will appear four times during the coming semester.

Bob Barone, vice president, has announced that the elections for new officers have been moved to April 20 to permit the incoming officers to become fully familiar with the operations of the organization.

Bathgate Reveals Scalia Resignation At Class Meeting

At a senior class meeting held two weeks ago, President Larry Bathgate revealed that Kevin Driscoll will succeed Bob Scalia as Alumni Representative, serving out Scalia's unfinished term of office.

When Scalia resigned, the former class president himself suggested Driscoll for the post he vacated, Bathgate disclosed. "Bob believes that because Kevin has a working knowledge of the office he will do an excellent job."

The Alumni Representative, according to the terms of the Student Council constitution, is a senior, elected to office in the spring of his junior year. He serves in both the Senate and in the Congress.

Radio Station WWVU Recently Blessed By Pres. Klekotka

The Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President, imparted his blessing to the newly-refurbished Radio Station WWVU last Thursday evening. An open house and coffee hour followed the ceremony.

A number of faculty members and University administrators were in attendance, as were many staff members of WWVU. Dan O'Mara, Station Manager, conducted Father Klekotka and the other visitors on a tour of the station.

FATHER KLEKOTKA
. . . Blesses New Facilities

The station was functioning under its normal schedule during the affair, which enabled the visitors to view the actual broadcasting operation. Father President remarked on the high quality of the broadcasts, the equipment, and particularly the organization and personnel of the station.

In addition to O'Mara, the five staff heads of WWVU and Mr. Charles Smith, moderator, were present to represent the station.

Bateman Bags Butterfield Junior "Prom" Open to All

The plans for Junior Week took a big step forward last week with the signing of the popular Billy Butterfield Orchestra for the Junior Week Dance. The dance, which will be held in the field house on Friday, May 5, is something of a precedent setter in that it is a radical departure from previous Junior proms.

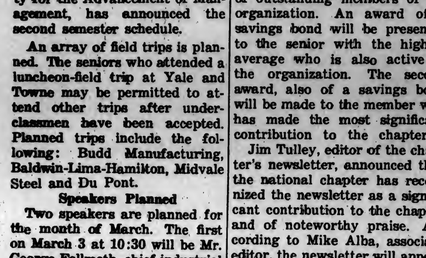
"Actually, the dance is not a prom this year," said Dance Chairman Tony Bateman. "Because of the signing of the Butterfield Band, we are expecting a greater response than in the past and several underclassmen have expressed a desire to see and hear the band. For this reason, we are throwing the dance open to the public and removing it from the 'formal' class."

A ticket sale for Juniors will begin on Monday, April 18 and for two days will be limited to that class only. On Thursday of that week, the sale will be opened to the public. "Since ample publicity will be given in the city, it will be advisable to procure tickets at an early date," stated Joe Zawacki.

$4.00 Per Couple

Bateman added that another factor which is expected to swell the crowd is the fact that tickets will be priced at only $4.00 per couple despite the cost entailed in securing the Butterfield band. He also noted that "the complexity of the decoration scheme will limit the capacity of the Field House."

"It is worth noting that this is a rare instance of permitting other classes to participate in an event so late in the school season when activities are usually restricted to upper classes," Zawacki pointed out. "It is hoped that the Junior Class will be able to fulfill this promise which they gave to their friends."



Butterfield Swings

"Billy Butterfield has been a big name associated with good music since the days of the Swing Era when he was featured trumpeter with Artie Shaw, Benny Goodman, and Harry James. He is still active in recordings today and his popularity is attested to by the fact that his recording contracts have been with major companies, such as Victor, Capitol, and Columbia," Zawacki testified.

Editors of CONCEPT Urge Campus Writers Submit Manuscripts

The editors of Concept, the new idea magazine have recently been named. The post of Editor-in-chief will be held by Frank McCormick, and associate editors will be Joe Mastromato, Tony Coccia and Gene d'Aquili.

Of their new magazine, the editors have emphasized that anyone with good writing ability and good ideas will be able to express himself through this medium. The problem at the moment is simply that the administration has requested that we have enough material for three issues before we may publish one, according to Editor McCormick.

ERASE WITHOUT A TRACE
ON EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND

Don't meet your Waterloo at the typewriter—perfectly typed papers begin with Corrāsable! You can rub out typing errors with just an ordinary pencil eraser. It's that simple to erase without a trace on Corrāsable. Saves time, temper, and money!

Your choice of Corrāsable in light, medium, heavy weights and Onion Skin in handy 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet boxes. Only Eaton makes Corrāsable.

A Berkshire Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION PITTSFIELD, MASS.

do girls rush to your head?

Very likely—if you've taken it into your head to use 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic! Downright heady stuff, this — made specially for men who use water with their hair tonic. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic is 100% pure light grooming oil — replaces oil that water removes. 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic won't evaporate, stays clear and clean on your hair. And just a little does a lot!

it's clear ... it's clean ... it's

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

Portrette

Senior EE Chairs Dance

Busy senior Earl Denlinger, an electrical engineering major, has added to his other activities the important position as chairman of the ninth annual Shamokinaki Dance.

EARL DENLINGER

The Monsignor Bonner High School graduate, in his capacity as dance chairman, is responsible for co-ordinating the committees connected with the affair, setting up the program, selling tickets, toiling on the refreshment committee, and putting up decorations. Denlinger describes the Field House, site of the dance, as "a huge square with Japanese decorations in each corner. In the center of the floor is a great holder enclosing many balloons, to be released at the end of the dance for anyone who wishes a souvenir."

Denlinger, a resident of Bryn Mawr, urges students to obtain their tickets early for the supply is very limited. Tickets are being sold for $1.50 per couple but the price is due to go up later. Proceeds are for the benefits of the Augustinian missions in Japan.

The Shamokinaki dance chairman, who is also a member of the electrical engineers society, the AIE-IRE, and the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity, has said, "there is no worry about the dance being a success, being the only campus activity during the Lenten season."

The dance will be held on the evening of Friday, March 10, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Denlinger, a football player at Bonner, further described the dance site as a "picturesque Oriental room adorned with Japaneses lanterns, fans, and other ornaments." During the dance, a drawing will take place. The winner will be given a Japanese tea set.

Denlinger himself is an industrious student who has mapped out his immediate future. After graduation from Villanova, he intends to enroll in General Electric's technical training program. With this additional training, he will then pursue his M.S. in electrical engineering.

For heaven's sake, don't be like my brother-in-law at Christmas time. It has been his great pleasure to sit by the window and throw pennies to the children in the street. But one day he almost died of heart failure. The string broke.

Why BEER?

You'll get far higher on high octane and 95 horsepower. No hangover. Unless you want to hang over the earthmen.

You'll like flying higher than a kite. We'll bet you a 15-minute ride you do. We even have a frigid swimming pool you can jump into afterwards . . . if you can stand it, we can.

For a free ride . . . cut out this ad and stuff it into your pocket. Then, proceed straight to:

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction

HORIZON AERO SERVICE
BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

President Bathgate Announces Plans For Senior Prom, Apr. 14

In a session chock-full of senior class news, President Larry Bathgate announced that the Arlen Saylor orchestra has been signed to play at the Senior Prom, Friday, April 14.

"Saylor's group is not too well known in this area but they are one of the most popular bands that play at the famous Sunnybrook Ballroom in Pottstown," Bathgate explained.

The most significant fact about this year's prom is the price of admission.

Tickets will sell for $5.00 per couple, a reduction of one dollar from last year. This despite the fact our Prom will be the only formal dance on campus this year since the Junior Prom has been deformalized," the stocky prexy pointed out.

Prices Scaled Down

The scaling down of prices has also been with an eye to attracting underclassmen to the dance, Bathgate declared.

"This dance is not restricted to seniors," he asserted emphatically.

Tickets for the prom will go on sale sometime in the next two weeks.

Dinner Dance tickets, however, will not be available until after Easter, Bathgate announced.

The Dinner Dance, social highlight of Senior year, will be held this year at the Penn-Sheraton hotel, Saturday, April 15. Nick Cassetta and Bob Redmond, co-chairmen of the evening's program, disclosed that turkey will be served to the diners.

"Sylvan Herman's orchestra, which met with such popular approval at last year's Junior Dinner Dance has been signed for the Sheraton dance," Bathgate said.

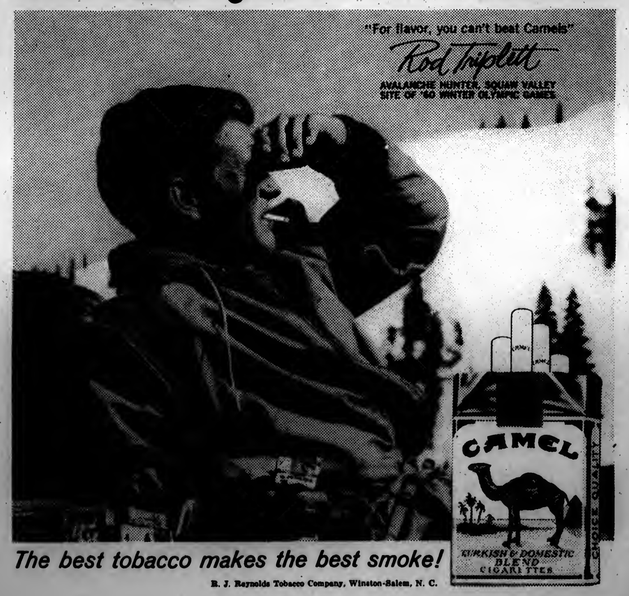
Tickets will sell for $12.50 per couple. Included in this price is a favor, an innovation this year.

Neophyte Nurses

No, this is not a crowd scene from "Where The Boys Are." Actually it's a group of pledges for the nursing fraternity during recent Hell Night exercises. (Photo By Alan Williams)

Chem Dept. Obtains Grant; Markham Speaks to Club

The Chemistry Department has announced the receipt of two grants recently totaling $17,500.



Dr. Kenneth O'Driscoll, Associate Professor of Chemistry received a $15,000 grant from the American Chemical Society Petroleum Research Fund. This will permit two graduate students to work with Dr. O'Driscoll in the field of Anionic and Free Radical Polymerization.

The department itself received a $2,500 grant from DuPont for the purpose of advancing the teaching of Chemistry. This is the fifth consecutive year Villanova has received the grant.

At the February 15 meeting of the Chemical Society, Dr. James Markham spoke and showed film strips on Oceanography.

Dr. Markham studied Oceanography at Texas A&M. His lecture included a discussion of the academic preparation necessary for the study of this subject. He also gave a report on the American position in Oceanography, the present legislative measure before Congress, and what the future needs of the country will be in this field.

Have a real cigarette—have a CAMEL

The best tobacco makes the best smoke!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

The Future

Can you imagine a two-ounce telephone that you carry clipped to your belt? A pill that gives you more rest from five hours of sleep than you now get from eight? A communications system that transmits odors and heat as well as sounds and pictures?

These ideas are almost here. For the future, "scientific dreamers" envision even more amazing advances. And if these predictions strike you as too fantastic, consider whether you, had been an adult in 1900, would have believed that:

- In eight short years, machines called "aeroplanes" would be pulling advertising signs through the sky.
- Ten years, a human being in an autocar would hurtle along at 133 miles per hour.
- In 13 years, a radio message would be transmitted, without wires, from Maryland to the Eiffel Tower in Paris.
- In 48 years, a rocket would zip through space at 3,000 miles per hour.
- In 50 years, life expectancy would be increased by 20 years.

Miracle Age

In spite of all these advances, modern scientists would probably agree that we have barely reached the threshold of a "miracle age" of science. One reason is the big change in attitude toward scientists. Edison, Bell, Marconi and others were at one time regarded as misguided, even crazy. But today, research is favored with public appreciation and support (record gift to schools and hospitals: $500 million, awarded December 12, 1955 by the Ford Foundation), and the future seems limited only by man's ability to imagine.

What can we envision?

Glass Cities

Cities of gleaming glass and stainless steel, for one thing. Already, skyscrapers, store fronts and factories are being sheathed in thin stainless steel "skins". As more and more builders combine the advantages of curtain wall construction—better insulation, speedier construction, more available renting space—with stainless steel's beauty, indestructibility and house maintenance requirements, the stainless steel curtain wall will become a familiar sight. Stainless steel will be employed for a dazzling variety of decorative and structural functions, both inside and outside the buildings.

Wheel-less Car

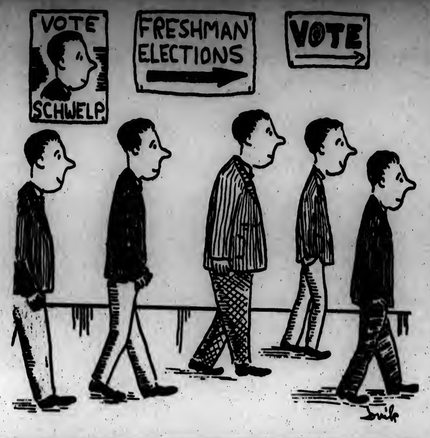
You'll see it increasingly in countless other applications, too. On the streets of shining new cities, and on the roads leading to them, you'll see it in advanced automobiles. To expedite travel, wheel-less cars, which ride on a cushion of air, will become popular.

At home, you'll be able to turn on handsome lamps and appliances just by flicking a switch; there will be nothing to plug in. And you'll dial the level of illumination you want. Already on the market are switches that make lights brighter if you turn them one way, dimmer if you flip them in the other direction.

Air Conditioning

Air conditioning will not only be common, but it will save you money by storing up heat, then using it to cook your food or warm your home. Heat energy may one day be transported from places like Africa to help warm frigid polar regions.

Most amazing of all will be the medical advances. Coronary thrombosis may be largely thwarted by the development of an operation that will substitute a plastic tube for the coronary artery.



The "eye banks" of today will be expanded to include many other parts of the human anatomy.

An artificial kidney is already in experimental stage. This stainless steel plastic device cleans and purifies the blood in a reservoir outside the body while the kidney and liver heal.

Chromosomes

Radio waves will be adapted to alter certain chromosomes in our bodies, and thereby eliminate many diseases, like diabetes, that are now transmitted by heredity.

The production and distribution of hormone substances will become a $1-billion a year business. When fully developed, homones may make it possible for short people to grow taller . . . bald men to grow hair . . . women to lose unwanted face and leg hair. But the most fantastic fact about hormones is that they may make it possible for us to age only a fifth as fast as we do now.

COUNTERPOINT

ORIENTATION, REORIENTATION

By Jim McAteer

A totally new concept in Freshman Orientation is up for consideration by the Student Council. Basically, it would emphasize the religious, intellectual, cultural and social aspects of college life at the expense of the traditional rallying and hazing.

The advantages of the new system have been pointed out by Chuck Kelly, President of Blue Key, the student guide and service organization. Kelly, one of the plan's chief backers, explained, "the plan would help, rather than haze, the students; it would accomodate parents who arrive with their sons on registration day; it would stimulate an immediate class unity; it would prepare the frosh for whatever difficulties they may face during their college careers."

Tentative Schedule

Jim Howley, sophomore Council representative, another of the new system's supporters, outlined a tentative schedule for the arrival and processing of next year's freshman class.

The new Orientation Committee would be composed of the entire membership (approximately 80) of the Blue Key, 10 upperclassmen form the council, and the eight sophomore class members who serve on the Council. This select membership guarantees as far as possible an O.C. of mature, intelligent, and dedicated Villanovans. The group would be headed by the Blue Key President, the Sophomore class president, and the Council Vice Chairman.

Parents Welcome

On registration day, a Wednesday, the new frosh would be met by the O.C. while students were being registered in the Field House, their parents would be served coffee in the C&F Cafeteria. Later, a convoy of University trucks would convey luggage from the parking lot to the various dorms.

This would eliminate the "lost feeling" so frequently experienced by parents whose sons are rushed away by a shouting group of "White Hats" immediately after registration; and would avoid confusion and difficulty of transporting a year's supply of clothes and accessories from the parking lot, across campus, to the dorm.

Speech and Rally

In the later afternoon, an introductory meeting would be held. This would feature a speech by a representative and responsible upperclassman or recent alumnus, who would emphasize the benefits of Villanova's religious atmosphere, its academic standards, its proximity to places of cultural interest in Philadelphia, and its social life.

Only then would a "kick-off" rally be conducted, at which the usual cheers and songs would play a part. On the following day, a Thursday, the freshman would be assembled according to their division for speeches by their respective deans.

O.C. members would introduce themselves to the resident freshmen in the evening. During these dorm interviews, generalities stated in the welcoming address could be applied to the specific individuals involved.

Deans Talk

Freshmen would be assembled according to division for speeches by their respective deans. Here again, the academic side of Villanova life would be emphasized. Then, day-hops would be interviewed by the O.C., while residents were being informed of problems peculiar to life on the campus.

In the afternoon another rally would be held, and in the evening a free movie would be presented for the freshmen.

Outdoor Mass and Benediction, celebrated by the President, would be held on the following morning, a Friday. That evening, the traditional "Truth or Consequences" would "discipline" the frosh.

First Classes

During the following week, students would attend their first classes. Throughout this period, O.C. members would be on hand to assist the frosh over any initial difficulties, and would re-emphasize school spirit and especially preparation for MUFF Day.

A special class convocation would be called during the activity period on Thursday of the first week of classes. At this convocation, MUFF day teams and rules of procedure would be arranged. MUFF Day itself would take place on the following afternoon, and the Student Council Dance, the first social event of the season, would follow it.

An Editorial

The editor of AMERICA, the national Jesuit weekly publication, recently called for a casting off of the "ghetto-like attitude" of many American Catholics. This call bears patricular application to the Catholic educator and the Catholic student.

For there is an especial need at the present time for a vast moral and intellectual resurgence in the U. S. As was stated in the report of the President's Commission on National Goals, "the development of the individual and of the nation demands that education at every level and in every discipline be strengthened and its effectiveness enhanced."

Having noted in previous weeks the Villanova student's obligation to become aware of the problems facing him, and his further obligation to investigate, and thereby strengthen the roots of his Faith, we turn to a consideration of the intellectual aspects of the necessary resurgence.

Only the Catholic educational concept encompasses both the intellectual and the moral orders. Therefore, it is proper that the Catholic educational system be the vanguard of the resurgence. Certainly if there are ghetto walls to be broken down—ghetto walls within religious, national, and social groups—it is Catholicism which should advance the project through education.

A ghetto—any kind of ghetto—is both morally and intellectually reprehensible. And, as a stronger religious belief constitutes the basis in principle for the elimination of the ghetto on the ground that is antaganistic to the principle of individuality, a proper rationalization points up the practical inadvisability of the ghetto on the ground that it opposes the common good, the totality of the body politic.

The proper organization of the body politic—the elimination of the ghetto, the reiteration of the principle of individuality, the advancement of the common good—is the proper domain of the science of politics. Only by unfortunate connotation does the word "politics" mean double dealing, insincere back-slipping and underhanded manipulators. Actually, statecraft in one of the highest professions to which a man may aspire and is one which requires a maximum of intellectual preparation for its proper discharge.

It is apparent, therefore, that all students, but especially Catholic students, must receive greater encouragement and opportunity for activity and participation in politics. The obvious policy of Villanova particularly apparent during the presidential campaign has been that of official non-involvement, with unofficial probation for the political activity of its students.

Adherence to the principle of seperation of Church and state as well as the practical expedience involved in operating a large religiously orientated educational institution obviously required the greatest possible degree of political impartiality. It seems, however, that Villanova could better fulfill its commitments to both the religious and intellectual orders by officially encouraging political activity on the part of the students while assuring that both major political parties are represented as equitably as possible.

There are yet four years to pass before political interest will rise again to significant heights. Perhaps during the interim a functional system may be formulated by the University Administration by which a more truly well rounded man will be produced.

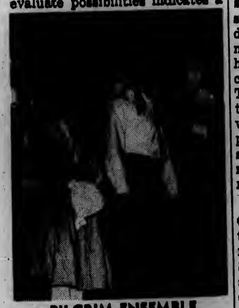
Villanovan

VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Harry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editor ..... Daniel Grove
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Layout Editor ..... Edward Farrell
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Dempsey
Circulation Manager ..... Mark Bennett
Moderator ..... Rev. E. A. Bergeron, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1950, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.



This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODERHAM

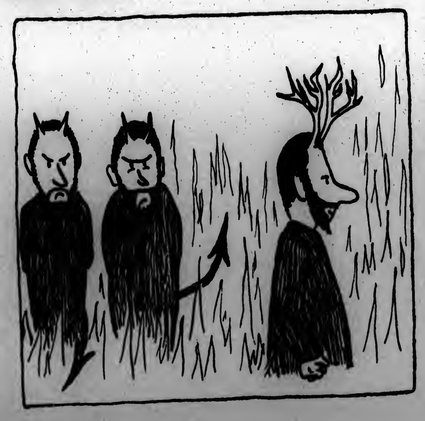
"Sea" Slips on Staging—Score, Scenario Succeed

by Gus Sumjare

The living theater is an art; in order to function in its proper perspective it must be a constant striving towards creative perfection. Before producing a play, all limitations need be considered if justice is to be done to the playwright. Just as a master sculptor could not possibly carve a true work of art from crumbling, dried-out clay with a rubber chisel, a play cannot be successfully performed without the proper materials. The failure to evaluate possibilities indicates a definite lack of maturity which can very easily ruin a play. The Graduate Theater's blatant refusal to keep within their boundaries accounts for their latest exhibition of mediocrity, "From Sea To Shining Sea."

PILGRIM ENSEMBLE
. . . From Sea to Shining Sea

Although nothing is revered, the jibes at historical actions and trends are lightly humorous bringing forth an obviously deep love for America in her foibles and heroics. In expressing these ideas through allegorical personifications, George Herman has written a provocative comedy which could well create a fine evening's entertainment. But again this can only be actualized when the show is properly produced.



Since music is an integral part of "From Sea To Shining Sea", the staging must be in the manner of musical-comedy. This entails at least modest beauty, some splendor, and a bit of dancing talent. When no profound or complex message is being propagated, the attention of the audience concentrates on the performance itself. Hence, there is no room for rough or unraveled ends; a sophisticated smoothness is essential.

If they want to remain in the musical-comedy tradition, the Graduate Theater Group must realize that chintzy costumes, a broken-down bedragged excuse for a showhouse, a set of Salvation Army quality, and curtains that appear salvaged from the bonfires after the last flagday parade are not in keeping with the pervading mood of the show. In this performance the singers couldn't sing and the dancers couldn't dance (the harmonica player could play the harmonica but that innovation conveyed absolutely naught). The only influence that salvaged the play from utter shambles was the talent of some leading players. But when there were so many incompetencies, any measure of acting prowess could not save the musical.

Jim Willaert's excellent portrayal of Scratch deserves more than a little commendation. Representing the evil faction, Scratch was projected with a sinister villainy which remained consistent throughout. Mike Kennedy was also well received as the hero "Sam" and affected his changing moods with historical delineation. Both Carol Pearce and Jane Anderson gave mature, well conditioned performances. The only leading role of lesser caliber was John Dillon as Mike. The Archangel suffered a gestureless, spread-legged posture brought about by a dull and often boring character. One final bright spot was Tom McCoy whose hilarious shenanigans in various roles kept the audience consistantly laughing. No other minor characters are even worth mentioning.

Unfortunately, the sum of these parts does not equal an even passable show. The performance, as a whole was a shameful exhibition of an immature and glory-seeking attitude. If appropriated finances are not sufficient to commensurate such a production, the group has absolutely no right to attempt it. This is an indirect flaunting of theatrical art. Perhaps, with a little less money and effort, Can-Can might be shown in the field house locker room.

RIVER STYX by JONIK

"Mattress" Bouncy And Feathery Light Curtain To Curtain

by Al LaMastra

"Once Upon a Mattress," in a 'once upon a time' land, lay a genuine princess-once slightly removed, taking a test of sensitivity. If the ragamuffin royalty could not fall asleep because of the presence of a pea at the base of a mound of twenty mattresses, she would prove her acceptability for the office and gain the hand in marriage of the crown prince from his Oepidus complexed mother. Luckily the palace patrons also wished to see the prince get married so they too could join in the happiness of a marital status. For this reason they stuffed the mattresses with everything conceivable and 37,863 sheep later, the prince married the princess and everyone lived happily ever after.

This nursery rhyme plot is the basis for one of the most charming, strikingly original plays to tour the nation in years. Music, lyrics, choreography, scenery and oftentimes extreme costuming would certainly not insure the success of this "sleeper" musical.

Tongue-In-Cheek

From opening to final curtain the play never lags but moves on at a very brilliant and sprightly pace. The comic style of Dody Goodman has been known by TV audiences for several years but the surprise comes in finding out how well she is able to carry a whole show with her original grimace-tongue in cheek method of comedy. It is also wonderful to see Buster Keaton back where he belongs before the footlights and not as second stooge to Speedy Alka-Seltzer. The Great Stone Face is already gathering another generation of fans to his side and after many lean years has regained the prestige of his early silent film career. His pantomine, which courses through the entire show to the boisterous delight of the audience, definitely makes this version of the original Broadway production, one of the all time great musical comedies. Who needs Camelot!

More than adequately supported by singer, dancer, actor Harold Lang as the court jester and Fritzi Burr, the overbearing mother—a la Auntie Mame, the stars and chorus move through tender ballads (in a Little While) and fiercely funny dances (Spanish Panic) to the constant approval of everyone concerned. The songs will never be heard on the "Ranch House" juke-box but the music by Mary Rogers is pleasant and the clever lyrics by Marshal Barer also help to support and lighten the comedy angle of the show.

From top to bottom Sol Hurok has given all Americans a chance to see one of the greatest little bundles of dynamite as the show plays the Palace in Pocatella or the Bijou in Memphis; and for those of you who unfortunately missed spending a delightful evening of theatre, I extend my regrets, for you need them. The show is bound to turn up in summer stock circles; and although you won't have the pleasure of seeing "Once Upon a Mattress' from a bird's eye view in the elegantly tarnished William Goldman Erlanger theatre, there is always the consolation of a cool summer evening's entertainment in one of the dozens of nationwide music circuses. Plan ahead and you'll never regret it!

Requiem For A Jewel: It is a great pity that the majority of students of Villanova University obstinately refused to invest their money in "From Sea to Shining Sea" last week in Vasey Theatre. It seems that Virginia Bell commanded more respect than the original musical fable which played to the extreme delight of a very limited public. Just because a show hasn't run on Broadway for two years doesn't mean it is worthless. Indeed this production proved to be far superior to "The Country Girl" which played to a somewhat dismayed packed audience. Kudos and hats off to director-writer George Herman and his wonderfully versatile cast for the most original piece of theatre ever to be seen at Villanova. Well done Jim, Jane, Mike, Carol and Jack.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf," "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," etc.)

"LOVE IN REVERSE"

They met. His heart leapt. "I love you," he cried.

"Me, too, hey," she cried.

"Tell me," he cried, "are you a girl of expensive tastes?"

"No, hey," she cried, "I am a girl of simple tastes."

"Good," he cried, "for my cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to support life."

"Money does not matter to me," she cried. "My tastes are simple, my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, new, yellow convertible and I am content."

"Goodbye," he cried, and ran away as fast as his chubby little legs could carry him, for he had no convertible, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money, short of picking up his stingy father by the ankles and shaking him till his wallet fell out.

He knew he must forget this girl but, lying on his pallet at the dormitory, whimpering and moaning, he knew he could not.

At last an idea came to him: though he did not have the money to buy a convertible, perhaps he had enough to rent one!

Hope reborn, he rushed at once to an automobile rental company and rented a yellow convertible for $10 down plus 10¢ a mile, and with many a laugh and cheer drove away to pick up the girl.

"Oh, goody," she said when she saw the car. "This suits my simple tastes to a 'T'. Come, let us speed over rolling highways and through bosky dells."

And away they drove. All that day and night they drove and finally, tired but happy, they parked high on a windswept hill.

"Marlboro?" he said.

"Yum yum," she said.

They lit up. They puffed with deep contentment. "You know," he said, "you are like a Marlboro—mild and fresh and relaxing."

"But there is a big difference between Marlboro and me," she said, "because I do not have a Selectrute filter nor do I come in soft pack or flip-top box."

They laughed. They kissed. He screamed.

"What is it, my dear," she cried, alarmed.

"Look at the speedometer," he said. "We have driven 200 miles and this car costs 10¢ a mile and I have only $20 left."

"But that's exactly enough," she said.

"Yes," he said, "but we still have to drive home."

They fell into a profound gloom. He started the motor and backed out of the parking place.

"Hey, look!" she said. "The speedometer doesn't move when you're backing up."

He looked. It was true. "Eureka!" he cried. "That solves my problem. I will drive home in reverse. Then no more miles will register on the speedometer and I will have enough money to pay!"

"I think that's a marvelous idea," she said, and she was right. Because today our hero is in the county jail where food, clothes and lodging are provided free of charge and his allowance is piling up so fast that he will have enough money to take his girl riding again as soon as he is released.

* * *

Backward or forward, a fine, new experience in smoking is yours from the makers of Marlboro—the unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

© 1961 Max Shulman

V.U. Council Rivals U.N. In Calendar Decision

by Ed Farrell

The debators of the U.N. were placed in fierce competition for the title of Most Trying on the Nerves of the Parliamentarian by the Student Congress of Villanova University. The subject of the debate was the slightly less than controversial Free Day decision.

Each year this topic has infamously evoked heated battle between the New York Irish, in favor of March 17, and any other innocent faction which has been so bold as to propose another date.

Scully Old Guard

This year the "innocent party" was represented by Paul O'Rourke, while Brian Scully took the stand of the Old Guard. The nearing of the debate caused convert whispers to sweep through the Council, as inconspicuously as a South Seas typhoon. The motion in question read that the Student Council Free Day be March 17. Council Chairman Bob DeLisa introduced the motion and waited with bated breath for the shoe-on-desk debate to begin. He was not disappointed.

From the floor Paul O'Rourke proposed an amendment to the motion stating, in effect, that the free day be May 12 instead of March 17. His reason: March 17 is too near quarterly exams.

An answering barrage from Schully: "May 12 doesn't break up the semester as March 17 would."

O'Rourke Retorts

Retorted O'Rourke, "Neither does March 17, a week before Easter."

"But March 17 off would give a three day weekend!", cried Scully.

Slyly O'Rourke uncovered his ace, "With Ascenction Thursday on May 11, May 12 would provide a four day weekend."

Not to be put down, Scully stated that May 12 would interfere with Senior Father's Day, May 13.

At this point, Larry Bathgate gave Bob DeLisa a new voice to recognize and said that in his opinion as senior class president, the free day on May 12 wouldn't interfere with Father's Day.

Tennis Spectator

DeLisa, looking much like a spectator at a tennis match, finally succeeded in requesting a vote on the amendment to the resolution.

Point of personal privilege from Scully: "A roll call vote should be taken. The students have a right to know how their representatives voted!"

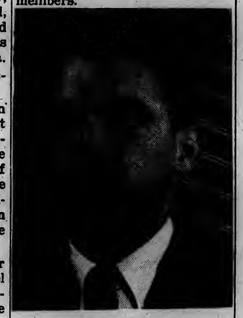
As Joe Remy, the parliamentarian, furiously flipped the leaves of his Robert Rules of Order, DeLisa declared that a voice vote would have to be taken to determine whether a roll call vote would be taken on the amendment to the resolution.

Ayes and Nays

Quoth DeLisa: "All those in favor of a roll call vote on the amendment to the resolution to make the Free Day March 17, answer 'aye' . . . Those opposed, 'nay'." The answering 'ayes' and 'nays' were as unquivering as the jello in Villanova's cafeteria.

"The nays have it", dramatically declared DeLisa.

The confused Councis was then asked to vote on the amendment to the resolution, that is, to declare May 12 the free day. The The nays again. The faces of Scully and O'Rourke became similar to the Masques of Comedy and Tragedy. The vote on the resolution itself was a mere formality.



After carefully pondering their vote, DeLisa brought his gavel down on the podium and solemnly declared, "March 17 will be St. Patrick's Day!"

PKP

ACTIVITIES OF VILLANOVA

Phi Kappa Pi, or "Phi Kap" as it is frequently called, is the oldest fraternity on the campus. It was organized in 1907 and has maintained a large and active membership since then. Its official title is "The Engineering Society of Villanova University" and its motto is "Phrata kai Prokope" (Brotherhood and Progress).

Phi Kappa Pi, being the oldest fraternity on campus, has a great foundation of activities. "Phi Kap" started the "Owl Hop" which after World War II became the Interfraternity Ball. It is the only fraternity to have an Orphans' Outing where the members entertain and play Santa Claus to children from a Catholic Charities' home in Philadelphia. It is the only fraternity to enjoy smokers. These consist of a feature length movie with refreshments served during the intermission, and supply a welcome relief from study for the members.

PRESIDENT SCULLY

. . . Smokers and things.

Also among the social activities are the annual Communion Breakfast, and probably the most anticipated evening of the year the annual Dinner Dance. At this Dinner Dance, the Carl T. Humphrey Memorial Award is presented to the outstanding freshman. His name will then be mounted on a plaque which will hang in the office of the Dean of Engineering.

This year pledging to Phi Kappa Pi starts the first week of March. Pledging will last six weeks. During this time all the pledges will go one Saturday to the Queen of the Rosary Convent to help the missionary Sisters in the spring cleaning of the convent.

The officers for the year 1960-61 are Brian Scully, president; Fred Wiele, vice-president; Jack Sweeney, secretary; Dave Raeber, treasurer; John O'Connell, Student Council representative; and Len Carnaghi, Sergeant-at-arms.

Cubans Seek Refuge Here; Government Aids Exiles

Forty-one exiles from Fidel Castro's Cuba, currently enrolled at Villanova, will shortly be receiving federal aid in their struggle to obtain an education outside their Communist-dominated homeland.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has provided that each of the Cuban expatriates is eligible for a non-interest-bearing loan, not to exceed $500, to assist in paying for tuition, room and board, and miscellaneous expenses.

Most of the refugees are former students of the University of St. Thomas of Villanueva in Havana. This Augustinian-operated institution has been a particular target of the Castro regime. The refugees transferred here from Villanueva, or gravitated here with friends who were transfer students.

Die If Necessary

Almost to a man, the Cubans insist that they will return to Cuba in the forseeable future. Most claim to be in touch with the anti-Castro underground operating in the U. S. All have expressed readiness to fight, and die if necessary, for the liberation of their country.

The federal government, meanwhile, has acted to assist the exiles during their sojurn in the United States. Peter Muirhead, director of the financial aid bureau of the HEW's Division of Higher Education, informed The Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of Villanova University, that the government is ready to consider applications from Cuban students for loans, which will average about $300. Until now the University has "carried the exiles on the books," Father Klekotka stated.

Besides the loans, the Immigration Services has altered the status of the expatriates from that of aliens to that of students. As students, they are not subject to imminent deportation.

ENGINEERS AND SCIENTISTS

NAA's On-Campus Interviews

The NAA industrial family has a career for you

Nuclear power at the Atomics International Division (Canoga Park, Calif.)

Atomics International Division is a leader, both here and abroad, in the development of nuclear reactors for power, research, and mobile systems.

Electronics & electromechanics at the Autonetics Division (Downey, Calif.)

Autonetics Division produces computers, inertial guidance, armament control, and flight control systems. Developers of inertial guidance systems for first Polaris-carrying subs, Minuteman ICBM, GAM-77 missile.

Naval aircraft & missiles at the Columbus Division (Columbus, Ohio)

Columbus Division, a complete center of systems capability, produces Navy's Mach 2 A3J Vigilante, is developing new Army target missile, and building the reflector for the world's largest radio/telescope.

Design & development of manned weapon systems at the Los Angeles Division (Los Angeles, Calif.)

Los Angeles Division is the home of next-generation manned weapon system—the Mach 3 B-70 Valkyrie—and America's first manned space vehicle, the X-15.

Missile weapon system management & space research at the Missile Division (Downey, Calif.)

Missile Division produces GAM-77 Hound Dog missile, is at work on space exploration vehicles and methods, and is conducting research well in advance of existing technology in the space sciences.

Propulsion systems and concepts at the Rocketdyne Division (Canoga Park, Calif.) (McGregor, Texas)

Rocketdyne Division, Free World's leading producer of large rocket engines, supplied main-stage boosters for 25 out of 28 successful U.S. satellites and space probes.

Advanced opportunities for engineers and scientists with graduate degrees. See Your Placement Office Today For Interview

NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION, INC.

Council Successes Noted; Wall Urges Co-operation

by Tom Wall

In an attempt to promote better student awareness, I would like to sue this opportunity to enlighten you on the work of the Student Council. This will include proposals passed by the Council last semester which have already gone into effect or which will do so shortly.

First, I would like to recall those proposals which are currently in effect.

1. As in past years the Council has set up a retreat program with Blackwood Retreat House in N. J. This program is designed to aid students desirous of making an outside retreat.

2. The Student Tutor Program welcomed and serviced more students last semester than ever before in its history. Any one having trouble with a particular course is asked to take advantage of this program.

3. For the first time in many years an outdoor graduation will be held this June. In the past graduation has been held in the Field House. This innovation will benefit graduating seniors and, in time, all students.

4. A polling committee has been set up whose main objective is to compile student feeling on any question of a controversial nature within 24 hours.

5. Through the religious affairs committee we have received Fr. Whitley's approval to distribute Holy Communion before the 12 o'clock Mass each day. This would naturally benefit those students wishing to receive who for some reason might not be able to remain through the entire Mass.

6. The student ride service to and from school has gone into effect and we have high hopes that it will work out well.

7. One of the more rewarding accomplishments of the council was the posting of the semesterly grades in the Field House during registration.

8. Our movie program has produced overwhelming success and we hope to continue interesting the students with this entertainment.

9. Due to an apparent birth of intellectual interest on campus, a lecture program on campus has been initiated. Such famous men as George Meany, Mark Van Doren, and Victor Beisunde have been contacted.

Pre-Law Society To Visit City Hall

The Villanova Pre-Law Society will make its annual field trip to City Hall in Philadelphia on Thursday, March 2, 1961. Nearly the entire membership of the society, including the officers and moderator, Mr. Richard E. Ruane, will visit Municipal court and observe court procedures.

Don Ameche, in original garb, emotes during a performance of "13 Daughters" a new musical which played Philadelphia's Shubert Theatre through last Saturday. "13 Daughters" open in New York tomorrow night.

"13 Daughters" At Shubert Features Ameche and Boyar

by Joe Zawacki

If the average Joe has trouble with his Jane, then pity the poor soul burdened with 13 daughters. This is the problem confronting Don Ameche in the new Jack Silverman production of "13 Daughters", which finished its four weeks run Saturday night at the Shubert theater. It opens this week in New York and it would take a crystal ball, an electric computer, and Alladdin's lamp to predict success or failure.

To be sure, it is as fresh and airy as the welcome weather we experienced here last weekend in the midst of winter (with the theater season as cold as the weather), but it falls quite short of the block-buster class. In essence, it reminds the viewer of the earlier success make up the heart of Eaton Magoon Jr.'s book, who

Zawacki

"Molly Brown" in that its degree of success will depend on the merits of its stars.

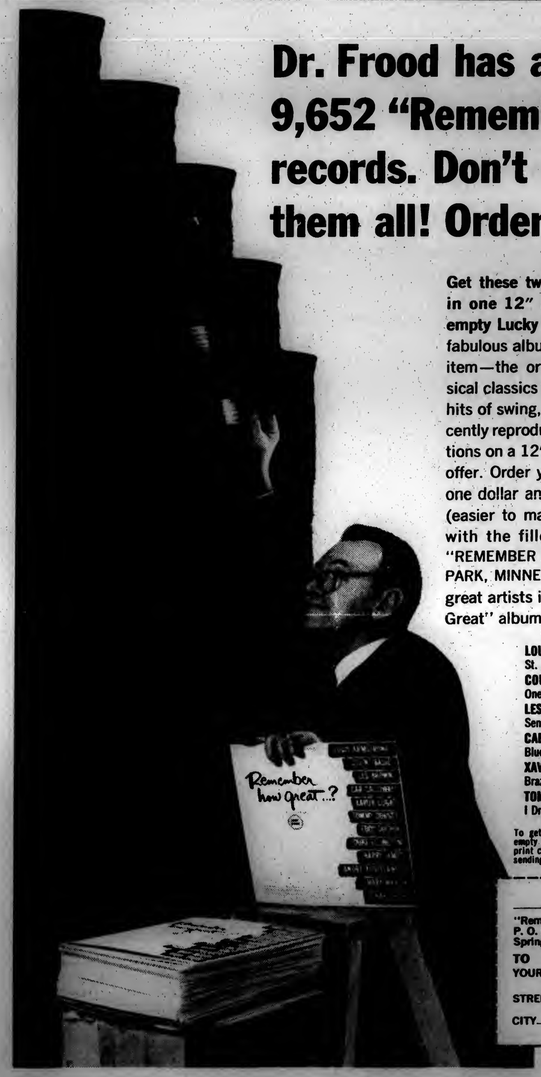
Ameche Stars

The stars are Ameche as the harrassed Chinese father Chun who somehow always manages to have an idea on the fringe of his brain (girls seem to bring this state of being), Monica Boyar as the Polynesian who gives up her royal claims to marry the foreigner and thus precipitates the curse (?) which bears fruit in the baker's dozen daughters, and nightclub singing star Sylvia Syms as the wily Aunt Kinau who seems destined to be the catalyst in the play.

The story begins with the wedding and subsequent curse and the birth of the girls and traces Chun's efforts to marry off his offspring despite the aforementioned curse. His failures and eventual predictable

The songs are many but they are undistinguished, and none of them has the look of potential hit parade material in it although Miss Syms puts all her polish into the intended block-buster "Hoomalimali" toward the end of the second and final act. The scene changes are effortless and handled very well by the Nolan Scenic Studios who built and painted the pretty and showy sets.

Zawacki will inaugurate a new series in jazz, which will start next Tuesday, March 7 at 10:00 p.m. The series will run for 4 weeks, twice a week, and will be entitled "The History of Classical Jazz". The original recordings will be played with accompanying commentary.



Rod Alexander's Choreography is as imaginable as can be expected for any musical and John Fearnley's directing holds up until the middle of the final act when he attempts to stretch the thin story line beyond its inherent limits.

WWVU's "Headhunter", Joe

Since Musicals are currently in vogue, it is quite possible that "13 Daughters" will survive and have a respectable run in Gotham. The local critics, perhaps starved for a worthy musical, viewed it as "manna from heaven" and were almost lavish in their praise. The hardened New Yorkers might not go overboard as easily and one observer coinned it as being readymade for the housewives at the Wednesday Matinee.

On the plus side, Ameche is a delight. He glides through his role with a winning way and his class is infectious. Miss Boyar is appealing as his patient wife and all 13 daughters add spice to the proceedings. John Stewart lends a powerful voice to the part of Mana, the King's son. In fact, all of numerous speaking parts are handled with skill.

Verdict: Pleasant, but it won't set the world on fire.

Dr. Frood has already ordered 9,652 "Remember How Great" records. Don't let him get them all! Order yours NOW!

Get these twelve great original recordings—in one 12" LP album—for $1.00 and ten empty Lucky Strike packs! Hurry! Order this fabulous album now! Here's a real collectors' item—the original recordings of twelve musical classics together for the first time! Great hits of swing, jazz and popular music magnificently reproduced by Columbia Record Productions on a 12" 33⅓ LP. It's an unprecedented offer. Order your album right now. Just send one dollar and ten empty Lucky Strike packs (easier to mail if you flatten them) together with the filled-in shipping label below to "REMEMBER HOW GREAT," BOX 3600, SPRING PARK, MINNESOTA. Here are the great songs, great artists included in the "Remember How Great" album:

LOUIS ARMSTRONG St. Louis Blues	EDDY DUCHIN Stardust
COUNT BASIE One O'Clock Jump	DUKE ELLINGTON Mood Indigo
LES BROWN Sentimental Journey	HARRY JAMES Ci it.iribin
CAB CALLOWAY Blues in the Night	ANDRE KOSTELANETZ Night and Day
XAVIER CUGAT Brazil	MARY MARTIN My Heart Belongs to Daddy
TOMMY DORSEY I Dream of You	DINAH SHORE Buttons and Bows

To get "Remember How Great" album, enclose and mail $1.00 and 10 empty Lucky Strike packs, together with filled-in shipping label. Please print clearly. Orders received after May 31, 1961, will not be honored. If sending check or money order, make payable to "Remember How Great."

SHIPPING LABEL

"Remember How Great"
P. O. Box 3600
Spring Park, Minnesota

TO YOUR NAME _____
(PRINT YOUR NAME HERE)
STREET _____
CITY _____ ZONE _____ STATE _____

Offer good only in U. S. A. and Puerto Rico.

©THE AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.

Open casting

For Shakespeare's Othello, the next grad theatre production.

Vasey Hall
Thursday and Friday, March 2 and 3

ATTENTION

It is imperative that all Cuban students report to the Business Office before March 8.

A cherry wallet containing $215 in $5 and $10 bills was lost Tuesday between 12:30 and 2:30, possibly in the C&F cafeteria. The money was not the property of the owner of the wallet. The wallet contained no identification. Please contact Captain Murphy's office with any information.

V.U. Council Rivals U.N. In Calendar Decision

by Ed Farrell

The debators of the U.N. were placed in fierce competition for the title of Most Trying on the Nerves of the Parliamentarian by the Student Congress of Villanova University. The subject of the debate was the slightly less than controversial Free Day decision.

Each year this topic has infamously evoked heated battle between the New York Irish, in favor of March 17, and any other innocent faction which has been so bold as to propose another date.

Scully Old Guard

This year the "innocent party" was represented by Paul O'Rourke, while Brian Scully took the stand of the Old Guard. The nearing of the debate caused convert whispers to sweep through the Council, as inconspicuously as a South Seas typhoon. The motion in question read that the Student Council Free Day be March 17. Council Chairman Bob DeLisa introduced the motion and waited with bated breath for the shoe-on-desk debate to begin. He was not disappointed.

From the floor Paul O'Rourke proposed an amendment to the motion stating, in effect, that the free day be May 12 instead of March 17. His reason: March 17 is too near quarterly exams.

An answering barrage from Schully: "May 12 doesn't break up the semester as March 17 would."

O'Rourke Retorts

Retorted O'Rourke, "Neither does March 17, a week before Easter."

"But March 17 off would give a three day weekend!", cried Scully.

Slyly O'Rourke uncovered his ace, "With Ascenction Thursday on May 11, May 12 would provide a four day weekend."

Not to be put down, Scully stated that May 12 would interfere with Senior Father's Day, May 13.

At this point, Larry Bathgate gave Bob DeLisa a new voice to recognize and said that in his opinion as senior class president, the free day on May 12 wouldn't interfere with Father's Day.

Tennis Spectator

DeLisa, looking much like a spectator at a tennis match, finally succeeded in requesting a vote on the amendment to the resolution.

Point of personal privilege from Scully: "A roll call vote should be taken. The students have a right to know how their representatives voted!"

As Joe Remy, the parliamentarian, furiously flipped the leaves of his Robert Rules of Order, DeLisa declared that a voice vote would have to be taken to determine whether a roll call vote would be taken on the amendment to the resolution.

Ayes and Nays

Quoth DeLisa: "All those in favor of a roll call vote on the amendment to the resolution to make the Free Day March 17, answer 'aye' . . . Those opposed, 'nay'." The answering 'ayes' and 'nays' were as unquivering as the jello in Villanova's cafeteria.

"The nays have it", dramatically declared DeLisa.

The confused Councis was then asked to vote on the amendment to the resolution, that is, to declare May 12 the free day. The The nays again. The faces of Scully and O'Rourke became similar to the Masques of Comedy and Tragedy. The vote on the resolution itself was a mere formality.

After carefully pondering their vote, DeLisa brought his gavel down on the podium and solemnly declared, "March 17 will be St. Patrick's Day!"

Council Successes Noted; Wall Urges Co-operation

by Tom Wall

In an attempt to promote better student awareness, I would like to sue this opportunity to enlighten you on the work of the Student Council. This will include proposals passed by the Council last semester which have already gone into effect or which will do so shortly.

First, I would like to recall those proposals which are currently in effect.

1. As in past years the Council has set up a retreat program with Blackwood Retreat House in N. J. This program is designed to aid students desirous of making an outside retreat.

2. The Student Tutor Program welcomed and serviced more students last semester than ever before in its history. Any one having trouble with a particular course is asked to take advantage of this program.

3. For the first time in many years an outdoor graduation will be held this June. In the past graduation has been held in the Field House. This innovation will benefit graduating seniors and, in time, all students.

4. A polling committee has been set up whose main objective is to compile student feeling on any question of a controversial nature within 24 hours.

5. Through the religious affairs committee we have received Fr. Whitley's approval to distribute Holy Communion before the 12 o'clock Mass each day. This would naturally benefit those students wishing to receive who for some reason might not be able to remain through the entire Mass.

6. The student ride service to and from school has gone into effect and we have high hopes that it will work out well.

7. One of the more rewarding accomplishments of the council was the posting of the semesterly grades in the Field House during registration.

8. Our movie program has produced overwhelming success and we hope to continue interesting the students with this entertainment.

9. Due to an apparent birth of intellectual interest on campus, a lecture program on campus has been initiated. Such famous men as George Meany, Mark Van Doren, and Victor Belaunde have been contacted.

ACTIVITIES OF VILLANOVA

PKP

Phi Kappa Pi, or "Phi Kap" as it is frequently called, is the oldest fraternity on the campus. It was organized in 1907 and has maintained a large and active membership since then. Its official title is "The Engineering Society of Villanova University" and its motto is "Phrata kai Prokope" (Brotherhood and Progress).

Phi Kappa Pi, being the oldest fraternity on campus, has a great foundation of activities. "Phi Kap" started the "Owl Hop" which after World War II became the Interfraternity Ball. It is the only fraternity to have an Orphans' Outing where the members entertain and play Santa Claus to children from a Catholic Charities' home in Philadelphia. It is the only fraternity to enjoy smokers. These consist of a feature length movie with refreshments served during the intermission, and supply a welcome relief from study for the members.

PRESIDENT SCULLY

. . . Smokers and things.

Also among the social activities are the annual Communion Breakfast, and probably the most anticipated evening of the year the annual Dinner Dance. At this Dinner Dance, the Carl T. Humphrey Memorial Award is presented to the outstanding freshman. His name will then be mounted on a plaque which will hang in the office of the Dean of Engineering.

This year pledging to Phi Kappa Pi starts the first week of March. Pledging will last six weeks. During this time all the pledges will go one Saturday to the Queen of the Rosary Convent to help the missionary Sisters in the spring cleaning of the convent.

The officers for the year 1960-61 are Brian Scully, president; Fred Wiele, vice-president; Jack Sweeney, secretary; Dave Raeber, treasurer; John O'Connell, Student Council representative; and Len Carnaghi, Sergeant-at-arms.

Pre-Law Society To Visit City Hall

The Villanova Pre-Law Society will make its annual field trip to City Hall in Philadelphia on Thursday, March 2, 1961. Nearly the entire membership of the society, including the officers and moderator, Mr. Richard E. Ruane, will visit Municipal court and observe court procedures.

Cubans Seek Refuge Here; Government Aids Exiles

Forty-one exiles from Fidel Castro's Cuba, currently enrolled at Villanova, will shortly be receiving federal aid in their struggle to obtain an education outside their Communist-dominated homeland.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has provided that each of the Cuban expatriates is eligible for a non-interest-bearing loan, not to exceed $500, to assist in paying for tuition, room and board, and miscellaneous expenses.

Most of the refugees are former students of the University of St. Thomas of Villanueva in Havana. This Augustinian-operated institution has been a particular target of the Castro regime. The refugees transferred here from Villanueva, or gravitated here with friends who were transfer students.

Die If Necessary

Almost to a man, the Cubans insist that they will return to Cuba in the forseeable future. Most claim to be in touch with the anti-Castro underground operating in the U. S. All have expressed readiness to fight, and die if necessary, for the liberation of their country.

The federal government, meanwhile, has acted to assist the exiles during their sojurn in the United States. Peter Muirhead, director of the financial aid bureau of the HEW's Division of Higher Education, informed The Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of Villanova University, that the government is ready to consider applications from Cuban students for loans, which will average about $300. Until now the University has "carried the exiles on the books," Father Klekotka stated.

Besides the loans, the Immigration Services has altered the status of the expatriates from that of aliens to that of students. As students, they are not subject to imminent deportation.

ENGINEERS AND SCIENTISTS
NAA's On-Campus Interviews

The NAA industrial family has a career for you

Nuclear power at the Atomics International Division (Canoga Park, Calif.)
Atomics International Division is a leader, both here and abroad, in the development of nuclear reactors for power, research, and mobile systems.

Electronics & electromechanics at the Autonetics Division (Downey, Calif.)
Autonetics Division produces computers, inertial guidance, armament control, and flight control systems. Developers of inertial guidance systems for first Polaris-carrying subs, Minuteman ICBM, GAM-77 missile.

Naval aircraft & missiles at the Columbus Division (Columbus, Ohio)
Columbus Division, a complete center of systems capability, produces Navy's Mach 2 A3J Vigilante, is developing new Army target missile, and building the reflector for the world's largest radio/telescope.

Design & development of manned weapon systems at the Los Angeles Division (Los Angeles, Calif.)
Los Angeles Division is the home of next-generation manned weapon system—the Mach 3 B-70 Valkyrie—and America's first manned space vehicle, the X-15.

Missile weapon system management & space research at the Missile Division (Downey, Calif.)
Missile Division produces GAM-77 Hound Dog missile, is at work on space exploration vehicles and methods, and is conducting research well in advance of existing technology in the space sciences.

Propulsion systems and concepts at the Rocketdyne Division (Canoga Park, Calif.) (McGregor, Texas)
Rocketdyne Division, Free World's leading producer of large rocket engines, supplied main-stage boosters for 25 out of 28 successful U.S. satellites and space probes.

Advanced opportunities for engineers and scientists with graduate degrees. See Your Placement Office Today For Interview

NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION, INC.

Don Ameche, in original garb, emotes during a performance of "13 Daughters" a new musical which played Philadelphia's Shubert Theatre through last Saturday. "13 Daughters" open in New York tomorrow night.

"13 Daughters" At Shubert Features Ameche and Boyar

by Joe Zawacki

If the average Joe has trouble with his Jane, then pity the poor soul burdened with 13 daughters. This is the problem confronting Don Ameche in the new Jack Silverman production of "13 Daughters", which finished its four weeks run Saturday night at the Shubert theater. It opens this week in New York and it would take a crystal ball, an electric computer, and Alladdin's lamp to predict success or failure.

To be sure, it is as fresh and airy as the welcome weather we experienced here last weekend in the midst of winter (with the theater season as cold as the weather), but it falls quite short of the block-buster class. In essence, it reminds the viewer of the earlier "Molly Brown" in that its degree of success will depend on the merits of its stars.

Zawacki

Ameche Stars

The stars are Ameche as the harrassed Chinese father Chun who somehow always manages to have an idea on the fringe of his brain (girls seem to bring this state of being), Monica Boyar as the Polynesian who gives up her royal claims to marry the foreigner and thus precipitates the curse (?) which bears fruit in the baker's dozen daughters, and nightclub singing star Sylvia Syms as the wily Aunt Kinau who seems destined to be the catalyst in the play.

The story begins with the wedding and subsequent curse and the birth of the girls and traces Chun's efforts to marry off his offspring despite the aforementioned curse. His failures and eventual predictable success make up the heart of Eaton Magoon Jr.'s book, who

The songs are many but they are undistinguished, and none of them has the look of potential hit parade material in it although Miss Syms puts all her polish into the intended block-buster "Hoomalimali" toward the end of the second and final act. The scene changes are effortless and handled very well by the Nolan Scenic Studios who built and painted the pretty and showy sets.

Zawacki will inaugurate a new series in jazz, which will start next Tuesday, March 7 at 10:00 p.m. The series will run for 4 weeks, twice a week, and will be entitled "The History of Classical Jazz". The original recordings will be played with accompanying commentary.

Rod Alexander's Choreography is as imaginable as can be expected for any musical and John Fearnley's directing holds up until the middle of the final act when he attempts to stretch the thin story line beyond its inherent limits.

WWVU's "Headhunter", Joe

Since Musicals are currently in vogue, it is quite possible that "13 Daughters" will survive and have a respectable run in Gotham. The local critics, perhaps starved for a worthy musical, viewed it as "manna from heaven" and were almost lavish in their praise. The hardened New Yorkers might not go overboard as easily and one observer coinned it as being readymade for the housewives at the Wednesday Matinee.

On the plus side, Ameche is a delight. He glides through his role with a winning way and his class is infectious. Miss Boyar is appealing as his patient wife and all 13 daughters add spice to the proceedings. John Stewart lends a powerful voice to the part of Mana, the King's son. In fact, all of numerous speaking parts are handled with skill.

Verdict: Pleasant, but it won't set the world on fire.

Dr. Frood has already ordered 9,652 "Remember How Great" records. Don't let him get them all! Order yours NOW!

Get these twelve great original recordings—in one 12″ LP album—for $1.00 and ten empty Lucky Strike packs! Hurry! Order this fabulous album now! Here's a real collectors' item—the original recordings of twelve musical classics together for the first time! Great hits of swing, jazz and popular music magnificently reproduced by Columbia Record Productions on a 12″ 33⅓ LP. It's an unprecedented offer. Order your album right now. Just send one dollar and ten empty Lucky Strike packs (easier to mail if you flatten them) together with the filled-in shipping label below to "REMEMBER HOW GREAT," BOX 3600, SPRING PARK, MINNESOTA. Here are the great songs, great artists included in the "Remember How Great" album:

LOUIS ARMSTRONG St. Louis Blues	EDDY DUCHIN Stardust
COUNT BASIE One O'Clock Jump	DUKE ELLINGTON Mood Indigo
LES BROWN Sentimental Journey	HARRY JAMES Ciribiribin
CAB CALLOWAY Blues in the Night	ANDRE KOSTELANETZ Night and Day
XAVIER CUGAT Brazil	MARY MARTIN My Heart Belongs to Daddy
TOMMY DORSEY I Dream of You	DINAH SHORE Buttons and Bows

To get "Remember How Great" album, enclose and mail $1.00 and 10 empty Lucky Strike packs, together with filled-in shipping label. Please print clearly. Orders received after May 31, 1961, will not be honored. If sending check or money order, make payable to "Remember How Great."

SHIPPING LABEL

"Remember How Great"
P. O. Box 3600
Spring Park, Minnesota

TO
YOUR NAME _____ (PRINT YOUR NAME HERE)
STREET _____
CITY _____ ZONE _____ STATE _____

Offer good only in U. S. A. and Puerto Rico.

©THE AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.

Open casting

For Shakespeare's Othello, the next grad theatre production.

Vasey Hall
Thursday and Friday, March 2 and 3

ATTENTION

It is imperative that all Cuban students report to the Business Office before March 8.

A cherry wallet containing $215 in $5 and $10 bills was lost Tuesday between 12:30 and 2:30, possibly in the C&F cafeteria. The money was not the property of the owner of the wallet. The wallet contained no identification. Please contact Captain Murphy's office with any information.

Campus News Briefs

Astronomy Recognize

The Villanova Astronomy Society, which now includes fifty members, received recognition from the Student Council last month, and is now permitted to send a representative to the meetings.

At its February 6th meeting, the society elected Vincent Lamanna '62 as representative, and he will retain this office until the end of the semester.

Rev. Edward F. Jenkins, moderator of the society, spoke on the stars at the February 20th meeting. His lecture was accompanied by the film slides. New offices of Secretary and Treasurer were created. Formerly, both offices were held by one person.

At the next meeting, on March 6th, a talk on stellar photography will be given, followed by a demonstration in the observatory. George McCook, who graduated from Villanova in 1958, and is now taking graduate mathematics courses at the University of Pennsylvania, will deliver the lecture and demonstration.

Registration For Student Tutor Plan To Be Held March 2

Jim Strazella, Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs of the Student Council, recently announced that Paul O'Rourke, Chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee, has completed the plans for this semester's Student Tutor Program. Registration for this program is slated to begin on Thursday, March 2, in the first floor of Dougherty Hall.

O'Rourke strongly urges all interested students to sign up at this time but, if they are somehow unable, they can fill out the required information in the Student Council Office. The program, handled by Mike Wesley and Bill Williams this semester, is open to any student who might desire to tutor another student who is finding a particular study difficult and any student who feels that he has need of this assistance.

Tutoring is rendered in all fields of study and the only requirement for students seeking assistance is that they earnestly want to learn. To qualify as a tutor, the student must have received at least a grade of A in the particular subject in which he wishes to tutor.

This program acts as a body which united the student with another tutor. Vice-President Strazella emphasized that "there are no fees involved and this is a voluntary service of the Student Council. After we assign a tutor to a student, it is up to them to set up mutually agreeable hours as often as is felt necessary."

"Last semester," asserted O'Rourke, "was our most successful and in each succeeding semester the program seems to be gaining more and more momentum. There should be at least another 200 students participating again this semester. Therefore, because of the expected heavy demand for tutors, there is a nominal need for industrious, active tutors."

Choral Festival Slated

Butch McNally '61, president of the Villanova Singers, has announced that the seventh annual Intercollegiate Choral Festival will be held in the Villanova Field House at 8:00 p.m. March 11.

This year the organizations singing will be: Chestnut Hill College Glee Club, Immaculata College Glee Club, Rosemont College Glee Club, Holy Family College Glee Club, Saint Joseph's College Glee Club, and the Villanova University Singers.

FROSH REPS

(Continued from Page 1)

A petition was circulated, and the required 10% of the class members requested that nominations be reopened. At a class convocation held Monday it was explained that the petition could be constitutional only if a single candidate were on the slate.

After 45 minutes of wrangling, during which everything from mass hilarity to an implied physical threat to the election committee memers occured, all six candidates previously nominated offered to withdraw. At this, nominations were reopened and a total of ten candidates were renominated and the election was allowed to proceed.

Council

(Continued from Page 1)

Exam Schedule

The administration's proposed revision of the examination schedule was discussed at the meeting. The Student Council members, acting as representatives of the entire student body, asked that a letter be sent to the administration stating that the Council is definitely opposed to such a plan.

Discussion of the free day was complicated by an amendment to the original motion. The amendment, made by Paul O'Rourke, suggested that the holiday be held on May 12 instead of March 17. After a period of heated debate, a vote determined that the free day will be March 17.

At the close of the meeting, Bob DeLisa read a letter of resignation from Bob Scalia. In his letter Scalia stated that he chose to resign because of the futility of efforts to improve student government at Villanova.

Gridscore Winners

Above are pictured the winners in the L&M football contest. Bud Beloin (center) has been awarded $300 for correctly predicting the half time and final score of the Villanova-Xavier game, in which V.U. defeated Xavier, 21 to 7. Second place prize of $150 was shared by William J. Barnhurst, (left) and Harry Tucci.

"GIVE A MAN A TOUGH JOB AND A CHANCE TO GO SOMEWHERE ...AND HE'LL BREAK HIS NECK TO DO IT"

In 1958 when Bill Ebben was only a few months away from his engineering degree at the University of Detroit, he was in touch with 15 prospective employers.

He chose the Michigan Bell Telephone Company because: "This company offered the kind of engineering management opportunity I wanted—and they weren't kidding."

One of Bill's first assignments was a survey of Michigan Bell's big Central District to find out how long available building space could accommodate the switching equipment required by rapid telephone growth. "I wasn't given any instruction," Bill says, "I was just told to do the job."

So Bill did it. His report became the guide for planning and budgeting future construction.

On his next move, Bill proved he could handle supervisory responsibility. He was sent to head up a group of seven engineers to design a new long distance switching center for Saginaw, Michigan—a $4,000,000 engineering project.

Today, Bill is on the staff of Michigan Bell's Program Engineer. He's working on a system for mechanized control of telephone construction costs.

How does Bill feel about his job? "Give a man a tough job and a chance to go somewhere—and he'll break his neck to do it. Of course, I don't think I'm going to be running the business next year—but I'm getting every opportunity to hit the top. You don't worry about opportunity here—you worry about whether you're as big as the job."

If you're a man like Bill Ebben, a man who can size up a job, figure out what needs to be done, and then do it—then you should get in touch with one of the Bell Companies. Visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

NIT Drive Stalls In Dixie, Temple Deals Death Blow

by Bud Simmonds

In the last week, Villanova's wandering Wildcats followed the same checkered pattern which has been the trademark of their play all season long. The Severance-men rose to those old familar heights by upsetting highly favored Wake Forest and then fell just as swiftly from their lofty abode by dropping games to North Carolina State and Temple within three days.

These games were all classified "musts" since the Cats were still an outside chance for an NIT bid if they could have scored impressive wins over their three opponents.

Third City Series Loss

In seeking their first City Series victory Saturday, the Cats instead lost their third to the NIT-bound Temple Owls, 79-69. Hubie White gave another picture performance as he threw in 33 points, one short of his Palestra seasonal record, with 10 for 19 from the floor and 13 out of 14 from the free throw line.

The first half was a nip and tuck affair with Hubcaps setting the pace for the 'Cats with 20 points. Temple, guided by some sharp sniping on Earl Proctor's part, kept pace with the 'Cats and led at half-time 33-32.

In the second half, coach Harry Litwack set the Owls up in a box zone and struck Proctor on White with one or two other men collapsing on him any time he touched the ball. Co-captain Jim Huggard, who chipped in with 16 points, then began to pick up the slack but by this time Temple had taken a solid lead and could not be overtaken.

A bright light for Villanova fans was Bob Liberatore, who in his first Palestra appearance of the season turned in a fine job hustling for 9 points and 7 rebounds.

'Cats Split In Dixie

Down South, earlier in the week, the 'Cats split their two games scoring an impressive win over Wake Forest yet losing to North Carolina State.

The itinerant Mainliners pulled off another major upset by defeating Wake Forest in a thriller, 60-54 last Saturday at Greensboro, N. C. Jim Huggard, who seems to thrive against the big name teams, led the 'Cats with another of his spirited performances. The little guy kept Bones McKinney's Deacons off balance throughout the game with sharp ball hawking and 24 point shooting.

From the opening buzzer, Villanova took the lead and never relinquished it despite a barnstorming Wake Forest finish. Going into the second half, the Wildcats held a 30-24 lead with Hubie White in foul trouble with three personals.

Wake Challenges

Wake then began to roll with 6'8" All-American candidate Len Chappell, who was game high scorer with 26 points, heading the rally. Despite Chappell's work, no other Deacon scored in double figures and this was due to a tremendous defensive effort by the 'Cats.

The Deacons pulled up to make it 53-50 with less than four minutes remaining but the Wildcats pulled together for some fine team play and five points to stave off the rally. The V. U. scoring punch was well balanced with Hubie White (13) and Dick Kaminski (12) in double figures. Bob Liberatore in his first action since early season scored 8 points also.

N. C. State Revenge

Later in the same week, a revengeful N. C. State team spoiled retiring coach Al Severance's farewell appearance in the South's basketball hotbed. The Wolf Pack paid back a 72-63 loss delivered to them by the 'Cats in the Dixie Classic earlier in the season by defeating them 78-65.

Hubie White, Villanova's jumping junior, gave the Raleigh fans a show despite the loss by

(Continued on Page)

MEN!

Here's deodorant protection
YOU CAN TRUST

Old Spice Stick Deodorant... fastest, neatest way to all-day, every day protection! It's the active deodorant for active men... absolutely dependable. Glides on smoothly, speedily... dries in record time. Old Spice Stick Deodorant—most convenient, most economical deodorant money can buy. 1.00 plus tax.

Old Spice STICK DEODORANT
SHULTON

New Bowling Team In NCAA

Four of Villanova's bowlers display their form and new uniforms at the Rosemont Lanes.

(Photo By Tom Yodis)

There is a new addition to the stable of Varsity teams here at Villanova, the first week of December, 1960, marked the recognition of an intercollegiate bowling team.

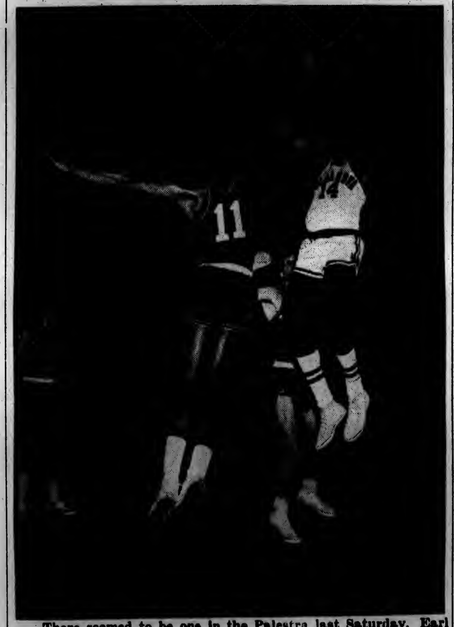
During the next week there followed several announcements and bulletins concerning an organizational meeting. At this meeting, a committee of three was chosed to select the seven top keglers to represent the university. The committee was chosen as to their knowledge of the sport and their participation and interest in the university's intramural leagues.

Tryouts were held on December 8 and 10 at Floyd's Rosemont Lanes. The thirty-three varsity aspirants rolled four games apiece. The team was chosen according to this four-game total, intramural and other averages.

Selected were Chuck Capone, John McCarthy, Sal Rico, Chuck Williams, Art Donnelly, Den Henderson and Bob Chanctier.

At the following team meeting, Sal Rico was elected to Captain of the squad.

Fr. Kenny Moderates



The proprietor of Floyd's Rosemont Lanes, generously offered the use of his establishment for team practice sessions. Rev. Thomas Kenny, O.S.A., is the faculty advisor for the new team.

Penn First Match

The team has extensive plans for matches with schools of high standing in the bowling world, in the Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York areas.

According to current league averages, there are very few college bowling teams in the country capable of stopping the 'Cats. The team will show a good indication of ability on Friday, Feb. 24, when they will match a very powerful Penn University team at William Penn Lanes in Philadelphia.

Is There A Proctor In The House?

There seemed to be one in the Palestra last Saturday. Earl Proctor (11) stretched a tawny arm afterward in a futile attempt to block a Hubie White (14) jump shot, as Bruce Drysdale (3) and John Koskinen look on. Proctor didn't block any of the red hot White's shots, but stayed close enough to him to hold him to thirteen in the second half, as Temple walloped the 'Cats 79-69.

Marksmen Cop NRA Sectionals; Take 11 of 15 Trophies

In the NRA pistol matches held at Bucknell University last week, the Villanova Pistol Team placed first in team competition with the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy and Bucknell placing second and third respectively. The Wildcats copped eleven of fifteen trophies in a splendid all-around performance.

For individual aggregate scoring George Sinclair placed second and Joe Bader third for the Villanova team. In other individual competition at the match, Bader took first place and Bob Altomare second in the slow fire, and Sinclair finished second and Altomare grabbed second and Sinclair third in the rapid fire.

Naval Academy Match

Formerly the Villanova Pistol Club, the unheraled Villanova Pistol Team, coached by Master Sergeant Reilly, U.S.M.C. has accumulated its most succeseful record yet. During this, their second year as a varsity group, the shooters, captained by senior Jerry Snopkowski, have notched up an admirable 14-4 log. Upcoming matches for the team include Valley Forge Military Academy and the Naval Academy.

In compiling this impressive record the pistol-packing 'Cats have lost only three collegiate matches. Two of these were to Army, who set a new national record in the meet with Villanova, and the other loss was to Navy. These two aggregations are ranked first and second in the country.

Using the team's victory in the sectionals at Bucknell as a yardstick, experts predict that this year Vilanova will improve the national standing of 13 which they held last year.

Campus News Briefs

Astronomy Recognize

The Villanova Astronomy Society, which now includes fifty members, received recognition from the Student Council last month, and is now permitted to send a representative to the meetings.

At its February 6th meeting, the society elected Vincent Lamanna '62 as representative, and he will retain this office until the end of the semester.

Rev. Edward F. Jenkins, moderator of the society, spoke on the stars at the February 20th meeting. His lecture was accompanied by the film slides. New offices of Secretary and Treasurer were created. Formerly, both offices were held by one person.

At the next meeting, on March 6th, a talk on stellar photography will be given, followed by a demonstration in the observatory. George McCook, who graduated from Villanova in 1958, and is now taking graduate mathematics courses at the University of Pennsylvania, will deliver the lecture and demonstration.

Registration For Student Tutor Plan To Be Held March 2

Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs of the Student Council, recently announced that Paul O'Rourke, Chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee, has completed the plans for this semester's Student Tutor Program. Registration for this program is slated to begin on Thursday, March 2, in the first floor of Dougherty Hall.

O'Rourke strongly urges all interested students to sign up at this time but, if they are somehow unable, they can fill out the required information in the Student Council Office. The program, handled by Mike Wesley and Bill Williams this semester, is open to any student who might desire to tutor another student who is finding a particular study difficult and any student who feels that he has need of this assistance.

Tutoring is rendered in all fields of study and the only requirement for students seeking assistance is that they earnestly want to learn. To qualify as a tutor, the student must have received at least a grade of A in the particular subject in which he wishes to tutor.

This program acts as a body which united the student with another tutor. Vice-President Strazella emphasized that "there are no fees involved and this is a voluntary service of the Student Council. After we assign a tutor to a student, it is up to them to set up mutually agreeable hours as often as is felt necessary."

"Last semester," asserted O'Rourke, "was our most successful and in each succeeding semester the program seems to be gaining more and more momentum. There should be at least another 200 students participating again this semester. Therefore, because of the expected heavy demand for tutors, there is a nominal need for industrious, active tutors."

Choral Festival Slated

Butch McNally '61, president of the Villanova Singers, has announced that the seventh annual Intercollegiate Choral Festival will be held in the Villanova Field House at 8:00 p.m. March 11.

This year the organizations singing will be: Chestnut Hill College Glee Club, Immaculata College Glee Club, Rosemont College Glee Club, Holy Family College Glee Club, Saint Joseph's College Glee Club, and the Villanova University Singers.

FROSH REPS

(Continued from Page 1)

A petition was circulated, and the required 10% of the class members requested that nominations be reopened. At a class convocation held Monday it was explained that the petition could be constitutional only if a single candidate were on the slate.

After 45 minutes of wrangling, during which everything from mass hilarity to an implied physical threat to the election committee memers occured, all six candidates previously nominated offered to withdraw. At this, nominations were reopened and a total of ten candidates were renominated and the election was allowed to proceed.

Council

(Continued from Page 1)

Exam Schedule

The administration's proposed revision of the examination schedule was discussed at the meeting. The Student Council members, acting as representatives of the entire student body, asked that a letter be sent to the administration stating that the Council is definitely opposed to such a plan.

Discussion of the free day was complicated by an amendment to the original motion. The amendment, made by Paul O'Rourke, suggested that the holiday be held on May 12 instead of March 17. After a period of heated debate, a vote determined that the free day will be March 17.

At the close of the meeting, Bob DeLisa read a letter of resignation from Bob Scalia. In his letter Scalia stated that he chose to resign because of the futility of efforts to improve student government at Villanova.

Gridscore Winners

Above are pictured the winners in the L&M football contest. Bud Beloin (center) has been awarded $300 for correctly predicting the half time and final score of the Villanova-Xavier game, in which V.U. defeated Xavier, 21 to 7. Second place prize of $150 was shared by William J. Barnhurst, (left) and Harry Tucci.

"GIVE A MAN A TOUGH JOB AND A CHANCE TO GO SOMEWHERE ...AND HE'LL BREAK HIS NECK TO DO IT"

In 1958 when Bill Ebben was only a few months away from his engineering degree at the University of Detroit, he was in touch with 15 prospective employers.

He chose the Michigan Bell Telephone Company because: "This company offered the kind of engineering management opportunity I wanted—and they weren't kidding."

One of Bill's first assignments was a survey of Michigan Bell's big Central District to find out how long available building space could accommodate the switching equipment required by rapid telephone growth. "I wasn't given any instruction," Bill says, "I was just told to do the job."

So Bill did it. His report became the guide for planning and budgeting future construction.

On his next move, Bill proved he could handle supervisory responsibility. He was sent to head up a group of seven engineers to design a new long distance switching center for Saginaw, Michigan —a $4,000,000 engineering project.

Today, Bill is on the staff of Michigan Bell's Program Engineer. He's working on a system for mechanized control of telephone construction costs.

How does Bill feel about his job? "Give a man a tough job and a chance to go somewhere—and he'll break his neck to do it. Of course, I don't think I'm going to be running the business next year—but I'm getting every opportunity to hit the top. You don't worry about opportunity here—you worry about whether you're as big as the job."

If you're a man like Bill Ebben, a man who can size up a job, figure out what needs to be done, and then do it—then you should get in touch with one of the Bell Companies. Visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

NIT Drive Stalls In Dixie, Temple Deals Death Blow

by Bud Simmonds

In the last week, Villanova's wandering Wildcats followed the same checkered pattern which has been the trademark of their play all season long. The Severance-men rose to those old familar heights by upsetting highly favored Wake Forest and then fell just as swiftly from their lofty abode by dropping games to North Carolina State and Temple within three days.

These games were all classified "musts" since the Cats were still an outside chance for an NIT bid if they could have scored impressive wins over their three opponents.

Third City Series Loss

In seeking their first City Series victory Saturday, the Cats instead lost their third to the NIT-bound Temple Owls, 79-69. Hubie White gave another picture performance as he threw in 33 points, one short of his Palestra seasonal record, with 10 for 19 from the floor and 13 out of 14 from the free throw line.

The first half was a nip and tuck affair with Hubcaps setting the pace for the 'Cats with 20 points. Temple, guided by some sharp sniping on Earl Proctor's part, kept pace with the 'Cats and led at half-time 33-32.

In the second half, coach Harry Litwack set the Owls up in a box zone and struck Proctor on White with one or two other men collapsing on him any time he touched the ball. Co-captain Jim Huggard, who chipped in with 16 points, then began to pick up the slack but by this time Temple had taken a solid lead and could not be overtaken.

A bright light for Villanova fans was Bob Liberatore, who in his first Palestra appearance of the season turned in a fine job hustling for 9 points and 7 rebounds.

'Cats Split In Dixie

Down South, earlier in the week, the 'Cats split their two games scoring an impressive win over Wake Forest yet losing to North Carolina State.

The itinerant Mainliners pulled off another major upset by defeating Wake Forest in a thriller, 60-54 last Saturday at Greensboro, N. C. Jim Huggard, who seems to thrive against the big name teams, led the 'Cats with another of his spirited performances. The little guy kept Bones McKinney's Deacons off balance throughout the game with sharp ball hawking and 24 point shooting.

From the opening buzzer, Villanova took the lead and never relinquished it despite a barnstorming Wake Forest finish. Going into the second half, the Wildcats held a 30-24 lead with Hubie White in foul trouble with three personals.

Wake Challenges

Wake then began to roll with 6'8" All-American candidate Len Chappell, who was game high scorer with 26 points, heading the rally. Despite Chappell's work, no other Deacon scored in double figures and this was due to a tremendous defensive effort by the 'Cats.

The Deacons pulled up to make it 53-50 with less than four minutes remaining but the Wildcats pulled together for some fine team play and five points to stave off the rally. The V. U. scoring punch was well balanced with Hubie White (13) and Dick Kaminski (12) in double figures. Bob Liberatore in his first action since early season scored 8 points also.

N. C. State Revenge

Later in the same week, a revengeful N. C. State team spoiled retiring coach Al Severance's farewell appearance in the South's basketball hotbed. The Wolf Pack paid back a 72-63 loss delivered to them by the 'Cats in the Dixie Classic earlier in the season by defeating them 78-65.

Hubie White, Villanova's jumping junior, gave the Raleigh fans a show despite the loss by

(Continued on Page)

Here's deodorant protection
YOU CAN TRUST

Old Spice Stick Deodorant... fastest, neatest way to all-day, every day protection! It's the active deodorant for active men... absolutely dependable. Glides on smoothly, speedily... dries in record time. Old Spice Stick Deodorant —most convenient, most economical deodorant money can buy. 1.00 plus tax.

Old Spice STICK DEODORANT
SHULTON

New Bowling Team In NCAA

Four of Villanova's bowlers display their form and new uniforms at the Rosemont Lanes.

(Photo By Tom Yodis)

There is a new addition to the stable of Varsity teams here at Villanova, the first week of December, 1960, marked the recognition of an intercollegiate bowling team.

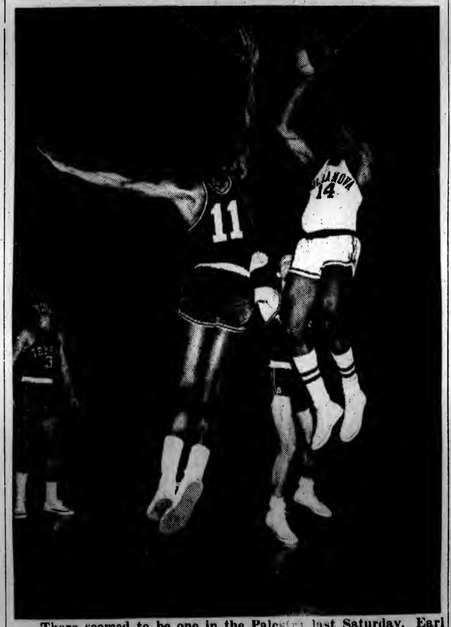
During the next week there followed several announcements and bulletins concerning an organizational meeting. At this meeting, a committee of three was chosed to select the seven top keglers to represent the university. The committee was chosen as to their knowledge of the sport and their participation and interest in the university's intramural leagues.

Tryouts were held on December 8 and 10 at Floyd's Rosemont Lanes. The thirty-three varsity aspirants rolled four games apiece. The team was chosen according to this four-game total, intramural and other averages.

Selected were Chuck Canone, John McCarthy, Sal Rico, Chuck Williams, Art Donnelly, Den Henderson and Bob Chanctier.

At the following team meeting, Sal Rico was elected to Captain of the squad.

Fr. Kenny Moderates



The proprietor of Floyd's Rosemont Lanes, generously offered the use of his establishment for team practice sessions. Rev. Thomas Kenny, O.S.A., is the faculty advisor for the new team.

Penn First Match

The team has extensive plans for matches with schools of high standing in the bowling world, in the Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York areas.

According to current league averages, there are very few college bowling teams in the country capable of stopping the 'Cats. The team will show a good indication of ability on Friday, Feb. 24, when they will match a very powerful Penn University team at William Penn Lanes in Philadelphia.

Is There A Proctor In The House?

There seemed to be one in the Palestra last Saturday. Earl Proctor (11) stretched a tawny arm afterward in a futile attempt to block a Hubie White (14) jump shot, as Bruce Drysdale (3) and John Koskinen look on. Proctor didn't block any of the red hot White's shots, but stayed close enough to him to hold him to thirteen in the second half, as Temple walloped the 'Cats 79-69.

Marksmen Cop NRA Sectionals; Take 11 of 15 Trophies

In the NRA pistol matches held at Bucknell University last week, the Villanova Pistol Team placed first in team competition with the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy and Bucknell placing second and third respectively. The Wildcats copped eleven of fifteen trophies in a splendid all-around performance.

For individual aggregate scoring George Sinclair placed second and Joe Bader third for the Villanova team. In other individual competition at the match, Bader took first place and Bob Altomare second in the slow fire, and Sinclair finished second and Altomare grabbed second and Sinclair third in the rapid fire.

Naval Academy Match

Formerly the Villanova Pistol Club, the unheraled Villanova Pistol Team, coached by Master Sergeant Reilly, U.S.M.C. has accumulated its most successful record yet. During this, their second year as a varsity group, the shooters, captained by senior Jerry Snopkowski, have notched up an admirable 14-4 log. Upcoming matches for the team include Valley Forge Military Academy and the Naval Academy.

In compiling this impressive record the pistol-packing 'Cats have lost only three collegiate matches. Two of these were to Army, who set a new national record in the meet with Villanova, and the other loss was to Navy. These two aggregations are ranked first and second in the country.

Using the team's victory in the sectionals at Bucknell as a yardstick, experts predict that this year Villanova will improve the national standing of 13 which they held last year.

The Unforgettable Game

West Virginia Game... 1958 Tough Loss For Severance

Editor's Note: Much has been said about the Severance Era. This article is the first of a series that will retell some of the exciting incidents in his 25 years as coach.

When a man decides to remove himself from a sport with which he has so long been established, he cannot simply dismiss all those games, both good and bad, which persist in his memory. Such is the case of Al Severance and that W. Virginia game.

There are many who will not remember that night of January 8, 1958. But Al remembers because it was on this particular occasion that an unheralded, unranked, mediocre Wildcat team took on the terror of the basketball world—the number one, nationally ranked, undefeated Mountaineers.

One of the Great Games

It was a game never to be forgotten by all who had seen it. I myself was present within that capacity crowd. Most of the onlookers did not expect Villanova to win or even come close for that matter. And yet, before the evening would be over, they would witness one of the greatest games ever played by an underdog team, a team that was supposed to lost by 15 points or more.

Yes, Villanova did lose, that night. Still it was only a referee's decision that enabled the southern unit to deprive the Wildcats of national headlines, when one official took the ball from Villanova in the last 17 seconds for not putting it into play fast enough, desoite time out calls by both the other referee and Captain Tom Brennan.

But what caused the defeat? The cause concerns a much disputed five-second out-of-bounds rule invoked by referee Smeddy with 18 seconds to play in the game with the Main Liners leading, 75-74.

Mountaineers Get Possession

The tiny gray-haired official ruled that Wildcat Captain Brennan had taken too long to throw the ball into play under the visitor's basket, and gave possession of the ball to the Mountaineers who went on to score a 76-75 win with two seconds to go and retain their undefeated record.

However, fellow referee Stevens had just called for a stopping of the clock because the ball had been rolling on the floor out of bounds. In other words, the ball wasn't in Brennan's possession though he had it for two seconds at the most. Still, the officials did nothing, W. Virginia took the ball, scored and remained the top team in the nation.

by Vic Strano

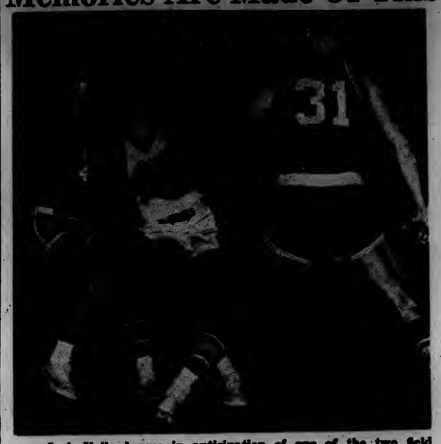
Of the two, Stevens was more to blame. Smeddy just proved what many observers had suspected all along—he didn't know what was going on. His companion, however, knew the call was wrong. Still he didn't stop the game and reverse the decision. By his silence, Stevens robbed the Villanova players of their greatest moment of glory.

Severance Offers Comments

What did Al have to say about the whole situation? He offered a few choice words. Al admitted that "it was a heartbreaker not so much for myself but for the team." He insisted that Smeddy should have picked up the ball and given it to Brennan. Instead he started his 5 second count when Brennan started to run after the ball as it went out-of-bounds. Nevertheless, Al states, "It was a game that we deserved to win but didn't."

At the sportswriter's luncheon, the following week, a film of the game was shown. It pointed out that:



1. The ball following a successful basket by West, bounced towards the stands.
2. The ball was touched by a spectator immediately behind the basket.
3. The Villanova players were not avoiding picking up the ball, but just the opposite, with Tom Brennan going after it and eventually getting possession.
4. The five second count was rather quick.

And so the dispute goes on, even today. It was just another one of those tragic losses in the history of Wildcat basketball under Severance's reign. A game we should have won but didn't. It may seem to some that we are crying over spilled milk here, and that we are trying to drag skeltons out of a closet. But remember this, it was one of those games that might take place only once in a lifetime as those who saw it may testify.

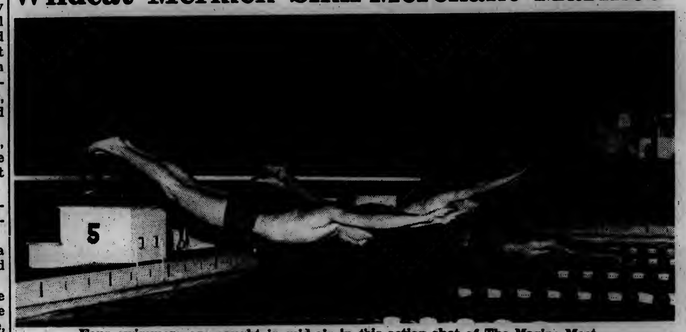
Loss Due To Obscurity

There have been many one point losses by Villanova teams. That is nothing new. But when a game is lost on such an obscure rule—that is something else. And for Al it could have been a game that would have taken its place among the great ones and yet merely ended up as a sickening unit in his loss column. Yet unforgettable will it remain.

Memories Are Made Of This

Jack Kelly beams in anticipation of one of the two field goals he canned against West Virginia. Jerry West (left) and Lloyd Sharrar, the star center whom Kelly out rebounded in the game, guard Jack closely.

TRACK



(Continued from Page 12)

Rolando Cruz and Vic Zwolak, who have consistently finished "in the money" all season, placed third in the pole vault and fourth in the two mile, respectively.

Unfortunately, Cruz and Zwolak, by virtue of their freshman status, are not eligible to compete in the IC4A's.

Leon Pras, in one of his better performances to date, finished third in the 60 yard high hurdles.

Wildcat Mermen Sink Merchant Marines

Four swimmers are caught in mid-air in this action shot of The Marine Meet. (Photo By Joe Konieneckl)

by Matt Mone

On February 13, Villanova's Varsity mermen travelled to Gettysburg College's new natatorium and unleashed all of the energy which had been kept inactive in them because of several weather cancellations. When the last man on the freestyle relay touched home and the meet was over, those few spectators who had braved the elements to watch the contest saw Villanova win all but two events on the eleven event program. Three of the listed pool records fell as the 'Cats piled up an impressive 72-23 score.

The outcome of the meet was forecast in the first event when the 400 yd. Medley Relay team consisting of Al Hicks, Don Boemcke, Mike Le Moult and Ed Jensen, proved far too strong for their opponents, winning by almost two full laps in the creditable time of 4:16.1. Mike Powers, sophomore sprint star, garnered top positions in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle events by outclassing the Gettysburg strokers with times of 0:24.5 and 0:54.4 respectively. Don Reed, the team's most consistent scorer, established two Gettysburg pool records while winning his specialty events.

Don had no trouble winning the 200 yd. Individual Medley in 2:22.9, and came back four events later to beat teammate Pat O'Donnell in the Backstroke event. The most exciting race of the day however, saw Don Boemcke trying to make a comeback by defeating Al Hicks in the 440 yd. freestyle in a closely contested race.

The Best Team

On the following Wednesday, the 'Cats travelled to New York to meet a powerful N.Y.U. squad. Despite the fact that they were rated 20 points underdogs, the Varsity swimmers put on a surprising display of strength and stayed with N.Y.U. right up to the end only to lose by a 51-44 score. Coach Ed Geisz called the performance of the Varsity "the best team effort he has seen to date," and was well pleased with the performance of the team as a whole.

Villanova seniors Dan O'Brien and Bob Dow celebrated their last home swimming meet by helping to contribute to a 57-38 defeat over the United States Merchant Marine Academy from Kings Point. The Cadets, who lost to LaSalle by 63-32 on the previous night, could not come up with a team strong enough to match the Wildcats in gaining place points.

O'Brien teamed with medley regulars Al Hicks, Don Boehmcke, and Mike LeMoult to turn in a surprising win. Captain Bob Dow, in perhaps the finest race of his career, finished a close second to the Mariner's Dick O'Boyle.

In the diving competition, Villanova's Al Nencetti put on an outstanding display of form and ability to clinch an easy victory. Don Reed, frustrated in his third straight attempt to annex the school record for the 200 yard backstroke, turned in a 2:22.2 clocking in his dorsal specialty. The record, held by Don Couig, captain of Villanova's great 1957-1958 team, is 2:22.0.

Mike Powers again touched first in the 50 and 100 yd. free styles but this time he had to work for the victories. Mike put on a strong surge in the 50 to beat Mariner Jim Swango in 0:24.9. In the 100 he sprinted in just fast enough to overtake the Point's Mullaly after a very slow start which saw Powers behind by almost a length at the 75 yard mark.

American on the go...

in a full year college program in Vienna.

Sophomores! Juniors!

Live and study in Europe next year

Send coupon TODAY!

name

address

city zone state

college

year in school

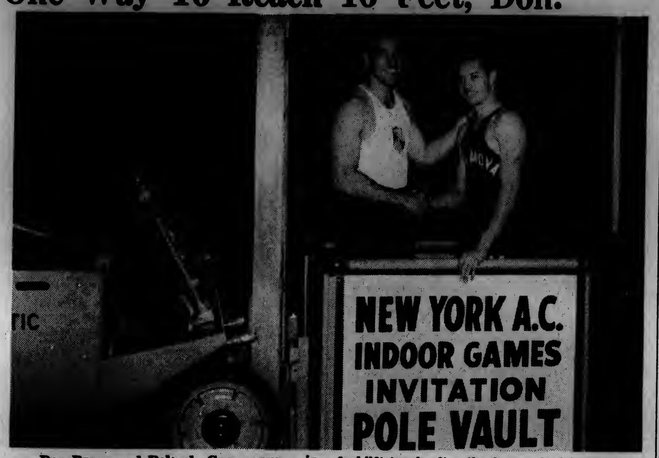
(a non-profit educational organization)

a Swingline Stapler no bigger than a pack of gum!

98¢ (Including 1000 staples)

SWINGLINE "TOT"

Millions now in use. Unconditionally guaranteed. Makes book covers, fastens papers, arts and crafts, mends, tacks, etc. Available at your college bookstore.



SWINGLINE "Cub" Stapler $1.29

Swingline INC.

LONG ISLAND CITY, NEW YORK, N. Y.

One Way To Reach 16 Feet, Don.

Don Bragg and Rolando Cruz converse in a forklift truck after the former had just failed to clear his goal of 16' in the NYCA meet. Cruz a Villanova frosh has cleared 15' twice in the indoor season. Bragg the world record holder hopes to clear the 16' mark this year. Experts claim the ex-Villanovan won't need the aid of the lift truck to do it.

New additions to the family!

The two new telephones in the bassinet are the result of a perfect marriage of research and design. They illustrate the way Gen Tel constantly strives to make the telephone an ever more convenient and helpful service of modern life.

The Starlite® phone in the foreground is a new "compact"—only half the size of a standard desk phone. Its PANELESCENT® (electroluminescent) dial glows in the dark for easy dialing, and can be turned up to serve as a night light.

The Space-Maker® phone can be hung anywhere—on posts and in tight corners. Both dial and handset can be adjusted to fit the space and the convenience of the user.

These new and modern phones for the home were developed by our subsidiary, Automatic Electric, largest supplier of telephone equipment to America's Independent telephone industry.

They are but two examples of how General Telephone & Electronics works to improve equipment and advance communications for the home, for industry and national defense—both here and abroad.

®Trade Mark

GENERAL TELEPHONE & ELECTRONICS

Sports Chatter

Is Villanova Jinxed?

by Pete Nolan

Is Villanova Jinxed?

As every football and basketball season fades away, the question seems to be more and more pertinent. Jinx seems to be the appropriate word because there doesn't seem to be any other solid explanation. Some of the discouraging basketball defeats we have suffered this season certainly gives this idea possibility, but it's something that has been happening for four years now.

Let's cite a few examples. In 1957, a talent-laden Villanova football team traveled to Waco, Texas to open its season against Baylor. Baylor was highly favored and had been rated as the would-be number one team in the Southwest. The Wildcats, disrespectful of Baylor's power, astonished 21,000 spectators by statistically out-maneuvering the Bears all the way. The uncanny result of the game, due to two fumbles and a penalty at acrucial point, gave Baylor an undeserved 7-0 victory. Villanova wound up the season with a 3-6 record. A majority of the games could have gone either way had it not been for fumbles.

6-4 In 58

Villanova had a good team that year and a good coach. Observers said we had bad breaks and we anticipated a hopeful future. In 1958, it looked as if the tide had turned. The Wildcats turned in an impressive 6-4 record, but still the optimistic Villanovan said, "We never should have lost to Quantico or Wichita."

1959 brought on the deluge of one of the worst football seasons in Villanova history. This past season showed small improvement in the record, but it did prove that the potential was there as it has been continually. Some say we played too difficult a schedule, but in games such as Detroit and Marquette we proved we were in the same class with major teams. Others say it may be anything from faulty coaching to the fact that we don't give enough athletic scholarships. Possibly these things are true to a certain extent, but if there is such a thing as luck, and it has anything to do with it, we just don't have it.

Bookies Beware

Take, for instance, basketball. In the past four years, the number of games we have lost by one point is more than you can count on both your hands. This year, our record so far is 11-11. How did we lose 11 games? To watch Villanova ramble over Detroit, one would begin to wonder. Certainly, the material and the coaching is there. It was more than evident in the Detroit game. Just what is it that makes the name of Villanova taboo in the business rooms of all good bookmakers?

The fact of the matter is we're unpredictable. We have been producing the type of ball teams such as the one which met West Virginia three years ago. (See page 10)

So this seems to be the ill-fated pattern which Villanova has gone through in the past four years. It almost seems as if we don't live right. This hypothesis may be so much superstition, but if it does hold anything, maybe the turning point is not too far in the future.

Round Midcourt

A Carnival With Refs

by Joe Zawacki

Who says that the circus and carnivals are things of the past? Not anyone who saw the Temple-St. Joe clash on the 18th. The amazing Hawk spirit committee outdid itself with their signs, designs, and cut-outs this time. It set the tone for an evening not easily forgotten. First hint of a wild and wooly evening came when Boston Univ.'s flight was fogbound and their game with La Salle was canceled. The local emporiums benefitted from this delay and it only served to increase the tension inside the barn.

The big game itself afforded the biggest surprises. For the first time in eons, Harry Litwack, the Owls amazing mentor, actually got visibly excited. A smaller, undermanned Temple squad outfought and outhustled the Hawks, only to lose the NCAA bid on a referee's call that many non-partisans thought unfair; and a record 91 foul shots were taken.

To many, the biggest crime of the century is that Harry Litwack spent 20 years coaching Freshman Ball. If anything, he seems to be making up for lost time and it was never more evident than in the St. Joe game. That it was so important was evident from the anguish exhibited on his face during the 5 agonizing minutes.

64 Fouls

That he might have call to complain was not so much the number of fouls called (64 in all), but the inconsistency of referees Silverman and King. Whereas Russ Gordon was not even warned about unnecessary elbowing in the early stages of the game, Bruce Fleming was whistled for a technical that cost Temple five points and the game (since ended in a tie). One outsider noted astutely that the game wouldn't have gotten out of hand if the refs had assumed control early in the games and that Fleming's action (he bounced the ball in anger against the floor) gets an official's warning 90% of the time. The local scribes, who rightfully like to keep clear of controversy, didn't even mention it.

Temple gained their moral victory of sorts last Saturday as they defeated our 'Cats and accepted a bid to the NIT, despite a phenomenal first half by Hubie White. Probably the best defense of all is to keep the ball away from a hot hand and Temple put this to use in the second half in slowing White till it was too late .

The Unforgettable Game

West Virginia Game... 1958 Tough Loss For Severance

Editor's Note: Much has been said about the Severance Era. This article is the first of a series that will retell some of the exciting incidents in his 25 years as coach.

When a man decides to remove himself from a sport with which he has so long been established, he cannot simply dismiss all those games, both good and bad, which persist in his memory. Such is the case of Al Severance and that W. Virginia game.

There are many who will not remember that night of January 8, 1958. But Al remembers because it was on this particular occasion that an unheralded, unranked, mediocre Wildcat team took on the terror of the basketball world—the number one, nationally ranked, undefeated Mountaineers.

One of the Great Games

It was a game never to be forgotten by all who had seen it. I myself was present within that capacity crowd. Most of the onlookers did not expect Villanova to win or even come close for that matter. And yet, before the evening would be over, they would witness one of the greatest games ever played by an underdog team, a team that was supposed to lost by 15 points or more.

Yes, Villanova did lose, that night. Still it was only a referee's decision that enabled the southern unit to deprive the Wildcats of national headlines, when one official took the ball from Villanova in the last 17 seconds for not putting it into play fast enough, despite time out calls by both the other referee and Captain Tom Brennan.

But what caused the defeat? The cause concerns a much disputed five-second out-of-bounds rule invoked by referee Smeddy with 18 seconds to play in the game with the Main Liners leading, 75-74.

Mountaineers Get Possession

The tiny gray-haired official ruled that Wildcat Captain Brennan had taken too long to throw the ball into play under the visitor's basket, and gave possession of the ball to the Mountaineers who went on to score a 76-75 win with two seconds to go and retain their undefeated record.

However, fellow referee Stevens had just called for a stopping of the clock because the ball had been rolling on the floor out of bounds. In other words, the ball wasn't in Brennan's possession though he had it for two seconds at the most. Still, the officials did nothing, W. Virginia took the ball, scored and remained the top team in the nation.

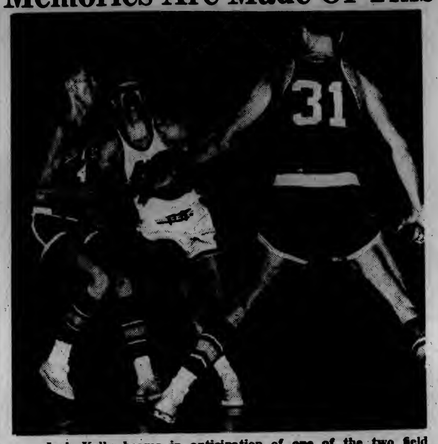
by Vic Strano

Of the two, Stevens was more to blame. Smeddy just proved what many observers had suspected all along—he didn't know what was going on. His companion, however, knew the call was wrong. Still he didn't stop the game and reverse the decision. By his silence, Stevens robbed the Villanova players of their greatest moment of glory.

Severance Offers Comments

What did Al have to say about the whole situation? He offered a few choice words. Al admitted that "it was a heartbreaker not so much for myself but for the team." He insisted that Smeddy should have picked up the ball and given it to Brennan. Instead he started his 5 second count when Brennan started to run after the ball as it went out-of-bounds. Nevertheless, Al states, "It was a game that we deserved to win but didn't."

At the sportswriter's luncheon, the following week, a film of the game was shown. It pointed out that:



1. The ball following a successful basket by West, bounced towards the stands.
2. The ball was touched by a spectator immediately behind the basket.
3. The Villanova players were not avoiding picking up the ball, but just the opposite, with Tom Brennan going after it and eventually getting possession.
4 The five second count was rather quick.

And so the dispute goes on, even today. It was just another one of those tragic losses in the history of Wildcat basketball under Severance's reign. A game we should have won but didn't. It may seem to some that we are crying over spilled milk here, and that we are trying to drag skeltons out of a closet. But remember this, it was one of those games that might take place only once in a lifetime as those who saw it may testify.

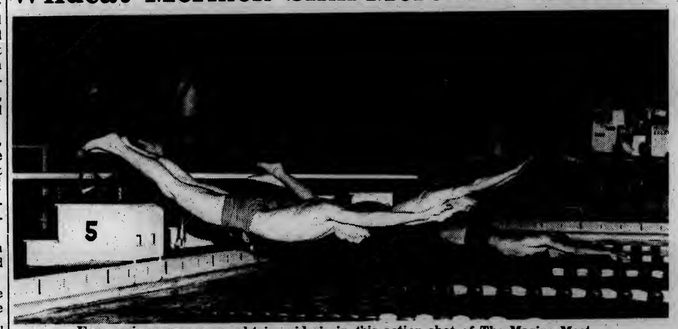
Loss Due To Obscurity

There have been many one point losses by Villanova teams. That is nothing new. But when a game is lost on such an obscure rule—that is something else. And for Al it could have been a game that would have taken its place among the great ones and yet merely ended up as a sickening unit in his loss column. Yet unforgettable will it remain.

Memories Are Made Of This

Jack Kelly beams in anticipation of one of the two field goals he canned against West Virginia. Jerry West (left) and Lloyd Sharrar, the star center whom Kelly out rebounded in the game, guard Jack closely.

TRACK



(Continued from Page 12)

Rolando Cruz and Vic Zwolak, who have consistently finished "in the money" all season, placed third in the pole vault and fourth in the two mile, respectively.

Unfortunately, Cruz and Zwolak, by virtue of their freshman status, are not eligible to compete in the IC4A's.

Leon Pras, in one of his better performances to date, finished third in the 60 yard high hurdles.

Wildcat Mermen Sink Merchant Marines

Four swimmers are caught in mid-air in this action shot of The Marine Meet. (Photo By Joe Konienecki)

by Matt Mone

On February 13, Villanova's Varsity mermen travelled to Gettysburg College's new natatorium and unleashed all of the energy which had been kept inactive in them because of several weather cancellations. When the last man on the freestyle relay touched home and the meet was over, those few spectators who had braved the elements to watch the contest saw Villanova win all but two events on the eleven event program. Three of the listed pool records fell as the 'Cats piled up an impressive 72-23 score.

The outcome of the meet was forecast in the first event when the 400 yd. Medley Relay team consisting of Al Hicks, Don Boemcke, Mike Le Moult and Ed Jensen, proved far too strong for their opponents, winning by almost two full laps in the creditable time of 4:16.1. Mike Powers, sophomore sprint star, garnered top positions in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle events by outclassing the Gettysburg strokers with times of 0:24.5 and 0:54.4 respectively. Don Reed, the team's most consistent scorer, established two Gettysburg pool records while winning his specialty events.

Don had no trouble winning the 200 yd. Individual Medley in 2:22.9, and came back four events later to beat teammate Pat O'Donnell in the Backstroke event. The most exciting race of the day however, saw Don Boemcke trying to make a comeback by defeating Al Hicks in the 440 yd. freestyle in a closely contested race.

The Best Team

On the following Wednesday, the 'Cats travelled to New York to meet a powerful N.Y.U. squad. Despite the fact that they were rated 20 points underdogs, the Varsity swimmers put on a surprising display of strength and stayed with N.Y.U. right up to the end only to lose by a 51-44 score. Coach Ed Geisz called the performance of the Varsity "the best team effort he has seen to date," and was well pleased with the performance of the team as a whole.

Villanova seniors Dan O'Brien and Bob Dow celebrated their last home swimming meet by helping to contribute to a 57-38 defeat over the United States Merchant Marine Academy from Kings Point. The Cadets, who lost to LaSalle by 63-32 on the previous night, could not come up with a team strong enough to match the Wildcats in gaining place points.

O'Brien teamed with medley regulars Al Hicks, Don Boehmcke, and Mike LeMoult to turn in a surprising win. Captain Bob Dow, in perhaps the finest race of his career, finished a close second to the Mariner's Dick O'Boyle.

In the diving competition, Villanova's Al Nencetti put on an outstanding display of form and ability to clinch an easy victory. Don Reed, frustrated in his third straight attempt to annex the school record for the 200 yard backstroke, turned in a 2:22.2 clocking in his dorsal specialty. The record, held by Don Couig, captain of Villanova's great 1957-1958 team, is 2:22.0.

Mike Powers again touched first in the 50 and 100 yd. free styles but this time he had to work for the victories. Mike put on a strong surge in the 50 to beat Mariner Jim Swango in 0:24.9. In the 100 he sprinted in just fast enough to overtake the Point's Mullaly after a very slow start which saw Powers behind by almost a length at the 75 yard mark.

a Swingline Stapler no bigger than a pack of gum!

98¢ (Including 1000 staples)

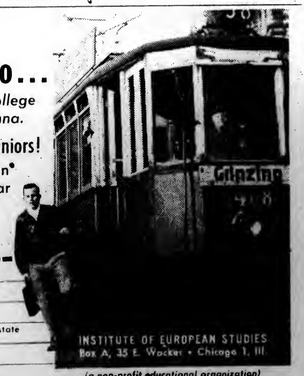
SWINGLINE "TOT"

Millions now in use. Unconditionally guaranteed. Makes book covers, fastens papers, arts and crafts, mends, tacks, etc. Available at your college bookstore.

SWINGLINE "Cub" Stapler $1.29

Swingline INC.

LONG ISLAND CITY, NEW YORK, N. Y.



American on the go...

in a full year college program in Vienna.

Sophomores! Juniors!

Live and study in* Europe next year

Send coupon TODAY!

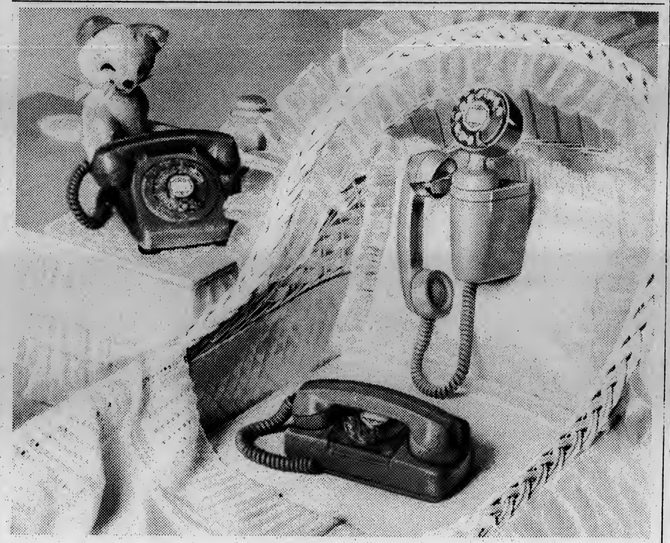
name

address

city zone state

college

year in school



INSTITUTE OF EUROPEAN STUDIES
Box A, 35 E. Wacker • Chicago 1, Ill.

(a non-profit educational organization)

One Way To Reach 16 Feet, Don.

Don Bragg and Rolando Cruz converse in a forklift truck after the former had just failed to clear his goal of 16' in the NYCA meet. Cruz a Villanova frosh has cleared 15' twice in the indoor season. Bragg the world record holder hopes to clear the 16' mark this year. Experts claim the ex-Villanovan won't need the aid of the lift truck to do it.

New additions to the family!

The two new telephones in the bassinet are the result of a perfect marriage of research and design. They illustrate the way Gen Tel constantly strives to make the telephone an ever more convenient and helpful service of modern life.

The Starlite* phone in the foreground is a new "compact" – only half the size of a standard desk phone. Its PANELESCENT® (electroluminescent) dial glows in the dark for easy dialing, and can be turned up to serve as a night light.

The Space-Maker* phone can be hung anywhere – on posts and in tight corners. Both dial and handset can be adjusted to fit the space and the convenience of the user.

These new and modern phones for the home were developed by our subsidiary, Automatic Electric, largest supplier of telephone equipment to America's Independent telephone industry.

They are but two examples of how General Telephone & Electronics works to improve equipment and advance communications for the home, for industry and national defense – both here and abroad.

*Trade Mark

GENERAL TELEPHONE & ELECTRONICS

GENERAL SYSTEM

Sports Chatter

Is Villanova Jinxed?

by Pete Nolan

Is Villanova Jinxed?

As every football and basketball season fades away, the question seems to be more and more pertinent. Jinx seems to be the appropriate word because there doesn't seem to be any other solid explanation. Some of the discouraging basketball defeats we have suffered this season certainly gives this idea possibility, but it's something that has been happening for four years now.

Let's cite a few examples. In 1957, a talent-laden Villanova football team traveled to Waco, Texas to open its season against Baylor. Baylor was highly favored and had been rated as the would-be number one team in the Southwest. The Wildcats, disrespectful of Baylor's power, astonished 21,000 spectators by statistically out-maneuvering the Bears all the way. The uncanny result of the game, due to two fumbles and a penalty at acrucial point, gave Baylor an undeserved 7-0 victory. Villanova wound up the season with a 3-6 record. A majority of the games could have gone either way had it not been for fumbles.

6-4 In 58

Villanova had a good team that year and a good coach. Observers said we had bad breaks and we anticipated a hopeful future. In 1958, it looked as if the tide had turned. The Wildcats turned in an impressive 6-4 record, but still the optimistic Villanovan said, "We never should have lost to Quantico or Wichita."

1959 brought on the deluge of one of the worst football seasons in Villanova history. This past season showed small improvement in the record, but it did prove that the potential was there as it has been continually. Some say we played too difficult a schedule, but in games such as Detroit and Marquette we proved we were in the same class with major teams. Others say it may be anything from faulty coaching to the fact that we don't give enough athletic scholarships. Possibly these things are true to a certain extent, but if there is such a thing as luck, and it has anything to do with it, we just don't have it.

Bookies Beware

Take, for instance, basketball. In the past four years, the number of games we have lost by one point is more than you can count on both your hands. This year, our record so far is 11-11. How did we lose 11 games? To watch Villanova ramble over Detroit, one would begin to wonder. Certainly, the material and the coaching is there. It was more than evident in the Detroit game. Just what is it that makes the name of Villanova taboo in the business rooms of all good bookmakers?

The fact of the matter is we're unpredictable. We have been producing the type of ball teams such as the one which met West Virginia three years ago. (See page 10)

So this seems to be the ill-fated pattern which Villanova has gone through in the past four years. It almost seems as if we don't live right. This hypothesis may be so much superstition, but if it does hold anything, maybe the turning point is not too far in the future.

Round Midcourt

A Carnival With Refs

by Joe Zawacki

Who says that the circus and carnivals are things of the past? Not anyone who saw the Temple-St. Joe clash on the 18th. The amazing Hawk spirit committee outdid itself with their signs, designs, and cut-outs this time. It set the tone for an evening not easily forgotten. First hint of a wild and wooly evening came when Boston Univ.'s flight was fogbound and their game with La Salle was canceled. The local emporiums benefitted from this delay and it only served to increase the tension inside the barn.

The big game itself afforded the biggest surprises. For the first time in eons, Harry Litwack, the Owls amazing mentor, actually got visibly excited. A smaller, undermanned Temple squad outrought and outhustled the Hawks, only to lose the NCAA bid on a referee's call that many non-partisans thought unfair; and a record 91 foul shots were taken.

To many, the biggest crime of the century is that Harry Litwack spent 20 years coaching Freshman Ball. If anything, he seems to be making up for lost time and it was never more evident than in the St. Joe game. That it was so important was evident from the anguish exhibited on his face during the 5 agonizing minutes.

64 Fouls

That he might have call to complain was not so much the number of fouls called (64 in all), but the inconsistency of referees Silverman and King. whereas Russ Gordon was not even warned about unnecessary elbowing in the early stages of the game, Bruce Fleming was whistled for a technical that cost Temple five points and the game (since ended in a tie). One outsider noted astutely that the game wouldn't have gotten out of hand if the refs had assumed control early in the games and that Fleming's action (he bounced the ball in anger against the floor) gets an official's warning 90% of the time. The local scribes, who rightfully like to keep clear of controversy, didn't even mention it.

Temple gained their moral victory of sorts last Saturday as they defeated our 'Cats and accepted a bid to the NIT, despite a phenomenal first half by Hubie White. Probably the best defense of all is to keep the ball away from a hot hand and Temple put this to use in the second half in slowing White till it was too late .

LaSalle: 'Cats Last Scheduled Foe

DON McGINLEY | JIMMY HUGGARD | DAVE SEVERANCE | DICK KAMINSKI | TOM SAMULEWICZ | BOB LIBERATORE

Wildkitten Cagers Ground Explorers; Up Record To 8-4

The Villanova freshman basketball team fooled the people in the know by knocking off tall and talented LaSalle in a thrilling game in the Main Line Field House last Friday afternoon.

The key to the Wildkittens 6th victory in 7 city series outings was the defensive job performance by Wally Jones on LaSalle star, Frank Corace. Corace was held to his season's low of points, far off the 30 point-plus he averaged in City Series play.

As Corace goes, so goes the Explorers and both of them went down Friday afternoon. The Villanova offensive was a thing of beauty as George Leftwich and company ran or hustled the Explorers into numerous mistakes.

Record: 8-4

The victory over LaSalle brings the Wildkittens record to 8 wins and 4 losses. Their city record is 6 and 1. Two of these losses, to Army and St. Joe's were suffered in the absence of George Leftwich, the Kittens' leading scorer and rebounder.

Jones and Leftwich have found a very awesome one-two punch that has proved quite effective. Between them they average over fifty points a game.

Leftwich leads with a 21.7 average through 11 games while Jones has poured in the points at a 19.9 clip. Jones has scored more points, 211 to 196.

The Villanova victories have been over Temple, 85-66 and 92-74; Penn, 70-69, and 83-78; St. Joe's 80-63; LaSalle, 77; Muhlenberg, 80-69; and Rider, 85-81.

COACH SEVERANCE . . . 37 YEARS OF SERVICE

Coach Severance, Seniors Have Only Two More To Go

by Ken Wiatrack

Villanova's see-saw cagers invade the Palestra for the next to last time under the leadership of Al Severance against the LaSalle Explorers of Dudey Moore. Next Saturday night the Wildcats will conclude their lacklustre season in an all-Big-Five doubleheader at the Palestra.

LaSalle was riding a four game winning streak and is in the process of developing its greatest all around prospect, Billy Raftery, since three time All-American Tom Gola wore the blue and gold colors of the school. Last year Raftery became a Freshman All-American after leading LaSalle frosh with a 26.4 p.p.g. average.

Help Wanted

From spring training headquarters temporarily established in the Field House, comes this urgent request from baseball manager, Mike Mullen:

Anyone interested in assisting Mullen to help execute his managerial duties is exhorted to report to him any day after 2:30 p.m.

Tall Guard

This year in his first varsity season Raftery is the leading scorer to date with a 17.7 p.p.g. output. At 6-4 he is probably one of the biggest guards around, and teams up with 6' Bobby McAteer to form one of the classiest backcourts combinations in the East.

Overall, LaSalle has a 14-6 mark, and a good well-balanced, young ball club. Their 72.7 foul shooting percentage is good enough to rank the Explorers eleventh nationally.

The scoring potential is unlimited since four of the starters are averaging in the double figures, and in their recent outing against Lafayette the Moore cagers hit the 100 mark for the first time since 1958. Raftery and McAteer shared scoring honors with 29 each.

McAteer Has 16.6 Average

McAteer, a junior, is the second highest scorer with a 16.6 p.p.g. average and plays a fine all-around game.

The Big Five twin bill will also mark the end of playing careers for six Villanova seniors. Besides co-captains Jim Huggard and Dick Kaminski, Tom Samulewicz, Dave Severance, Don McGinley, and Bob Liberatore will also be making their farewell appearances.

The Student Council has announced that it will sponsor a student trip to the Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association of America's Track and Field Meet, Saturday, March 11th. The Villanova track and field team defending champions, will compete in the annual affair which consistently draws the top talent from all over the east.

The trip is open to all interested students but space is limited. The five dollar charge covers the round trip bus ride to Madison Square Garden and back to the campus. All inquiries should be directed to the student council office, located on the second floor of Dougherty Hall.

IC4A TUNEUP SATURDAY

Knights of Columbus Games Last 'Workout' For Thinclads

by Mike Donahue

With an eye toward honing his thinclads to razor sharp perfection for defense of their IC4A championship crown, Jumbo Jim Elliott will send his minions through their final competitive workout at Madison Square Garden Friday night in the annual Knights of Columbus games.

The 'Cats trackmen, who are the most popular return engagement attraction at the Garden since Tiger Jones was emoting monthly before the cameras, will cavort in the vast Eighth Avenue sports emporium for the fourth time this season.

Highlights of their most recent performance at the Garden last Saturday in the National AAU Championships included:

a return to winning form for Frank Budd who posted his fifth sprint win of season with a 60 yard dash time of 6.1 seconds. Finishing a foot behind the Sheehan Olympian was his indestructible teammate, Paul (Otie) Drayton.

Enrouté to his second place finish, Drayton was forced to run what assistant coach Jim Tuppeny dubbed "five tough races," four of which were grueling qualifying heats. Otie also ran two quarters as leadoff on the 'Cats mile relay team as the Elliott men first qualified for the finals and then posted its best time of the season, 3:17.3, only to lose to non-IC4A combatant Morgan State's phenomenal 3:16.3.

The two mile relay team placed third behind Holy Cross and Manhattan, while Rolando Cruz vaulting 14-6, barely missed adding a half point to the team total of 13 when he missed a tie for fourth by virtue of a miss at 14 feet.

Leon Pras reached the semi-finals of the 60 yard high hurdles before being eliminated.

Long Heave

The New York AC meet held the week prior to the AAU championship was highlighted by the longest shotput heave ever effected by a Villanovan.

Sophomore Billy Joe hurled the 16 pound ball 55 feet, 8 inches, thereby smashing teammate Jerry Donini's old mark by more than three feet. Off this Herculean heave Joe looms as a potential point-getter in the IC4A extravaganza.

(Continued on Page 10)

They're Off and Running . . .

Sheehan Olympian Frank Budd (second from right) zooms off starting blocks in qualifying heat at New York Athletic Club Meet Feb. 17, at Madison Square Garden.

(Photo By Mike Pastore)

Villanovan

VOL. 36—NO. 16 | VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. | MARCH 9, 1961

Senator Thomas Dodd makes an important point during Monday night's Law Forum, held in Garey Hall.

Co-existence Impossible Note Red Tactics - Dodd

by Jim Strazzella

Senator Thomas Dodd declared here last Monday evening that the Free World can defend itself against the Communist enemy only if it first fully understands Communism's purpose, its mentality, tactics, and strategy.

The Democratic Senator from Connecticut, addressing the fifth and final session of this year's Villanova Law Forum, depicted Communism as "the mortal antithesis of everything we hold dear." He charged that many who admit the validity of certain facts about the Communists nevertheless erroneously believe we must seriously strive to achieve co-existence with them.

"This position assumes," said the Senator, "that the essential difference between Communism and freedom are negotiable". But "while many minor and peripheral differences are negotiable," he continued," the essential difference between freedom and slavry is not."

"Time Running Out"

Senator Dodd, who spoke under the title of "The Defense of Freedom", said that America has too long "refused to face up to the facts" but that we must soon take heed and understand "because time is running out on the Free World . . . Never has the situation been as perilous as it is today." The Kremlin, he added, is under compulsion to destroy us.

Senator Dodd went on to say that the Kremlin has been planning an increasing emphasis on "subterfuge and subterranean operations." Two of the major prongs of this subterranean attack, he suggested, are Communist manipulation of public opinion and Communist influence on government policy.

Grove Named Editor Of Jr. Week Issue Deadline Announced

Daniel G. Grove, Co-Sports Editor of The VILLANOVAN, has been named Editor of the special Junior Week edition of the paper, it has been announced by the Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Moderator.

Grove, a Political Scien major from Maysville, Ky., has revealed that the Junior Week issue will be published May 1, which is Mothers' Day of Junior Week.

DAN GROVE
. . . Jr. Week Editor

He further declared that "most articles for the issue have been assigned to various members of the junior class. No final decision has yet been made about the cover page, however. Junior Week tradition calls for a unique first page, and we welcome any ideas in this regard.

Shamokinaki Aids Missions Dance Stars "Villanovans"

The annual Shamokinaki Dance, for the benefit of the Augustinian foreign missions in Japan, will be held in the Field House Friday evening.

Music for the event, which is the only social affair scheduled during Lent, will be provided by "The Villanovans," while "The Four Fifths," the campus vocal groups, will entertain during intermission.

Price of tickets, which are on sale in the Pie Shoppe or at the door, is $2.00 per couple. Ron Bulotta, Publicity Chairman for the event, has noted that late permission has students of local women's colleges is being sought.

'Picturesque Room"

Earl Denlinger, general Chairman of Shamokinaki, described the Field House decorations as a "picturesque Oriental room adorned with Japanese lanterns, fans and other ornaments." He urged the attendance of all Villanova students, but added that it was really unnecessary to ask for attendance ,as Shamokinaki is traditionally one of the most successful dances of the social year.

At the dance, the drawing for the Student Council sponsored trip to Europe will be held. Tickets for this drawing have been on sale all over campus in recent days. The winner of the drawing has the option of the European trip or $500 cash. The traditional drawing for the Japanese tea set will also take place at the dance.

Denlinger announced that, in addition to the drawings souvenirs of the dance will be available. "In the center of the floor of the Field House will be a huge container of balloons. The sewill be released at the end of the dance for everyone who wants a remembrance of the occasion."

Council Considers Food, Loyalty Oath; Forum Is Scheduled

The Student Council, at its meeting last Wednesday, announced that an Executive Forum will be held on Wednesday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m., in a room to be announced. The purpose of the meeting, according to John Oberlies, Executive Vice-President of Student Government, is to facilitate student awareness at Villanova by permitting students to question the executive members of Villanova's Student Government. The student may bring his complaints to the officers, may ask questions about policy, and may personally suggest ways to better student government," said Oberlies. He added that the program will be started on a trial basis.

Bob DeLisa, Chairman of the Student Council, announced that Kevin Driscoll has been appointed as Alumni Representative in place of Bob Scalia who resigned recently. An election was held to select a senior Council member to take Scalia's place on the Student Senate.

The candidates nominated were Kevin Driscoll, Bill Freind, Joe Remy, Paul O'Rourke, and Jim McAteer. McAteer, who is editor of the VILLANOVAN, declined the nomination. The winner of the election, Bill Freind, will assume his seat in the Senate next week.

Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs announced that registration for the Student Tutor Program would be held on Thursday, March 9. He asked the cooperation of everyone who is interested in tutoring and being tutored.

Because of minor difficulties, the Library will not remain open late on Sunday evenings, as was previously announced, until the

(Continued on Page 9)

McErlane and O'Connor Victorious Frosh Reps

The Freshmen Class turned out 774 voting members strong for the election of a resident and a dayhop representative to Student Council last week.

Jim McErlane rolled up 336 votes which far surpassed the totals of his opponents and enabled him to sweep into the Dayhop Representative seat on Council.

In winning, McErlane stated that he intends to live up to the platform on which he ran. He also expressed his gratitude to the members of the IT Party who gave him their loyal and wholehearted support.

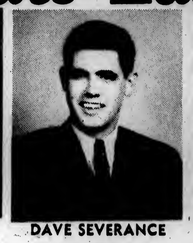
The victorious Resident candidate, Jim O'Conner, a member of the RIGHT Party, managed to capture 268 ballots in the more closely contested side of the election. Following the announcement of the final tally of ballots, O'Conner said that he wished to thank his backers for the trust that they placed in him. He added that he hopes to do a good job during his tenure of office.

The also-ran hopefuls for the Day-hop seat were Joseph Marinari, 203; Vincent Fumo, 125; and James Mason, 48. Donald Duck received one vote but the Election Board discounted him because he had not been officially nominated.

The runners-up for the Resident seat were Walter Duiski and Peter Cassidy who ended in a dead-heat for second position with 204 each and Charles Didomenico, who garnered 70 votes.

In commenting on the conduct of the election, Co-Chairmen of the Elections Committee Brian Scully and John O'Connell noted that the exceptionally large turnout of voters from the class "seems to be indicative of a strong class spirit and interest in student politics and government."

It was widely speculated among student Council members observing the election that the recent furor over nomination of candidates produced great interest, and the consequent large turnout of voters.



Three enthusiastic IT party members demonstrate their campaign spirit during the Frosh Election Thursday.

LaSalle: 'Cats Last Scheduled Foe

DON McGINLEY

JIMMY HUGGARD

DAVE SEVERANCE

DICK KAMINSKI

TOM SAMULEWICZ

BOB LIBERATORE

Wildkitten Cagers Ground Explorers; Up Record To 8-4

The Villanova freshman basketball team fooled the people in the know by knocking off tall and talented LaSalle in a thrilling game in the Main Line Field House last Friday afternoon.

The key to the Wildkittens 6th victory in 7 city series outings was the defensive job performance by Wally Jones on LaSalle star, Frank Corace. Corace was held to his season's low of points, far off the 30 point-plus he averaged in City Series play.

As Corace goes, so goes the Explorers and both of them went down Friday afternoon. The Villanova offensive was a thing of beauty as George Leftwich and company ran or hustled the Explorers into numerous mistakes.

Record: 8-4

The victory over LaSalle brings the Wildkittens record to 8 wins and 4 losses. Their city record is 6 and 1. Two of these losses, to Army and St. Joe's were suffered in the absence of George Leftwich, the Kittens' leading scorer and rebounder.

Jones and Leftwich have found a very awesome one-two punch that has proved quite effective. Between them they average over fifty points a game.

Leftwich leads with a 21.7 average through 11 games while Jones has poured in the points at a 19.9 clip. Jones has scored more points, 211 to 196.

The Villanova victories have been over Temple, 85-66 and 92-74; Penn, 70-69, and 83-78; St. Joe's 80-63; LaSalle, 77; Muhlenberg, 80-69; and Rider, 88-81.

COACH SEVERANCE . . . 37 YEARS OF SERVICE

Coach Severance, Seniors Have Only Two More To Go

by Ken Wiatrack

Villanova's see-saw cagers invade the Palestra for the next to last time under the leadership of Al Severance against the LaSalle Explorers of Dudey Moore. Next Saturday night the Wildcats will conclude their lacklustre season in an all-Big-Five doubleheader at the Palestra.

LaSalle was riding a four game winning streak and is in the process of developing its greatest all around prospect, Billy Raftery, since three time All-American Tom Gola wore the blue and gold colors of the school. Last year Raftery became a Freshman All-American after leading LaSalle frosh with a 26.4 p.p.g. average.

Tall Guard

This year in his first varsity season Raftery is the leading scorer to date with a 17.7 p.p.g. output. At 6-4 he is probably one of the biggest guards around, and teams up with 6' Bobby McAteer to form one of the classiest backcourts combinations in the East.

Overall, LaSalle has a 14-6 mark, and a good well-balanced, young ball club. Their 72.7 foul shooting percentage is good enough to rank the Explorers eleventh nationally.

The scoring potential is unlimited since four of the starters are averaging in the double figures, and in their recent outing against Lafayette the Moore cagers hit the 100 mark for the first time since 1958. Raftery and McAteer shared scoring honors with 29 each.

McAteer Has 16.6 Average

McAteer, a junior, is the second highest scorer with a 16.6 p.p.g. average and plays a fine all-around game.

The Big Five twin bill will also mark the end of playing careers for six Villanova seniors. Besides co-captains Jim Huggard and Dick Kaminski, Tom Samulewicz, Dave Severance, Don McGinley, and Bob Liberatore will also be making their farewell appearances.

Help Wanted

From spring training headquarters temporarily established in the Field House, comes this urgent request from baseball manager, Mike Mullen:

Anyone interested in assisting Mullen to help execute his managerial duties is exhorted to report to him any day after 2:30 p.m.

IC4A TUNEUP SATURDAY

Knights of Columbus Games Last 'Workout' For Thinclads

by Mike Donahue

With an eye toward honing his thinclads to razor sharp perfection for defense of their IC4A championship crown, Jumbo Jim Elliott will send his minions through their final competitive workout at Madison Square Garden Friday night in the annual Knights of Columbus games.

The 'Cats trackmen, who are the most popular return engagement attraction at the Garden since Tiger Jones was emoting monthly before the cameras, will cavort in the vast Eighth Avenue sports emporium for the fourth time this season.

Highlights of their most recent performance at the Garden last Saturday in the National AAU Championships included:

a return to winning form for Frank Budd who posted his fifth sprint win of season with a 60 yard dash time of 6.1 seconds. Finishing a foot behind the Sheehan Olympian was his indestructible teammate, Paul (Otie) Drayton.

Enroute to his second place finish, Drayton was forced to run what assistant coach Jim Tuppeny dubbed "five tough races," four of which were grueling qualifying heats. Otie also ran two quarters as leadoff on the 'Cats mile relay team as the Elliott men first qualified for the finals and then posted its best time of the season, 3:17.3, only to lose to non-IC4A combatant Morgan State's phenomenal 3:16.3.

The two mile relay team placed third behind Holy Cross and Manhattan, while Rolando Cruz vaulting 14-6, barely missed adding a half point to the team total of 13 when he missed a tie for fourth by virtue of a miss at 14 feet.

Leon Pras reached the semi-finals of the 60 yard high hurdles before being eliminated.

Long Heave

The New York AC meet held the week prior to the AAU championship was highlighted by the longest shotput heave ever effected by a Villanovan.

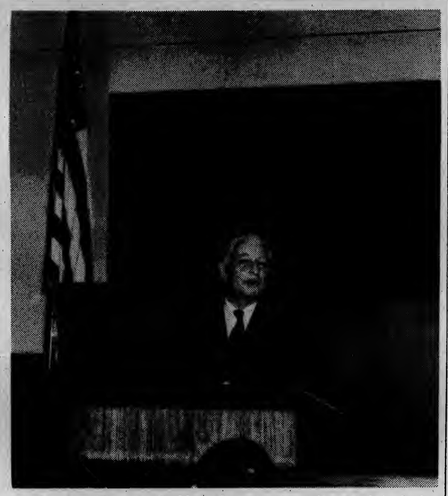
Sophomore Billy Joe hurled the 16 pound ball 55 feet, 8 inches, thereby smashing teammate Jerry Donini's old mark by more than three feet. Off this Herculean heave Joe looms as a potential point-getter in the IC4A extravaganza.

(Continued on Page 10)

The Student Council has announced that it will sponsor a student trip to the Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association of America's Track and Field Meet, Saturday, March 11th. The Villanova track and field team defending champions, will compete in the annual affair which consistently draws the top talent from all over the east.

The trip is open to all interested students but space is limited. The five dollar charge covers the round trip bus ride to Madison Square Garden and back to the campus. All inquiries should be directed to the student council office, located on the second floor of Dougherty Hall.

They're Off and Running . . .



Sheehan Olympian Frank Budd (second from right) zooms off starting blocks in qualifying heat at New York Athletic Club Meet Feb. 17, at Madison Square Garden.

(Photo By Mike Pastore)

Villanovan

VOL. 36—NO. 16 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. MARCH 9, 1961

Senator Thomas Dodd makes an important point during Monday night's Law Forum, held in Garey Hall.

Co-existence Impossible Note Red Tactics - Dodd

by Jim Strazzella

Senator Thomas Dodd declared here last Monday evening that the Free World can defend itself against the Communist enemy only if it first fully understands Communism's purpose, its mentality, tactics, and strategy.

The Democratic Senator from Connecticut, addressing the fifth and final session of this year's Villanova Law Forum, depicted Communism as "the mortal antithesis of everything we hold dear." He charged that many who admit the validity of certain facts about the Communists nevertheless erroneously believe we must seriously strive to achieve co-existence with them.

"This position assumes," said the Senator, "that the essential difference between Communism and freedom are negotiable". But "while many minor and peripheral differences are negotiable," he continued," the essential difference between freedom and slavry is not."

"Time Running Out"

Senator Dodd, who spoke under the title of "The Defense of Freedom", said that America has too long "refused to face up to the facts" but that we must soon take heed and understand "because time is running out on the Free World . . . Never has the situation been as perilous as it is today." The Kremlin, he added, is under compulsion to destroy us.

Senator Dodd went on to say that the Kremlin has been planning an increasing emphasis on "subterfuge and subterranean operations." Two of the major prongs of this subterranean attack, he suggested, are Communist manipulation of public opinion and Communist influence on government policy.

Grove Named Editor Of Jr. Week Issue Deadline Announced

Daniel G. Grove, Co-Sports Editor of The VILLANOVAN, has been named Editor of the special Junior Week edition of the paper, it has been announced by the Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Moderator.

Grove, a Political Scien major from Maysville, Ky., has revealed that the Junior Week issue will be published May 1, which is Mothers' Day of Junior Week.

DAN GROVE
. . . Jr. Week Editor

He further declared that "most articles for the issue have been assigned to various members of the junior class. No final decision has yet been made about the cover page, however. Junior Week tradition calls for a unique first page, and we welcome any ideas in this regard.

Shamokinaki Aids Missions Dance Stars "Villanovans"

The annual Shamokinaki Dance, for the benefit of the Augustinian foreign missions in Japan, will be held in the Field House Friday evening.

Music for the event, which is the only social affair scheduled during Lent, will be provided by "The Villanovans," while "The Four Fifths," the campus vocal groups, will entertain during intermission.

Price of tickets, which are on sale in the Pie Shoppe or at the door, is $2.00 per couple. Ron Bulotta, Publicity Chairman for the event, has noted that late permission has students of local women's colleges is being sought.

'Picturesque Room"

Earl Denlinger, general Chairman of Shamokinaki, described the Field House decorations as a "picturesque Oriental room adorned with Japanese lanterns, fans and other ornaments." He urged the attendance of all Villanova students, but added that it was really unnecessary to ask for attendance ,as Shamokinaki is traditionally one of the most successful dances of the social year.

At the dance, the drawing for the Student Council sponsored trip to Europe will be held. Tickets for this drawing have been on sale all over campus in recent days. The winner of the drawing has the option of the European trip or $500 cash. The traditional drawing for the Japanese tea set will also take place at the dance.

Denlinger announced that, in addition to the drawings souvenirs of the dance will be available. "In the center of the floor of the Field House will be a huge contriner of balloons. The sewill be released at the end of the dance for everyone who wants a remembrance of the occasion."

Council Considers Food, Loyalty Oath; Forum Is Scheduled

The Student Council, at its meeting last Wednesday, announced that an Executive Forum will be held on Wednesday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m., in a room to be announced. The purpose of the meeting, accoruing to John Oberlies, Executive Vice-President of Student Government, is to facilitate student awareness at Villanova by permitting students to question the executive members of Villanova's Student Government. The student may bring his complaints to the officers, may ask questions about policy, and may personally suggest ways to better student government," said Oberlies. He added that the program will be started on a trial basis.

Bob DeLisa, Chairman of the Student Council, announced that Kevin Driscoll has been appointed as Alumni Representative in place of Bob Scalia who resigned recently. An election was held to select a senior Council member to take Scalia's place on the Student Senate.

The candidates nominated were Kevin Driscoll, Bill Freind, Joe Remy, Paul O'Rourke, and Jim McAteer. McAteer, who is editor of the VILLANOVAN, declined the nomination. The winner of the election, Bill Freind, will assume his seat in the Senate next week.

Jim Strazzella, Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs announced that registration for the Student Tutor Program would be held on Thursday, March 9. He asked the cooperation of everyone who is interested in tutoring and being tutored.

Because of minor difficulties, the Library will not remain open late on Sunday evenings, as was previously announced, until the

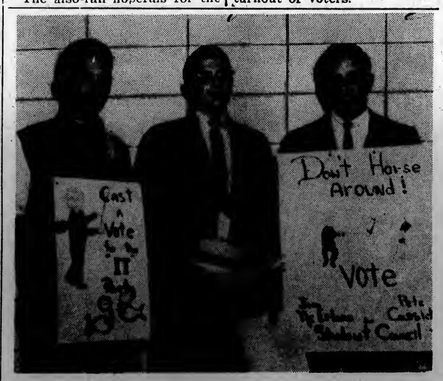
(Continued on Page 9)

McErlane and O'Connor Victorious Frosh Reps

The Freshmen Class turned out 774 voting members strong for the election of a resident and a dayhop representative to Student Council last week.

Jim McErlane rolled up 336 votes which far surpassed the totals of his opponents and enabled him to sweep into the Dayhop Representative seat on Council.

In winning, McErlane stated that he intends to live up to the platform on which he ran. He also expressed his gratitude to the members of the IT Party who gave him their loyal and wholehearted support.



The victorious Resident candidate, Jim O'Conner, a member of the RIGHT Party, managed to capture 268 ballots in the more closely contested side of the election. Following the announcement of the final tally of ballots, O'Conner said that he wished to thank his backers for the trust that they placed in him. He added that he hopes to do a good job during his tenure of office.

The also-ran hopefuls for the Day-hop seat were Joseph Marinari, 203; Vincent Fumo, 125; and James Mason, 48. Donald Duck received one vote but the Election Board discounted him because he had not been officially nominated.

The runners-up for the Resident seat were Walter Duski and Peter Cassidy who ended in a dead-heat for second position with 204 each and Charles Didomenico, who garnered 70 votes.

In commenting on the conduct of the election, Co-Chairmen of the Elections Committee Brian Scully and John O'Connell noted that the exceptionally large turnout of voters from the class "seems to be indicative of a strong class spirit and interest in student politics and government."

It was widely speculated among student Council members observing the election that the recent furor over nomination of candidates produced great interest, and the consequent large turnout of voters.

Three enthusiastic IT party members demonstrate their campaign spirit during the Frosh Election Thursday.

Blood Donations, 304 Pints As Quota Is Exceeded

The Blood Drive here at Villanova ended with greater success than in the last three years of its history. The final count of 304 pints is three pints over the estimated quota, and 45 more pints than last year.

Mrs. Zimmerman, Chairlady of the Villanova Drive stated that "due to the marvelous cooperation received from Gerry Gelinas, Student Chairman, and Captain Boyle, Commanding Officer of the NROTC, the total count of donors will exceed those of the last three years."

Benefits of the Donor

Under the program any student was eligible to donate blood for which he was eligible to obtain free blood from any Red Cross agency in the country, should he or any of his family have a need for it within the year following the donation. The only possible charge that might be billed to the donor upon receiving blood would be that of the administrative costs incurred by the hospital or agency supplying the donor.

Mrs. Zimmerman emphasized the fact that those people selling their blood are not covered by this insurance program whereas those donating their blood will receive in times of need of free blood for either himself or a relative needing it, no matter where that donor might reside after leaving Villanova for the period of one year.

The annual Villanova drive was started here when the University extended to the Radnor Chapter an invitation to come to Villanova University, six years ago. Since then Villanova has been one of the best suppliers to the Southeast Pennsylvania Chapter of the Red Cross.

Club Pres. Named Area Rep. To National Veterans Assn.

Thomas Kennedy, president of the Villanova Veterans Club, recently announced that Villanova has been appointed and designated to represent Eastern Pennsylvania in the newly formed American Association of University Veterans.

"The purpose of the Association will be directed toward the development of the qualities of leadership and responsibility in citizenship through an active and dedicated participation in state and national affairs," said Kennedy.

He added that the Association intends to carry out a number of programs which will aid the veterans here on campus as well as the veterans throughout the country.

The major interest of the group at the present time is the acquiring of financial assistance for veterans who did not benefit from the now defunct GI Bill.

Kennedy stated that the Association will attempt to foster support for "A Peace Time GI Bill" now before the Senate. This bill would provide economic aid for the many "peace time veterans" whose educational opportunities are now limited due to a lack of sufficient funds. The bill has already been passed by the House and now awaits Senate approval.

Among the other programs which the Association intends to undertake is the establishment of a national service honorary for veterans who rightfully deserve recognition for outstanding leadership, citizenship, and academic standing. From the service honorary within the Association, the Outstanding Student-Veterans of the Year will be chosen by an Authorized Board composed of Veterans Coordinators or Counselors.

Kennedy concluded by stating that the next business meeting will be held on Thursday, March 9 at 10:30 in 107 C&F. At this meeting plans for the Dinner Dance will be discussed.

Most of us are broad-minded enough to admit that there are two sides to every question—our own side, and the side that no intelligent, informed, sane self-respecting citizen could possibly hold.

History Lecture By Dr. Ponko Is First Of The Fifth Series

The first of the fifth Annual Series of lecturers, sponsored by the Department of History and Political Science for the students and faculty of Villanova, is scheduled for Wednesday evening March 8, at 7:30 in the amphitheatre of the Commerce and Finance Building.

Dr. Vincent H. Ponko, Jr., former assistant to the dean of the Arts and Sciences Division of Loyola University in Chicago, will speak on "The Nature of the Connection Between Throne and Altar in Elizabethan England." Dr. Ponko is currently an instructor in the undergraduate and graduate courses at Villanova.

Presiding over the lecture will be the Rev. Robert E. Regan, OSA, Chairman of the Religion Department. Other lectures will be conducted on the 15th and 22nd of March.

The 1961 Lecture Series considers significant developments involving Church-State relationships in modern and contemporary Europe.

Area Colleges Here In Choral Group

Six Philadelphia area Catholic Colleges will participate in the seventh annual Intercollegiate Choral Festival at Villanova University on Saturday evening, March 11th.

The Festival will be held in the Villanova Field House and will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Glee Clubs from the following colleges will be participating: Chestnut Hill College, Immaculata College, Rosemont College, Holy Family College, St. Joseph's College and Villanova University.

Luebking Announces First Degree Plans

Tom Luebking, Grand Knight of the Father Ludwig (Villanova) Council, Knights of Columbus, has announced that there will be exemplification of the First Degree in the K of C Hall, Ardmore. The date of this event is Monday, March 13, and information concerning it may be obtained at the yearbook office on the second floor of Doughcrty Hall.

Worms . . . Ugh!

Damp and sunny weather brings a lot of them . . .

(Photo by Irwin Frankel)

London Prof Honored At DIT

Professor George Auth, Head of the Mechanical Engineering Department, and Mr. Paul Menz attended a dinner at the Ryder Club of Drexel Institute of Technology on Friday, March 3. The dinner was given in honor of Dr. R. E. D. Bishop, Kennedy Professor and Head of the Mechanical Engineering Department of the University of London. Later in the evening Dr. Bishop gave a lecture entitled "The Vibration of Unbalanced and Bent Rotating Shafts."

Dr. Bishop's visit was the first stop of an extensive tour sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

SPECIAL OFFER...

For 2-Headed Pipe Collectors

Genuine imported hand-carved cherrywood pipe... that really smokes!

This unique two-headed pipe is a real conversation piece...a must for your collection! Hand-carved in the Italian Alps and finished in gay colors. Stands alone on its own tiny legs. Ideal for your desk, mantel, or bookshelf ...mighty good smoking, too! This is a wonderful value! Send for your two-headed pipe today!

Only $1.00

and picture of Sir Walter Raleigh from new pouch pack

Shown Approximately ⅔ Actual Size

NOW Sir Walter Raleigh in the new pouch pack keeps tobacco 44% fresher!

Choice Kentucky Burley—Extra Aged! Smells grand! Packs right! Smokes sweet! Can't bite!

Clip Coupon... Mail Today!

Sir Walter Raleigh
Box 303
Louisville 1, Kentucky

Please send me prepaid ..... 2-headed pipe(s). Enclosed is $1 (no stamps, please) and the picture of Sir Walter Raleigh from the box in which the pouch is packed for each pipe ordered.

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

CITY ..... ZONE ..... STATE .....

COLLEGE .....

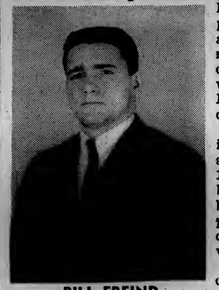
This offer good only in U.S.A. Not valid in states where prohibited, taxed, or otherwise restricted. Offer expires June 30, 1961. Allow four weeks for delivery.

STRIPED OXFORD

...the British look in shirtings

The eminent good looks of Arrow's British striped oxford adds much to a man's wardrobe. The authentic roll of the classic button-down is perfectly interpreted in the University Fashion B.D. Offered in stripings of muted masculine tones as well as white and solid colors in both long and short sleeves.

$5.00



ARROW

From the "Cum Laude Collection"

Portrette

Freind Is Ubiquitous

An outstanding example for all students in the matter of school spirit may be found in the person of Bill Freind. Bill, a senior English major, has made major contributions to the causes of a number of literary and artistic organizations, and is presently most active in student government.

BILL FREIND
. . . interests vary

Most recently, he has been elected to serve on the Student Senate for the remainder of the academic year. He was selected for this post from among all senior Student Council representatives by vote last week of the entire Council membership. Bill replaces Bob Scalia, who resigned recently.

Salutation

A resident of Upper Darby, outside of Philadelphia, Bill is a graduate of Monsignor Bonner High School. While there, he was active in a number of extra-curricular activities and delivered the Salutatory address at graduation.

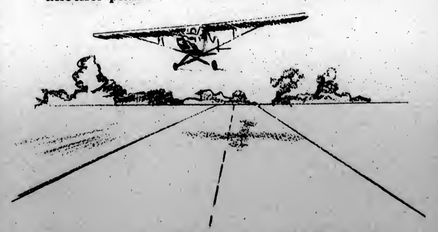
Throughout his career at Villanova, he actively participated in the Belle Masque Dramatic Society. For the past two years, he has served as publicity director of all major productions, most recently for "The Matchmaker," which will open in the field House on April 6 for a four-day run.

Bill has also served as Business Manager of The LYNX and as Feature Editor of The 1961 BELLE AIR. As a member of the Beta Gamma Debate Society, he has participated in a number of intercollegiate tournaments on the varsity level.

The current Student Council raffle for a European tour or $500 is under Bill's direction. He expects that the success of the raffle is assured, because of the limited number of tickets up for sale. The drawing for the trip will take place at the Shamokinaki dance. Proceeds from the raffle will go as a contribution from the student body to the new Catholic University of Formosa.

Upon graduation, Bill intends to pursue a career in the field of sales.

Psych majors call it



"ESCAPE"

How many restrictions have you obeyed today? A whole book of conduct rules? Another of traffic laws? A few thousand physical limitations?

Come see what it's like to be above all that (in a perfectly socially acceptable way).

We're incurable escape artists. Love flying. Think you will, too.

Cut out this ad and bring it with you. We'll give you a free glimpse of what it's like on another plane!

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction

HORIZON AERO SERVICE

BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

Design And Heat Transfer Objects Of ME Changes

In a recent interview with Mr. George Auth, Chairman of the Mechanical Engineering Department, The VILLANOVAN learned that two important curriculum changes will take effect next semester.

According to Mr. Auth, more emphasis will be placed on engineering science pertaining to the M.E. courses. The new curriculum will also emphasize the analytical aspect of the science's application and design rather than the empirical.

In the design areas, the department plans to attempt to enforce a more creative approach, because, in the opinion of Mr. Auth, "there is not so much a shortage of engineers as there is a shortage of creative engineers."

Some of the older courses based on specific topics such as "Power Plant Heat Transfer" have been replaced with generalized approaches such as simply "Heat Transfer" which can be applied to any type of equipment, not just power plants.

The laboratory work has been evened up between the machine design and the thermal option, whereas in the past, the time was very heavily devoted to the thermal area.

Another objective of the department is to strengthen the student's individual preparation for graduate school. "Whether the present student realizes it or not the prospect of graduate school no longer becomes just desirable but necessary," asserted Mr. Auth.

Effective in September, 1962, the senior M.E. student will be permitted the choice of either a machine design or a thermal option. In both these options and in the additional courses, will be slanted toward orientation in the science of engineering which embody a use of computer time to relieve the burden of repetitious work as well as giving the students practice in computer type calculations.

TNT To Display Talents As Old South Comes North

The Turf and Tinsel Society of Villanova, acting as one of the most spirited and oldest of all the existing activities at Villanova, is producing another musical comedy this spring. "Southern Comfort," a production with its central theme about the intrigue and mystery that characterized the Old South during the post Civil War years, will be shown in the Field House beshown in the Field House from April 26 to 30, the weekend prior to Junior Week.

Light Rehearsal

Presently under light rehearsal, the club's membership of 150, one of the largest on campus, under its President, Jim Mulvihill, has designated its leading performers and secured the services of Producer Betty Green for the show's director.

Choreography has been assigned to Angel Barton while the original musical score and story itself is the effort of Bob Schiller, a past member TNT and graduate of Villanova. Caring for the musical arrangements is popular local pianist, Eddie Gelboyne.

The cast is headed by sophomore Joe Ruggerio whose talent and audience appeal gained him the acclaim accorded "I Remember Mummy" last year. His part in "Southern Comfort," is that of a bawdry saloon keeper, Aunt Lil.

Oleander and Magnolia

Co-starring with Ruggerio is football tackle Tom Kempner who plays Aunt Lil's high society-minded sister, Oleander, and Jim Shields, the role of a romantic female, Magnolia, the daughter of Oleander. Included in the leads are Bill Flick as the romantic male, Jeff Wade, Mike Tighe, the husband of Oleander, Maxmillian, and Al La Mastra as Bridgit, the phony french maid.

Originally the Turf and Tinsel Society was entirely composed of football players when organized by football coach Harry Stuhldrueher. Its name, therefore, personifies the contrast between the turf of the football field and the glitter and glamor of the stage.

Bob Whelan—Leader

Ever since, it has continued yearly under the guiding hand of Mr. Robert Whelan. The yearly show is conventionally an all male musical comedy production. In the United States, only three other universities have such a society, Penn, Harvard, and Princeton, where Jimmy Stewart was trained.

Junior Dinner-Dance Slated For Ballroom Of Sheraton Hotel

The Grand Ballroom of the new Sheraton Hotel will be the setting for the annual Junior Dinner-Dance, perennial highlight of Junior Week. This was the main item divulged by Jack Nolan, Chairman this year for the popular event, which will be held on Saturday night, May 6.

Publicity Chairman for Junior Week, Joe Zawacki, also announced that the price of tickets will be one of the lowest in the history of the dance. Though no official date was set for the sale of tickets, it is expected that the sale will begin about two weeks before the event, affording ample time for the expected demand for tickets.

Pete Federico and Chip D'Ambrosio have been commissioned to handle the sale of tickets and Tom O'Connor will be in charge of publicity relevant to the affair. As has been the custom in the past, dinner will start at 7:30 and it will feature Vermont-styled Turkey with all the trimmings. Dancing will then grab the spotlight from 9:00 to 1:00 a.m. with the orchestra of Paul Judge providing the syncopation.

Package Deal

Noted Nolan: "We have obtained a contract with a New York company named 'Proms Limited' for a package deal that we feel will help shave expenses for the evening without sacrificing quality. For $13.75, a person is entitled to rental of a tuxedo, flowers of his choice and color, and four colored photos, two of which will be '5x7' and two of the wallet-size variety. All in all, we are very satisfied with the deal."

Justice Tom C. Clark Of Supreme Court Law Dinner Speaker

The Honorable Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States will be the featured speaker at the Eighth Annual Dinner of the Villanova University School of Law, to be held on Friday, March tenth.

This year the dinner will be held on the Villanova campus, in the dining area of the Commerce and Finance Building. Through the afternoon the students and faculty will receive interested dinner guests desirous of visiting Garey Hall, the Law School building.

Chief Justice Stern

The Honorable Horace Stern, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and Chief Justice Charles Alvin Jones of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania will be honored guests. Vincent P. McDevitt, Esquire, Chancellor of the Philadelphia Bar Association, and a member of the School's Board of Consultors, will serve as toastmaster.

Mr. Justice Clark has announced as his topic, "Some Thoughts On Contemporary Civil Rights." The Very Reverend James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., Chairman of the Board of Trustees and the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., President of the University, will speak briefly. Dean Harold Gill Reuschlein will report briefly upon the progress of the School of Law.

The Vincent A. Carroll Award to the student attaining the highest average in the second year; the Theodore L. Reimel Award to the law club winning the final argument in the inter-club moot court contest; the James P. McGranery Award to the student completing the course in Constitutional Law with the highest average; the Roman Catholic High School Alumni Award to the student attaining the highest average in the first year; the Herman J. Obert Award to the student attaining the highest average in the course of Corporations; the Lawyers Title Award to the senior student achieving the highest grade in the property courses; the Father Ullman Award to the student receiving the highest grade in Criminal Law, and the Colonel Wilfrid Glen MacCarthy Award to the student presenting the best oral argument in the moot court work, will be presented.

Pitt is Chairman

Thomas A. Pitt, Jr., '61, is serving as chairman of the dinner. He is president of the Student Bar Association which sponsors the dinner.

Guests of the Villanova School of Law at the dinner include: The Honorable Walter E. Alessandroni, Pearce H. E. Aul, Esquire, the Honorable Robert V. Bolger, The Honorable Vincent J. Dalton, Weyland H. Elsbree, Esquire, The Honorable Gerald A. Gleeson, The Honorable Peter F. Hagan, The Honorable Charles Alvin Jones, the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., The Right Reverend Monsignor Anthony L. Ostheimer, the Honorable Joseph Sloane, and the Honorable Henry G. Sweney.

Attending also are members of the Board of Consultors to the Villanova School of Law.

Blood Donations, 304 Pints As Quota Is Exceeded

The Blood Drive here at Villanova ended with greater success than in the last three years of its history. The final count of 304 pints is three pints over the estimated quota, and 45 more pints than last year.

Mrs. Zimmerman, Chairlady of the Villanova Drive stated that "due to the marvelous cooperation received from Gerry Gelinas, Student Chairman, and Captain Boyle, Commanding Officer of the NROTC, the total count of donors will exceed those of the last three years."

Benefits of the Donor

Under the program any student was eligible to donate blood for which he was eligible to obtain free blood from any Red Cross agency in the country, should he or any of his family have a need for it within the year following the donation. The only possible charge that might be billed to the donor upon receiving blood would be that of the administrative costs incurred by the hospital or agency supplying the donor.

Mrs. Zimmerman emphasized the fact that those people selling their blood are not covered by this insurance program whereas those donating their blood will receive in times of need of free blood for either himself or a relative needing it, no matter where that donor might reside after leaving Villanova for the period of one year.

The annual Villanova drive was started here when the University extended to the Radnor Chapter an invitation to come to Villanova University, six years ago. Since then Villanova has been one of the best suppliers to the Southeast Pennsylvania Chapter of the Red Cross.

Club Pres. Named Area Rep. To National Veterans Assn.

Thomas Kennedy, president of the Villanova Veterans Club, recently announced that Villanova has been appointed and designated to represent Eastern Pennsylvania in the newly formed American Association of University Veterans.

"The purpose of the Association will be directed toward the development of the qualities of leadership and responsibility in citizenship through an active and dedicated participation in state and national affairs," said Kennedy.

He added that the Association intends to carry out a number of programs which will aid the veterans here on campus as well as the veterans throughout the country.

The major interest of the group at the present time is the acquiring of financial assistance for veterans who did not benefit from the now defunct GI Bill.

Kennedy stated that the Association will attempt to foster support for "A Peace Time GI Bill" now before the Senate. This bill would provide economic aid for the many "peace time veterans" whose educational opportunities are now limited due to a lack of sufficient funds. The bill has already been passed by the House and now awaits Senate approval.

Among the other programs which the Association intends to undertake is the establishment of a national service honorary for veterans who rightfully deserve recognition for outstanding leadership, citizenship, and academic standing. From the service honorary within the Association, the Outstanding Student-Veterans of the Year will be chosen by an Authorized Board composed of Veterans Coordinators or Counselors.

Kennedy concluded by stating that the next business meeting will be held on Thursday, March 9 at 10:30 in 107 C&F. At this meeting plans for the Dinner Dance will be discussed.

Most of us are broad-minded enough to admit that there are two sides to every question—our own side, and the side that no intelligent, informed, sane self-respecting citizen could possibly hold.

History Lecture By Dr. Ponko Is First Of The Fifth Series

The first of the fifth Annual Series of lecturers, sponsored by the Department of History and Political Science for the students and faculty of Villanova, is scheduled for Wednesday evening March 8, at 7:30 in the amphitheatre of the Commerce and Finance Building.

Dr. Vincent H. Ponko, Jr., former assistant to the dean of the Arts and Sciences Division of Loyola University in Chicago, will speak on "The Nature of the Connection Between Throne and Altar in Elizabethan England." Dr. Ponko is currently an instructor in the undergraduate and graduate courses at Villanova.

Presiding over the lecture will be the Rev. Robert E. Regan, OSA, Chairman of the Religion Department. Other lectures will be conducted on the 15th and 22nd of March.

The 1961 Lecture Series considers significant developments involving Church-State relationships in modern and contemporary Europe.

Area Colleges Here In Choral Group

Six Philadelphia area Catholic Colleges will participate in the seventh annual Intercollegiate Choral Festival at Villanova University on Saturday evening, March 11th.

The Festival will be held in the Villanova Field House and will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Glee Clubs from the following colleges will be participating: Chestnut Hill College, Immaculata College, Rosemont College, Holy Family College, St. Joseph's College and Villanova University.

Luebking Announces First Degree Plans

Tom Luebking, Grand Knight of the Father Ludwig (Villanova) Council, Knights of Columbus, has announced that there will be exemplification of the First Degree in the K of C Hall, Ardmore. The date of this event is Monday, March 13, and information concerning it may be obtained at the yearbook office on the second floor of Dougherty Hall.

Worms . . . Ugh!

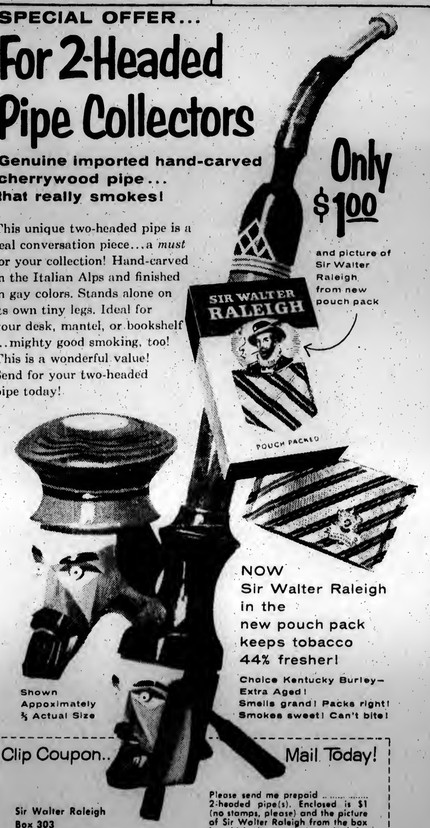
Damp and sunny weather brings a lot of them . . .

(Photo by Irwin Frankel)

London Prof Honored At DIT

Professor George Auth, Head of the Mechanical Engineering Department, and Mr. Paul Menz attended a dinner at the Ryder Club of Drexel Institute of Technology on Friday, March 3. The dinner was given in honor of Dr. R. E. D. Bishop, Kennedy Professor and Head of the Mechanical Engineering Department of the University of London. Later in the evening Dr. Bishop gave a lecture entitled "The Vibration of Unbalanced and Bent Rotating Shafts."

Dr. Bishop's visit was the first stop of an extensive tour sponsored by the National Science Foundation.



SPECIAL OFFER...

For 2-Headed Pipe Collectors

Genuine imported hand-carved cherrywood pipe... that really smokes!

This unique two-headed pipe is a real conversation piece...a must for your collection! Hand-carved in the Italian Alps and finished in gay colors. Stands alone on its own tiny legs. Ideal for your desk, mantel, or bookshelf ...mighty good smoking, too! This is a wonderful value! Send for your two-headed pipe today!

Only $1.00 and picture of Sir Walter Raleigh from new pouch pack

Shown Approximately ⅔ Actual Size

NOW Sir Walter Raleigh in the new pouch pack keeps tobacco 44% fresher!

Choice Kentucky Burley—Extra Aged! Smells grand! Packs right! Smokes sweet! Can't bite!

Clip Coupon.. Mail Today!

Sir Walter Raleigh
Box 303
Louisville 1, Kentucky

Please send me prepaid ..... 2-headed pipe(s). Enclosed is $1 (no stamps, please) and the picture of Sir Walter Raleigh from the box in which the pouch is packed for each pipe ordered.

NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY ..... ZONE ..... STATE .....
COLLEGE .....

This offer good only in U.S.A. Not valid in states where prohibited, taxed, or otherwise restricted. Offer expires June 30, 1961. Allow four weeks for delivery.

STRIPED OXFORD

...the British look in shirtings

The eminent good looks of Arrow's British striped oxford adds much to a man's wardrobe. The authentic roll of the classic button-down is perfectly interpreted in the University Fashion B.D. Offered in stripings of muted masculine tones as well as white and solid colors in both long and short sleeves.

$5.00

ARROW®

From the "Cum Laude Collection"

Portrette

Freind Is Ubiquitous

An outstanding example for all students in the matter of school spirit may be found in the person of Bill Freind. Bill, a senior English major, has made major contributions to the causes of a number of literary and artistic organizations, and is presently most active in student government.

BILL FREIND
. . . interests vary

Most recently, he has been elected to serve on the Student Senate for the remainder of the academic year. He was selected for this post from among all senior Student Council representatives by vote last week of the entire Council membership. Bill replaces Bob Scalia, who resigned recently.

Salutation

A resident of Upper Darby, outside of Philadelphia, Bill is a graduate of Monsignor Bonner High School. While there, he was active in a number of extra-curricular activities and delivered the Salutatory address at graduation.

Throughout his career at Villanova, he actively participated in the Belle Masque Dramatic Society. For the past two years, he has served as publicity director of all major productions, most recently for "The Matchmaker," which will open in the field House on April 6 for a four-day run.

Bill has also served as Business Manager of The LYNX and as Feature Editor of The 1961 BELLE AIR. As a member of the Beta Gamma Debate Society, he has participated in a number of intercollegiate tournaments on the varsity level.

The current Student Council raffle for a European tour or $500 is under Bill's direction. He expects that the success of the raffle is assured, because of the limited number of tickets up for sale. The drawing for the trip will take place at the Shamokinaki dance. Proceeds from the raffle will go as a contribution from the student body to the new Catholic University of Formosa.

Upon graduation, Bill intends to pursue a career in the field of sales.

Psych majors call it

"ESCAPE"

How many restrictions have you obeyed today? A whole book of conduct rules? Another of traffic laws? A few thousand physical limitations?

Come see what it's like to be above all that (in a perfectly socially acceptable way).

We're incurable escape artists. Love flying. Think you will, too.

Cut out this ad and bring it with you. We'll give you a free glimpse of what it's like on another plane!

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction

HORIZON AERO SERVICE

BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

Design And Heat Transfer Objects Of ME Changes

In a recent interview with Mr. George Auth, Chairman of the Mechanical Engineering Department, The VILLANOVAN learned that two important curriculum changes will take effect next semester.

According to Mr. Auth, more emphasis will be placed on engineering science pertaining to the M.E. courses. The new curriculum will also emphasize the analytical aspect of the science's application and design rather than the empirical.

In the design areas, the department plans to attempt to enforce a more creative approach, because, in the opinion of Mr. Auth, "there is not so much a shortage of engineers as there is a shortage of creative engineers."

Some of the older courses based on specific topics such as "Power Plant Heat Transfer" have been replaced with generalized approaches such as simply "Heat Transfer" which can be applied to any type of equipment, not just power plants.

The laboratory work has been evened up between the machine design and the thermal option, whereas in the past, the time was very heavily devoted to the thermal area.

Another objective of the department is to strengthen the student's individual preparation for graduate school. "Whether the present student realizes it or not the prospect of graduate school no longer becomes just desirable but necessary," asserted Mr. Auth.

Effective in September, 1962, the senior M.E. student will be permitted the choice of either a machine design or a thermal option. In both these options and in the additional courses, will be slanted toward orientation in the science of engineering which embody a use of computer time to relieve the burden of repetitious work as well as giving the students practice in computer type calculations.

TNT To Display Talents As Old South Comes North

The Turf and Tinsel Society of Villanova, acting as one of the most spirited and oldest of all the existing activities at Villanova, is producing another musical comedy this spring. "Southern Comfort," a production with its central theme about the intrigue and mystery that characterized the Old South during the post Civil War years, will be shown in the Field House beshown in the Field House from April 26 to 30, the weekend prior to Junior Week.

Light Rehearsal

Presently under light rehearsal, the club's membership of 150, one of the largest on campus, under its President, Jim Mulvihill, has designated its leading performers and secured the services of Producer Betty Green for the show's director.

Choreography has been assigned to Angel Barton while the original musical score and story itself is the effort of Bob Schiller, a past member TNT and graduate of Villanova. Caring for the musical arrangements is popular local pianist, Eddie Gelboyne.

The cast is headed by sophomore Joe Ruggerio whose talent and audience appeal gained him the acclaim accorded "I Remember Mummy" last year. His part in "Southern Comfort," is that of a bawdry saloon keeper, Aunt Lil.

Oleander and Magnolia

Co-starring with Ruggerio is football tackle Tom Kempner who plays Aunt Lil's high society-minded sister, Oleander, and Jim Shields, the role of a romantic female, Magnolia, the daughter of Oleander. Included in the leads are Bill Flick as the romantic male, Jeff Wade, Mike Tighe, the husband of Oleander, Maxmillian, and Al La Mastra as Bridgit, the phony french maid.

Originally the Turf and Tinsel Society was entirely composed of football players when organized by football coach Harry Stuhldrueher. Its name, therefore, personifies the contrast between the turf of the football field and the glitter and glamor of the stage.

Bob Whelan—Leader

Ever since, it has continued yearly under the guiding hand of Mr. Robert Whelan. The yearly show is conventionally an all male musical comedy production. In the United States, only three other universities have such a society, Penn, Harvard, and Princeton, where Jimmy Stewart was trained.

Junior Dinner-Dance Slated For Ballroom Of Sheraton Hotel

The Grand Ballroom of the new Sheraton Hotel will be the setting for the annual Junior Dinner-Dance, perennial highlight of Junior Week. This was the main item divulged by Jack Nolan, Chairman this year for the popular event, which will be held on Saturday night, May 6.

Publicity Chairman for Junior Week, Joe Zawacki, also announced that the price of tickets will be one of the lowest in the history of the dance. Though no official date was set for the sale of tickets, it is expected that the sale will begin about two weeks before the event, affording ample time for the expected demand for tickets.

Pete Federico and Chip D'Ambrosio have been commissioned to handle the sale of tickets and Tom O'Connor will be in charge of publicity relevant to the affair. As has been the custom in the past, dinner will start at 7:30 and it will feature Vermont-styled Turkey with all the trimmings. Dancing will then grab the spotlight from 9:00 to 1:00 a.m. with the orchestra of Paul Judge providing the syncopation.

Package Deal

Noted Nolan: "We have obtained a contract with a New York company named 'Proms Limited' for a package deal that we feel will help shave expenses for the evening without sacrificing quality. For $13.75, a person is entitled to rental of a tuxedo, flowers of his choice and color, and four colored photos, two of which will be '5x7' and two of the wallet-size variety. All in all, we are very satisfied with the deal."

Justice Tom C. Clark Of Supreme Court Law Dinner Speaker

The Honorable Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States will be the featured speaker at the Eighth Annual Dinner of the Villanova University School of Law, to be held on Friday, March tenth.

This year the dinner will be held on the Villanova campus, in the dining area of the Commerce and Finance Building. Through the afternoon the students and faculty will receive interested dinner guests desirous of visiting Garey Hall, the Law School building.

Chief Justice Stern

The Honorable Horace Stern, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and Chief Justice Charles Alvin Jones of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania will be honored guests. Vincent P. McDevitt, Esquire, Chancellor of the Philadelphia Bar Association, and a member of the School's Board of Consultors, will serve as toastmaster.

Mr. Justice Clark has announced as his topic, "Some Thoughts On Contemporary Civil Rights." The Very Reverend James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., Chairman of the Board of Trustees and the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., President of the University, will speak briefly. Dean Harold Gill Reuschlein will report briefly upon the progress of the School of Law.

The Vincent A. Carroll Award to the student attaining the highest average in the second year; the Theodore L. Reimel Award to the law club winning the final argument in the interclub moot court contest; the James P. McGranery Award to the student completing the course in Constitutional Law with the highest average; the Roman Catholic High School Alumni Award to the student attaining the highest average in the first year; the Herman J. Obert Award to the student attaining the highest average in the course of Corporations; the Lawyers Title Award to the senior student achieving the highest grade in the property courses; the Father Ullman Award to the student receiving the highest grade in Criminal Law, and the Colonel Wilfrid Glen MacCarthy Award to the student presenting the best oral argument in the moot court work, will be presented.

Pitt is Chairman

Thomas A. Pitt, Jr., '61, is serving as chairman of the dinner. He is president of the Student Bar Association which sponsors the dinner.

Guests of the Villanova School of Law at the dinner include: The Honorable Walter E. Alessandroni, Pearce H. E. Aul, Esquire, the Honorable Robert V. Bolger, The Honorable Vincent J. Dalton, Weyland H. Elsbree, Esquire, The Honorable Gerald A. Gleeson, The Honorable Peter F. Hagan, The Honorable Charles Alvin Jones, the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., The Right Reverend Monsignor Anthony L. Ostheimer, the Honorable Joseph Sloane, and the Honorable Henry G. Sweney.

Attending also are members of the Board of Consultors to the Villanova School of Law.

A Problem

The Student Council, Villanova's answer to student government, has faced many trying problems over the years. A worthy motion came before the Council last month —a motion to the effect that the Council would sponsor a student trip to the IC4A track meet, to be held in New York this weekend.

The excursion would provide for a bus-ride to and from Madison Square Garden. For this ride, plus a ticket to the meet, the student would be charged five dollars. The motion was passed, contingent upon favorable student body reaction.

The Spirit Committee and J. Michael Wesley were placed in charge of this project. This group contacted the Athletic Office and requested 600 tickets from the ICA4 Committee. Apparently this is as far as the motion went. The VILLANOVAN was requested to advertise this trip. An attempt to comply met with limited success, since none of the designated committee was available for comment or information.

At the following Council meeting a Committee member reported that student reaction had not been strong enough so far to justify the trip. In essence, this meant that the trip was off, since the ticket sales up to that point had been nil.

The basis for poor ticket sales was the fact that the Student Council, which has enough committees to impress even the head of the House of Representatives' Committee on Committees. did not organize a competent group to co-ordinate and publicize the event. Thus, the Villanova student, for whom the Council exists, was deprived of the chance to support his defending champion track team at a nominal price.

This is not to imply that angry students marched on the Council office to demand tickets. How could they? They didn't know anything about it. Certainly, with a little help from a few members of this overcrowed assembly, a table could have been set up in the Pie Shoppe. The loud speaker system in Dougherty Hall was used, however, this attempt sounded more like a funeral dirge than a cry to "rally 'round the track team."

It seems that with a bit of concerted effort on the part of the Council, a large turnout would be in New York on Saturday night. The old student gripe of "nothing to do" would be placated. Five hundred tickets would not have been returned to the IC4A Committee.

One note of consolation can be cited for the Villanova student. "Carry On Nurse," has finally stopped its record-breaking run at the Bryn Mawr Theatre, and there is always Perry Mason on Saturday night T.V.

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove, Charles Simmonds
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Layout Editor ..... Edward Farrell
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello, Leo G. Trebold
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore, Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... Gary P. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

"Here, take one of these pills — they'll make everything taste like steak."

COUNTERPOINT

Government By Pygmies

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

As the annual Armageddon for the election of the upperclass leaders nears once again on the Villanova campus, it may be well to analyze the philosophy of collegiate politics here. It is evident from the majority of past plebiscites that something is lacking in the attitudes of both candidate and voter.

What is the strategy for victory of a candidate? First of all, he must be certain that he, himself, has sufficient personal appeal. This is extended to a select few across the division lines. Agreeing on their purpose, they form the first problem which we must deal with—the hodgepodge coalition ticket.

In order to placate the members of all divisions, the ticket is usually composed of Arts, C&F, Engineering, and Science students. However, there may be two candidates from one division. This is usually due to the machine's weakness in that division. In this case, one candidate must have sufficient strength in two divisions.

Machine Vs. Mass Appeal

Having laid the foundation, the machine now must overcome the obstacle of mass appeal. They resort to propaganda politics. Through a barrage of buttons, badges, banners, signs, cards, and loud speaker blasts, they will vie for the voters "X". Their goal is to achieve a precipitant stampede to their column by massive brainwashing techniques.

These tactics are also adopted in the contests for division representatives, but here the coalition is of a different nature. Here, we usually find a resident and a day-hop running together. It is much better to have 500 cards with two names on them than to have each buy 250.

It is unique when we have a single candidate. He won't win, because he can't compete with the machines.

But all of these candidates have one thing in common, which amounts to our third problem. In stentorian tones, they offer "responsible representation" but nothing else worthwhile for our votes. This is the stock claim of all candidates and only proves that the whole election is merely a personality or division clash.

Mad Avenue Hucksters

They have learned one thing from Madison Avenue and modern-day politics. This is to promise much and at the same time very little. Sad but true, it seems that all a person needs to be victorious is an imaginative social calendar and a good publicity director.

The responsibility for this is ours. We have permitted this situation to exist and grow. We have accepted the bosh of "responsible representation" and have not been interested enough to demand solutions for the problems which exist on campus. In other words, our interest in adjusting the student body to a growing university is small.

How many times have you been asked by one of these candidates about what type of representation you want? What problems exist that the student body can help to eliminate? What would you like to see accomplished?

Old Slowly Yields

As the old slowly yields to the new at Villanova, we should, if I may paraphrase President Kennedy, ask not what a candidate will do for me, but what we. the student body, can do for Villanova. It takes only a soapbox for a candidate to tell us this but I doubt that he would be heard. There would be very little fun involved and it would mean doing a little on our own.

The situation reminds me of one pointed out by Edwin O'Connor in his book "the Last Hurrah." Skeffington comments that 'As one looks down this bold list one would think that the only qualification necessary to run for mayor of this great city was to be without any qualification whatsoever. This is a time for experience, for leadership; I cannot abandon this fine city to the care of such fumbling hands . . . it is far more important that this city of ours should not be allowed to revert to Government by Pygmies!'

Freedom Fighters Ask Understanding

Editor's Note—The following is another in the periodic articles contributed to The VILLANOVAN by Cuban refugees presently living in the United States. To prevent possible reprisals upon friends and relatives still in Cuba, the writers desire to remain anonymous. This column is a translation of a front page article which appeared recently in EL AVANCE. Suppressed in Havana, this newspaper is being edited by Cuban refugees in Miami, Fla.

"To the people of Cuba
"To the countries of America
"To the countries of the world:

"Cuba is at war; the second War of Independance. In the mountains and on the plains in the cities as well as in the fields, Cubans are again fighting to preserve their liberty. As in 1868 and 1895, we are now opposing a foreign country that pretends to dominate through all America.

"Again, Cuba is fighting her battle as before: small and alone, but as always, firm, ready to die, but unwilling to be a slave or a colony of the Soviet bloc.

"From the Eastern to the Western Mountains, the country's army is fighting again; in the Escambray Mountains the Army of National Liberation shouts: "Independence or Death!"

Communist Offenses

'We do not think we are heroes. We do not want war; but we are Cubans who love our fatherland. From our fathers we inherited a free country, and we will not betray the sacrifices of our martryrs and heroes by permitting a Communist power to make offenses against the flag for which those martyrs and heroes died.

"We know that Russia and China are very powerful, and that they have many servants in Cuba. We realize that they have numberless arms, tanks and weapons. Still, they do not frighten us. Death may frighten traitors, but it does not frighten us because Jose Marti, our liberator, taught us that "It is better to die standing, than to live on one's knees."

"The traitorous Cubans who today "govern" in complicity with Russian and Chinese agents—in reality an army of occupation—have sold out the destiny of our country. Castro the traitor could have made Cuba a great nation but he preferred to submit the country to strangers to satisfy his ambition for domination of all America.

"Now we must fight for our strangled freedom; for the right to think, to work; to vote, to love God openly; to educate our sons and daughters without fear of losing them to the doctrines of the atheistic materialism taught by Communists.

Jose Marti Perez
The Apostle
Of The Cuban
War Of Independence

Fight and Die

"We are ready to fight and to die if necessary to avoid the substitution of a dictator's whims for the law, and to rescue the sovereignty of the people from the bloody hands of a tyrant. From these mountains, whose highest peak is honor, we call our fellow-men to join us. We accept no mercenaries or foreigners; we accept only Cubans who desire to follow the footsteps of their forefathers.

"With us is the light of our heroes in the War for Independence, the souls of our martyrs and the dignity of our country. With us are the pinciples of Democracy, the essence of liberty.

From God we ask protection; from our mothers, blessings.

"Cuba, which we love dearly, knows that we are ready to die for her, and that we will not rest until she may be free and sovereign again.

We have only one country: Cuba. Only one flag, the Cuban flag. With God and country Cubans, let us advance!"

This message is dated January, 1961, from the Escambray Mountains in central Cuba. It is signed by 19 officers of the Army of National Liberation, the first three, Major Sinesio Mallea, Major Plinio Prieto, and Captain Porfirio Ramirez, in absentia, as they were executed by the firing squads of Fidel Castro.

LaMastra Lambasts Laxity Of "Oscar" Organization

by Al LaMastra

Stately Oscare on thy golden throne,
Caring naught for those you disown,
Thy half sister, Almighty-dollar, has taken thy place,
A sham thou hast become, in total disgrace.

It's Oscar time again in the land of velvet smog and the corner diamond market! So sit back, relax and chew on a rosy-red tranquilizer while the following little expose reveals itself, somewhat incoherently.

For the 33rd consecutive time the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences will present Honors at the Hollywood Pantages Theatre probably to those most undeserving and those backed by the fattest bankroll. However it wasn't always like this. Indeed, when the gold plated figurine was first awarded to Emil Jannings and Janet Gaynor in 1927 they justly merited it; and for many years after, before the moguls realized the commercial value of such awards, the entire balloting system of the Academy's twenty-five hundred plus members proceeded without the aid of graft and corruption.

LaMASTRA

But as the festivities tended to draw more press coverage and splashier settings, laxiety set in. It was found that the bigger companies could influence employees to vote a straight studio ticket. Now members would vote for personal friends or the most popular cinema kings and queens, not seeing 75% of the other nominees who never really had a chance in this vicious ballot-go-round.

Pressure was brought to bear especially when slumping box-office receipts set in and free publicity was needed to advance a studio's product. Finally with the onslaught of televised presentations, "the really big shu" amounted to the one glittering night when Hollywood could show herself off under thirty pounds of Max Factor; and the TV audiences were given the chance to see the latest in outlandish hairdoes and garish clothing worn by the American nobility. Only smiles and handclasps are visible on screen; but oh for the day when mind recorders will reveal what losers Natalie LaVan and Harv Quinton really thought as they smilingly conceded that winners Lillian Lomick and George Deadrock deserved to win every ounce of Oscar at $34 per. It cannot be denied that some of the greatest acting in Hollywood has taken place during the two hour telecast on award night.

Proof

Proof? The grievances are many. Could you imagine giving Oscar to a publicity-shy recluse like Garbo or a controversial figure like Chaplin? Of course not. They'd just take them home and honor them privately (as they have done with special belated Oscars given for general high quality in all performances), and not carry them to dozens of parties for the next three months.

Another problem arises when a studio invests a great sum in person or product and must cope the awards to make back or build up their investment. Norma Shearer was magnificent in "Romeo and Juliet" but was getting old. Luise Rainer was young and had given a half-way decent performance in "The Great Ziegfeld;" so MGM made sure that Luise was the only person even to be considered. Starlet Grace Kelly (Country Girl) was a sensation compared to publicity shattered Judy Garland in 1954. Naturally Oscar graced Grace.

Dose anyone really think that "Ben Hur" and "Gigi," no matter how good they were, deserved a total of twenty Oscars? Obviously MGM thought so; and how could Paul Muni (Last Man), Jimmy Stewart (Anatomy of a Murder), Fred Zinneman (Nun's Story) and Stanley Kramer (Defiant Ones) compete against that much backlot?

Neglected

Consider those who are neglected and friendless. Neither Roz Russell (Mourning Becomes Electra) or Eleanor Parker (Interrupted Melody) have had much use for fast celebrity friends and crowds so naturally a bosom buddy would take precedent over these two fine actresses in any category, even if the eventual winner had been type cast as a chronic drunk for the last ten years and had lots of real life-behind the scenes experience.

(In dialect) "Maxine, did you see Fred March in 'Dead Salesman?' . . . no Louise, make sure you vote for Humphry Bogart in 'African Queen,' you know how great his parties are." "Who cares about a masterpiece like Hank Fonda's "Grapes of Wrath," when Jimmy Stewart is around . . . you know he has that perfect nothing role in 'The Philadelphia Story' . . . but he was pretty good last year in 'Mr. Smith Goes to Washington' when he lost." "Eric Von Stroheim is too old . . . Arthur Kennedy drinks too much, don't vote for him . . . 'Twelve Angry Men' only cost five hundred thousand it can't be as good as 'Bridge On the River Kwai' . . . 'Moulin Rouge' is too arty . . . John Ford 'The Quiet Man' was released by Republic and they're going out of business next year . . . better give the best music award to 'Old Man and the Sea' . . . the music isn't good, but it didn't get any other awards this year . . . who'll realize that the 'Big Country' is the better . . . 'War and Peace' is a financial flop better give Oscar to 'Giant,' it made a pile . . . who wants Gloria Swanson to win for 'Sunset Boulevard,' she's washed up . . . better give it to Judy Holliday for 'Born Yesterday;' after all, this is only the thousand and first time she's done the part . . . Red Buttons is a good egg and needs a break . . . the other nominees are real actors, but they'll get it sooner or later . . . this might be Red's last chance . . . better give the best picture award to 'From Here to Eternity' . . . everyone has seen it and besides how many people will realize 'Lili' is a true wonder of the cinema . . . who the hell does Billy Wilder think he is, putting the biting all-too-true 'Sunset Boulevard' on the screen . . . give the award to Joe Mankiewicz for 'All About Eve' . . . it's about show biz and will make you die . . . don't let Bette Davis win for the greatest performance of her career in 'The Star', she has two Oscars already . . . give it to someone younger to the profession; after all box-office is bad this year and we need young blood . . . forget about Mildred Dunnock . . . who cares if she's terrific . . . give it to Kim Hunter . . . she's young and maybe she'll go places . . . Jennifer Jones is having marriage problems again so vote for Livy DeHavilland . . . Martha Scott? . . . 'Our Town' . . . no! . . . vote for Ginger Rogers .

Ceaseless

On and on it goes, the situations never changing. Of course this report could be a little one sided and the Academy has oftentimes shown justice where it is due; but this is the exception and not the rule! There is talk of reorganizing the balloting system now in operation so as to make it more democratic. No predictions are being made but maybe after this year's extravagant results, a few changes will have to be made and truly equal representation and awarding will be achieved for the first time in too long a time.

RIVER STYX by JONIK

"Confound it! Who left the window open?"

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

I WAS A TEEN-AGE SLIDE RULE

In a recent learned journal (Mad) the distinguished board chairman (Ralph "Hot-Lips" Sigafoos) of one of our most important American corporations (the Arf Mechanical Dog Co.) wrote a trenchant article in which he pinpointed our gravest national problem: the lack of culture among science graduates.

Mr. Sigafoos's article, it must be emphasized, was in no sense derogatory. He stated quite clearly that the science student, what with his gruelling curriculum in physics, math, and chemistry, can hardly be expected to find time to study the arts too. What Mr. Sigafoos deplores—indeed, what we all deplore—is the lopsided result of today's science courses: graduates who can build a bridge but can't compose a concerto, who know Planck's Constant but not Botticelli's Venus, who are familiar with Fraunhofer's lines but not with Schiller's.

Mr. Sigafoos can find no solution to this hideous imbalance. I, however, believe there is one—and a very simple one. It is this: if students of science don't have time to come to the arts, then we must let the arts come to students of science.

He will know that he is a fulfilled man...

For example, it would be a very easy thing to teach poetry and music right along with physics. Students, instead of merely being called upon to recite in physics class, would instead be required to rhyme their answers and set them to familiar tunes—like, for instance, The Colonel Bogey March. Thus recitations would not only be chock-full of important facts but would, at the same time, expose the student to the aesthetic delights of great music. Here, try it yourself. You all know The Colonel Bogey March. Come, sing along with me:

Physics
Is what we learn in class.
Einstein
Said energy is mass.
Newton
Is highfalutin
And Pascal's a rascal. So's Boyle.

Do you see how much more broadening, how much more uplifting to learn physics this way? Of course you do. What? You want another chorus? By all means:

Leyden
He made the Leyden jar.
Trolley
He made the Trolley car.
Curie
Rode in a surrey,
And Diesel's a weasel. So's Boyle.

Once the student has mastered The Colonel Bogey March, he can go on to more complicated melodies like Death and Transfiguration, the Eroica, and Love Me Tender.

And when the student, loaded with science and culture, leaves the classroom and lights his Marlboro, how much more he will enjoy that filter, that flavor, that pack or box! Because there will no longer be an unease gnawing at his soul, no longer a little voice within him repeating that he is culturally a dolt. He will know—know joyously—that he is a fulfilled man, a whole man, and he will bask and revel in the pleasure of his Marlboro as a colt rolls in new grass—content, complete, truly educated—a credit to his college, to himself, and to his tobacconist!

© 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

And while he is rolling, colt-wise, in the new grass, perhaps he would stop long enough to try a new cigarette from the makers of Marlboro—unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

MAIN LINE DRIVE-IN THEATRE
STARTS—FRIDAY, MARCH 10th
JACK LEMMON—RICKY NELSON
"THE WACKIEST SHIP IN THE ARMY"
PLUS 2nd HIT
ANTHONY QUINN IN
"THE SAVAGE INNOCENTS"
BOTH FEATURES IN TECHNICOLOR
(Try Our Hot In-Car Heaters)

Cool Lenny's Not So Sick In Calling Morals More

ZAWACKI

Lenny Bruce is not sick! In fact, the so-called sickest of the sick comedians isn't even remotely ill.

For the uninformed, Mr. Bruce is a comic of the "new school", a loose term used to designate that brand of comedian who obtains laughs via the faults of us human beings as opposed to the old school comic who merely stood up and told jokes.

Because his choice of topics generally strike closer to home than the others, Lenny has been labeled "sink", "hypocrite", "vulgar", "dirty", and whatever other descriptive adjectives you care to add. As we mentioned in an earlier dissertation on the merits of English comedies, many of us Americans don't like and can't stand to be laughed at. Therefore, when they pay their money at a club, it is not for the purpose of having a slender Jewish lad tell them how stupid they are at times.

No Moralist He!!

However, this is where some suspecting public stray. Bruce is not a reformer or a moralist. He is first and foremost a comic and if a personal opinion should appear in the course of his show, it is because he is human like the rest of us. Most of his act, whether it is a rehearsed bit or ad lib, is devoted to showing us how open to criticism we lay ourselves with our actions at times.

"I approach my act like a craft," says Bruce, "just as a plumber or carpenter approaches his. It is up to me to gain and hold the audience's attention, especially since some of what I may say will not be to their liking." Because of this attention he pays to keeping the audience listening, Bruce reminds one of a professional public speaker.

His credo is simple, but direct. "In my 12 years on stage, I have never deliberately tried to offend anyone. Nor do I expect everyone to agree with what I say. However, I do reserve the right to say it." Lenny started in show business after getting out of the army when he found that people found funny some of the things he said. "I can't say that I'm the same now as I was 12 years ago. In fact, who can? I find myself changing from year to year and with it, the formulation and changing of ideas and views."

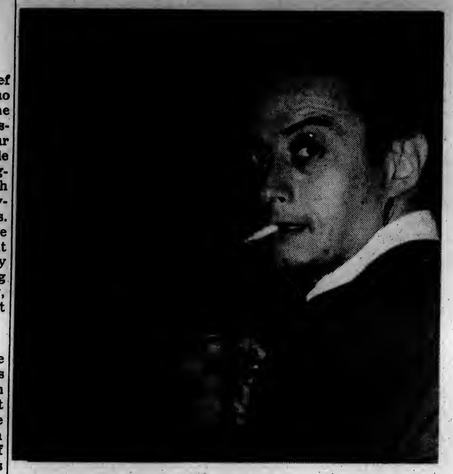
Cool

On stage, Bruce is cool and in command. This despite the fact that he remembers nights when he went blank in the middle of his act. With years of experience and a backlog of tapes to note the progressions of his act, this fear has become a thing of the past. The Bruce floor show is a wild mish-mosh. It ranges from the deeply perceptive to the wildly improbable. He mixes rehearsed bits with his ad libs and mixes them freely. His audience dictates his act to a certain extent. He fairly cooks when he senses that the audience is with him.

This observer has caught his act every time that he has appeared in the area, yet at no time have I seen anyone walk out on him. Nor does he have

by Joe Zawacki

chronic trouble with hecklers. The answer; "I try to give them something to think about that keeps them busy."



One little item that he did in his last appearance at the New Red Hill concerned the reaction of people if Christ and Moses returned to Earth and attended a revivalist Synagogue meeting on the West Coast and Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York. An observer questioned Bruce as to whether this provoked any friction or hostility with his audience, due to its touchy nature.

"On the contrary," he said. "Most of my audience thinks and in doing so, it is easy to realize that it is not the sacred dignitaries that I am poking fun at, but the reaction of the people involved." He also added: "You might be surprised to know that this bit gets its biggest play from the Jewish and Catholics in the audience, since they know and can appreciate the ceremonies involved.

It is a strong Bruce belief that modern Americans have no morals, in the strict sense of the word, but rather mores, or customs, which dictate many of our actions. This led to a wild little scene where a female torch singer looking for success through a gimmick finds it by not shaving the hair under her arms. The point obviously is that there is nothing wrong with hair, but somewhere, sometime, somebody decided it was the accepted thing to shave it off. But, my oh my, what Lenny doesn't do with that bit.

Digs Capitalism

In a more serious vein, he points out that he can't see us condemning Russian and German action in Hungary when, just 200 years ago, we chased the Iroquoise and Seminoles from their own land for purposes of conquest. However, Lenny digs capitalism for "where else could I say what I think, or you, without getting shot or arrested."

Lenny Bruce, popular proponent of the new school of comedians, appears during one of his skits.

It's what's up front that counts

FILTER-BLEND gives you the real flavor you want in a cigarette. Rich golden tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for filter smoking—that's Filter-Blend.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should!

Nigeria Is Keystone In African Unity Plans

by Fabian Okon

To many people in this country and the countries of the Western World, little is known about Nigeria, its people, its rich potentialities and its future possibilties.

Nigeria is often confused with Liberia; some call it Niagara; others term it Algeria. Yet this tropical country is the largest in the continent of Africa. It is larger than France and Italy combined or about four times the area of Great Britian. It covers 373,672 square miles.

With its population estimated at some 40 million people, Nigeria constitutes the largest single aggregation of Negro people in the world and represents about one-sixth of the total population of the African Continent.

No National Affinity

There is no national affinity either of ethnic origin or of cultural between the major groups which comprise the present population of Nigeria, and if ever she becomes a nation in the sense in which this term is now commonly used, she will owe it to the political unity imposed on her by British rule.

Climate

Nigeria is entirely within the tropics, and therefore, a land of plenty of sunshine.

The annual average temyerature is 81° F. Despite considerable variations in its geographical conditions the country was regarded as nortoriously unhealthy for Europeans but with the present-day progress in medicine it is possible for Europeans to live a normal and healthy life. Near the Coast the temperature is seldom above 90° but the humidity is high.

Land Tenure

The system of land tenure in Nigeria, except in towns and cities is like other African territories and quite different from what obtains in the Western world. Land is a communal property and is often thought of by most Africans as sunshine and air-equally plentiful, equally necessary, and equally shared by all members of the community according to their needs. Land has no price and is not for sale. Individuals have the right to the use of the land, but not to ownership of it.

Fabian Okon, a Nigerian National, pursuing graduate studies in Villanova's History and Political Science dept., shows the campus to his wife, a student at Rosemont.

The Country's Economy

Nigeria is principally an agricultural country and a high proportion of the people grow their own food. The main export crops are cocoa, palm oil and kernels, grown nuts (peanuts), cotton, rubber, and bananas.

Among minerals the most important are tin and columbite. Nigeria produces more than two-thirds of the world's supply of columbite. In the early days of tin mining, columbite was discarded as waste material in the process of tin concentration. The first recorded production of columbite was in 1933, when three tons of concentrates were obtained. Output rose gradually to 800 tons of concentrates in 1943. The present yearly production is very near 2,000 tons. Columbite is used in the manufacture of stainless steels, and latterly in alloys of a high degree of heat resistance, used, for example, in jet engines. Nigeria is virtually the only source of high-grade concentrate.

There are many oil wells today in Nigeria and the deepest well is near the mouth of the Ramos River in Delta Province, Western Nigeria.

It has often been contended that the surest way to develop Nigeria is by making it a first-class agricultural country; it is argued that, like other underdeveloped areas of the globe, Nigeria is a victim of poverty and, as such, canot embark upon any great industrialization program. The advocates of this policy maintain that most of the maintain that most of the industrialized countries were industrialized because they were rich, and not rich because they were industrialized; therefore, industrialization is no panacea for poverty in a country like Nigeria. Such an adage is unfounded, for agriculture and industry are complimentary and supplementary fields of human endeavor. Today chimneys have begun to smoke in Nigerian factories.

No Longer A Jungle

Nigeria has ceased to be a jungle. One of the imaginative schemes being undertaken by the Federal government is the slum clearance and re-housing scheme in the whole country. Certain areas have been set aside as Housing estates and particular attention is being paid to proper lighting. Houses vary from one room to four-roomed types, each house having its own amenities of kitchen, water borne santitation and bath. Adequate provision has been made for shopping centres, markets, clinics, dispensaries and community centres.

Standford Research Institute, California, has sent out a team to help the Federal Government establish the basic cost of transport within Nigeria by various means including rail, road, river and air.

The airports in Nigeria are classified according to use. Kans and Lagos airports are in Grade 1, and have finished, main runways, 8,610 by 200 feet and 6,600 by 150 feet respectively, which are suitable for use by the heaviest aircraft now in service to Nigeria.

Education

In an endeavor to ensure that education responds as effectively as possible to the needs of youth, Nigeria has intensified her plans for technical and higher education. The University College of Ibadan provides regular courses for about 1,000 students. The University of Nigeria at Nsukka embraces the American pattern of liberal education in its entirety. Each of the three regions has a School of Arts and Technology. There are attractive facilities for every child to receive an education today in Nigeria. At the end of 1958, a total of 2,600,000 pupils were in elementary schools. This number has increased since then and now borders on three million as a result of free elementary education, now widely adopted in the country.

Trade training centres, craft schools and other training institutions are springing up in various parts of the country in order to provide opportunities for the youth to adjust themselves more easily to the world of work.

Government

Nigeria has a Federal-Democratic government. The Federal Government consists of a House of Representatives and a Senate. The Governor-General, Dr. N. Azikiwe, was educated in this country and returned to Nigeria in 1934.

The principal political parties are the Northern People's Congress (NPC), the National Council of Nigeria and the Cameroons (NCNC), and the Action Group (AG). The Action-Group controls the Western Legislature, the NCNC holds sway in the East, while the NPC dominates the North. Until the Federal election of 1959 the parties were run on tribal basis but after that election internal schisms occured in the NCNC and AG. The actual and latent cleavages in the AG and the NCNC presage a new era in Nigerian politics. Tribal parties which secure their nurture exclusively from tribal areas must now be considered a part of the past. This is not to suggest that parties will no longer appear to constituents in terms of tribal lore, affiliations and prejudices, but that this appeal will constantly diminish in importance.

Two approaches to the "man's deodorant" problem

If a man doesn't mind shaving under his arms, he will probably find a woman's roll-on satisfactory. Most men, however, find it simpler and surer to use Mennen Spray Deodorant. Mennen Spray was made to get through to the skin, where perspiration starts. And made to work all day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. How about you? 60¢ and $1.00 plus tax

Pi Theta Chi Holds Annual Initiation Of Neophyte Nurses

While nurses tugged frantically at drapery cords and men peered through windows, knotholes, and cracks in the wall, a bizarre scene occurred in Vasey Auditorium last week. The occasion was the annual initiation of the Pi Theta Chi Sorority.

The hall was darkened and the buzz of female voices mingled with audible evidence of activity. Finally a spotlight illuminated the stage and a hush fell as a pixie-like creature in red garb appeared. Introducing herself as "Monster of Ceremonies," the lowly freshman pledge acknowledged the services of her assistants, a series of stuffed animals which were attached to her costume.

Before the freshman was able to say anything more, the female voices began again, but now they were different—eerie, weird, taunting, sometimes shrill, sometimes cackling. In the half-light the pledge vainly tried to continue her role as emcee of a variety show, but the torments continued. The audience became alternately silent and noisy as the show progressed, and each act was followed by jeers or total silence. The freshmen in the audience who dared to applaud were threatened and tongue-lashed by their big "sisters."

Several Acts

The show consisted of several acts including a Charleston a la Roaring Twenties, a South American cha-cha, a minstrel number, and a novelty act called "Dolores" who resembled the many-armed Hindu god.

The stage went dim again and soft drums began beating in the background as five girls attired in beatnick black and berets idled across the room. As they seated themselves around and atop a piano, the drums ceased and the girls gave forth with a sweetly feminine, slightly off-key rendition of "Down By the Old Mill Stream," followed by several other "hip" selections.

The "Bicycle Built for Two" dance, complete with bicycle (built for one) and the Russian dance team of Ivan and Pavlova provided more opportunities for the heckling of the sorority sisters which continued throughout the evening.

Cool Lenny's Not So Sick In Calling Morals More

by Joe Zawacki

Lenny Bruce is not sick! In fact, the so-called sickest of the sick comedians isn't even remotely ill.

For the uninformed, Mr. Bruce is a comic of the "new school", a loose term used to designate that brand of comedian who obtains laughs via the faults of us human beings as opposed to the old school comic who merely stood up and told jokes.

ZAWACKI

Because his choice of topics generally strike closer to home than the others, Lenny has been labeled "sink", "hypocrite", "vulgar", "dirty", and whatever other descriptive adjectives you care to add. As we mentioned in an earlier dissertation on the merits of English comedies, many of us Americans don't like and can't stand to be laughed at. Therefore, when they pay their money at a club, it is not for the purpose of having a slender Jewish lad tell them how stupid they are at times.

No Moralist He!!

However, this is where some suspecting public stray. Bruce is not a reformer or a moralist. He is first and foremost a comic and if a personal opinion should appear in the course of his show, it is because he is human like the rest of us. Most of his act, whether it is a rehearsed bit or ad lib, is devoted to showing us how open to criticism we lay ourselves with our actions at times.

"I approach my act like a craft," says Bruce, "just as a plumber or carpenter approaches his. It is up to me to gain and hold the audience's attention, especially since some of what I may say will not be to their liking." Because of this attention he pays to keeping the audience listening, Bruce reminds one of a professional public speaker.

His credo is simple, but direct. "In my 12 years on stage, I have never deliberately tried to offend anyone. Nor do I expect everyone to agree with what I say. However, I do reserve the right to say it." Lenny started in show business after getting out of the army when he found that people found funny some of the things he said. "I can't say that I'm the same now as I was 12 years ago. In fact, who can? I find myself changing from year to year and with it, the formulation and changing of ideas and views."

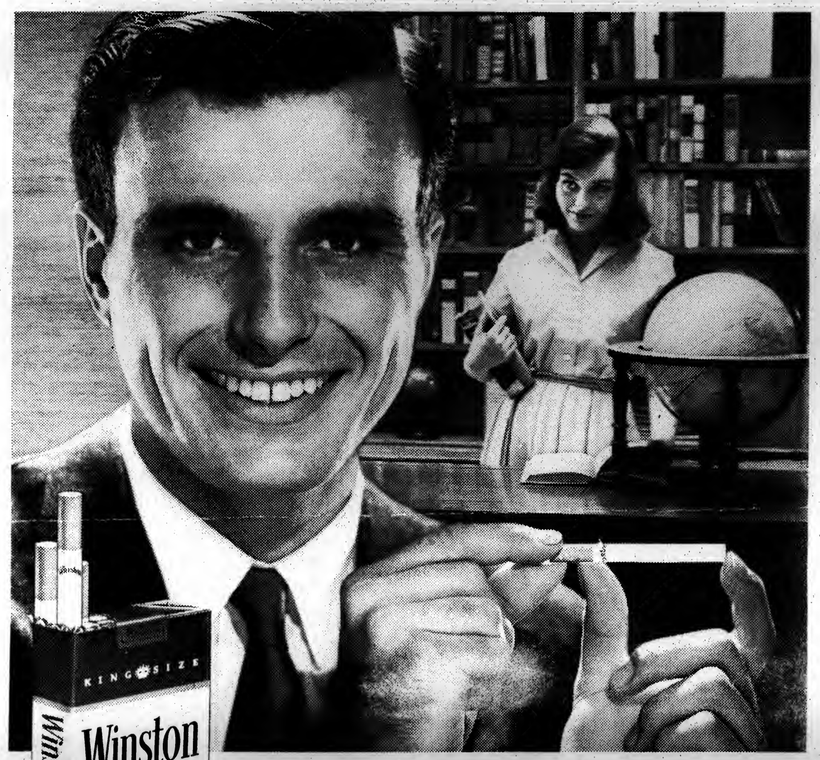
Cool

On stage, Bruce is cool and in command. This despite the fact that he remembers nights when he went blank in the middle of his act. With years of experience and a backlog of tapes to note the progressions of his act, this fear has become a thing of the past. The Bruce floor show is a wild mish-mosh. It ranges from the deeply perceptive to the wildly improbable. He mixes rehearsed bits with his ad libs and mixes them freely. His audience dictates his act to a certain extent. He fairly cooks when he senses that the audience is with him.

This observer has caught his act every time that he has appeared in the area, yet at no time have I seen anyone walk out on him. Nor does he have chronic trouble with hecklers. The answer; "I try to give them something to think about that keeps them busy."

One little item that he did in his last appearance at the New Red Hill concerned the reaction of people if Christ and Moses returned to Earth and attended a revivalist Synagogue meeting on the West Coast and Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York. An observer questioned Bruce as to whether this provoked any friction or hostility with his audience, due to its touchy nature.

"On the contrary," he said. "Most of my audience thinks and in doing so, it is easy to realize that it is not the sacred dignitaries that I am poking fun at, but the reaction of the people involved." He also added: "You might be surprised to know that this bit gets its biggest play from the Jewish and Catholics in the audience, since they know and can appreciate the ceremonies involved.



It is a strong Bruce belief that modern Americans have no morals, in the strict sense of the word, but rather mores, or customs, which dictate many of our actions. This led to a wild little scene where a female torch singer looking for success through a gimmick finds it by not shaving the hair under her arms. The point obviously is that there is nothing wrong with hair, but somewhere, sometime, somebody decided it was the accepted thing to shave it off. But, my oh my, what Lenny doesn't do with that bit.

Digs Capitalism

In a more serious vein, he points out that he can't see us condemning Russian and German action in Hungary when, just 200 years ago, we chased the Iroquoise and Seminoles from their own land for purposes of conquest. However, Lenny digs capitalism for "where else could I say what I think, or you, without getting shot or arrested."

Lenny Bruce, popular proponent of the new school of comedians, appears during one of his skits.

It's what's up front that counts

FILTER-BLEND gives you the real flavor you want in a cigarette. Rich golden tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for filter smoking—that's Filter-Blend.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should!

Nigeria Is Keystone In African Unity Plans

by Fabian Okon

To many people in this country and the countries of the Western World, little is known about Nigeria, its people, its rich potentialities and its future possibilites.

Nigeria is often confused with Liberia; some call it Niagara; others term it Algeria. Yet this tropical country is the largest in the continent of Africa. It is larger than France and Italy combined or about four times the area of Great Britian. It covers 373,672 square miles.

With its population estimated at some 40 million people, Nigeria constitutes the largest single aggregation of Negro people in the world and represents about one-sixth of the total population of the African Continent.

No National Affinity

There is no national affinity either of ethnic origin or of cultural between the major groups which comprise the present population of Nigeria, and if ever she becomes a nation in the sense in which this term is now commonly used, she will owe it to the political unity imposed on her by British rule.

Climate

Nigeria is entirely within the tropics, and therefore, a land of plenty of sunshine.

The annual average temyerature is 81° F. Despite considerable variations in its geographical conditions the country was regarded as nortoriously unhealthy for Europeans but with the present-day progress in medicine it is possible for Europeans to live a normal and healthy life. Near the Coast the temperature is seldom above 90° but the humidity is high.

Land Tenure

The system of land tenure in Nigeria, except in towns and cities is like other African territories and quite different from what obtains in the Western world. Land is a communal property and is often thought of by most Africans as sunshine and air-equally plentiful, equally necessary, and equally shared by all members of the community according to their needs. Land has no price and is not for sale. Individuals have the right to the use of the land, but not to ownership of it.

Fabian Okon, a Nigerian National, pursuing graduate studies in Villanova's History and Political Science dept., shows the campus to his wife, a student at Rosemont.

The Country's Economy

Nigeria is principally an agricultural country and a high proportion of the people grow their own food. The main export crops are cocoa, palm oil and kernels, grown nuts (peanuts), cotton, rubber, and bananas.

Among minerals the most important are tin and columbite. Nigeria produces more than two-thirds of the world's supply of columbite. In the early days of tin mining, columbite was discarded as waste material in the process of tin concentration. The first recorded production of columbite was in 1933, when three tons of concentrates were obtained. Output rose gradually to 800 tons of concentrates in 1943. The present yearly production is very near 2,000 tons. Columbite is used in the manufacture of stainless steels, and latterly in alloys of a high degree of heat resistance, used, for example, in jet engines. Nigeria is virtually the only source of high-grade concentrate.

There are many oil wells today in Nigeria and the deepest well is near the mouth of the Ramos River in Delta Province, Western Nigeria.

It has often been contended that the surest way to develop Nigeria is by making it a first-class agricultural country; it is argued that, like other underdeveloped areas of the globe, Nigeria is a victim of poverty and, as such, canot embark upon any great industrialization program. The advocates of this policy maintain that most of the maintain that most of the industrialized countries were industrialized because they were rich, and not rich because they were industrialized; therefore, industrialization is no panacea for poverty in a country like Nigeria. Such an adage is unfounded, for agriculture and industry are complimentary and supplementary fields of human endeavor. Today chimneys have begun to smoke in Nigerian factories.

No Longer A Jungle

Nigeria has ceased to be a jungle. One of the imaginative schemes being undertaken by the Federal government is the slum clearance and re-housing scheme in the whole country. Certain areas have been set aside as Housing estates and particular attention is being paid to proper lighting. Houses vary from one room to four-roomed types, each house having its own amenities of kitchen, water borne santitation and bath. Adequate provision has been made for shopping centres, markets, clinics, dispensaries and community centres.

Standford Research Institute, California, has sent out a team to help the Federal Government establish the basic cost of transport within Nigeria by various means including rail, road, river and air.

The airports in Nigeria are classified according to use. Kans and Lagos airports are in Grade 1, and have finished, main runways, 8,610 by 200 feet and 6,600 by 150 feet respectively, which are suitable for use by the heaviest aircraft now in service to Nigeria.

Education

In an endeavor to ensure that education responds as effectively as possible to the needs of youth, Nigeria has intensified her plans for technical and higher education. The University College of Ibadan provides regular courses for about 1,000 students. The University of Nigeria at Nsukka embraces the American pattern of liberal education in its entirety. Each of the three regions has a School of Arts and Technology. There are attractive facilities for every child to receive an education today in Nigeria. At the end of 1958, a total of 2,600,000 pupils were in elementary schools. This number has increased since then and now borders on three million as a result of free elementary education, now widely adopted in the country.

Trade training centres, craft schools and other training institutions are springing up in various parts of the country in order to provide opportunities for the youth to adjust themselves more easily to the world of work.

Government

Nigeria has a Federal-Democratic government. The Federal Government consists of a House of Representatives and a Senate. The Governor-General, Dr. N. Azikiwe, was educated in this country and returned to Nigeria in 1934.

The principal political parties are the Northern People's Congress (NPC), the National Council of Nigeria and the Cameroons (NCNC), and the Action Group (AG). The Action-Group controls the Western Legislature, the NCNC holds sway in the East, while the NPC dominates the North. Until the Federal election of 1959 the parties were run on tribal basis but after that election internal schisms occured in the NCNC and AG. The actual and latent cleavages in the AG and the NCNC presage a new era in Nigerian politics. Tribal parties which secure their nurture exclusively from tribal areas must now be considered a part of the past. This is not to suggest that parties will no longer appear to constituents in terms of tribal lore, affiliations and prejudices, but that this appeal will constantly diminish in importance.

Two approaches to the "man's deodorant" problem

If a man doesn't mind shaving under his arms, he will probably find a woman's roll-on satisfactory. Most men, however, find it simpler and surer to use Mennen Spray Deodorant. Mennen Spray was made to get through to the skin, where perspiration starts. And made to work all day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. How about you? 60¢ and $1.00 plus tax

DOING IT THE HARD WAY by haff

(GETTING RID OF DANDRUFF, THAT IS!)

easier 3-minute way for men: FITCH

Men, get rid of embarrassing dandruff easy as 1-2-3 with FITCH! In just 3 minutes (one rubbing, one lathering, one rinsing), every trace of dandruff, grime, gummy old hair tonic goes right down the drain! Your hair looks handsomer, healthier. Your scalp tingles, feels so refreshed. Use FITCH Dandruff Remover SHAMPOO every week for positive dandruff control. Keep your hair and scalp really clean, dandruff-free!

FITCH LEADING MAN'S SHAMPOO

Pi Theta Chi Holds Annual Initiation Of Neophyte Nurses

While nurses tugged frantically at drapery cords and men peered through windows, knotholes, and cracks in the wall, a bizarre scene occurred in Vasey Auditorium last week. The occasion was the annual initiation of the Pi Theta Chi Sorority.

The hall was darkened and the buzz of female voices mingled with audible evidence of activity. Finally a spotlight illuminated the stage and a hush fell as a pixie-like creature in red garb appeared. Introducing herself as "Monster of Ceremonies," the lowly freshman pledge acknowledged the services of her assistants, a series of stuffed animals which were attached to her costume.

Before the freshman was able to say anything more, the female voices began again, but now they were different—eerie, weird, taunting, sometimes shrill, sometimes cackling. In the half-light the pledge vainly tried to continue her role as emcee of a variety show, but the torments continued. The audience became alternately silent and noisy as the show progressed, and each act was followed by jeers or total silence. The freshmen in the audience who dared to applaud were threatened and tongue-lashed by their big "sisters."

Several Acts

The show consisted of several acts including a Charleston a la Roaring Twenties, a South American cha-cha, a minstrel number, and a novelty act called "Dolores" who resembled the many-armed Hindu god.

The stage went dim again and soft drums began beating in the background as five girls attired in beatnick black and berets idled across the room. As they seated themselves around and atop a piano, the drums ceased and the girls gave forth with a sweetly feminine, slightly off-key rendition of "Down By the Old Mill Stream," followed by several other "hip" selections.

The "Bicycle Built for Two" dance, complete with bicycle (built for one) and the Russian dance team of Ivan and Pavlova provided more opportunities for the heckling of the sorority sisters which continued throughout the evening.

Earth Study's Importance Noted By Geologist Yen

"The great excitement today is over worlds in outer space, but if man does not understand his own planet, how can he truly know the others?" Posing this question is Dr. John Teng-Chien Yen, chairman of Villanova's geology department and an internationally recognized authority on earth science.

Professor Yen is a scientist whose laboratory is the world. For over thirty years, he has traveled the length and breadth (and depth) of Asia, Europe, and North America pursuing geological knowledge.

Earthquakes and volcanos; gold, oil, and uranium; petrified forests and animals—all are in the domain of geology. Webster defines it as "The science which treats of the history of the earth and its life."

To master such a broad subject, Professor Yen's training has had to be correspondingly diverse. He earned his doctorate in zoology (the study of animals), then became interested in paleontology (the study of fossils), and this developed into his present vocation.

Dr. Yen describes his occupation as "Specialist in stratigraphy and paleontology of North America and Europe, and in invertebrate paleontology and paleoecology." In other words, he studies the layers of earth (strata), in some places thousands of feet deep, which contain minerals and fossils that have recorded the conditions under which they were formed, sometimes millions of years ago.

Professor Yen is especially familiar with the oldest types of fossils, those "without backbones" (invertebrates), and discovers how these animals lived and behaved (paleoecology).

Pioneering is another aspect of Dr. Yen's interesting life. He is the only scholar in the field of his current major project, which he says is "fundamental research work neglected for three quarters of a century. We are attempting an intercontinental correlation between North America and Europe, based on the Cretaceous period."

That is, Professor Yen is investigating the similarities between the coal and chalk formations (cretaceous deposits) here and abroad, from which can be inferred other similarities as yet unknown.

As a pure scientist Dr. Yen is interested primarily in the academic significance of his labors, but ventures the cautious opinion that "they may result in discoveries important to coal and petroleum production."

Born in Canton, China, Professor Yen's exceptional importance to this country was cited by prominent scientists sponsoring his naturalization. He has held high posts in the national civil service, and has a position of responsibility wth the Pennsylvania State Geological Survey.

Dr. Yen's undertakings are sponsored by several public and private agencies, in addition to Villanova. He is proud of his grant from the American Philosophical Society, of Philadelphia, which he calls "the most learned organization in the country."

The new Mendal Hall will expand Professor Yen's facilities, although indirectly. His geology department will inherit much of the third floor of the old building which is being vacated by the biology department.

Perhaps of most interest to students and alumni of Villanova is Dr. Yen's dedication to the advancement of Catholic education. He says "Only four out of three hundred Roman Catholic Colleges have geology departments; yet geology must be included in a well balanced college!"

Cassin Notes Plans For DPM Pledging

Bill Cassin President of Delta Pi Mu, the Arts Fraternity has announced that "Hell Week" is slated for the week before the Easter vacation, March 21 to 24.

Consideration by the fraternity administrators is being given to an alteration in the traditional proceedings of Hell Night itself. Prospective DPM members, who are now pledging, are assisting the staffs of local convents and the Crippled Children's Home as part of the initiation process.

Cassin also announced that tentative plans for the fraternity's Dinner Dance have been made. Entertainment for the affair, which is slated for April 23, will probably be supplied by "The Villanovans."

$1800 Available As Assistantship Aid For Grad Students

The Assistantship Program of Villanova's Graduate School currently comprises some 50 teaching and research opportunities in twenty programs, according to Dr. Albert H. Buford, Assistant Graduate Dean.

The composition of the Graduate School Program was announced by Dr. Buford for the benefit of any Villanova student who might be considering advanced study after receiving the Bachelor degree.

Assistantships are awarded on the basis of superior academic achievement in the applicant's undergraduate career. Of the total number of applicants for the aid, the University selects approximately 20 per cent.

Teach or Research

Teaching assistantships require a student to conduct several freshman classes as well as to attend his own graduate classes. A Research assistant, in addition to attending graduate classes, aids in research with the senior professor under whose guidance he is placed.

Assistantships offer a compensation of $1800 per year, subject to a renewal for a second year. In addition to the Assistantship offered by the University itself, a number of government-subsidized grants are available. The Assistantships offer the student an otherwise unavailable oportunity for study, and the University the opportunity to advance and develop as a result of the research and teaching efforts of the assistants.

Only recently has the development of the Graduate School been mushrooming, Dr. Buford continued. The first graduate students were accepted in 1911, but it was not until 1931 that the School was established as a separate administrative unit. Currently, the Graduate School is under the administration of the Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA.

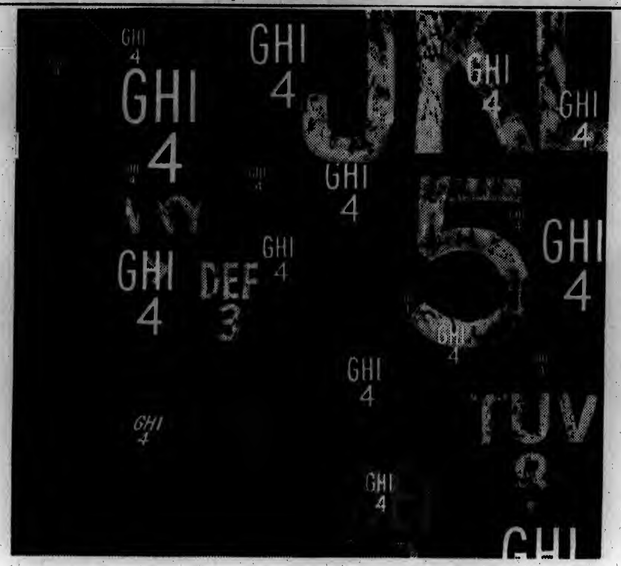
Council Is Raffling $1 Trip To Europe Formosa U. Benefits

A 51-day European tour is being raffled off under the auspices of the Student Council. The trip will encompass 19 days on shipboard and 32 days in Europe.

Bill Freind, who is chairman of the raffle, stated that the trip will begin with a cruise to London and a tour of seven European countries including England, France, Italy, and Germany.

The NFCCS tour will be made with other male and female Catholic college students. All profits of the raffle will go to the new Catholic University of Formosa.

The winner of the raffle will have the option of the tour, which has been estimated as costing $868, or $500 in cash.



Only the limited number of 2,000 chances will be sold at $1 apiece. Due to the small number available, Freind pointed out that "the chance holder's odds are far better than in most raffles."

Chances are being sold in the Pie Shoppe

President's Visit Recalled

Honorary Alumnus, President John F. Kennedy, then a senator, is shown as he was conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws 'honoris causa,' in 1957 by the Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, OSA, Prior Provincial of St. Thomas Province, who was University President at the time.

GHI
4
GHI
4
GHI
4

Big Five freshman champs pose with their mentor, Ed Scullin. Front row (left to right) are George Stefanic, Joe Kruglinski, George Leftwich, Tom Morris, and Bruce Howard. Back row (left to right) includes Bill Kennedy, Butch Wnterbottom, Frank Fernandez, Wally Jones, Joe Mc Gill, and Coach Scullin.

A New Deal

Athletic Board Reshuffles Setup, Reagan Released

by Dan Grove

As was reported in last week's VILLANOVAN, Athletic Director, Francis X. Reagan was released by the University and replaced by Baseball Coach Arthur L. Mahan.

The official statement from the University read, in part, "Reagan's release was brought about by the recent change in Athletic Administration at the University, and the appointment of a new Athletic Council. Formulation of a new policy involving Athletics at the University is presently under consideration."

The new Athletic board is an advisory group which is under the new Athletic Moderator, Rev. John J. Curran, OSA. Father Curran replaced Rev. Joseph Kemme, OSA.

Although the new policy has not been disclosed, it has been intimated that a minor sports program will be initiated. Also, a less strenuous football program is probably around the corner.

Reagan was not released for incompetency or failure to do his job, the official release claimed. "It came about as part of the overall policy adjustments. He takes with him the very best wishes of the University," the release stated.

The announcement came as a shock to many people including Reagan. He was quoted as saying that it was a surprise, and that he was just now realizing what his duties were.

In a personal interview, Mahan said that he would rather wait until he gets the feel of his job before he makes any official statement. The ex-Phillie first sacker did say that he will retain his position as baseball coach.

One Philadelphia daily paper ran a story the day of the reshuffle stating that the new board had already put into effect a program for a lighter football schedule, and a broadening of the minor sports program.

The VILLANOVAN has learned, however that actually this revamped grid schedule, and the groundwork for a wrestling team plus several other minor sports were effected by Reagan, shortly before his release.

Art Mahan
. . . one comes

Frank Reagan
. . . one goes

Explorers Keep 'Cats Big Five Record At .0000 With 76-71 Win

LaSalle College, playing a very clever game and making a minimum of mistakes, shut the door in the faces of the once mighty Wildcats Saturday night. The 76-71 loss was another bitter blow to the Cats in this season of despair. For Coach Al Severance, it was the final blow in making his departing campaign a disaster. Only the generosity of the athletic directors has provided the extra chance for the Cats to break even in this final game of the "Severance Era."

LaSalle played five men throughout most of the game and they were magnificent. The sharp shooting Billy Raftery (23 points) and Bobby McAteer (22 point), the defensive play of Tony Abott, and the boardwork of Gene Park (17 rebounds) and Tim Welsh (14 rebounds) were all vital factors in the LaSalle victory.

Track

The New York pundits say Yale should be a shoo-in. But then they said that last year, too, and the 'Cat juggernaut with weakened cogs Budd, and John Buckley functioning smoothly and intrepid engineer Elliott at the helm overpowered the field.

Intramural Playoffs Over, Finals Monday; Softball Starts Soon

The Intramural Basketball playoffs, which took place from March 2nd to March 6th, marked the finale of another successful and highly-participated season according to Mr. Edward Geisz, Director of Intramural Athletics. Teams that survive the playoffs will meet in the semifinal round which will be played on Wednesday, March 8th, and Thursday, March 9th. The offical close of the Intramural Basketball season will take place with the playing of the Championship game on Monday, March 13. All members of the winning team are presented with silver medals which has been the Department's policy over the years.

Softball Soon

Entry blanks for the Spring softball league are now available at the Intramural Office in 112 Alumni Hall. All completed entries must be in by Friday, March 17. Mr. Geisz hopes the league can get under way on Tuesday, March 21st weather permitting. If not then, it will begin on Wednesday, April 5th.

Nevertheless, journalists Sheehan, Abramson, et alia, say that they'll be singing "Boola-Boola" in New Haven alehouses late Saturday.

Perhaps, perhaps.

Ed Scullin's Frosh Cagers Win Big Five Championship

by Jack Duffy

The Villanova Freshman basketball team fooled the people in the "know" by knocking off tall-and-talented LaSalle in a thrilling game in the Main Line Field House last Friday night. The key to the Wildcats 6 victories in 7 city-series outings was the defensive job performed by Wally Jones. The Villanova offensive was a thing of beauty as George Leftwich and company ran and hustled the Explorers into numerous mistakes.

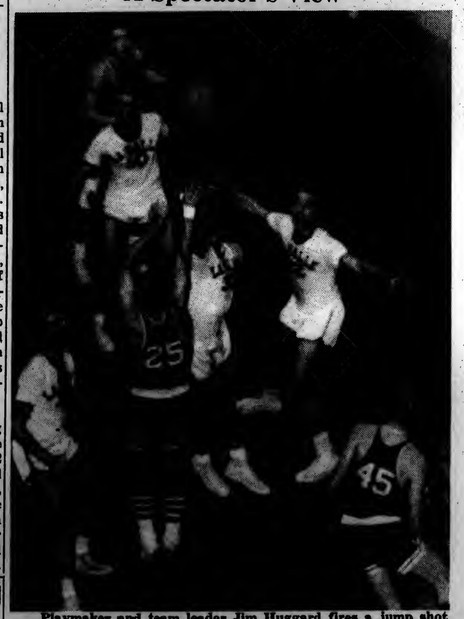
Jones Scores Most

The victory over LaSalle brings the Wildcats record to 8 wins and four losses. Two of these losses to Army and St. Joe's, were suffered in the absence of George Leftwich, the 'Cats' leading scorer and rebounder. Jones and Leftwich have formed a very awesome one-two punch that has proved quite effective. Between them they average over forty points a game. Leftwich leads with a 21.7 average in 11 games, while Jones has points at 19.9 clip. Jones has scored more points than Leftwich, 211—196.

Two more very important figures in the success of the Wildcats have been the forwards, Joe McGill and Frank Fernandez. Neither one of these boys were starters when the season began, but now the freshman machinery would be incomplete without them. Both boys are averaging in the double figures and doing a bang-up job bringing them off the boards.

Two very important city series games can be counted in the win column due to the play of Fernandez. In the second Penn game, played at the Palestra early in February, Frank dominated the boards in the first half and held off the bigger Penn Forwards in the second half, when Penn's size was beginning to dominate, and Villanova won, 83-78.

Tough Rebounder



Frank grabbed 20 rebounds and scored 20 points in that game. Another big game for him was the Temple game played last Tuesday night at the Palestra. After leading most of the way, the 'Cats' suddenly couldn't put the ball in the basket, and the Owls caught fire and took the lead, after three quarters of play. Frank who had been on the bench with three fouls, returned to the game and proceeded to hit 7 straight jumpers from 20 feet out on the left side and then proceeded to break up the ball game. The final score was 92-74, Villanova.

Five Point Play

In the first St. Joe's game, McGill made a play which many basketball fans had never seen before, a five point play. Joe drove for the basketball and made the shot, after the shot, he was deliberately fouled and was awarded two foul shots and a technical foul—consequently 5 points. Two other boys that see quite a bit of action and occasionally divide the fifth starting position are Tom Morris and Butch Winterbottom. Morris is a big boy who does quite well off the boards while Winterbottom is the perpetual motion playmaker type.

The Villanova victories have been over Temple 85-66 and 92-74, Penn 70-69 and 83-78, Saint Joe's 80-63, LaSalle, Muhlenburg 80-69, and Rider 88-81. The losses have been to Scranton, Army, and Seton Hall on the road and Saint Joe's at the Palestra.

A Spectator's View

Playmaker and team leader Jim Huggard fires a jump shot goalward despite the harassing of Bob McAteer (30) and Bill Raftery (25). McAteer and Raftery paced the Explorers to a 76-71 win over the listless 'Cats.

Who dunnit

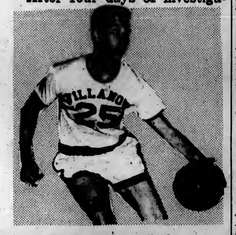
Schafer Snatching Another Highlight of 'Severance Era'

by Vic Strano

Note: Most of the following material is printed by courtesy of the Phila. BULLETIN.

On Jan. 10, 1953, the following headlines and story appeared in the news:

FOUR STRANGERS ASK BOB SCHAFER TO BE "LESS ACTIVE" Wildcats' Top Scorer Lured To Post Office by Phone Call to Dorm.



A Villanova College basketball player was kidnapped near the campus Tuesday night by four strangers, driven around for nearly an hour and urged to be "less active" in future games.

He is tall, blond, 19-year-old Bob Schafer, a Philly boy, who presently is the team's leading scorer.

In acknowledging the incident today, a college spokesman said Schafer, a soph now in his second season of varsity play, made an immediate report to college authorities and that the FBI was called in.

Motive Uncertain

After four days of investiga-

Sophomore Schafer
. . . spirited away

tion, the spokesman added, no one is certain whether Schafer was the victim of a prank or a bonafide attempt of gamblers to influence his playing.

According to the college spokesman, here's what happened: Schafer, who lives here in Phila. at 4300-K Defense Terrace, east of Henry ave., was in his Good Counsel Hall dorm, when he received a telephone call about 6:30 Tuesday (Jan. 5) evening.

The caller said there was a package for him at the post office, located on Spring Mill road, just off the campus.

Parked Auto

When Schafer arrived at the post office, an automobile, which he thinks was a Mercury, was parked outside.

A man got out of the car, approached him, and struck up a conversation. He was then pushed or crowded into the car.

There were three other men in the sedan but it was too dark for Schafer to get a good look at them. He didn't recognize them as VU students or anyone else he knew.

The driver started off immediately and drove about in the immediate vicinity of the college for 45 minutes or an hour. Schafer spent most of the time trying to get out but the men wouldn't stop.

During the ride, the men talked baseball. Schafer figured, at first, it was a prank and joked with his captors.

Later, however, he became less sure when the general theme of their talk was that they wanted him to be less active in future games.

Schafer finally was let out of the car, unharmed, in front of Good Counsel Hall and he immediately informed the Rev. Thomas Burke, OSA, prefect of the Dorm, about the incident. Schafer didn't get the license number of the car.

Played Next Night

Schafer played the next night (Wed.) against Millersville and scored 20 points as VU won, 88 to 79. He'll be in the lineup tonight when Villanova meets Xavier of Ohio in the second game of a doubleheader at the Palestra; Penn opposes Yale in the other contest.

Thus, Bob Schafer, apparently calm after the incident, played well against Millersville. But would Saturday's big game against Xavier be a different story? Well, the Sunday morning after the game, the paper.

splashed these headlines across the front sports page:

MAIN LINERS PREVAIL AGAINST XAVIER; PENN DEFEATS YALE, 63-51
Kidnap Victim Employs Biggest Night of Career, Clicks for 15 Field Goals.

Blond Bobby Schafer had a prompt, vigorous answer last night for those four ungentlemanly chaps who took him for that uninvited "ride" last Tuesday.

All the 6'2" soph did was uncork a 33-point kayo on the chin of a fine Xavier team as he led the Wildcats to a 94-86 victory in a record-equaling game that topped a doubleheader of basketball extremes at the Palestra before 5329 thrilled fans.

Visibly Upset

Schafer seemed visibly upset by the glare of publicity and refused to talk for reporters prior to the game.

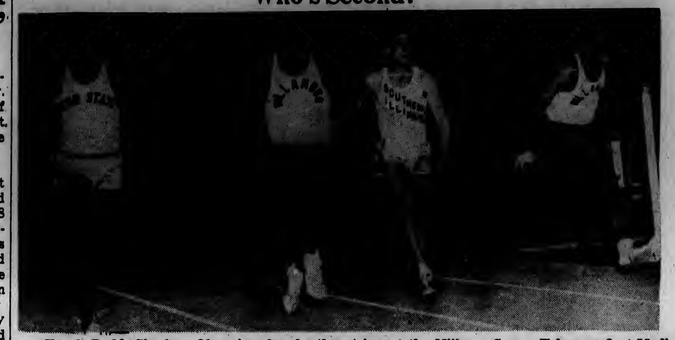
But when he took the court against Xavier, he did his talking in a manner all understood, and every spectator was thrilled to the core with the solid impact of his message. After starting with an early tap goal, Schafer simply ran wild. He connected on jump shots, threw in one-handers, and dashed inside off weaves for layups.

Well Al Severance had a little something to say about the whole incident. On Mon., Jan. 12, 1953, we read:

RIDE NO PRANK,
ACE'S COACH SAYS
Villanova Coach
Blames Gamblers

The kidnaping of Bob Schafer, 19 year old basketball star at Villanova, was probably the work of "punks who had a few bucks bet on a game," Al Severance said today.

"My guess until I know better is that a few punks had a few bucks bet on a basketball game and inquired about the point spread between our team and Xavier.



Wanted To Rattle Bob

"I assume then that they were told it was very close and said, 'Well, if that's the way it is, maybe we can rattle a few points out of this kid.' "

A few days later the FBI and everyone else involved in it withdrew from the case, and it was assumed that there would be no further danger to the boy.

And so the strange kidnapping of "Bullet Bob" was forgotten for the time being, but the incident would remain famous as another unusual event in the colorful career of Al Severance.

Who's Second?

Frank Budd, Sheehan Olympian, breaks the string at the Millrose Games February 3 at Madison Square Garden. Otis Drayton, Budd's teammate cops a close second. Bobby Brown, Penn State and Don Stryon, Southern Illinois, take third and fourth. Budd and Drayton are the Elliottmen's big hopes in the IC4A 60-yard dash.

IC4A OUTLOOK

by Mike Donohue

60-YARD DASH

Frank Budd and Otie Drayton, Villanova, and Bob Brown PS, are the "class" sprinters. Brown is defending champion but Budd is undefeated in the indoor meets this season.

Best Bet: Sheehan Olympian Budd.
Dark Horse: Teammate Drayton.

60-YARD HIGH HURDLES

With Maryland's hirsute Bill Johnson, 1960 titlist, out of the meet, the obstacle medal is up for grabs. Outdoor IC4A champ Leon Pras, Yale's Jay Luck and Bill Flippen and Harvard's Angie Sinisi will battle for the top spot. Jumbo hopes for points from Charlie Hammock and/or Bob Coffill.

Best Bet: Slow starter Pras.
Dark Horse: Sprinter Luck.

600-YARD RUN

A star-studded field will give Garden fans a repeat of last year's four man photo finish. Jim Stack, Yale, will try for his third consecutive IC4A indoor win. Art Crichlow, SJ, Dick Edmunds, Pr, Art Evans, M, and Jim Wedderburn, NYU, will challenge Stack.

Best Bet: Two time winner Stack.
Dark Horse: Olympian Wedderburn.

100-YARD RUN

Here it's Yale's Tommy Carroll against the field. Ever-improving Pete Brandeis, C, veterans Kye Courtney and Larry St. Clair, M, and Penn State entry Howie Deardorff will be strong entrants.

Best Bet: Garden favorite Carroll.
Dark Horse: Bandeis, a comer.

SHOT PUT

No name entry. Frank Batdorf, P; Dick Brown, N, 58-8; Cat weightmen Billy Joe, 55-8 and Jerry Donini; Dick Delone, 53-9½, H; and Jerry Clements A, fifth in last year's meet are contenders.

Best Bet: Brown.
Dark Horse: Joe.

HIGH JUMP

Long John Thomas should take this since Moscow Pedagogical Institute is not a member of the IC4A. Leaping for the other points will be Dick Campbell, PS; Sam Streibert and Flippen, both Yale and both 6-6; and Cal Glass, SJ.

Best Bet: Thomas, ho-hum
Dark Horse: Campbell

BROAD JUMP

St. John's and Harvard will both field three 23 foot jumpers. Bob O'Brien, M, has a 23.9¼ jump to his credit and Dick Husband, D, was fifth in last year's meet.

Best Bet: Cal Glass, SJ, by a whit over O'Brien.
Dark Horse: John Pritchard, Navy.

MILE RUN

Sensational Yale sophomore Bob Mack has the best time credited to an IC4A athlete this season, 4:18.1. Ron Gregory, ND, is defending champ. Other entrants are Eric Groon; Mark Mullin, H, second place finisher in the IC4A outdoor meet here last year.

John Corry, M, who took fifth in the same meet; Whit Azoy, P; and soph Jerry Norman, PS, who has run a 4:15.7 this winter.

Best Bet: Mack, if he runs.
Dark Horse: Groon.

Two Mile Relay

The appearance of indoor record holder Manhattan plus the return of Villanova to defend its 1960 title, promises an exciting 22 lap race. Yale (7:35.2), Holy Cross and Georgetown will also field strong teams.

Best Bet: Holy Cross, since Manhattan and Yale will be running "second" teams.
Dark Horse: Villanova.

TWO MILE RUN

Here again, Mack has best time this season, 9:08.8. Tom Laris, D, who ran the most brilliant individual race in last year's meet, winning in a record 8:59,0, but who has not betterd 9:11.4 this year, will defend his laurels. Jumbo says that Pat Traynor might run. Other contenders are Bert Bachrach (9:13.2), Bobby Lowe, B, Norman, PS, 9:16.2.

Best Bet: Crowd pleaser Laris.
Dark Horse: Bachrach, an unknown.

POLE VAULT

No 15 footers, but at least five who have gone 14 feet or better. Of these, Cornell's John Murray, (14-7¼), looks like the man to beat. Other 14 footers are Ed Rector, N, Oakley Andrews, Y, Charley Mitchell, P, and Gary Brown, A.

Best Bet: Murray.
Dark Horse: Marquette's Bob Verbick, whom we almost overlooked.

35-POUND WEIGHT

In this traditional, exotic event, Harvard appears to have 12 points (5-4-3) sewed up. Stan Doten, Ed Bailey, Roger Wilson should place one, two, three for the Crimson. Other Contenders are Judd Sage, N, and John Murphy, F.

Best Bet: One of Harvard's "whales".
Dark Horse: Sage.

MILE RELAY

A plethora of talented fours here. The 'Cats, defending champs, will face stiff competition from St. John's (3:17.8); NYU (3:16.9); Princeton (3:17.8); and the "second" teams of Manhattan and Yale. The 'Cats best time to date is 3:17.8.

Best Bet: Villanova.
Dark Horse: St. John's.

TEAM STRENGTH

Cats are defending champs. Yale, which could score in twelve of thirteen events; Harvard, strong in the 35 pound and the broad jump; St. John's with a strong mile relay team and several individual stars and Princeton with the same combination will score heavily. Michigan State and Penn State are unknown quantities. Manhattan appears to be out of contention.

Best Bet: Yale, on paper.
Dark Horse: Guess who?

Cats Defend IC4A Crown Saturday

On The Spot

58 Man Yale Contingent To Dethrone 1960 Champs?

by Mike Donahue

Villanova does not stand a chance to win the IC4A indoor track championship.

Yale will swamp the defending champs by scoring in twelve of the thirteen events.

The 'Cats will be lucky to squeeze past Harvard (!!) for third place.

These three conclusions are gleaned from an agonizing appraisal of the entry list and comparative performance sheet of the athletes entered in the 40th ICAAAA meet to be held Saturday night at Madison Square Garden.

'58 Ells

The Bulldogs of coach Bob Giegenback will field a 58 man team tnat includes two 1960 gold medalists, Jim Stack (600) and Tommy Carroll (1000). Other potential scorers for Yale include Jay Luck and Bill Flippen in the 60 yard hurdles; Bill Legat in the 600 yard run (he finished 4th last year); the mile relay team; the two mile relay team, which has a 7:35.3 to its credit this season; Mike Pyle, fourth last year in the shotput; Sam Striecert and Flippen, two 6-6 high jumpers; Bob Mack, a 4:13.1 miler and a 9:03.8 two miler; Oakley Andrews, a 14 foot pole vaulter; Jim Axtell who has broad jumped 22'9½" and Bill Bachrach, a 9:13.2 two miler.

Luck, along with 'Cat obstacler Leon Pras, will go into the meet co-favorites in the hurdles since Maryland's hirsute Bill Johnson will not compete. Maryland withdrew from Saturday's meet because of a conflicting Atlantic Conference meet.

Flippen, however, must be reckoned with, too. He's matched Luck's time of 7.4. This was Johnson's winning time last year.

Mack: 4:13.1

Mack could be the real standout of the meet if he runs in both the mile and two mile, as Yale sports publicist Ed Loftus suggested he might do. If the Eli sophomore limits his cavorting to the mile he'll give defending champ Ron Gregory of Notre Dame a run for his medal. Gregory's winning time last year was 4:13.1, which Mack matched in a triangular meet with Harvard and Princeton February 25. If he tries the longer distance, he stands a good chance of dethroning Dartmouth's Tom Laris who set a meet record of 8:59.0 last year.

Incredible as it might seem, on paper the third strongest team entry is Harvard. The Crimson boast of three "whales" who might walk off with the first three places and 12 valuable points in the 35 pound weight throw. They also sport three 23 foot plus broad jumpers, the most outstanding of whom is Chukwuna Azikiwe. Other possible scorers are shotputters Dick Delone and miler Mark Mullin.

After Yale, and Villanova, with Harvard slightly astern the frontrunners, come Cornell and Princeton. The Big Red have a championship calibre pole vaulter in John Murray, a stickout 1000 yarder in Pete Brandeis and a topflight miler in Eric Groon.

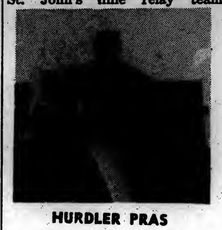
3:17.8 Tiger Four

Princeton features a 3:17.8 mile relay team, an outstanding 600 yard threat in Dick Edmunds and a 14 foot pole vaulter, Charley Mitchell.

Except for Villanova, the points will be spread almost entirely among the Ivy League schools. For the first time in many years, Manhattan will not be a contender for the crown which they once won twelve consecutive times.

As Coach George Eastment related the Jaspers' plight, "Our high jumper, Frank Carroll, (6-6), is ineligible and I won't be able to run my strongest two mile relay team since (Kye) Courtney will run in the 1000 and (Artie) Evans in the 600 and (Larry) St. Clair in one of the two." Eastment also has a stellar broad jumper in Bob O'Brien who has leaped 23-9¼.

Jaspers Out of It



In comparison to Yale, Villanova, and even Harvard, however, Manhattan appears to have no chance for the team title.

Michigan State will also field a team for the first time in several years. The Spartans' strength is unknown.

"It is also rumored in some circles," reports co-sports editor Dan Grove, who predicted the exact point total last year (27), and avows that the 'Cats will beat Yale this year "with 27 or more points", that "Southern Cal will fly in their entire squad for the meet".

"Just for the shock effect," Grove explained.

Individual standouts include Penn shotputter Frank Batdorf; St. John's mile relay team

HURDLER PRAS

(3:17.3); and SJ's broad jumper Cal Glass.

Thomas, Too

And a high hurdler from Boston named Thomas.

And then there's Villanova.

As they did last year, the "experts" once again are awestruck by the depth of the Yale entry. Jumbo Jim Elliott's Wildcats are faced with the same problem that confronts them every year: lack of depth.

Yale might score in twelve events; the 'Cats in, at best, six. Frank Budd and Otie Drayton are entered in the 60 yard dash; Leon Pras, Charlie Hammock, and Bob Coffill are slated for the 60 yard high hurdles; Pat Traynor is a possible entrant in either the mile or two mile; Billy Joe and Jerry Donini will put the shot; the relay teams will be hard pressed to defend their titles.

On paper it looks like a Yale cakewalk. With a possible total of 35 points. The most, it would seem, that the 'Cats can amass is 33.

(Continued on Page 10)

Bowlers Win Second Straight Match; Beat Jaspers And Quakers

Under the direction of Captain Sal Rico, the Villanova varsity Bowling team commenced its 1961 season by registering initial triumps over highly rated teams from Penn and Manhattan.

Paced by Captain Rico with a 630 three frame composite score and John McCarthy with the team high of 655, the varsity Bowlers upended the Penn quintet two games to one. The final total score for the Wildcats was a high 3055 pins. Heading Penn's efforts was Gerry Weiss with a 655.

Jaspers Defeated

In a meet the following week, the Wildcats encountered the strong Manhattan Jaspers and took the event two games to one coming back quickly after losing the first game. John McCarthy and Chuck Williams led the Wildcats to their second straight victory with scores of 590 and 587 each, while Ed Moran finished up with the Manhattan high of 590.

The other members of the team, probably the sole bright spot on the Villanova athletic scene as it appears now, are Bob Chartier, Dennis Henderson, and Chuck Capone. The combined team average stands at 2842 pins per competition and phenomenal 192 average per man. Officially the Cats' record is now an undefeated two wins and no losses.

'Cats And Penn Again

For some undoubtedly well-intentioned reason the Big Five Directors met last week and pitted a resurgent Penn squad against Villanova's lackluster hoopsters in the opening game of the City Series doubleheader Saturday which features an excellent rematch in the empire-St. Joseph game.

In an earlier game this season the Red and Blue eked out a 63-62 decision over the Wildcats.

Sports Chatter

At Last It's Over

by Bud Simmonds

The long haul is over. With the exception of the Big Five playoff Saturday night and the tourney performances of Temple and St. Joseph's, the local major college basketball season is finished. For some observers, it has been a year packed with success and jubilation, for others it has been one of misfortune and bewilderment. All in all it has been an interesting season despite what the critics have said.

Hawks Again

The Hawks of St. Joseph's have hustled to another admirable record, going over the twenty mark for the fourth straight year, winning the MAC title, and their third straight NCAA bid. Wth all due respect to their big men, rebounding power, and bench, their strength came from the little guys. Sophs Jimmy Lynam and Bill Hoy, the big question marks in pre-season prospects, combined to make the clutchiest backcourt seen locally.

Owls In NIT

Temple despite a decided lack of height, gave St. Joe's a tremendous run for their money in the MAC and Big Five. Their forte was teamwork. For the pure basketball fan, no other team could equal the Owls for sheer beauty of playmaking, picks, and taking the good shot. Their play was a tribute to their great mentor, Harry Litwack. Bruce Drysdale, filled Pickles' sneaks nicely, by uniting the club's attack and guiding them to an NIT berth.

Quakers Didn't Quit

Jack McCloskey's Quakers exhibited, for the better part of the campaign, sophomore-itis; being alternately up and down. Their steadier play as the season wore on was brought about largely through the efforts of sophomores Sid Amira and John Wideman. They gave the Quakers the leadership which they earlier lacked.

LaSalle's attack was a steady, well-balanced one. Dudey Moore's club gave a fine team effort with four men averaging in double figures. The Explorers had the nucleus for the better future on the LaSalle horizon until the recent scholastic failures of their big men, Carey and Freidrich, burst the bubble in Dudey Moore's pipe.

'Cats Erratic

The biggest mystery to every Palestra follower was the collapse of Villanova's talent laden Wildcats. Their play ran the gamut of emotions, from great to pathetic, from firehouse to sluggish. They upset the tall teams without a big man and yet couldn't buy a rebound from small clubs. Their sophs didn't come through in the manner expected. Their offensive load fell on two men and noticeably lacked any consistent third scorer.

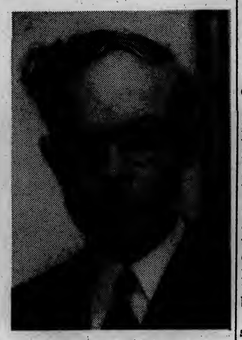
Controversy Champs

Members were praised for individual ability but, simultaneously criticized for showboating, pumping, hogging, and loafing. With Hoover, Huggard, and White, the "Cats" won the Big Five controversy championship hands down. Al Severance's twenty-fifth anniversary season was an erratic one for Villanova's players, and a tragic one for its fans.

Sophs Tough

The "Year of the Sophomore" in the Big Five turned out winning records for every club. Philly teams played well against big time competition, but the wrath of lack luster opponents hurt the national reputation of Philadelphia basketball. On the plus side, it is doubtful if many other areas can boast such an abundance of so many talented little men. However, the play of the Big Five during the 60-61 campaign was not as outstanding as previous ones. There seemed to be a noticable lack of stars this year. Perhaps, and let's hope anyway, the past season will be the basis for better things to come.

Villanovan



VOL. 36—No. 17 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. MARCH 16, 1961

Annual Augustinian Lecture To Be Given By Dublin Philosopher

The third annual Saint Augustine Lecture will be presented by Villanova University on Sunday, March 26th at 3:00 p.m. in Vasey Auditorium.

Professor John J. O'Meara, Professor at University College, Dublin, an outstanding classical scholar, will speak on the subject: "The Significance of Saint Augustine's 'City of God'."

In addition to his English translations of works by Origen and Saint Augustine, Dr. O'Meara is the author of several original and important works in the field of Augustinan scholarship including "The Young Augustine" and "Porphyry's Philosophy from Oracles in Saint Augustine."

Philosopher O'Meara

Inaugurated in 1959, under the general title of Saint Augustine and the Augustinian Tradition, the lectures are designed to promote a wider understanding and appreciation of the life, teachings and influence of the great African Doctor.

Each Lecture is published annually by the Macmillan Company of New York.

The annual retreat for the freshman and sophomore men will commence on Sunday evening, March 26 at 7:30 P.M. and will continue until Wednesday morning, March 29. Compulsory attendance cards can be picked up in the center lounge of Dougherty Hall.

The female students of the University will also attend their retreat at this time in the University chapel. The Very Reverend John V. Saery, OSA, Prior Provincial of the mid-west province of the Augustinian order will conduct. Compulsory attendance cards can be obtained also at the same time as those for the male students.

Father Robert Burke OSA is in the act of presenting an Oriental Lovely to an unseen admirer.

Photo by Frank Matunis

Malvern Man Wins SC Trip Mission Dance Nets $679

Mr. Nick Cavuto of Malvern, uncle of Jim McErlane, newly elected freshman representative, was declared winner of the Student Council lottery trip to Europe. The drawing took place at the annual mid-lenten pageant of the Shamokinaki Dance.

McErlane asserted that his uncle would take the five hundred dollar award instead of the trip to Europe. "The money," he explained, "would probably be put toward a new station-wagon for his wholesale meat business."

Mr. Cavuto's reaction was described as "incredulous surprise." Ordinarily, Mr. Cavuto buys any chance solicited for, but does not give his chances of winning a "second thought". According to McErlane, it took considerable time before he could be convinced that he was the winner.

Tea Set Winner

The traditional drawing for the Japanese tea set befell Anthony (Lucky) D'Addezio, an E.E. Junior day-hop from Downingtown, Pa. After the presentation of the tea set to D'Addezio, a huge container of balloons was released at the ballroom's end for everyone who cared for a remembrance of the evening.

General chairman of Shamokinaki festivities, Earl Denlinger expressed his delight over the profits of the dance. "We should have grossed about a thousand dollars on the sale of tickets alone. In addition, the spontaneous response of the patrons and advertisers was exceptional this year." The proceeds, of course, will be contributed to the foreign missions of our own Augustinian province.

The decorations included many imitations of the Japanese traditions which the dance attempts to carry with it.

Pinkish-Red Arc

A pinkish-red arc had been erected in the middle of the floor with the name "Shamokinaki" inscribed around the top and facing the entrance. Japanese characters were also written down the legs of the arc. Strung on its corners were multi-colored lights and at various intervals, Japanese lanterns were attached.

Denlinger appeared exuberant as he spoke of the dance's financial and social success. "All our committee's provided me with a fine job. They not only accomplished their respective jobs but also managed to complete them well on time."

Top Seven Hundred Honored As IBMs Turn Out 27 Feet

The Dean's List, making its first appearance on the pages of the VILLANOVA since the tutumn semester of '59, contains the names of approximately 789 students who have achieved the ultimate in undergraduate accomplishment.

Twenty one students attained the apogee of scholastic endeavor by receiving 4.00. Of this honored group are two Villanova nurses, Eileen M. Greyson and Walter C. Knepley. Others of interest who reached the zenith are Sr. Angela McLeod, a nun, and James Strazzella, a Vice President of Student Council.

The official Dean's List represents one-fifth of the entire undergraduate student enrollment and it also was twenty four feet nine and one quarter inches long when completely unraveled. This phenomenal span is more than a foot further than John Buckley jumped at the IC4A outdoor meet last May.

Others who made the list are: Allegretti, Henry A., SOC., FR.

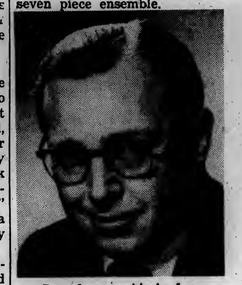
(Continued on Page 7)

NBC's McAndrew Honored By VILLANOVAN, WWVU

William R. McAndrew, Executive Vice President of NBC News, has been named recipient of the seventh annual St. Augustine Award for distinguished contribution to the communication arts.

The award is sponsored by The VILLANOVAN and Radio Station WWVU, and will be presented at the St. Augustine Award Dinner Dance to be held this year on April 8 at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia.

The Dinner Dance will also mark the turn-over of control of the student newspaper and radio from senior staff members to underclassmen.



Prominent Recipient

Jim McAteer, retiring Editor-in-Chief of The VILLANOVAN, has noted that "Mr. McAndrew is most probably the most prominent person to receive the St. Augustine Award. All staff members interested in the fields of journalism and broadcasting will certainly find that the opportunity to meet Mr. McAndrews, and to hear him speak, is not one to be turned down.

Dan O'Mara, Radio Station Manager, added that "Because of Mr. McAndrew's prominence in his field, special efforts are being made by the University to make this Dinner Dance especially successful."

Price Is $5.00

Tickets for the event will cost the usual five dollars. McAteer stated that this price covers only a fraction of the total cost of the dinner. The remainder is paid by the University. Music for the affair will be provided by the Don Nicholas string trio, while after-dinner dancing will be accompanied by Nicholas' seven piece ensemble.

Broadcaster McAndrew

In addition to Mr. McAndrew and several members of the University faculty and Administration, a number of the previous award winners will be present at the dinner dance. Some of the former recipients are WCAU-TV commentator John Facenda, TV GUIDE publisher John Quirk, Leonard McAdams of The Philadelphia INQUIRER, and John Calpin, Political Editor of The Philadelphia BULLETIN.

McAndrew himself has been chiefly responsible for NBC's award-winning news coverage. His handling of such significant news events as the Little Rock segregation riots, the launching of the first Russian Sputnik, the recent political conventions, campaigns and election, the Cuban Revolution and the top-level conferences on the Congo has resulted in his network's receiving highest commendation from many quarters for outstanding activity.

O'Mara declared that all staff members of the radio station and newspaper are invited to the affair, which is not formal. The Dinner Dance, which is slated for the Bellevue's Rose Garden.

Wilder's Matchmaker On April 6 In Vasey

All facets of Belle Masque's spring production of Thorton Wilder's play "The Matchmaker" are in full operation, Paul Breen, the drama society's president, has disclosed.

The society will present the comedy in Vasey Hall theatre beginning on April 6, two days after the conclusion of Easter vacation. The show will continue through April 9.

Freind On Publicity

"It was thought that the closeness of opening night to the Easter recess would present a problem," Breen explained, "but public relations director Bill Freind, who has already done outstanding publicity work on "The Crucible" and, more recently, "The Country Girl," feels quite certain that if a problem exists it can be easily overcome."

Ticket sales are under the direction of Harry Podall and John Gartland, and will be placed on esale in the Pie Shoppe within a few days at $1.25 apiece.

Snow Delays Show

Because of delays as a result of the snow, the cast, led by veteran John McGarry, is working under an accelerated rehearsal schedule and giving up its Easter vacation, so that the entertainment level to which Belle Masque audiences are accustomed may be maintained," Freind said.

Also in the cast are Donna Rago, Joann Dynakowski, Don Murphy and John Putre, who all have feature roles.

The theatre group is creating a new point of interest for its forthcoming production by means of an innovation in setting. This was announced by Richard A. Duprey, Theatre Department Chairman and director of the play.

The play will use four sets. To facilitate the scene changes, scenery will be built on movable wagons. Moreover, a runway projecting four or five rows into the audience will be constructed for the players' use in soliloquies.

Mr. Chairman!

"Point of personal privilege, Mr. Chairman!", cries Paul O'Rourke during a recent heated debate on the floor of the Student Council. Charlie Laubus silently contemplates the question.

Strazzella Urges Return Of Pre-Dougherty Rec Hall

A movement is underway to restore a tradition at Villanova.

Back in the pre-Dougherty Hall era, the present classroom annex served as day-hop cafeteria. In short, AC was the original "pie shoppe."

In addition to its culinary delights, the "pie shoppe" was a centrally located congregating spot for both day-hops and residents. Thus, it served to unite the undergraduates.

It is with an eye toward integrating day-hops and residents as well as to provide a place for recreation that Jim Strazzela and Charlie Labus introduced a motion to Student Council to convert the classrooms in AC to recreation facilities upon completion of the Science Building.

Investigation

"We did some extensive investigation before we put this motion before Council," Strazzella explained. "We found that conversion of AC would exercise no hardship upon the classroom facilities of the university. Three classrooms and two lecture halls will be included in the Science Building," Strazzella elaborated.

"Furthermore," Labus elaborated, "We do not intend to usurp the quarters of either the Singers or the Band. Only the classrooms would be renovated."

The proposed facilities would include such items as dart boards, pool tables, ping-pong tables as well as pinochle decks to perpetuate an old "pie shoppe" custom.

WCTU Nixes It

"The only concerted opposition we've had has been the pressure tactics of the campus chapter of the WCTU," Strazzella revealed in a whisper.

"They mentioned something about a bunch of 'boat-necked Mavericks,'" Labus added in his croupier.

Waxing serious, Strazzella said that "passage of this bill would be contingent on a guarantee from the students that they would not abuse the facilities."

Resident Students To Draw Numbers For '61-62 Rooms

Room reservations for Resident Students for the 19961-1962 semester will be conducted by the Student Council in cooperation with the Rev. G. J. McLaughlin, OSA, Dean of Men. Numbers that will determine the individual student's place in line is scheduled to be drawn on April 11, 12, and 13 in the Student Council Office on the second floor of Dougherty Hall from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The juniors will draw first on the 11th, the sophomore class will follow on the 12th, and the frosh on the 13th. Numbers will be called for in succession and presented to the office of the Dean of Men for room reservations on April 18, 19, and 20. Times will be posted on the bulletin boards in all the dormitories and halls on campus.

Present Occupancy

Fr. McLaghlin also announced that students who wish to retain the rooms they now occupy must claim them before 10:15 a.m. on the day assigned to their class.

A student having the lowest number may present it with his next year's roommate's matriculation card and number at the Dean of Men's Office at the appointed time. Matriculation cards of BOTH residents of the room must be presented at the time the room is reserved.

Upperclassmen will be expected to reserve rooms only in Sheehan and Sullivan Halls until these halls are filled. It is the intention of the Administration to have only upper classmen in these halls, although it is not always opssible. The students are also reminded of the rule in the Student Handbook that the Administration reserves the right to change a student's room at any time.

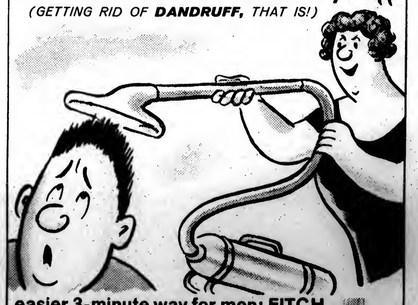
Nurses Hear Fr. Klekotka

(Photo by Alan Williams)

Fr. Klekotka addresses the nurses' sorority meeting held last Thursday evening, March 9, in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall.

University Receives Gifts

The Villanova University Development Foundation last week announced two sizeable gifts made to the University.



The first was an analogue computer donated by the Radio Corporation of America. The value of the computer was estimated by Rev. Athony Mullen, OSA, Chairman of the Electrical Engineering Department, at approximately $30,000.

The computer was originally built under government contract as a prototype computer on a research project.

The second gift was a $20,000 allotment made by the Bethlehem Steel Company. This grant was made under the company's program which allots a $4,000 stipend for every Vilanova graduate employed at Bethlehem who passes the "loop course."

It pays to advertise in...
THE VILLANOVAN

DOING IT THE HARD WAY by haff
(GETTING RID OF DANDRUFF, THAT IS!)

easier 3-minute way for men: FITCH

Men, get rid of embarrassing dandruff easy as 1-2-3 with FITCH! In just 3 minutes (one rubbing, one lathering, one rinsing), every trace of dandruff, grime, gummy old hair tonic goes right down the drain! Your hair looks handsomer, healthier. Your scalp tingles, feels so refreshed. Use FITCH Dandruff Remover SHAMPOO every week for positive dandruff control. Keep your hair and scalp really clean, dandruff-free!

FITCH® LEADING MAN'S SHAMPOO

Have a real cigarette—have a CAMEL

The best tobacco makes the best smoke!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Portrette

Cum Laude Strazzella

Senior Jim Strazzella, Villanova's candidate for the Outstandng Catholic Youth Award of 1960, has disproved beyond doubt the old adage: "To do two things at once is to do neither well." He has, through endless sacrifice and inexhaustible enthusisam achieved the rare and enviable state of the complete, the well-rounded student.

JIM STAZZELLA
. . . does both well

Strazzella, a Philosophy major from Hanover, Pa., has engaged in many well-chosen activities in which he dedicated himself to the service of others. These activities, which include Student Senate, Student Congress, Student Cabinet, Literary Club, Philosophy Club, Student Tutoring, Pre-Law Society, Beta Gamma Society, NFCCS Committees, Junior Steering Committee and Student-Faculty Committee, encompass every field of student endeavor.

"Cum Laude"

Despite all these major activities, Strazzella has maintained better than 3.5 cumulative scholastic average, which will allow him to graduate with a "cum laude." In addition, he carried a 4.0 average last semester while working tirelessly as Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs, Copy Editor of the Lynx, President of the Sanctuary Society, and announcer for the Villanova Marching Band. He is also an occasional contributor to the Villanovan.

Strazzella, who transferred from the University of Delaware after his freshman year, has never missed a class period in three years at Villanova. The perfect example of Catholic principle in practical application, he credits his spiritual drive to daily Mass and Communion. He says that the only way to continue in this manner he has emphasized is to "Budget your recreation time for actvties."

Law School

Strazzella, who has carried over his leadership abilities from Delone Catholic High School to Villanova, eyes law school — possibly Penn's — in the immediate future. He says that he is choosing law because "it is a great field in which to help other people."

A member of the Delta Epsilon Sigma Honors fraternity, Strazzella is a serious-minded, imaginative student who realizes the uniqueness of the individual and believes in people: "Students should have the proper perspective on life and self. I believe the individual is the important thing. He can develop his own individuality and help others at the same time. No student should waste his potential."

With his active mind on a high plane and his feet on the ground, Strazzella has laid the foundation for a brilliant future for himself.

Julia Paparella Serves As Chairman For Varied Projects

Mrs. Julia Paparella, assistant professor of nursing at Villanova, served as a member of the overall planning committee as well as chairman of the film committee of the Nurses' Section of the recent sectional meeting of the American College of Surgeons held in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Paparella also chaired the recent conference on, "Evaluation of the Student in the Clinical Area," sponsored by the southeastern Pennsylvania division of the National League for Nursing.

A member of the Villanova faculty for the past six years, Mrs. Paparella serves as a member of the Nursing Education Committee of the League.

Visa And IRS Plan International Night

On Saturday evening April 8, 1961 the International Relations Society working in union with the recently formed Villanova International Student Association will hold a "International Evening" for the benefit of all students at Villanova both American and International.

The program, which will be held in the Villanova Field House, will begin at 8 P.M. It will consist of various entertainment representative of the various countries of the world.

A Little Culture

There will also be displays of the cultural and cuisine of the several countries presented by the respective foreign counsels located in Philadelphia.

On this night the two groups will also be host to the members of the International House of Philadelphia. At this time there are also plans to have a member of the American Association of the United Nations present to give a keynote address.

Dick Calhoun and Bob Bohn take time out from their duties as co-chairmen of the Senior Belle-Aire Ball.

(Photo by Mike Pastore)

Bohn and Calhoun Direct Preparations For Sr. Ball

Last week, the Senior class began its initial preparations for the 1961 version of the Belle Air Ball. Under the direction of co-chairmen Bob Bohn and Dick Calhoun, the groundwork was laid for this event which is one of the highlights of the Spring social calendar.

The Prom will be held as always in the Villanova fieldhouse and the day will be Friday, April 14. The next night, the scene will shift to the new picturesque Sheraton Hotel in downtown Philadelphia for the annual Senior Dinner Dance.

The sale of tickets will commence on Monday, April 3 and will be sold right up to the time of the dance. As an added inducement for students who purchase their tickets early, they will receive a chance to win the services of a fully equipped limousine for the evening. It is being described in some circles as a "prestige" item.

London In Love

"London In Love" will be the theme of this year's Ball and decorations have been entrusted to the care of Bob Brogan and Jerry Snopkowski. They will be designed to provide a setting of authenticity in portraying the tradition and color of London. Co-chairman Bob Bohn commented.

"Th 1961 Belle Air Ball is keyed to a subtle extravagance and a relaxed formality. It promises to be one of the most enjoyable events in the history of the Class of 1961."

As in previous years, the Prom is open to all Villanovans and they are encouraged to attend. Pointed out Calhoun: "The Ball is not just a senior function and since this will be the year's only formal event on campus, I urge all Villanovans to attend."

The day will come to what is expected to be a successful close with a return to the grotto where Father Kenny will offer benediction to close the day on the same spiritual plane that it began.

After class?
Try this!

Sophisticated, topical, earthy, often hilarious. The Limeliters brighten the folk music world with unprecedented variety. Everyone is applauding the driving style of these rousing folknik hipsters! You will too! Living Stereo or Monaural Hi-Fi. RCA VICTOR

ASK YOUR DEALER ABOUT THE COMPACT 33, THE NEWEST IDEA IN RECORDS.

A man with Alopecia Universalis* doesn't need this deodorant

He could use a woman's roll-on with impunity. Mennen Spray was made for the man who wants a deodorant he knows will get through to the skin . . . where perspiration starts.

Mennen Spray Deodorant does just that. It gets through to the skin. And it works. All day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. Have you tried it yet? 64¢ and $1.00 plus tax

*Complete lack of body hair, including that of the scalp, legs, armpits, face, etc.

A Chimera

Representative Frances Bolton, Republican from Ohio, has indicated that she considers President Kennedy s youthful Peace Corps "a terrifying thing."

Mrs. Bolton's abject terror derives from the fact that she feels American youth will travel to foreign countries "without an understanding of the places they are going, and without any certain knowledge of what they are doing."

Perhaps the Congresswoman is correct in assuming that Sargeant Shriver, administrator of the Peace Corps, will not be able to produce a bevy of Dag Hammarsqjolds—geniuses at every subtlety and nuance of international diplomacy and foreign relations.

But neither the President nor his brother-in-law Shriver have indicated any intention of entering into active competition with the U.N. Secretary-General. The purpose and intent of the members of the Peace Corps is to work with, not negotiate with, peoples abroad.

If Mrs. Bolton doubts the competency or ability of American youth to act as good neighbors and to defend the American way of life, perhaps she should devote her energy to an investigation of the educational policies of the past few years, rather than prophesying disaster to an assortment of Women's Clubs.

This is not to say that the possibility of draft-dodging incompetents or romanticizing idealists being assimilated into the corps is to be discounted. The offer of "foreign travel" at a nominal cost, the idea of crusading for peace (or of dodging the draft board) in a tropical jungle, will undoubtedly attract a representative group of dewy-eyed idealists and unconscienticus objectors to the ranks of Peace Corps applicants.

This possibility, however, should not result in the project's being dropped post haste in a panic. We trust that Mr. Shriver and his under-manned, over-worked staff intend to select Peace Corps members with a bit more thoroughness than the "out of the hat" method. Further, we trust that all sincerely-interested young men and women realize that the job facing them is one of unprecedented difficulty.

On this note, we feel justified in gently requesting the Mrs. Bolton's of the world to cease selling short their junior citizens, and to awake to the realization that there are in the United States a sufficient number of likely young people for this monumental task abroad—a task which, if sensibly done, will hardly "wreck the whole world," as Mrs. Bolton fears, but rather will indicate that the American people, particularly her young people, are ready and willing to step off a pedestal of pomposity and down into the mud to start slogging with other people everywhere toward a solution to the common problems of a divided world.

Villanovan

Editor-in-Chief ..... Henry James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Sports Editors ..... Daniel Grove, Charles Simmonds
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Layout Editor ..... Edward Farrell
Copy Editors ..... Josephine M. Morello, Leo G. Treboid
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore, Francis Matiunis
Business Manager ..... Gary F. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Moderator ..... Rev. L. A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1923; under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

COUNTERPOINT

IS DEFERMENT ENOUGH?

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

It may be said that an overwhelming majority of the people of the U. S. approve of the idea of President Kennedy's Peace Corps. But let us, the students who may participate in this proposed telesis, make a close analysis of it before we render a judgement.

To quote the President, "Life in the Peace Corps will not be easy. There will be no salary and allowances will be at a level sufficient only to maintain health and meet basic needs. Men and women will be expected to work and live alongside the nationals of the country in which they are stationed—doing the same work, eating the same food, talking the same language."

I am a firm supporter of the ideal of the Corps in helping other people help themselves. However, there seems to be one major issue which the proponents of the Corps have not solved.

The chief issue of dissention which arises from the program is the question of the volunteers' military status. It has been stated by R. Sargent Shriver that "There should be no draft examption because of Peace Corps service. In most cases, service in the corps will probably be considered a ground for temporary deferment."

But why, Mr. President, do you identify this program as the Peace Corps Is it not because this group will be a strategic factor in the struggle for men's minds The young men and women who volunteer for this program do more to turn the tide of Communist propaganda, infiltration, and economic warfare than all the armaments our $80 billion budget can buy.

The people who volunteer for this service will, in the majority of instances, be dedicated to the humanitarian ideals of the Corps. They will not, as many have asserted, be collegiate draft dodgers. Their salary will be comparable to that of an Army private. Certainly they will not join for monetary reasons.

It should be made evident to the Corpsmen that the Communists' strategy has changed emphasis. They should be prepared, it is true, to assist in the problems of their area. But, additionally, they should be trained in ideological warfare against Communism.

It is high time that the ideals of America took the offensive. We can no longer be satisfied with a policy of defense while the forces of Communism make victories throughout the world by peaceful means. We have in the volunteers to the Corps a group of young Americans who are asking what they can do for America. They want to show the underdeveloped nations what the American way of life has done for them and what it can accomplish for their nations.

The Corpsmen will do more to win the minds of the cooperating nations to the philosophy of democracy than all the men with rifles on their shoulders and all the Uncle Sams ostentatiously throwing away million dollar bills.

Congresswoman Frances Bolton attacked the Peace Corps as "a terrifying thing." If she had investigated the procedure of training that the Corpsmen will receive she will be surprised to discover, that contrary to current opinion in Republican Women's Clubs, a comprehensive program of instruction will be provided.

The Mrs. Boltons of the world can rest assured that young men and women are not volunteering for work in the wilds of Africa and Asia for a subsistance salary to evade the "terrifying" draft.

I believe that many qualified persons who could apply to the Corps will be repulsed by the "temporary deferment" clause. This would mean that perhaps after a few years in service of their country Corpsmen would be subjected to the rigors of the draft board.

There is also the stipulation that a man's wife would not receive support from the Peace Corps unless she too is a member of the Corps. This may be very harmful in maintainance of a core of qualified, experienced personnel which will make possible the efficient operation of the Corps.

I suggest that in order to eliminate all nuances of draft dodgerism and to maintain a staff of experienced Corpsmen that the period of service be extended from its proposd one or two years to four years.

For the students of Villanova who are interested in the Peace Corps, information may be obtained from Peace Corps, International Cooperation Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

Cuba

Jose Marti Perez
The Apostle
Of The Cuban
War Of Independence

Editor's Note—This is another in a series of articles written by Cuban exiles living in the United States. To prevent possible reprisals on friends and relatives still living in Cuba, they prefer to remain anonymous. This particular column is written in answer to C. Wright Mills' recent defense of the Castro revolution, "Listen, Yankee."

With great surprise and with enormous concern, we have seen our Cuban flag on the cover of HARPER'S Magazine, attracting attention to an article inside. In addition, a book entitled "Listen, Yankee" has recently been written by a man born in North America.

The article and the book are both an insult to the Cuban people and a treason to America. They are based on three suppositions: that the United States is the only party responsible for all Cuba's political, social and economic troubles; that until the arrival of Castro to power, Cuba (according to Mr. Mills) was a "place of misery, dirtiness, illiteracy, exploitation and vagrancy —really a cartoon land to be inhabited by human beings;" that the "Fidelist" regime is leading Cuba to concrete realizations for the first time in its history.

We have to answer you, Mr. Mills. We were on the island more than twenty years—that advantage we have over you, who spent only a few days there before making your radical statements.

We have to answer you. Castro's men do not pay us to stay on the island, as they did you, with pesos belonging to the people.

We have to answer you. For we are proud of our Cuban citizenship, and have to denounce a regime which promised democracy for the purpose of establishing communism. If you can defend such a government it must be because you yourself are of similar moral quality. Perhaps you do not appreciate the institutions inherited from your forefathers — institutions which you seem ready to betray for a few silver coins, as you have done already with the Cuban situation.

You cannot play with our feelings. As we do not have authority to write a history of the United States, you do not have the authority to write fragmental pieces of the history of Cuba —especially if you receive the co-operation and the money of the regime you defend.

Let us answer your statements: it is true that Latin America has some complaints against some North American corporations which procure business while neglecting the interests of their own country.

But our complaints are certainly not against your governments, nor against democracy, nor, of course, against North American people.

The United States has committed some mistakes, as has any other country, but it has always been better to present complaints in private rather than in public when it is known that North Americans are willing to correct them. To present mistakes in public—and thereby back a communistic government—is only to play the Soviet game against your own country.

Regarding your second statement, that we Cubans live in misery and dirt, we say only that it can be easily refuted by a glance at Havana alone. Further, it is a fact that advances of modern society had come to Cuba long before the arrival of the Castro regime.

It is true that we have some misery, but it is an insult and a lie that Cuba was a country of misery. You tried to back your statement by saying that as "only one school was built in Havana from 1902 to 1958," forgetting that several school centers, such as el Jose Miguel Gomez, el Aguayo, el Valdes Rodrigues, el Anexo a la Escuela Norma, and el Anexo a la Universidad," were constructed with a capacity of thousands of students.

Because your guide was a communist, you did not learn that we had one of the most socially advanced systems of labor legislation in the world. We say "had" because such systems no longer exist—Castro is the only law now!

(Continued on Page 8)

"Facts" Are Steamheated While "Boys" Get Sunheat

by Al LaMastra

At the moment two comedies are on the American screen worthy of comment, however slight. The first is "The Facts of Life" starring everybody's favorites, Bob Hope and Lucille Ball. This hokum-opera about an extra-marital flirtation among the ritzy Country-Club set has been stretched into a series of spoofing gags with a good quota of chuckles, laughs, and guffaws mixed through its general shallowness.

LaMASTRA

The affair begins simply enough and works up to the steam-heated edge of a near-divorce and finally to a marital reconciliation. It seems that principals Hope and Ball are happily married but not to each other. Mutual hatred for various trifling faults in character exists, but they gradually realize that they do have a few things in common.

Bedroom Frolics

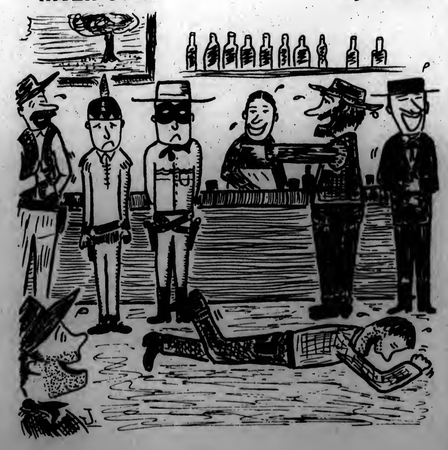
Toleration arrives and with it congeniality at the bar, and later, intimacy in the boudoir. It's a small hop, but in the interest of movie morality (why does Hollywood even attempt starting something which they know cannot be adequately finished), they never quite make it.

At this point in the evidently inexpensive pic, the greatest amount of comedy and satire sets in. In the fine tradition of "From the Terrace" and "Strangers When We Meet" the principals make their attempts at infidelity but in their case without much success. Stop-overs and detours occur in a rain-swept convertible, an Acapulco fishing boat, a supermarket parking lot, a drive-in theatre (they are hilariously discovered by the communal laundry man with 20-20 vision) a motel (feeble minded Hope leaves the pensive Ball uproariously stranded), a lonely, leaky cabin by a scenic, flooded lake and so on.

In the end Ball and Hope discover that old husbands and wives while not perhaps the best, are at least familiar and indulge our little idiosyncracies, and so life goes on. In the background are the Lucy and Bob opposite numbers: Ruth Hussey and Don DeFore. Opening titles by Saul Bass and direction by Melvin Frank are also worth noting.

It has been rumored that the citizens and police of Fort Lauderdale, Florida are not altogether happy over the annual Easter migration of thousands of college kids from all over the country who flock to their sunny shores. The vacation-bound guys and gals upset the seashore resort and turn it into a beachy bedlam. For ten hectic days the cops get no rest and the natives no sleep, until the kids go back to college, classroom and campus. The boys have come South seeking sun, fun and girls, and the girls, naturally, flock to "Where the Boys Are."

On The Make



You wouldn't call this cinema-sight an accurate documentary on the social attitudes of young people on vacation, but is does depict the plight-good, bad, funny and sad, of a quartet of co-eds who leave the snowy North to warm themselves in the sun of Florida and the smiles of the boys they hope to pick up on bench, beach and bistro, in pools, motels, hotels, and wherever else strays can be sighted and dates made.

Much of the action on screen is funny, and much of it is a little unsavory. Three of the girls come out of their brief romances lucky. The fourth girl, unhappily runs through a sordid and tragic affair, but she will surely (we are candidly told) come out of it a better girl for the lesson she has learned.

The dialogue is fast, frank and loose, and teenage bright with many hilarious sequences. The acting by the co-starring young Hollywood hopefuls is good. The talented kids whip through the slick-surface comedy with emphasis on sex, lines and gags aimed straight at upper teenage audiences.

Dolores Hart in the lead feminine role shows great promise. And so too do the others: Yvette Mimieux, the girl in a jam; Paula Prentiss, the gal who gets the comic, and Connie Francis, who sings twice and nabs a trombone player. Also the boys: Jim Hutton, George Hamilton, and Frank Gorshin.

RIVER STYX by JONIK

ACTIVITIES OF VILLANOVA

IRS

The Villanova International Relations Society has as its purpose the study and discussion of international affairs and the situation of student interested in these and related affairs. It is also the purpose of the Society to engage in such projects as considered desirable to make a tangible contribution to the understanding of international affairs and peace.

The Society annually selects a slate of officers consisting of a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, a Treasurer, and a Student Council Representative. The President for the current academic year is Joseph P. Clark, a senior Political Science major. The faculty advisor for the society is Dr. Fritz Nova, an Associate Professor in the Department of Political Science.

Sugar Anyone.

Throughout the past year the Society has discussed such international problems as the Cuban crisis, the question of Red China, and the Berlin situation.

In December, a field trip was made to the United Nations headquarters in New York City. Plans are now being concluded for the annual expedition to Washington, D. C. which will be made in late April.

The Society does not limit its membership to those majoring in History and Political Science, but encourages students from all divisions of the University to participate in its programs.

Last week the Society sponsored a lecture by Dr. Fred Khouri of the Department of History and Political Science of Villanova. Dr. Khouri spoke on the topic of the relation between the United States and the United Nations.

Junior Week Calendar

Plans for Junior Week were discussed at the Junior Class Meeting last Thursday in Vasey Hall Auditorium.

The plans, as they were announced, contained an event for every day of Junior Week except Sunday, April 30.

Sunday, April 30
Turf and Tinsel

Monday, May 1
Mothers' Day

Tuesday, May 2
Show in Field House

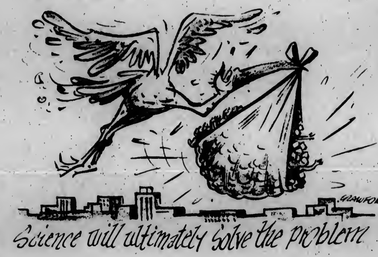
Wednesday, May 3
Sports Night Smoker

Thursday, May 4
Annual Athletic Day

Friday, May 5
Junior Prom

Saturday, May 6
Junior Dinner Dance

ARE YOU THIS MAN?



I am looking for a student who absolutely must make money while in school. Mostly evenings, 6-9, and half day Saturday. Car is necessary. Will not interfere with studies. $90 per month. Possible summer employment. For interview, call Mr. Kern, BR 2-6015.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

BOOM!

Today, foregoing levity, let us turn our keen young minds to the No. 1 problem facing American colleges today: the population explosion. Only last week four people exploded in Cleveland, Ohio—one of them while carrying a plate of soup. In case you're thinking such a thing couldn't happen anywhere but in Cleveland, let me tell you there were also two other cases last week—a 45 year old man in Provo, Utah, and a 19 year old girl in Bangor, Maine—and in addition there was a near-miss in Klamath Falls, Oregon—an eight year old boy who was saved only by the quick thinking of his cat Walter who pushed the phone off the hook with his muzzle and dialled the department of weights and measures. (It would perhaps have made more sense for Walter to dial the fire department, but one can hardly expect a cat to summon a fire engine which is followed by a Dalmatian, can one?)

Science will ultimately solve the problem.

I bring up the population explosion not to alarm you, for I feel certain that science will ultimately solve the problem. After all, has not science in recent years brought us such marvels as the transistor, the computer, the bevatron, and the Marlboro filter? Oh, what a saga of science was the discovery of the Marlboro filter! Oh, what a heart-rending epic of endless trial and error, of dedication and perseverance! And, in the end, what a triumph it was when the Marlboro scientists after years of testing and discarding one filter material after another—iron, nickel, lead, tin, antimony, sponge cake—finally emerged, tired but happy, from their laboratory, carrying in their hands the perfect filter cigarette! What rejoicing there was that day! Indeed, what rejoicing there still is whenever we light a Marlboro and settle back and enjoy that full-flavored smoke which comes to us in soft pack or flip-top box at tobacco counters in all fifty states and Cleveland!

Yes, science will ultimately solve the problems rising out of the population explosion, but in the meantime the problems hang heavy over America's colleges. This year will bring history's greatest rush of high school graduates. Where will we find classrooms and teachers for this gigantic new influx?

Well sir, some say the answer is to adopt the trimester system. This system, now in use at many colleges, eliminates summer vacations, has three semesters per annum instead of two, and compresses a four year course into three years.

This is good, but is it good enough? Even under the trimester system the student has occasional days off. Moreover his nights are utterly wasted in sleeping. Is this the kind of all-out attack that is indicated?

I say no. I say desperate problems call for desperate remedies. I say that partial measures will not solve this crisis. I say we must do no less than go to school every single day of the year. But that is not all. I say we must go to school 24 hours of every day!

The benefits of such a program are, of course, obvious. First of all, the classroom shortage will immediately disappear because all the dormitories can be converted into classrooms. Second, the teacher shortage will immediately disappear because all the night watchmen can be put to work teaching calculus and Middle English poetry. And finally, overcrowding will immediately disappear because everyone will quit school.

Any further questions?

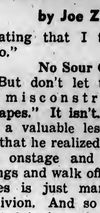
© 1961 Max Shulman

• • •

Yes, one further question: Have you tried Marlboro's newest partner in pleasure—the unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander? If not, by all means come aboard. You'll be glad you did.

Awaiting Your Arrival

Clean, comfortable and reasonable accommodations for male students, clubs, teams, administrators and groups in the heart of midtown New York, close to all transportation and nearby Empire State Building. All conveniences, cafeteria, coffee shop, tailor, laundry, barber shop, TV room, tours, etc. Booklet C. Rates: Single Rooms $2.50-$2.60; Double Rooms $4-$4.20



WILLIAM SLOANE HOUSE Y.M.C.A.

356 West 34th St., New York, N. Y. OXford 5-5133 (nr. Penn Sta.)

The Personal Touch

by Joe Zawacki

One of the primary rules that an embryonic critic comes into contact with is "never judge any performer until you've seen his act in person." Until you have, you hold no right to pass judgement. After last Sunday's trip to the new Red Hill, it would seem that this rule is most apropos to Mel Torme.

Zawacki

Torme' is the lad whom a New York D.J. once titled the "Velvet Fog," because of his so-called hazy and non-forceful voice. Ah, but that was long ago! Like another famed singer who answers to the name of Sinatra, Torme has risen from the depths of that period where he acquired the moniker that he admittedly hates very much. And the reason for the resurgeance can be easily found just by relaxing for 45 minutes at the Jersey Jazz Joint through this Sunday while Mel romps through his act. In fact, while you're at it, stay for two acts. They're never the same anyway.

31 Years In Show Biz

At 35, Mel Torme has 31 years of show business experience behind him. He was a child prodigy in Chicago and basked in the glories of an audience's applause earlier in life than most performers. He hit the limelight with a little group called the Mel-Tones right before being drafted into World War II and eventually went out on his own in 1946 when the quintet's limited future made it necessary.

But things didn't come easy for him. At 22, he made his debut at the Copa and was a bust. As he put it, "Things are a little to serve an apprenticeship anymore. Any fuzzy-cheeked kid with a hit record will get backed into the big clubs today even though they're not ready and they won't take half the critical beating that I took 13 years ago."

No Sour Grapes

But don't let this statement be misconstrued as "sour grapes." It isn't. Torme learned a valuable lesson from that in that he realized that you can't go onstage and just sing 15 songs and walk off. Anyone who does is just marking time to oblivion. And so what has resulted is just about 45 minutes of the brightest showmanship that these young eyes have come across in 4 years.

Mel comes out swinging with two quick swingers before slowing into the beautiful "Moonlight In Vermont", after which he takes the microphone in hand and subsequently the audience. The accompanying patter is light, unforced humour and it blends well with the singer's personality and song style. Playing at the Red Hill is easy to take for him since his roots lie primarily in a jazz strain. Says Mel: "Much of my act comes from Broadway show music and new LP's, like the new hit album "Lawrence Welk Plays Shorty Rogers" . . . to win.

Mel Doubtful

Ironically, Mel has his doubts about playing Joe De Luca's emporium since his last visit to the area (at a different establishment) 8 years ago left a bad taste in his mouth. It hampered his act on opening night but by different today. You don't have Sunday he realized that the Red Hill audience is primarily a listening one and he swears to Papa Joe "that I've never worked a better room." Torme reacts well to a receptive audience. He coddles them like an expert savors his wine and gets the most out of them with his winning way.

In his act, he tries to devote much of it to songs that haven't been beaten to death by other singers and at the same time, to come up with variations on the old perennials. Being an expert arranger and a more than adequate pianist, Torme knows what he wants to do in his act and he must impart his knowledge well since the Jimmy Wisner Trio backed him quite effectively although they had just started with him this engagement. His views are so respected that he also chooses his own material in his Verve albums.

Mel Torme

Gregarious

Offstage, Mel is as gregarious as he appears before the lights. If there is one thing he demands, it's honesty and integrity among his professional colleagues. "If you're a pro, act like one," he says. "But if you are but don't act like one, then get out of the business."

Since 1956, his low-water mark, Torme has been on the rise and now he is riding the crest of a wave of popularity. Having learned from previous mistakes, he is out to make sure that his star continues to rise and the results speak for themselves whether from the floor or from his latest LP, "Swinging On The Moon." From this corner, it looks like he could swing anywhere.

Support Your College, Or, The Steamfitter Is A Ph.D

by Pete Nolan

"Support the college of your choice" is a slogan not unfamiliar to the average man these days. You see it on television, in the papers, on subways, and in buses. It usually accompanies a picture of a few disappointed youngsters turning away from a closed door which has one word, college, written on it. I've been on quite a few campuses, but I've never seen a door with just the word college on it; but I guess they use it in order to get their point across. Some of these advertising people are geniuses.

But getting back to the subject, it has been recognized that colleges have been unable to expand as fast as the population, and, hence, the widespread appeal for support. The call for support has been sucessful, for naturally everyone wants his children to go to college. Some people with foresight, however, seem to feel that the solving of this problem may lead to another even grater problem. This problem lies in the fact that no college graduate expects to work in a factory. If the education needs of America are taken care of in the future, who is going to work in the factories? Certainly, you can't ask a Bachelor of Arts to work in a factory, or can you?

When you stop to think of it, the competition would be keen enough to force many a BMOC to pack a daily lunch pail. Indeed, this would be novel. Can you imagine an English major attending a lecture at the local 210 steamfitter's hall? How would a biology major make out as a member of the Amalgamated Meatcutters of North America? Laugh if you will, but I don't think it would seem funny to a young intellectual fresh out of Ethics class, who finds himself in Jimmy Hoffa's congregation.

Let us look at it a bit more closely. I know a fellow who received a degree in engineering last year. His father worked hard in a factory all his life to send his son to school. Today this young man directs many of the operations in a plant where some of his father's contemporaries work as common laborors. "Look at that kid," they say, "his old man put him through school, but boy, is he proud now."

Twenty years from now the story might not read quite the same. In fact it would not be surprising to find the same young man working alongside his father's pals. I wonder what the conversation would be like between a philosophy major and his buddy on the drill press. I can almost hear it now. The philosopher might be expounding on whether the machinery in the factory really moved or whether it was only in their mind. At the same time he might be asking himself why he was telling this ignorant man about it when he probably wouldn't understand anyway.

On the other hand, his buddy might be saying to himself, "What's this guy, some kind of new nut or sumthin'? I'd tell him so, but he's probably too dopey to understand." And then the whistle would blow and each would go his seperate way, one to the local pub, the other to the public library, neither one understanding the other.

All this reverts back to the poster "Support the college of your choice" and what could come of it. So the next time you're standing on the bus, and one of those signs in staring you right in the face, take a long look at the bus driver. If you have a little more initiative, ask him what he thinks of Homer. You might expect him to say he hadn't read the comics that particular morning, but don't be too surprised if he starts reciting the Iliad.

The Senior Queen contest opens today — closes April 1. Photographs of contestants may be submitted to co-chairmen Lou Retacco or Gus Susujara at the Villanovan Office. Winning Queen will be chosen by Tab Hunter.

The Age Of Confusion

by Joe Massey

The Twentieth Century, known variously as the "Electronic Age," the "Atomic Age," and now the "Space Age," should more realistically be called the "Confused Age."

This might seem to be an unwarranted rebuke to a time which has produced the greatest advancements in science and medicine since the beginning of history. But the "Space Age" has brought with it more population and less space than ever, more wars and more suffering than ever, more crime and depravity, and more problems requiring more answers than ever before.

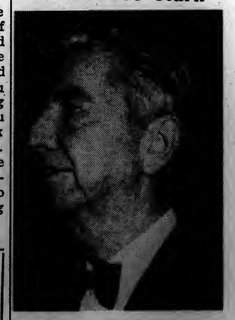
Man in the Twentieth Century is attempting the answer to the problems created by man, and facing great difficulties because, confused by the consideration of the irrationality of man's actions, he has failed to consider man in his rationality.

America today provides a good example of this confusion. American science is solving the mysteries of flight and the atom. American medicine has conquered the scourge of disease in many of its aspects. But American culture has failed to cope with the central problem of the day, man's ignorance of himself and his potential for greatness.

Am I invalidly abusing society with pious, pompous prattle? I think not. The value of a civilization is based in large measure on the depth and scope of its culture. Today's culture has evinced a marked deviation from the intellectual and aesthetic aspects of life to the technological and material aspects.

Business and engineering have to a great extent replaced liberal arts as the higher calling in today's world. Knowledge in the "Space Age" has become old-fashioned. Today's prize scholar is one who, partly through his own volition and partly through society's standards of value, is "well informed" — one who has an enormous stockpile of facts. It matters little whether these facts serve as a basis for ideas or not. It is important only that one knows the facts themselves. A computer can relate them, why should a man bother? As a result modern youth, the only means toward enhancing and stimulating a declining culture, is itself enmired in a morass of creative stagnation.

What, then, is the status of the arts and what can we expect in the way of their development? It is a fact worthy of note that America has not produced one truly great artist or even one truly great work of art. Nor is there any indication that she will. Norman Rockwell is America's answer to Michaelangelo and Pablo Picasso. Chubby Checker and the "Twist" are gleefully accepted as the only successors to Johann Strauss and the waltz.



The unfortunate truth of the matter is that it can be stated as a general principle of American life in the Twentieth Century that as the standard of living increases the standard of culture decreases. Science, supposedly a beneficent Mother to us all, has brought with its material benefits a corresponding intellectual deficit.

Radio and television, potential sources of great culture and educational benefits for the populace as a whole, have become instead a gross opiate of the people. Before television it was not at all unusual to think and to inquire, but Mother Science has provided an easier, more leisurely way to pass away the time. We no longer need the mind as an instrument of enjoyment and as a result Junior no longer plays the piano or heads for the old swimming hole, or travels with Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer in the freedom and joy of the adventure of youth. His is a ready made world, peopled by Sally Star, Huckleberry Hound, and, a little later on, Dear Abby.

Junior grows up in a world in which money is the measure of man and Ivy is the measure of college. Is he confused? Why? Isn't it obvious that the man made to fit the job, that the mind should be made to fit the mediocre, and the individual made to fit the society?

Why gripe, you ask. To live, to think, to know, to create, I reply.

Mr. Justice Clark

The Honorable Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of U. S. Supreme Court, who spoke at Villanova Law Dinner last week.

INTO THE VALLEY OF 3.00 RODE THE 789

(Continued from Page 1)

Bowers, Robert J., MKT., JR. 3.09
Carolan, Francis, ACC., SR. 3.70
Delaney, Robert E., ACC., SO. 3.26
Fleck, William G., CE., JR. 3.32
Greyson, Eileen M., NUR., SR. 3.18
Hampton, oJhn M., CE., SR. 3.00
Hartman, Robert H. Jr., CE., SO. 3.42
Hickey, John M., PL., SR. 3.11
Keiser, John T., ME., JR. 3.25
Knepley, Walter C., NUR., SO. 3.58
Lane, John M., IA., JR. 3.65
Ludlow, Philip A., CCD., SO. 3.05
Marchell, Francis J., ME., SO. 3.28
McLeod, Sr. Angela, NUR., JR. 3.43
McNamar, Richard T., PHI., SR. 3.50
Muench, Paul E., EE., SR. 3.47
Perez, Evelio A., CHE., SR. 3.11
Schmitz, Paul M. Jr., EE., JR. 3.50
Strazzella, James A., PHI., SR. 3.16
Tyler, Henry J., EDU., SO. 3.33

Abate, Edward L., CHE., SO. 3.41
Abraham, James W., CE., FR. 3.26
Adams, David J., Jr., EGR., FR. 3.32
Alessandrini, Louis, EDU., SR. 3.33
Alexander, Charles A., PSY., SR. 3.47
Allard, William K., MAT., SO. 3.74
Alvarez, Pedroso A., CHE., JR. 3.17
Amaya, Victor E., ACC., JR. 3.53
Andrews, Joseph J., EE., JR. 3.05
Antonini, Mary L., NUR., JR. 3.23
Anzaldi, Ross R., PL., SO. 3.12
Arnholt, George A., PL., JR. 3.53
Ascolese, Donald G., CE., SO. 3.00
Astorr, John J., BIO., SO. 3.06
Athansio, Joseph J., ACC., SO. 3.10
Auxer, William L., SR., FR. 3.50
Bacon, Richard G., CE., FR. 3.74
Bagshaw, Robert T., ACC., SR. 3.10
Bailey, John J., ART., SO. 3.13
Bailey, Walter R., ART., FR. 3.25
Bailay, Stephen J., EGR., FR. 3.00
Banney, James K., EDU., SO. 3.23
Barbush, Salvatore M., ACC., SR. 3.72
Barnes, James F., IA., SR. 3.00
Bartolini, Robert D., EGR., FR. 3.11
Barton, Bruce J., FIN., SO. 3.12
Barton, Ronald W., EGR., FR. 3.25
Battaglia, Frank J., FR., SO. 3.35
Becher, Michael C., EE., SO. 3.48
Bechold, Bruce R., FIN., JR. 3.58
Bell, Michael J., EGR., FR. 3.86
Benas, Florence I., NUR., JR. 3.00
Bentz, Francis J., EDU., JR. 3.24
Bernadt, Richard O., CE., FR. 3.21
Berriz, Armando A., CE., JR. 3.05
Bertozzi, Richard J., CHM., FR. 3.33
Bertz, Paul S., Jr., ACC., SO. 3.29
Bevenour, Michael G., CHM., FR. 3.10
Bilardello, Daniel P., ART., FR. 3.10
Bilon, Richard L., SOC., SO. 3.05
Bird, Barbara, NUR., JR. 3.14
Blaile, Raymond G., ACC., SO. 3.12
Blake, Patricia A., NUR., FR. 3.35
Blot, Harold W., ME., SR. 3.29
Bohn, Richard H. Jr., ENG., SR. 3.40
Bohn, Vincent A., EE., JR. 3.58
Boris, Leonard D., EE., SO. 3.09
Bosche, William J., ME., SR. 3.38
Bossert, Bruce M., ART., SR. 3.32
Boudreau, Joan W., NUR., JR. 3.13
Boudsteel, Francis W., HIS., SR. 3.15
Boundas, Theodore A., PSC., SR. 3.85
Boyer, Richard P., BIO., FR. 3.05
Brandley, John R., CE., FR. 3.26
Brazel, Joseph F., BIO., JR. 3.70
Breen, Joseph M., SCI., JR. 3.22
Brett, James P., SOC., FR. 3.06
Brier, Edward J., EDU., SO. 3.12
Broglio, Ronald J., ME., SR. 3.33
Brown, Lynn D., CHE., JR. 3.67
Brown, Thomas M., IA., SR. 3.65
Brzenk, Frank J., CHE., JR. 3.33
Bubert, Arnold A., ACC., SO. 3.12
Bukis, John A., ACC., SO. 3.65
Bullwinkle, George C., ME., SO. 3.55
Burgen, Grace, NUR., JR. 3.00
Burke, Robert Justin, EGR., FR. 3.64
Burlington, Alice E., NUR., SR. 3.71
Burnes, John A., EGR., FR. 3.68
Burton, Carol A., NUR., FR. 3.30
Butler, Charles J., BIO., SO. 3.68
Butler, William B., ACC., SO. 3.65
Byrne, Mary R., NUR., FR. 3.42
Byrne, William, CE., SR. 3.33
Cahill, James P., CE., SR. 3.18
Cahill, Robert O., FIN., SR. 3.47
Calisi, Guy W. Jr., ART., JR. 3.21
Callaghan, John E., EGR., FR. 3.26
Callonen, Stephen E., ME., SO. 3.29
Campbell, Christopher J., IA., SR. 3.45
Campbell, Stephen T., CE., SR. 3.76
Campolongo, Robert N., ENG., SR. 3.13
Capobianco, James J., PL., SR. 3.47
Caprini, Joseph A., BIO., SR. 3.28
Carbo, Charles A., EGR., FR. 3.27
Cardamone, Jeremiah, ART., FR. 3.30
Cardarelli, Jerry J., CE., SR. 3.00
Cariola, Ronald L., BIO., SR. 3.06
Carlson, Alfred J., BIO., SR. 3.32
Carlson, Victor J., EGR., FR. 3.48
Carman, Roy L., CHM., FR. 3.71
Carnaghi, Leonard C., ME., JR. 3.40
Carsello, John P., EE., JR. 3.05
Carton, Malcolm V., PSY., SO. 3.04
Casa, Frank J., CF., FR. 3.29
Cashin, William J. Jr., CF., FR. 3.55
Cashman, Daniel W., ENG., SR. 3.15
Castagno, Thomas M., ART., SO. 3.84
Catanese, Ralph M., ME., SR. 3.19
Cebrowski, Arthur A., MAT., FR. 3.37
Cebula, Sr. M. Agatha, NUR., FR. 3.06
Centrella, Louis J., BIO., JR. 3.60
Cercone, William V., SOC., JR. 3.18
Cesario, Michael J., ME., JR. 3.10
Chambers, Thomas A., POL., SR. 3.26
Chapman, Mary C., NUR., SR. 3.18
Chappell, Arthur B. I., SOC., FR. 3.47
Cherenack, Paul F., ART., SO. 3.42
Chiappa, Attilio A., MAT., FR. 3.21
Chiappa, Julius R., BIO., SO. 3.21
Ciesielski, Joseph S., PSC., SR. 3.11
Cherch, Raymond J., ACC., JR. 3.21
Clark, Carol Anne, NUR., FR. 3.70
Clark, Hugh M., ECT., SR. 3.26
Clark, Joseph P., PSC., SR. 3.26
Clement, A. Michel, EE., 4N. 3.53
Clifford, Jack P., ART., SR. 3.21
Clune, Leonard J., ART., SR. 3.11
Coccia, Anthony J., PHI., JR. 3.72
Coffey, Edward C., MKT., FR. 3.00
Coletta, Richard A., ART., JR. 3.00
Collins, John J., ART., SO. 3.14
Collins, Joyce M., NUR., SR. 3.73
Collins, Robert J., CE., JR. 3.82
Colomba, Vincent C., CHM., FR. 3.00
Colonna, Lance D., ACC., SR. 3.82
Cono, Franklin J., ME., SR. 3.00
Conboy, Robt. J., PHI., SR. 3.05
Conine, John C., ME., SR. 3.21
Conlin, Joseph R., HIS., SR. 3.30
Connelly, Lynette, NUR., FR. 3.30
Connolly, George C., EE., JR. 3.45
Connolly, Joan C., NUR., SR. 3.15
Connor, Thomas F., EDU., SO. 3.42
Constantokis, Nichol, ACC., SR. 3.25
Conley, Frank S., ME., SR. 3.10
Coogan, Robert A., PHI., SO. 3.47
Cook, Gordon Francis, CF., FR. 3.42
Cooney, Terence J., EGR., FR. 3.09
Cooper, Charles J., ART., SR. 3.70
Copp-Jo, Donald N., BIO., JR. 3.14
Corcoran, Eugene J., HIS., JR. 3.26
Cordell, Richard W., CHM., SR. 3.32
Corley, James M., ACC., SR. 3.18
Corona, Richard F., CF., FR. 3.00
Corra, John P., EE., SO. 3.96
Correll, Robert J., CF., FR. 3.42
Comsi, Bernard T., ART., SR. 3.11
Costanzo, Philip R., ART., JO. 3.25
Costello, Edward J., ACC., JR. 3.84
Cowan, Conrad R., CHM., FR. 3.00
Cowhig, Sandra M., NUR., JR. 3.09
Cox, Frederick D., BIO., FR. 3.11
Coyle, Joseph B., GEO., JR. 3.18
Cracker, William F., EGR., FR. 3.18
Craig, John C., ACC., SR. 3.65
Cramer, Joseph H., POL., SR. 3.58
Cranley, William R., BIO., FR. 3.05
Crawford, Donald J., SOC., SO. 3.28
Crawford, Paul E., ME., SR. 3.43
Creney, James Kenneth, EGR., FR. 3.50
Cross, John M., ACC., SO. 3.47
Curley, Michael C., ART., JR. 3.11
Curley, Terrence P., POL., SR. 3.16
Curran, Thomas A. Jr., ME., JR. 3.29
D'Addezio, Anthony C., EE., JR. 3.20
D'Alonzo, Michael P., ART., JR. 3.41
D'Alonzo, Nicholas, IA., JR. 3.11
D'Amato, Albert J., IA., SO. 3.00
D'Amico, Anthony C., ACC., SO. 3.12
D'Aquilio, Anthony T., ACC., SO. 3.47
D'Aquili, Eugene G., CE., FR. 3.43
DePuzzo, Andrew P., CE., FR. 3.11
D'Arcy, Andrew J., ART., FR. 3.73
D'Attilio, David M., FIN., JR. 3.89
Davie, Arthur J., ACC., SO. 3.05
Davila, Anthony M., EE., SO. 3.23
Davila, Martha, NUR., SR. 3.73
De Angelis, Nicholas, PHY., SR. 3.86
Deckert, Albert R., ME., JR. 3.05
Deheny, Paul J., ACC., SR. 3.06
Delizia, Ray Michael, EGR., FR. 3.14
Della, Rocco Robert, BIO., JR. 3.05
Dellamonte, Louis J., HIS., JR. 3.10
Dempsey, Dennis A., PSY., JR. 3.26
Dempsey, Thomas A., ME., JR. 3.62
Dennis, William V., BIO., FR. 3.11
De Pace, Sr. M. Benita, NUR., FR. 3.00
De Santo, John V., PSY., JR. 3.71
Desmonian, Joseph V., BIO., JR. 3.29
Devaney, Mark J., Jr., ME., JR. 3.33
Devaney, Mark J., Sr., ME., SR. 3.84
Dieoenbrock, Wm. B., ACC., JR. 3.05
Di Filippo, Emil A., BIO., JR. 3.72
Dilion, Donald P., ART., SO. 3.77
Di Giuseppe, John J., ART., SO. 3.05
Dillon, John F., MAT., SO. 3.00
Dillon, Ronald P., EE., 4N. 3.52
Di Marino, Nicholas, CHE., SO. 3.55
Di Mascio, Salvatore, ACC., SR. 3.85
Di Nino, Richard, BIO., FR. 3.05
Dineen, Patrick J., IA., JR. 3.25
Dinicolantonio, Arth., ME., SO. 3.11
Di Sabatino, Mario P., BIO., FR. 3.42
Di Vittorio, Albert, BIO., JR. 3.00
D'Lauro, John P., ART., SO. 3.50
Dolan, Donald P., EE., SO. 3.39
Docherty, Eugene T., ACC., JR. 3.21
Dominguez, Frank J., EDU., SO. 3.53
Donahue, Joseph H. Jr., CHE., JR. 3.75
Donahue, Michael D., ENG., SR. 3.12
Donahue, Michael J., ACC., SO. 3.00
Dondero, Thomas E., HIS., SR. 3.43
Donini, Gerald P., PSY., JR. 3.47
Donnan, Thomas J., ACC., SO. 3.23
Donohue, John P., IA., SR. 3.00
Donovan, Brian K., POL., SR. 3.82
Donovan, Daniel J., ME., SR. 3.11
Dorgan, John D., EE., SR. 3.22
Dornhirsch, William J., JR. 3.07
Doyle, William J., SOC., JR. 3.29
Drennen William 3.42
Drury, Anthony R., CF., FR. 3.00
Drutbuckle, James S., CHM., FR. 3.25
Duffy, Brian J., EDU., FR. 3.52
Duffy, Edward F., EE., SR. 3.16
Dunman, Kenneth O., SOC., SO. 3.33
Ella, Frederick J., MF., JR. 3.64
Ellis, Laurence E., EGR., FR. 3.01
Ellis, John M., CE., JR. 3.54
Emerle-Edward K., PF., SR. 3.54
Engblom, John J., ME., SO. 3.80
Esposito, Mario P., BIO., SR. 3.74
Exley, Thomas D., ART., JR. 3.60
Eynon, Robert T., EGR., FR. 3.33
Falsone, Thomas E., BIO., JR. 3.43
Fadgen, John P., PL., SR. 3.12
Farrell, Edward C., EGR., FR. 3.27
Farrell, Edward P., CF., FR. 3.21
Farrell, Francis K., ART., JR. 3.11
Fay, Mary R., NUR., JR. 3.58
Federico, Peter G., ART., JR. 3.23
Feeney, William J., ECT., SR. 3.42
Feeny, Richard J., CF., FR. 3.00
Fenn, Robert W. III, CHE., JR. 3.47
Fenstermaker, Ronald, MKT., SO. 3.36
Ferguson, John David, EGR., FR. 3.68
Ferraro, Gloria A., NUR., SO. 3.48
Ferrazzano, John, BIO., FR. 3.29
Feula, Samuel N., PL., SR. 3.82
Filiccio, Robert J., CE., SR. 3.43
Fink, Robert L., MF., SR. 3.37
Finkel, Barry M., MKT., SR. 3.05
Giovinazzi, Cosmo, II, CF., FR. 3.26
Girone, Joseph A., BIO., JR. 3.40
Gleason, Richard P., PL., SO. 3.17
Glessner, Alfred J., EGR., FR. 3.41
Goddeau, Donald L., EGR., FR. 3.14
Godick, Neil B., CF., FR. 3.29
Godwin, Christoper J., CF., FR. 3.09
Gogol, Stanley T., ENG., SR. 3.15
Gojzueta, Felix M., IA., SO. 3.65
Gomez, Robert J., BIO., SR. 3.47
Gonzyoca, Joseph H., ACC., SO. 3.57
Gordon, Brian G., MAT., JR. 3.33
Gormley, Richard O., MAT., SR. 3.14
Goulet, Gerard A., EGR., FR. 3.65
Greco, Jacqueline G., NUR., FR. 3.85
Green, Carl M., BIO., FR. 3.10
Greenstein, Robert A., BIO., JR. 3.00
Grove, Daniel G., POL., JR. 3.18
Grunwald, Carl L., IA., JR. 3.40
Guarnieri, Frank F., MKT., SR. 3.29
Gulcheteau, Eugene H., EE., JR. 3.80
Guiezian, Allen K., ART., JR. 3.05
Hack, Joseph S., CE., JR. 3.22
Hagerty, John R., SOC., FR. 3.33
Hamburger, C. Joseph, CHE., SR. 3.39
Hammond, Philip J., PL., JO. 3.00
Hannan, Michael J., IA., JR. 3.26
Harrington, Michael, CF., FR. 3.58
Harrington, Richard, ART., JR. 3.00
Harrisch, Scott J. Jr., ART., SO. 3.32
Hart, William M., SOC., FR. 3.00
Hartshorne, Thomas D., CF., FR. 3.05
Hauser, John V., ART., FR. 3.00
Hassler, Joseph A., EGR., FR. 3.09
Hawley, Philip E., CE., SR. 3.00
Haytman, Andrew G., CF., FR. 3.43
Healey, Robert A., EE., SR. 3.24
Heap, Patricia A., NUR., JR. 3.23
Hecht, Lee M., MAT., SO. 3.20
Hegarty, Carlene A., NUR., SR. 3.13
Heldauer, John M., CF., FR. 3.42
Hellenbrand, Joseph, IA., SR. 3.00
Helmick, Michael P., CF., FR. 3.74
Henry, Barbara, NUR., SO. 3.24
Herbein, Thomas, PHY., FR. 3.58
Hickey, Leo J., GEO., JR. 3.58
Higgins, Charles B., BIO., SO. 3.32
Higgins, William R., SOC., SR. 3.00
Holleran, William D., ACC., JR. 3.10
Holstein, James J., SCI., SO. 3.10
Holzwarth, Maria R., NUR., FR. 3.37
Houterman, Michael J., EGR., FR. 3.27
Howanitz, Peter, Jr., BIO., JR. 3.36
Howley, James R., ACC., JR. 3.47
Hresko, George P. Jr., ME., JR. 3.33
Hughes, Terence, EE., SO. 3.00
Hupman, Robert J., ACC., SR. 3.77
Hurley, Peter C., FIN., JR. 3.77
Hurley, William J., CHM., JR. 3.18
Hutnick, William D., ART., SO. 3.44
Iamurri, Joseph A., MKT., SO. 3.47
Intravartolo, John J., BIO., FR. 3.16
Iwaszowski, Edward F., ART., FR. 3.50
Jelsiewicz, Edward, EE., SR. 3.71
Jenkins, David W., BIO., JR. 3.10
Jones, Judith M., NUR., JR. 3.23
Jones, Robert F., ME., JR. 3.24
Jordi, John S., EGR., FR. 3.18
Judson, John P., CHM., SR. 3.80
Jurasinski, Walter J., EGR., FR. 3.50
Kahr, Joseph C., EGR., FR. 3.23
Kane, Joseph D., CE., SR. 3.29
Kane, Richard C., ART., FR. 3.85
Kane, William M., ACC., SO. 3.45
Kaplan, Albert A., BIO., SR. 3.11
Karoly, Robert F., ME., JR. 3.64
Katona, Elizabeth A., NUR., SR. 3.37
Kavanaah, James A., EE., SR. 3.38
Kean, Michael B., ART., SR. 3.23
Keane, Richard E., FIN., SR. 3.00
Keaton, Clyde D., EGR., FR. 3.59
Keeley, Richard, SOC., SR. 3.11
Keiahtley, James J., ART., FR. 3.22
Kelly, Dennis M., ACT., SO. 3.29
Kelly, John A., ACC., SR. 3.29
Kelly, John A. Jr., FIN., SR. 3.11
Kelly, Joseph F., CF., FR. 3.11
Kelly, Joseph P., ACC., SO. 3.82
Kelly, Joseph M., HIS., SR. 3.95
Kelly, Laurence M., POL., JR. 3.14
Kelly, Matthew A. Jr., ACC., SR. 3.29
Kelly, Michael D., ART., SR. 3.24
Kenda, Michael D., ART., FR. 3.21
Kennedy, Thomas P., PSC., SR. 3.77
Kenyon, David L., CE., JR. 3.10
Kepperd, Robert J., ART., FR. 3.84
Kepperd, Robert P., PSY., SR. 3.74
Ketterer, Harry F., ME., SO. 3.00
Kiernan, Eugene P., MR., JR. 3.25
Kiernan, Eugene P., MR., JR. 3.25
Kirk, Vincent L., MAT., FR. 3.41
Kisko, Edward J., SOC., FR. 3.06
Klekotka, Geraldine, NUR., SO. 3.06
Klekotka, Stephen P., PSY., SO. 3.37
Knenek, Joseph S., BIO., FR. 3.68
Knines, Joseph W., CF., FR. 3.00
Konrad, William R., ACC., JR. 3.45
Kosciolnak, Timothy J., CE., JR. 3.15
Kosielinik, Judith, NUR., JR. 3.11
Kraus, Bernard J., CHE., SR. 3.47
Kreck, Charles T., CE., SR. 3.00
Kriesen, Arthur J., ME., JR. 3.60
Kropf, Robert C., PHY., SO. 3.84
Lacey, John J., PHY., JR. 3.90
Lamanna, Vincent L., PL., JR. 3.58
LaMantia, Alfonso J., ART., SO. 3.00
Lambert, John Jr., IA., SR. 3.10
Landauer, David F., PL., SO. 3.37
Landgraff, Ronald W., EE., JR. 3.35
Lasala, Andrew F., ACC., JR. 3.14
Lauck, Alfred W. Jr., ACC., JR. 3.18
Laurino, Jose Joseph S., BIO., JR. 3.40
Lebowitz, Alan, BIO., JR. 3.11
Leiser, William E., ACC., SR. 3.82
Leitch, Hugh D., PSC., JR. 3.19
Leitz, Agnes M., NUR., SR. 3.73
Leone, Joseph A., BIO., SO. 3.00
Leppina, Ronald P., PHY., SR. 3.62
Liberto, Annettee C., NUR., SO. 3.16
Liebie'n, William H., EE., 4N. 3.23
Lipani, John A., ART., JR. 3.10
Lisiski, Jon L., MAT., SR. 3.82
London, David A., ACC., SO. 3.00
Long, Kenneth M., ART., SO. 3.00
Long, Nauyen VO., PHY., FR. 3.37
Longworth, Maria R., NUR., FR. 3.00
LoPiccolo, Philip F., SST., SR. 3.00
Lowell, Thomas G., PSY., JR. 3.12
Lowenstein, Michael, CF., FR. 3.47
Lowry, Joseph A., ACC., SR. 3.33
Lucas, John J., ME., SO. 3.09
Lucey, Denis J., SCI., FR. 3.11
Lucey, John E., IA., SO. 3.47
Lukowski, Stanley J., ACC., SO. 3.26
Lungo, Daniel G., IA., SR. 3.29
Lungo, Nicholas A., IA., SO. 3.30
Luther, Francis X., EDU., JR. 3.50
Lynch, Dennis J., BIO., SR. 3.06
Lynch, James J. Jr., IA., SO. 3.52
Lynch, Robert J., ME., SO. 3.43
Lynch, Peter F., CHM., FR. 3.50
MacDonald, David A., EDU., SO. 3.37
Macrino, Robert J., ME., JR. 3.14
Madden, Frank W., ME., SR. 3.50
Magee, John J. Jr., CF., FR. 3.42
Mahoney, John A., CHE., SO. 3.50
Mahoney, John T., BIO., JR. 3.00
Maisano, Richard J., ART., FR. 3.50
Makwska, Phillip S., SOC., SO. 3.00
Mallat, John P., ME., SR. 3.83
Manmann, Richard A., BIO., FR. 3.71
Marchia, John D., MIS., SR. 3.82
Marshall, Kenneth M., ACC., SO. 3.00
Martin, Frederick B., ART., JR. 3.12
Martini, Joseph J., FIN., SR. 3.29
Massaniso, Elizabeth, NUR., FR. 3.20
Massey, Albert P. Jr., PL., SR. 3.29
Massey, Donald F., ART., FR. 3.25
Massey, Joseph A. Jr., PSC., JR. 3.59
Matunis, Francis X., EE., JR. 3.05
Matyskiela, Francis J., EE., JR. 3.16
Mayo, Edward J., PL., JR. 3.10
McArdle, Kevin T., PHY., SO. 3.21
McCafferty, Gerald, ME., JR. 3.33
McCarthy, Edward J., ME., SR. 3.24
McCarthy, William P., POL., SR. 3.32
McClay, oJhn B., IA., SR. 3.10
McCloskey, Marshall, EE., SR. 3.90
McColgan, Joseph E., PHY., FR. 3.11
McCorm'ck, Marguerti, NUR., SO. 3.21
McCrea, Alice M., NUR., SR. 3.68
McDevitt, David S., BIO., JR. 3.69
McDonnell, John P., SOC., SR. 3.52
McDonough, Richard J., SOC., FR. 3.12
McElnane, James E., ART., FR. 3.15
McGillli, James H. III, ART., SR. 3.68
McGill, Joseph J., ART., FR. 3.05
McGinley, George D., EDU., SR. 3.58
McGonnell, Joseph P., EE., SO. 3.00
McGraw, Alice M., NUR., SR. 3.00
McGuinn, Martin G., CF., FR. 3.11
McHale, Thomas E., IA., SR. 3.80
McKay, Francis J., IA., JR. 3.47
McKelvey, John R., MKT., JR. 3.00
McKenzie, Francis G., ME., SR. 3.48
McManagle, Cornelius, ACC., SR. 3.12
McNaney, Thomas F., SST., SR. 3.63
McNulty, Robert J., EE., JR. 3.60
Meaio, Mario J., MAT., SO. 3.43
Meehan, John P., CHM., JR. 3.33
Meenan, James S. Jr., EDU., JR. 3.00
Meinhardt, Richard G., ME., JR. 3.52
Meis, Frank J., MKT., JR. 3.00
Meier, Federico L., FIN., SO. 3.21
Melini, Carlo B., IA., JR. 3.29
Memming, Rolf B., ART., JR. 3.25
Mengel, Edward C., ACC., SO. 3.29
Merglinski, Casimir, EE., SR. 3.74
Meter, Charles M. Jr., CF., FR. 3.24
Meyer, Charles A. Jr., BIO., SO. 3.68
Mihaly, Edith R., NUR., JR. 3.15
Minecci, Joseph J., ME., SO. 3.81
Minerva, Dominick M., EDU., JR. 3.05
Mone, Nicholas D., IA., SR. 3.77
Mooney, Edward J., MKT., SR. 3.81
Mooney, Robert J. Jr., EGR., FR. 3.09
Morelio, Joseph R., IA., SR. 3.26
Morin, Joseph H., IA., SO. 3.55
Moroney, Michael J., POL., JR. 3.10
Morrison, Richard J., SO., SO. 3.32
Morrissey, Paul F., CE., SR. 3.81
Moss, Robert E., ART., JR. 3.11
Moyer, Daniel J., ACC., SR. 3.47
Mruz, John M., EE., JR. 3.05
Muir, David R., FIN., SO. 3.24
Muir, Ernest J., IA., JR. 3.47
Mullan, W liam J., CF., FR.

ICG Attends Confab VU's Bill Rademaker Is Parliamentarian

by J. J. McAteer

With a flare of flambuoyancy of the typical politician, but with a full knowledge of subject matter and a somewhat idealistic demean, the Villanova ICG succeeded in making a profound impression on the delegates at the model state legislature held at Drexel last Saturday.

The convention, which attracted representatives from colleges and universities in the Philadelphia area, served as a sounding board for the many ideas on state government which are held by college students.

Delegations which were present at the convention came from Villanova, PMC, Rosemont, Immaculata, Penn, Drexel, Ursinus, and West Chester.

The convention got under way at 10:00 a.m., Saturday and continued at a high feverish pitch until the 6 p.m. adjournment.

During this time the Villanova delegation, 21 strong, distinguished itself in both the committee meetings and in the general assembly.

Of the nine committees that met in the morning, Villanova chaired three. Ed McLaughlin presided over the Labor and Industry Committee; Tom Galen headed the State Government Committee; and Bill Lewis chaired the Local Government Committee.

Most of the bills submitted by the Villanova delegates in the committee meetings were passed, and eventually reached the floor of the general assembly, which met in the afternoon.

Second Parliamentarian

Bill Rademaker, a junior chemistry major, played a significant role in the precedings of the general assembly. He served as second parliamentarian to the Speaker, Jim Campbell of PMC.

On the floor of the assembly, many Villanova delegates showed themselves to be experts in the exercise of parliamentary law. They also were adept in debating the merits of their own bills and the weak points of others.

Villanova's Chess Club engaged in the latest Pie Shoppe pastime.

Cuba

(Continued from Page 4)

Concerning the "concrete realization of the regime, it is even easier to refute your contention, because Castro has conducted our fatherland to bankruptcy. In the first nine months of 1960, Castro's estate collected forty million less than in the same period of 1959. Our public debt is now higher than ever before, when on January 1, 1959, it was equal in value to the American dollar.

The Agrarian Reform has been a failure; and lately Cuba has had to import one million pounds of rice from the external market. Our cattle have been destroyed, and even the sale of chicken is regulated. The countrymen are now in Agrarian Communes, where they are paid, not in money, but in tickets, and that only sometimes.

There has not been a single new industry working since the beginning of the Castro regime, and our employment figures are now over 700,000—the highest in all our history. Our professionals have been compelled to sign an oath to asure that they will not leave the country.

And please do not give us the false statement that Cuba now has new friends—referring to the Soviet bloc—that are helping her, because the truth is that the communists are playing a "dumping" with our sugar production. That is the truth, Mr. Mills; here is your answer!

The facts and figures herein are taken from FREE BOHEMIA, a Cuban Magazine published in Venezuela by Cuban exiles.

Belle Air Submits 200 pp. 1961 Book Complete: Spahn

The 1961 version of the BELLE AIR has now been completed, according to Editor - in - Chief Mike Spahn and Associate Editor Bob Schell. The last remaining details of the year book, which is representative of each particular phase of the Villanovan, was taken care of last Friday when the few remaining outstanding sections were sent to the printers.

The staff is now preparing the layouts and details of next year's book so that the 1962 staff can benefit from the experience of the present one. This will also give an opportunity to the new staff to begin work immediately next September.

Smaller Staff

Toward the end of the semester, the staff and editors of the 1962 BELLE AIR will be officially announced. "They will probably be a smaller and certainly more closely united group," explained Bob Schell,

"This fact will definitely lend itself to the achievement of a more efficient organization."

The first deadline was December 15 on which 90% of the senior section under the direction of Senior Editor, Joe Marone was submitted. Due to the January examinations, several deadlines were not fulfilled. In the past two weeks, however, the staff caught up with a major breakthrough and submitted about 200pp. to their printer, the William T. Cooke Publishing Co., Inc.

"There has been," asserted Mike Spahn, "a marked reduction in written copy while emphasis has been put distinctly on photography. We have full page and generally larger shots. Color and tinted shots will also be used to greater extent than in the past, mostly due to the tremendous job of rounding up several thousand dollars of advertisements by our Business Manager, John MacGarry."

Confusion reigns but Mike Spahn seems to be quieting things down as he aids Bob Schell with a problem on layout of the '61 Belle-Aire.

Photo by Tom Yodzis

Female Sports Editor

The sports section, guided smoothly under the hand of Sports Editor Miss Pat Massi, has expanded and is using many of the action shots that have appeared in newspapers and news services. A section is also devoted to the Villanova olympians and several of their respective adversaries.

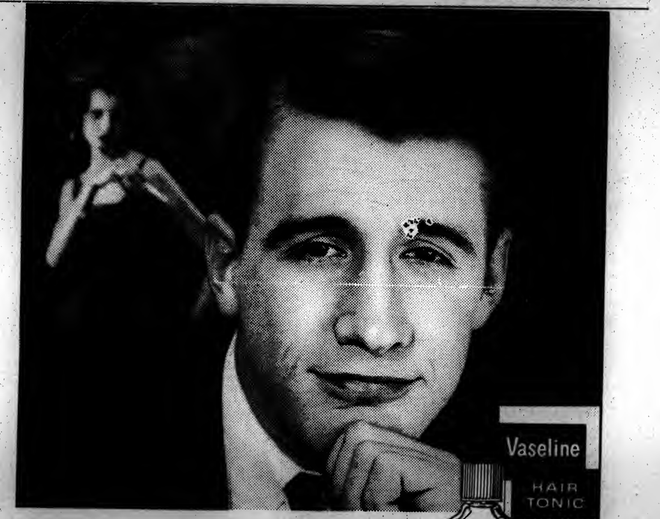
In addition to Editor Spahn and Associate Editor Schell are Tom Leubking, Activities Editor, Ed Happ, University Editor, and Walt Letterer, Underclass Editor.

"We anticipate submitting our year book into some Press Conference or evaluation center this year", asserted Spahn. "Although it has not been the policy of the administration to do so, we feel that our book and its staff deserves some credit for its efforts."

"Our only feling now" added Bob Schell, "After the book's completion is that a larger office would have made the work at times rather easier."

We all make mistakes...

ERASE WITHOUT A TRACE ON EATON'S CORRASABLE BOND



Typing errors never show on Corrāsable. The special surface of this paper makes it possible to erase without a trace—with just an ordinary pencil eraser. Results: clean-looking, perfectly typed papers. Next time you sit down at the keyboard, make no mistake—type on Corrāsable!

Your choice of Corrāsable in light, medium, heavy weights and Onion Skin. In handy 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet boxes. Only Eaton makes Corrāsable.

A Berkshire Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION PITTSFIELD, MASS.

how to be roaring in your twenties

Flappers positively flip over lids groomed with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. It's the only hair tonic specially made to use with water. Water evaporates — robs your hair of grooming oils. Alcohol and cream tonics evaporate too. But 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic won't evaporate—it's 100% pure light grooming oil that replaces the oil water removes. So don't be the varsity drag—use 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic on your hair — and oh, you kid!

it's clear ... it's clean ... it's

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

1961 Junior Week Ready; Details Remain: McMonagle

Like a tired and true stallion, Junior Week promises to break from the starting gate in top-notch fashion with the highly popular Mother's Day festivities which will be held this year on Monday, May 1, class president Jim McMonagle said.

"Only a few details remain to be ironed out," stated co-chairmen Mike Stapf and Art Krieser yesterday. "We will follow the pattern that has made this event so popular through the years and will deviate only slightly in matters such as the class gift."

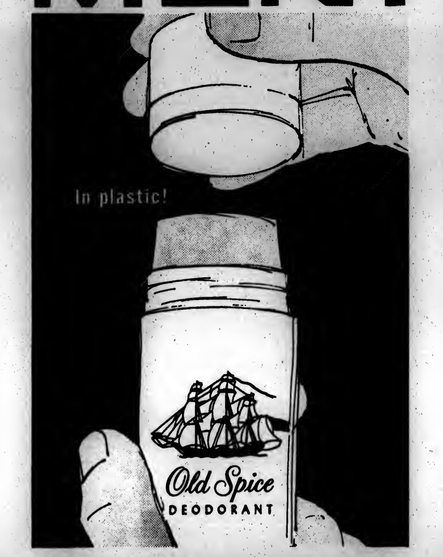
Junior week publicity chairman Joe Zawacki also announced that Lou Pace and Dave Reeber have been designated to handle the sale of tickets and publicity pertinent to the event. "Tickets are scheduled to go on sale sometime in the middle of April," stated Zawacki, "with the actual date still pending. Tickets for the entire day will be $8.50."

"After the presentation ceremonies, a walk to the field-house is expected to work up an appetite for Mom. Dinner will be served with the main item being Roast Beef," Stapf said.

Dinner will begin between 12:30 and 1:00 P.M. after which entertainment will be provided "to help Mom digest her meal", said Stapf with tongue obviously in cheek. The Villanova Concert Band will definitely be one of the groups providing music for every students' favorite girl.

Zawacki noted, "The mothers will receive a corsage, favors and a program as remembrances of "their day."

KC Nominations Soon



The Father Ludwig Council No. 4609 Knights of Columbus will hold nominations for new officers on April 6 in Room 207 Vasey Hall at 7:00 p.m.

Tom Luebking, Grand Knight, has announced that the first degree will be exemplified on April 10 at 5:30 p.m. in the Ardmore Council Chambers. All Brother Knights are invited to attend the degree procedings.

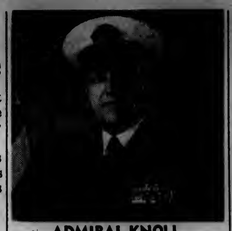
Applications for membership are now being accepted. This will be the last membership drive of the year. Anyone who is interested in obtaining information about the Knights may see Tom Leubking or Bob Schell in the Belle Air office on the second floor of Dougherty Hall.

And then there's the Baltimore beauty who won the coveted title of "Miss Soft Drink." She kissed everything from seven up.

MEN!

In plastic!

Old Spice DEODORANT



Here's deodorant protection

YOU CAN TRUST

Old Spice Stick Deodorant... fastest, neatest way to all-day, every day protection! It's the active deodorant for active men... absolutely dependable. Glides on smoothly, speedily... dries in record time. Old Spice Stick Deodorant —most convenient, most economical deodorant money can buy. 1.00 plus tax.

Old Spice STICK DEODORANT

SHULTON

ADMIRAL KNOLL
... RADM, USN, USNA, 1930

Admiral Knoll To Address VU NROTC

Rear Admiral Denys W. Knoll will speak on Tuesday afternoon to Villanova's NROTC Unit in Vasey Hall at 2:45.

His topic will be "The Present and Future Navy."

Admiral Knoll is no stranger to Villanova's Campus, most recently being here for the Villanova Press Conference.

Admiral Knoll, well known for his anti-communist views, was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in the class of 1930. He was selected for Admiral in 1957 while serving as Chief of Staff for the Seventh Fleet. As a junior officer he went the usual service college route. Additionally, he chose to specialize in Meteorology in which field he holds a Master's Degree.

This specialty led him to serve in Russia for several years as assistant to the now Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet, Admiral Harry Felt.

His first duty as Rear Admiral was in charge of the maintenence and improvement of the U.S. Fleet under Admiral Burke. Subsequent duties at sea were as Destroyer Flotilla Commander. He is now Director of the Technical Studies Group in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

Ponko Discusses Nature Of 17th Century Church-State

Dr. Vincent H. Ponko, Jr. was the first guest speaker in the fifth annual series of lectures sponsored by the Department of History and Political Science for the students and faculty of Villanova last Wednesday evening. The topic of Dr. Ponko's discussion was "The Nature of the Connection Between Throne and Altar in Elizabethan England."

English Anticlerical

In his lecture, Dr. Ponko brought out the reason why Queen Elizabeth chose Protestantism at the beginning of her reign and the forms which the Church in England took thereafter. At the time, the English people were not necessarily receptive to the Catholic Church due to their anticlerical tendency and the fact that the Church in England had not taken any actual constructive steps to reform itself.

Dr. Ponko further emphasized that the conception of the Anglican religion by Elizabeth was not initiated because of any specific demands by her subjects but rather due to the dictates for a strong sovereign state. This idea was then foremost in the minds of the English politicians and could not really be achieved without the establishment of a state church. The Church of England, therefore, asserted Dr. Ponko, was merely a political and not a religious enterprise.

Fr. Regan Presides

Presiding over the lecture was the Rev. Robert E. Regan, OSA, Chairman of the Religion Department, who termed the talk "enjoyable, interesting, and informative." After completion of his talk, Dr. Ponko was questioned by the near capacity group which was in attendance.

Dr. Ponko received his Doctorate from Loyola University in Chicago after having graduated from Brown University with his Bachelor's degree and DePaul University with his Master's. After his graduation from Loyola, he served there in the capacity of Assistant to the Dean of the Arts and Sciences Division. Currently, he is engaged in instructing in undergraduate and graduate courses at Villanova.

Considers Development

The 1961 lecture series will consider significant developments involving Church-state relationship in modern and contemporary Europe. An analysis of basic trends and controlling factors are to be discussed.

Subsequent lectures will be conducted on March 15 and 22 at 7:30 p.m. at 110 C&F. Scheduled to speak on these dates are Mr. Bernard F. Reilly whose topic will be "Religion under the French Monarchy: Louis XIV and the Church," and on the following week Dr. Fritz Nova who will speak on "The Bismarkian Kultur Kampf."

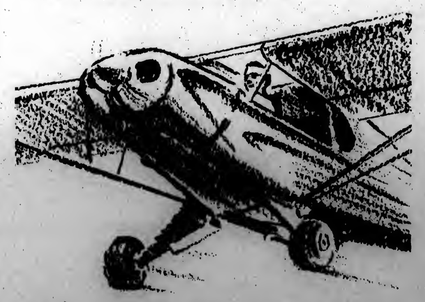
Review Announced

Plans for this year's Navy Spring Review have been announced by Captain J. E. Boyle, Commanding Officer of Villanova's NROTC Unit.

The battalion will pass in review for Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of the University; Rear Admiral Charles H. Lyman, III, USN, Commandant, Fourth Naval District; and other distinguished guests, according to Captain Boyle.

After the review there will be an open house in Commodore John Barry Hall with students demonstrating the various facilities.

A virus is something originated by someone who couldn't spell pneumonia.



BREAK FREE

Point the nose down the runway . . . sit up . . . shove the throttle wide open . . . and you'll break free of nearly all the restrictions you live under. Restrictions you don't even realize are there—until they're not there.

It's up to you then. You're strictly on your own—to go wherever you want . . . flying high . . . where time and space become something entirely new.

That's why flying gets into your blood.

Try it once at our expense. Cut out this ad and bring it with you for a free ride.

Paved Runways • 15 New Aircraft
Primary and Advanced Instruction

HORIZON AERO SERVICE

BRIDGEPORT AIRPORT • BRIDGEPORT, N.J.
On Rt. 322 just south of Rt. 130
HOmestead 7-0820 WAlnut 3-1994

Scholar dollars travel farther with SHERATON HOTELS

STUDENT-FACULTY DISCOUNTS

Save on the going prices of going places at Sheraton Hotels. Special save-money rates on singles and greater savings per person when you share a room with one, two or three friends. Generous group rates arranged for athletic teams, clubs and college clans on-the-go.

For rates, reservations or further information, get in touch with:

Robert J. Sherman
Box 819
Villanova University
Villanova, Pa.

V.U.'s Loyalty Oath Controversy Pro and Con

Pro: U.S. Has Right to Loyalty Of It's Loan Beneficiaries

by Bill Williams

Back in October of 1957 when the first Soviet sputnik streaked across the sky, the nation suddenly became very concerned about our defense system, about our science program, and about the scientists being trained in American colleges.

We were told over and over again that we were not graduating enough scientists, and that this could seriously affect our defense program in the future.

In 1958 Congress responded when it passed the National Defense Education Act. The Act provided for $295 millions of dollars in federal loans to college students and for a minimum of $36.3 millions in National Defense Scholarships.

Affidavit and Oath

Those receiving the loans were required to file an affidavit stating that they were not members of, and did not support, any organization that believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States government by force or violence; and to sign a positive statement of allegiance to the United States government.

While there are about 1200 institutions, including Villanova which participate in the program, about 20 colleges have withdrawn from the program because of the Loyalty Oath requirement. The reasons for their doing so are about the same in all cases.

One of the most common objections concerns the principle of academic freedom. The objectors say that students are being discriminated against because of their ideas, and that the true spirit of academic freedom is being violated. Does academic fredom include the right to overthrow the U.S. government by force and violence?

Freedom of belief and conscience does not include the right to destroy the freedom of others. Those who are members of the Communist conspiracy are not simply holding to a philosophical belief; they are part of a conspiracy which is dedicated to the overthrow of all free governments by every and any means possible.

Those who oppose the loyalty oath are often heard to say that the oath is discriminatory in the fact that it singles out college students from the population as being more suspect than other people. They point out that farmers receive aid and are not required to take an oath.

Special Reasons

It seems obvious, though, that there are special reasons why students receiving science loans and fellowships should take the oath. One good reason is that the Defense Education Act was passed as part of our defense program. To give aid to Communist College students for defense purposes would be ridiculous to say the least.

It has long been known that the college is a prime target of infiltration for the Communist Party. There is now a concerted drive to establish Communist cells on more and more college campuses. Father Robert F. Grewer, President of Lemoyne University in Syracuse, New York, says that it will be naive to think that there are not many Communist cells on the college campuses. The American people have a clear right to demand the loyalty of those students who are receiving taxpayers money as a part of our defense program.

Test Oaths

Another common argument concerns the historic test oaths from sixteenth century England down through Hitler. Some people seem to fear that we are heading back toward these ancient oaths. There is an important difference, though, between the present oath and those ancient wrongs. The present oaths are completely voluntary, nobody has to take them, whereas the historic oaths were imposed on all citizens.

Harold C. Biley, head of one of the national committees to defend the loyalty oath, says that "The student is the sole judge of whether he will or will not subscribe to the oath. Taking the oath is dangerous only to those students who are willing to help destroy the country."

Even some of those who admit that the loyalty oath is valid and that the government has the right to demand the loyalty of those it is aiding under defense program object on the grounds that the oath is ineffective. They claim that a communist will be the first one to sign a loyalty oath.

False Argument

This argument is demonstrably false, however. If a student takes the loyalty oath and is proven to have lied under oath, he can be convicted of perjury. Both Alger Hiss and William Remington were convicted on perjury charges. The fact that fear of a perjury charge deters Communists is beyond question. A student convicted of perjury could be fined as much as $10,000 and imprisoned for as long as five years.

If the lovalty oath is repealed there will be nothing to stop Communists from receiving an education with the taxpayers' money. Those who are crying about academic freedom are diverting our attention from the deadly seriousness of the powerful conspiracy which confronts us. Repeal of the lovalty oath would make the job of the Communists that much easier.

Con: Oath is Discriminatory; Loyalty Cannot Be Coerced

by Anthony G. Bateman

Everyone should recognize the great danger to our free society by the Communist conspiracy. It is such that it demands the eternal vigilance of all Americans. But we must not fail to recognize another danger, equally subtle and profound. This is the danger to our democratic process presented in reaction to the first menace.

We must not allow the hard-earned freedoms and rights of man to which this country is dedicated to be stolen from us by Communism nor to be given away in fear of it. It is of this later danger that these words on the Loyalty oath and affidavit required by the National Defense Education Act should tend as a warning.

Dual Forces Working

In the recent history of the country, we have seen the danger of Communism at work, informed as we were by Whittaker Chambers and many others. We have seen, too, an obsessed junior Senator impugning the loyalty of a great American General and statesman.

Let us return to neither of these eras. Let us repudiate both. As President Kennedy promised, let us "bring the nation's unfinished business before her". Let us recognize that a part of this unfinished business is the disposal of the remnant of McCarthyism, the Loyalty Oath. Clear thinking citizens must recognize, that unlike the late Joseph McCarthy so often preached, this issue cannot be reduced to a simple question of whether one is loyal or not or whether one stands for the Security and welfare of the United States or not.

Beware of simplification, as it is the tool of propagandists and the enemy of truth. Let us steer a steady course through these two extremes of danger and fit the whole question of the loyalty oath into its proper perspective, so that we may be judged by history as a society which stood firm in the face of danger, which with reason, preserved the freedoms won for it by so much sacrifice.

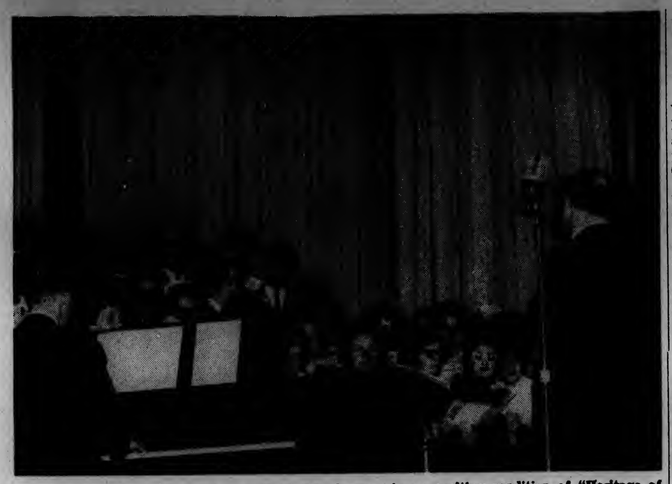
The Loyalty oath and affidavit cannot menace the Communist movement. It can and does infringe on academic freedom and the rights of some American citizens. It can't hurt the Communists because no avowed Communist would hesitate to swear falsely before a God he disclaims, nor cower in the face of a perjury conviction, any more than a Smith Act conviction. Communists who are willing to face a murder charge for the good of their party would not hesitate to face a perjury charge. The conviction and conduct of Alger Hiss illustrate my contention. If the loyalty oath does not effect Communists, who then suffers by it? Why the students and the Academic profession itself. For students alone of all those who receive governmental subsidy are required to swear their loyalty.

Loyalty cannot be coerced nor compelled and neither can an oath inculcate loyalty. Rather loyalty upon which true reliance can be placed is that kind worked and evoked by the inherent worth and virtue of a cause or institution toward which it is directed. Oaths can be nothing in comparison to beliefs instilled by free choice after free thought and inquiry. Cromwell asked of the citizen, "that we know what we fight for, and love what we know". Let us believe in our democratic system and not just swear by it.

"Thou Shalt Not . . ."

It is not too impertinent at this time to remember that "thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain" and oaths lightly taken or carelessly required may lead us into this temptation. Oaths of this type have historically projected the authority of the state into the realm of conscience and belief and this country ruled at its inception that the state had no place therein. Tyrannies have made these oaths a rigid and common requirement.

In Nazi Germany the greeting was in the form of an oath—"Heil Hitler". Loyalty oaths are not the sign of a strong and free man, but of uncertain and fearing government officials, who seek to reassure themselves by intimidating others. We must not hide behind an oath in order to insure support in a democracy, nor can we afford to set a price of a loan on the patriotism of our students.



We can not buy the loyalty of students at home any more than we have bought the loyalty of others abroad. Nor can we antagonize the academic profession so necessary to our survival by questioning their loyalty alone among all profesions. Are men innocent until proven guilty or must American citizens now assume the responsibility of proving their innocence or face conviction of guilt?

Let us join in the spirit of Thomas Jefferson who long ago prayed for his University of Virginia, that "Here we are not afraid to follow truth, wherever it may lead, nor to tolerate error, so long as reason is free to combat it." This should be the goal of our free society. We must follow truth and combat Communism with reason.

Let us begin by unchaining truth by removing its bindings, the Loyalty oath and affidavit. We must stop this precedent for the suppression of our right of inquiry and fredom of belief. We must live and work as free men in order to remain superior to the evil of Communism.

Herbert Fiss conducts the combined choral group in an exciting rendition of "Heritage of Freedom" at the recent Villanova choral festival. The group, composed of 15 members from each participating school, also sang "To Music" during the finale.

Bright idea with a glowing future

At Gen Tel, research is put to work to advance communications through sight as well as sound.

The dial of our compact STARLITE* phone, for example, utilizes an entirely new source of light that marks a milestone in visual communications. Called PANELESCENT® (electroluminescent) lighting, it produces light without heat, has no bulb to turn on and off, and costs less than 1¢ a year for electricity.

Pioneered and developed by the Lighting Products Division of our subsidiary, Sylvania, this dramatic new light opens up almost infinite product possibilities in sight communication. Already it is being used for clock faces, radio dials, auto instrument panels and road signs.

And, through the development of an ingenious "cross-grid" design, electroluminescent panels are now capable of reproducing alpha-numeric "read-outs" for electronic computers. This achievement, in fact, may one day lead to "flat wall" TV.

It is another example of the way General Telephone & Electronics coordinates the scientific and engineering leadership of many divisions in order to make communications progress on all fronts.

*Trade Mark

GENERAL TELEPHONE & ELECTRONICS
GENERAL SYSTEM

Choral Festival Succeeds As Six Glee Clubs Emote

An overflow crowd filled the Villanova University Field House Saturday night, March 11, as six area college glee clubs participated in the Sixth Annual Choral Festival.

Opening with "O Magnum Mysterium", the Immaculata College Glee Club under the direction of Robert Page sang four selections, ending with excerpts from "Brigadoon".

Directed by Herbert Fiss, the St. Joseph's College Glee Club gave two religious renditions: "Gloria" and "Salvation Belongeth to Our God." This was followed by "Song of the Vikings".

Also under the direction of Herbert Fiss, the Rosemont College Glee Club opened with "The Little Babe" from "Ceremony of Carols". They then sang "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place", followed by "September Song" and the sprightly "Czechoslovakian Dance Song".

After intermission, Herbert Fiss again returned, directing the Holy Family College Glee Club. "Oh! Had I Jubal's Lyre", "Evening Glow", "Strike It Up, Tabor", and "Mountains" were sung.

Villanova's own Singers, again directed by Herbert Fiss, began with "Amo, Amas, I Love a Lass". The solemn "Crucifixus" was then sung, followed by the majestic "Thunder", and finally, "De Glory Road".

The Chestnut Hill College Glee Club, under the direction of Carl Suppa, opened in a light vein with "Let There Be Song" and "I Feel Pretty" from "West Side Story". They closed in a more serious tone with "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor".

For the finale, a combination of the six glee clubs, under Herbert Fiss's direction, sang "To Music" and "Heritage of Freedom". A mixer completed the evening, with the "Villanovans" and the "Four-Fifths" entertaining.

Loebner Lectures Physicists On Solid State Mechanics

Dr. Egon E. Loebner, solid state physicist from RCA Laboratory, spoke to the Villanova Section of the American Institute of Physics on Thursday, March 9, in 110 C&F.

Dr. Loebner's topic was "Crystals . . . The Meeting Grounds of Electrons, Photons, and Phonons." The lecture included a model of the diamond crystal and slides of various crystal structures.

A native of Czechoslovakia, Dr. Loebner attended college in Europe and received his doctorate in physics from the University of Buffalo in 1955.

Dr. Loebner was accompanied by Mr. Ward Poore who works with the physicist at RCA. Mr. William Driscoll, Moderator of the Villanova Section of the American Institute of Physics and chairman of the department of physics, welcomed the two scientists.

SAM To Institute Scholastic Awards

The executive committee of the University Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management announced that plans have been completed for their program of incentive and scholastic awards.

The first of the new awards will be presented to a senior member of S.A.M. who will be selected from the four men in the club with the highest cumulative average at the end of the first semester of their senior year.

The actual selection of this student will be made by a faculty committee which will be chosen by Dr. Walter Klein, Chairman of the Industrial Administration Department and Moderator of the S.A.M. chapter.

LKD To Contribute 20% Of Annual Dues To African Student

Lambda Kappa Delta, the premed fraternity, has voted to contribute 20% of its annual dues this year toward the educational expenses of Jubilee Ambrose Kgomo, a medical student at the University of Witwatersrand, Union of South Africa.

The total cost of Kgomo's education is being paid by CURA, Catholic University Relief Association, a nation-wide subsidiary of NFCCS. This amounts to approximately $900 per annum. LKD's contribution is approximately $100.

Ralph Lanciano, LKD Vice President, pointed out that the full import of the fraternity's action might not, at first, be evident to everyone.

Filling the Breach

"Once we realize, however, the great lack of native African doctors, and how the Communists are playing upon the gap of the ranks of educated leaders and professional men to foment unrest in the heart of Africa, it becomes evident that right here, on Villanova's campus something is being done to actively combat Communism," Lanciano explained.

Jubilee Ambrose Kgomo

Among those who commended this resolution was the chairman of the Biology Department. Said Doctor John McLain: "The contribution of the LKD fraternity to the education of an African medical student is an excellent idea which should receive the full support of all those interested."

"Other members of both the faculty and administration have similar sentiments," Lanciano said.

"This decision to contribute toward the education of Mr. Kgomo is indicative of a new and vigorously active spirit among the members of LKD. They seem to be growing aware of the fraternity's ability to become not only a vital force on campus, but as in this case a beneficial and important influence off campus as well," Lanciano observed.

Just Sign Here!

Tom Yodzis is discussing the Marine Officer Training Program with a member of the recruiting staff who were administering testing in Dougherty Hall last week. (Photo by Alan Williams).

Gem Specialist To Speak To Geologists On New Techniques

The Villanova Geological Society has announced that Dr. Ralph J. Holmes of Columbia University will deliver a lecture in 215 Mendel Hall, Monday April 10 at 3:30 p.m.

The title of his lecture will be "The Application of Modern Mineralogical Techniques (X-ray Diffraction, X-ray Flourescence, and Pyro-synthesis) to the Solution of a Specific Mineralogical Problem." This will be illustrated by means of lantern slides, and everyone is invited to attend.

Dr. Holmes received his Ph. D. from Columbia University in Mineralogy. He is a gem specialist, and has had many articles published in scientific journals.

In Memorium

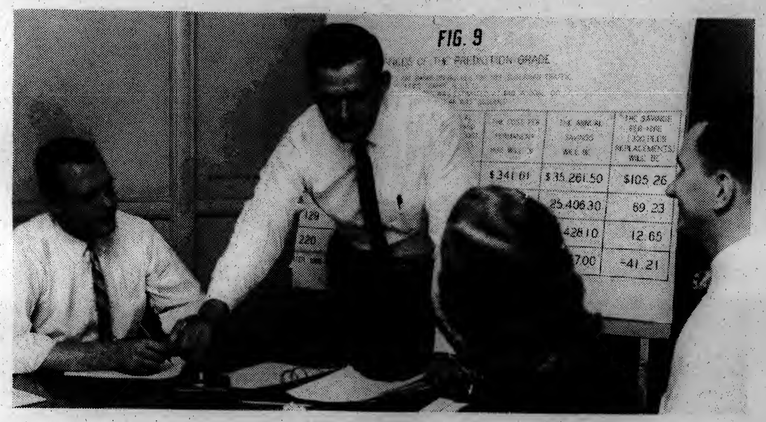
Rev. Polycarpo Oroz, ORSA, celebrates annual Memorial Mass for the late Father Lorenzo Lozano, founder of the Spanish Club.

Bohn Addresses Lit Club As Spring Sessions Commence

The Literary club held its first meeting of the spring semester last Tuesday at 4:00 p.m.

At that meeting "Gary" Susnjara who succeeded Mike Donahue as president of the club, outlined his extensive program for the current semester.

Included in his plan is an increase in the number of meetings, Susnjara explained, "which will provide more members of the society with an opportunity to present to an interested audience some particular work in which they have interest."



In keeping with the practice of member participation which has been instituted by the Literary Club, the introductory lecture of the semester was presented by Bob Bohn, senior English major. Choosing as his topic for the address, the "Double Standard of J. Alfred Prufrock", Bohn proceeded to investigate and interpret the licentious motivations apparent in Prufrock. Pru- of J. Alfred Prufrock".

Prefacing his remarks with the assurance that his interpretations were "entirely unique", Bohn proceeded to illustrate the complete inadequacy of Prufrock's physical psychological and social constitutions.

"Prufrock's motivations, which are involved in the conflict of his personality, are extremely complicated," Bohn expounded. "I believe that he wanted to prove to himself, just as man may want to prove his mathematical or his athletic prowess, that he was capable of carrying on a tryst.

"He knew that he could not," Bohn point-blanked. "Yet the weak Prufrock, submitting to his animal nature, attempted the ill-fated adventure. He was only to realize, as the reader realizes, the complete inadequacy of his being."

Suggesting that the tragedy of man results from the conflict of values in his society, Bohn concluded that this conflict and man's failure to resolve it contribue to a basic self-imposed frustration on the character of an individual man manifested in the actions of the illusion, J. Alfred Prufrock.

"I DON'T THINK THERE'S ANY END TO THE OPPORTUNITY IN THIS BUSINESS"

When Gene Segin got his B.S. in Business Administration at the University of Illinois, he was in touch with 8 prospective employers.

Gene joined Illinois Bell Telephone Company because: "The people I talked to here made it very clear that I would not be shuffled into some narrow specialized job. I thought this job offered the greatest opportunity for broad experience."

On his first assignment Gene was sent to Springfield where he conducted courses in human relations for management people.

His next move was to a traffic operations job in Rock Island. On this assignment he was in charge of all personnel who are directly responsible for handling telephone calls in this heavily populated area. Here Gene earned a reputation for sound judgment and skill in working with people. He was promoted to Traffic Supervisor.

Today, Gene's chief responsibilities are in management training and development, and company-union relations. The latter includes contract bargaining and helping settle labor disputes.

How does Gene feel about his job? "It's a real challenge. I'm in some of the most vital and interesting work in the country." And about the future—"Well there aren't any pushover jobs around here. It's tough. But if a man has what it takes, I don't think there's any end to the opportunity in this business."

* * *

If you're looking for a job with no ceiling on it—a job where you're limited only by how much responsibility you can take and how well you can handle it—then you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information on the Bell Companies.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

Frederick R. Kappel, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

Wildcat Basketeers Disappoint Severance By Losing His Finale

by Bud Simmonds

Villanova's basketball team ended its swan song for the 1960-61 season on both a dramatic and sad note. It was dramatic in that Penn applied a come-from-behind defeat to the Wildcats 82-80 on a foul shot by Bob Purdy in the final three seconds.

It was also a sad note because coach Al Severance's devoted 25 year career was concluded with a defeat which gave the Wildcats a losing record (11-13) for the year. Despite some great individual performances by the Cats, Penn edged ahead at 80-79 with less than two minutes left, overcoming a lead which Villanova held almost the entire second half.

Hubie Ties It

Hubie White's free throw tied it but Purdy then proceeded to break the tie with the game-winning tosses.

Co-captain Jim Huggard, Bob Liberatore, and Tom Samulewicz made their final appearances in Blue and White uniforms impressive. Huggard was a playmaker deluxe as he fed off for 14 assists which was one shy of Guy Rodgers' Palestra record while Liberatore threw in 15 points. Tom Samulewicz, winner of the Food Fair Trophy, showed his jubilation by scoring a career high of 20 points. Hubie White, Villanova's ace, led all Cat scorers with 23, including his 1000.

The Goose Steps Out

(Photo by Mike Pastore).

Sophomore Pat (Goose) Traynor, (right), stays doggedly on the heels of the "pack" in the two mile run at the IC4A meet last Saturday night. Traynor finished a surprising fourth.

'Cats All Opponent Selections Include One Big Five Star

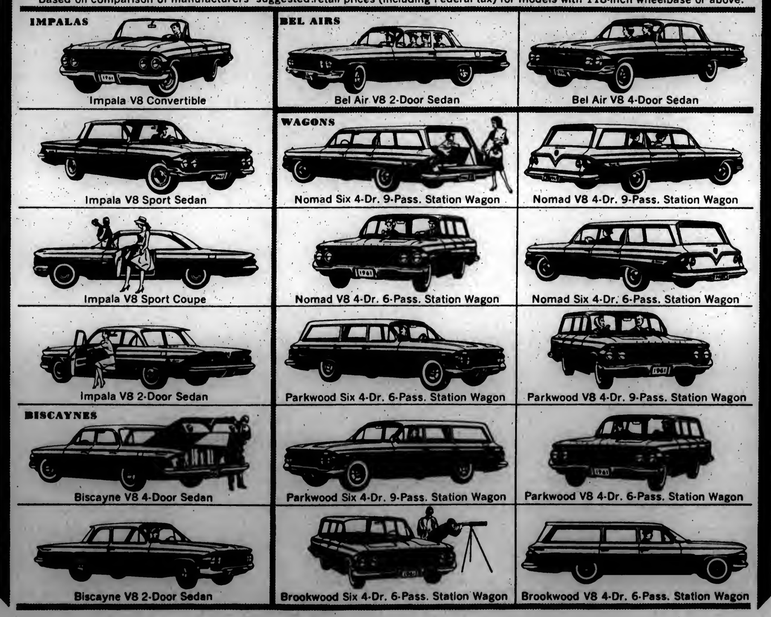
by Ken Wiatrak

The members of the basketball team selected their annual All-Opponent squad last week.

Those named to the team were selected because of outstanding performances against the Wildcats during the recently deceased lacklustre campaign.

First team selections include Len Chappell, Wake Forest; Wayne Yates, Memphis State; Rod Thorn, West Virginia; Bruce Drysdale, Temple; and Doug Moe, North Carolina. The second five comprises Don Kopis, Marquette; York Larese, North Carolina; Joe Maddrey, Niagara; Ken Rohloff, North Carolina State; and Bill O'Connor, Canisius.

Chappell, the only unanimous choice for first team honors, scored 26 points and grabbed 21 rebounds in an upset loss to the Wildcats. Yates' 25 points and 23 rebounds earned him the most impressive opposing player tag by a two-thirds majority.



Thorn is West Virginia's successor to Rod Hundley and Jerry West. He showed amazing long distance accuracy with a 30 foot two handed jump shot in tallying 26 points. He also nabbed 17 rebounds in another upset loss.

Model for model...there are 18 Chevrolets lower priced than any other full-sized car!

Leave it to these Jet-smooth Chevies to go easy on your family budget! All told there are 18 Chevrolets—V8's and 6's—priced lower than comparable competitive models*. Sumptuous Impalas, sprightly Bel Airs, bottom-priced Biscaynes and a whole stable of wonderful new wagons. And every one of them has a road-gentling Jet-smooth ride. Body by Fisher refinements and dozens of engineering details you'd expect only in the most expensive makes. Look them over at your Chevrolet dealer's one-stop shopping center and see how easy it is to drive out in just the one you want!

JET-SMOOTH RIDE
CHEVROLET

* Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices (including Federal tax) for models with 118-inch wheelbase or above.

See the new Chevrolet cars, Chevy Corvaire and the new Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Jim Muscovich sits glumly by as his mates cavort on the Ithan Avenue diamond. Muscovich met a bad bounce with his cheekbone.

Inclement Weather Hampers Villanova's Diamond Standouts

by Joe McCarthy

The varsity baseball team practice session, under the direction of Arthur Mahan, the recently appointed Director of Athletics, commenced the 1961 season with one-hundred and four candidates reporting. The efforts of the large turnout to get in shape, however, have been seriously hampered by the cold and unpredictable weather conditions.

Among the returnees from last year's NCAA tournament squad are third baseman Dan Renn, who compiled a .411 average, and Bill Platco, another infielder who wound up with a .327 mark. Striving to continue as the 'Cats' starting shortstop, Don Malega boasts of a .354 average as he enters practice.

Assisting the pitching corps again this year is the 'Cats' standout, Phil Fidalgo with a previous 8-3 won-lost record. "The loss of Frank Kreutzer to the Red Sox," asserted Mahan, "and that of Fred Alworth to Milwaukee, of course, do not help our situation much, but we are anticipating some assistance from Wayne Walz, a sophomore who has looked good in practice and Mike Kiley who just returned from the service. There are other good candidates, but at the moment, it is a little too soon to pass any accurate judgements."

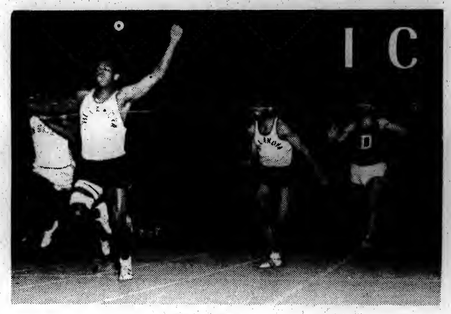
Joe Cramer, a slick-fielding center-fielder, has also reported in good condition and will assume the same position after a successful 1960 season. Filling the catcher's position Al Wiegand will face a tough battle with Jack Foley to retain his starting place in the lineup. "We could," reasoned Mahan, "probably adapt some of the excess infield and catching talent to outfield positions."

The final statistics of the 1960 varsity baseball team find eleven players who are expected to return to Art Mahan who guided the team to a 15-4 regular season record. The new schedule consists of only nine home games and twelve away games, an overall increase of four games since last year. At present, Mahan is having the players continue night workouts so that they might be sufficiently prepared for the season opener on March 29 against Gettysburg.

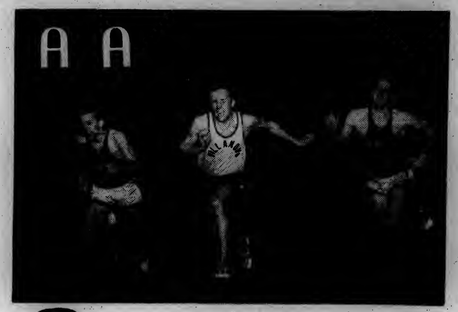
When questioned about the prospects of the team, Mahan replied cautiously, "Again, we have some definite quality on the squad, but it is still necessary to hold back judgment until we see whether we have enough depth to endure a full schedule successfully. That is the big question in my mind, now."

A Night To Forget

Photo Story By Mike Pastore



Blasé . . .



. . . Bemuscled . . .

. . . Begone

Budd breezes . . .

. . . Pras presses

. . . The race . . .

The rest . . .

The rage . . .

Pictured above is the Villanova freshman swimming team. The frosh antators are coached by Ed Geiz (front row, extreme right) and Jack Lumsden (second row, extreme right).

Do all Air Force Officers have wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write. Officer Career Information, Dept. SC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

U.S. Air Force

There's a place for professional achievement on the Aerospace Team

Round Midcourt

'Cats MVP, Jim Huggard

by Joe Zawacki

Prior to this past basketball season, if any observer had predicted that the Villanova Wildlats' season would end on March 11, he would have been chided by partisans and neutrals alike for neglecting to include the 'Cats in one of the post-season tournaments. This was to be one of those years when things would swing at a wicked pace that would leave most people, especially the opponents, gasping for breath.

But somehow, the Wildcat express never got off the ground and it ended up as one of the most disastrous in Coach Al Severance's 25 year reign. It is not the purpose of this corner to explore the reasons or instances that led to the team's downfall but rather to single out one of the few bright spots in a year where many observers openly said there were none.

Last Year . . .

Ironically, this column is being written almost one year to the date that a former VILLANOVAN columnist took Jim Huggard to task for exhibiting qualities that do not fall under the category of "teamplay". Needless to say, the column provoked much controversey in the area and Huggard was consequently maligned and generally blamed for the 'Cats' poor showing against Detroit and Utah State in last year's NIT.

Yet no one took the time to ask the little one how he felt about the affair. So, stubborn man that he is, he proceeded to make use of the 1960-61 season to prove by his actions that the most important thing to Jim Huggard was victory. The team failed. Huggard didn't.

Like all sports, basketball has its share of cliches. One of the most prominent goes something like, "his contribution can't be measured in the box score." If there is any truth at all in that statement, then it has to apply to Huggard's play this year. People noticed this year more than any other that Huggard plays only one brand of ball, that being "gut-ball", which, due to the nature and complexity of the game of basketball, is not easy to maintain throughout a 24 game schedule.

Not Faultless

This is not meant to imply that he has been faultless in the team's slump. At 28, his personality structure is long past the formative stage and not even an experienced manipulator like Severance is going to get through to him when his mind is set. Hence, you find certain instances through the season when he overly controlled the ball or took the wrong shot at the wrong time.

JIMMY HUGGARD

However, when contrasted with his positive contributions, the change from last year becomes evident. Who was it that seemed to come up with the big night against the important teams that the 'Cats have a tendency to knock off? Who single-handedly led the assaults that wiped out prodigious halftime leads in Dixie against N.C. State and Carolina? Find the answer to these questions and you come face to face with Villanova University basketball team's most valuable player for 1960-61.

At first glance, Shortport's 17.6 average is not much of an improvement over last year's 15.0. Again, enter the intangibles. At 5'8", he has to work for all his points despite the fact that most defenses are geared to stop him and Hubie White. But the defense's emphasis must be on Huggard because if White is hustling and hot, nothing will stop him short of Marshal Dillon's 45.

Percentages

Something else that generally escapes notice is the fact that Huggard has taken 50 fewer shots from the floor this year in upping his field goal pct. from 29.3% to 42.5%. His foul shooting shows a more remarkable increase in jumping from a modest 64.2% to a creditable 77.2%. He leads the team in both departments. The fact that the NCAA does not tabulate assist statistics prevents him from showing his mettle in his best department. Remember the night in January when V.U. upended Detroit? If you do, you'll probably easily recall the sight of Huggard's successful rattling of the Titan backcourtmen that broke open what was a close game at the moment.

Off the court, Huggard is not difficult to locate. In a crowd, the wags say, look for the biggest set of ears. His sonar equipment has been the source of inspiration for many classic placards at various Big Five games. In the dorm, he is generally in the midst of a stormy "cutting" session generally revolving about nurses training, the grease situation, big feet, falling hair, or his own borrowing habits.

Half A Paradox

However, the Huggard that most outsiders see is only one-half of a paradox. At 28, he is a man in a boy's setting and the people who surround him on the campus are not only younger but from entirely different environments. He is not about ready to open up to them. One thing is for sure: he realizes that the fame he has been seeking is a fleeting item and he is setting his sights on the future. When he graduates, Huggard wants to coach, something that he may be well-equipped for.

Then someday, someone will remember the diminutive hustler and the year he was the 'Cats' MVP; the year Jimmy Huggard grew up.

A Night To Forget

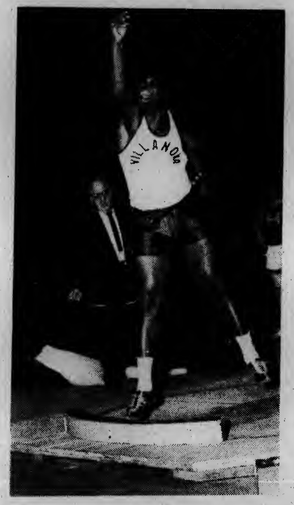


Photo Story By Mike Pastore

Blasé . . .

. . . Bemuscled . . .

. . . Begone

Budd breezes . . .

. . . Pras presses

. . . The race . . .

The rest . . .

The rage . . .

Pictured above is the Villanova freshman swimming team. The frosh antators are coached by Ed Geiz (front row, extreme right) and Jack Lumsden (second row, extreme right).

Do all Air Force Officers have wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. SCI3, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

U.S. Air Force

There's a place for professional achievement on the Aerospace Team

Round Midcourt

'Cats MVP, Jim Huggard

by Joe Zawacki

Prior to this past basketball season, if any observer had predicted that the Villanova Wildlats' season would end on March 11, he would have been chided by partisans and neutrals alike for neglecting to include the 'Cats in one of the post-season tournaments. This was to be one of those years when things would swing at a wicked pace that would leave most people, especially the opponents, gasping for breath.

But somehow, the Wildcat express never got off the ground and it ended up as one of the most disastrous in Coach Al Severance's 25 year reign. It is not the purpose of this corner to explore the reasons or instances that led to the team's downfall but rather to single out one of the few bright spots in a year where many observers openly said there were none.

Last Year . . .

Ironically, this column is being written almost one year to the date that a former VILLANOVAN columnist took Jim Huggard to task for exhibiting qualities that do not fall under the category of "teamplay". Needless to say, the column provoked much controversey in the area and Huggard was consequently maligned and generally blamed for the 'Cats' poor showing against Detroit and Utah State in last year's NIT.

Yet no one took the time to ask the little one how he felt about the affair. So, stubborn man that he is, he proceeded to make use of the 1960-61 season to prove by his actions that the most important thing to Jim Huggard was victory. The team failed. Huggard didn't.

Like all sports, basketball has its share of cliches. One of the most prominent goes something like, "his contribution can't be measured in the box score." If there is any truth at all in that statement, then it has to apply to Huggard's play this year. People noticed this year more than any other that Huggard plays only one brand of ball, that being "gut-ball", which, due to the nature and complexity of the game of basketball, is not easy to maintain throughout a 24 game schedule.

Not Faultless

This is not meant to imply that he has been faultless in the team's slump. At 28, his personality structure is long past the formative stage and not even an experienced manipulator like Severance is going to get through to him when his mind is set. Hence, you find certain instances through the season when he overly controlled the ball or took the wrong shot at the wrong time.

JIMMY HUGGARD

However, when contrasted with his positive contributions, the change from last year becomes evident. Who was it that seemed to come up with the big night against the important teams that the 'Cats have a tendency to knock off? Who single-handedly led the assaults that wiped out prodigious halftime leads in Dixie against N.C. State and Carolina? Find the answer to these questions and you come face to face with Villanova University basketball team's most valuable player for 1960-61.

At first glance, Shortport's 17.6 average is not much of an improvement over last year's 15.0. Again, enter the intangibles. At 5'8", he has to work for all his points despite the fact that most defenses are geared to stop him and Hubie White. But the defense's emphasis must be on Huggard because if White is hustling and hot, nothing will stop him short of Marshal Dillon's 45.

Percentages

Something else that generally escapes notice is the fact that Huggard has taken 50 fewer shots from the floor this year in upping his field goal pct. from 29.3% to 42.5%. His foul shooting shows a more remarkable increase in jumping from a modest 64.2% to a creditable 77.2%. He leads the team in both departments. The fact that the NCAA does not tabulate assist statistics prevents him from showing his mettle in his best department. Remember the night in January when V.U. upended Detroit? If you do, you'll probably easily recall the sight of Huggard's successful rattling of the Titan backcourtmen that broke open what was a close game at the moment.

Off the court, Huggard is not difficult to locate. In a crowd, the wags say, look for the biggest set of ears. His sonar equipment has been the source of inspiration for many classic placards at various Big Five games. In the dorm, he is generally in the midst of a stormy "cutting" session generally revolving about nurses training, the grease situation, big feet, falling hair, or his own borrowing habits.

Half A Paradox

However, the Huggard that most outsiders see is only one-half of a paradox. At 28, he is a man in a boy's setting and the people who surround him on the campus are not only younger but from entirely different environments. He is not about ready to open up to them. One thing is for sure: he realizes that the fame he has been seeking is a fleeting item and he is setting his sights on the future. When he graduates, Huggard wants to coach, something that he may be well-equipped for.

Then someday, someone will remember the diminutive hustler and the year he was the 'Cats' MVP; the year Jimmy Huggard grew up.

in the groove

Boola! Boola!

by Dan Grove

The Villanova mile relay team sprinted up Eighth Avenue in its smart looking warm-up suits. They dodged in and out of the usual Saturday night crowd; a sailor with a girl, a cigar smoking midwesterner, a beatnik trying to find his way to the Village, and a crowd of crew-cut Ivy Leaguers with spit-shined cordovans.

The relay team was headed for the mecca of indoor track, Madison Square Garden. Four hours later the same group made its way back down the same avenue. This time the four Wildcats were not sprinting.

They surged along with the overflow of track buffs, rah-rah college boys and corpulent officials. This overflow had just witnessed the indoor ICAAAA track meet.

Before their eyes in the smoke filled concrete barn, Yale had been declared the team champion. They beat Villanova 30-29.

During the preceding four hours, which could be described as both tense and ludricrous, heroes were born and mistakes were made. A pair of shotputters named Billy Joe and Jerry Donini upset Navy's favored Dick Brown to give the Wildcats an early 9-0 lead over Yale.

The sprints and the hurdles races went according to form with Frank Budd and Paul Drayton annexing first and third in the former, and Leon Pras and Charlie Hammock copping first and fifth in the latter.

The Elis were not taking their press clipping seriously, though, as they sneaked Jay Luck into fourth place in the 60 and then made him come back for an encore in the hurdles.

Villanova led Yale, 23-9, at this point. Then the handful of Villanova fans who had braved the turnpikes and taxi drivers, fortified themselves with several cans of brew and settled down to watch Yale win the next three events.

The last of the three, the two-mile run, was won in a convincing style by little Bob Mack, but running smoothly in fourth place was a lightly regarded Villanova sophomore, Pat Traynor.

Now, after two hours of stop watches clicking, photo timers whirring, and mental interpolations, the score was Villanova, 25; Yale, 24.

Boola, Boola! More beer! And who is this kid McGrath over in the high jump pit, were the shouts from the crowd.

Villanova looked like a shoo-in with its two good relay teams yet to run. Yale didn't qualify a team in either event.

The pole vault results were announced with Yale in a three way tie or fourth place and the meet was tied 25 all.

Jumbo Elliot chuckled and made a mental note to prepare his acceptance speech for the Pessimist of the Year Award. The tables down at Mory's were burdened with an extra round, and I was thinking of a good headline for Villanova's second straight indoor title.

The two-mile relay was Villanova's for a mile and a half. Favored Holy Cross was close, but Jon Dante looked smooth and comident, but with a lap and a half to go, Charles Buchtra of Holy Cross sprinted by a surprised Dante and won going away.

Then came the mile-relay, which promised to be a thriller. St. John's was good and Princeton had held Dick Edmond's out of the six hundred so that he would be fresh for the anchor leg.

Edmonds was fresh. He came from way back to edge out Shane of St. John's at the finish. It was a wild race with much jockeying for position, runners were boxed in and elbows flew freely. Favored Villanova was a disappointing third, and the time was a slow 3:30.2.

Three points for third boosted Villanova's total to 32. In order to tie the Wildcats, Yale had to place second and third in the high jump.

The bar was at 6'4" and six contenders were left. Two apiece from Yale and Penn State, Jim McGrath of Villanova and Thomas.

Then the announcer's voice split the noisy din and stale smoke like a double edged razor blade. "Villanova has been disqualified in the mile-relay," the man said.

The answer stood in the high jump pit. His name was Jim McGrath, a junior who jumps for the fun of it, whom Eliott had brought to the meet as an afterthought. He had missed twice at 6'4", and the other five had cleared the height. On this last attempt the balance of the meet swayed. As he approached the bar for his final jump, "The Star Spangled Banner," came blaring over the public address system.

Two peanut vendors were startled to the point of falling and Jim McGrath crashed into the bar. The ill-informed disc jockey who picked such an inopportune time to make his contribution to patriotism, will probably have a table named after him at Mory's.

The rest was anti-climatic. Two Elis were among the four tied for second at 6'4". The meet was over and Yale had won 30-29.

The key to this score was the decision in the mile relay. A small, bit of jostling between Bob Raemore and Tom Green of Manhattan. The incident took place in front of the Yale and Manhattan sections, and the disqualification that followed was a result of a great howl sent up by the crowd. (The official on the spot refused to call it a disqualification.) The jostling was minor and could not be compared with several incidents throughout the evening.

A rematch will occur at the outdoor ICAAAA's this spring. Till then Boola, Boola!

IC4A Disqualification Called "... Miscarriage of Justice"

Artist Paco Galatas views the latest "Manhattan Incident".

An Open Letter to Anyone Who Wasn't There

Move over, John Osborne, and make room for Villanova's "angry young men."

Your dejected young heroes are not the only ones who have reason to be disillusioned. How about a group of Villanova thinclads who proved to a throng of blase, cynical New York fans that it was the best track team in the IC4A championship meet, only to have recognition of its winning effort snatched away by a blatant miscarriage of justice?

Theft

Let us review the background of what will henceforth be termed "The Great Track Robbery."

Villanova went into the annual IC4A meet last Saturday a prohibitive underdog. A Yale team, talented and deep, would dethrone the "thin" Wildcats (who entered barely half as many athletes as the Boola-Bolla chanters) the track cognoscenti said.

The overall picture looked like this: The 'Cats would not score in eight of the thirteen events; Yale would garner points in eleven. Item by item, things shaped up thusly: The most that could be expected in the shotput was six, a second place and a third. But, lo and behold, sophomore Billy Joe and junior Jerry Donini capped three months of grueling practice under the tutelage of assistant coach Jim Tuppeny by nabbing first and second.

Nine Big Ones

Nine points, not six, were Villanova's.

At this point seven skeptical New York track pundits rewrote their lead sentences . . . "Villanova had come to win."

Then, to further document its title aspirations, its sophomore hurdler Charlie Hammock, under the pressure of man-to-man combat, lunged home inches ahead of in a two man runoff for fifth place.

Another unexpected point.

This was followed by Leon Pras' expected victory off an unexpected good start in the 60 yard hurdles.

Budd Saunters Home

Then Sheehan Olympian Frank Budd took time out from exhorting his mates and quietly instilling confidence in them to breeze an effortless meet record equalling 6.1. Despite a miserable thrust off the blocks, teammate Otie Drayton surged from behind to grasp a vital third.

Eight points in the sprints. 23 for the night. Things looked promising.

Then an inkling of trouble in the announcement that Yale's Jay Luck had been ajudged fourth instead of fifth in the dash by the photo-timer. This proved to be a key point.

Traynor Sparkles

But there were more pleasant surprises in store for Villanova. Pat Traynor, despite the fact that he had been sick or injured much of the season and, consequently, had missed many practice sessions, placed an impressive fourth in the two mile run. Two more unexpected points.

At this juncture, the score read Villanova 25, Yale 25. Three first place efforts, by Tom Carroll in the 1000, by Jim Stack in the 600, and by bantam (5-5, 115) Bobby Mack in the two mile plus seven in the hurdles, two in the dash, and one in the pole vault, had accounted for the Elis total.

Then came the two mile relay in which Holy Cross anchorman Charlie Buchta "outwolfed" the 'Cats Jon Dante, which is no mean feat. But then the Worcester foursome had been picked to dethrone the 'Cat half-milers. The 'Cats had still amassed another vital four points whereas Yale did not even reach the finals here.

Just A Third

All the 'Cats needed was a third, possibly a fourth in the mile relay, the last event on the program, to offset whatever points Yale's high jumping duo, Bill Flippin and Sam Striebert, might pick up.

And here, in the final section of this race, Villanova's anchorman, Bobby Raemore, was unjustly disqualified for jostling a Manhattan runner on the first turn of the first lap. As was reported by VILLANOVAN photographer Mike Pastore, who was down on the infield, the judge on the turn either DID NOT or refused to make the foul call. The call was made by an official removed from the scene by many yards.

Inconsistent

The real point of the controversy, however, was the inconsistency exhibited by the judges in even making the call. Raemore, in attempting to keep himself from being shoved off the track, defended himself in the same manner that several runners had used previously.

In the freshman distance medley one of the runners actually grabbed the shirt of an opponent who tried to pass him.

Yet no foul was called. The rough house tactics were legal for everybody except Villanova.

Good Cause for Dejection

So, you can see the reason for the "angry young men's" disillusionment.

Not that their coaches or few student followers were disappointed in their performance. On the contrary, Jumbo Jim Elliott and Tuppeny had nothing but commendation for the 100% effort put forth by their charges. Their only regret was that their championship performance was not accorded championship recognition. The handful of students in attendance agreed that the 'Cats deserved a better fate than a "home town" decision by an out of town official.

Let's hope, that the "angry young men" are not subjected to Mr. Woodruff's judgment again.

Mike Donahue

Williams Leads 'Cat Bowlers To Two Wins

The Villanova varsity bowling team marched to their third and fourth successive victories last Friday and Sunday. In the Friday return match with the University of Pennsylvania, the 'Cats faced little opposition to their power-packed quintet as they effortlessly humbled whatever efforts Penn put forward in the personage of Bob Weiss.

Romping in the first two games with scores of 969 and 956, one Penn competitor found it difficult to compete in the next game and dropped out. The results of a match, however, is based on the winner of the best of three matches. Since the 'Cats had taken the first two, they were automatically the winners. John McCarthy paced the Wildcat attack with a strong 621 composite score but was topped by Weiss' effort of 625.

Under the superlative bowling of Chuck Williams, the 'Cats overpowered a strong Columbia fivesome in the last two games after dropping the first. Captain Sal Rico termed Columbia as "a very strong team and a major victory for the Wildcats." Williams' scores of 235, high for a single game, and his final composite 617 brought the team's official record to an undisputed four wins and no losses.

Villanovan

VOL. 36 No. 18 | VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. | APRIL 12, 1961

The Chairmen of the Senior Dinner Dance and the Senior Prom, shown making final plans for the weekend with Vice-President Tom Samulewicz. They are (L to R) Bob Redmond, Nick Cassetta, Dick Calhoun, Bob Bohn, and Samulewicz.

Prom to Start Senior Weekend in Big Way

A substantial turnout is expected to be on hand for the Senior Prom which is slated for the Field House Friday night.

"This will be the last senior class-sponsored dance to be held on campus," Prom co-chairman Bob Bohn said regretfully, "hence we expect our class to support it en masse."

Bohn and co-chairman "Tex" Calhoun have secured the services of Arlen Saylor's orchestra to play at the prom. Saylor's ensemble is the host band at Sonnybrook Ballroom in Pottstown, Pa.

Tickets are on sale now in the Pie Shoppe. Price of the ducats is $5.00 per couple.

"The Prom Queen will be crowned at intermission," Queen Contest co-chairmen Gary Susnjara and Lou Retacco said in chorus. "The five finalists were chosen by The Phila. Modeling and Charm School, Susnjara revealed.

Package Deal

Another service secured by senior class president Larry Bathgate's Senior Weekend Committee is an economical formal attire package deal. "For seven dollars, seniors and the surprisingly large number of undergraduates who will attend the dance will be provided with a complete formal outfit for the dance from tux to plaid cummerbunds," Bathgate stated.

"The seniors will be able to use the outfit on Saturday night, too," the stocky prexy added.

The Sheraton Hotel will be the site of the 'Dinner Dance which co-chairman Nick Cassetta called the "high spot of the senior weekend."

Five To A Table

Five couples will be seated at each table on the perimeter of the spacious Sheraton Ballroom floor and the balcony above it.

"Sylvan Herman's orchestra, which was so well-received at the Junior Dinner Dance last year, will return for an encore Saturday night," Redmond said.

Tickets, which were put on sale in blocs last Thursday, have sold well, Cassetta declared.

"We expect a capacity crowd," Redmond said hopefully. He added, however, that a few tickets remain.

New Restriction Placed On Student Officeholders

The minimum academic cumulative average for all candidates for office in any Student Organization, or class, and, all new members of Student Council has been officially raised to 2.50 by the Rev. Dante L. Girolami, OSA, Dean of Student Activities. Student leaders in these fields must possess this average in order to have their candidacy approved and must also maintain it to retain the office.

There are, according to Fr. Girolami, two exceptions to the regulation. Those who are already members of Student Council or have been previously appointed or elected to an activity office will be allowed to keep their posts. In the case of Student Council members, they will be permitted to hold Council offices. The other exception excludes from the regulation those who are presently undergraduate officers of a campus activity and intend to run for another office in the same organization.

Otherwise, any student who does not hold a position in the club or society must submit to the 2.50 requirement. The average to which the student is referred is his overall cumulative average as of February 1961.

Exclusive Interview

In an exclusive interview, Fr. Girolami asserted, "Those who hold office at Villanova have an office of trust and responsibility and they should, therefore, be above the bare minimum standards of the general student body. An officer is a person who has many extra duties to perform and, if he were to slip scholastically, this new minimum would afford him some scholastic protection. By this, I mean that if the student drops below 2.50 he will still be above the 2.00 minimum for graduation."

When queried on the timeliness of the announcement, Fr. Girolami emphasized that if he had waited until the end of the semester, there would still be another year of students who could run the risk of dropping below a 2.00. Since the action had to be taken eventually, the present would be the best time to start.

"An office," pointed out Fr. Girolami, "is to be both an incentive and a reward for the student's scholastic and extra-curricular efforts. This regulation, however, only applies to class offices and to those officers of clubs and societies on campus and not to individual members of these groups."

The reply to the general feeling that 2.50 is too high by Fr. Girolami was, "We considered 2.50 the appropriate average because of Who's Who rules."

McAndrew Honored; New Staffs Announced

William R. McAndrew, the Executive Vice-President, of the National Broadcasting Company was the recipient of the sixth annual St. Augustine Award which was presented Saturday night at the St. Augustine Award Dinner-Dance held at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel and sponsored by the VILLANOVAN and radio station WWVU.

This award is presented jointly by the campus newspaper and radio station annually tosomeone outstanding in the field of communications arts. The graduating seniors in both organization were also honored at the dance.

Outgoing VILLANOVAN Editor-in-chief H. J. McAteer introduced this year's staff, and Rev. Louis A. Rongione, O.S.A., the moderator of the newspaper presented the seniors of that staff with Senior Keys.

New Staff

Fr. Rongione then introduced Daniel G. Grove, the new editor-in-chief who in turn, named the new staff which is made up of; Edward Farrell,Managing Editor; Josephine Morello, Associate Editor; Mark Quinn, News Editor; J. Edgar Lohr and Joseph Zawacki, Sports Editors; Joe Massey Feature Editor; George West, Campus News Editor; Tom O'Connor, Copy Editor; Michael Pastore and Frank Matunis, Photography Editors; John Janda, Business Manager; John Redding, Circulation Manager; and Raymond Ritter, Exchange Editor.

Daniel J. O'Mara, station manager of WWVU, then introduced this year's staff and Dr. Charles Smith the station moderator presented Senior Pins to the graduating staff members. Dr. Smith said in his speech that there is a possibiliy that WWVU will become a commercial FM station in the near future.

Dr. Smith also announced the reappointment of O'Mara as station manager. The new department heads were announced by O'Mara; they are; Mark Devaney, Chief Engineer; Charles Labus, Personnel and Public Relations Director; and Dave Hughes, Business Manager.

Mr. McAndrew who is credited with making NBC's news coverage the best in the field, expressed his thanks to Villanova for the award. He stated that this was the first such award given to him by a Catholic institution.

Student Advisory Committee To Be Grad School Liaison

Rev. Louis A. Rongione, O.S.A., Dean of the Graduate School has announced the formation of a Student Advisory Committee to provide liaison between the graduate students and the graduate facutly for matters of social, intellectual, and spiritual life of the graduate students.

This committee will receive suggestions from the students and the faculty and present them to the Dean and the Graduate Counsil for evaluation. Miss Diana D. Carullo; majoring in Chemistry at Rosemont, will act as chairlady.

Garey Hall To Be Scene Of Law School Admissions Test

Villanova University has been designated as a testing center for the nationwide administration of the Law School Admissions Test on Saturday, April 15th, 1961, Dean Harold G. Reuschlein announced. The test will be administered in Garey Hall, the Law School Building at Villanova University.

The test is required by the School of Law of Villanova University, and by most other law schools; prospective applicants should consult the law school of their choice to be advised whether they must take the test. The next test will be administered August, 1961.

Rev. Louis A. Rongione, O.S.A., VILLANOVAN moderator, presents the St. Augustine Award to Mr. William McAndrew, NBC Vice-president for news, at the VILLANOVAN-WWVU dinner dance, held last Saturday night at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

PORTRETTE

DeLisa Sparks Explosion

In the words of the great Italian poet Dante, "Great flame follows from a tiny spark." The spark, and by no means a tiny one, is Bob DeLisa, Chairman of the Student Council and President of the Student Body.

DeLisa, who enjoys working in community development and politics, is a busy senior majoring in Education with a minor in English. Sincere in his conviction that the student government is a student service for the purpose of stimulating student awareness, he has set off a Student Council explosion.

Bob DeLisa

This explosion is a successful program aimed at bringing to Villanova more qualified, interesting, and influential speakers, such as labor leader George Meany and poet John Crowe Ransom.

Spearheaded Drives

Another drive spearheaded by DeLisa is a plan for the comprehensive study of the world's great religions, a project now being set up. Previous to this, the native of Hartford, Connecticut aided in the formation of a great books club, and the Student Polling Committee.

At the national convention of the NFCCS at Louisville last year, DeLisa was elected chairman of the Student Government Advisory Board of the NFCCS, a group which co-ordinates student government programs throughout the country.

Setbacks

The Student Council is doing much for the student body, but DeLisa warns that every misdemeanor sets the Council back in the eyes of the administration. "Students are treated as men as long as they accept responsibility and take things upon themselves."

DeLisa would like to pursue his Master's degree in English and eventually to get into CYO leadership and the Hartford Junior Chamber of Commerce. Through his dealings with people both inside the Student Council and out, he has made the following observation. "Each student must evaluate his own position and realize his responsibilities."

Students, Teachers Merit Fellowships In Engineering Field

James J. Schuster, instructor in the Civil Engineering Department here at Villanova, was awarded a Portland Cement Association Scholarship for graduate study at Purdue University for the summer of 1961.

Mr. Schuster, who has been with the department since 1958, will begin these studies leading to a Ph.D. degree, at Purdue on June 15th.

The Portland Cement Association scholarships, which provide for full tuition and a stipend, are made available only to to instructors in engineering schools, who have made a career of teaching engineering.

MIT FELLOWSHIP

Mr. Marshall A. McCloskey of Philadelphia, top senior in Electrical Engineering has received a thirty-three hundred dollar fellowship to the Graduate School of Electrical Engineering at M.I.T.

NDEA FELLOWSHIP

Stephen T. Campbell, Civil Engineering Senior from Villanova, was awarded a National Defense Fellowship covering graduate study for three years at New York University. The program of study will be in Structural Mechanics, given by the Civil Engineering Department at that school and will lead toward a Ph.D. degree.

National Defense Fellowships provide for full payment of tuition plus a stipend.

Mr. Campbell will begin classes in September of this year.

Loyalty Oath, Blue Key Are Subject To SC Debate

The Student Council, at its meeting last Wednesday night, passed the motion affirming the Student Council's support for the Defense Education loyalty oath in a twenty-minute period, only to spend more than an hour arguing the status of the Blue Key, a new campus group which serves as a host committee for Villanova.

Both last week's meeting and the immediately preceding one, held just before the Easter vacation, were initiated by Chairman DeLisa's comment, "This should be a short meeting. You can see that we have only a few motions." Each meeting lasted longer than two hours.

Bill Williams, IRS representative, moved to untable his motion of a previous meeting which stated, "That the Student Council of Villanova University affirm its support for the loyalty oath taken by all students who receive federal scholarships under the Defense Education Act of 1958."

Williams' motion to untable was defeated and Frank Carolann called for a recount. Because several of the representatives switched votes after DeLisa's explanation of the motion, the recount untabled the motion.

After a period of discussion, a roll-call vote was taken and the motion was passed 38-11.

The remainder of the meeting was spent discussing Blue Key issues which had been hotly debated at the preceding meeting. There had been no vote on any of the items, however, since the Congress ruled that they should have been presented as amendments rather than motions.

The amendments were presented at the latest meeting, and again hot debate ensued while Council members began to leave the meeting. The problem lay in defining the status of the group. Neither Congress nor Blue Key representatives could agree whether to classify the group as a presidential standing or special committee or as a separate campus organization.

When the question was moved to a vote, a call for a quorum revealed that two-thirds of the total membership (required to pass an amendment) was not present. Repeated recounts failed to disclose any significant change in the number present, and, following a "chastisement" by Chairman DeLisa, the meeting was adjourned.

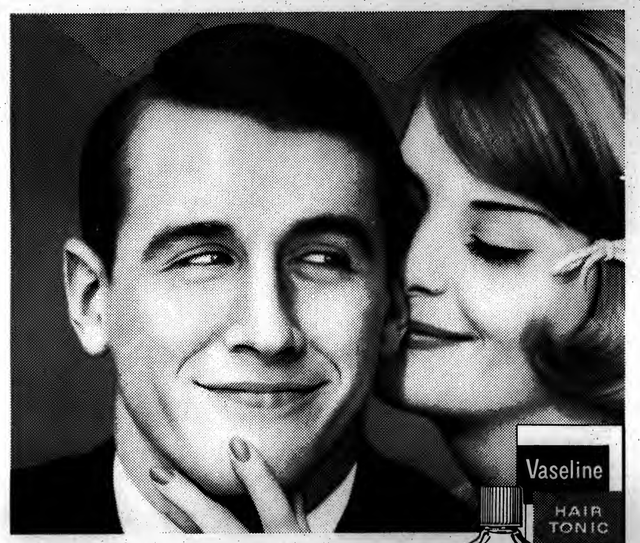
SIR WALTER RALEIGH

Protective Pouch Keeps Tobacco

44% FRESHER!

No spills when you fill... just dip in!

Open the pack... Out comes the Pouch!



Sooner or Later Your Favorite Tobacco!

New protective aluminum foil pouch keeps famous, mild Sir Walter Raleigh 44% fresher than old-fashioned tin cans. Choice Kentucky burley—extra aged. Get the familiar orange-and-black pack with the new pouch inside!

SMELLS GRAND — PACKS RIGHT!
SMOKES SWEET — CAN'T BITE!

BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION THE MARK OF QUALITY IN TOBACCO PRODUCTS ©1961

do they fall for you head first?

They do if you use 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic on your head first! Most men use water with their hair tonic and 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic is specially made to use with water. Water evaporates, dries out your hair. Alcohol and cream tonics evaporate, too. But 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic won't evaporate. It's 100% pure light grooming oil — replaces oil that water removes. And just a little does a lot!

it's clear ♪ ♫ it's clean... it's

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

'VASELINE' HAIR TONIC IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

Student members of the chorus in Turf and Tinsel's production of "Southern Comfort" rehearse one of many dance routines that will grace the production. The show will take place from April 26 to April 30 in the Villanova Field House.

Dean Rostow To Discuss Law Realism At Dinner

Dean Eugene V. Rostow of the School of Law at Yale University will be the featured speaker at the Sixth Annual Dinner honoring the editors of The Villanova Law Review to be held in Garey hall, the Law School Building on the Villanova campus, on Friday, April 14th. Mr. Norman J. Shachoy of Taunton, Massachusetts, the Editor-in-Chief of Volume VI of The Villanova Law Review will serve as toastmaster.

Dean Rostow has announced as his subject, "Legal Realism and the Sense of the Profession." Besides Dean Rostow, the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., President of the University, Dean Harold Gill Reuschlein, Dean of the Law School, and Professor William H. Painter, Faculty Advisor to the Law Review will speak briefly in appreciation of the Board of Editors.

At the dinner the newly appointed Board of Editors for the Law Review for the scholastic year 1961-1962 will be presented. The selections were made from among the present second year members of the Review by the outgoing Board of Editors.

James L. McHugh, Jr., has been named as the new Editor-in-Chief. Mr. McHugh is a native of Pittsburg and received his undergraduate degree from Duquesne University.

Other positions announced are: Case Editor, John J. Cannon of Upper Darby who graduated from LaSalle College; Comment Editor, Frederick M. Lavin of Snyder, New York, a graduate of the University of Notre Dame; Articles and Book Reviews Editor, Edward C. McCardle of Philadelphia, a graduate of Temple University; and Business Manager, Lewis H. Gold of Elkins Park, a graduate of Pennsylvania State University.

ICG To Travel To Harrisburg For State Convention

The Villanova Chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government will attend the annual ICG model state convention in Harrisburg from Thursday, April 13 through Saturday, April 15.

The convention this year will be conducted along the lines of the Pennsylvania State Legislature. Bills prepared by students from the forty-five ICG Chapters located in various colleges and universities in the State of Pennsylvania will be subject to the same procedural matters as the bills which come before the actual State Legislature.

Speaker Election

The activities on Friday will primarily consist of the election of the Speaker who will chair the Convention and the meetings of the various committees at which different aspects of the State Government will be discussed. In these committee meetings, the bills will be debated and voted upon.

John McAteer, chairman of the Villanova ICG, stated that there will be twenty-five Villanova students who will attend the convention. He added that the VU delegation has been in the preparatory stage for this convention since November. The bills which will be presented by the individuals in the Villanova Chapter represent intelligent student thought on problems facing not only the Pennsylvania State Government but also state governments in general.

A major post at the Convention which will be handled by a member of the Villanova ICG is the chairmanship of the Rules Committee. Bill Rademaker, a junior chem major, will manage this position.

McAteer concluded by saying that two important regional offices will be held by Villanova for the school year of 1961-'62. They are Director of the Region and Corresponding Secretary.

Butterfield To Provide Sound For Junior Dance

Billy Butterfield and his orchestra will provide the music at the Junior Dance which is being held in the Villanova Field House on Friday, May 5.

"What's New?" is not only Butterfield's theme song but he is what is news today. Butterfield is the young master of the trumpet, who has blown his horn straight to the top, and as a result is one of the most popular orchestra leaders in America today.

Tickets will go on sale within two weeks and will be going for the low price of $4.00 per couple. The dance has been taken out of the formal class. Tuxedos and gowns are banned. The dance is open to the public, which is another new innovation but Villanovans will receive ample warning about the sale of tickets and will be given first chance to purchase them.

The "Butterfield treatment" is something that is now at its peak, polished through years of being featured on commercial radio coast to coast with such top ranking bands as Artie Shaw, Benny Goodman, Harry James and others. The "treatment" means melody; it means rhythm; and it means listenability and danceability—music that is palatable both to those who want to dance, as well as those who wish to sit it out. It also means music that creates the mood of the songwriter and as such has the greatest appeal to diversified parts of the public.

College Favorite

Butterfield's band is a favorite among College students, the many dates that it has played in all sections of the country bear witness to this. Collectors of records from the Big Band era rate his solo on Artie Shaw's recording of "Stardust" as one of the best produced in an era when greatness was the rule rather than the exception.

Billy Butterfield

With his background, Billy Butterfield has become one of the most sought after bandleaders in America by the colleges of this country. The proof of his success has been proven by the many repeat engagements he has played. With his appearance at Villanova, the Junior Dance will step up a notch or two in stature.

V. U. To Be Scene Of Annual PCEA: Dr. Bernardin

Dr. Charles W. Bernardin, the Chairman of the Villanova English Department, has announced that the annual conference of the Pennsylvania College English Association will be held this year at Villanova. Registration for the program is scheduled for ten o'clock on April 15.

All sessions will take place in the Commerce and Finance building. The fee for the day is $2.50.

The opening address and greeting will be delivered by the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, OSA, the President of Villanova. Among the other speakers will be Edgar Smith Rose, Assistant Professor of English at Haverford College, who will lecture on The Freshman English Program at Haverford and Joseph Lee Brown, Assistant Professor and Chairman of the Modern Languages Department of the Ogontz division of Penn State, whose topic is Thoughts on College English-Teaching.

Old Spice
AFTER SHAVE LOTION

Refreshing antiseptic action heals razor nicks, helps keep your skin in top condition. 1.00 plus tax

SHULTON New York • Toronto

DOING IT THE HARD WAY by hoff

(GETTING RID OF DANDRUFF, THAT IS!)

easier 3-minute way for men: FITCH

Men, get rid of embarrassing dandruff easy as 1-2-3 with FITCH! In just 3 minutes (one rubbing, one lathering, one rinsing), every trace of dandruff, grime, gummy old hair tonic goes right down the drain! Your hair looks handsomer, healthier. Your scalp tingles, feels so refreshed. Use FITCH Dandruff Remover SHAMPOO every week for positive dandruff control. Keep your hair and scalp really clean, dandruff-free!

FITCH® LEADING MAN'S SHAMPOO

"Americanism?"

The right to libel and slander was not construed by the Framers of the Constitution as falling within the right to freedom of speech. But the latest example of "patriotic Americanism" in the form of the Birch Society has disregarded the intended bounds of free speech.

The supposed objective of this semi-secret association is the exposure of Communism within the ranks of America's leaders. So far it has "exposed," without presenting a shred of documented evidence, that former President Dwight Eisenhower is, quoting from an 80,000 word letter written by the society's President Robert Welsh, "a card-carrying communist."

That there are many dangers inherent in a self-styled "defender of democracy" to combat the menace of Communism within our midst was amply proven by the traumatic experience of McCarthyism. Perhaps the greatest danger of all lies in the possibility of an abrogation, through the extremity of its anti-communist activities, of the rights of the citizen in the American democracy it purports to uphold.

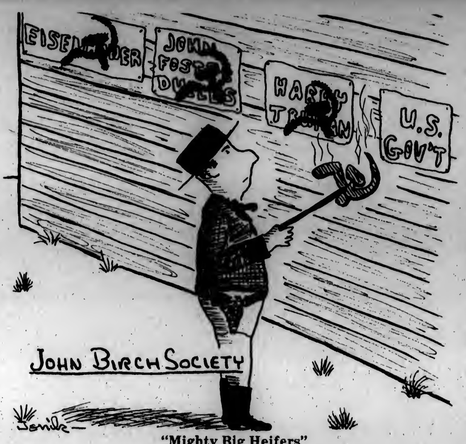
Moreover, activities of the type undertaken by the Birch Society as exemplified by its exposure, as communist or communist tool, President Eisenhower, the late Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, and Allen Dulles head of the Central Intelligence Agency, serves only to confuse the communist issue, and through the very absurdity of the charges make the menace of Communism seem less serious to the average individual. On both counts Communism would benefit.

One further danger involved in the anti-communist activity of the Birch Society is the possibility that it might, through fear of intimidation and ostracism, prevent private citizens from aiding the more serious, and efficient, if less spectular, efforts of serious agencies, governmental or private, to curb Communist subversive activities.

An unfortunate sidelight of the controversy over the Society is that it has occasioned statements from some of the country's most notable figures who are evidently unaware of the possible effects of their support.

Richard Cardinal Cushing, for example, has said that he views the Society as nothing more than an anti-communist organization and as such of no danger. But the Cardinal fails to see that by the extremity of its position the Society endangers the rights of all citizens and ultimately of democracy itself in weakening the confidence of the people in their leaders upon whose loyality it has cast doubt. The Birch Society, through purporting to protect America, may actually become, as it has accused some of our leaders of being, "a tool of Communism" insofar as it may either materially benefit the Communist Cause or accomplish the same denial of human rights that is Communism's objective.

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY



Editor-in-chief ..... Daniel G. Grove
Associate Editor ..... Josephine Morello
Managing Editor ..... Edward Farrell
News Editor ..... Mark Quinn
Sports Editor ..... J. Edgar Lohr
Joseph Zawacki
Feature Editor ..... Joseph A. Massey
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editor ..... Thomas O'Connor
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... John J. Janda
Circulation Manager ..... John Redding
Exchange Editor ..... Raymond Ritter
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

Leo Goodreau

"Mighty Big Heifers"

Counterpoint

Smugness No Answer

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

How does one account for the successes of Communism? The next opportunity that you have, study the areas controlled by a movement that is only 44 years old. If you do not know it, Communism today controls almost one billion people and one-third of the earth's surface. Every day that we read a newspaper, if we have the time, we read of Communist take-overs by subversion, propaganda, small wars, peaceful means.

Certainly the reasons for the spread of this doctrine are ambivalent. Certainly many of the reasons for its spread lay in the free world's inability to face the facts. The haughty American businessman sits at his mahogany desk and decides to do business with it rather than compete. Inflated Congressmen provide millions of dollars for cultural exchanges with the people of the Soviet Union. Do they realize that the people of that nation have nothing at all to do with their government? The average American says "It'll never happen to us." Does he realize that this is probably the same thing that the people of Eastern Europe, China, Cuba, and Southeast Asia said when the challenge confronted them.

Reds March On

Communism makes advances every day. What is the principle of democracy doing to stop and stamp out this insidious growth? Policies of massive retaliation work, but they are a defense. This implies a contentment with the status quo. "There you are. Here we are. If you try to do anything to us, we'll get back at you." Defense policies are good only for defense.

Democracy must take the offensive. But how is this possible when most college students cannot tell you that they have read the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution. Most students cannot tell you who the President pro tempore of the Senate is. How many can say that they know what the Twenty-Third Amendment is? How would you make a defense of our form of government against Communism to a person who is trying to make a choice between the two?

Perhaps this frame of mind can be traced back to the American character. It's not too hard to realize that Americans are more interested in making an easy buck than in spreading democracy. Youth is more interested in pony time, getting a date, and having rumbles. Little Johnny is given a credit card, a car, and an all-expense paid junket to college. But little Dmitri is drilled in the dialectic, "The Communist Manifesto," and the "justice" of the cause. But after all, Communism is so, so far away. Why should we worry about those poor people who choose Communism? It's not nice to talk about such things. Democracy has always been good to us. That's all that matters.

Dogma Accepted

It is said in "Doctor Zhivago" that "All of them, without exception, clung to some dogma or other, satisfied with words and superficialities, but Father Nikolai had gone through Tolstoyism and revolutionary idealism and was still moving forward. He passionately sought an idea, inspired, graspable, which in its movement would clearly point out the way toward change, an idea like a flash of lightning or a roll of thunder capable of speaking to a child or an illiterate. He thirsted for something new."

Let us seek a new idea. Let us develop an idea of democracy that will surge through the masses like thunder and lightning. "Something new" which will present to them the benefits of democracy. Instead of just attempting to educate the uneducated, let us present democracy to them at the same time. It is time for a change, a change that will turn back the tide of advancing Communism. The era of convincing people by force of arms has been on the decline. It is time for men to sit down and think out an attack on Communism using the strategy of democracy. If this does not come about who is to say that the United States will not fall into the hands of Communism like an over-ripe fruit?

Cuba

Editor's Note—Cuban exiles presently residing in the United States have expressed their gratitude to Americans for assistance in their fight against Communist domination of their homeland.

A Note of Thanks: We Cubans wish to express our thanks to the Kennedy Administration for its help to those of us in need. In particular, many of us had bills outstanding at American Universities; bills which hung over us like Damocles' sword. We wanted to pay them right away but did not have the necessary money. The solution to our problem came from Mr. Kennedy, who provided us with emergency loans.

We exiles from Cuba will continue backing democracy now, as we did before your aid to us.

A Condemnation: We must condemn energetically, as civilized human beings, the bestial plot to kidnap Caroline Kennedy, a child of three years old. World opinion was shocked and surprised at the revelation of the plot by Castro's agents; we know it is simply regular procedure for the wounded, bearded hyenas of the Caribbean.

To ubans: for the first time in a foreign language, we have to ask for UNITY once again: UNITY when a Cuban succeeds, for an individual success is a success for Cuba, our fatherland. Enjoy another's victory without jealousy. UNITY is necessary when a Cuban fails, for an individual failure is a failure for Cuba. Take the person in error aside and together try to correct the mistake without anger or humiliation.

To Latin America: Our America, which we love as we do Cuba, a desperate shout for help. We ask you, our brothers of Latin America, for moral and political support. As ever representing a sacrifice, we ask too for all the help of any kind that you can give.

Latin America has grown up with the same language, religion and customs. Now our countries are endangered by doctrines that do not correspond to our traditional democratic and Catholic institutions. The enemy is already within America. We are not only asking to liberate ourselves from a communist paranoic, but are also trying to prevent the red flag from substituting our own national flags.

Fragments: from INFORMATIONES CATHOLIQUES INTERNATIONALES of Paris, and from the AVE MARIA magazine, without comment.

"How is it possible to accept the idea that the (Cuban) Revolution, which aroused so much enthusiasm, could be perverted to the point where a Christian would have no other choice than to oppose it? A scientist of great reputation in Cuba's Catholic circles and abroad voiced the following facts:

" 'The initial confidence in Fidel was probably shared by 90% of the population. It was exhausted with incredible rapidity when it was observed that he did not keep his solemn promises. In the proclamation of his program in April, 1958, while he was still fighting in the Sierra, he had announced in particular the organization of general elections as quickly as possible. Having come to power, he proclaimed them within 18 months. Two years have passed, the elections have not taken place, and Fidel has just declared that they will not be held so long as there is one man who is hungry or who does not know how to read.

" 'Where have such conditions ever been laid down for an election? As the Marxist tendencies of the Revolution began to appear, many of us thought that Fidel was a kind of Tito, who had no ties with Moscow. . . . Today we know the truth. It is pure and simple Communism which is at work in Cuba. The presence of the Secret Police everywhere terrorizes the people. Some of its members are equipped with recording devices made in Czechoslovakia and camouflaged as wrist watches or fountain pens.

" 'On November 27, while the bombs of the "true revolutionaries" (the author uses the term "counterrevolutionaries," which we have altered, as the current regime is actually counterrevolutionary to the true revolution) burst frequently in the neighborhood, Castro attacked the Catholic schools, and said that there the hatred of the people was taught, accusing the Catholic University of Villanova, in Havana, of being a "Yankee" apologist. (The Auxiliary Bishop of Havana, Msgr. Boza Masvidal, as Rector of the Catholic University of Villanova, has kept a close check on revolutionary conspiracies of doubtful character among the students; conspiracies which were incompatible with the disciplinary regulations of the institution.)

"Fidel knows what true Christianity is, and is not through an unconscious confusion on his part that the Communist Revolution in Cuba is still disguised as Christianity."

Cast members of the recent Belle Masque production "The Matchmaker" vociferate in front of Dougherty Hall. "Malachi Stack" (Peter Smith) is making the point while the cabman (James Brennan) and Barnaby Tucker" (John Putre) look on.

Cynically Speaking

Spring Comes To College

by Joe Noel

In the Spring a young man's fancy turns, quoth The Philosopher. Indeed, he continues, young men everywhere of all shapes in all types of conditions persist at this time in turning their fancies to thoughts. Remarkably enough in some instances Villanova offers no notable exceptions. Plain or fancy, fancy, turning, then, is the vogue.

Although, admittedly, she never wrote and asked us, we feel it expedient to reassuringly interject: Yes, Virginia, there is a Spring. There must be—no force save singular, subtle Spring could have squelched the "what, me melt?" defiance of the parking lot snow. Besides, the vernal equinox is evident, while the summer solstice is nowhere in sight.

Tsk!

Much in the manner of an April Santa Claus, this writer turns his fancy to thoughts of sending forth temperate greetings of the season to fellow fancy-turners, and to other bedraggled cross-sections of humanity as well, especially to those peculiar to Villanova, even to peculiar Villanovans.

Warmed by nothing, fortified by only a pregnant silence, we bid Happy Spring to sufferers the world over: to students who have never heard of Shamokinaki, to hay fever victims, and to math majors who don't know their matric number. Greetings, too, to students who know where the library is, to the C&F day-hop who saw Villanova at dusk, to geology majors who haven't collected a single rock, and to any freshmen awaiting a dink dance.

Tsk! Tsk!

Espousers of the final exam schedule change,students who study, those who enjoy campus food, and other despised minorities are cheerfully remembered; forgotten easily are left-handed right fielders. The Pie Shoppe staff is hailed with the suggestion that the fifteen cent cups be made still smaller.

Further delighted, we salute misanthropes, Professors who skip their 8:30 class, evening lecturers, marketing majors who know how to market, and day-hops who consistently park their cars improperly. Those who gave up during Lent, unemployed alumni, and nurses with lovely eyes who can't tell lovely lies are proffered condolences, but more sympathetic are we toward shut-ins with athlete's foot, not to mention students with a 2.49 cumulative who planned to run for class office.

Cheer to Dondi, sixth year NROTC men, all who have read this far, staccato salesmen, and pre-meds; Happy Spring to underpaid amateur athletes.

Tsk! Tsk! Tsk!

Greeted with particular warmth are student politicians, especially those who dislike golf, and marines who have never read The Marine Corps Gazette. Even warmer are regards to students who have seen a V.U. baseball game, and to those who call Wally Quinn "Mr. Kelly." Chain letter breakers, Siamese twins, students who didn't go to Florida yet returned from Easter vacation with sun tans as well as those who did go and didn't get tanned are not to be slighted.

Happy Spring to IBM card benders, spindlers, or folders, to Jack Paar, Ed Sulivan, and Ingemar Johansson, to the beat generation, and to those who don't like Spring.

Least we forget, a Springy handshake, applause and encouragement to all who in the Spring turn their fancies to thoughts of love.

Belle Masque Gives "Mature" Rendering of Poor Wilder Play

by Gus Susnjara

The Belle-Masque Society's recent production of The Matchmaker emerged as a successful presentation of a play which is sorely representative of the dramatic art of Thornton Wilder. Not only does this play fail to resemble the quality of its predecessors Our Town and The Skin of Our Teeth by any vaguery of the imagination, but it also refuses to appear as anything more than a hodge-podge of contrived comic characters in a contrived plot situation.

Matrimony Abounds

The play opens with Horace Vandergelder, a feed and grain merchant from Yonkers plagued by the impending marriage of his niece Ermengarde and a young artist, Ambrose Kempner. At the same time, Vandergelder has procured the services of Mrs. Dolly Levi (a sort of legitimate Polly Adler) in order to obtain a wife for himself. Unbeknownst to Horace, however, Dolly has secret designs of her own on the unaware miser. The plot is finally resolved with both aforementioned couples committing the marriage contract, with the addition of a third nuptial between a Mrs. Molloy (Vandergelder's ex-almost-affianced) and Cornelius Hackl (now partner of the newly philanthropic merchant). In the interim, which Wilder chooses to call Acts Two and Three, the audience is entertained by the antics of these characters, plus a few extrinsic psychopaths who weave themselves into whatever is left to weave themselves into.

Technical Success

For the Dramatic Society, The Matchmaker, despite the shortcomings of the play itself has shown that much can be done, when ingenuity and sensibility are present, to offset the burden imposed by the low financial budget allotted by the administration. This maturity helped make the show a technical success. The set, though slight in cost, was practical, colorful and in excellent taste. Though no colored or special spotlights were used, the lighting helped give a modest, almost professional air to the production.

Lauds Smith

In the performances of the players, consistently spotty showings by many of the cast held the play on an amateur level. Greatest kudos must be directly assigned to Peter Smith (though playing a minor role) for his portrayal of the affable, alcoholic, semi-philosophical Irishman, Malachi Stack. Smith remained natural and laughable every time he walked or (as the case later became) reeled on the stage.

John McGarry as Horace Vandergelder, the self-made man who could be remade by a self-made woman, was arrogant, often childishly awe-filled, and generally creditable and well received. As the female lead Donna Rago was adequate, but often a bit too busy in her movements. Donald Murphy's excellent facial expressions brought on Cornelius Hackl as a timid, wide-eyed adventurer in the big city. Hackl's love, Irene Molly, seemed underplayed by Joann Dynakowsky, while the milliner's employee, Minnie Fay, reversed the situation as Lorraine Birkholz upstaged too often for her own, and the play's welfare. Paul Norton (Ambrose Kemper) comes across so unassumingly that he seems the seducee, rather than the virile fiance of Kathleen Roos (Ermengarde).

Finally, a lesson has been pointed out which the Villanova theater might do well to keep in mind. It is better to produce a lesser work of art than to ruin a Great one.

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

THE DEAN YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Now in the waning days of the school year when the hardest heart grows mellow and the very air is charged with memories, let us pause for a moment and pay tribute to that overworked and underappreciated campus figure, your friend and mine, the dean of students.

Policeman and confessor, shepherd and seer, warden and oracle, proconsul and pal, the dean of students is by far the most enigmatic of all academicians. How can we understand him? Well sir, perhaps the best way is to take an average day in the life of an average dean. Here, for example, is what happened last Thursday to Dean Killjoy N. Damper of Duluth A and M.

At 6 a.m. he woke, dressed, lit a Marlboro, and went up on the roof of his house to remove the statue of the Founder which had been placed there during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 7 a.m. he lit a Marlboro and walked briskly to the campus. (The Dean had not been driving his car since it had been placed on the roof of the girls dormitory by high-spirited undergraduates.)

At 7:45 a.m. he arrived on campus, lit a Marlboro, and climbed the bell tower to remove his secretary who had been placed there during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 8 a.m. he reached his office, lit a Marlboro, and met with Derther Sigafoos, editor of the student newspaper. Young Sigafoos had been writing a series of editorials urging the United States to annex Canada. When his editorials had evoked no response, he had taken matters into his own hands. Accompanied by his sports editor and two copy readers, he had gone over the border and conquered Manitoba. With great patience and several excellent Marlboro Cigarettes, the Dean persuaded young Sigafoos to give Manitoba back. Young Sigafoos, however, insisted on keeping Winnipeg.

At 9 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with Erwin J. Bender, president of the local Sigma Chi chapter, who came to report that the Deke house had been put on top of the Sigma Chi house during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 10 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and went to umpire an intramural softball game on the roof of the law school where the campus baseball diamond had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 12 noon the Dean had a luncheon meeting with the president of the university, the bursar, the registrar, and the chairman of the English department at the bottom of the campus swimming pool where the faculty dining room had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates. Marlboros were passed after lunch, but not lit owing to the dampness.

At 2 p.m., back in his office, the Dean lit a Marlboro and received the Canadian minister of war who said that unless young Sigafoos gave back Winnipeg, Canada would march. Young Sigafoos was summoned and agreed to give back Winnipeg if he could have Saskatoon. The Canadian minister of war at first refused, but finally agreed after young Sigafoos placed him on the roof of the mining and metallurgy building.

At 3 p.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with a delegation from the student council who came to present him with a set of matched luggage in honor of his fifty years' service as dean of students. The Dean promptly packed the luggage with his clothing and Marlboros and fled to Utica, New York, where he is now in the aluminum siding game.

© 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

To the dean of students and all you other hard-working academic types, here's the new word in smoking pleasure from the makers of Marlboro—king-size unfiltered Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

Round Midnight

The Art of Discrimination

by Joe Zawacki

A casual glance at the TV listings last Saturday night found an old 1935 relic gracing the screen on the Late, Late Show. It was entitled "Hooray For Love" and it starred Ann Sothern, Gene Raymond, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, and "Fats" Waller. The picture itself was trite and cliche ridden but it had an air of grace to it and by the time the last note had been sung, the writer's mind had been activated into noting several things.

Many books and journals occupy much space in telling us how smart the present generation is compared to the one preceding us. Yet if we were to look at our entertainment values and standards with an objective eye, one seriously doubts the validity of this statement. Though this generation is supposedly better educated, it seems at times that perhaps the condition of the world and its pertinent affairs plus the fact that too much has been handed to us on a silver platter has taken away from the art of being discriminate.

Zawacki

A few months back, this column expounded on length on the current motion picture scene and the garbage that Hollywood is passing out for entertainment. Rather than be repititious, one example will suffice to renew the point and at the same time, indicate the problem. Last summer, the great Frank Sinatra, grand Lama, threw the audiences a curve with a ridiculous farce entitled "Ocean's 11," and the movie crowd bit like a hungry trout. The picture was enjoyable because businessman Sinatra placed some very attractive personalities in it who are past masters at entertaining. With that done, it was no problem to push the story past the adulating, star-struck public; a story with so many holes that it got the Swiss Cheese award for the year.

Now, our British cousins have come along with a gem under the title of "The League Of Gentleman" with Jack Hawkins, and to use a Sinatra-ism, "it's a gas." In fact, it's "Ocean's 11," this time done properly and by pros. However, the point still is that the public here bought "Ocean's 11" without question on the strength of the personalities involved. Sinatra, undoubtedly a great talent, is guilty of not producing according to his potential.

Since the picture, "Hooray For Love," was on the airwaves, the first thought was, "What a difference from the usual fare!" The average TViewer diets steadily on a mixture of westerns, violence, and sugary situation comedies. A diet which stilts the mind and deadens the nerve which produces discrimination in choosing. One of the highest offenders is the college student, who while he is being prepared for the responsibilities of adulthood, widens his posterior watching the likes of Maverick, the comedy (?) Wester (??), the Rifleman (who is really a philosopher in disguise), Sugar-rump (or something like that), and the worst of the lot, the "Un-stinkables" (who do). The last which is regularly passed off as fact, stopped being so after the tenth show and is now just an excuse to show violence on the screen. The mentality of the show is reflected in its audience.

Three shows which are of top-quality level, though not necessarily favorites of the writer, are Peter Gunn, Twentieth Century, and the Twilight Zone. Each show places the IQ of its audience above the sixth grade level and each sets out to stimulate the viewer's imagination.

Barnum said that there was one born every minute and more recently, columnist-author Robert Ruark said, in effect, the clods are only getting what they deserve. I disagree. I think that the public isn't stupid, just lax. Lax in choice, in being discriminate. Actually, no one can make a decision on anything until he has heard all the arguments completely. If this were being done today, there would be no R&R, no trash on TV no Hollywood "epics". There would be none because you, the public, would demand more quality. There would be none because you, the public, would be more discriminating. It's a mark of an adult.

VILLANOVA SINGERS

One of the more active and effective societies on the Villanova campus is the school glee club, The Villanova Singers. Under the leadership of Conductor, Herbert Fiss the Singers have become a closely-knit organization of approximately seventy-five members.

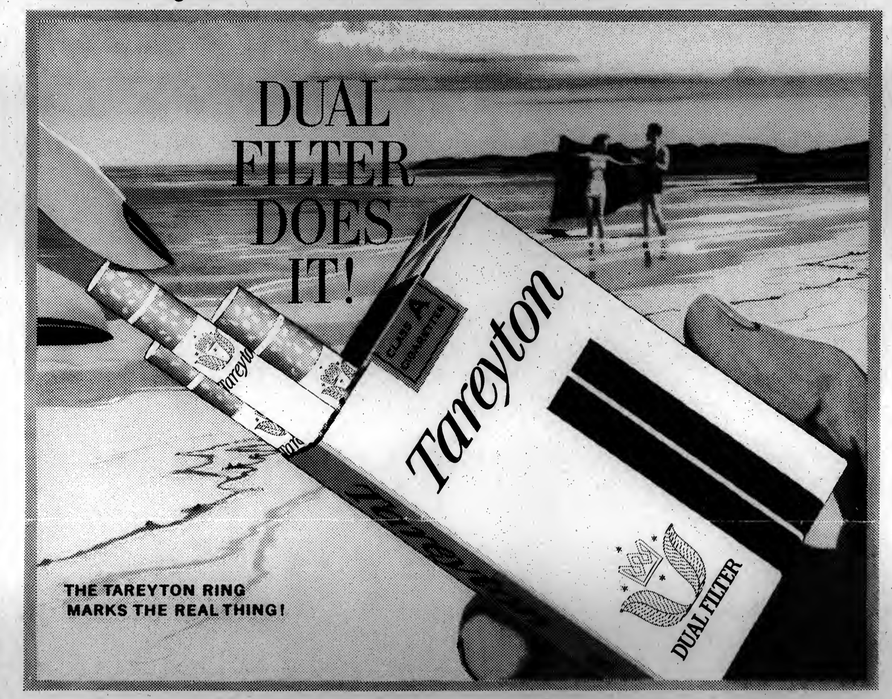
"The main purpose," asserted Guy Guarch, "is to afford an opportunity to students who think that they have a voice to sing and thereby develop any talent they might possess in this field. By its membership, the society also produces cultural stimulation by broadening the scope of its individual members and that of the audience. In addition it cultivates an appreciation for music as a means of expression."

Officers of the Singers are President Butch McNally, a senior Pre-Law major, Vice-President Jack Craig, and bursar-secretary Mike Fallon. Representing the club on Student Council is Tom Natal while Santo Aggalino acts as its Librarian.

Mandatory Practice

All members are obliged to attend a weekly average of seven hours practice in order to retain membership unless the absense is legitimate or resulting from extenuating circumstances.

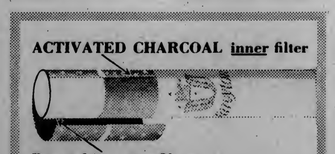
One of the events in which they have participated include the combined Christmas Production, with Rosemont, of Handel's Messiah.



The repetoire consists of negro spirituals, Latin music, madrigals, church music, various masses, and popular music.

In the next two months, the Singers will perform at Cabrini, Chestnut Hill and a dozen other concert trips at other colleges in the East. A select group of the society will, moreever, will appear on channel WRCV sometime in May.

RIVER STYX by JONIK



Tareyton delivers the flavor...

Here's one filter cigarette that's really different!

The difference is this: Tareyton's Dual Filter gives you a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL, definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth. It works together with a pure white outer filter—to balance the flavor elements in the smoke.

Tareyton delivers—and you enjoy—the best taste of the best tobaccos.

DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name" © A. T. Co.

Photo by Alan Williams

This shot of the Saturday afternoon action on Austin Field shows Villanova-Lacrosse player Charlie Craven making a stab for the ball. The white shirted (54) intruder is one of Saturday's opponents from C. W. Post of Long Island. Villanova Lost 8-2.

Bell Hopeful As Cat Gridders Begin 20 Day Spring Session

When the Villanova football squad started Spring practice last Thursday, at least one man felt more sure of himself than at the same time last year. This man is head coach Alex Bell, who stated quite unequivocably, "I'm better equipped this year if for no other reason than I know my players and our strengths and weaknesses, both individually and collectively."

The drills, which Bell hopes to stretch to May 6, will of course stress fundamentals. However, in addition, the Coach wants to try to improve the Pass offense and eliminate fumbles as much as possible. Also on the docket is the strengthening of the defense. "We had a high percentage of interceptions last season but in doing so we left our ground defenses too weak too often," stated the Coach. "The whole key," he said, "is in the reaction of the players, and more basically, their attitudes."

Stress will be on outside drills and no blackboard sessions are scheduled. Since the NCAA allows only 20 days for drills, Bell obviously hopes to get as much done as possible in that time which will make his task a little easier in August when practice starts in earnest. With a good head start, Bell is optomistic toward next year, when he hopes to surpass last season's 2-8 record.

Fulton Lewis III will deliver a lecture on the San Francisco riots tomorrow at 7:30 in Vasey Hall. Movies will be shown.

Baseball

(Continued from page 8)

play. The throw to first, however, was late and while Richie Richman hesitated momentarily, the lead Brandeis runner streaked for the plate. The consequent throw to the plate was high and the runner slid beneath the feet of catcher Al Wiegand. Manager Mike Mullen termed Kiley's first collegiate start as "a very sound performance."

In the Penn State contest, Coach Art Mahan selected Sophomore Wayne Walz for his starter. Waltz, however, ran into trouble in the sixth inning and was relieved by Pete Sapnar who allowed one hit in the inning and two thirds that he pitched. Fidalgo was called in to finish up the eighth and ninth and wrapped-up the last two innings with hitless ball.

Pen State used fifteen players including four pitchers trying to stop the Wildcat artillery. Third-baseman Don Melega and left-fielder Bill Platco both contributed triples to the eleven hit attack.

Boys Hustled

"All theboys hustled. Actually we owe our success to the fact that we outhustled the Penn State team," Mahan commented.

The pitching corps seems to have developed into a strong twosome with Fidalgo and Kiley showing exceptional control and stability. Candidates Wayne Walz, Joe Zawacki, and Pete Sapnar are contending for the other starting position.

A pair of sophomores, Jack Lynch and Dan Baier, form a "real good college double play combination" according to Mahan. Baier was switched from third to second last year to prepare for the 1961 season. Junior Don Melega and Sophomore football quarterback Richie Richman fill out the other infield positions.

With the schedule showing plenty of action in the next several weeks, Mahan will find out definitely about his team's prospects which, judging from the past four games seem to be much better than average.

Choose just the Jet-smooth Chevy you want in one stop at your Chevrolet dealer's

Here's the choice that makes choosing the new car that's right for you easier than ever. Thirty-one models in all—designed to suit almost any taste, priced to suit almost any budget. There's a whole crew of Chevy Corvairs, including thrifty sedans and coupes and four wonderful new wagons. Budget-wise Biscaynes—lowest priced full-sized Chevrolets. Beautiful Bel Airs, sumptuous Impalas and America's only true sports car—the Corvette. Drop by your Chevrolet dealer's and do your new car shopping the easy way—in one convenient stop.

New Chevrolet IMPALA SPORT COUPE

All five Impala models combine Body by Fisher beauty with a new measure of practicality. Door openings of this Sport Coupe, for instance, are over a half-foot wider this year.

New Chevrolet IMPALA CONVERTIBLE

Here's one wide open for fun and a lot of the fun is in Chevy's Jet-smooth ride. Add Turboglide transmission (extra-cost option) to this or any Chevy V8 for tops in easy going.

New Chevy Corvair 500
LAKEWOOD STATION WAGON

Loads of space inside—and still more in the trunk up front. And with all their wagon-size versatility, these rear-engine Lakewoods handle like a charm.

WIDE CHOICE OF
OK USED CARS, TOO!

More people are buying new Chevrolets than any other make. So your dealer's got a wide choice of OK Used Cars.

New Chevrolet BEL AIR 4-DOOR SEDAN

Priced just above the thriftiest full-sized Chevrolets, all four Bel Air models bring you beauty that likes to make itself useful.

Slimmer and trimmer on the outside; yet inside there's a full measure of Chevrolet's roomy comfort.

See the new Chevrolet cars, Chevy Corvairs and the new Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's!

Two approaches to the "man's deodorant" problem

If a man doesn't mind shaving under his arms, he will probably find a woman's roll-on satisfactory. Most men, however, find it simpler and surer to use Mennen Spray Deodorant. Mennen Spray was made to get through to the skin, where perspiration starts. And made to work all day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. How about you? 64¢ and $1.00 plus tax

Photo by Mike Pastore

Richie Richman Villanova's sophomore first baseman pulls his foot off the bag after making the touch. This action occurred in the Brandies Game which Villanova Won 6-1. The umpire in the background is Dan Smeddy of basketball fame.

Cat Nine Outshines Four Straight Rivals; Pitching Staff Holds

Amid all the recent upheavals and epochs in the Athletic Department of the past semester, only one factor has remained somewhat steadfast, the winning ways of the Villanova varsity baseball team.

The undefeated Wildcats, under the mentorship of Coach Art Mahan, ran their consecutive winning streak to four games by crushing a strong Penn State team 9-6 last Saturday. Penn State had been previously rated as one of the best in the east.

Worries about the supposed instability of the pitching staff now seem to have dwindled with the appearance of the encouraging performances of southpaw Phil Fidalgo and righty Mike Kiley. Fidalgo, the stalward of last year's NCAA team with an 8-3 mark, recorded his first two victories this season with impressive performances against Gettysburg and the University of Vermont.

In the opener at Gettysburg. Fidalgo shutout the Gettysburg club 3-0 while scattering six hits and stiking out ten. In the 1960 season, Fidalgo recorded 113 strikeouts in 83 innings to rank fifth in the nation with 12.3 strikeouts per game.

The Cats picked up their first home victory against the University of Vermont with Fidalgo gaining his second complete game and second victory in as many tries. Sophomore first-baseman Richie Richman paced the 12-4 triumph with four hits in five trips.

Plagued by inept fielding and the pinpoint control of Cat pitcher Mike Kiley, the Brandeis University nine succumbed to the much better prepared Wildcats. The only run to cross the plate against Kiley in the 6-1 victory was unearned.

With men on first and second and one down in the eighth, third baseman Don Melega fielded a grounder and started to send the ball around the horn for the inning-ending double

(Continued on page 7)

Kraft Named To Succeed Severance As Head Coach

Villanova University continued its penchant for making headlines in unorthodox fashion with the naming of Jack Kraft, local high school coach and official, as head basketball coach. The announcement came last Friday and the 40 year old St. Joseph graduate was given a 3 year contract. Financial terms were not disclosed.

The signing ended the long and sometimes comical efforts to land a worthy successor to Al Severance, who retired this season after 25 years at the helm of the Wildcats' basketball team. As it became apparent that Ed Scullin, former North Catholic coach, was not going to receive the job, applicants started coming in and the papers then became flooded with admissions, denials, and counter-denials as one name, then another, was tossed into the ring.

Jack Kraft

Ironically, despite the "name" coaches that were mentioned, the mantle eventually fell on a man who makes his home in Wayne. Kraft, at the signing, was employed at Malvern Prep where he was baseball and basketball coach in addition to officiating both sports. He will continue his duties there until June while at the same time, starting his work at Villanova.

The new coach gained recognition in this area with his handling of basketball teams at Southeast Catholic, later Bishop Neuman where his teams won championships in 1948 and 1954.

While he was in the service, he worked with Eddie Rickey, the famed St. Louis University coach now at Marquette. Kraft credits much of his theories and thinking to the lessons he learned while with Hickey. Kraft is known in the sport as a fundamentalist and stresses team play over individual efforts. His Neuman teams were characterized by their hustle and won many games by sheer pressure on their opponents. When a player didn't hustle, it wasn't long before Kraft had him on the bench.

With his acceptance, Scullin immediately resigned amidst numerous rumors. Kraft will pick his own assistant but as yet, he has not indicated who it will be.

their choice and Jack Kraft, with a solid and favorable basketball reputation, becomes Villanova's first new basketball coach in 26 years.

Elliott To Mentor U.S. Track Forces At Moscow In July

James F. Elliott, '35, head track coach at Villanova, has recently accepted the position of head track coach of the United States track team for the dual meet with Russia in Moscow July 14 and 15.

Elliott was elected by coaches from across the country from a select field to head Uncle Sam's thinclads. Assisting "Jumbo" will be Ollie Jackson of Abilene Christian College.

Elliott stated that the berths for this team will be gained by placing first or second in the National A.A.U. championships this summer. He will also be permitted to select two men from each of the 100 and 400 yard dash fields to compete in the 440 yard and one mile relay teams respectively.

Wildcats Open Season Saturday At Quantico

by Bob Larkin

Villanova's Wildcat thin clads will open their outdoor season at the Quantico Relays on Saturday April 15. In their annual debut of the spring season, the Elliott men will test their team strength against the foremost college and athletic teams in the East.

Testing its muscles for the first time outdoors Villanova will limit its individual efforts while concentrating on the relay events. Perennial rivals, Morgan State and Manhattan will provide the competition in the mile relay while St. John's will join the Jaspers as the major hurdle in the Wildcat two mile relay aspirations. The Mainliners will also enter the 440 yard and four mile relay along with the sprint and distance medleys.

Raemore Anchors Mile

The 880 yard relay team will return to defend its title again this season. Last year with Bob Raemore running anchor the 'Cats turned the trick in 1:26.2. The mile relay unit will be out to improve on their second place finish.

Neither of 'Cats sprinters will be entered in dashes. Indoor standout, Frank Budd will forgo the 100 yard dash for the next few weeks. He will anchor the Villanova sprint medley team while Otis Drayton, 220 yard favorite will be used in the 440.

IC4A Champion, indoor and outdoor, Leon Pras, will attempt to better his fourth-place finish in the 100 meter high hurdles. Sophomore Charlie Hammock, who finished fifth last year will also compete.

Cruz vs. Bragg

Villanova's freshmen, having finished a highly successful indoor season, will now be given a chance to prove their weight outdoors. Olympian, Rolando Cruz, who cleared 15 feet three times indoors will be pitted against "Tarzan" Don Bragg. A '57 graduate, Bragg is still shooting for the magic height of 16 feet. Cruz came within a fraction of an inch of clearing 15 feet in Rome last summer, and has made it official this year.

Two mile pacesetter Vic Zawalick will be back on familiar ground at Quantico. He will lead the field of two milers and may possibly anchor the freshmen four mile relay team.

Strong Weight Men

For the first time in years, Villanova will field a strong group of weightmen headed by Billy Joe, who set the Wildcat shot put mark at 55 feet 8 inches in the New York AC meet last February. He followed this effort up by copping the IC4A title with a throw of 54 feet 8 inches. Close behind him at 54 feet 3 inches was Jerry Donini, the second half of the 'Cats one-two-punch in the shot put. Sophomore Doug Kerr, a consistent 200 yard Javelin thrower, will get his chance at varsity competition this weekend.

Bob Coffil and Angelo Sivieri, both hampered by injuries are still possible entrants in the hurdles and 4 mile relay.

Penn State and Manhattan will both be at full strength for the meet. Powerful Michigan State along with Ohio State will lead the Big Ten entries, while Morgan State, Duke and Maryland will lead the Southern delegation.

NY Trip

The following week, Villanova will travel to Randall's Island for the Queens-Iona Relays and on April 29, the 'Cats will defend their long held mile relay crown at the Penn Relays in Philadelphia. May 12 the tables will be reversed as the Mainliners will get a chance to revenge last year's loss, hosting the Marines of Quantico.

Mugler Succeeds Chase As Sports Publicity Head

"Villanova is a growing university and much can be done by the Athletic Publicity Office to present the school in a true picture to the public as the school grows." Thus spoke K. Stanley Mugler, former Jazz Critic and sportswriter of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, last Tuesday, as he succeeded Joe Chase as Athletic Publicity Director of Villanova.

Ken Mugler

Ken, a 24 year old Philadelphian and graduate of Southern High, looks upon his new job as a "good opportunity" and due to his background of the past few years, starts his duties better prepared than most people.

After graduating from Southern in 1954, Ken obtained a job with the Bulletin as assistant to the Personnel Manager which he filled for three years. One of his main duties there was to edit the company magazine which was published every month. A six-month stint with Uncle Sam at Fort Knox was followed by a return to the Philly paper where he filled an opening in the Sports dept., becoming one of Bob Vetrone's proteges.

As Ken puts it, "This opening gave me a chance to meet some of the poeple that I will be in constant contact with in Philadelphia sports matters and it was here that I met Al Severance, who was especially kind to me when I was starting out, along with some other prominent people connected with Villanova."

Villanovan

VOL. 36 No. 19 | VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. | APRIL 19, 1961

"Operation Abolition" Attracts Record Crowd

"Operation Abolition," the highly controversial anti-Communist film presented as the year's first Student Council Forum, scored a significant success on campus last week.

With the movie, the Council presented a brief lecture and extensive question and answer period by Fulton Lewis III, former research analyst for the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC) who is currently on tour with the film.

"Operation Abolition" concerns the riots, purportedly under the direction of known Communist agitators, staged by college students in San Francisco, Cal., during hearings of the HUAC on May 12, 13, and 14, 1960.

Film Scrutinized

Opponents of the film contended that under the technical direction of Mr. Lewis, the film's editors distorted the importance and violence of the riots to overplay the extent of Communist infiltration in the United States and the necessity for retaining the Un-American Activities Committee as an anti-Communist weapon. Critics of the film and of the HUAC contend that the Committee engages in "witch hunting" and deprives citizens of their constitutional right to an unsullied personal reputation.

By 7:30 p.m., when "Operation Abolition" was to begin, Vasey Hall Auditorium was filled to overflowing with a crowd of students and faculty members from a number of near-by colleges.

By the time Lewis arrived, the mood of the audience was noticeably antagonistic to the Conservative point of view, but Lewis' brief address and the impact of the film itself succeeded in arousing most of the latent anti-Communist sympathy of the audience.

The Liberal opponents of the HUAC attempted to offset the favorable effects of the glm and speech by advancing a carefully pre-arranged argument in the form of questions. Their argument was that the HUAC sponsored the documentary film as part of a "last-ditch effort."

(Continued on page 3)

Usual Maudlin Mood Absent In New Lynx; Sales Set For May 1

Vince Kirk and Michael Wesley, co-editors of the Lynx, announced that the spring edition of the Lynx, the campus literary magazine, will go on sale May 1, Mother's Day of Junior Week.

The cover by Joe Ruggeiro will be displayed on campus bulletin boards two weeks in advance of publication. This issue will be approximately 64 pages and will feature two conflicting reviews of Exodus, a contemporary novel by Leon Uris.

Exodus Reviews

These two reviews are written by Villanovan's who represent the two conflicting ethnic groups.

Kirk and Wesley also announced that Frank Murphy has succeeded Bill Speers as Layout Editor.

The editors went on to say that the poetry in this issue shows more artistic ability than past issues have demonstrated. The depressive mood created in past Lynx's is noticeably absent both in the poetry and short stories.

Photo by Andy DaPuzzo

A moment of glory . . . just after the presentation of the queen of the Senior Prom, Janet DeMaine. Her escort, Frank Kelly, and Gary Susnjara, Prom m.c., look on.

Photo by Joe McCarthy

Tony Bateman represents Villanova, and Joe Breen represents Immaculata (?) at the ICG convention, held at Harrisburg, while Bill Lewis, Theda Sliwkowski, Jack McAteer, and Bill Radmacher, look on.

ICG Convention Success; McAteer Touts Rademacher

Highlighted by the heated debate of irate delegates, the intricate mechanics of politics, and the amicable feelings of individual delegates toward one another, the Intercollegiate Conference on Government commenced its twenty-fifth annual convention in the state's capital of Harrisburg last Thursday.

Surrounded by the imposing architectural beauty of the capital buildings, meetings and assemblies were conducted in the same fashion as if the actual state legislature were in operation. Attended by some 548 delegates from about sixty-three colleges in Pennsylvania, the convention proved both educational and enjoyable.

United Delegation

A united and impressive Villanova delegation of twenty-two members under the persuasive tact and leadership of its Chairman and President, Jack McAteer, exerted itself in attempting to push all of its policies into effect. Although the Southeast region failed to capture the Speaker's post, McAteer's ability to organize his group and to argue for next year's Villanova delegation in the regional and state caucuses proved successful in gaining several posts and bills accepted.

The opening session was called to order by the temporary Chairman, Mary Weiss of Immaculata. Following the call to order, the Rev. Robert Welch, OSA, Assistant Dean of the Arts and Science division of Villanova, delivered the invocation to the assembly. The main speaker of the opening session was Gov. David A. Lawrence of Pennsylvania.

Nominating the Southeast Region's candidate for clerk, Anthony G. Bateman, a junior Philosophy major startled the assembly with his oratorical ability. "In the opinion of several delegates from other schools," asserted Ed McCaffrey, a member of the Villanova delegation, "the speech was the most-talked-about, the best received, and gave the convention

(Continued on page 10)

Zawacki Hosts WWVU New All-Star Jazz Show

On Thursday, April 20, Radio Station WWVU will present its second annual edition of "The All-time All-star Traditional Jazz Orchestra." The idea, conceived by WWVU Jazz disc jockey Joe Zawacki last year, is based on the annual Down Beat Poll results, with the difference being that instead of modern artists being represented on the show, Zawacki will play historical Jazz originals of some of the famed musicians who were prominent and, in many instances, famous during the 20's and 30's.

O'Mara Pleased

Station Manager Dan O'Mara cited the show "as one of the many examples of fine programming that WWVU brings to the Villanova student every day during the school year."

This special edition of the station's popular Jazz Suite will run from 9:00 P.M. to 11:00 P.M. instead of the usual hour, in order to afford enough time to play recordings of all the artists being represented. The framework of the all-star band is taken from Benny Goodman's highly successful formula of the 1930's. Sixteen Jazz greats will occupy four trumpet chairs, five reeds, three trombones, and a rhythm section of piano, bass, guitar and drums.

Noted Zawacki: "Since the selections are arbitrary and open to discussion, the most representative recordings available will be played in order to show justification for the artist's selection. The success of last year's show and also of the Down Beat Show in December made Dan and I feel that an encore was in order."

Administrators Drop Plan To Change Exam Sched.

"For the present, at least, there will be no departure from current practice as to the time of administering examinations (including those in religion), except that all examinations are to be conducted during the examination period specified in the University Bulletin for the various classes. (For Spring, 1961: Juniors and Seniors, May 22-27; Freshman and Sophomores, May 26-June 3)." So stated the official communication received by this paper from the Office of Academic Affairs. The release continued, "It should be noted for the record that expressions of opinion concerning the elimination of a special examination period were received as follows in the office of academic affairs: 9 from individual faculty members; 2 from the faculty of departments as a whole; 33 from individual students; 647 from students variously grouped. Except for the opinion of one faculty member—opinions of administrators are not included in the count—all were adverse.

Faculty Says No!

"A good many opinions were based on the assumption that only the final week of a semester would be open for examinations, and that there would be no control of the number of examinations a student might have to take on a given day. The difficulty that would be encountered in administering departmental examinations occasioned most other negative responses. A few were based on the drawback that would be entailed in not having a single examination of extended length."

NROTC Paper Acts To Secure Necessary Funds To Publish

Midshipmen 2-c Joseph J. Willmott has announced that steps have been taken by the staff of the new NROTC newspaper to secure the necessary advertisements to finance the paper. Also, a plan has been introduced whereby the cost of publication will be greatly reduced. Both of these considerations have not fully materialized.

In addition to the steps being taken above, a definite commitment was received by the NROTC Recreation Committee for funds to be used by the newspaper.

The first publication is scheduled to be printed within the next three weeks.

Theatre Department And "Fairs" To Join For Summer Course

Villanova University announced plans this week for the introduction of a unique new course in its theater department curriculum for the coming summer session.

Under the direction of Professor Richard Duprey, Chairman of the University's Theater Department, Villanova will join with the Valley Forge Music Fairs, Inc. to present a ten week course involving educational instruction and on the job training for interested students.

Four Credits

This unique combination of educational and professional theater will seek to train students in theater administration, technicalities of production and acting, costuming and press relations. By attending class and seven seminars at the Valley Forge Tent theater during the summer period a graduate student may obtain 4 credits on the graduate level. Undergraduates with the approval of their deans may also receive credit toward an undergraduate degree.

The program will begin this summer at the Valley Forge Summer Theater on an experimental basis. Teaching will be done by members of the Villanova theater department and members of the Valley Forge Summer Theater staff.

"Goodness what beautiful diamonds!" "Goodness had nothing to do with it" A sneak shot of some of the cast from Turf 'n' Tinsel as they run through one of the first dress rehearsals in the Field House for "Southern Comfort." From left to right; Ted Burke, Mike Kane, Jim Shiels, and Mike Tighe. The show will be presented from the 28th to the 30th of April. On Sunday night mother's participating in Junior Week will be admitted free.

Stack Announces New Method for Languages

The Modern Language Department under the Chairmanship of Dr. Edward M. Stack will sponsor "Language Laboratory Techniques". The new course will be held Monday through Friday at 10:30 during the summer session and is available to modern language teachers and teachers in training. Two credits will be awarded upon completion of the course.

This summer course in Language Laboratory Techniques is designed for teachers and students preparing to teach foreign languages. It will acquaint them with the theory and development of the language laboratory, the physical arrangements possible, the administration of a laboratory, integration of laboratory materials with classroom presentation, and the preparation of pattern drills and other drills specific to the laboratory.

Methods of testing and other methodological questions will be taken up. The material covered will be substantially that covered in NDEA Institutes, although Villanova's program is independent and concentrated.

Students will have lectures, practical problems, and practice time in the Laboratory, which will be open daily so that students can become familiar with its operation and make use of the facilities in preparing materials for the classroom and seminar treatment of language laboratory techniques.

Admission to the course will be through the usual channels, by application to the Director of Summer Session.

ACES Offers Seniors Opportunity To Meet Industrial Leaders

Members of the Senior Class are invited to meet personally and to question top leaders from various fields of industry of the Philadelphia area during a panel discussion program on April 27. Presented under the auspices of ACES (Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System, Inc.), the forum will be held at 7:30 p.m. in room 110 of the Commerce and Finance Building.

A private reception and dinner for panel members and University officials will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall.

ACES is a non-profit, non-political citizen's organization operating in the field of economic education. It is designed to demonstrate the operation of our American business system to students and the public at large.

The panel will include the following corporate executives: Dr. F. Otto Haas, President of the Rohm and Haas Co., chemical manufacturers; Fred O. Hess, President of the Selas Corporation, representing the electronics industry; William F. Kelly, President of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co.; and W. Thacher Longstreth of Aitkin-Kynett, representing the advertising business.

The panel will be moderated by Curtin Winsor, Executive Director of ACES, and will discuss such topics as: Can the United States economy reduce unemployment, increase its productivity, and overcome the present recession? and is the continuation of the foreign aid program of the United States justified for reasons of national defense.

Hsu, Miller, And Klein To Attend Math Institute

Three members of the faculty of the Industrial Administration Department have been selected to participate in the Institute in Basic Mathematics, sponsored by the Ford Foundation. Dr. Ih Sen Hsu, Professor Robert E. Miller, and Dr. Walter H. Klein will attend the eight week summer session and the follow-up program. Staffing of the Institute will be the joint responsibility of the University of Pennsylvania's Department of Mathematics and the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce.

The material included in the summer session will be theoretical in nature and selected for its relevance to business problems. The follow-up part of the program will consist of a course in the business use of mathematical techniques. Topics will be considered from such areas as decision theory, linear programming, simulation and mathematical statistics.

Studied at Yale

Both Dr. Klein and Professor Miller have in the past participated in programs sponsored by the Ford Foundation. In 1958, Dr. Klein held a summer fellowship at Yale to conduct research in administration processes. In 1957, Professor Miller, then a member of the University of Southern California's faculty, spent a summer at Harvard in a Ford program devoted to an evaluation of the Harvard Case Method as an aproach to business education. In 1959, Dr. Hsu received an Economics-in-Action fellowship to Case Institute of Technology.

Old Spice
AFTER SHAVE LOTION
Refreshing antiseptic action heals razor nicks, helps keep your skin in top condition. 1.00 plus tax
SHULTON New York • Toronto

PORTRETTE

Crawford Sparks ENGINEER

The Editor of the Villanova Engineer is a Monsignor Bonner High alumnus, Paul Crawford, a senior with a novel but practical approach to his future.

Crawford, who is majoring in mechanical engineering must place some faith in the old adage: "There is nothing permanent but change," for this Student Council representative is defying convention. He has immediate aspirations of attending Law School here at Villanova. Engineering and Law are not recognized as a typical academic combination.

Paul Crawford

Crawford, who will pursue his career in either patent or corporation law, asserts that, "The opportunities today are tremendous for those having degrees in both law and engineering."

Two Frats

A resident of Drexel Hill, Pa., Crawford is an active member of three campus fraternities, two of which are Phi Kappa Pi, the large science and technical fraternity, and Pi Tau Sigma, the Villanova chapter of the national mechanical engineering honorary fraternity. He is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, the new honorary fraternity on campus having national affiliations.

Crawford announced that the Villanova Engineer will be distributed May 15. This is a magazine published, written, and put together by the undergraduate students. Contained within this engineering journal are outlines of the professions, feature articles, and three or four student-submitted articles of a technical or non-technical nature, in addition to Stolen Stuff, the engineers' humor column.

Crawford has "Always been interested in arts and engineering, but was unable to pursue both academically at Villanova." This did not hinder him in any way, for he has been busily engaged in extra-engineering activities, such as the Villanovan, the Academic Affairs Committee, the Religious Affairs Committee, and the Sanctuary Society. He eagerly awaits a multi-faceted future.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

BETWEEN CLASSES... get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by Philadelphia Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Mendel Bulletin Nears Completion As Lynch Sets Campus Date

The science students of the University are near completion of the Mendel Bulletin, their annual publication. Editor-in-chief Dennis Lynch, a Senior Biology major said, "the journal will come out around May 20th, and will feature a special story on the new science building." Lynch's subordinate editors are Alfred Carlson, Biology editor; and Francis McCormick, Physics editor.

The magazine's purpose is to provide students with experience in scientific writings and publications. It appeals mainly to physics, chemistry, and other science majors. Copies will be made available to undergraduate science students with the purpose of creating interest, and perhaps inducing individual projects in specific fields.

Circulation will be extensive, including Scandanavian, Iron Curtain and other foreign countries as well as in the United States.

Law School Achieves 100% In Bar Exam

Villanova Law School has a 100% record on the Pennsylvania Bar Exam for January 1961 the State Board of Law Examiners announced.

All graduates of the Villanova University School of Law were successful thus giving the Law School a passing average of one hundred per cent on this examination.

This achievement strengthens the fine record which the School of Law has won not only in this state but in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Delaware, the District of Columbia and elsewhere.

Junior Dinner Dance Slated For Sheraton

On May 6, the Annual Junior Dinner Dance will be held in the main ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel. This event will both highlight and climax the Junior Week festivities.

Dinner which will be served at 7:30, will last until approximately 9 p.m. After the dinner the Queen of the Dinner Dance will be chosen by the judges. Paul Judge and his orchestra will then provide music until one o'clock.

There will be table reservations of four couples at a table. Juniors are urged by the committee to plan their groups as soon as possible in order to have reservations ready when tickets sales begin.

Fulton Lewis

(Continued from page 1)

resist attempts to abolish it on the ground that it had proven, not only legislatively worthless, but dangerous to the liberty of American citizens.

Lack of documentation sufficient to oppose Mr. Lewis' formidable array of facts, figures, and reports, and an unfortunate betrayal on the part of the questioners of antagonistic spirit which adversely affected the non-committed majority of the audience, notably diminished the effect of their argument.

Photo by Miky Pastore

"Under the clock at the Biltmore," the ads all say Villanova Seniors met under a far more famous clock Friday. BIG BEN in the background was the focal point of the Senior Prom, whose theme was "London in Love."

Heidingsfield Addresses Amer. Marketing Assoc.

Dr. M. S. Heidingsfield, Associate Dean of Commerce and Finance, addressed the Second Annual Southeastern Conference of the American Market Association held in Atlanta, Georgia on April 12.

Dr. Heidingfield spoke on the "Relationship of Forecasting to the Marketing Plan." He indicated that no successful business organization ever undertakes a marketing program without constructing a structured marketing plan covering such elements as advertising and promotion expenditures, merchandising objectives, and delineation of model mix if consumer products are involved. Moreover, the plan must include methods for measurement of the effectiveness of the program so that appropriate required revisions can be made as the program goes into effect.

Market Potential

Dr. Heidingsfield's major point was that none of this can be undertaken intelligently unless there is a basic and accurate economic and sales forecast which will indicate potential market penetration of a product or products by region or area. The detail of the forecast not only sets the base line for setting up raw material budgets, investment programs, facility planning and inventory controls but becomes the cornerstone for the marketing activity which takes formal shape in the marketing plan.

These interrelated operations in business are part of the functions of the marketing research department and the results become the basis for management operating policy and decision.

Dr. Heidingsfield was introduced to the Conference by Mr. William B. Scott, Vice President of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

'61 Alumni Reunion Program Planned

The Alumni House, which is located across from Mendel Hall, is the scene for all the preparations that are made to unite the former Villanova students together. Guided by the efforts of Executive Secretary George J. Pequignot and Coordinator David A. Rafferty, the 1961 Alumni Reunion Program is now completed.

The dates for the reunion are June 9, 10, and 11. Space has been reserved for every alumnus even though it will be a special occasion for the classes of '26, '31, '36, '41 '46, and '56. The program committee chaired by Frank Conroy has arranged the weekend's activities.

Golf Tourney

The annual Golf Tournament to be held at Valley Forge Country Club should be underway by nine o'clock on Friday, June 9. Following the tournament, a traditional Jamboree in the Field House will present reviews of the football, baseball, and track seasons, with pictures and discussions by the respective coaches.

The highlight of Saturday afternoon will be a Rugby match between Villanova's team and another from Westchester, New York. Also on Saturady will be the Class Luncheon, preceeded by cocktails, to be followed by a seminar.

The reunion will give the older alumni the opportunity to see the 26 million dollars worth of new buildings that have been erected on campus within recent years. "All alumni who intend to attend should mail in their registration as soon as possible," Pequignot said.

Physics Club To Hold Communion Breakfast

The Annual Communion Breakfast of the Physics Club and the Chemistry Society will be held on Sunday, April 23. The group will attend nine o'clock Mass in the University chapel followed by a breakfast at Stauffer's restaurant in Wynnewood. Dr. Robert S. O'Shea, the philosopher, will be the guest speaker.

Physics, chemistry or mathematics majors interested in this affair should contact Al Casilla, president of the Physics Club.

Administrators Drop Plan To Change Exam Sched.

"For the present, at least, there will be no departure from current practice as to the time of administering examinations (including those in religion), except that all examinations are to be conducted during the examination period specified in the University Bulletin for the various classes. (For Spring, 1961: Juniors and Seniors, May 22-27; Freshman and Sophomores, May 26-June 3)." So stated the official communication received by this paper from the Office of Academic Affairs. The release continued, "It should be noted for the record that expressions of opinion concerning the elimination of a special examination period were received as follows in the office of academic affairs: 9 from individual faculty members; 2 from the faculty of departments as a whole; 33 from individual students; 647 from students variously grouped. Except for the opinion of one faculty member—opinions of administrators are not included in the count—all were adverse.

Faculty Says No!

"A good many opinions were based on the assumption that only the final week of a semester would be open for examinations, and that there would be no control of the number of examinations a student might have to take on a given day. The difficulty that would be encountered in administering departmental examinations occasioned most other negative responses. A few were based on the drawback that would be entailed in not having a single examination of extended length."

NROTC Paper Acts To Secure Necessary Funds To Publish

Midshipmen 2-c Joseph J. Willmott has announced that steps have been taken by the staff of the new NROTC newspaper to secure the necessary advertisements to finance the paper. Also, a plan has been introduced whereby the cost of publication will be greatly reduced. Both of these considerations have not fully materialized.

In addition to the steps being taken above, a definite commitment was received by the NROTC Recreation Committee for funds to be used by the newspaper.

The first publication is scheduled to be printed within the next three weeks.

Theatre Department And "Fairs" To Join For Summer Course

Villanova University announced plans this week for the introduction of a unique new course in its theater department curriculum for the coming summer session.

Under the direction of Professor Richard Duprey, Chairman of the University's Theater Department, Villanova will join with the Valley Forge Music Fairs, Inc. to present a ten week course involving educational instruction and on the job training for interested students.

Four Credits

This unique combination of educational and professional theater will seek to train students in theater administration, technicalities of production and acting, costuming and press relations. By attending class and seven seminars at the Valley Forge Tent theater during the summer period a graduate student may obtain 4 credits on the graduate level. Undergraduates with the approval of their deans may also receive credit toward an undergraduate degree.

The program will begin this summer at the Valley Forge Summer Theater on an experimental basis. Teaching will be done by members of the Villanova theater department and members of the Valley Forge Summer Theater staff.

"Goodness what beautiful diamonds!" "Goodness had nothing to do with it" A sneak shot of some of the cast from Turf 'n' Tinsel as they run through one of the first dress rehearsals in the Field House for "Southern Comfort." From left to right; Ted Burke, Mike Kane, Jim Shiels, and Mike Tighe. The show will be presented from the 28th to the 30th of April. On Sunday night mother's participating in Junior Week will be admitted free.

Stack Announces New Method for Languages

The Modern Language Department under the Chairmanship of Dr. Edward M. Stack will sponsor "Language Laboratory Techniques". The new course will be held Monday through Friday at 10:30 during the summer session and is available to modern language teachers and teachers in training. Two credits will be awarded upon completion of the course.

This summer course in Language Laboratory Techniques is designed for teachers and students preparing to teach foreign languages. It will acquaint them with the theory and development of the language laboratory, the physical arrangements possible, the administration of a laboratory, integration of laboratory materials with classroom presentation, and the preparation of pattern drills and other drills specific to the laboratory.

Methods of testing and other methodological questions will be taken up. The material covered will be substantially that covered in NDEA Institutes, although Villanova's program is independent and concentrated.

Students will have lectures, practical problems, and practice time in the Laboratory, which will be open daily so that students can become familiar with its operation and make use of the facilities in preparing materials for the classroom and seminar treatment of language laboratory techniques.

Admission to the course will be through the usual channels, by application to the Director of Summer Session.

ACES Offers Seniors Opportunity To Meet Industrial Leaders

Members of the Senior Class are invited to meet personally and to question top leaders from various fields of industry of the Philadelphia area during a panel discussion program on April 27. Presented under the auspices of ACES (Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System, Inc.), the forum will be held at 7:30 p.m. in room 110 of the Commerce and Finance Building.

A private reception and dinner for panel members and University officials will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall.

ACES is a non-profit, non-political citizen's organization operating in the field of economic education. It is designed to demonstrate the operation of our American business system to students and the public at large.

The panel will include the following corporate executives: Dr. F. Otto Haas, President of the Rohm and Haas Co., chemical manufacturers; Fred O. Hess, President of the Selas Corporation, representing the electronics industry; William F. Kelly, President of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co.; and W. Thacher Longstreth of Aitkin-Kynett, representing the advertising business.

The panel will be moderated by Curtin Winsor, Executive Director of ACES, and will discuss such topics as: Can the United States economy reduce unemployment, increase its productivity, and overcome the present recession? and is the continuation of the foreign aid program of the United States justified for reasons of national defense.

Hsu, Miller, And Klein To Attend Math Institute

Three members of the faculty of the Industrial Administration Department have been selected to participate in the Institute in Basic Mathematics, sponsored by the Ford Foundation. Dr. Ih Sen Hsu, Professor Robert E. Miller, and Dr. Walter H. Klein will attend the eight week summer session and the follow-up program. Staffing of the Institute will be the joint responsibility of the University of Pennsylvania's Department of Mathematics and the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce.

The material included in the summer session will be theoretical in nature and selected for its relevance to business problems. The follow-up part of the program will consist of a course in the business use of mathematical techniques. Topics will be considered from such areas as decision theory, linear programming, simulation and mathematical statistics.

Studied at Yale

Both Dr. Klein and Professor Miller have in the past participated in programs sponsored by the Ford Foundation. In 1958, Dr. Klein held a summer fellowship at Yale to conduct research in administration processes. In 1957, Professor Miller, then a member of the University of Southern California's faculty, spent a summer at Harvard in a Ford program devoted to an evaluation of the Harvard Case Method as an aproach to business education. In 1959, Dr. Hsu received an Economics-in-Action fellowship to Case Institute of Technology.

Old Spice
AFTER SHAVE LOTION
Refreshing antiseptic action heals razor nicks, helps keep your skin in top condition. 1.00 plus tax
SHULTON New York • Toronto

PORTRETTE

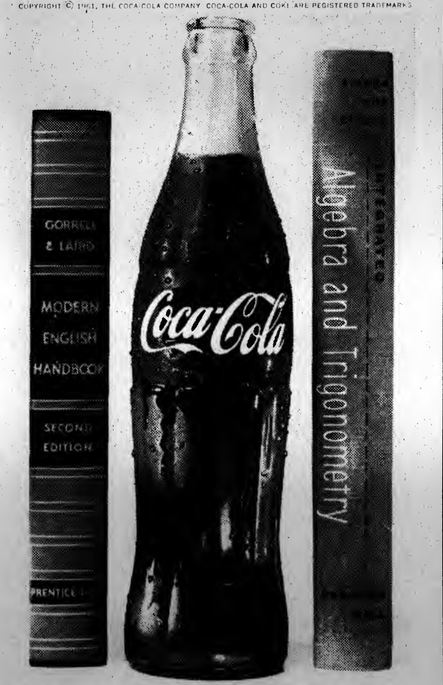
Crawford Sparks ENGINEER

The Editor of the Villanova Engineer is a Monsignor Bonner High alumnus, Paul Crawford, a senior with a novel but practical approach to his future.

Crawford, who is majoring in mechanical engineering must place some faith in the old adage: "There is nothing permanent but change," for this Student Council representative is defying convention. He has immediate aspirations of attending Law School here at Villanova. Engineering and Law are not recognized as a typical academic combination.

Paul Crawford

Crawford, who will pursue his career in either patent or corporation law, asserts that, "The opportunities today are tremendous for those having degrees in both law and engineering."



Two Frats

A resident of Drexel Hill, Pa., Crawford is an active member of three campus fraternities, two of which are Phi Kappa Pi, the large science and technical fraternity, and Pi Tau Sigma, the Villanova chapter of the national mechanical engineering honorary fraternity. He is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, the new honorary fraternity on campus having national affiliations.

Crawford announced that the Villanova Engineer will be distributed May 15. This is a magazine published, written, and put together by the undergraduate students. Contained within this engineering journal are outlines of the professions, feature articles, and three or four student-submitted articles of a technical or non-technical nature, in addition to Stolen Stuff, the engineers' humor column.

Crawford has "Always been interested in arts and engineering, but was unable to pursue both academically at Villanova." This did not hinder him in any way, for he has been busily engaged in extra-engineering activities, such as the Villanovan, the Academic Affairs Committee, the Religious Affairs Committee, and the Sanctuary Society. He eagerly awaits a multi-faceted future.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS.

BETWEEN CLASSES... get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by Philadelphia Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Mendel Bulletin Nears Completion As Lynch Sets Campus Date

The science students of the University are near completion of the Mendel Bulletin, their annual publication. Editor-in-chief Dennis Lynch, a Senior Biology major said, "the journal will come out around May 20th, and will feature a special story on the new science building." Lynch's subordinate editors are Alfred Carlson, Biology editor; and Francis McCormick, Physics editor.

The magazine's purpose is to provide students with experience in scientific writings and publications. It appeals mainly to physics, chemistry, and other science majors. Copies will be made available to undergraduate science students with the purpose of creating interest, and perhaps inducing individual projects in specific fields.

Circulation will be extensive, including Scandanavian, Iron Curtain and other foreign countries as well as in the United States.

Law School Achieves 100% In Bar Exam

Villanova Law School has a 100% record on the Pennsylvania Bar Exam for January 1961 the State Board of Law Examiners announced.

All graduates of the Villanova University School of Law were successful thus giving the Law School a passing average of one hundred per cent on this examination.

This achievement strengthens the fine record which the School of Law has won not only in this state but in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Delaware, the District of Columbia and elsewhere.

Junior Dinner Dance Slated For Sheraton

On May 6, the Annual Junior Dinner Dance will be held in the main ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel. This event will both highlight and climax the Junior Week festivities.

Dinner which will be served at 7:30, will last until approximately 9 p.m. After the dinner the Queen of the Dinner Dance will be chosen by the judges. Paul Judge and his orchestra will then provide music until one o'clock.

There will be table reservations of four couples at a table. Juniors are urged by the committee to plan their groups as soon as possible in order to have reservations ready when tickets sales begin.

Fulton Lewis

(Continued from page 1)

resist attempts to abolish it on the ground that it had proven, not only legislatively worthless, but dangerous to the liberty of American citizens.

Lack of documentation sufficient to oppose Mr. Lewis' formidable array of facts, figures, and reports, and an unfortunate betrayal on the part of the questioners of antagonistic spirit which adversely affected the non-committed majority of the audience, notably diminished the effect of their argument.

Photo by Miky Pastore

"Under the clock at the Biltmore," the ads all say Villanova Seniors met under a far more famous clock Friday. BIG BEN in the background was the focal point of the Senior Prom, whose theme was "London in Love."

Heidingsfield Addresses Amer. Marketing Assoc.

Dr. M. S. Heidingsfield, Associate Dean of Commerce and Finance, addressed the Second Annual Southeastern Conference of the American Market Association held in Atlanta, Georgia on April 12.

Dr. Heidingfield spoke on the "Relationship of Forecasting to the Marketing Plan." He indicated that no successful business organization ever undertakes a marketing program without constructing a structured marketing plan covering such elements as advertising and promotion expenditures, merchandising objectives, and delineation of model mix if consumer products are involved. Moreover, the plan must include methods for measurement of the effectiveness of the program so that appropriate required revisions can be made as the program goes into effect.

Market Potential

Dr. Heidingsfield's major point was that none of this can be undertaken intelligently unless there is a basic and accurate economic and sales forecast which will indicate potential market penetration of a product or products by region or area. The detail of the forecast not only sets the base line for setting up raw material budgets, investment programs, facility planning and inventory controls, but becomes the cornerstone for the marketing activity which takes formal shape in the marketing plan.

These interrelated operations in business are part of the functions of the marketing research department and the results become the basis for management operating policy and decision.

Dr. Heidingsfield was introduced to the Conference by Mr. William B. Scott, Vice President of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

'61 Alumni Reunion Program Planned

The Alumni House, which is located across from Mendel Hall, is the scene for all the preparations that are made to unite the former Villanova students together. Guided by the efforts of Executive Secretary George J. Pequignot and Coordinator David A. Rafferty, the 1961 Alumni Reunion Program is now completed.

The dates for the reunion are June 9, 10, and 11. Space has been reserved for every alumnus even though it will be a special occasion for the classes of '26, '31, '36, '41 '46, and '56. The program committee chaired by Frank Conroy has arranged the weekend's activities.

Golf Tourney

The annual Golf Tournament to be held at Valley Forge Country Club should be underway by nine o'clock on Friday, June 9. Following the tournament, a traditional Jamboree in the Field House will present reviews of the football, baseball, and track seasons, with pictures and discussions by the respective coaches.

The highlight of Saturday afternoon will be a Rugby match between Villanova's team and another from Westchester, New York. Also on Saturady will be the Class Luncheon, preceeded by cocktails, to be followed by a seminar.

The reunion will give the older alumni the opportunity to see the 26 million dollars worth of new buildings that have been erected on campus within recent years. "All alumni who intend to attend should mail in their registration as soon as possible," Pequignot said.

Physics Club To Hold Communion Breakfast

The Annual Communion Breakfast of the Physics Club and the Chemistry Society will be held on Sunday, April 23. The group will attend nine o'clock Mass in the University chapel followed by a breakfast at Stauffer's restaurant in Wynnewood. Dr. Robert S. O'Shea, the philosopher, will be the guest speaker.

Physics, chemistry or mathematics majors interested in this affair should contact Al Casilla, president of the Physics Club.

Opinion Heard

The announcement by the administration informing the student body of the cancellation of the proposal to drastically revise scheduling of examinations was received with relief.

The adverse opinion expressed by the faculty and the student body no doubt caused the cancellation. The administration is to be congratulated for its decision, inasmuch as only a comparative minority of students expressed this opinion formally.

When the proposal was first publicized, reporters from this paper and various Student Council members interviewed as many faculty members and students as was possible. Almost without exception, all were opposed to the proposed revision. Yet only a handful took the trouble to express their feelings officially.

This apathetic attitude has shown its face many times in the past, but with a matter which directly concerns the students. This time it was a more serious omission of expressed opinion.

To the University, we would like to extend our thanks for considering these unexpressed reactions.

To the student body, we would like to warn you that in the future when the opportunity presents itself as it did in this case, unless you say what you feel, no one will feel what you say.

SECOND AGAIN

Last week the United States again took it on the chin from the Reds in the controversial missicle race. The impact of our orbiting a man will be less significant when and if it is ever a reality.

Project Mercury, established under the Eisenhower Administration, was one of high goals and unknown means. Since his inauguration, we were second with our satellites, second in orbiting a living specimen, and now second in orbitin a man. Who is to blame this incompetence?

The entire concept of coexistence has showed our aggressiveness down. Is it then, policies of coexistence or policymakers? Eisenhower and his cabinet certainly must bear the brunt of the fault. But Mr. Kennedy is not himself devoid of blame.

An Executive Order is not something to have but rather something to be used in case of emergencies.

To survive today necessitates allies. Unless we can produce for our allies, they will not produce for us. Let us think that the people of the world will tire of Soviet propaganda by the time we launch our Astronaut.

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-chief ..... Daniel G. Grove
Associate Editor ..... Josephine Morello
Managing Editor ..... Edward Farrell
News Editor ..... Mark Quinn
Sports Editor ..... J. Edgar Lohr
Joseph Zawacki
Feature Editor ..... Joseph A. Massey
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editor ..... Thomas O'Connor
Format Editor ..... Ed Graham
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... John J. Janda
Circulation Manager ..... John Redding
Exchange Editor ..... Raymond Ritter
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

Leo Goodreau

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the Editor

The following letter is in reference to the editorial which appeared in the April 12, 1961 issue of the VILLANOVAN entitled "Americanism?" The editorial reply, printed in boldface type, is given on a point-by-point basis for the sake of brevity and clarity.

To the Editor:

I do not know of one shred of evidence to support damaging allegation made by the writer of last week's editorial in the VILLANOVAN entitled "Americanism?" concerning the John Birch Society. Every student should deplore such criticism especially when it is not grounded on fact.

The editor of this article is a purveyor of vicious slander to smear the John Birch Society on grounds that he has read Robert Welch's statements and knows all about the society and its objectives. This I am certain he has not done.

Webster defines slander as "defamation, oral or written; specifically, a false report maliciously uttered and tending to injure the reputation of another." The editorial was not defamatory, merely critical. It was based on uncontested, undenied reports in the public press. Such reports, if false, libelous, or slanderous are subject, by law, to forced retraction or litigation. No such action was forthcoming.

The author also wants us to believe that patriotic Americans who support the organization are being duped—when obviously it is only the editor himself who is steeped in falsehood. The fact is, Cardinal Cushing has publically and unmitigatedly endorsed the organization.

The editorial makes no reference to anyone's being duped. It states explicitly that certain well-known figures, including Cardinal Cushing, are "unaware of the possible effects of their support," and fail to see the dangers toward democratic ideals which are inherent in the Society's methods.

The author of this article makes it clear from the outset that "the right to libel and slander was not construed by the framers of the Constitution as falling within the right to freedom of speech," and very courageously proceeds to influence us with libel himself. Not having read any John Birch Society literature, or even hearing of Robert Welch, he suddenly arrives at what he believes to be truth from second-hand information embellished by his own over-heated imagination. Welch's statements being controversial or otherwise have never been published in volume to any American citizen, much less to any library, and thus, what the author claims to know, is nothing more that heresay and opinion.

The editorial makes no attempt at influencing anyone by libel which, according to Webster, consists in "tending to expose to public hate, contempt, or ridicule, without just cause or excuse." The VILLANOVAN, aware of the unfortunate existence of Robert Welch and of his statements as they are to be found undenied in the public press, printed the editorial with the purpose in mind of criticizing deservedly, not libeling maliciously, an organization whose methods infringe upon the rights and dignity of respected and patriotic American citizens.

To make use of Communist and liberal distortions, the VILLANOVAN is giving Communist Party U.S.A. the benefit of maximum mileage per gallon of smear (a goal of "Red" propaganda).

The editorial board rejects the reader's identification of Liberalism with Communism. Moreover, the article "smears" no one. It uses rationality and logic in postulating certain inconsistencies in an organization whose objective is compatible with Americanism but whose methods are not.

The editor seems horrified by the number of people who would defend their country by joining such an organization, but I would be horrified to think of the number of people who might take the editor's views seriously.

Walter J. Fetterer, '63

It is not the number of people who would defend their country which is horrifying but rather the possibility that those people, while attempting such a laudable and patriotic defense, might unwittingly aid in destroying the very same set of American ideals they seek to defend.

Cuba

Editor's note: The following is another in a series of articles written by free Cubans living in exile in the U.S. or Mexico. This article is by Dr. Manuel Antonio de Varona, Dr. Manuel Artime, Dr. Jose Ignacio Rasco, and Dr. Justo Carrillo.

In the name of the people of Cuba, whose eagerness for freedom is now-a-days canalized through the heroic underground, we constitute the Democratic Revolutionary Front. This movement is born in the very nature of the tragic Cuban situation. Here, in Mexico, (where the document was signed)we declare to America and to the world that the treason of the Guevara-Castro's regime to the original purposes of the Cuban revolution, obliges all Cubans with dignity to fight again.

It is not possible to forget and be neutral to a regime that has closed all idealogical debate, even on the university level; violated human rights; organized the most political army of America; made fun of constitutional and judicial principles; destroyed the national economy; thrown away the public funds in absurd projects; devalued the currency; done away with private property; monopolized production and commerce, imports and exports. This government has imposed terror and defrauded our fatherland with an anti-economical Agrarian reform that hasn't given land to the country-man but rather has submitted him to a status of slavery in communes, with salary lowered almost to half, and paid in tickets, that oblige him to go for consumption to the places owned by the state. In the international sphere a policy of aggressions and continuous attacks to democratic regimes has been maintained by the Guevara-Castro government and constantly has dishonored treaties signed with regional and world organizations. In an attempt to show the materialist character of the policies adopted, they have suppressed the name of God from the constitution of 1940.

But this is even more grave a problem if one considers the treason that applies to the Cuban people as a whole, because the people of Cuba wanted a democratic revolution and government when Guevara-Castro's regime imposed their totalitarian ways. Freedom of the press and all rights were promised, and today their is not a single free newspaper in Cuba and only one party is allowed, the Communist Party. It was sworn to convoke free elections within 18 months and today it is a meaningless term. It has proclaimed freedom of the unions and the truth is that the conquests of the lavor class have been destroyed. The word of honor was given to maintain a policy within our democratic and occidental allies, but instead our sovereignty has been sold to the Russian-Chinese imperialism trying also to provoke neighbor governments with the suicide desire of an intervention of foreign powers in our Country.

No change or rectification has been made but rather they have maintained themselves in their mistakes and treasons constituting a communist state which is a real danger to the peace, solidarity and democratic forms of government of America.

That is why we consider it a historical duty to constitute this Democratic Revolutionary Front to overthrow the dictatorship of Fidel Castro. The target is to re-establish in Cuba a democratic and representative system that will give back to the people the sovereignty, freedom and rights by the establishment of a provisional government that will change the "de facto" status to a state of right. We will provide for general elections within a term of 18 months with all guarantees of a real democratic system; only the Communist party will be proscribed as it attempts against the liberty and dignity of the human beings and the superior interests of the nation.

The Democratic Revolutionary Front will reestablish the constitution of 1940, with the best efforts at the same time to defend the social progress of our people. The Democratic Revolutionary Front will advocate the Social conquests of the working class and an Agrarian reform that may develop the national wealth to raise the rural population standards of living.

(Continued on page 12)

Round Midnight

"Connection" Commanding Drama

by Joe Zawacki

A dim lightbulb is the only source of light. On the stage, a group of men shuffle restlessly across the floor. They are somber characters, obviously in various stages of discomfort. Then, an argument erupts in the back of the theater and two figures make their way to the stage. As they take their argument to the stage, the audience finds that they are supposedly the author and producer of the play. In the course of their argument over the proper way to do improvised theater, the mock producer informs the audience how they decided to do a play on dope addiction with real addicts instead of actors, in order to gain more realism and to attain the true spirit of experimental theater.

Not Interested

Their argument continues but it is to no avail, as it soon becomes clear that the characters on the stage are interested not in the words of the author, nor in the methods of the producer, but rather in the one thing and only thing important to an addict, his connection.

This is the opening scene of "The Connection" running currently at the Hedgerow Theater in Moylan, Pa. (on Rose Valley Road, 1¼ miles from the Media Inn). As penned by Jack Gelber, it has no beginning, no end, no hero, and no moral. It goes against every convention of proper theater yet it has managed to run off Broadway for almost two years and has now received critical praise in its stay at Hedgerow.

Strong Play

Why? The answer is both simple and complex. Gelber has written a play which slaps the viewer across the face. He says he has no moral yet he commands the audience to listen to what he is saying. Since the play runs nearly three hours with intermission, the fact that he can hold the audience's attention attests to the power of his story.

Eight people sit in the room which is owned by Leach (Don Lorbett). He charges them to use his room while waiting for "Cowboy" (Melvin Outlaw), who is their connection. For this reason, they all hate him, but in a sort of passive way, which is the nature of the narcotics user. Also in the room are the philosophizing Solly (Ozzie Osterneck), the belligerent Ernie (Albert Parker), and a big strapping negro named Sam (Leon Lawrence Jones). With them are four musicians, also addicts, who burst into Jazz passages from time to time.

Useless Lives

Gelber makes no sympathy for any of these characters, nor is there any hope for them. Their whole existence is based on their connection who brings them their momentary respite from the world that they have cut themselves from. In his treatment of the characters and in the unsparing violence of the dialogue, the author paints a picture of the utter uselessness of the addicts' lives.

If the play is strong for those who are merely there to view it, imagine the effect it had on a viewer who has seen dope addiction and its effects in a jail and in a hospital. For although Gelber insists that there is no moral, the taste left in the mouth after watching "The Connection" is not quick to leave the system and would seem a strong deterrent to anyone looking for "a thrill."

Strong Cast

Director Bob Sickenger is the man responsible for tying together Gelber's loose ends and while he has not been perfect, he has been more than adequate. Fortunately, he has been blessed with a cast that works hard and the fruits of their endeavors are noticeable in their performances. Actor Jones especially is effective in his role. For those needing a jolt out of their complacent seats, "The Connection" is highly recommended.

SHORT SHOTS: Look for a fine movie opening at the Viking on April 28. Produced by former PMC publicist Walter Wood and Don Murray, who also stars, "The Hoodlum Priest" is the story of a St. Louis Jesuit, Father Dismas Clark, and his efforts to find a home for ex-cons needing rehabilitation. Wood's wife Cindi is also featured as the romantic lead in the St. Louis filmed drama. Interesting factual story.

RIVER STYX by JONIK

Villanova Professor Studies, Lectures, Writes In Old Dublin

by Josephine Morello

Studying, teaching, lecturing, writing—all of these are activities in which Mr. Joseph Ratigan has engaged during his stay in Dublin, Ireland. Mr. Ratigan, Associate Professor of English at Villanova, is currently attending University College of Dublin (U.C.D.) while on a Sabbatical leave from his duties here. He is working for his Ph.D., or D.Phil. as it is known in Ireland, in English Literature.

The D.Phil. degree requires a year of residence at the university of matriculation and is presented after publication of a thesis. The British degree seems to place more emphasis on research than its American counterpart.

Mr. Ratigan, who came to Villanova in 1948, received his A.B. from Notre Dame and his M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania.

He is writing his thesis on Frank O'Connor, the noted Irish author. He (Mr. Ratigan) developed an interest in Irish literature when stationed in Belfast with the armed forces during the war, and first read a short story by O'Connor seven or eight years ago.

Mr. Ratigan

The professor was sufficiently impressed by the story to take a year's leave in order to write what the Sunday Independent (Ireland) claims as "this first critical work on O'Connor."

Never Met

Mr. Ratigan and Mr. O'Conner have not met and probably will not do so in the near future. Ironically, while Ratigan is in Ireland searching for material on and by O'Connor, O'Connor is in the U.S. lecturing at Stanford University.

While working toward his doctorate at U.C.D., Mr. Ratigan is also lecturing on American literature during one of the three semesters of the Irish school year. He says that he finds his Irish students hungry for knowledge of American poetry and literature. (Sunday Independent, February 26, 1961).

Recently Ratigan addressed the Ireland-American Society on "Freaks or Types," a lecture about the character of the outstanding plays of Tennessee Williams, whom he considers "the finest living American playwright."

Villanova's professor, during his stay abroad, was interviewed by the Irish National Radio Company. He has met such literary

(Continued on page 6)

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf," "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," etc.)

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME

As Commencement Day draws near, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody—but everybody—is asking it. I mean I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus in America without somebody grabs my elbow and says, "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors, hey?"

This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by collegians who grab my elbow. Usually they say, "Hey, Shorty, got a Marlboro?" And this is right and proper. After all, are they not collegians, and, therefore, the nation's leaders in intelligence and discernment? And do not intelligence and discernment demand the tastiest in tobacco flavor and smoking pleasure? And does not Marlboro deliver a flavor that is uniquely mellow, a selectrate filter that is easy drawing, a pack that is soft, a box that is hard? You know it!

But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes. A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears green, a master of arts wears white, a doctor of humanities wears crimson, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow?

Well sir, to answer this vexing question, we must go back to March 29, 1844. On that date the first public library in the United States was established by Ulric Sigafoos. All of Mr. Sigafoos's neighbors were of course wildly grateful—all, that is, except Wrex Todhunter.

Mr. Todhunter had hated Mr. Sigafoos since 1822 when both men had wooed the beauteous Melanie Zitt and Melanie had chosen Mr. Sigafoos because she was mad for dancing and Mr. Sigafoos knew all the latest steps, like the Missouri Compromise Mambo, the Shay's Rebellion Schottische, and the James K. Polk Polka, while Mr. Todhunter, alas, could not dance at all owing to a wound he had received at the Battle of New Orleans. (He was struck by a falling praline.)

Consumed with jealousy at the success of Mr. Sigafoos's library, Mr. Todhunter resolved to open a competing library. This he did, but he lured not a single patron away from Mr. Sigafoos. "What has Mr. Sigafoos got that I haven't got?" Mr. Todhunter kept asking himself, and finally the answer came to him: books.

So Mr. Todhunter stocked his library with lots of dandy books and soon he was doing more business than his hated rival. But Mr. Sigafoos struck back. To regain his clientele, he began serving tea free of charge at his library every afternoon. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter, not to be outdone, began serving tea with sugar. Thereupon, Mr. Sigafoos began serving tea with sugar and cream. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter began serving tea with sugar and cream and lemon.

This, of course, clinched the victory for Mr. Todhunter because he had the only lemon tree in town—in fact, in the entire state of North Dakota—and since that day lemon yellow has of course been the color on the academic robes of library science.

(Incidentally, the defeated Mr. Sigafoos packed up his library and moved to California where, alas, he failed once more. There were, to be sure, plenty of lemons to serve with his tea, but, alas, there was no cream because the cow was not introduced to California until 1931 by John Wayne.) © 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

And today Californians, happy among their Guernseys and Holsteins, are discovering a great new cigarette—the unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander—and so are Americans in all fifty states. Welcome aboard!

You are cordially invited to use the facilities of ROSEMONT'S NEW LAUNDROMAT and FABRICLEAN CENTER featuring the first Westinghouse combination self-service dry-cleaning and laundry store, which will be available approximately April 24th, 1961.

ROSEMONT LAUNDROMAT
1247 Lancaster Ave.
Next to Mari-Nay Diner

Watering of "Sanctuary" Shows No Celluloid Ability

by Al LaMastra

In downtown Philadelphia a movie is being screened which, because of the lurid material involved and the box-office attraction of its stars, is proving to be a financial success, at least on weekends when bowling is considered too bourgeois and a movie is just the thing for the frantic femmes and fellas of south Philly. The celluloid in question is the 20th Century Fox production of Sanctuary, based on novels and a play by William Faulkner.

This film again shows us that this author's works are not fit material for screening (watered down versions of The Sound and The Fury, Long Hot Summer have proved this). Although the man's writings might be considered fine for mature adults who can handle lust-in-the-dust revelations of life off the beaten path in the old South, they can never be faithfully cinematically reproduced because too great an amount of bite and plot must always be deleted to appease the censors.

Royalty Collections

What is left is rarely enough to allow the author the privilege of royalty collections, but still manages to excite the easily-moved young audiences of today to the point that the villain is now applauded and the hero, for his righteous intentions, duefully hissed. My advice to Hollywood therefore is to give up their realism binge and return to the days of escapist musicals and comedies which, unlike their bloody successors, provided the audience with a maximum of entertainment no matter how bad they were. They might have been baroque, but never in the tastefully bad way exemplified by today's screen gems.

Getting back to our movie, Sanctuary is no more Faulkner than a book cover is a book. Shallowness personified, surface without substance, sex without meaning, and drama without depth or significance mark this merry-go-round. It is furthermore a long, boring, terribly rewritten montage of morally uninspiring anecdotes from fevered Faulknerian fiction, unfolded in suspenseless flashbacks to tell a tale as fantastic as those of the brothers Grimm.

Miriam Hopkins In '33

The 1933 Miriam Hopkins version of the same story at least had the distinction of being one of the first films axed by the newly - formed badly-needed Legion of Decency. The latest Story of Temple Drake follows the life of a Southern governor's daughter who was no lady. She became the consort of a Creole bootlegger (that's mild!), and her boozy-and-bawdy soaked fall, her belated repentence and her return to social grace form one of the worst films of the year.

LaMastra

Set in the 1920's, this Sanctuary is almost a parody of the rash of gaslight melodramas ground out during the forties and has been written, produced, directed and acted on that murky level. The cast includes Lee Remick (why not Tuesday Weld?), Yves Montand (the toughy with the traumatic convictions), Bradford Dillman (the perfect all-round male ingenue), and Odetta, who turns in the best performance of the lot, with Tony Richardson directing and Darryl's little boy prodigy, Richard D. Zanuck, producing.

Do the motion picture industry a big favor and let this picture r.i.p. in a dusty film can in a long forgotten vault where it belongs.

Campus Arts: Guys and gals beware! The funniest show to come to Villanova since last year's I Remember Mummy is in rehearsals in Villanova's gym. It's Turf 'N' Tinsel's latest belly full of laughs Southern Comfort (sounds delicious), to be presented during the last week of April on the Fieldhouse stage. Under the excellent direction of Betty Green the show is ready to whip up a storm and tear off the roof of the old gym. The songs, written along with the book by Villanova alumnus Bob Schiller, are the best yet, ranging from hauntingly beautiful ballads to wild and zany comic pieces in every size, tempo and shape. The choreography, under the leadership of Angel, will prove to rival that of any Hasty Pudding or Mask-and-Wig show ever produced, no matter how largely these shows are budgeted. Add to this the last minute ad-libs of cast and chorus members and Villanova's 200-plus acreage is sure to explode with laughter and the humming of catchy tunes for weeks to come. This is a must on anyone's list, especially if they are looking for an evening of good, clean, funfilled entertainment.

Sanctuary Society

Exemplifying the aims of a Catholic-educated youth and binding together the principles of Catholicism, the Sanctuary Society strives for an active participation from each of its members. This year, the membership of the society numbers about seventy-five.

Under the staunch leadership of its President, Jim Strazzella, the society is unknown to many on campus but, nevertheless, has an efficient and loyal membership. Among the President's duties are: the correlation of all the functions of the society, appointing the various chairmen of the committees, presiding over and conducting the meetings of the club, and assuming the obligation and responsibility for making its policy decisions.

Fr. Whitley

"We are also responsible," added Strazzella, "for the distribution of all the religious literature on campus. This would include, among other things, the First Friday reminders and the weekly Chaplin's bulletin; further, we offer general assistance during the retreat periods in the collection of attendance cards and the serving of the Masses and Benedictions. Our moderator, the Rev. Norbert Whitley (the University Chaplin), directs our efforts and assigns our activities."

In addition to President Strazzella, the society's officers are Vice-President Jim Furey and Secretary Tom Reiker, to whom Strazzella referred as "a fine and capable young man." Ordinarily, the position of Student Council representative falls among the duties of the president but since Strazzella is already a representative of his class, he relinquished his seat to Vice-President Furey.

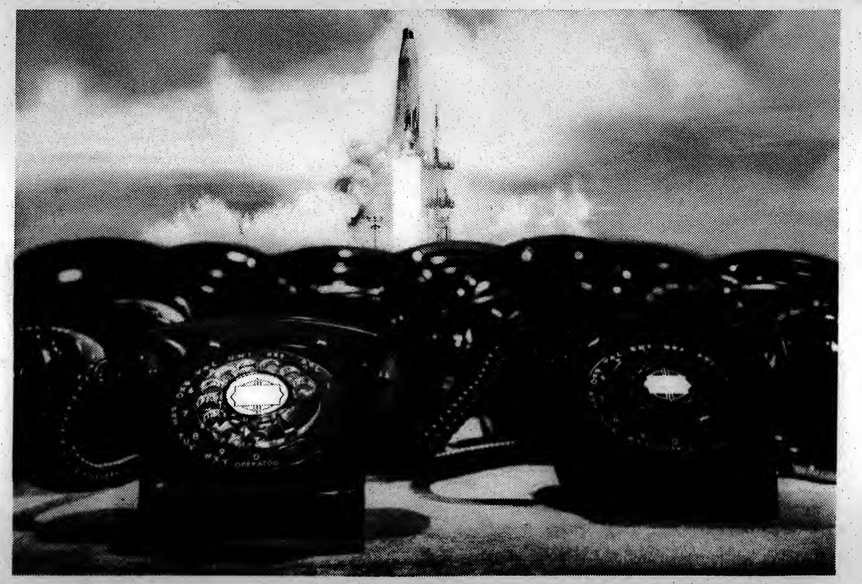
Assignments

As Student Council Representative, Furey handles the co-chairmanship of the Religious Affairs Committee along with Jack Craig. The secretary is responsible for the making and distribution of assignments for daily Mass in both the Monastery and the Chapel, Benediction, First Friday adoration, and other special religious ceremonies.

Each week, over thirty students serve the society in some capacity. In order to provide all students with the opportunity to join the Sanctuary Society, the Student Council now sponsors a program which will train all interested students to serve for the various religious functions.

Ratigan

(Continued from page 5)



figures as Honor Tracy and Sean O'Faolin and has had tea with Padraic Colum, the American (Irish-born) poet and dramatist.

Mr. Ratigan has stated that one of his greatest difficulties upon arriving at U.C.D. was to adapt to the Irish diet. In his move from Trenton, N.J., to Dublin, Ireland, the professor found Irish food different in many respects.

Bad Coffee

He was surprised by the elaborate Irish breakfasts which he encountered, and added that he discovered the reason for all the tea-drinking in Britain: the very bad coffee.

Villanovans may expect the return of their professor—who incidentally did not mention whether he's kissed the Blarney Stone—this June. He will arrive in time to resume his teaching responsibilities for the Summer School session.

Massive voice for a missile base

In America's space-age defense system, the order of the day is total, high-speed communications.

And at Vandenberg Air Force Base, as elsewhere, General Telephone & Electronics is carrying out the order with efficiency and dispatch.

Here the link to the system that mans the mighty Atlas missiles is a fully automatic 5,000-line dial telephone exchange. The "outside voice" that links the base with alert and command posts throughout the world is a multichannel microwave radio relay system capable of handling hundreds of telephone conversations, teletype messages and early-warning radar data simultaneously.

The communications equipment connecting Vandenberg Air Force Base with the outside was designed, manufactured and installed by our subsidiaries, Automatic Electric and Lenkurt Electric, and is operated for the government by General Telephone of California.

This advanced high-speed system is expressive of the way General Telephone & Electronics strives to serve the nation through better communications – not only for national defense, but for homes, business and industry as well.

GENERAL TELEPHONE & ELECTRONICS

SPCA is New Social Activity

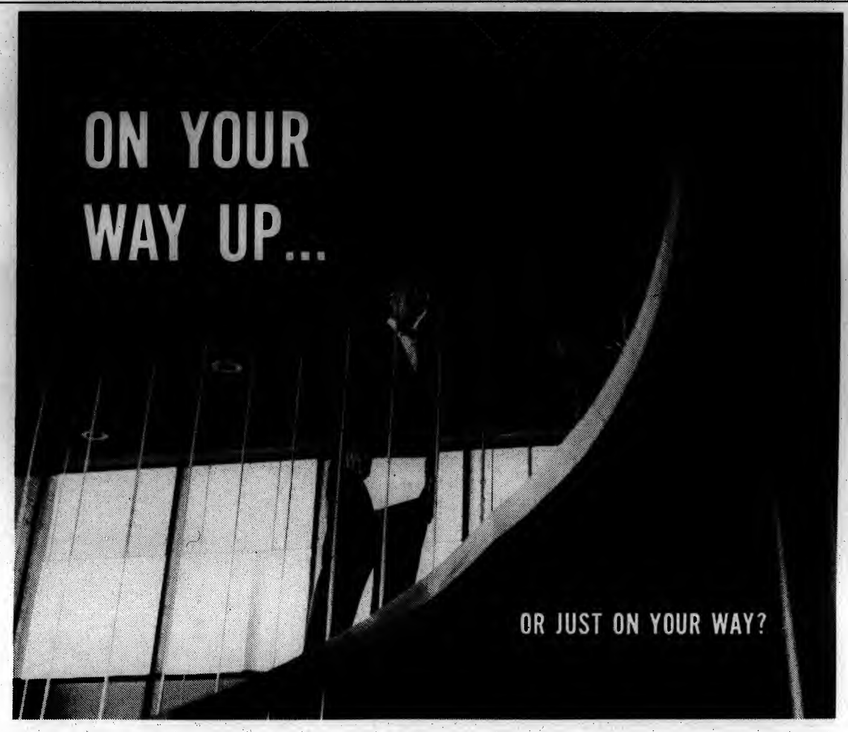
by George Welsh

The SPCA is not the same organization that protects the poor dumb beasts who are Man's pets and slaves; however, there are some parallels. It is "The Socialites Peace Corps of America", founded by the most social of all the socialites, President John F. Kennedy, and now the social activity for the New England college set. It's no wonder that the students of Villanova have had little or no concern for its objectives and development. After all, we are much too practical to be concerned with such an idealistic venture. Why, I once heard of a man who died as a consequence of a vicious attack on his idealistic underbelly.

Let us look at some of the proclaimed objectives of the Peace Corps. Its main goal is to educate the underdeveloped masses so that they may become like us. We just can't stand others not worrying about the same things we worry about. Such as: Will I be able to join the country club? Will the boss's wife and mine hit-it-off? Do we have enough TV sets and cars to be acceptable? Will I die if an H-bomb is dropped before I've paid the last installment ? ? ?

Formal Education Not Necessary

Happily, formal education is not necessary to living. However, I can say this; when one is formally educated he can do things in a bigger and more efficient way, like Hiroshima. It doesn't take an education to live, reproduce and die, but it does to kill efficiently. Why do we want to educate these people? In order to get them on our side, of course, so that when we speak softly, wow, look at our big stick! Did I say the program was idealistic?



Who will be members of the Peace Corps, and what will it be like? Girls from Smith and men from Harvard, possible some from Villanova, if they're adventuresome) will be the prime candidates for the corps. Have you met any girls from Smith? I know some of the Harvard men. Ah well! I'm consoled in that there will be a short training period before the full-fledged corpsmen will be loosed. How long will this training period be? About six months; just long enough to learn how to cure indigestion and "touriste", and how to say, "I Amelican", "Me? Live in that?" in the native vernacular.

The life of these Peace Corps volunteers will not be easy, says Sargent Shriver. He means that they will have to live like the natives, I quote, "There will be no glittering American ghettos." I know several foreign students who find life rather crude among us, spelled with a capital U.S.

For all its disadvantages the Peace Corps has one big claim, it's a great vote-getter. Also, it's fun thinking about everything it might do if the affair were handled intelligently. Just think of all the cocktail parties that could be arranged for the discussion of the S.P.C.A.

Now I don't want to sound as if I am entirely against the basic idea of the Peace Corps. Therefore I propose that the underdeveloped countries of the world establish their own Peace Corps, and send their representatives into the overdeveloped countries of the world to try and save these countries from themselves. I also propose that a small community, in dire poverty be maintained, just to remind future generations what a live human being looks like.

What do you say, students of Villanova?

CONVAIR/ASTRONAUTICS STARTS YOUNG ENGINEERS AND SCIENTISTS ON THEIR WAY UP IMMEDIATELY

Before you decide on your professional association, check the advantages of Convair/Astronautics.

- ✓ Check the programs – Atlas, Centaur, Midas, ARENTS.
- ✓ Check the facilities — new and modern in every respect.
- ✓ Check the generous tuition refund plan for advanced studies.
- ✓ Check the location – San Diego, a city of half a million, has the finest climate in the U.S.
- ✓ Check all the advantages of a career at "Astro" — with your placement office, or write to Mr. R. M. Smith, Industrial Relations Administrator-Engineering, Dept. 130-90, Convair/Astronautics, 5200 Kearny Villa Road, San Diego 12, California.

CONVAIR/ASTRONAUTICS

CONVAIR DIVISION OF GENERAL DYNAMICS
SAN DIEGO 12, CALIFORNIA

Counterpoint

QUINN QUERIES

by Mark F. Quinn, Jr.

There has been much controversy recently centered around a small clause of the First Amendment to the Constitution which stipulates that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. . ." More specifically this clause has been used by many as evidence against the inclusion of aid to private schools in the School Assistance Act of 1961.

The Kennedy Administration bases its opposition to such assistance on many factors. The chief of these seem to be comments rendered by the Supreme Court on cases involving the church-state relationship. In Everson v. Board of Education, 330 U.S. 1, the Court stated that 'No tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support religious activities or institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion.' Also in Zorach v. Clauson, 342 U.S. 306, the Court declared that 'Government may not finance religious groups.'

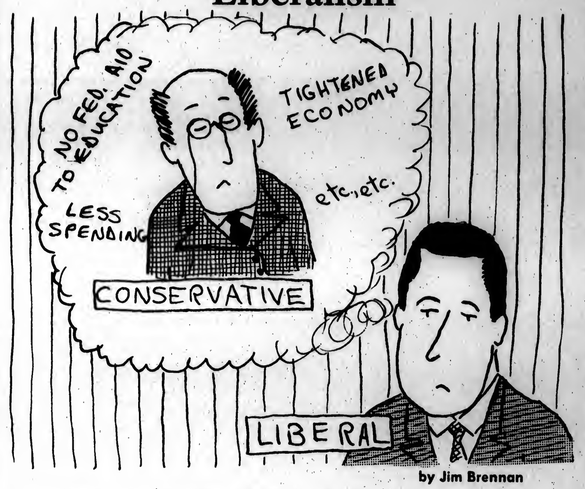
Vociferous Proponents

On the other hand, among the most vociferous proponents of a bill to aid parochial and private schools has been the Roman Catholic hierarchy of the U.S. It claims that it is only just for Catholics, who pay taxes to support public education but who do not use its facilities, to receive money in return in some form or another for their school system.

It was suggested that Catholic clamoring for such aid was an attempt to have our cake and eat it too. We want, it was said, the benefit of maintaining a system of private schools and at the same time to receive public funds. This assertion certainly merits some consideration.

We must analyze the morality of the possible use of taxes, which will include money from Catholics, for the support of education in non-Catholic religious schools. In most cases this education would include religious instruction. In effect Catholics would be contributing to the religious education of non-Catholics.

Father Murray



In his book, "We Hold These Truths," Rev. John Courtney Murray, S.J., presents a very stinging dilemma for the Catholic. Its implication is seen to be very relevant to the problem. Father Murray states 'The question is not whether Catholicism is safe for democracy, but whether democracy is safe for Catholicism." We must contemplate the possibility of the ogre of government control gradually creeping into the Catholic systems of primary and secondary education if we partake in such a plan.

It can be conjectured that the adoption of legislation for assistance to parochial schools, ninety per cent of which are Catholic, by a predominantly non-Catholic nation will be extremely unlikely.

One of the more reasonable proposals that have evolved out of the havoc of the harangue was one to give each taxpayer the option of deciding whether his tax money should be alloted to the public education system or to a private or parochial system of his choice. The time has come for less criticism and more practical suggestions.

Viewpoint: Liberal and Conservative

Liberalism

by Jim Brennan

Liberalism is a rather difficult term to define. It represents a state of mind, a pragmatic attitude toward life, not confiningly bound by orthodox tenets or established forms and institutions of thought. Instead of a rigid set of principles, it consists of a general philosophy toward the political, economic and social orders.

It is a philosophy that believes in the genuine worth and value of each man and that each man is equal in the eyes of God. It does not, as many of its critics claim, try to establish a human equality of man, for it realizes that God has endowed each of us with different and varied talents.

It believes that the highest good for man comes from his efforts to satisfy his spiritual and intellectual needs. Near-perfection here is what man strives to accomplish. But he cannot while he is denied the opportunity to secure his physical needs. Since staying alive is somewhat preliminary to spiritual and intellectual efforts, Liberalism sees it as a necessary task to establish for man equality of economic opportunity.

The important term here is opportunity. Liberalism, contrary to the claims of its critics among established moneyed interests, does not want to make every man economically equal. But it does want to bring about the day when each man can be certain that his efforts can secure a life, continuously consistent with ordinary standards of decency.

Welfare State?

It is because of Liberalism's efforts in this area that it is criticized as trying to establish socialism or a welfare state here in America. This is untrue. Liberalism firmly believes in the operation of a private economy. It acknowledges the fact that much of our historic greatness has been due to it.

But this belief and acknowledgement is not so irrational as to blind Liberalism to the fact that unless controlled, a private economy operates only for the benefit of a few. History proves this. Left entirely uncontrolled, the moneyed interests will use every means to exploit the public and insure the continuation of their financial oligarchy. These facts are the basis for historically recent Liberal legislation that established adequate Federal control over the nation's economy.

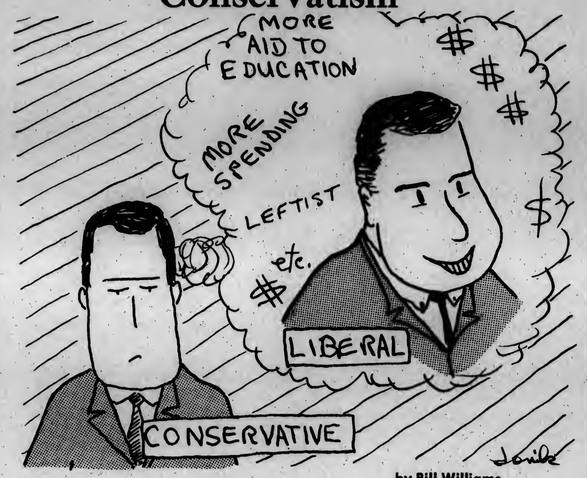
In the area of social welfare, the policies of Liberalism have been amazingly confused by irrational appeals to the traditional individuality of American and to exaggerated state's rights doctrines of the past. Liberalism does not desire a completely dominant and paternalistic Federal Government. It does not agitate for Federal projects and social legislation merely to spend more money and spread the aura of Federal control and interference.

Partnership

Let's face facts! In our immensely intricate and complex society, there are many needs which the individuality of the citizen and the states cannot accommodate. Therefore, Liberalism advocates the continuance of the existing limited partnership between the Federal Government, on the one hand, and the individual citizen and the states, on the other, in order to realize some of these important needs. Only in this way can the equality of economic opportunity be given to more and more Americans.

In the area of international affairs, the policies of Liberalism have also been distorted. In this case by an inordinate exaggeration of fear and an emotional appeal to patriotism by ultra-conservatives, such as Sen. Goldwater and the John Birch Society. Liberalism has never intended to turn the United States over to International Communism, nor is it overly pacifistic. But it does strive toward world peace, order and freedom.

The way to achieve this, though, is not to enter into a catastrophic arms race with Russia and to withdraw from the world scene into ourselves. Liberalism recognizes the fact that for the present peace must be maintained by military means rather than political. But it also knows that in the future the reverse must be realized. How is this to be done?



Support UN

First, we must continue our participation in the U.N. It exists and remains our only hope for the future, however small. We must continue to support the idea of international responsibility for peace, as found in the U.N. We must support the U.N.'s efforts to establish international economic cooperation by acts such as revising our tariff and trade policies, in order to protect our own economic security.

Second, we have to realize the importance of and the necessity of aiding the emergence of responsible, sovereign states from the under-developed bloc When they are capable of taking care of their own interests, they will serve our interests far better than reluctant allies and bought clients, whether they are friendly to us or not. It is undeniably clear that this will require economic aid and technical knowledge from industrially mature nations like ourselves.

We must remain armed until the day arrives when politics can keep the peace. We must work tirelessly to see this day, always remembering that what the Six's and Seven's of Europe do, affects the economy of Main Street U.S.A. and that what happens in Laos and South Vietnam affects draft-eligible Villanovans.

Conservatism

by Bill Williams

A term which today is very much used, but very much misunderstood is the term Conservatism. It is important to understand the essence of the Conservative philosophy because Conservatism is on the rise around the country, especially among our college students, the leaders of tomorrow. What exactly is the philosophy which these new, young intellectuals are espousing?

First of all, the Conservative is one who believes in the ultimate worth of the individual in society. Freedom for the individual to do as he pleases and to guide his own life within our social framework is considered basic to the Conservative philosophy. The Conservative realizes that the United States has become a great nation because our system has been conducive to the full development of the potential of each individual American.

He believes that all men were not created equal as far as ability is concerned and that therefore the economic status of different individuals is bound to be different. But he further believes that the national government has no right to enter our lives and to divide up all income according to the Marxist principle, "from each according to his means, to each according to his needs." Our system is based on the belief that each man should receive what he earns and no more.

The Conservative places great importance on our free enterprise system and on our Constitutional Republic. He believes that political freedom can not long exist without economic freedom. In accordance with this belief he opposes all forms of collectivism, including Nazism, Fascism, Communism, Socialism and the welfare state. He believes that we are heading in the direction of collectivism and that unless this trend is reversed we will end up living in a totalitarian society.

History Teaches

Another important aspect of the philosophy of Conservatism is that the Conservative is not too proud to study history and to learn from the past. Out of the rise and fall of civilizations we can learn certain lessons which can be applied to our own society. One of the lessons which history teaches us is that big government has traditionally been the enemy of the people. This our founding fathers realized and that is why they created a decentralized government with an integrated system of checks and balances.

The Conservative agrees with our founding fathers that the only purpose of government is to protect our life, liberty and property. Government should at all times strive to maximize freedom for the individual. Government is not set up to regulate, direct, and control our lives.

What is the Conservative attitude toward the Communist menace and how should it be dealt with?

The Conservative realizes that the whole basis of Communism is Marxism-Leninism and that this philosophy preaches the inevitable conquest of the entire world by the Communists. He realizes that the Communists are dedicated to world conquest by every means and that the Soviet Union as the leader of all Communist nations has declared total war on free governments everywhere. The Soviet leaders will not rest until they have conquered the entire world.

Total War

Because Communists everywhere have in reality declared total war on the West we must accept the realities of the situation and act accordingly. The Conservative would first of all discard the futile policy of containment. The only way to fight a war is to fight to win. The policy of containment has not worked and it cannot work, and unless it is abandoned, it will inevitably lead to total defeat for the West. On a purely defensive policy the Communists are always allowed to choose the battleground and we must react accordingly. We never put them on the defensive.

In relation to this struggle for the world the Conservative position on disarmament is crystal clear. The Conservative is not opposed to the ideas of disarmament but he believes that anyone who advocates disarmament in the middle of a war is mentally unstable. Anyone who believes that the Soviet Union would agree to an enforceable disarmament agreement is naive, to say the least. The only type of agreement to which the Soviets will agree is one on which they can easily cheat.

There would be no unilateral test ban if our goal in this war were victory. Instead our goal is getting peace at any cost. Everytime an international crisis arises we find Liberals advocating appeasement for the sake of peace. Such a policy can lead only to ultimate surrender and that is exactly the way Khrushchev plans to win. This is the way he has been winning.

The Conservative believes that if we are to survive as a free nation, we must realize that a state of war exists in the world today and that our goal must be to win that war. Thus the Conservative rejects the policy of containment, he rejects the idea of peaceful coexistence with the Soviets and finally he rejects the idea of disarmament at the present time.

Queen's Court Reigns At Senior Gala

JANE LEGACKI
Date of Tom Samulewicz, Arts

Courtly Queen

MARTIE GILBERT
Date of Dave Severance, Social Studies

JANET DE MAINE
Date of Frank Kelly, Marketing

NIKI BARBIS
Date of Tom Murphy, Industrial Arts

VIRGINIA KELLY
Date of Mike Wesley, Arts

Prom and Jazz Show Plans Finished for Junior Week

With Junior Week less than two weeks ahead, plans for the events are reaching the final stage as members of the Junior Class prepare for their week of glory. Both Tony Bateman and Jim Braithwaite chairmen respectively of the Prom and Jazz Concert, urged their classmates to invite their friends from the city and other colleges to attend the two events, both of which are open to the public. Jim Brennan and Ray Trapp, handling tickets for the dance, will be stationed in the Pie Shoppe and C&F cafeteria, where tickets for the low price of $4.00 per couple will be sold. Since the dance is open and not formal as in recent years, buyers are urged to obtain their tickets early in order to insure a good time dancing to the music of one of the foremost bands in the country, that of Billy Butterfield.

Jazz Show

Tickets for the Jazz show are selling for only $1.00. The event is being held in the Field House. Elsewhere, Pete Federico announced that tickets for the Dinner Dance will go on sale Wednesday, April 19 on the second floor of Dougherty. Only 500 tickets will be sold, so early procurance is almost a necessity. Tickets are $12.50 per couple and tables may be reserved by four people upon presentation of matric cards and the price of the tickets.

Mother's Day tickets will also go on sale presently at $8.50 per ticket and will be available from Mike Stapf or one of his associates in the Pie Shoppe or C&F cafeteria. Although much dissatisfaction was expressed, the class gift will be that of a tree. The Mother's Day committee had wished to make a different presentation but it was not feasible.

Mike Pastore will run films of past sporting events involving Villanova University in basketball, baseball, and track on Thursday of Junior Week at 7:30 P.M. in Vasey Hall Auditorium. The night will honor all Junior Athletes and is restricted to members of that class. Refreshments will be served and the top Junior athlete in each sport will receive an award.

Muff Day

Finally, on Wednesday, the annual conflict between the Junior and Senior classes will take place on various athletic fields throughout the campus. Jack Weed will have a schedule posted of events.

Publicity has been mailed out to all the local papers and major radio stations and details will also be available on WWVU throughout the day.

ICG

(Continued from page 1)

the life that it seemed to lack in the other speakers."

Junior Chemistry major, Bill Rademacher, while showing an extensive knowledge of Parliamentary procedure in the Rules Committee and on the assembly floor, was elected vice-chairman of the committee early Thursday afternoon. Later, in a regional caucus, President McAteer negotiated for Rademacher's election as Chairman of the Southeast region. The region includes all the major colleges and universities in the Philadelphia area.

Rademacher Shines

Rademacher plans to emphasize the study and practice of Parliamentary law during his Chairmanship. "I also think," he stressed, "that the Southeast Region should be more united, especially in the committee meetings and on the assembly floor of the state convention."

Commenting on the election of Rademacher to the post of Regional Director, Miss Genevieve Blatt, the Executive Director and Founder, said that Bill (Rademacher) should make a fine director for the region. She added that Villanova has always had well-informed participants at the state convention and has produced leaders of note to which tradition she feels Rademacher aspires.

Of the twenty-seven bills presented to the assembly Saturday, Villanova had six of their legislation passed. One original bill by Villanova written by Bill Lewis was also passed after Lewis presented convincing arguments on behalf of the bill, thereby swaying the delegates.

Dr. Fredrick J. Khouri, the moderator of the Villanova chapter, was in attendance at all the meetings.

IRS To Journey To Washington For Practical Critique

On Friday, April 28, The International Relations Society will take its annual Spring trip to Washington, D.C. This is the yearly trip on which the members of the club are presented with the opportunity to meet with and discuss current problems with the members of Congress who deal with American Foreign Policy and the members of the State Department who carry it out.

Still Room

The Overnight trip leaves from the Field House on Friday morning and returns Saturday evening. Excused cuts are granted to those who make the journey. The trip has traditionally been the instrument through which new members are brought into the I.R.S. and a limited number of seats are still available. All interested may contact President Joseph Clark at room 319 Shehan Hall, or Paul Downey at LA-5-2418. The cost of the trip will be $5.50 for dues paying members and will include the bus fare and the hotel room.

Upperclass Nominations Scheduled For April 20

John O'Connell, Senior Civil Engineering Major and Co-chairman of the Elections Committee of Student Council, has announced the procedure for nominations for upper class elective positions, which will be held Thursday, April 20th, during the Activity Period (10:30).

The qualifications required for nomination are: 2.5 quality point average; a good discipline record, and for residents, a good Chapel attendance record.

The Sophomore and Junior classes will each elect their four officers and two Student Council representatives from each School, while the Freshman will elect the four officers but only two Student Council representatives, who will join those elected in the recent Freshman elections.

Leadership

In nominating a classmate for any office, O'Connell expressed the hope that "those nominating will carefully consider the prerequisites for the office as well as their candidate's ability to lead before placing the name in nomination".

The places for nominations are as follows: Juniors, Vasey Hall Aulitorium; Sophomores, 210 Vasey Hall; Freshmen, 110 Commerce and Finance Building.

Honorable Fashion

Brian Scully, Senior Electrical Engineering major and Co-chairman for the Committee, stated that, "this year, an all out effort will be made to eliminate multiple voting, but the plan cannot be disclosed at this time. We sincerely hope that all those connected with the elections, voters as well as nominees, will do their utmost to see to it that the elections will be conducted in an honorable fashion".

Voting will take place on Wednesday, May 10th, in Alumni gym, from 10:00 A.M. till 3:00 P.M. As was the case in past years, voting machines will again be used to facilitate publication of the results.

It's what's up front that counts

FILTER-BLEND —a Winston exclusive—makes the big taste difference. You get rich tobaccos that are specially selected and specially processed for full flavor in filter smoking. Make your next pack Winston!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should!

Flynn Leads in "Othello" As Coyne Directs Grads

by Frank Quattrone

The Graduate Theatre Department of Villanova will present William Shakespeare's "Othello" at 8:30 p.m. on the evenings of May 10 through 14, in Vasey auditorium. With rehearsals already under way, director Bernard Coyne has much to say about the cast, play and the Graduate Theatre itself.

Mr. Coyne is exuberant about the cast. "They have a professional attitude. This is the most experienced and talented cast that I've worked with since I've been here." William Flynn, in the title role, is supported by Richard McIntyre as Brabantio, Michael Kennedy as Cassio, James Willaert as Iago, and John McGarry as Roderigo.

Large Cast

The large cast also includes Paul Norton as the Duke of Venice, John Dillon as Montano, Don Murphy as Lodovico, and John Milton as Gratiano. Sue Ahrold is cast as Desdemona. Rounding out the experienced cast are Gilda Spirio (Emilia), Marianne Willaert (Bianca), George Pickel (Senior), and Bob Heenan, Joheph McGill, and Joseph Staborski as the gentlemen.

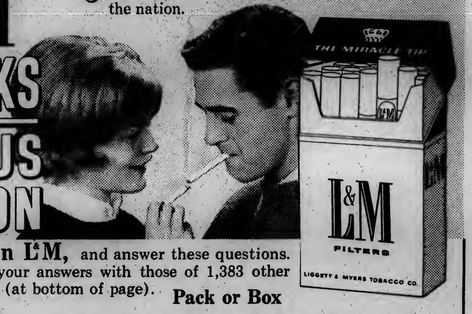
Mr. Coyne, who directed last year's successful Graduate Theatre production of "Twelfth Night," received his M.A. in drama from Catholic University. The play has many advantages, enabling the members of the Graduate Theatre to fulfill their duty as "students of a profession," namely, to bring pleasure to the campus by presenting to the students some of the best plays ever written.

The set is already completed —one month before production. Jane Anderson is doing the costuming.

The Graduate Theatre is a part of the University's academic department. Each member of the Graduate Theatre has had training and experience in the theatrical arts previous to joining.

Omit Evil

A secondary purpose of the Villanova Graduate Theatre is to train its members to go into all levels of the theatre, television, radio, and summer stock as actors, directors, and scenic designers. Mr. Coyne added that they must "show people that the theatre is good, and that it is created by God."



Concluding his timely remark, he said: "It is our responsibility and duty to present only the best, to recognize evil in plays and in themes, and to prevent it from reaching the public."

Newly elected southeast regional ICG chairman, Bill Rademacher, smiles at speakers' platform. Behind him, members of the Villanova delegation, Tom Burke, Joe Breen, and Bill Nodo, study the Bill under the consideration of the Assembly.

L&M UNLOCKS CAMPUS OPINION

#3 in a series of polls conducted by L&M student representatives in over 100 colleges throughout the nation.

Light up an L&M, and answer these questions. Then compare your answers with those of 1,383 other college students (at bottom of page).

Pack or Box

Question #1: Do you feel working wives can really have a happy, well-adjusted family life?

Answer: Yes____ No____

Question #2: How big a help to a college man is a car in building a successful social life?

Answer: The biggest____ Pretty big____ Not so big____ No help at all____

Question #3: Which of these fields do you believe provides the greatest opportunity for success, within ten years after entry into the field? (CHECK ONE)

Answer: Electronics____ Solid state physics____ Advertising____ Politics____ Law____ Business administration____ Chemical engineering____ Medicine____ Sales____ Industrial design____ Architecture____ Mathematics____ Psychiatry____ College teaching____ Biochemistry____

Question #4: Do you prefer a filter or a non-filter cigarette?

Answer: Filter____ Non-filter____

L&M UNLOCKS FRIENDLY FLAVOR

...Flavor that never dries out your taste.

Get the flavor only L&M unlocks . . . in pack or box

L&M Campus Opinion Answers:

Answer, Question #1:
Yes 61% – No 39%

Answer, Question #2:
The biggest 7% – Pretty big 55%
Not so big 32% – No help at all 6%

Answer, Question #3:
Electronics 14% – Solid state physics 5%
Advertising 8% – Politics 1% – Law 7%
Business administration 12%
Chemical engineering 8%
Medicine 26% – Sales 4%
Industrial design 1% – Architecture 3%
Mathematics 2% – Psychiatry 5%
College teaching 3% – Biochemistry 1%

Answer, Question #4:
Filter 73% – Non-filter 27%

With almost three out of four college students now in the filter camp, you owe it to yourself to try L&M, the filter cigarette that promises—and delivers—flavor. The friendly flavor of ripe, golden tobaccos . . . flavor that never dries out your taste.

The L&M Campus Opinion Poll was taken at over 100 colleges where L&M has student representatives, and may not be a statistically random selection of all undergraduate schools.

©1961 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Classrooms Dedicated, Burlingame Gives Address

Dedication ceremonies in the Commerce and Finance Building of memorial classrooms were held this past Sunday, April 6th, 1961. The ceremonies began at 3:00 P.M. with Mr. Gordan M. Burlingame, present Chairman of the Development Foundation rendering the opening address.

The Very Reverend James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., Provincial of the Augustinians, followed the opening address with the blessing of the plaques which are to be placed in various classrooms. Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., President of Villanova University gave a brief speech after the blessing.

John A. Murphy, past Chairman of the Development Foundation, followed Father Klekotka to the rostrum. The ceremonies were brought to a close by Father Joseph A. Bartley, O.S.A., Dean of the School of Commerce and Finance.

Memorial Plaque

Donors were required to contribute a minimum of fifteen thousand dollars apiece to receive a memorial plaque. The total contribution was in excess of two-hundred thousand dollars.

The fund raising started in 1956 when construction on the building began. Those contributing were: Messrs. Walter Annenberg, Thomas A. Bruder, Edward J. Caughlin, H. Richard Dietrich, Albert M. Greenfield, Joseph A. Kaufman, Alfred J. Laupheimer, John McShain, John A. Murray, Walter V. Pangborne, and R. Livingston Sullivan.

Alumni Meeting Held

Plans for the Annual General Alumni of the Villanova University to be held on April 30 were reviewed during a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association on Monday evening, April 10.

The gathering, which will be the fifth such affair, will begin at 3:45 on April 30 in the Alumni House. Benediction will be held at 5:15 in the University chapel and will be followed by a dinner in Dougherty Hall. Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A. will speak.

DOING IT THE HARD WAY by haff

(GETTING RID OF DANDRUFF, THAT IS!)

easier 3-minute way for men: FITCH

Men, get rid of embarrassing dandruff easy as 1-2-3 with FITCH! In just 3 minutes (one rubbing, one lathering, one rinsing), every trace of dandruff, grime, gummy old hair tonic goes right down the drain! Your hair looks handsomer, healthier. Your scalp tingles, feels so refreshed. Use FITCH Dandruff Remover SHAMPOO every week for positive dandruff control. Keep your hair and scalp really clean, dandruff-free!

FITCH® LEADING MAN'S SHAMPOO

CAMPUS NEWS BRIEFS

Nurses' Dinner Dance

The Annual Nurses' Dinner Dance originally scheduled for February 4, but postponed because of snow, will be held at the Falcon House in Havertown on April 21 at 7:30 p.m., announced chairman Judy Jones.

Tickets for the affair are $11.50, and all those desiring to purchase tickets should contact any junior nurse before Friday.

The dinner dance is sponsored by the junior Pi Theta Chi sorority members, and will feature the "MelloTones." Is is one of two off-campus affairs sponsored annually by the nurses. The other events is the Communion Breakfast.

SC Communion Breakfast

April 30 marks the annual Student Council Communion Breakfast. The day will begin with Mass at nine o'clock. After the Mass a breakfast will be served to the members of the Student Council.

The Breakfast will be highlighted with a presentation of awards to outstanding members of the Council. The awards, in the form of key pins, are being given under the recommendation of Bob DeLisa, Chairman of the Student Council and Student Body President. DeLisa has announced that "pins will be given only to the outstanding members of the Council."

Spanish Club Dance

One of Villanova's largest and oldest under-graduate organizations, the Spanish Club, will hold its twenty-seventh annual Dinner Dance on the evening of April 22, Mr. Vito DiVincenzo, the club moderator, has announced.

The affair, in honor of Cervantes, will take place at the Conestoga Mill and will have as its guest Dr. Francisco X. Claro, acting Spanish Consul in Philadelphia. It will be Dr. Claro's pleasure to award the prizes to the Villanovans who submit the best essay and the best poem on Cervantes.

Tickets are available to non-members at $7.00. Door prizes will be given and the music will be furnished by Lou Denison.

Alumni Giving Program

The books for the 1960-61 Annual Alumni Giving Program were closed in the middle of March. It appears now that a figure of 3200 will replace last year's figure of 1700 for the total number of contributions. Over 80,000 dollars is a certainty this year compared to 38,000 dollars for 1959. This year's program has developed over 1400 new contributors compared to the previous high of 354.

The success of the program is meeting the best expectations of the committee. A final and complete report will be published and sent to every alumnus as soon as the final figures are tabulated.

Sigma Xi To Meet

The second meeting of the Villanova Sigma Xi Club will be held on Saturday, April 22, at 4 p.m. in the East Lounge of Dougherty Hall. The featured speaker will be Professor Peter J. Debye of Cornell University. Professor Debye will talk on "Critical Opalescence and Molecular Structure."

Professor Debye is a Nobel Laureate (Chemistry, 1936) and also received the University's Mendel Award.

A dinner for Professor Debye will be held at the Treadway Inn following his talk. Either Dr. Felix M. Beiduk or Dr. Kenneth F. O'Driscoll should be notified for attendance at the dinner no later than Monday, April 17.

Cuba

(Continued from page 4)

The Democratic Revolutionary Front will promote a policy inspired in the principles of the best economic freedom adjusted to the Cuban realities, reducing state intervention to their indispensable limits, offering solid guarantees to property, to free enterprise and to national and foreign investments in view of the social function, justice and collective good. The Democratic Revolutionary Front will fight to have a soverign country, with no submission to any source of imperialism, with reverence to the law, without hate or divisions, with an honest and ordered administration of public funds and real freedom in the unions of workers. We would like a country with politics serving the fatherland and not otherwise; where the rights of the human being to think and express opinions freely may be respected, and of course WITH NO COMMUNIST INFLUENCE.

With this manifest the Democratic Revolutionary Front is trying to incorporate all Cubans with dignity and good will. All sincere Cubans have a position in this crusade of National rescue that we are starting. The Democratic Revolutionary Front is asking of all Latin American Countries the fulfillment of their unavoidable duties at this hour, against the present historical crisis, that is no longer a problem of Cuba alone, but rather a danger to all the hemisphere menacing the principles of occidental civilization.

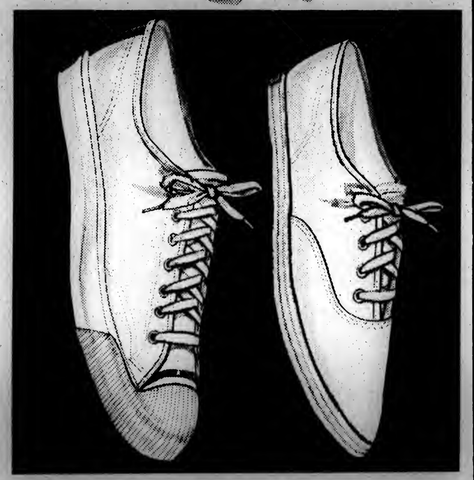
In this great struggle that we are opening against the destructive action of Communism in Cuba and America we have resolved to face the transformations demanded by the era in which we live making them rest on ESSENTIALLY DEMOCRATIC BASES strengthening the ties and relations of solidarity among men everywhere.

Have a ball in Europe this Summer

(and get college credits, too!)

Imagine the fun you can have on a summer vacation in Europe that includes everything from touring the Continent and studying courses for credit at the famous Sorbonne in Paris to living it up on a three-week co-educational romp at a fabulous Mediterranean island beach-club resort! Interested? Check the tour descriptions below.

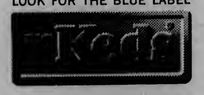
FRENCH STUDY TOUR, $12.33 per day plus air fare. Two weeks touring France and Switzerland, sightseeing in Rouen, Tours, Bordeaux, Avignon, Lyon, Geneva, with visits to Mont-Saint-Michel and Lourdes. Then in Paris, stay six weeks studying at La Sorbonne. Courses include French Language, History, Drama, Art, Literature, for 2 to 6 credits. Spend your last week touring Luxembourg and Belgium. All-expense, 70-day tour includes sightseeing, hotels, meals, tuition for $12.33 per day, plus Air France Jet Economy round-trip fare.



STUDENT HOLIDAYS TOUR OF EUROPE, $15.72 per day plus air fare. Escorted 42-day tour includes visits to cultural centers, sightseeing in France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany, Luxembourg, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Scotland, England, Holland and Belgium. Plenty of free time, entertainment. Hotel, meals, everything included for $15.72 per day, plus Air France Jet Economy round-trip fare.

CLUB MEDITERRANEE, $13.26 per day plus air fare. Here's a 21-day tour that features 3 days on your own in Paris, a week's sightseeing in Rome, Capri, Naples and Pompeii, plus 9 fun-filled, sun-filled, fabulous days and cool, exciting nights at the Polynesian-style Club Méditerranée on the romantic island of Sicily. Spend your days basking on the beach, swimming, sailing—your nights partying, singing, dancing. Accommodations, meals, everything only $13.26 per day complete, plus Air France Jet Economy round-trip fare.

MR. JOHN SCHNEIDER
c/o AIR FRANCE
683 Fifth Avenue, New York 22, N. Y.
Gentlemen:
Please rush me full information on the following:
☐ French Study Tour ☐ Student Holidays Tour
☐ Club Méditerranée
Name_____
Address_____ College_____
City_____ Zone____ State_____



AIR FRANCE JET

Other shoes may look like Keds, but only U. S. Keds® can give you "that great feeling." Because Keds have a patented shockproofed arch cushion and cushioned inner sole. And because Keds are built over tested, scientific lasts, to fit all feet perfectly, even narrow ones. Keds are right for class, gym, tennis court or dorm. Machine-washable (and they even look good clean). His: Keds "Court King." Hers: Keds "Champion." Get your U. S. Keds at good shoe or department stores.

LOOK FOR THE BLUE LABEL*

*both U. S. Keds and the blue label are registered trademarks of

US RUBBER

United States Rubber
ROCKEFELLER CENTER, NEW YORK 20, NEW YORK

Rafferty's Raiders Win Intramural Hoop Crown

The basketball phase of the intramural program has just been completed and a new champion has ascended the throne. Rafferty's Raiders, a finely assembled mesh of basketball talent, took home all the prizes with a 72-63 upset of the defending champions Horses' Aces. The Raider captain, John Rafferty was the chief thorn in the side of the Aces' who are led by the Gallen brothers, John and Bob. Rafferty, who was acknowledged as the university's outstanding intramural athlete of 1959-1960, kept his team on top with a deadly jumper that seemed almost impossible to defense.

The champions then accepted a challenge issued by the seminarians of St. Mary's Hall. The boys from St. Mary's put up a very good battle but seemed to wear down at the end and were beaten 66-54.

Soft Ball Soon

Through the course of the basketball season 600 games were played by 64 teams in 6 leagues. 800 participants were included in the competition.

Last week the intramural softball program got underway and it appears to include a new all time high number of participants. Over 900 Villanovans turned out when the call to "play ball" was sounded. There will be 62 teams competing in 9 leagues on three fields. There will be three games a day played on each field, Simpson, Austin, and Mendel, starting at convenient times.

A life saving course is now being conducted in the Field House pool by the swimming coach Jack Lumsden. This course was conducted last year and proved to be highly successful. It had generated such great interest among the student body that Mr. Lumsden has been forced to conduct two classes, consisting of over a hundred pupils, all of whom hope to gain a senior life saving certificate.

On the completion of this course an instruction course will be held. Any one who holds a senior life saving certificate and is interested in becoming an instructor should contact Mr. Jack Lumsden in the swimming pool.

Tennis Too

Two other events, more on the individual side, will be held in the near future. A Tennis Tournament has been organized and will be held this week and next. When a singles champion is determined there is a possibility that a doubles tournament will be organized. Intramural director Ed Giez said that the Doubles Tourney would depend a great deal on the turnout for the singles matches.

A track meet featuring approximately 14 events will be held in conjunction with Junior Week. Mr. Giez has not decided on all of the events, but he stated that there will be fourteen and several will be relay races.

Basketball Team Honored At South Jersey Banquet

Coach Alexander Severance delivered his valedictory address last Wednesday at the South Jersey Alumni Club Basketball Banquet in honor of Severance and the 1960-'61 Villanova basketball team.

Severance's address was the highlight of the evening, which saw his son Dave receive the Chuck Drizin Award. This award is presented annually to the member of the Villanova basketball team whose cooperation and attitude comes closest to exemplifying that of Chuck Drizin, a member of the 1942 Villanova team and a war hero who was decorated posthumously for his bravery at Iwo Jima.

Jimmy Huggard was the recipient of the Most Valuable Player Award. He was chosen for this award by the members of the team. Huggard, the little guy who was Severance's "modus operandi" this year, was also presented with an award from Catholic Digest for being honorably mentioned on their All-America Team. Hubie White, who made the Digest first team, received a watch.

Luck from Opponent

Bruce Drysdale of Temple was given the Michael J. Saxe Memorial Award for being the outstanding player in the Big Five this season. He was presented the award by Harry Litwack, Temple coach, who joined the rest of the assembled throng in wishing Severance, his old friend and cunning opponent, best wishes.

The banquet was one of Severance's finest hours. In his speech he stressed that "Villanova and basketball owe me nothing. I owe Villanova and basketball everything." He reviewed his debt of gratitude to everyone connected with his and Villanova's rise to basketball fame. He didn't try to review his 37-year career on the Main Line; he merely expressed his happiness at being given the chance to do the job.

Severance said he had been asked what he would do if he had a chance to start again. His reply was, "Just exactly what I did: coach at Villanova."

Position Rumored

The "Gray Fox," as Severance is known, expressed his confidence in Jack Kraft, the new coach, and offered his assistance to Villanova in whatever way he could serve. It has been rumored that a position is being readied for Severance to supplement his teaching job.

Severance with Award

There was a proud gleam in his eye as his son Dave, a long-suffering second-stringer, strode to the podium to receive the coveted Drizin Award. "The White Chief," as son Dave called him, who has been criticized for many things, but never for nepotism, voluntarily abstained from voting for the Drizin winner.

The whole Severance family got into the act when the South Jersey Club presented Mrs. Severance, the long-suffering basketball widow, with a gift.

Team Tribute

Severance was also honored with a trophy from the team. This trophy was a tribute of thanks from the cagers. The presentation was made by co-captains Huggard and Dick Kaminski. Also remembered in a night of praise and honor were Jake Nevins and Charlie Farnam, the team trainer and the equipment manager, respectively. They were presented awards by Bill Murphy and Frank Marchese, the graduating student managers.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: The best defense is a good offense, unless you're weak or cowardly, in which case a good hiding place is unbeatable.

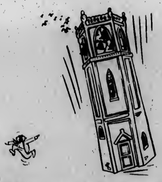
DEAR DR. FROOD: Every guy I go out with thinks he's Casanova. What should a girl do?

Chased



DEAR CHASED: Ask each one to roll up his sleeve. If there is a small birthmark just above the left elbow, you've got the real Casanova.

DEAR DR. FROOD: A tackle on the football team likes the same girl I do. He says that if I see her any more, he'll mop up the floor with me. I refuse to be intimidated! What should I do?

Ninety-nine Pounder

DEAR NINETY-NINE: You'd better let your hair grow long.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I am a sophomore majoring in architecture. Our college has just completed a magnificent carillon tower. Yesterday, while examining the blueprints, I was horrified to discover that the tower will collapse at 3:30 P.M., June 3, 1964. I have taken my calculations to the dean, to the architects, to the builders, to the president of the college. No one will pay any attention to me. I am desperate. What can I do to avert disaster?

Frantic

DEAR FRANTIC: You've done your best, son. Now, for your own peace of mind, won't you join me in a short trip to Las Vegas to see what kind of odds we can get?

DEAR DR. FROOD: I've been writing poems to a certain girl for about five months. Yesterday I found out that this girl and her friends get together to read my poems and laugh at them. Do you think I should stop writing to her?

Upset

DEAR UPSET: Definitely not. There are all too few humorous poets writing today.

FROOD TO WASHINGTON! Dr. Frood has been called by government officials to unveil his extraordinary "Luckies for Peace Plan." Questioned about this plan, Frood replied: "The details are still classified, but it all started when I discovered that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. This led me to believe that if all the world's peoples would but lean back and light up a Lucky, they would be too happy to be belligerent."

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

©A. T. Co.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Picture above shows St. Joe's version of what should have happened Saturday in Hawk's 10-5 loss to Cats. Photo developed backward shows Joe Cramer crossing plate.

Photo by Frank Matunis

Frosh Swimmer Rewrite Records At Villanova Pool

by Matt Mone

The history of Villanova's Freshmen Swimming Team has shown a trend toward greater strength both in size and ability with the passing of each season. Since the day freshmen started swimming a competitive schedule under their own coach, Mr. John Lumsden, many outstanding feats have been witnessed. Year after year, the teams became stronger, schedules became tougher, and many new freshman records were established. None of these previous performances however, can approach the standards of excellence set by the present "yearling" squad. Many of the records set by past Frosh performers were expected by the experts to remain for quite a while. Such has not been the case however.

Frosh Records Broken

Beginning with their first meet in which they defeated the Varsity, the team put on a tremendous display of toil and talent which saw them break every previous Freshman record. For the record conscious, it should also be interesting to note that these "yearlings" were mainly responsible for the undertaking of a complete revision of the official record board which hangs in the Villanova pool area. They have set new marks in every Freshman record and are responsible for nine out of a possible fifteen school records.

McDonough Sets Pace

The man chiefly responsible for his barrage of record breaking is Dick McDonough, who came to Villanova from Seton Hall Prep, in New Jersey. Dick was no stranger to Villanova when he matriculated last fall. He carried with him the exceptional credentials of having been voted the Outstanding Performer in the National Catholic High School Championships.

His forte is in either the freestyle or butterfly strokes at which he is equally proficient. Although often called upon to swim three events in one meet, Dick has remained unbeaten in thirteen consecutive meets. An example of McDonough's ability can be taken by his recent performance at The Hill School, where he won the 100 yd. freestyle in 0:50.6, took the 100 yd. Butterfly in 0:55.8, and then led off on the 200 yd. freestyle relay with an 0:22.6 split. Both of his individual performances established new records for the Hill's pool, which has, at one time or another, hosted many of America's greatest swimmers.

Relays Break Records

Villanova's second outstanding freestyler is Jack Georghegan, who came to us from Iona Prep, in New Rochelle, N.Y. Jack is holder of Villanova and freshman record for the 200 yd. freestyle at 2:03.0, and also holds the distinction of having swum on all three record breaking relay teams.

Backing up McDonough in the freestyle sprints is Leo Sullivan who, although relatively inexperienced at the beginning of the season, has improved with each meet and is consistently in the low 24 seconds bracket for a 50 yd. sprint. In the butterfly, Al Duckett fills the number two position. The breaststroke has John Leidy and Frank Keim competing as a very imposing combination.

Hurley Tough

Dan Hurley, a team mate of McDonough's while at Seton Hall Prep, has joined him there to be a consistent high-scorer in every event. Dan has a 1:03 record for the hundred yard backstroke, as well as a 2:24 clocking for 200 yds. In the diving competition, Dick Feror has already been picked by many as successor to Steve Carton.

John Manning, a graduate of St. Joe's Prep, is the man responsible for the new freshman mark in the 200 yd. Individual Medley. John's time of 2:27 set earlier in the year was a full 15 seconds faster than the previous record held by Pat O'Donnell. He also typifies the all around ability common to this team by showing up as anchor man on the 400 yd. Medley Relay team which holds the school record at 4:08.9.

New Era of Greatness

This team has compiled an outstanding 10-3 record. Their losses have been to Monseignor Bonner, the current National Catholic High School Champions; the Hill School, current National Prep School Champions; and to a strong Navy Plebe team. These men have begun a new era of greatness for swimming at Villanova. The old theory of daily one-hour workouts is now unheard of; twice a day practice is now the rule rather than the exception.

Linksmen Win Four, Lose to Princeton

Villanova's 1961 golf team met defeat Saturday for the first time this year after racking up four straight victories over formidable Eastern opponents.

The Tigers of Princeton, defending eastern inter-collegiate champions, nipped the 'Cats, 4-3, as the Wildcats topped Columbia by the same margin in a triangular match at Princeton.

Joe Bilder, the number two man, led the Cat golfers with a 77. Princeton had an outstanding team and has the inside track for the I.C.4A.'s in May.

Tom Cooke Stars

Plymouth Country Club was the site of the match which saw Villanova knock off both LaSalle and Penn as junior Tom Cooke was the 'Cat medalist with a sharp 76.

Villanova nipped Penn 4-3, the only team to beat the Wildcats last year, and routed LaSalle 6-1. Captain and number one man Dave Doyle and junior Fred Mazzi racked up strong 78's to pace the victory over the two rivals. The entire match was played in a steady downpour on April 12.

A dual match with Muhlenberg scheduled for Monday, April 10, at Portmouth Country Club near Norristown was cancelled due to heavy rains. It was not rescheduled according to Capt. Doyle.

'Cats kill Knights

To say the least the Villanova linksters sparkled in their first outing of the season as they trounced the Scarlet Knights of Rutgers on their home course, Aronimak Country Club, 6-1.

Bilder and Dick Thomas led all golfers with brilliant 73's, followed closely by Charlie Burr's solid 74. The Match played April 7 was played under sunny skies and the 'Cats scorched their home links with a startling debut.

The Villanova golf team plays three matches this week: Monday, they tangled arch-rival St. Joe's away; Tuesday, they played Temple at home; and Friday they journey to West Chester.

SPORTS CHATTER

Period Of Transition

by Joe Zawacki

As the basketball season fades from view with the Boston Celtics once again asserting themselves as the Yankees of Pro Basketball and the baseball season opens with its "Hope Springs Eternal" theme for 18 teams, the transient sportswriter is afflicted with a series of banquets which pour honors upon deserving players and coaches for deeds accomplished over the past roundball season.

Two worthy examples in the Philly area are the Annual Sportswriters banquet held this year at the Warwick last month and more recently, the Villanova Club of South Jersey's annual, which this year honored Al Severance as well as the 1960-61 team.

All-Big Five

The former found VU's Jimmy Huggard and Hubie White honored on the All Big Five team along with Jack Egan, who also received a trophy as high scorer in the area, Bruce Drysdale, receipient also as the MVP in the Big Five, and Bob McAteer of La Salle. The choice of Jack Ramsey as top Eastern Coach seemed a most worthy one.

The banquet brought Howie Dallmer, former Penn and Warrior great, back to the area and he noted in his speech some rather humorous experiences in his playing days with the Warriors and his boss Eddie Gottlieb. This reminded one of an earlier prediction made here earlier in the year that the Warriors would not win a championship as long as Wilt played for them. Jim Heffernan of the Bulletin, who presented the Pro awards, noted that he was quite a "jinx" man, sending the Warriors to defeat in three games and then rushing off to New York to cover Temple who lost promptly to Dayton in the Quarterfinals of the NIT.

Hit Speaker

Former Ref John Nucatola also spoke, garnering laughs with some timely stories. Toastmaster Bill Campbell drew big laughs when he held Al Severance to one speech, even though he was receiving three awards.

Hubie White

Bob Vetrone of the Bulletin came on like the March wind and was the hit of the evening as he tossed a number of barbs prior to making the Big Five award. The banquet is run every year with professional polish and it is small wonder that it has been so successful.

The South Jersey Villanova banquet, described in more detail elsewhere, was notable because of the adulation poured on retiring coach Severance. Fortunately, the loquacious mentor kept the evening from becoming too emotional and the sincerity of his talk contrasted nicely to the antics of toastmaster Tom Kenney who was a most adequate fill-in for Bill Campbell.

Annual Limb-Climbing

Since the Sportswriter's Rule Book states that every spring you have to predict the outcome of the major league standings and since Larry Merchant of the News has already committed heresy by stating that Stan Musial will be batting .173 in May and will retire, here is the predicted outcome and may every base hit by the Cardinal great bring torrents of letters to Merchant.

NATIONAL		AMERICAN
Pittsburgh	Milwaukee	Baltimore	Cleveland
St. Louis	Philadelphia	New York	Boston
Los Angeles	Cincinnati	Chicago	Kansas City
San Francisco	Chicago	Minnesota	Los Angeles
		Detroit	Washington

Short observations: Locally, the Phillies have to improve by virtue of their 1960 record. Besides, Gene Mauch has them playing old-fashioned baseball which will eventually bring results and crowds to the stadium. The National League will be a dog fight and the 5th place for Milwaukee is based on the increasing age of the two old masters, Spahn and Burdette, and the many holes in the second line. The Dodgers obviously have the best potential but like the Cards and Bucs, there are many if's involved. Since the Bucs have been through it before, they should repeat.

Old Pro

It is a fond wish rather than a prediction that Musial has a great year, then retires so that his fans will remember him in his greatness, not as a fading giant. In the American League, the Yanks are still the pressure team and all the young Oriole pitchers will have to produce, but noting past Richards results, the bet here is that Baltimore will fly the pennant in the American League this year. Picking the A's for 8th is somewhat a habit, but it could prove disastrous since Frank Lane is not averse to working miracles wherever he goes.

Photo by Frank Matunis

Jr. scrum half Ralph Lewis dives into the end zone for a try as a capacity crowd looks on.

Villanova's Rugby Club Wins First Three Contests

Villanova's Rugby Club remained undefeated Saturday April 15 as they humiliated the Manhattan Rugby Club 54-0 on the 'Cats home field.

Sophomore Wing three-quarter, Luke St. Onge scored 15 points to lead all scorers as Villanova almost scored at will against a team made up solely of European players.

Flynn Top Scorer

Senior Bob Flynn scored eight points to raise his season total to 48 in three games, which is high for the surprising rookie Villanova club.

All of the Cats wanted to get into the scoring act and almost all of them did. Ralph Lewis, junior scrum half, scored six as did basketballing senior Dave Severance.

Captain Tony Nastri and George Brestle added two points each as Villanova completely dominated the scums and lineouts, out of bounds play, while working their plays to near perfection.

Pegged European Caliber

One of the European players said of the Wildcat team after the game, "Villanova Rugby team could hold its own with teams from both England and Europe right now!"

Villanova University's Rugby Club scored a hard earned victory over Penn's Rugby team in a steady downpour, 16-5, Wednesday, April 12 on the 'Cats home field.

Flynn Opens Scoring

Kevin Flynn opened the scoring with a three point penalty kick mid-way in the first half and Villanova, playing its first official season under head coach Francis Coughlan of the History Department, was never headed.

Scoring next against a tougher than expected Quaker aggregation was little, but speedy Luke St. Onge as he plunged over for the three pointer. The two point conversion was added by Flynn, who is the high scorer this season.

Just before the end of the first half, 35 minutes of continuous play in rugby, Ralph Lewis got into the act and also scored on a plunge with Flynn missing the conversion. Half time score—Villanova-11—Penn-0.

Penn came out the second half with new determination and spirit and proved it, as with 17 minutes gone Dave Coffin, All-Ivy football halfback and speedster, broke loose for 40 yards and a touchdown. The conversion was perfect and the Red and Blue had five points on the scoreboard.

O'Brien Hurt

Right center three-quarter Terry O'Brien was injured and carried off the field leaving the 'Cats one man shy with 14 as no substitutions are permitted in rugby for injured players.

Villanova, determined to remain undefeated in league play, closed out the scoring with a pass interception by wing three-quarter St. Onge, who romped to the score, and Flynn added his second conversion of the day.

Villanova Wins First Game

In its first outing Villanova conquered the Long Island Rugby Club 27-3 on the losers field March 25. Villanova is in the Eastern Rugby Union composed of 18 teams, three divisions of six each, which comprise all the rugby on the east coast.

Can the Main Liners win their division? Tony Nastri, team captain, states, "the team is extremely enthusiastic, the coach is satisfied with the progress being made, and we have a very good chance—with Columbia being our toughest game."

The remaining schedule holds the Boston Rugby Club at home Saturday, April 22 and Columbia away one week later. Coach Coughlan pointed out that all those interested will be welcomed with no experience necessary and everyone gets to play.

Tareyton delivers the flavor...

Here's one filter cigarette that's really different!

The difference is this: Tareyton's Dual Filter gives you a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL, definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth. It works together with a pure white outer filter—to balance the flavor elements in the smoke.

Tareyton delivers—and you enjoy—the best taste of the best tobaccos.

DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Penn Relay Tickets on Sale in Fieldhouse $.75 for Students

Track Team Enjoys Mixed Success At Quantico Meet

by Bob Larkin

Villanova made a successful defense of its 880 yard relay title in record time while freshman pole vaulter Rolando Cruz outlasted the competition setting another meet record at the Quantico Relays last Saturday. The Wildcat's mile relay unit had to settle for third after anchor man Bob Raemore was scratched due to a muscle pull.

In winning the 880 yard relay the Cats set a meet record of 1:25.3 seconds finishing five yards in front of Maryland State. Villanova's Joe Manion, Paul Drayton, Olympian Frank Budd and Bob Raemore, the same team used last year at Quantico, managed to chop a second off their time this year. Raemore anchoring the team suffered a pulled leg muscle and had to be yanked from the mile relay shortly afterward.

Cruz Cops Award

Rolando Cruz captured the pole vault while setting a new Quantico Meet record at 14-10. After tying Dave Tork and Mel Schwarz at 14-6 Cruz nearly reached a new career high before knocking the bar off at 15-1. Due to the AAU rules the bar was lowered to 14-10 because of the tie where the Villanova Olympian cleared it with ease. Cruz was later awarded the Gutowski Memorial Award in recognition of the late Bob Gutowski who held the meet record at 14-9.

Villanova's mile relay unit looking ahead to the defense of its title for the seventh straight year at the Penn Relays settled for third place as they were edged out by strong Morgan State and St. John's teams. With Raemore injured Drayton ran anchor leg and nearly caught the Redmen's anchor man at the tape. Despite the switch the Wildcats turned in a respectable 3:13.4.

In the Butler Mile won by Peter Close in 4:05.2, Pat Traynor, Villanova's sophomore mile and two mile specialist, finished third. In his first outdoor attempt of the season Traynor, who finished fourth in the IC4A two mile, was clocked in a fast 4:17.6.

The Wildcat's 440 yard relay team which was expected to make a strong showing never made it past the Friday trials. Leading all the way in the trial heats the baton was dropped on the third leg of the relay, eliminating the Mainliners from the finals.

Villanova's All American basketball star, Hubie White, switched from the hardwood court to the hop, step and jump pit and landed in fourth place. Bernie Chavis another basketball player-turned-jumper did not make the trip.

Injuries Hurt

Injuries hampered Villanova's hurdlers Leon Pras and Bob Coffil. Pras, a fourth place finisher last year, was slowed by an achilles tendon injury and did not place.

George Kerr doubling in the 440 yard hurdles and the javelin throw managed a toss of 196 feet. Running in the hurdles for the first time in two years, Kerr was timed in 59 seconds. Villanova freshman, George Reynolds, finished seventh in the javelin competition with a 207 foot effort.

With Budd foregoing the early season dashes, rival Bob Brown from Penn State missed tying the world record for the 100 yard dash by a tenth of a second. Both Fordham and Manhattan showed their strength in the two mile relay by breaking the existing record set last year by Michigan State. The Wildcats two mile relay team which defeated both teams at the indoor IC4A Meet last February did not place.

Queens-Iona Relays

Next Saturday the Cats travel to Randall's Island, New York for the Queens-Iona Relays. This will be the last chance the mile relay team will get to prepare for the defense of its title at the Penn Relays, April 29. Villanova will have to beat world record holder Abilene Christian with Olympic anchorman Earl Young in order to continue its six year domination. On May 26 the Wildcats will return to Randall's Island for the outdoor IC4A Championships.

(Photo by TY Wong)

Junior Hubie White is shown here in mid-air inhop-step-jump event at Quantico. The basketball star placed fourth in the event.

Mahan Men Annex Four In A Row

by Joe McCarthy

Astonishing success in 1961 seems to be the by-word for Art Mahan, who was promoted to the position of Athletic Director at Villanova last month.

In the past week, the Wildcats have crushed two of their Big-Five opponents, LaSalle and St. Joseph's, to gain a first place tie with Temple in the City Big Five championships. Contrary to the efforts of the basketball team, which proved rather discouraging to all Villanovans and even Al Severance, the varsity baseball team still has a good chance of redeeming the Villanova name in athletics.

Weak Rams

Encountering a weak West Chester delegation a week ago. the Cats proceeded to clobber three pitchers for thirteen hits and nine runs in a 9-1 victory. Another adequate performance by star-hurler Phil Fidalgo resulted in his gaining his third complete game and victory in as many starts.

Fidalgo Homers

While pitching the Wildcats to victory, Fidalgo paced the team with three hits in four appearances. With the score 1-0 in favor of the Cats, Richie Richman singled and moved to second on a error in the bottom of the fourth. Fidalgo then came to the plate and ran the count to two balls and two strikes when he crashed the next pitch some 350 feet down the right-field line for a two-run homer. This home run is still the only one hit by the Cats this season.

Following Fidalgo's damage, the WestChester pitcher, Al Patterson, became ineffective. Rightfielder Jack Fahey singled and Shortstop Jack Lynch continued the rally with another. Third baseman Don Melega reached base on an error filling the bases for Catcher Al Wiegand who provided the Cats with some insurance runs by doubling deep over the center-fielder's head, driving in two. The third run, Melega, was out at the plate trying to score from first.

Back to Back

In the fifth the Wildcats again scored four more runs to sew up their win. Center-fielder Joe Cramer and second baseman Dan Baier put back-to-back doubles together while driving in another run. Fidalgo singled home Baier for his third hit which sent the West Chester starter, Patterson, to the showers. After Fahey had sacrificed Fidalgo to second, Lynch and Melega reached on bases-on-balls to fill the bases again for Wiegand who bounded into a force play scoring Fidalgo from third for his fourth rbi of the day.

Errorless Game

Of the six hits West Chester had, three were in the top half of the eighth when they reached Fidalgo for their only run. An impregnable defense was the key to the Cats' first errorless game of the year.

On the next day, Villanova met stiff competition from the Princeton nine. Starter Mike Kiley had a shaky first inning as he failed to hold the Ivy Leaguers who tallied four runs. Fighting back, the Cats scored single runs in the fourth and fifth innings to bring the score to 5-2.

Rallying in the seventh for six runs, the Cats took the lead for the first time which they kept to win 8-5. A bases loaded single by Richman was the big blow that drove in the winning two runs. Wiegand, Cramer, and Platco all contributed singles to the attack. Richman wound up the day with two hits in four trips.

Reliever

Relief pitcher Pete Connors captured his first collegiate victory, allowing only three hits in the last three innings. Coach Art Mahan commented that it felt pretty good to win this one.

On Friday, the Villanova power brigade bombed four LaSalle pitchers for seventeen hits in a 20-6 victory, their seventh straight. Richie Richman's three run double was the deciding factor as the Wildcats kayoed starter Rich Dunn of LaSalle in the first inning. The Cats then followed their four-run first inning with five more in the second, three in both the fourth and fifth, and another five in the sixth.

Richman had two other doubles and paced the club with four rbi's while Wiegand belted a pair of doubles and a pair of singles driving in three runs and scoring four times himself. Sophomore Wayne Waltz pitched his first complete game in tallying his second victory of the campaign.

Eleven Strikeouts

Facing their second Big Five opponent in two days, the Cats slapped a sloppy St. Joseph's team with a 10-5 triumph. Winning his fourth game in as many games, southpaw Fidalgo chalked up eleven strikeouts while allowing nine hits. The Cat infield failed to back up their pitcher as they let several balls go by them.

Tied four-all in the bottom of the fifth, Cramer and Richman singled behind Platco, who had reached base on an error, to produce the tie-breaking run. After Baier followed with a run-producing infield out, the pitcher Fidalgo then delivered another timely single to score the third run of the inning. Richman and Baier paced the club with two hits and three rbi's each.

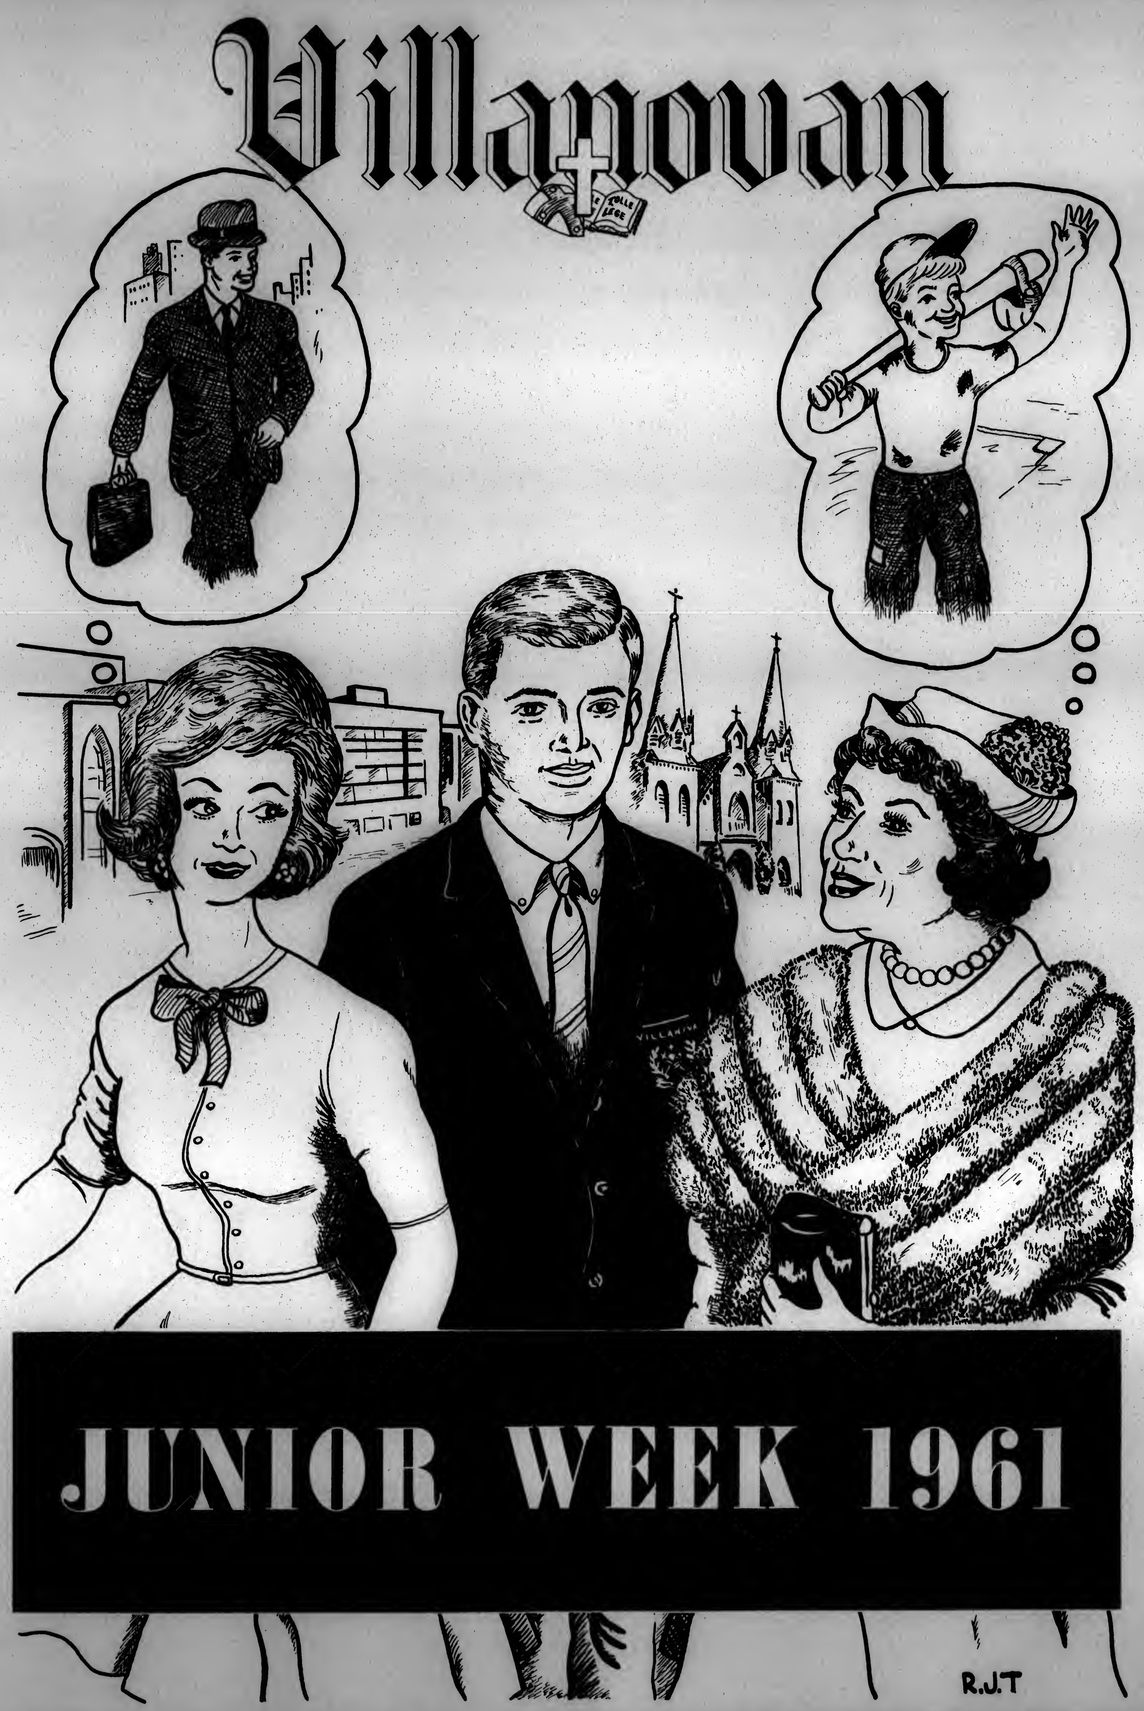
Coach Art Mahan could very well realize his pre-season objectives of winning the Big Five Crown for his fourth straight year and of getting another crack at the NCAA District 2 title. Mahan feels that the hitting and fielding have turned out great but that the pitching is still uncertain except for Fidalgo who acts as the anchor man for the staff. Walz and Kiley will continue to take care of starting duties while Pete Connors will stay in the bullpen as reliever.

Stare

Straighten

Strike

Start



Speed

Photos by Frank Matunis

Phil Fidalgo, 'Cat star Pitcher, goes through the motions of his windup in the St. Joe's game.

The Junior Class officers: Mike Fallon, Treasurer; Joe Noel, Secretary; Mike Pastore, Vice President; and Jim McMonagle, President; busily engage in organizing another class activity. Well, the officers were resting a bit when the camera went into action.

McMONAGLE, PASTORE, NOEL, AND FALLON LEAD JUNIOR CLASS TO REWARDING YEAR

by Ed Graham

This year's junior class has been fortunate in having as its leaders four of the ablest men ever to hold the class offices. Theirs was the difficult task of representing the cross-sectional interests of the class as a whole, finding its collective objective, and attaining it.

In pursuit of this goal their means are often criticized, often unjustly, but nonetheless they are questioned. These men have learned to take this criticism along with an overflow of compliments for a job well done.

Jim McMonagle, the president, holds the most pressing of the four offices. A graduate of Philadelphia's LaSalle College High School, Jim came here and was immediately entangled in class activities. In the second semester of his freshman year, he was elected as resident representative for the remainder of our freshman year and the whole of our sophomore year.

Successful Committees

Realizing the responsibilities of his office, Jim became a member of almost every sophomore class committee. For that year's homecoming game he was chairman of the Sophomore Float Committee, the highly successful Jazz Concert Committee, and many more.

What makes the success of Jim's position today even more remarkable is that he was also a member of the basketball team, a regular in the NROTC, and a member of his professional organization, AIEE-IRE. Add all these together including his work on NFCCS and the Student Senate and you have a busy workday.

Navy Veep

Mike Pastore, our vice-president, comes to us from San Diego, California. He was in the Navy before receiving an NROTC scholarship to attend Villanova. He, too, has played a large part in the activities of the class. Moreover, he has extended his horizon to include the functions of the school as a whole.

Mike was technical engineer of WVIL (now WWVU) in his sophomore year and also was a member of the Shamokinaki and Sophomore Cotillion committees. This week Mike plays the role of Chairman of the Sports Night which will be held on Thursday.

This year Mike stepped up to the position of Photo Department Editor. Under his leadership this department is now supplying most of the photographs needed by the Villanova publications.

Secretary Noel

The secretary of the group is Joe Noel. His is the difficult job of keeping the class informed and interested. For his position he was ably prepared as a student at West Catholic High School, from which he was graduated in 1958. At West Catholic he was co-editor of the school newspaper. This position undoubtedly has benefited him greatly in the execution of his duties.

Joe has been a member of Delta Pi Mu, the Arts Fraternity, since freshman year and has participated in many intramural football games, served on the Nick Basca and the Student Council Dance Committees, and was a member of the Ugly Man committee and the ticket committee for the Orphans' Weekend .

Administrative Positions

For treasurer we elected Mike Fallon, a graduate of the Canterbury School in New Milford, Connecticut. Mike has had his hands full in handling various administrative positions in many of Villanova's clubs. Because of his outstanding ability in administration, Villanova's Music Society has become better known and more popular on campus than it was formerly when it was known as Opera Classica.

Mike has been a member of the Sailing Club, the Society for the Advancement of Management, and the Knights of Columbus. This year, he is the vice-president of the Blue Key Committee and the secretary-treasurer of the Villanova Singers.

Taken as a group, these individuals represent the spirit of the Class of '62. They do more than represent it though, as is evidenced by their outstanding record in extra-curricular activities. We of the class owe them a vote of heartfelt congratulations and sincerest thanks.

Dear Mother,

Today is your day. We dedicate today to you in an attempt to show you our deep love. This day amounts to an external display of our internal gratitude and devotion to you. Though at times we might not show it, inside we are aware of the many things you have done for us and given to us. You have given us many material and temporal aids, but more important, you gave us a spiritual foundation for life. You gave this intangible part of yourself to us willingly and now after these many years, we are slowly realizing exactly what we have. Up until now we have given you only a cursory repayment, but with the maturity that age brings, we now feel a penetrating desire to express ourselves.

And so today we thank you. The magnitude of your gift is awesome. There is no physical way that we could match what you have given to us, so we humbly kneel at Mass this morning and open our hearts to God for you. But we will not stop today; we will extend our Masses and prayers for the rest of our lives. Perhaps then we might be even, but only God will know.

So, dear Mother, as you walk on this campus today please remember that this is your Villanova, for what we claim as ours belongs even more to you. Yes, this is your school—and these are your classrooms and dorms and grounds. We are a small part of you and you are a great part of us. You will go with us through the rest of our stay at Villanova, and for the rest of our earthly days. When we meet in Heaven we will smile and thank you again.

Permit me to join with Chairmen Art Kreisen and Mike Staff, their committee, and the rest of the junior class, in welcoming you and wishing you a memorable day.

Yours truly,
Jim McMonagle
President '62

An Editorial

This edition, as the day, is dedicated to the mothers of the members of the Junior Class. It was conceived and edited with the hope of honoring as many as possible.

It is a tribute and a souvenir to our guests of honor. This newspaper has tried to follow the ideals of the first junior class of the "new frontier." Like the class we have broken tradition. This issue marks the first VILLANOVAN printed completely in blue and white.

The front cover marks another first. It is the first drawing ever to highlight a Junior Week edition.

Like all of the Junior Week functions, many hours of planning and work went into this issue. The artists and photographers worked overtime to please the readers.

The writer's contributions are not all evident in these pages. Several stories of equal calibre were submitted, but were not printed due to a lack of space. To those whose stories were left out, I apologize.

In this newspaper we have tried to convey the story of Junior Week. We have tried to tell what it means to the class, and to each one of us individually.

This is a hard job. For Junior Week 1961 is more than tinsel-and-tuxedoes; it's more than speeches and smokers; it's more than dancing and drinking.

It is perhaps the final rivet that will make our class a solid and united one.

Working on committees, staying up all night painting signs, canvasing the resident dorms, sending letter to parents, and rendering the great decisions between turkey and ham for the dinner dance, have all in a small way aided this final rivet to be put in place.

It will be secured for posterity when this gala week is finished. Twenty years from now, most of us won't be able to remember who sat at our table at the dinner dance, but we will remember who worked with us on this or that project.

This time next year graduation, jobs, marriage, and the draft will be staring at us. Let us take this chance, our greatest, to make the most of our biggest social event at Villanova. With united action and class spirit, this could be one week the Mainline will never forget.

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Special Junior Week Staff

Editor-in-chief ..... Daniel G. Grove
Associate Editor ..... Josephine M. Morello
Managing Editor ..... Edward C. Farrell
Executive Editors ..... Mark F. Quinn, Edward Groham
Feature Editor ..... Joseph A. Mossey
Editorial Consultant ..... Mike Donahue
Copy Editor ..... Thomas O'Connor
Photo Editors ..... Joseph Konienski, Robert Sherman, James Vaccaro, Ty Wong
Sports Editors ..... Joseph Zawacki, J. Edgar Lohr
Art Editors ..... Robert Moss, Raymond Trapp
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, O.S.A.

This special Junior Week issue of the VILLANOVAN is published yearly by the members of the Junior Class of Villanova University.

The Opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the university.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

Leo Goodreau

MOTHER SEES SEAMIER SIDE OF COLLEGE LIFE, BUT SHE SURVIVES TO SECURE SURCEASE

Mike Stapf and Art Kriesen have wistful looks on their faces as they read another nostaglic letter from a Junior's mother. In other moments, they are Mother's Day committee chairmen.

by Kevin W. Shea

It was three o'clock in the afternoon when my heart jumped at the sight of the train rounding the bend. This was the Sunday before Junior Week. I was anxiously awaiting the arrival of my mother at the Villanova Station.

The train shortly disappeared as I conducted my dear mother across the tracks. She caught one of her heels in a railroad tie, twisting her ankle. Of all the bad luck. Thoughts of the infirmary flashed through my head. I proceeded to tell mother that I would take her there piggy-back.

Fortunately the doctor was on hand and gave her some purple pills to take every four hours. He said that it was probably all right to walk on the ankle and more than likely the exercise would do it good. My spirits picked up and we both could not thank him enough.

Food For Thought

Mother mentioned that she had not eaten since breakfast so I escorted her to Dougherty Hall. While in the Pie Shoppe, I bought her a hot dog and a milkshake. Then I headed for the residents' cafeteria.

The menu at the head of the ramp read: Veal Cutlet Parmigiana, Blue Lake Beans Julienne, Soup de la Souer, Fresh Banana Leaf Salad, Hot Potatoes, French Rolls and Butter, Two Pints of Chilled Milk, and Cherry Pie. My mouth filled with saliva.

I gulped down most of my meal and threw my veal among a pack of dogs to watch the fun. The counselor almost threw me out for the disturbance it caused. I took my time eating the cherry pie so that I could enjoy every mouthful. If I had the time, I think I would have eaten the eight slices which had been left on my table.

Mass and Mayhem

After Mass in the grotto the next morning, everyone stood around talking and introducing his mother to his friends. My mother looked real chic. Her outfit consisted of a mink stole, a yellow chiffon dress with a matching Gladstone bag, and a "Jackie Kennedy" parade hat over her left ear. I looked real collegiate in my brand new Robert Hall Harris Tweed suit.

Next, I toured the campus with mother. The handsomely-trimmed emerald lawns, the chirping birds, the cloudless skies, and the near-seventy temperature greatly enhanced the campus. Mother was impressed. I pointed out various buildings as we passed and was surprised to enter what I had thought to be John Barry Hall for a drink of water and found out that it was the library.

Then we proceeded to the quadrangle between Sullivan and Sheehan Halls. It took me about fifteen minutes of explaining before my mother finally located my window. All the while, more and more residents kept coming to their windows, whistling, throwing fireworks, and in brief, making a deafening racket.

More Food, More Mayhem

At two o'clock we paraded into the Field House for the banquet. We sat at the end of a long table with my roommate and his mother across from us. Our mothers raved to each other about how beautiful Villanova was and how lucky their sons were to attend such an institution.

When the fruit cup was served, a cross-eyed fellow on my right started eating out of my cup. Quite irritated, I belted him in the ribs with my elbow. At this, a grape seed flew out of his mouth and hit my roommate's mother in the ear. A small commotion ensued. Fearing that we had offended someone, my cross-eyed friend and I played dumb and no one knew who was responsible.

After the banquet, there were several notable speakers. Mr. Duncan Glomly, A.S.P.C.A., gave a heated discussion on the lack of respect shown toward skunks on the Main Line. He pointed out that some of the less fortunate skunks have been discriminated against at some of the local animal hospitals because no one would back them financially.

Following Mr. Glomly, the grand dragon of the local chapter of the KKK in Conshohocken, Mr. Barry Blunt, gave evidence to show that General Sherman never made it to the sea.

As a third and final speaker, Rear Admiral Gaston Barnacles, courtmartialed, explained how he was indirectly involved in the sale of 10,000 gallons of nitroglycerin to the Japanese Imperial Navy in World War II. Admiral Barnacles also added an encouraging note that although the Soviet Union has 10,000 missiles, parts were furnished by Barnacles Electronics Incorporated, his brother's firm. In the Middle of his speech, a glass went "Kesssssss" as it broke on the floor. There followed a subdued chuckle among the students. It made me mad to think how ignorant some of my classmates were.

Stop The Music

When everyone finished what they had to say, the Villanova Philharmonic Orchestra was introduced. The stage curtains rolled back, entangling some of the band as it did so. There followed a sort of profanity and disorder among the band members. When harmony resumed they opened with V for Victory, by Johannes Zapp, in tune. Then followed the Villanova Singers. As the conductor was frantically waving his arms and twisting his body, he backed up too far and fell off the stage. The ceremonies were shortly completed. After a short stroll through the campus, I noticed that my watch said 5:15 and so we meandered down to the railroad station. Presently the train came along and Mother boarded it. If the train had stopped, Mother's exit would have been much more graceful.

SON?

Mass, Lunch, and Unique Favors Help to Dedicate A Day Mom Will Remember

by Josephine M. Morello

All the words of welcome could not convey adequately the feelings of the Class of '62 toward our honored guests today, our Mothers. Since whatever we say will be an understatement, perhaps it is best simply to say, "Welcome, Mothers—with all our hearts." We've set aside today just for you, and we're going to do everything possible to help you enjoy it.

Today, Mothers, for you, Villanova repeats and enhances one of its best-loved traditions. The first Mothers' Day was held in 1938 and the events for the day were added gradually through the years so that this year we offer you the product of much experience. Although the schedule for May 1 holds no radical departure from preceding Mothers' Days, still it will be something very special to each participating member of the Class of '62 because it involves his—or her—own mother.

It may be strange that an event which seems unimportant and distant to Villanovans during the first two and a half years of college can suddenly become so meaningful. Is it because we don't take time to think about the significance of the day, because we tend to take Mom for granted? Too often this is the case.

Secret Sacrifices

The Class of '62 has given some thought to all you've done for us, Moms. We want you to know that although we'll probably never discover many of the secret sacrifices you've made for us, still we'll appreciate them.

To express this appreciation to you, Co-Chairmen Art Kriesen and Mike Stapf have led us in our objective to make this a day you will never forget, one you will cherish and recall frequently.

Your day on campus will begin formally at 11:00 a.m. with a High Mass to be held in the Grotto. Our class moderator, the Rev. Thomas Kenny, OSA, will celebrate the Mass, which will be sung by the Villanova Singers. The President of the University, the Very Rev. John A Klekotka, OSA, will then give a brief address.

Flower & Favor

Even before the Mass, however, you will find something special planned for you in Dougherty Hall, for this is where you will receive your corsage. Besides the flowers, you will also be presented with a favor, a white mug which bears a picture of the one building on campus that is probably more representative of Villanova than any other—the chapel.

After Mass, Mothers, you will participate in another yearly custom, the dedication of the class tree.

A roast beef luncheon will be held in the Fieldhouse for you, Moms, and you will be entertained by the Villanova Singers, the Concert Band, the newly-formed Women's Glee Club, and others.

Mary Martin's Choice

Finally, as the climax of the luncheon, the Class of 1962's Diaper Dan selected by Miss Mary Martin, will be presented to you.

After luncheon, Mothers, you can return to Dougherty Hall to review pictures of some of the Diaper Dan entries; made even more interesting by the addition of humorous captions.

At 5:15 p.m., you will return to the Grotto for Benediction, thus ending the day on the same religious note with which it was begun.

Selfish Pride

We've asked you to come to Villanova today for several reasons. We think you would like to meet the friends you've heard about, to see where your money is going, to learn where your "baby" spends so much of his time. More than that, we want to show you that we appreciate all you've done for us. But perhaps the biggest reason, Moms, is a selfish one. You see, we know it makes you proud to think, "This is my boy."

'To Temper and To Guide' Is Watchword of Fr. Kenny

Fr. Thomas Kenny

by Joseph Amend

Although Fr. Thomas Kenny OSA, is not going to graduate in 1962, he belongs to the class just as much as anyone who will graduate then. As moderator, he has done an enormous amount of good for the class as a body and for the students as individuals. The results of this good can best be summarized by the impressions of those who worked with him and those who live with him on the third floor of Sullivan Hall.

Jim McMonagle, president of the junior class, finds Father a unique person to work with. Jim has worked with him on most of the class projects and is impressed not only by the fact that Father is there to guide the class when it is necessary, but, even more, that he is anxious to let the initiative of the officers take over the rest of the time. As Father puts it, "I have tried to guide and temper the enthusiasm of youth with the experience of age."

The success of class functions such as the Soph Cotillion and Orphans' Weekend is evidence enough that this guidance has been of no little consequence to the class as a whole.

Father is the counsellor on the third floor of Sullivan Hall. Year after year we find the same students back on that floor. Undoubtedly, Father is the reason they like it there.

B.A.—M.A.—OSA

Besides being the junior class moderator, Father is an important man in the affairs of the University. Indeed, his whole life has been busy. After graduating from high school he attended the Augustinian Academy on Staten Island for one year; he then went to the Good Counsel novitiate for another year. Finally in 1949 he entered Villanova, residing in St. Mary's Hall until his graduation in 1953, when he received his B.A. in philosophy.

From Villanova, Father went to the Augustinian Theological College where he studied for another three years. In 1956, following his ordination, he began the life of a priest.

Father Kenny matriculated at Catholic University until 1957, when he received his M.A. in religion. In 1957 and again in 1959 he was assigned to Villanova; between these two assignments he taught at Monsignor Bonner High School.

Since coming back to Villanova, our moderator has made his presence felt by assuming many duties. Among them are Assistant Dean of Financial Affairs, member of the Athletic Advisory Board, and religion instructor in the Evening Division and in the full-time undergraduate Division.

Interviewing Father I found him to be a tall, balding man of perhaps 35 who spoke with an easy warmth as he sat in his red leather chair. When he spoke of the junior class he said that he has received nothing but the utmost cooperation from the students.

Mention of the Orphan's Outing prompted complimentary comments from Father. He said that he was proud of the way the class became one; the day-hops united with the residents, and nurses pitched right in with the men. The result was a huge success which Father has said before made this a class.

Dear Gabby

WE'VE GOT PROBLEMS

Dear Gabby,

Mother never lets me date any girl two times in the same week. After much persuasion, though, she has finally consented to let me take Maribel to both the Junior Dance and the Junior Dinner Dance. My problem is I don't like Maribel. What should I do?

In A Dither

Dear I.A.D.

Take your mother.

Dear Gabby,

I was planning to buy corsages for Mothers' Day, the Junior Prom, and the Junior Dinner Dance, but the thought appalls me. Not only do I object, but my wallet refuses. Isn't there some way I can economize? Like, could I tie some of our garden flowers together with a ribbon?

Flat Broke

Dear Flat,

You could ask your mother to give you her Mothers' Day corsage after she is through with it. (This might be difficult.) Or you could try to talk a Junior nurse into giving you her Mothers' Day corsage. (This, too, would prove difficult.) Refrigerate the flowers well.

Once you have obtained the corsage you could present it to your date for the Prom, suggesting that she change the ribbons to match the color of her dress. (You might even give her a quarter to pay for the ribbon.) Ask her to be understanding and repeat the procedure the next evening. (Another quarter)

Of course, if you're not taking the same girl to both the Prom and Dinner Dance, then you'll have to ask her to give the flowers back to you at the end of the evening so that you can give them to your date the next night.

Getting the corsage back the second time will be a bigger problem, and you will have to be more tactful. One suggestion: Tell your date that your best friend died and you want to send the flowers to his house the next day. Explain that the flowers must be from the Prom since your friend was planning to attend and his family will appreciate the sentimental gesture.

Gabby

Dear Gabby,

I am a junior at Villanova and one of the girls I date is a Villanova nurse, also a junior. Although there are several girls I could take to my Junior Dinner Dance, I feel certain that the nurse will ask me if I don't ask her first. That way it will be cheaper for me because she will have to pay for the tickets.

This still seems like a good idea to me but the time is running out and so far she hasn't asked me.

Impatient

Dear Impatient,

Good for you! It serves you right. By now you have probably discovered that whether or not she has more money, she does have more cents than you do.

PENN SHERATON'S GRAND BALLROOM TO BE SCENE OF '62'S FIRST FORMAL

by Tom O'Connor

This Saturday, the junior class will culminate the events of junior week with a formal dinner dance. The dance, an annual event, will be the first formal affair in the class's history.

Jack Nolan, chairman of the dinner dance has made reservations at the Sheraton Hotel for the Grand Ballroom which is the second largest ballroom in Philadelphia (only Convention Hall is bigger). The dinner will begin at 7:00 p.m. and the dancing will commence at approximately 9:30 p.m.

Class President, Jim McMonagle, announced that ticket sales would begin on April 19. At 6:30 a.m., the line began to form and the Dinner Dance became an immediate sell-out. Most of the students reserved tables of four or five couples in order to sit with their intimate friends.

Sell Out

Ticket co-chairmen, Pete Federico and Chip D'Ambrosio, remarked that the pre-dance events indicated that the dance had no possibility but to be a huge success. They were astounded by the huge and immediate success of ticket sales. "This quick sale will allow maximum time for the completion of final arrangements for the Dance," announced chairman Nolan. Among those assisting ticket sales were: Jim McMahon, Harry Podell, Tony Coccia, and Dan Peschio.

Jack Nolan (3rd from left) chairman of the dinner-dance discusses the transportation problem with (L to R) Chip D'Ambrosio, Pete Federico, and Tom O'Connor who are all committee heads for the Saturday night affair.

The publicity for the Dinner Dance was handled by Joe Zawacki and Tom O'Connor, who also prepared the Dance Program with the assistance of Gary Schmitt.

Paul Judge

Jack Nolan declared that the band for the evening will be Paul Judge and his Orchestra. They will play almost continuously throughout the dancing period.

Pete Federico was able, through a change in the table arrangements to insure that no alterations will have to be affected in order to prepare for the dance. This will contribute to the harmony of all.

Five-hundred and fifty couples will fill the Grand Ballroom and a melodious and enjoyable time will be had by all who attend. Among those attending will be the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of Villanova; Reverend John Curran, OSA, Vice-President for Financial Affairs; Reverend Joseph Kemme, OSA, Vice-President for Student Affairs. Reverend Joseph J. Gildea, OSA, Vice-President for Academic Affairs. Reverend Thomas C. Kenny, OSA, class moderator, will also be present, along with Reverend Norbert L. Whitley, OSA, University Chaplain.

Success!!!!

Chairman Nolan, announced the menu for the Dinner. It will consist of Fruit Cup, Salad, Roast Vermont Turkey, Peas, Mashed Potatoes, Coffee and Sheraton Ice Cream Bombe.

The Dinner Dance is not only the final event in Junior Week, which will prove to be one of the most successful in history, but it is also the final activity of the Junior Class.

1984 Sees '62's 'Mixed' Success

by Chip D'Ambrosio

After the city had absolved me of my so-called vagrancy and let me out of the "tank," I decided to partake of the invitation I had received concerning a reunion given by the class of '62 at Villanova's Coliseum. As I walked (staggered) in the main door, I paid little heed to the "Big Brother" signs, as we were all used to them by now.

I had no sooner gotten inside than a voice from behind said, "Would you like to take a chance on a trip to Nagasaki?" Naturally, I quickly made an about face, since I had always wanted to see the crater at Nagasaki. "Why, JOHN SIMONE," I cried. "What have you been doing with yourself?" "Selling chances," said John (ask a stupid question and you'll get a stupid answer).

Not having seen the boys for some time, I inquired of John if he would show me around. He said he couldn't, but he did make commentary on several individuals.

There was GENE d'AQUILI who was now working for IBM (he was the instrument they patterned their new machines after) and ED CATALANELLO who became the leader of the Brooklyn Freedom Fighters (an organization to "stomp" out Juvenile Delinquency) and DR. JOSEPH BREEN who was on probation in six states for euthanasia. John then pointed to a man at the bar who could spend more time on the subject (John had to get back to his chances).

Fountain of Youth

As I advanced toward this fountain of youth, I recognized the person as being JIM McMONAGLE. "Hi, Jim," I said. "Hey, Chip, how are ya', it's good to see you," burped Jim. I put the same proposition to Jim as I had to John. He accepted, but on the condition that we do our sightseeing from the bar. Overjoyed to hear this condition, I rapidly turned around and ordered a "satellite" (my favorite) only to find the bartender to be ED SULLIVAN, who said not a word but went straight to his work (good old Santa—I mean Sully).

I asked Jim how he got here, knowing that he lived in California. He said that DON BERRY, who was now the biggest Volkswagen dealer in the world, had sent a car out for him. "Our engineers did well for this government, Chip. RON KLAMMER builds electric torture chambers; ART KRIESEN is head of the Anti-Sex League for Men; ED LOHR is the head of "Frustration Square." DON ALFEIRI is Chief of Secret Police for the North Jersey Shore, as WALT HORN is in the Somers Point sector."

As I ordered another "satellite," he asked if I had seen any of the boys lately. "Yes, I saw DR. RICHARD COLETTA about two weeks ago. Did you read where he performed six brain surgeries the other day?" "Why no, and to think Richie is a chiropodist. Well, you never know do you, Mac? By the way have you see anything of TOMMY GALLEN and ED McCAFFERY?" "Yes, they joined PAUL DOWNEY and GENE CORCORAN and incorporated a law firm. Very successful, I might add. Their road was made easy, though, when they got Adolf Eichmann released on a plea of self-defense."

Borrowed Socks

"Say, Jim, who's the guy standing next to that pole?" "That's MARK QUINN, Chip, head of the Crosswords Inc. Machine Company and incidently, that's not a pole, it's JOE MASSEY. Remember him?" "Do I ever! He's the diplomat that got us into the Third World War when he borrowed a pair of socks from the Russian ambassador and didn't give them back." At this moment, while on my third "satellite," the rhythmic strains of jazz caught my ear. "They're great sounds, Mac, but who's the bald guy in the tux with the red and yellow polka dot shirt leadin' them?" "I'm surprised at you," came the answer. "That's JOE ZAWACKI!"

"Mac, is that PETE FEDERICO over in the corner drinking by himself?" "Yes, it is. He is the head of a hotel in Greece?" "Oh, that's the only place where the menacing hand of the Anti-Sex League doesn't reach him." "I miss TOM WALL and RAY TRAPP, Mac. Where are they?" "It's too bad, Chip. Big Brother liquidated them about a month ago for trying to start their own government." At this point the constantly whirling T.V. came into focus and a voice said, "Will number 482551 come to the doom room!" Jim let out a scream; the number was his. Two mammoth creatures came towards him, well, really swooped down on him. I recognized them as GERRY DONINI and RONNIE MEYERS, the "muscle" for Big Brother.

Chuck Kelly and Metracal

I was not about to move from the bar and would now only talk to people who came to me. CHARLIE LABUS soon drifted in for another drink and we started to gossip. I found out that MIKE FALLON works for SUE Inc. and makes synthetic "bones." DAN O'MARA is head of Radio Free U.S. under leadership of P.E.G.G.Y. with his assistants MIKE McPIKE and JIM BRAITHWAITE. BOB BENSON is currently editor of the newspaper, Monday Blues. PAT KENNY is star of the T.V. show, "How Ya' Doin' Ma' Bucko" and by the way, CHUCK KELLY advertizes METRACAL on the same show. DAVE HUGHES accepted the understudy position for Tarzan and was thrilled when he found out who Jane was."

"Say, Charlie, there's HUBIE WHITE, the author. I read his latest novel "A Voice From the Stands" and it's terrific." "We have a lot of the boys in the entertainment field, Chip. ED FITZMAURICE is also an author. Remember his best seller, "My Wicked, Wicked, Wicked Ways" and MAL CARTON is a syndicated cartoonist of the comic strip "Malcolm Strikes Back." MIKE PASTORE is the head photographer for Plaything Magazine. DAN PESCHIO, MIKE PETTINE, FLO BENAS, TONY LANG and JANET POMPONIO are all members of the actors guild. Dan got the Academy Award in 1970 for "Fort Lauderdale after Dark," Mike's best was "The Life and Legend of Fr. Quine," Flo got best supporting actress in 1974 for her role in "Andy Hardy Goes to the Moon," Janet received international acclaim for her portrayal in the remake of "The Nun's Story" and Tony Lang just acts." With this, Charlie took off for parts unknown.,

Ethiopian Senator

By this time, I was on my fifth "satellite" and was really starting to orbit. All of a sudden someone smoking a big cigar came up and handed me one. The man was that smooth talking senator from Ehtiopia, TONY BATEMAN, followed by his aide-de-camp, BOB GERMER. "How are you, Tony?", I slobbered. "Fine, Chip my boy and how are things in..." At this point Tony flicked his hot ashes into Bob's hands. They burned and Bob revolted. Tony quickly ducked behind the bar.

The whirling T.V. was in focus once more and the voice this time said, "Will number 688729 come to the doom room!" This was my number and it was up. They thought that I had burned Bob. Tony leaned over the bar and said, "Don't worry, Chip, TOM EZREY is really Big Brother." I was now being dragged across the floor by Donini and Meyers and as I passed through those divine portals, I noticed the ever present sign, "Big Brother is watching you" and right underneath it was a tatoo of USMC. I knew then that Tony was wrong about Ezrey and that PETE KELLEY was really Big Brother. Goodbye, Class of '62.

We Came, We Saw, We . . .

OC's, Dances, Pubs, And Books Add To Epic

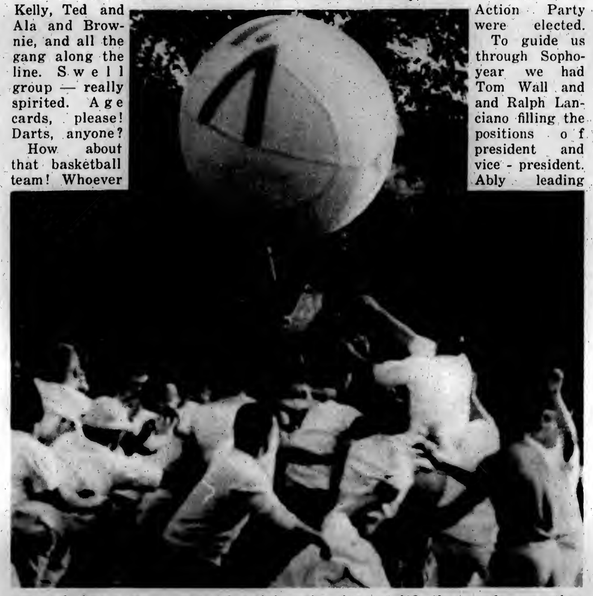
by George Robertson

Impressions, first impressions. Don't they mean a lot? Take for instance my first impression of Villanova. Was I impressed or awe-inspired by the Twin Spires? Was I astounded by the beauty of the campus? Was I startled by the sight of the brawny football players going out to knock heads in preparation for the West Chester game? Yes, but I was further impressed, and also dumbfounded, when I saw the long line that awaited at registration. I soon learned that this was one of the necessary evils of being collegiate. But who wants to be collegiate from the Field House to County Line Road?

And who were those emotional young men shouting such odd commands as "Bwana, Bwana," "Waddya eat?" They were, I was informed, the white hats, the VU version of the spoils system. These were the fellows who were to guide us through our years at VU. After two days, none of them could speak any more, so I decided to seek my own answers to the multitude of mysteries of college life.

For a few weeks I was impeccably dressed in a fine blue Stetson Dink and a gorgeous blue and white bow tie. My pant legs were uniformly rolled up two notches, just so I could be known as a Frosh who might be in need of advice. I was advised once where Sheehan Hall was located and to make sure I remembered, a sophomore had me carry a trunk to his room on the top floor.

Winning Season



Before I had time to recite the Alma Mater to each individual member of the Class of '61, I found myself in the middle of another rowdy group known as football fans. Yes, football season was here and I'll never forget that year with guys like Gene O'Pella, Joe Nardo, Frank Cappelletti, and Jim Grazione pushing opponents around and winding up with 6-4 record. We even beat West Chester that year.

Of all the things that I did that season, I'll never forget Army weekend. How can one forget hearing fire engines in front of the Sheraton McAlpin, tripping over petrified bodies, being pushed in and out of elevators, paying $1.50 for a rye and soda, tripping over petrified bodies, ducking out of the way of television sets as they hurtled down from the 22nd floor, tripping over petrified bodies, trying to find my date, people tripping over me, being hurled out of a 22nd story window? If anyone remembers me, I'd appreciate it if they would answer one question "Did I have a good time?"

Oh yes, the game! No, it was not called off on account of hoof-and-mouth disease among the Army mules. Somebody just dropped a piece of VU chicken in their stall.

A Tribute To The Main Line

Who will ever forget Ma and Al Thumb?—best sandwiches on the Main Line! A toast to them and also to Dan Kelly, Ted and Ala and Brownie, and all the gang along the line. Swell group — really spirited. Age cards, please! Darts, anyone? How about that basketball team! Whoever expected that a team composed mainly of Sophomores could ever earn a NIT bid. There were all kinds and types on that team, a diminutive backcourt star (probably here on a Grandma Moses scholarship), a center who had the habit of losing contact lenses during the games, one of the best rebounders in the nation, and a shoulder-shrugging, anticfilled front-court man. Yes, here I was spending all my money commuting between VU, Thumb's, and the Palestra. Basketball season proved more fruitful than the football season and we were right into track.

Who will ever forget Ed Collymore, Charley Stead, Joe Manion, and Nick DeAngelis beating Morgan State in their fifth consecutive Mile Relay Championship of America?

It was at this point that the Class of '62 showed its true colors and unity. Never before had a class been so spirited as to elect a complete party. Through the efforts of many, all six candidates of the Action Party were elected.

To guide us through Sophoyear we had Tom Wall and and Ralph Lanciano filling the positions of president and vice - president. Ably leading the class of '62, they made sure that everyone was well-informed on all the major issues that came up during our sophomore year.

"Good grief, Charley Brown! It's picnic season!" "Who brought the coils?" "One, two, buzz. . ." Yes, that season of all seasons, the time when all young men turn to thoughts of beer, was upon us.

Class Of?

Nobody likes to read about distasteful things so I won't mention anymore about final exams other than the fact that they are here to stay.

Well, here I was, back for another year more year. Now that I was a sophomore and knew all the idiosyncrasies of collegiate living, I was able to put my experience to use and instruct the members of the Class of '63 how to become Villanovans. "That's right, Frosh. Twenty-five cents."

Army Weekend Again

What do you know, Army weekend again! Who will ever forget Bill Koch looking all over the Statler Hilton for his ring-necked preposterous? How about a cheer for the boys from the racket squad? "My date did not have flat feet; she was just shorter than most girls."

We might say that the record produced by the football team was not the most enviable one that Villanova ever recorded in the record books, but there were many events that made the season an exciting one.

There were close games, but unfortunately, they were all on paper. One thing is for sure, we really fooled the oddsmakers. Better brush up on your statistics, boys.

Ray of Hope

Yes, a 1-9 record was not the most enviable, but with the announcement that Alex Bell would be the head coach the following season, a faint ray of hope emerged from behind the dark and gloomy clouds that had shrouded the fortunes of our football team.

Our first big dance, the Soph Cotillion, provided a most enjoyable evening. A Spanish theme was capped off by the construction of a huge Sombrero. That little bit of information is for the benefit of all who might have thought that all our labors went into the making of the world's largest ashtray.

The Cotillion, coupled with the arrival of our school blazers, could not have been a more enjoyable event. Decked out in the blue and white garments of college students, we soon learned that there is one place where they should not be worn: the local emporiums. How many of us were believed to have been, up to that point, juniors or seniors? My system was set back at least two years.

Our Hubie

At last it happened. The advent of a new superstar was upon us. The Wildcat Basketball team, led by its sophomore sensation, Hubie, went to the NIT as a losing proposition, only to emerge with a victory over highly-touted Detroit, and

(cont'd on next column)

History...

(continued from opposite page)

a one point near-miss with Utah State. Max Perry and Al Truax did the carpet pulling.

One of the most exciting games to have been watched that season was played in a little town obscured by hills, basketball nets, and tall men, called Morgantown, West Virginia. Although the Cats, with Jimmy Huggard's 24 points, lost 89-81, an upset was nearly realized. It was a well-worth-while trip for me, sitting among the 13 other Villanovans in a crowd of 7,200 Mountaineers. For a while it looked like a playback of the Civil War.

The trackmen took over right where the charges of Al Severance had left off. Winning was not the most important thing, it was the only thing. The Indoor IC4A Championship, the unprecedented sixth Mile Relay Championship of America at the Penn Relays, the Outdoor IC4A championship, were all in the record books. Jumbo Elliott's men showed the track world that Villanova meant business and proved it.

Fidalgo and Baseball

Baseball was much the same story. Led by big bats of Danny Renn and Al Wiegand, the Wildcats earned themselves a place in the NCAA Regional Tournament. The bulk of the pitching duties rested on the shoulders of Phil Fidalgo, who, with his string of no-hitters and shut-outs, was the biggest topic of discussion since Carter invented pills for little livers.

Exams again—"No Doz," black coffee, books, books, books, and then, "Hi Mom, I'm home!"

Junior year—I can't believe it! First big thing—Junior Class rings. Now, if not before, we could tell where we were from merely by glancing at our fingers. Heaven knows, we had to glance down; we couldn't lift our hands to eye level with all that extra weight.

Lengthiest Inscription

Top award for the lengthiest inscription in a ring goes to Gaylord Q. Biggsby —"To our ever-loving child, Gaylord Q. Biggsby, on the event of his junior matriculation. May he forever remember his college days and all of his warm and hungry friends at Villanova University in statu Pennsylvania."

In an all-out effort to improve upon the previous year's football record, the blue and white boys of bulk fought tooth and nail and managed to attain their goal: they won two games. Of course, the biggest thrill was our upset victory over Rutgers.

Soaped Mirrors

Seen written in soap upon one of the mirrors in Sullivan Hall was the following: "Defeater of the undefeated; vanquisher of the unvanquished; conqueror of the unconquered: BRING ON IOWA." It is spirit such as this that gives the janitor a headache. How about that tree next to the fieldhouse, and Christmas was still more than a month away.

The squad, composed mainly of juniors, showed the promise and gained the experience that spell success in the future. We are sure that Alex Bell will be able to look back with pride upon the day that he inked a Villanova contract.

Class Unity

Never before now had such unity been displayed by any class in the history of Villanova. By now I mean the Annual Orphans' Outing. The members of the student body learned just what is meant by cooperation. Working as a group, the class raised enough money, through donations and the Ugly Man Contest, to provide the orphaned children at the St. John's home with one of the finest Christmas presents that they have ever had. Gifts galore, soda, ice cream, movies, and one swell time, dancing in their heads certainly gave the orphans a more meaningful Christmas season.

The track season came in like a lion and the biggest name was that of Frank Budd of the Class of '62. Frank's feats at Rome were read by all who followed Olympic games.

In closing, it is only appropriate that tribute be paid to one of the most noble of all Villanovans. An educated man, valedictorian of his class, outspoken, and genuinely a part of all Villanova functions, Al Serverance leaves behind him 32 years of coaching service. With Al Serverence leaves an institution within an institution. Few men anywhere have accomplisheld as much as "the Grey Fox" did here. The name Severance will always be synonymous with winning basketball. To our incoming coach we may wish only those joys that Mr. Severance, himself, possessed.

Each and everyone of us carries his own memories. Some we'd like to forget, most we would like to remember. This expose has barely scratched the dandruff off the head wherein the memories lie. We have established a reputation for tradition making and forward looking ideals. If we continue in life as we have here at Villanova, by the time of our 25th reunion, we should be holding, instead of formal affairs, barbeques.

The Class of '62 as bedinked Frosh. We really didn't like Ram's meat but those white hats said we should.

Leader Brazel

Biology Major Joe Brazel Is Class Academic Leader

by Mark F. Quinn

Junior Week has a very special significance for several of the 838 members of the Junior Class. This something special is outstanding achievement in the realm of scholastic endeavor. The academic leader of the class as a whole is Joseph Brazel who possesses a cumulative average of 3.86. Brazel is a Biology major from Bridgeport, Pa.

In the Arts, the top student is Vedder White, a History major with a 3.48. Joseph Massey is the leader among the Political Science majors with a 3.39. Richard Harrington has achieved a 3.36 to head the list of General Arts majors. Anthony Coccia, with a 3.26, leads the Philosophy majors. H. Patrick Voelcker leads his fellow English majors with a 2.84.

DeSanto Second

The outstanding students in the Sciences are topped by Joseph Brazel, but running a close second is John DeSanto with a 3.80 as a Physics major. Eugene d'Aquili leads the A.B. Science majors with a 3.77. Leo Hicky is foremost among the Geology majors with a 3.63 cumulative. William Cercone has achieved a 3.29 to lead the Social Science majors. Brian Gordon tops the Mathematics majors with a 3.28. Dominick Minerva has merited a 3.22 to lead the Education majors. Jerry Donini accumulated a 3.21 to be high student among Psychology majors. Leader among the Chemistry majors is William Rademaker who has achieved a 3.02.

The outstanding student among the twenty student nurses of the Junior Class is Josephine Morello who has merited a 3.64 cumulative.

Lane Tops C&F

The academic leader in the Commerce and Finance School is John Lane, an Industrial Administration major with a 3.79. Edward Costello tops the Accounting majors with a 3.66. Robert Bowers, with a 3.54, heads the list of Junior Class Marketing majors. Academic leader of the Finance majors is David D'Attilio with a 3.45. Edward Mayo accumulated a 3.26 to lead the Pre-Law majors.

In the Division of Engineering, William Fleck has achieved academic preeminence with a 3.81 as a Civil Engineer. Ralph Esposito has merited a 3.69 to lead the Electrical majors. John Keiser accumulated a 3.64 average to top the Mechanical majors. Frank Brzenk heads the list of Chemical majors with a 3.47 cumulative.

"Out of The Mouths of Babes....."

RICHARD THOMAS
"Those monthly payments are rough, but man you just can't live without a convertible."

LOUIS CENTRELLA
"First San Juan Hill, then the Senate, then, who knows?"

HOWARD BELOIN
"We will fight them on the beaches, and in the air . . ."

ROBERT BOOTH
"Damn phone."

CARL ACKERMAN
"Last thing I remember, we were coming out of Kelly's."

ALFRED MAZZI
"OK, OK, just wait til he snaps this picture."

ANTHONY COSTABILE
"Fire when ready, Gridley."

JAMES BARONE
"I don't go for this 'women and children first' bit."

MARK DEVANEY
"If that guy kicks sand just once more, I'll . . ."

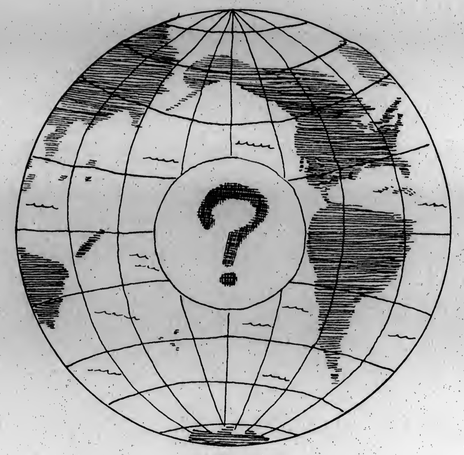
J. CONLEY
"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

BRIAN GORDON
"All right men, the first thing we want to do is wipe out these damn mosquitoes."

THOMAS ESREY
"It must have been that third olive."

JOHN PASTOR
"You should have seen me before I tried zen."

FRANK HURLEY
"You get the hubcaps, I'll watch for the cops."



"And Then There Were Four...."

SHARON HURLEY
date of Ray Trapp

JUDITH JEAN KUSS
date of Robert Murphy

PAULINE SIMON
date of Louis Pace

DIXIE LEE FRYE
date of Sal Rico

Marine Muses

Sad Sack With Pen Relives Past

Dear Grimes;

Since my academic demise last semester, I've been sitting around Parris Island being comforted by my DI and waiting for some Laotian to fire the missile heard around the world. While I was doing my bit towards national security (peeling 10 tons of potatoes), my mind wandered to Villanova and the Junior Week I'll miss. I know that it will be tremendous because the class is well equipped to throw parties.

As I let my mind wander once more, I thought about our class and revelled in amazement over the individuals that I knew. What a collection of characters! I began to compile a list of things that I recalled about them. Finally after several sliced digits and several tons of skin-shorn spuds, my memory and my capacity for laughter were exhausted. Here are the things, some fact and some fiction, that ran through my mind:

. . . SAM GRUNEISEN'S wedding in Louisville. The guests from Villanova were so impressed with Southern girls that the party in the Sealback Hotel wasn't even interrupted when firemen arrived to put out the blaze next door. ED LOHR and BILL MIENHART had so much fun that they were seriously considering foresaking the Dinner Dance to go to the Derby . . . BILL KOCH'S cannon collection . . . JOE RENZETTI and LLOYD NEARING doing their best to uphold the Villanova tradition in the Little Creek Officer's Club . . . JOE MASSEY and CHIP D'AMBROSIO, famous for lengthening the lunchbreak at the PSFS Building. The reason they gave the president was that they couldn't possibly run an elevator and pursue all of the shapely young secretaries in an hour . . . DAN PESCHIO'S tremendous job in ghosting "Where the Boys Are," (it's rumored he got most of his material from actual experience) . . CHARLIE ESCHMANN and TOM WILUTZ hitting on the foolproof way to get out of final exams—just catch yellow jaundice or at least make the Infirmary think you have.

. . . DAVE SHEA's surprised look when his Johnnie ordered a mug of "Bud" during the Orphan's Outing . . . TOM O'CONNOR and TOM ESREY wearing Kennedy buttons while they worked at the polls for Nixon . . . TERRY DONNELLY's public relations job with NBC last summer hit its zenith when he escorted Lassie to the Veterinarian and then to supper at Ciro's . . . JOE ZAWACKI's futile attempts to grow back the hair he lost during the Payola investigation (Joe was innocent but WWVU director, DAN O'MARA questioned him thoroughly) . . . PETE KELLY's tremendous attendance record . . . JOE CARNEY's popularity at local girl's colleges . . . MALCOLM CARTON'S demand for a recount after the presidential election. This deep-seated disappointment of Mal's can be traced to a political promise that he would be named 16th undersecretary of state in charge of distributing surplus hoola-hoops to underprivileged Eskimos in the Nixon administration.

. . . PAUL BREEN's refusal to be the Metracal Man on TV because he doesn't like pigeons . . . OTIE DRAYTON's mania for the mambo which may someday force him to choose between the Arthur Murray Dance Party and the 1964 Olympics . . . CHARLIE LABUS who taped an interview with Kennedy during the campaign by impersonating Edward R. Morrow. He wasn't detected until he offered JKF a Camel instead of a Kent. . . . The time JIM McMONAGLE tried out for Lorretta Young's summer replacement, his smile was equal to hers but he was disqualified when he showed his inability to run through a door (he slammed it on his dress . . . . . .)

. . . HUNSY VOELCKER's collection of rejection slips from national magazines . . . my collection of rejection slips from colleges . . . the time MIKE PASTORE got his first photo assignment from the VILLANOVAN, to cover the Army weekend in New York, and returned with six pictures taken from the rear of the Staten Island Ferry, two shots of a half eaten tunafish sandwich (with lettuce and mayonnaise) and a very arty shot of the elevator shaft in the Sheraton McAlpin Hotel . . . MARK QUINN's baggy pants . . . MIKE MORONEY's grief when the Big Bopper died . . . the time BILL HUSSEY broke up the riot at the Newport Jazz Festival by selling bibles to the crowd . . . PETE NOLAN's patriotism . . . the time a senior told BUD BELOIN that the Merion Cricket Club was the DPM fraternity house . . . the manager of the Cricket Club when he informed BELOIN of his mistake . . . the time JOE NOEL set an Intercollegiate record for sleeping while standing up in the rare books section of the Library, (a sixth year dancing major from St. Joe's claims to have broken Joe's record but the N.C.A.A. officials ruled that he was in the comic book section . . . the time a freshman asked TONY BATEMAN if his last name was Bonaparte. . . .

Pooley Ex-Villanovan

. . . JACK WEED's amazed expression when ED LOHR caught the bouquet at SAM GRUNEISEN's wedding . . . when a bright eyed Cabrini co-ed asked ART KRIESEN and LEO KRIEDLER of the Library staff, where she could find a Mirriam Webster Collegiate Dictionary; and after much searching they informed her that rare books were under lock and key . . . BOB GERMER's disappointment after losing the "Ugly Man" Contest . . . PHIL LUDLOW's moonshine still in basement of Mendel Hall.

I could probably go on forever but I'm beginning to get nostalgic now and everyone knows Marines don't cry, not even if they are slicing onions. Why only last night my gunnery sergeant told me how John Wayne captured Iwo Jima with a bayonet sticking in his left earlobe. It's really nice to have someone tell you goodnight stories, it takes your mind off your troubles. Don't get me wrong, I like it here, it's something like Villanova; only instead of white hats we have drill instructors who make us learn songs like the "Marine Corps Hymn," instead of "V For Villanova." We have to stand in line all the time. We have a little game called bayonet drill that's something like Muff Day. Instead of getting campused we take invigorating marches in the picturesque swamps. We don't have any big social events, but GI parties are loads of fun.

Instead of St. Patrick's Day in New York or Easter vacation in Fort Lauderdale, the major lets us go on bivouac. They have dime night every night at the PX and no one gets carded. So you can see it's really not so bad.

Lohr

I still long for spring on the Mainline. The busy preparation for Junior Week is exciting. The challenge of borrowing five bucks from mom on "her day" is great. The sound of P and W is so romantic. Ah well there's always sentry duty.

Yours truly,
Olaf Pooley
USMC

'NEWPORT' COMES TO VILLANOVA JUNIOR WEEK ADDS JAZZ SHOW

The fabled Villanovans, blowing a few notes in the Quad. This group will highlight the Jazz Show.

Jazz visits the Villanova campus on Tuesday night of Junior week as the class sponsors the First Annual Inter-Collegiate Jazz Concert, "The Theme Is . . Jazz". With the dropping of the Augustinian Seminary Guild's annual show, the Junior class hopes to make this tradition, in years to come.

The concert will consist of eight groups from various colleges, both combo and band. Also, the "T-Tones" from Rosemont, a singing group, will be featured. Franklin and Marshall is sending an eighteen piece band. From Glassboro, will come a five piece modern group. A Ramsey Lewis type trio is scheduled to appear from West Chester and groups from St. Joseph and the Ogontz center of Penn State will vie for 1st place along with the host Villanovans group.

The Class has also been fortunate in securing the services of Toby De Luca of radio station WFIL and Bruce Davidson of Capitol records to act as judges. Both men are highly active in the field of music and their concentration is on Jazz.

The event is open to the rest of the school and the public although Juniors will receive priority in matters of seats. All juniors are reminded to invite their friends and parents to the affair which will cost only $1.00 per person.

Braithwaite Chairman

Jim Braithwaite is heading the Junior contingent that is planning the affair and his aides are Terry Donnelly and Bill Kcch for lighting and sound and Joe Zawacki is handling publicity. Notices have already been published in Billboard and Down Beat about the affair as well as over some of the local radio and TV stations. Zawacki will also act as emcee for the show which will begin promptly at 8:00 p.m. on May 2, the Tuesday night of Junior Week. Donnelly is hoping to install an informal type setting on the stage while Koch is working out different ways to enhance the sound. All members of the contingent are also hopeful of coming up with a surprise or two for the entertainment of their classmates and friends.

If the event proves successful this year with enough support from the student body, it is hoped that the groundwork would thus be laid for succeeding Junior classes and that this would make it easier to receive adequate response in the future to put over a successful show.

Added Braithwaite: "We've done quite a bit thus far and our only hope is that the school likes the show as much as we liked preparing it."

A Large Part of Class Success Story Credited To '62 Steering Committee

by Bob Benson

The function of the Steering Committee as stated by the Chairman of the organization, Jim McMonagle, is "to help formulate all class policy.

Charity Weekend

The first big event presided over by them this year was the Charity Weekend with Ron Klammer and and Dan Martin as general chairmen. The specific purpose of the weekend this year, as every year, was to raise money to make the orphan's annual Christmas Outing and Party a success. The Christmas Charity Ball was held on December 2nd and was met with great response by the entire student body thanks to the efforts of Mike Kane and Ray Trapp.

The orphan's outing, headed by Bud Beloin and Tom O'Connor, was held on December 3rd in the 69th Street area. Thanks must be given to all students and their dates who participated, but their rewards were to be found in the beaming faces of the youngsters they escorted.

The Christmas Party on December 6th was also an affair to be remembered. Thanks to the time and effort of Dan Peschio and Jim Braithwaite the party at St. John's was appreciated by both the orphans and the students.

The members of this year's Steering Committee are as follows: Joe Little, C&F; Chip D'Ambrosio, Arts; Den DeMarine, Eng.; Tony Bateman, Arts; Dom Minerva, Arts; Dutch O'Malley, Arts; Ron Klammer, Eng.; Don Williams, Eng.; Jim Braithwaite, C&F; Bill Hurley, Arts; Jim Bollini, C&F; Henry Fulmer, Arts; Dick Corsini, C&F; Bill Long, Arts; Dan Peschio, Arts; Pete Federico, Arts; Art Kriesen, Eng.; Tom Henry, C&F; Jack Nolan, C&F; George Robertson, C&F; Dan Martin, Arts; George Snyder, C&F; Rich Niemczyke, Eng.; Mike Kane, C&F; Jack Weed, Arts Dave Muir, C&F; Mary Fay, Nursing; Len Carnagie, Eng.; George Schmid, Eng.; Howard Beloin, C&F; Mary Lou Scanlon, Nursing; Dick Lennon, C&F; Dan Grove, Arts; Gary Guarch, Arts; Mike Stapf, Eng.; Bill Meinhardt, Eng.; Ed Lohr, Eng.; Mark Quinn, Arts; John Kennedy, Eng.; Ann McCrea, Nursing; Dick Harrington, Arts; Jack Kennedy, C&F; Mal Carton, Arts; Gerry Corrigan, C&F; Ray Trapp, Arts; Gene Kiernan, Eng.; Tom O'Connor, Arts; Gary Schmitt, Arts; Mary Liz McConaghy, Nursing; Margaret Sharkey, Nursing.

Also on the Steering Committee by way of office held: Jim McMonagle, Class President (Chairman of the Committee); Mike Pastore, Class Vice-President; Joe Noel, Class Secretary; Mike Fallon, Class Treasurer; Tom Wall, Res. A&S Student Council Rep.; Frank Greek, Day A&S Student Council Rep.; Charlie Labus, Res. C&F Student Council Rep.; Bob Benson, Day C&F Student Council Rep.; Lloyd Nearing, Res. Engr. Student Council Rep.; and Richie Loftus, Day Engr. Student Council Rep.

The Junior Class is well represented on the Student Council by these fifteen members. They are Bottom Row (L to R) Richie Loftus, Joe Little, Josie Morello, Flo Benas, Tom Wall, and Jim McMonagle; Second Row Lloyd Nearing, Charlie Labus, Frank Greek, Mike Staff, and Bob Gray; Top Row: Tom Curran, Bob Benson, Bill Finnegan, and Frank Bentz. . .

'61 EXTRAVAGANZA STEMS FROM TRADITIONAL JUNIOR WEEK ROOTS

by Tom Wall

Villanova could quite easily be called a school of traditions. Nearly every social event presented on campus, and even those presented off-campus, are but the carrying out of an elderly tradition.

When a freshman arrives at Villanova he hasn't the time to consider traditions in their true sense. Granted, he is greeted by an often hostile orientation committee, but this unforgetable exception and its place at Villanova are but other phases of college life with which the ignominious freshman must familiarize himself.

However, as time progresses, the freshman begins to put the pieces of this great puzzle together and he finds that each has its special place. He passes down the social calendar, which offers much to him, and he can't help noticing the many colorful events which are at his disposal. Naturally there are those events which mean more to some than they do to others, and Junior Week festivities would have to be classified in this manner. As a freshman we become awe-struck at the mere reality of such a gala affair, "One whole week of enjoyment." Certainly that apparently intangible "someday" arrives rather quickly, and before the once apprehensive frosh realizes it, Junior Week is upon him and at last what he has waited for so impatiently is but a few days away.

Began in 1925

One question which we may otherwise fail to consider is, when did this great tradition begin and how it has changed through the years?

Junior Week officially began in 1925. The week commenced with a Solemn Mass and proceeded to include various athletic events between the classes during which a tug-of-war over a pond was held. The object of the game was to see the losing team get totally drenched before bowing out. Later on in the week a ladies' day was held involving the girls from Rosemont. Today this would seem to be a mixer with refreshments being served. Evidently some members of the class were still in search of dates for the weekend and this was to be a last resort-type affair. On Friday evening the prom was held and no doubt the class of '26 was no less agog than each of their descendants have been.

Fathers' and Mothers' Days

Junior Week continued along much the same lines until 1931 when a Father's day was instituted along with a farewell dance given by the Junior Class in honor of the graduating seniors. The next innovation appears to be the Blazer Ball which was held during the week along with a ring ceremony. Also during the week all juniors wore blazers and carried canes to signify their status.

In 1935 Junior Week began to take on an air similar to that with which we are presently familiar. Mothers' Day replaced Fathers' Day as the kick-off event of the week. Fathers' Day is now held in senior year. Also during this week the customary dinner dance saw its origin and has since grown to become the climaxing and finishing event of the long-to-be-remembered week.

Thus we can readily see that Junior Week did not just appear from nowhere and that even some thirty-seven years ago the social life of the Villanovan was of monumental importance to him. The events of those days gone by are to my way of thinking a far cry from the Junior Week of today. Building on to a tradition that stems as far back as this one is no easy undertaking, yet each year the week seems to pick up and add features which it previously lacked.

Prom and Dinner Dance

This year, for instance, the dance will be a semi-formal affair rather than one of a formal nature as it has been in the past. This, in essence, will appeal to the comfort of the student who might have that locked-up feeling one often possesses when wearing a tuxedo. The class of '62 will be dancing to the music of Billy Butterfield and his orchestra. Butterfield is just one more name to be added to the list of greats who have appeared here in the past, such as Hal Kemp (referring again to antiquity), Guy Lombardo, the Dorsey Brothers, Glenn Miller, and Richard Maltby, to mention a few.

The following evening, dressed in formal attire, the Class will assemble at the Sheraton Hotel in Philadelphia for its presentation of the dinner dance which will probably be the most colorful and lavish affair of the week.

Certainly, more is to be stressed during Junior Week than just the two dances and a favorable amount of socializing. Nothing is more symbolic of the Villanova spirit than the annual Mothers' Day. This is the one day of the year when all else is forgotten and the Villanova junior plays host to a proud and elated mother. After Mass in the grotto, the class gift is presented. This is followed by a dinner and entertainment. Throughout the day the Villanovan and his mother meet new friends and renew old acquaintances.

The remainder of the week is filled with several other activities, the first of which was held last evening. At that time many juniors took their mothers to see the annual production of Turf and Tinsel, a musical comedy in which men play all parts. This year's show, "Southern Comfort," was written by a former member of T&T. A Variety Show on Tuesday night featuring musical groups from Eastern colleges and universities will be held. The participants will be judged by a night club owner, a record executive, and a radio station music director.

Sports For The Sports

On Wednesday a Sport's Night will be held. At this "smoker" movies of past athletic events will be shown and awards will be presented to the outstanding junior athlete in each major field of sports.

Finally, on Thursday, the last of the subordinate activities will take place. This is the annual Athletic Day when the members of the junior class compete against the seniors in various athletic contests, in a repeat of the Muff Day match held nearly three years ago.

Thus we see Junior Week divided into three major activities and four rather "relaxed" affairs. All in all, the Junior Week of 1961, the sum total of events held by juniors since 1925, promises the Villanovan a well balanced weekend of activity, fun, and relaxation—something not soon to be forgotten.

Six of Alex Bell's finest mesdames; John Osborne, Bob Capone, Tom Griffin, Bob Merenda, Al Reinoso, and Joe Luzzi, do the Irish can-can in Sunday nights production of "Southern Comfort."

'Southern Comfort' Sets Well As T'n'T Scores Another Hit

by Gus Susnjara

Last night in the Field House, the final performance of Turf and Tinsel's perennial five day run, came off replete with the usual clowning and buffoonery that has made the all-male musical a traditional event on the Villanova campus. This year's original comedy, "Southern Comfort," was created by Bob Shiller, an ex-TNT performer and originator of the "Villanovans" jazz group.

The play is set in post-bellum New Orleans, ebullient with its magnolia-musked, sweet social nicety; and, of course, those farcical and frenetic characters which typify Old Southern behavior abound throughout the production.

The plot centers around Jeff Wade, who, on returning to New Orleans after the death of his father, finds his old friend Lil White (Mae West of the cotton kingdom) perilously on the brink of having her saloon, the "White Lily," purloined by the underhanded guile of the allegorical Huey P. Longley, and of his henchmen, Mannie, Moe, and Jack.

"I'm Not The Type"

The next scene takes place in the "White Lily" where Lil (Joe Ruggiero), vamps the ballad "I'm not the type" in a Sinatra-like style. Then during the singing of "Something for the Boys" a horde of naughty can-can neophytes in the person of Joe Luzzi, and his footballing friends, spice the scene with an unquestionably sexy rejuvenation of six Juliet Prowses. Suddenly Huey and his degenerates return to hurl a few more vituperative threats which are parried by Wades long time buddy, Beauregard Baumgartner, the Yiddish rebel with a cause (eventually emerging as lechery). As the scene ends, Bill Flick solos "So Goes My Love," a rather wet ballad which clues the audience to Jeff's impending lovesickness over Magnolia, who is presently affianced to John Laffet, rapskallion in disquise and mastermind behind Longley's hoodwinking. As Act I closes Magnolia's parents, Maximillian and Oleander Mirabeau announce the engagement.

The second act opens with a church scene which makes absolutely no sense at all. The couples entering the gate seem headed for a wedding but no nuptial goings-on ever occur. This is followed by a sort of jazz ballet, a clever idea, but again failing in any sort of continuity and seething with nondescript choreography. The dance is done in dark costuming to create a silhouette illusion, but too many dancers who are unable to keep the exact timing necessary, continually blur the desired shadowing.

Exit The Cabaret

By this time the anti-Lil exponents have reached the diabolical stage, and the three stooge symbols enshamble the cabaret. Here the dialogue becomes a bit drawn out, but, Oleander (Tom Kepner) livens up the scene by becoming more than a little plastered on Lil's "cough medicine" and ultimately passing out.

The next day Jeff and Beauregard return to the Mirabeaus to make amends for their own dissipated performances at the engagement party. The next scene finds Laffet and Magnolia planning an evening out when Manny, Moe, and Jack proceed to ice John with a blackjack and kidnap Magnolia whom they hide on the boat dock. Jeff and Beauregard arrive at the dock, find Magnolia, and are conked by the returning conkers. The elder Laffet (who has mended his once evil ways) reverses the patricide gimmick and erases Junior. Jeff decides to marry Magnolia and Beauregard marries the Mirabeau's french maid, Brigette (now revealed as a Semite named Elsie Schwarzenheimer). Oleander winds up as new owner of the "White Lily" Tea Room.

The cast notables are difficult to single out because of the nature of the show. The solos of Joe Ruggiero as Lil and Bill Flick as Jeff were the most creditable singing performances. The characters whose comic antics were most impressive were Max Mirabeau played by Mike Tighe; his beloved buxom spouse Oleander in the person of the more than amply physical attributed Tom Kepner; Beauregard emerged as a confederate oriented Yiddish portrayed by Paul Rosen and Huey P. Longley was effectively evilly done by Al Massey.

Kudos

Along with every member of the cast, kudos must be directed towards Pete Kenny, stage manager, for his excellent set; Betty Green, director; Angel Barton, choreographer; the "Villanovans," and everyone who was at all concerned with the show.

As with T&T shows in the past, T&T was a unanimous success. It is a farce, a baubel, an attempt at whackery and a hodge-podge of that natural sort of comedy which could never be put on by a professional group. Missed dance steps, forgotten lines and zany ad-libbing make the show one of the most laughable and entertaining of the year.

"Midnight Cruise" Highlights Innovated Informal Prom

by A. G. Bateman

The Junior dance, which will be held on Friday night, May 5, in the Field House, found its beginnings on the sun drenched beaches of Ocean City, N.J., in the final lazy days before the present school year began. Labor Day weekend was over and the crowds which had the town bursting at its seams had, in one short day, given way to a deserted, peaceful, small town. The lonely shops with their clearance sales of summer clothes, the deserted beaches where only a few fortunate people were basking in the glory of the sun, the deserted Sommer's Point taverns where a select few had become steady visitors—all these were present for the birth of the extravaganza which we will lavishly present on Friday. For it was here on those lonely beaches that the opportunity to work on this dance was presented to several juniors.

Embryonic Stages

But enough of fond memories and on with the life of the dance. Once back at Villanova, the new semester began with the announcement of appointments, early football games, and first issues of the Villanovan. In the embryonic stages of that semester, great concepts of a Junior Prom were being formulated.

Midnight Cruise

Why not move off-campus and really produce something novel? We had combined to rebel against old timeworn customs of which the term "Tradition" had too long been generated. The Class would sponsor a midnight cruise down the Delaware River with a jazz band performing alternately mellow and ragtime scores.

I got in touch with a cruise line in Philadelphia who thought that I was "some kind of a nut" to inquire into the possibility of a cruise in November chill. But with the aid and support of a trusty "executive committee" we managed to compile estimates and a good number of details as to the advisability of the project. This plan did not meet with the approval of the administration.

Butterflies 'till Butterfield

The days turned into weeks, and months slipped by until it was Christmas vacation time and still no organized plan of procedure. The whole prospects of a successful Friday night in Junior Week lay in the balance of a quick and permanent decision. The decision was made to hire the services of BILLY BUTTERFIELD.

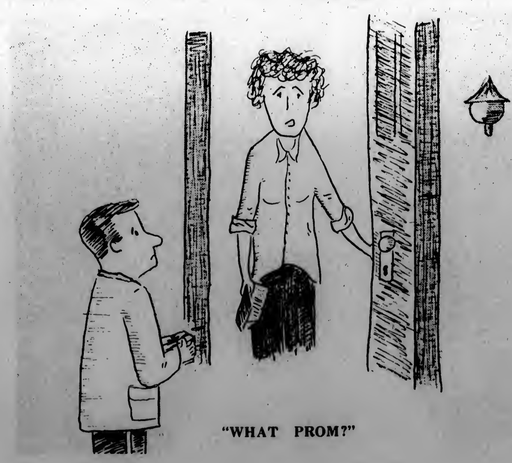
The cost was considerable and the awakening to the financial responsibility that we had contracted for the class weighed heavily on all concerned. A decorations committee was recruited by Don Reed. Mal Carton was a tremendous help in getting it organized. We were encouraged by the showing of the class in aiding this committee. We recruited workers who hadn't turned out for any previous dance.

They picked a theme that we hope is both original and artistically valuable. The cruise that we could not take in reality was staged in plans for a theme. The several ports of call you will visit on the cruise were picked out and schemed with the help of Bob Moss and George Robertson's originality and Jim Bellini and Bill Flick's creativity.

The professional touch of interior decoration was supplied by the generous Dr. George Radan, Chairman of the Fine Arts Department, who contributed so much in the planning and now in the execution of the tremendous staging. We are certain that you will never again see the old Field House in such grand style as on Friday night.

The Program that Mal Carton conceived and provided is a delicate and interesting souvenir and a credit to his good taste. But the secret of the many hours of hard work that he spent in doing it may never be disclosed. The class owes Mal a vote of thanks for his generous contribution of energy and talent.

The immense job of selling tickets fell on the heads of Jim Brennan and Ray Trapp, who have done a more scientific job in this field than has ever been done before. The planning and organization with which they met the preliminary tasks, will lead to a financial success.



Break With Custom

There was indeed doubt as to the advisability of this plan. One by one we attacked the silly customs that had caused previous proms to be less than financially stable. We got rid of formal wear, and saved the class money. We got rid of flowers. We opened up on Big Band spending.

The last and most difficult decision to make was whether to keep this good band from other classes and enjoy the high cost ticket, or throw it open to everyone and lower the ticket price to $4.00, the lowest priced event ever held in any Junior Week. Only the ticket sales will tell if we made the soundest choice.

I can not write a history of the Junior Prom without including a thousand names of all those who have invested so much of their time and efforts to insure its success. Joe Zawacki and the Publicity releases, Bud Beloin and the million mimeos he made and distributed, Dave Muir and Joe Mignatti spending a Saturday riding the P&W in order to tack up George Robertson's Poster, these are some names who deserve the success of their endeavors.

I can only say that working with them and for us has been an excellent experience and a good time. The door prizes and entertainment surprises that have marked the last in our "great experimental" firsts, will I hope, go to you and your date when I see you at the dance in the Field House.

"WHAT PROM?"

Juniors To Avenge Dink(y) 1958 Defeat?

Sustenance, Libation, And CinemaScope To Highlight Junior Smoker Thursday

by Ed Lohr

All the members of the Junior Class are urged to attend the Sport's Night Smoker and testimonial to our junior athletes in Vasey Hall, Thursday night, May 4, at 7:30.

Chairman Mike Pastore has planned an extremely colorful program which includes films of the 1960 Rutgers-Villanova football game, 1961 Villanova-West Virginia basketball game, Michigan State-Villanova swimming meet, Ron Delaney at Melbourne and Compton, Frank Budd at Rome, and they hope to show films of the 1961 Penn Relays taken by the Villanova Photo Department less than a week ago.

Highlight Is Awards

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of trophies to the outstanding junior athletes in each of the six major sports—football, basketball, baseball, swimming, track and golf—by their respective coaches. As an extra added attraction Jack Kraft, newly appointed head basketball coach will be on the scene.

Free refreshments will be served—hoagies being the main course. It was noted that matric cards must be shown to gain admission to the smoker. Let's all go—it's your smoker juniors!

Muff Day 1958! Don't you remember valiant men of '62. We led throughout the entire day winning many events and placing in all events. Then came the last fateful event of the day—the Class of '62 ahead by a slim margin and needing victory in the football game to become the second class in the history of Muff Day to clinch the coveted title as Frosh.

We won the game, but the officials, from the Class of '61, disallowed our game winning touchdown and with it down went our moment of glory and up went demonstrations comparable to those in San Francisco.

Revenge

Now Men of '62 is your chance to revenge that moment of defeat. Junior-Senior Muff Day is in conjunction with Junior Week and is scheduled for Wednesday May 3. The schedule as announced by junior, Jack Weed, chairman, and his senior coordinator John Hamilton is as follows:

3:30 Chess (East Lounge—Dougherty Hall)
3:30 Tennis (Student's tennis courts)
3:45 Baseball (Austin Field)
3:45 Track (Stadium)
(1) Quarter Mile Run
(2) 100 Yard Dash
(3) Heavyweight Mile Relay —225 lbs. and over
4:00 Volley Ball (Field House)
4:00 Basketball (Outside Courts—Field House)
5:30 Tug-of-war (Mendel Field)

The following rules will be in effect:

(1) No varsity athletes may participate in their respective sports.
(2) No spikes for any events.
(3) The winner of each event shall receive ten points and the loser five. The track meet will be scored as a team total.
(4) Due to a limit on time, space, and senior interest their will be only three chess and tennis players from each class.

Weed is "hoping for a large turnout from both classes, competition from the seniors, and that all the juniors will have a good time while trouncing the seniors."

Here is a scene from the infamous 1958 Muff Day. The Duo on the left, Bob Conell and Paul Rosen, won the event.

CLASS ATHLETES HAVE PROVEN THEMSELVES IN FIRST TWO YEARS, 61-62 YEAR TO BE BEST

by Joe Zawacki

The school year is rapidly approaching the end and once again, Junior Week rears its monstrous head and we take time out from current sports reporting duties to pay tribute to the most maligned species of homo sapiens (teachers excepted) on the campus, the athlete, junior style.

This column is a worthwhile chore because it is an opportunity to give recognition to athletes other than the stars who gain the headlines constantly. There is something to be said, despite the cries of some "intellectuals," for a boy who goes down to the field house daily and works up a sweat in practice, even though the "big" game might find him sitting on the bench waiting for the chance that sometimes never comes. It is also a known fact that some great teams have developed due to the spirit generated by the second string.

Following Tradition

The foregoing is not meant to imply that all Junior athletes are second-stringers. Far from it, as a look at the records shows. The Junior athletes, following the tradition set before them, have been in the thick of all Villanova battles on the football and baseball fields, the basketball court, the swimming pool, the golf course, and the hardwood and cinders of the track and field events.

Since the fortunes of the football and basketball teams were not as high as they might have been this year, it is only natural that their fans should look to them for improvement next season. And with the imposing number of Juniors returning next year to aid the enthusiasm of Coaches Alex Bell and Jack Kraft, fair warning is issued to all Wildcat opponents that Villanova is out to improve its records next year.

Football

On the gridiron, Captain-elect Rich Ross, of New Jersey fame, will lead eighteen Juniors through next years' ten game schedule which starts September 16, against Miami of Ohio. The line will have strength in the middle in the personage of Hank Gotard, Frank Bozenk, and Rege Magnus. They in turn will be flanked by Captain Ross, the only Junior Guard on the roster. Among the Junior tackles will be John Osborne, Jerry De Balso (just recuperating from an operation), Tom Kepner, Thomas Griffin, Jack Weed, Richie (graceful) Phillips, and Eddie Scholes.

In the backfield, Nick Langone is the only quarterback among our third-year men as is Bob Capone (who devours steaks at 9th & Wharton) at fullback. Defensive stalwart Tom O'Rourke, J. D. Boyle, Mike Pettine, and Nick (Bucky Beaver) Russo round out the Junior staff at halfback.

Basketball & Golf

Hubie (P&W) White and Joe (Stan Laurel) Walsh are the only two returning Junior cagers next year but they will be joined by Jim (Univac) McMonagle and Joe Zawacki, both of whom sat out this year and have a year's eligibility left. White is expected to add to the prestige of the class of 1962 by adding to his already impressive laurels next year.

A trip to the links finds five juniors representing the class on the Golf team. Shooting consistently in the 70's, this quintet is greatly responsible for the increased stature of golf on the Villanova sports scene. These duffers answer to the names of Dick Thomas, Fred (Mr. & Mrs.) Massi, Tom (Keebler) Cooke, Charlie Bass and Joe Bilder.

Swimming—Baseball

Villanova was blessed with an exceptionally talented set of Freshmen down at the swimming pool this year but they won't find positions easy to obtain next year as they come up against our representatives from the Juniors next year. They number six and include George Robertson, Don Reed, Ed Jenson, Matt Mone, Jerry Pecoraro, and Don Boehmcke.

The baseball nine, under new Athletic Director Art Mahan, are off on another fine season and are in the midst of a battle to reach the NCAA playoffs again this year. Only four juniors are on the squad but each has made valuable contributions to the success of the team. Phil (more potatoes, Sue) Fidalgo heads the pitching corps and most of his pitches are tossed in the direction of Catcher Al (Emily Post) Weigand who has been swinging a heavy bat with much results. Don Melega, who could easily make it big on TV or in burlesque, plays the hot corner with much finesse though the position is not his usual one. Don, who is also a fine stickman, is equally at home at shortstop. Dan Renn, who shuttles between 3rd base and the outfield, rounds out the list.

Track

Last on the list, but not in stature, is our track force which is topheavy with Juniors, much to the delight of Jim Elliot. These include Olympic star Frank Budd, Bob Coffill, Bob Collins, Jon Dante, Jerry (musclebound) Donini, Otis (Otie) Drayton, Jerry Hackett, Frank Hagerty, John Mannion, Ron Myers, Ernie Muir, Pat Nicastro, Leon Pras, Bob Raemore, Ang Sivieri, Carl Wagner, and Hubie White.

This, then is the group, the formidable list of junior athletes who represent the school, their families and themselves on the athletic fields. They have much to be proud of; a pride that is not measured in terms of victory or defeat but rather in the effort that goes into being an athlete and a student. May they continue their efforts with even more desire next year.

From Safety Pins To Sweatsuits—Junior Athletes

Ang Sivieri

Nick Russo

Tom O'Rourke

Leon Pras

Frank Budd

Richie Phillips

Jack Weed

Bob Coffill

Jerry De Balso

Don Boehmcke

Otis Drayton

Tom Griffin

Jerry Pacoraro

Hubie White

Bob Collins

Mike Pettine

Pat Nicastro

Nick Langone

Ed Scholes

Al Weigand

Frank Bryzenk

Phil Fidalgo

Ron Myers

Carl Wagner

Sam Gruneisen

Bob Capone

Jerry Donini

Ernie Muir

Henry Gotard

Joe Walsh

George Robertson

Frank Hagerty

Matt Mone

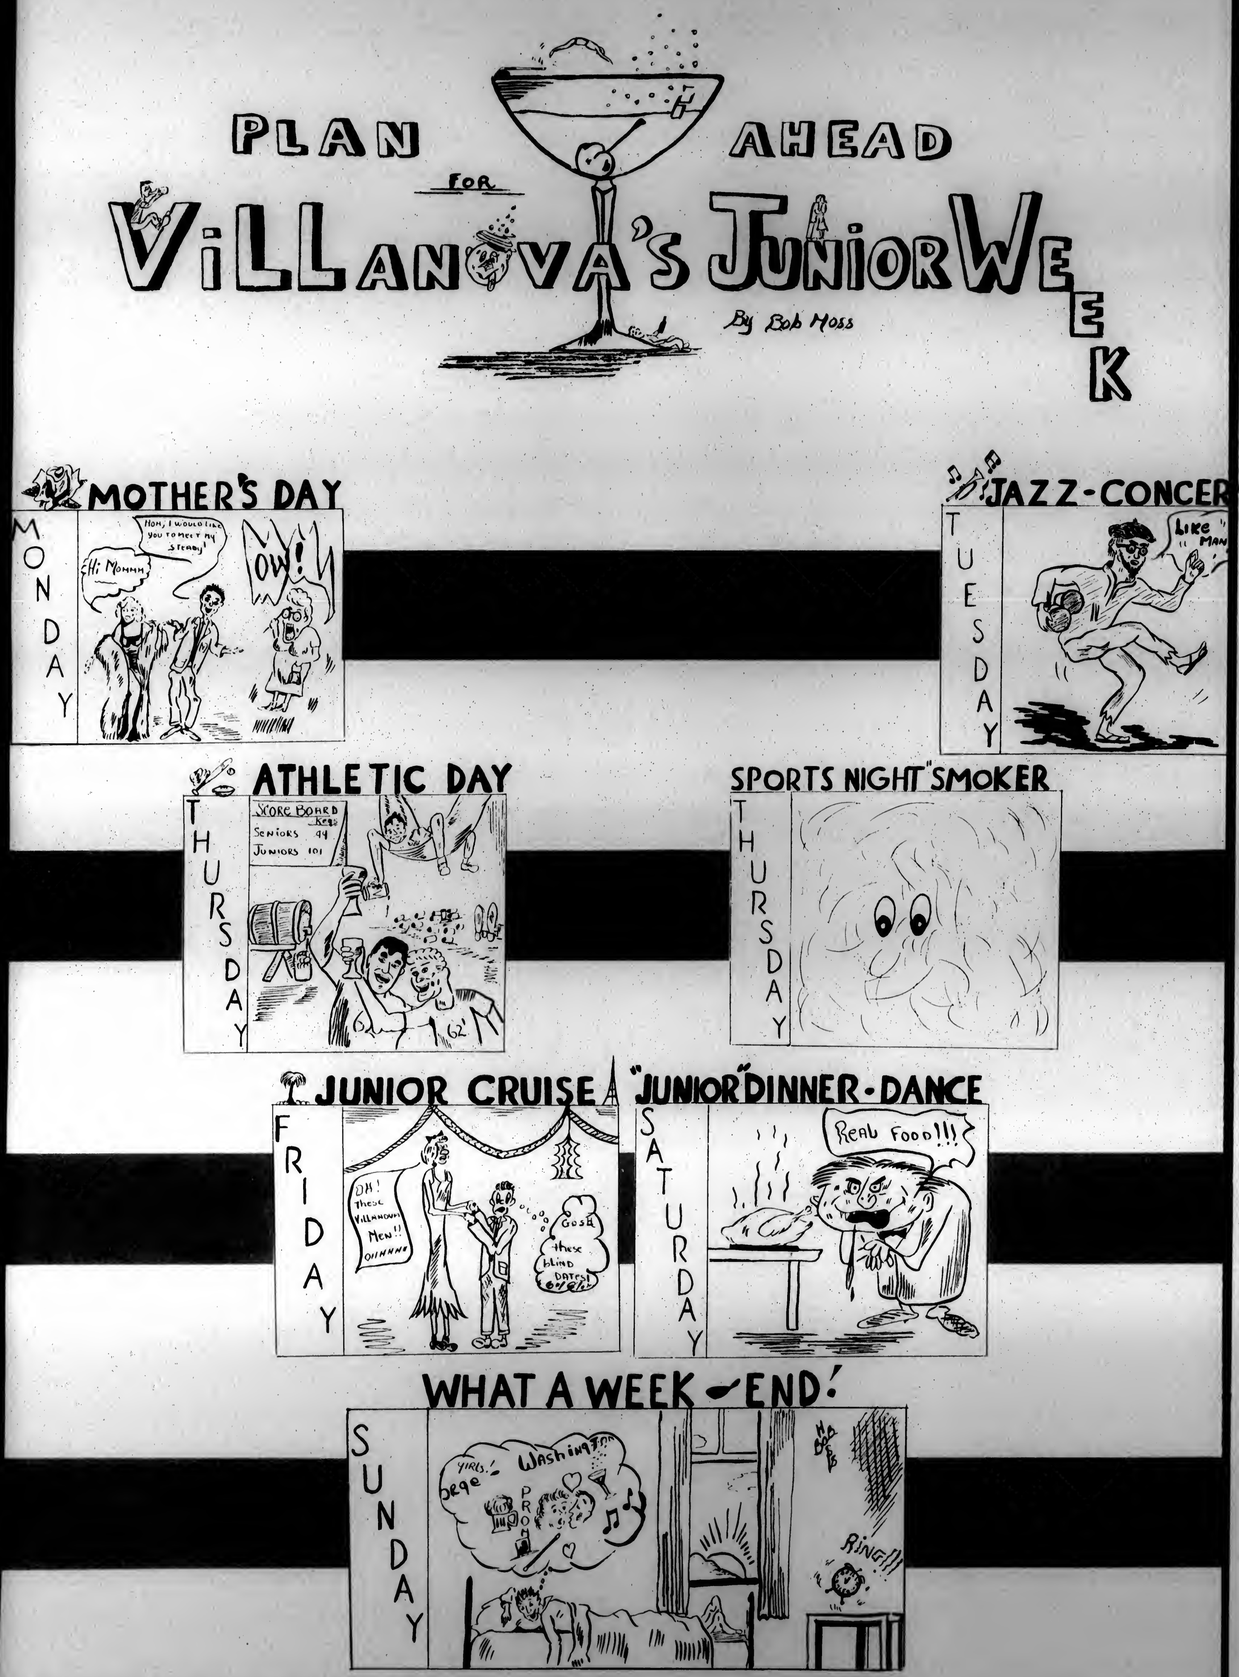
Don Reed

Rich Ross

Jon Dante

Don Melega

Jerry Hackett



Bob Raemore

John Osborne

Regus Magnus

Dan Renn

Tom Kepner

Student Body Presidential Elections Tonight
Wall And Labus Are Opposing Candidates

by H. J. McAteer and Tom O'Connor

This evening at a special meeting of the Student Congress, elections for next year's congress chairman will be held. At that time nominations will be presented and a secret ballot vote by the members of the congress will choose the new chairman.

It seems iminent that both Thomas Wall, present Congress Vice-Chairman, and Charles Labus, C and F resident representative, will be nominated.

Tom Wall

Tom Wall, who in his sophomore year was class president, is presently acting chairman of the student congress in the absence of chairman Bob DeLisa. This is only one of the many duties he performs in his capacity as Vice-Chairman of the Congress.

His greatest interest is the improvement of student spirit on an academic and social level. Tom believes that a popular election of the chairman of the spirit committee will result in the choice of some one who will be admired and capable of molding a wholesome student spirit for all athletic and social events.

Tom Wall

The Vice-Chairman urges the Blue Key plans to instill a well developed intellectual atmosphere by working with the students as individuals. He also intends to provide for a closer association of the Blue Key with all the cultural affairs and societies on campus in order to create a true intellectual atmosphere.

The main theme of Tom Wall's plans for next year can be embodied in the word spirit, which really includes spirit in academics, sports, cultural affairs, student activities as well as student government. He has repeatedly stated that this improvement on the part of the student body, and even on the part of the Congress itself, will help provide for greater respect for the students and more perfect harmony with the administration.

Charlie Labus

Charlie Labus, junior class resident C & F Student Council representative and current candidate for the Presidency of the Council, has declared it his intention to "obtain a definite area of responsibility for student government at Villanova.

Charlie Labus

"The foundation for this 'responsible area' has been laid over the past two years," Labus declared. "As has been said, however, student government is currently a service organization. It is my intention that it shall gradually become true government, while remaining a service organization.

"A spirit of unity among a well-informed student body is the prerequisite for our assuming responsibility. This maturity of attitude would provide the Administration with necessary guarantees that our 'area of definite responsibility' would not degenerate into foolishness or incompetency.

"I believe this theory is conclusively proven by the great success of this year's Educational Affairs program, as evidenced by the cooperation of students, faculty, and administration alike. There is no reason why this degree of success cannot be extended to all other areas of university life."

Labus' membership on the Academic Affairs Committee and Student-Faculty Committee, which meets regularly with the administration, has convinced him that cooperating is the keystone to successful Council- Administration association.

Villanovan

VOL. 36 No. 21 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. MAY 10, 1961

Grad Theater Dept. Climaxes 1961 Year With Drama, 'Othello'

The Graduate Theatre Department will present William Shakespeare's Othello in Vasey Hall Theater from May 10 to 14 as their third and last major production of the current academic year.

In an interview with the VILLANOVAN, director Bernard Coyne emphasized that the primary purpose of a college production is to entertain the audience. "Shakespeare was a working playwright in competition with all the entertainment media of his day; in competition with the media of today he will entertain."

In the campus production, all the major parts are filled by actors and actresses who have often appeared on the Villanova stage. "The cast is well-balanced," the director asserts, "and even the usually weak minor roles will be played by men and women who can act well."

Graduate assistant William Flynn, appearing in his third production at Villanova, will play Othello. Flynn has appeared in this play as Passio in an undergraduate performance with the Manhattan College Players.

As Desdemona, the soldier's wife, Sue Ahrold returns for her first major role this year. Sue will be remembered for her performance in Our Town and Twelfth Night. Playing Iago, the evil faction and instigator of Othello's downfall, Jim Willaert makes his first appearance since his lauded portrayal of Scratch in From Sea to Shining Sea.

(Cont'd on page 2)

A tense moment is reached during rehearsal of "Othello." The grad theatre production is scheduled to open May 10. (Photo by Mike Pastore)

Nothing Settled On Constitution Last Week; Tonight's Vote Will Decide Fate

The now-perennial "new Constitution" was debated by the Student Council last Wednesday and suffered its now-perennial fate.

After almost four hours of intense parliamentary and personal wrangling, final decision was deferred until this evening's meeting. Most informed observers speculate that the document will be rejected.

Only the astute control of parliamentary procedure by Council Parliamentarian, Joe Remy, and the somewhat impassioned floor leadership of Student Body President, Bob DeLisa, saved the session from degenerating into utter chaos.

The controversial legislation, which has at its core the streamlining of the Council by the elimination of the Vice-Chairmanship and organizational representation, was introduced as a Constitutional amendment at the April 19 Council meeting by Joe Little, representing the Constitutional Revision Committee.

This week, debate on the document constituted the Council's sole order of business. Immediately after the debate was opened by Parliamentarian Remy, President DeLisa, speaking from the floor, announced that he had carefully considered the document with an informal committee of his officers and advisors. This group would propose a number of alterations to render the Constitution more logical and coherent than it was in its original form.

A point-by-point consideration of the legislation proceeded with a minimum of difficulty until a section was reached which would subject all student organizations to approved Council rulings.

Organizational representatives on the Council, aware that they were in danger of being voted out of existence, opposed

(Cont'd on page 8)

Seniors Host Fathers In Traditional Mass, Luncheon, And Game

The annual Fathers' Day will be conducted by the senior class this Saturday, May 13. Jack Donohue and Dan Kelly, co-chairmen of the affair, have announced that this year's program will closely follow that of past Fathers' Day presentations.

The day will begin at 11:00 a.m. with the celebration of Mass in the Grotto or, in case of inclement weather, the chapel. The celebrant will be the Reverend Joseph W. Kemme, OSA, Vice-President of Student Affairs.

Immediately following the Mass, the Very Reverend John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of the University, will deliver a message to the fathers.

Severance Is Speaker

A luncheon is scheduled for 12:15 p.m. in the resident cafeteria in Dougherty Hall. The guest speaker for the luncheon will be Villanova's recently-retired basketball coach, Mr. Alexander G. Severance.

After the luncheon ceremonies, the father-son pairs are invited to the Villanova-Seton Hall baseball game at 2:30 p.m. in the stadium.

In speaking of the affair, the co-chairmen stated that "it is the sincere wish of the committee that this will be an outstanding class function to maintain the tradition established in the past. We hope to see all seniors joining in this tribute to their fathers."

Ticket sales will continue in the Pie Shoppe until Friday, May 12.

Graduate Council Adopts Initial Constitution

The Graduate Student Advisory Council, established on March 16th of this year by Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Graduate School Dean, has just ratified its new Constitution.

The Constitution, formulated by Russell P. Dodge of the History Department and Chairman Diana Carullo of the Chemistry Department, establishes this council as a permanent facet of Villanova's Graduate School. Its primary function will be to act as liaison between graduate students and the graduate faculty in such matters as concern the social, intellectual, and spiritual life of the graduate student body.

This committee will receive suggestions from both the students and the faculty and present them to the Dean of the Graduate School and the Council for evaluation and recommendation to the University administration.

Many suggestions have been made which are now being considered by the Council. The most outstanding among these are a graduate lecture series, a graduate publication, and future social activities. Along this line the Council intends to plan a picnic for the entire graduate school and to initiate a welcoming program for the new graduate students in the fall.

Members of the Advisory Council are: Mr. Anthony J. Picard, 601 Prospect Ave., Bridgeport, Penna. Mr. Picard is a graduate of West Chester State Teachers College and is now a member of the Mathematics Department. He is recording secretary for the Council. Miss Laura Lee, formerly from National Taiwan University in Formosa, is a graduate student in Library Science. Miss Marjory Modie of Columbus, Ohio, is with the Biology Department.

Mr. Charles J. Felice of Philadelphia is a graduate of Drexel Institute of Technology. He is now completing his graduate studies in the field of Chemical Engineering. Mr. Russell P. Dodge, of the History Department is a graduate of Villanova University. Mr. Dodge was instrumental in formulating the Constitution. Miss Elizabeth A. Meagher, from Detroit, Michigan, is a graduate of Marygrove College. Miss Meagher is doing graduate work in theater.

Mr. Gaetano Pastore, a graduate of Villanova University is now with the English Department. Mr. James A. Roan, a graduate of Maryknoll Seminary College is doing graduate work in philosophy. Miss Diana D. Carullo, 256 Bayard Road, Upper Darby, Penna., is doing graduate work in chemistry. Miss Carullo, a graduate of Rosemont College, is chairman of the Council.

Father Rongione, Dean of the Graduate School, is moderator of the Council.

Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, (extreme right) Dean of the University's Graduate School, meets with the members of the newly-formed Student Advisory Committee of the Graduate School. Left to right are: Anthony J. Picard, Laura Lee, Marjory Modie, Charles J. Felice, Russell P. Dodge, Elizabeth Meagher, Gaetano Pastore, James A. Roan, and Diana D. Carullo. Miss Carullo is Committee chairman.

Othello

(Continued from page 1)

The role of Roderigo will be filled by undergrad John McGarry. Richard McIntyre will play Brabantio and Gilda Spurio returns to portray Emilia. The cast is rounded out by John Milton as Gratiano, Paul Norton as the Duke, and John Dillon as Montano.

Tickets are on sale in the Pie Shoppe and the theater office on the second floor of Mendel Hall.

US Economy, Foreign Aid Discussed By Aces Forum

The capacity of the American economy to withstand the dual pressures of Communism abroad and automation and inflation at home was strongly reiterated last Thursday evening at the C & F school's fourth annual ACES panel meeting.

ACES, Americans for Competitive Enterprise System, is a non-political, non-profit organization of local business people devoted to a program of education in American economic principles.

The group sponsors a speaker program; a three day high school program including a film, speaker, and a tour of local industry; a program of education for teachers, clergymen, and other influential citizens; and the college program.

Curtis Winsor, Executive Director of ACES, moderated the meeting of ACES with a selected group of students and faculty members from the division of Commerce and Finance. The topics of discussion were "Can the U.S. economy increase its productivity, reduce unemployment, and overcome present unemployment?" and "Is continuation of the foreign aid program of the U.S. justified for reasons of national defense or otherwise?"

Dr. F. O. Hass, President of Rohm and Haas Chemical Manufacturers, Fred O. Hess, President of Selas Electronics heat processing company, William Walker, Executive Vice President of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Company, Royal Plenty, Financial Editor of the Philadelphia INQUIRER, and W. Thacher Longstreth, agent of Aitken-Kynett Advertising Company, composed the panel.

Following the general statements of the panel members, the meeting was opened to questions from the floor. Most of these were concerned with possible adverse effects of automation on the employment situation, of inflation on the strength of the national economy.

Panel members were unanimously agreed that the economy was potentially capable of combatting these and many other pressures, but insisted that considerable effort would have to be expended by both the federal government and private industry to shore up present weaknesses in the American capitalistic system.

L&M UNLOCKS CAMPUS OPINION

#4 in a series of polls conducted by L&M student representatives in over 100 colleges throughout the nation.

Light up an L&M, and answer these questions. Then compare your answers with those of 1,383 other college students (at bottom of page).

Question #1: In your opinion, who is the greatest living American?

Answer: _____

Question #2: Should the college curriculum, taking note of the growing importance of science, require more science courses for non-science majors than at present?

Answer: Yes_____ No_____

Question #3: When you kiss your date, do you close your eyes?

Answer: Close my eyes_____ Don't close my eyes_____ Can't remember_____

Question #4: In your opinion, which of the following types of filters gives the best connotation of purity? (CHECK ONE)

Answer:
A filter which is white inside and is wrapped in colored paper_____
A filter which is dyed a color and is wrapped in white paper_____
A filter which is white inside and out_____

L&M Campus Opinion Answers:

Answer, Question #1: Six highest scoring individuals: 1. Kennedy – 2. Eisenhower 3. Stevenson – 4. Schweitzer – 5. Frost 6. Sandburg
(This question was asked February 1961. Note: Dr. Schweitzer is not an American.)

Answer, Question #2: Yes 30% – No 70%

Answer, Question #3: Close my eyes 76% Don't close my eyes 11% Can't remember 13%

Answer, Question #4: A filter which is white inside and is wrapped in colored paper 21% A filter which is dyed a color and is wrapped in white paper 5% A filter which is white inside and out 74%

L&M was first to offer you a pure white modern filter – the famous Miracle Tip – pure white inside, pure white outside. And L&M's modern filter enables you to fully enjoy the rich flavor of golden ripe tobaccos. So reach for flavor . . . reach for L&M.

The L&M Campus Opinion Poll was taken at over 100 colleges where L&M has student representatives, and may not be a statistically random selection of all undergraduate schools.

UNLOCK A NEW WORLD OF FRESH SMOKING PLEASURE

Start Fresh with L&M

Stay Fresh with L&M

©1961 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

NIH Director Dr. Shannon Is Awarded Mendel Medal

Dr. James A. Shannon, Director of the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md., was awarded Villanova University's Mendel Medal for 1961 on May 4th during a dinner at the Barclay Hotel in Philadelphia.

Rev. Joseph Dougherty, OSA, former Augustinian provincial, originated the idea of the Medal, named for Gregor Mendel, an Augustinian monk who formulated the Mendel Laws of Heredity. It is presented to outstanding scientists who are members in good standing of the Catholic Church and have given practical demonstration of the fact that between true science and true religion there is no real conflict. It was first awarded in 1929 and has gone to some of the world's great scientists.

Original Research

Dr. Shannon is widely recognized in the scientific world for his original research in kidney function, chemotherapy and malaria. The National Institute of Health, which he heads, is the major research arm of the United States Public Health Service.

Dr. Shannon's career has been devoted to medical research, teaching and public service. He was appointed Director of the National Health Institute in 1955 after serving as Associate Director for three years.

Prior to 1952 he was in charge of the National Heart Institute, one of the seven research centers comprising the National Institues of Health. He is a graduate of Holy Cross College and received his medical degree from NYU in 1929.

Malaria Research

During World War II Dr. Shannon played a prominent part in malaria research and was a consultant on tropical diseases to the Secretary of War. In recognition of this work, he was awarded the Medal of Merit, one of the highest honors for civilian service in government.

Dr. Shannon became the twentieth recipient of the Mendel Medal which has gone to such outstanding scientists as: Dr. Albert Zahm, pioneer in Aeronautical Research, 1930; Abbe Georges LeMaiter, Ph.D., Professor of Astro Physics, University of Louvain, Belgium, 1934; and Rev. Peirre DeChardin, S.J., Paleontologist with the National Geographic survey of China, 1937; and Frank Piasecki, pioneer, on the development of the helicopter, 1954.

SUPER SMOOTH SHAVE

New "wetter-than-water" action melts beard's toughness–in seconds. Remarkable new "wetter-than-water" action gives Old Spice Super Smooth Shave its scientific approximation to the feather-touch feel and the efficiency of barber shop shaves. Melts your beard's toughness like hot towels and massage–in seconds.

Shaves that are so comfortable you barely feel the blade. A unique combination of anti-evaporation agents makes Super Smooth Shave stay moist and firm. No re-lathering, no dry spots. Richer and creamier... gives you the most satisfying shave... fastest, cleanest–and most comfortable. Regular or mentholated, 1.00.

Old Spice
SHULTON

Sam Bonds Awarded

Father Klekotka today awarded two annual Society for the Advancement of Management awards in his office in Mendel Hall. The first of these awards, a $25.00 savings bond, was awarded to James L. Tulley, a junior Industrial Administration major from Philadelphia.

This SAM Award is given in recognition of the individual effort and contribution to the organization. From the membership nominees are selected who are not officers and from this group three are selected by the officers. Final selection is made by the membership at the annual election meeting.

Second Bond Awarded

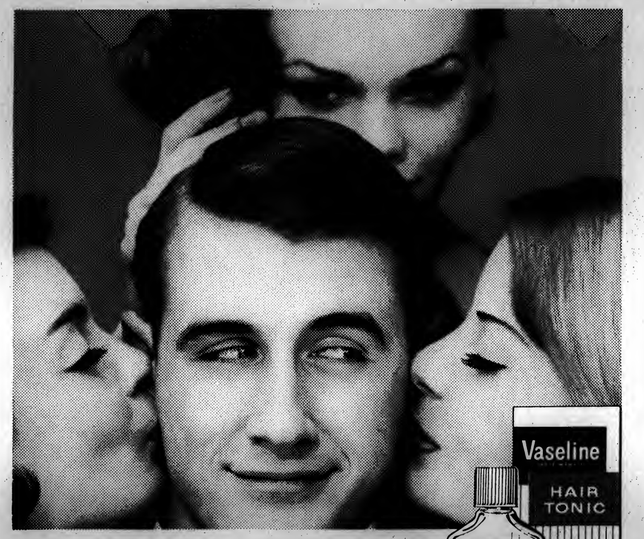
The second award, also a $25.00 savings bond, was presented to John Pedisich, a senior Industrial Administration major from Ronkonkoma, N.Y. This award, open only to senior IA men, is presented to the man who, in the consensus of a committee of faulty members, has the highest adjusted cumulative average. The committee was selected by the moderator of the SAM chapter, Dr. Walter Klein.

The composition of the group was not revealed other than to disclose that it contained members of all three divisions and that no member of the IA department was on it. The committee's job was to weigh the courses taken by the nominees, including electives, as well as the candidate's ranking in the SAM chapter, to derive a new adjusted cumulative average. Only the winner was announced and the averages were not revealed.

Villanova's delegates to jazz concert; Al Massi, Frank Kendig, and Jim Wilde perform in last week's contest.

Council Forum Features John Crowe Ransom

John Crowe Ranson, a noted critic, poet, and author, has accepted the Student Council's invitation to speak at the Second Student Council Forum for this academic year.



In speaking of Mr. Ransom, James Stazzella, Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs, remarked that, "Mr. Ransom is one of the finest speakers the Forum has been able to bring to Villanova. The acceptance of the invitation by such a well-known man is a tribute both to the Student Council and to the University.

Strazzella extended his thanks to Bob Bohn for the "wonderful job" he has done as this year's Chairman of the Cultural Affairs Committee.

Strazzella also expressed his regret that the forum scheduled for May 4, which was to feature Mr. George Meany, President of AFL-CIO, was canceled by Mr. Meany because of a commitment to a White House conference.

Mr. Ransom, a Rhodes Scholar and Guggenheim Fellow, will read and his works and other poems, with timely remarks.

The forum is scheduled for May 18th and is to be held in the Field House at 7:30 p.m.

how to lose your head!

The best way to lose your head is to use your head by using 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic on it. Most men use water with their hair tonic — and 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic is specially made to use with water! The 100% pure grooming oil in 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic replaces the oil that water removes from your hair. So to lose your head, keep your head well-groomed with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic! And remember, just a little does a lot!

it's clear ♪♫ it's clean...it's

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

"VASELINE" IS A REGISTERED TRADEMARK OF CHESEBROUGH-POND'S INC.

Graduate Council Adopts Initial Constitution

The Graduate Student Advisory Council, established on March 16th of this year by Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Graduate School Dean, has just ratified its new Constitution.

The Constitution, formulated by Russell P. Dodge of the History Department and Chairman Diana Carullo of the Chemistry Department, establishes this council as a permanent facet of Villanova's Graduate School. Its primary function will be to act as liaison between graduate students and the graduate faculty in such matters as concern the social, intellectual, and spiritual life of the graduate student body.

This committee will receive suggestions from both the students and the faculty and present them to the Dean of the Graduate School and the Council for evaluation and recommendation to the University administration.

Many suggestions have been made which are now being considered by the Council. The most outstanding among these are a graduate lecture series, a graduate publication, and future social activities. Along this line the Council intends to plan a picnic for the entire graduate school and to initiate a welcoming program for the new graduate students in the fall.

Members of the Advisory Council are: Mr. Anthony J. Picard, 601 Prospect Ave., Bridgeport, Penna. Mr. Picard is a graduate of West Chester State Teachers College and is now a member of the Mathematics Department. He is recording secretary for the Council. Miss Laura Lee, formerly from National Taiwan University in Formosa, is a graduate student in Library Science. Miss Marjory Modie of Columbus, Ohio, is with the Biology Department.

Mr. Charles J. Felice of Philadelphia is a graduate of Drexel Institute of Technology. He is now completing his graduate studies in the field of Chemical Engineering. Mr. Russell P. Dodge, of the History Department is a graduate of Villanova University. Mr. Dodge was instrumental in formulating the Constitution. Miss Elizabeth A. Meagher, from Detroit, Michigan, is a graduate of Marygrove College. Miss Meagher is doing graduate work in theater.

Mr. Gaetano Pastore, a graduate of Villanova University is now with the English Department. Mr. James A. Roan, a graduate of Maryknoll Seminary College is doing graduate work in philosophy. Miss Diana D. Carullo, 256 Bayard Road, Upper Darby, Penna., is doing graduate work in chemistry. Miss Carullo, a graduate of Rosemont College, is chairman of the Council.

Father Rongione, Dean of the Graduate School, is moderator of the Council.

Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, (extreme right) Dean of the University's Graduate School, meets with the members of the newly-formed Student Advisory Committee of the Graduate School. Left to right are: Anthony J. Picard, Laura Lee, Marjory Modie, Charles J. Felice, Russell P. Dodge, Elizabeth Meagher, Gaetano Pastore, James A. Roan, and Diana D. Carullo. Miss Carullo is Committee chairman.

Othello

(Continued from page 1)

The role of Roderigo will be filled by undergrad John McGarry. Richard McIntyre will play Brabantio and Gilda Spurio returns to portray Emilia. The cast is rounded out by John Milton as Gratiano, Paul Norton as the Duke, and John Dillon as Montano.

Tickets are on sale in the Pie Shoppe and the theater office on the second floor of Mendel Hall.

US Economy, Foreign Aid Discussed By Aces Forum

The capacity of the American economy to withstand the dual pressures of Communism abroad and automation and inflation at home was strongly reiterated last Thursday evening at the C & F school's fourth annual ACES panel meeting.

ACES, Americans for Competitive Enterprise System, is a non-political, non-profit organization of local business people devoted to a program of education in American economic principles.

The group sponsors a speaker program; a three day high school program including a film, speaker, and a tour of local industry; a program of education for teachers, clergymen, and other influential citizens; and the college program.

Curtis Winsor, Executive Director of ACES, moderated the meeting of ACES with a selected group of students and faculty members from the division of Commerce and Finance. The topics of discussion were "Can the U.S. economy increase its productivity, reduce unemployment, and overcome present unemployment?" and "Is continuation of the foreign aid program of the U.S. justified for reasons of national defense or otherwise?"

Dr. F. O. Hass, President of Rohm and Haas Chemical Manufacturers, Fred O. Hess, President of Selas Electronics heat processing company, William Walker, Executive Vice President of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Company, Royal Plenty, Financial Editor of the Philadelphia INQUIRER, and W. Thacher Longstreth, agent of Aitken-Kynett Advertising Company, composed the panel.

Following the general statements of the panel members, the meeting was opened to questions from the floor. Most of these were concerned with possible adverse effects of automation on the employment situation, of inflation on the strength of the national economy.

Panel members were unanimously agreed that the economy was potentially capable of combatting these and many other pressures, but insisted that considerable effort would have to be expended by both the federal government and private industry to shore up present weaknesses in the American capitalistic system.

L&M

#4 in a series of polls conducted by L&M student representatives in over 100 colleges throughout the nation.

L&M UNLOCKS CAMPUS OPINION

Light up an L&M, and answer these questions. Then compare your answers with those of 1,383 other college students (at bottom of page).

Question #1: In your opinion, who is the greatest living American?

Answer: _____

Question #2: Should the college curriculum, taking note of the growing importance of science, require more science courses for non-science majors than at present?

Answer: Yes No

Question #3: When you kiss your date, do you close your eyes?

Answer: Close my eyes Don't close my eyes Can't remember

Question #4: In your opinion, which of the following types of filters gives the best connotation of purity? (CHECK ONE)

Answer:
A filter which is white inside and is wrapped in colored paper
A filter which is dyed a color and is wrapped in white paper
A filter which is white inside and out

UNLOCK A NEW WORLD OF FRESH SMOKING PLEASURE

Start Fresh with L&M

Stay Fresh with L&M

L&M Campus Opinion Answers:

Answer, Question #1: Six highest scoring individuals: 1. Kennedy—2. Eisenhower 3. Stevenson—4. Schweitzer—5. Frost 6. Sandburg
(This question was asked February 1961. Note: Dr. Schweitzer is not an American.)

Answer, Question #2: Yes 30%—No 70%

Answer, Question #3: Close my eyes 76%
Don't close my eyes 11%
Can't remember 13%

Answer, Question #4: A filter which is white inside and is wrapped in colored paper 21%
A filter which is dyed a color and is wrapped in white paper 5%
A filter which is white inside and out 74%

L&M was first to offer you a pure white modern filter—the famous Miracle Tip—pure white inside, pure white outside. And L&M's modern filter enables you to fully enjoy the rich flavor of golden ripe tobaccos. So reach for flavor . . . reach for L&M.

The L&M Campus Opinion Poll was taken at over 100 colleges where L&M has student representatives, and may not be a statistically random selection of all undergraduate schools.

©1961 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

NIH Director Dr. Shannon Is Awarded Mendel Medal

Dr. James A. Shannon, Director of the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md., was awarded Villanova University's Mendel Medal for 1961 on May 4th during a dinner at the Barclay Hotel in Philadelphia.

Rev. Joseph Dougherty, OSA, former Augustinian provincial, originated the idea of the Medal, named for Gregor Mendel, an Augustinian monk who formulated the Mendel Laws of Heredity. It is presented to outstanding scientists who are members in good standing of the Catholic Church and have given practical demonstration of the fact that between true science and true religion there is no real conflict. It was first awarded in 1929 and has gone to some of the world's great scientists.

Original Research

Dr. Shannon is widely recognized in the scientific world for his original research in kidney function, chemotherapy and malaria. The National Institute of Health, which he heads, is the major research arm of the United States Public Health Service.

Dr. Shannon's career has been devoted to medical research, teaching and public service. He was appointed Director of the National Health Institute in 1955 after serving as Associate Director for three years.

Prior to 1952 he was in charge of the National Heart Institute, one of the seven research centers comprising the National Institues of Health. He is a graduate of Holy Cross College and received his medical degree from NYU in 1929.

Malaria Research

During World War II Dr. Shannon played a prominent part in malaria research and was a consultant on tropical diseases to the Secretary of War. In recognition of this work, he was awarded the Medal of Merit, one of the highest honors for civilian service in government.

Dr. Shannon became the twentieth recipient of the Mendel Medal which has gone to such outstanding scientists as: Dr. Albert Zahm, pioneer in Aeronautical Research, 1930; Abbe Georges LeMaiter, Ph.D., Professor of Astro Physics, University of Louvain, Belgium, 1934; and Rev. Peirre DeChardin, S.J., Paleontologist with the National Geographic survey of China, 1937; and Frank Piasecki, pioneer, on the development of the helicopter, 1954.

SUPER SMOOTH SHAVE

New "wetter-than-water" action melts beard's toughness—in seconds. Remarkable new "wetter-than-water" action gives Old Spice Super Smooth Shave its scientific approximation to the feather-touch feel and the efficiency of barber shop shaves. Melts your beard's toughness like hot towels and massage—in seconds.

Shaves that are so comfortable you barely feel the blade. A unique combination of anti-evaporation agents makes Super Smooth Shave stay moist and firm. No re-lathering, no dry spots. Richer and creamier... gives you the most satisfying shave... fastest, cleanest—and most comfortable. Regular or mentholated. 1.00.

Old Spice
SHULTON

Sam Bonds Awarded

Father Klekotka today awarded two annual Society for the Advancement of Management awards in his office in Mendel Hall. The first of these awards, a $25.00 savings bond, was awarded to James L. Tulley, a junior Industrial Administration major from Philadelphia.

This SAM Award is given in recognition of the individual effort and contribution to the organization. From the membership nominees are selected who are not officers and from this group three are selected by the officers. Final selection is made by the membership at the annual election meeting.

Second Bond Awarded

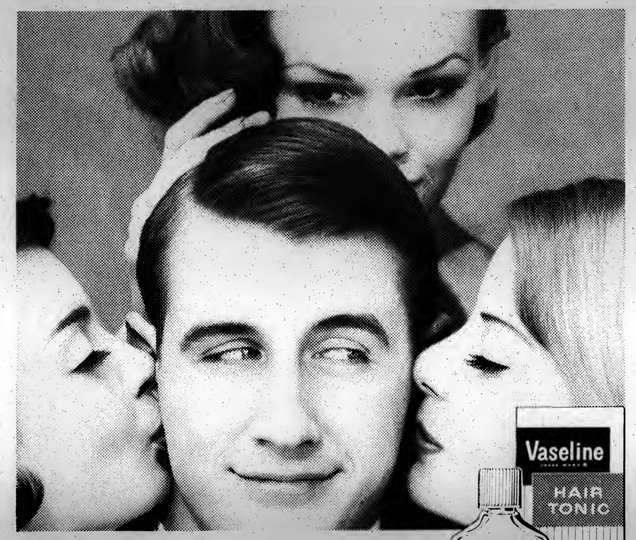
The second award, also a $25.00 savings bond, was presented to John Pedisich, a senior Industrial Administration major from Ronkonkoma, N.Y. This award, open only to senior IA men, is presented to the man who, in the consensus of a committee of faulty members, has the highest adjusted cumulative average. The committee was selected by the moderator of the SAM chapter, Dr. Walter Klein.

The composition of the group was not revealed other than to disclose that it contained members of all three divisions and that no member of the IA department was on it. The committee's job was to weigh the courses taken by the nominees, including electives, as well as the candidate's ranking in the SAM chapter, to derive a new adjusted cumulative average. Only the winner was announced and the averages were not revealed.

Villanova's delegates to jazz concert: Al Massi, Frank Kendig, and Jim Wilde perform in last week's contest.

Council Forum Features John Crowe Ransom

John Crowe Ranson, a noted critic, poet, and author, has accepted the Student Council's invitation to speak at the Second Student Council Forum for this academic year.



In speaking of Mr. Ransom, James Stazzella, Executive Vice-President for Educational Affairs, remarked that, "Mr. Ransom is one of the finest speakers the Forum has been able to bring to Villanova. The acceptance of the invitation by such a well-known man is a tribute both to the Student Council and to the University.

Strazzella extended his thanks to Bob Bohn for the "wonderful job" he has done as this year's Chairman of the Cultural Affairs Committee.

Strazzella also expressed his regret that the forum scheduled for May 4, which was to feature Mr. George Meany, President of AFL-CIO, was canceled by Mr. Meany because of a commitment to a White House conference.

Mr. Ransom, a Rhodes Scholar and Guggenheim Fellow, will read and his works and other poems, with timely remarks.

The forum is scheduled for May 18th and is to be held in the Field House at 7:30 p.m.

how to lose your head!

The best way to lose your head is to use your head: by using 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic on it. Most men use water with their hair tonic — and 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic is specially made to use with water! The 100% pure grooming oil in 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic replaces the oil that water removes from your hair. So to lose your head, keep your head well-groomed with 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic! And remember, just a little does a lot!

it's clear . . . it's clean . . . it's

VASELINE HAIR TONIC

Tragedy Of Errors

The tragedy that was the meeting of the Student Council last Wednesday was comparable to Shakespeare's description of life, "——a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

In a session which lasted nearly four hours, the Congress attempted to discuss a proposed revision of the Student Council Constitution and By-Laws. They failed to bicker through the first five pages of the lengthy document.

Indeed, the pettiness and quarrelling over many points amounted to much ado about nothing as speaker after speaker arose, simply to repeat what had just been said.

The cumbersome membership plodded slowly, clumsily raising its huge bulk in dragging debate, meanwhile stating that there was no need to cut Council membership. The new constitution provides for such a streamlining cut.

For two consecutive years constitutional revisions have been introduced in attempts to improve student government—and ultimately student life—at Villanova. Last year the project failed. Last week the constitution was not even brought to a vote. Tonight when the vote is counted, the revision probably will fail again.

The reason given for this failure is the fact that the half votes—those representing fraternities, societies, and publications—must lose their seats in the Council under the new constitution. Since many desirable provisions are contained in the document, it seems foolish to reject the entire revision.

A compromise could provide the answer. Such a motion, providing a separate council for half votes, to be adequately represented on the Student Council, was made. It was lost just as quickly in the red tape of parliamentary procedure.

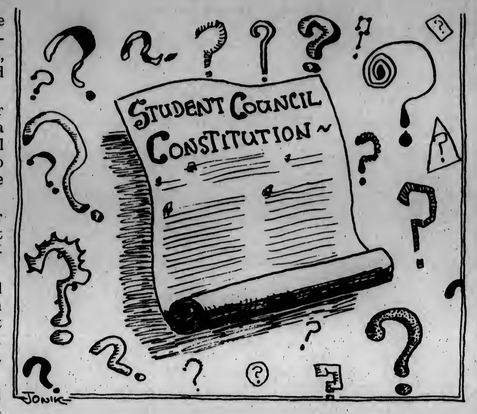
As the present constitution stands, the Blue Key is a Student Council committee. Defeat of the revision means that this committee will not be granted the power to conduct, in coordination with the sophomore class, the freshman orientation. Since tonight is the last council meeting, there is little chance to change the situation.

What can be done? The VILLANOVAN believes that revised constitution is badly needed, and strongly urges that something positive be done next year. For tonight, however, the only hope seems to lie in amending the present constitution, as a temporary measure, until further action can be taken.

For those who worked on the proposed constitutional revision, for those who hoped to do something for Villanova, for those who care more about the good of the school than a prestige position on its Student Council, the immaturity of many Council members meant a heartbreaking defeat. For the truly interested, love's labour was lost.

Villanovan

VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY



Editor-in-chief ..... Daniel G. Grove
Associate Editor ..... Josephine Morello
Managing Editor ..... Edward Farrell
News Editor ..... Mark Quinn
Sports Editors ..... J. Edgar Lohr
Joseph Zawacki
Feature Editor ..... Joseph A. Massey
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editor ..... Thomas O'Connor
Format Editor ..... Ed Graham
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... John J. Janda
Circulation Manager ..... John Redding
Exchange Editor ..... Raymond Ritter
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

Leo Goodreau

Letters From The Editor

To whom it may concern,

Mr. Fitzpatrick, in his "Letter to the Editor," is confusing facts and logic.

To begin with, the statistics he used were those from 1946, fifteen years ago, and ones which have no bearing on the present issue with the possible exception that they are an explanation to why the Russians are now able to launch such huge space capsules.

The technical advantages he cites for the United States in defense of our missile program also seems to us to be of little significance when we consider that Russia too had to have this information in order to send a man into space. They obtained this information by using fewer and more cumbersome rockets, something Mr. Fitzpatrick does not seem to realize. We, too, have got the necessary information, but it took many more of our highly technical and compact rockets, and much more time then Russians had to use. Need it be restated that it was Gagarin that was first to see what has been speculated about for many years. Also, let us not forget the March Venus "shot" that is to land sometime this month. This is the product of their program which was necessitated by the inferior arms of 1946.

In speaking of humane principles, might we suggest that included in these principles are the preservation of what we have found to be functional. Democracy is the means of our fulfilling the humanities. In the April 19th Editorial to which he refers, we stated "to survive necessitates allies." Again we say it, and add to it: people basically like to be on the winning side. The shift of nations from the "status quo" or "war zone" into the "peaceful zone" was accomplished partly through propaganda gained by scientific breakthroughs on Russia's part. The editorial, we think, agrees to what he is criticizing us for. We believe we have already stated that to maintain allies means winning for them.

As to one accomplishment and its significance, Mr. Fitzpatrick must be incapable of recognizing what it has lead to. Our mutual "friends" have had their position justified. They can claim allegiance to any nation which produces first. This is demoralizing and Russia is demoralizing the West in single accomplishments.

When we do launch our Astronaut, Russia's Venus shot of last March should be landing, and will take away from the United States' accomplishment.

To face facts, whether it is justifiable to downgrade the U.S. on the basis of one accomplishment, let us here realize what the rest of the free world is doing The nation and the system which produces—one after another—what other nations want, will lead to a natural friendship between these two nations. This is why Cuba has left our sphere of influence; this is why Free Africa is caught in its present conflict; this is why Nehru feels able to criticize us. Russia has things to offer these nations, things that we do not take the initiative to offer ourselves. Among these things is the association with a winner.

When we recognize the need for a "crash" program to close a very obvious "gap" and produce for our allies the status gains they want and need from us before they become as past allies have become, then and only then will single accomplishments bear less significance.

To whom it may concern,

Since no mention of thanks has been publicly conveyed by the junior class hierarchy, I would like to thank the thirty juniors who made possible the Junior Week edition of the VILLANOVAN.

Without the utmost cooperation of these thirty, and also the help of two freshmen and two seniors, the May 1 issue would not have been a memorable one that added a certain frosting to the elaborate and successful Mothers' Day program.

Daniel G. Grove,
Editor-in-chief

Letters To The Editor

To the editor,

The following comments refer to the editorial "Second Again" which appeared in the April 19 issue of the Villanovan.

I do not feel that this nation is, in any respect, inferior or behind the Union of Soviet Socialist Republic as suggested in the article by the editors and the accompanying drawing by Mr. Jonik. If we base leadership on the idea of who gets there first, then our Project Mercury must necessarily follow the Russians' counterpart. Allow me to cite two reasons why we are not inferior. The United States, possessing a nuclear warhead, needed a minimum thrust of one hundred and thirty thousand pounds to launch this relatively light, extremely destructive weapon. Our Soviet friends, working since 1946, concentrated on the development of tremendous booster power, approximately 830,000 lbs., to launch an equivalently destructive force composed of a conventional warhead many times heavier than the weight of the nuclear power. The Soviets had not yet split the atom at this post-war period, nor did they possess a single atom of nuclear capability.

It is also my feeling that our space accomplishments to date number and outclass those of the Russians. It must follow then that our scientific knowledge is superior to theirs since our payloads have carried more varied equipment and double that of those launched by the Russians. These factors, among many others that space prohibits me to mention were not included in this article, indicate our position to be that of a leader among the free nations of the world.

To conquer the world is the professed goal of the Moscow elite whether they be a Stalin, Bulganin or a Khrushchev. From the writings of Marx and Engle, the State emerged with Lenin and the Bolshevik Revolution. The words, "we will bury you" were spoken just recently by one N. S. Khrushchev.

All of Russia comprises one-third of the world, the peace zone. The other two-thirds is considered the war zone or the free world. This latter, area Moscow eventually intends to rule. Do the editors remember Suez, Lebanon, Jordan, and Korea; and today are you cognizant of the Algeria, Laos, North and South Vietnam, Cambodia, Thailand, Berlin and Cuba Crises? Some of these areas, sometimes called "gray areas" because they lie between the Russo-American sphere of influence may be lost to Communism. After World War II, these areas and others not mentioned, were considered within our "status quo" or not even thought of at all as needing our protection. How much neutralist territory has been lost to the Russians since 1945, 1917?

President Kennedy said recently that we must defend ourselves against such a system, but he is also ready to attack and take the initiative against these people. To keep what you have from the Russians demands more than defense, which is what we have been doing for the last sixteen years, it calls for aggressiveness. Do we ever think of going into Soviet territory? Naturally we don't because their constant propaganda so works on us that we fail to even think of entering their "peace zone," not to even make mention of our own ideas of peaceful co-existence Tell me now what blame you can place on a man who will lead his nation to the front and stand against the slash and hammer of a sneering atheistic state? Co-exist? In their "peace zone," yes this can be done. But outside, how do you propose to live with a society whose creed is to encompass the world by economic, political, military, and psychological means? This cold war of strategy is bent, directed and twisted Moscow to its own political advantage. They are the tailor; they alter the suit; it is their needle; you can't expect them to throw it away because we want and end to and no further part of the cold war.

The people of the free world are tired of Soviet propaganda, at least those people who are intelligent enough to spot it are and they fight to counteract this phase of the war. No American man in space will solve the world's problems. How can one significant achievement make people tire of something that will always be with us until the final outcome? The Communist purpose in relation to the cold war is to so demoralize the West and divide her among her allies while at the same time weakening each individual country at its base that they, the Soviets, can launch an all out nuclear war with complete confidence of success.

John H. Fitzpatrick, '62

Brando's "One-Eyed Jacks" Lengthy But Lacks Luster

by Al LaMastra

Early in 1958 it was reported that the poor man's genius, Marlon Brando, had had it. He was through with the major studios, fed up with Hollywood, and threatened to mutilate a barrage of newsmen trying to pry the lid from the world of privacy surrounding the actor's life. Moreover, he declared that he was forming his own film company and thus Pennebaker Productions Inc. came into existence.

Two months later, Marlon announced that he was about to film a western. Mind you, not an ordinary "adult" type western; but one which would fulfill all his dreams of perfection and show his true greatness. In a way, it was his moment of revenge for all the mediocrities he had been assigned to in his ten year Hollywood stay. Now "Desiree," "Fugitive Kind," and "Wild One" would just be bad dreams. Yes, as star, producer, director, and writer of "One Eyed Jacks," moments of cinematic excellence were to equal the products of Chaplin and the masterpieces of Griffith.

$2 and a half million

The film budget was set at $2,500,000 with a four month shooting schedule; but true artists never conform and are their own worst critics. Consequently, the cameras rolled and rolled until thousands of feet of film had been ground out at a cost of $6,000,000 and a three year shooting schedule. Needless to say, the public was made aware of Marlon's progress via the fillers in the daily newspapers. Their interest increased and the whole nation applauded when he announced that the picture was now finished, the editing being all that remained before release.

No Time Limit

Normally, editing rarely takes more than a week, but where Brando was concerned perfection has no time limit. It took him three months to cut the footage from 33 to 29 hours and another eight months to bring it down to its present length of 141 minutes. (Why not sell the other 26 hours to TV, it would make a dandy serial?)

La Mastra

At last the film has been released to the downtown theatres; but after all the publicity one has to wonder whether it was worth the trouble. This is the second glorified Western of the new season to make its debut; and in spite of all the time and effort, "One-Eyed Jacks" proves to be only a tiny bit more interesting than its predecessor "Cimarron." Even its creator doesn't seem that pleased with his product and for that reason has plunged into various roles that are sure to fill his pockets and please the predatory bankers of "Jacks," Brando's next being the Mr. Christian role in MGM's "Mutiny on the Bounty."

Too Lengthy

M.B.'s first directed film shows that he can be a good director, as well as, on occasion, a good actor. But his two-and-a-half-hour meandering 1880's western melodrama of banditry, betrayal, revenge, murder, seduction and all-round knavery is far too long for its few surprises and for whatever it has to say (where is that symbolism and all those talked about daring innovations?). Brando plays, in his most typical fashion, a monosyllabic buffalo-like bandit-killer with a lightning gun. Co-starring Karl Malden gives a fine performance as his robber-pal who betrays him when the federals have them trapped in the mountains of Mexico, and again when Brando tracks him down, seduces his step-daughter, and tries a double double-cross. The settings in upper Mexico and lower California are exciting and dramatically color-photographed in all the grandeur of the scenic westcoast along the thundering Pacific. The supporting cast, headed by Katy Jurado and newcomer Pina Pellicer, at moments help to lift the film out of the ordinary. The action is murderous when it occurs, with the whipping sequence and the gun duel well-edited and stirringly photographed; but the not-unusual western would have been so much better had it been made briefer for an outsider—perhaps one of the several great film technicians and craftsmen, which Hollywood still possesses but seldom uses.

Jazz Concert Presents A Masterpiece of Sound

by K. Stanley Mugler

A strange sound visited Villanova's campus last Tuesday night. It was a welcome sound. It was the sound of jazz.

Modern, traditional, or Dixie, you name it, the first Villanova Jazz Concert had it—and in a refreshing, forceful manner that belied the youth of the competing outfits that made the evening at the Field House a masterpiece in sounds.

The concert, which was a part of Junior Week, was well received, and, if only for the sake of jazz, must be made an annual affair. It's been too long a time since these tired eras have heard such welcome sounds of pure, unadulterated jazz.

Six representatives from neighboring schools and the host Villanovans presented their wares. All had excellent credentials. All were accomplished musicians and entertainers.

The affair was handled in brilliant style by J. Casmir Zawacki, young man about campus who is sometimes known to his collegues as "Ivy Joe," owing to his traditional dress. Zawacki's taste and originality of comment added spice and knowingness to the success of the evening. Leonard Feather, look to your laurels.

DISTINGUISHED THREE

The concert was fortunate in having three distinguished gentlemen of the jazz world as judges.

Toby DeLuca, Philadelphia's answer to Frank Sinatra and music director at WFIL, lent great assistance and counsel in addition to his judging duties. Bruce D. Davidson, local Promotion Manager of Capitol Records, contributed his years of experience. Dave Bittan, an emissary of Downbeat magazine from Trenton, who praised the professionalism of the concert, gave valuable advice to DeLuca and Davidson to help them render the difficult decision as to who would be honored.

The talent itself can be summed up in two words; cool . . . creative.

WEST CHESTER FIRST AGAIN

West Chester took it upon itself to beat Villanova again, but this time it was a pleasant experience.

Jeff Haskell, a combination of Mort Sahl and Bobby Troup, guided his sparkling trio through some great improvisations to capture first prize. His comic presentation was done with taste and style. His side men, drummer George Mershon and bassist Ted Verlandre, were outstanding.

The Bobby Rerres Band from Penn State's Ogontz Center took second honors. DeLuca described the brass section as "a revelation." Davidson cited the group's soloists. This devotee was most impressed with the brilliant arranging of several original works by Rerres and other members of the band.

The Impromptones from Ursinus College placed third. Davidson praised them as having "the best group effect." DeLuca lauded the Dixieland musicianship.

Two other outfits, the Reveliers from Glassboro State and the Fordney-Goebel Jazz Group from Franklin and Marshall, impressed the judges immensely. The Reveliers were noted for their stylish arrangements and fine combination work. The F. and M. group was reminiscent of Kenton. Their effort on "Walking Shoes" was first class.

"HARMONICALLY PERFECT"

The T-Tones from Rosemont were in fine voice. DeLuca described them thusly: "Lovely is the word. Harmonically perfect." That they were, Toby, old tiger.

The host Villanovans wrapped things up in a rousing manner. Their sound brought back the welcome strains that are strictly of the early New Orleans vintage.

Four, who contributed much, must be mentioned. Zawacki's tireless efforts on behalf of jazz and his unobtrusive stint at the mike are commendable. General Chairman Jim Braithwaite should be proud in the knowledge that the show ranks second to none. Ed Johnston and Mark Devaney of WWVU did a great job on the sound. The clarity was flawless.

Yes, a strange sound visited Villanova's campus last Tuesday night. It was a welcome sound. It is a sound that Villanovans should demand more of in the future. You see, it is THE sound, The Sound of Jazz.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf," "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," etc.)

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME

As Commencement Day draws near, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody—but everybody—is asking it. I mean I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus in America without somebody grabs my elbow and says, "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors, hey?"

This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by collegians who grab my elbow. Usually they say, "Hey, Shorty, got a Marlboro?" And this is right and proper. After all, are they not collegians, and, therefore, the nation's leaders in intelligence and discernment? And do not intelligence and discernment demand the tastiest in tobacco flavor and smoking pleasure? And does not Marlboro deliver a flavor that is uniquely mellow, a selectrate filter that is easy drawing, a pack that is soft, a box that is hard? You know it!

But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes. A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears green, a master of arts wears white, a doctor of humanities wears crimson, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow?

Well sir, to answer this vexing question, we must go back to March 29, 1844. On that date the first public library in the United States was established by Ulric Sigafoos. All of Mr. Sigafoos's neighbors were of course wildly grateful—all, that is, except Wrex Todhunter.

Mr. Todhunter had hated Mr. Sigafoos since 1822 when both men had wooed the beauteous Melanie Zitt and Melanie had chosen Mr. Sigafoos because she was mad for dancing and Mr. Sigafoos knew all the latest steps, like the Missouri Compromise Mambo, the Shay's Rebellion Schottische, and the James K. Polk Polka, while Mr. Todhunter, alas, could not dance at all owing to a wound he had received at the Battle of New Orleans. (He was struck by a falling praline.)

Consumed with jealousy at the success of Mr. Sigafoos's library, Mr. Todhunter resolved to open a competing library. This he did, but he lured not a single patron away from Mr. Sigafoos. "What has Mr. Sigafoos got that I haven't got?" Mr. Todhunter kept asking himself, and finally the answer came to him: books.

So Mr. Todhunter stocked his library with lots of dandy books and soon he was doing more business than his hated rival. But Mr. Sigafoos struck back. To regain his clientele, he began serving tea free of charge at his library every afternoon. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter, not to be outdone, began serving tea with sugar. Thereupon, Mr. Sigafoos began serving tea with sugar and cream. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter began serving tea with sugar and cream and lemon.

This, of course, clinched the victory for Mr. Todhunter because he had the only lemon tree in town—in fact, in the entire state of North Dakota—and since that day lemon yellow has of course been the color on the academic robes of library science.

(Incidentally, the defeated Mr. Sigafoos packed up his library and moved to California where, alas, he failed once more. There were, to be sure, plenty of lemons to serve with his tea, but, alas, there was no cream because the cow was not introduced to California until 1931 by John Wayne.) © 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

And today Californians, happy among their Guernseys and Holsteins, are discovering a great new cigarette—the unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander—and so are Americans in all fifty states. Welcome aboard!

Hollywood Hypocritical; Spring Shows True Color

by Joe Zawacki

A glance at the movie pages the past few weeks provides an observer with a touch of irony, for less than a month after Hollywood doles out her "awards of excellence" for the year, the first clean breath of spring air brings a set of films which seem designed to show off Hollywood's hypocrisy in no uncertain terms.

Zawacki

This year's Oscars went to such glowing productions as "The Apartment ," "Elmer Gantry," and " Butterfield 8," all three films making extensive use of prostitutes and call girls. Some will argue that the productions were of a high caliber and the awards were due them. This is debatable. Others will state that the Academy Awards reflected the taste of the public. This also is subject to argumentation.

This observer believes that the public does want more quality in its entertainment but often suffers laxity in demanding it. Now a set of films have come along whose success is such that the writer's views may be altered somewhat. These films are different in theme, but they do have one common aspect: they possess a beauty that is more the exception than the rule today.

Topping the list in latent popular appeal is a sparkling British comedy currently waving its banner at the Green Hill. It is entitled "Two Way Stretch," and the mere fact that it is playing the Overbrook House is a recommendation for the film. It stars that growing favorite of the English screen, Peter Sellers, who is slowly making the public forget the mastery of his predecessor, Alec Guinness.

The film is a sometimes stinging, sometimes subtle satire on the British prison and rehabilitation system. Director Robert Day has surrounded Sellers with an outstanding supporting cast who do magic with the script, which calls for Sellers and cohorts to pull off a robbery before their jail sentence is up giving them the perfect alibi. It's possible that this is the best Sellers offering to date.

Sellers and Sophia

On the other side of town at the Lane, Reliable Peter is taking on Bernard Shaw and Sophia Loren at the same time in Shaw's engaging production of "The Millionairess." Capable man that he is, Sellers handles both assignments with considerable aplomb. This one has beautiful color and is worth seeing for no other reason than to observe Sellers stand off the bewitching Sophia for most of the picture. Not too many belly laughs in this one, but a most charming film.

Hollywood can make good pictures once in a while, but when she does, it seems to be the work of a new actor-producer. Such is the case with "The Hoodlum Priest," currently playing in town at the Viking. It is a semi-biographical film of the work of a Jesuit priest, Father Charles Dismas Clark, who opened a half-way house for ex-cons seeking rehabilitation in St. Louis in 1959.

Murray Wrote Screenplay

The priest, whom this reviewer was fortunate to meet while there, spent years winning the confidence of these convicts and other underworld characters, many times with the disapproval of the police, press and his superiors. His battle, which includes both successes and heartbreaking setbacks, is movingly translated on the screen by Don Murray as the priest.

Murray also wrote the screenplay under the pen name Don Deer.

The picture was produced by Don and one time PMC publicist and ad man, Walter Wood. If these two can come up with

(Cont'd on page 7)

Wilfred Hyde White, posing here as a priest, tries to coax the warden (Maurice Denham) into letting out his three "prize pupils" (Bernard Cribbins, David Lodge, and Peter Sellers) for further damage in this scene from the new comedy, "Two Way Stretch."

"IT'S HERE—IF YOU WANT TO WORK FOR IT"

Even before Ron Spetrino received his engineering degree from Case he had good job offers from six companies.

He joined The Ohio Bell Telephone Company —his reason: "I was convinced an engineer could go further here—if he was willing to work for it."

As soon as Ron got his feet on the ground in telephone engineering, he was tapped for a tough assignment. The job—to engineer switching equipment modifications needed to prepare Cleveland for nationwide customer dialing of long distance calls.

Ron wrapped it up in five months, and found he had earned a shot at another tough assignment. In this job Ron helped engineer a completely new long distance switching center for Cleveland. This switching center connected Cleveland with the nationwide customer dialing network. It was about a year later that Ron put the finishing touches on the specs for this $1,600,000 project.

Today, as a Supervising Engineer, Ron heads a staff of five engineers and is responsible for telephone switching in much of the greater Cleveland area.

He supervises the design and purchase of $3 million worth of equipment a year. And even more important, he is charged with developing the technical and managerial skills of his staff.

Ron knows what he's talking about when he says, "In this business you have to do more than a good job. We expect a man to be a self-developer. We expect him to take responsibility from his first day on the job and think for himself. You don't get ahead around here by just doing time."

If you want a job in which you're given every chance to prove yourself, and real responsibility right from the start—you'll want to see your Placement Office for further information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

Philosophy Club Active

Emerging rapidly as one of the most active and important functions on the Villanova campus, the Philosophy Club has made remarkable progress since its revival in February, 1960. The recent presidency of Joe Mastromatto marked a vigorous increase in membership and participation during the past year.

Dr. Robert O'Shea

Mark Quinn, the newly-elected president and a junior Arts major, took over the duties and responsibilities of the club. Quinn stressed two particular goals for next year: "a new constitution and an even more extensive lecture series." Much of the impetus for the club can be attributed to its moderator, Dr. Robert O'Shea of the Philosophy Department, who worked in conjunction with the officers of the club to sponsor the very successful lecture program of the past year.

New Officers

Others assuming office next fall are Tony Coccia, Vice President; Tom Esrey, Secretary; Mike Hannon, Bursar; and Dan Peschio, Student Council Representative.

"The purpose," maintained Quinn, "of the club is to stimulate interest in the many varied philosophies and in subjects related to them, by a concentrated program of lectures and discussion sessions. This year these open lectures were attended not only by the student body but also by many graduate students and faculty."

Among the lecturers of this semester were Dr. John McEnerney, Chairman of the Classics Department at Villanova; Dr. Andrew G. O'Connor, and the Rev. John Quinn, OSA, both of the Philosophy Department.

SPECIAL OFFER...

For 2-Headed Pipe Collectors

Genuine imported hand-carved cherrywood pipe... that really smokes!

This unique two-headed pipe is a real conversation piece...a must for your collection! Hand-carved in the Italian Alps and finished in gay colors. Stands alone on its own tiny legs. Ideal for your desk, mantel, or bookshelf ...mighty good smoking, too! This is a wonderful value! Send for your two-headed pipe today!

Only $1.00 and picture of Sir Walter Raleigh from new pouch pack

Shown Approximately ½ Actual Size

NOW Sir Walter Raleigh in the new pouch pack keeps tobacco 44% fresher!

Choice Kentucky Burley—Extra Aged! Smells grand! Packs right! Smokes sweet! Can't bite!

Clip Coupon.. Mail Today!

Sir Walter Raleigh
Box 303
Louisville 1, Kentucky

Please send me prepaid ..... 2-headed pipe(s). Enclosed is $1 (no stamps, please) and the picture of Sir Walter Raleigh from the box in which the pouch is packed for each pipe ordered.

NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY ..... ZONE ..... STATE .....
COLLEGE .....

This offer good only in U.S.A. Not valid in states where prohibited, taxed, or otherwise restricted. Offer expires June 30, 1961. Allow four weeks for delivery.

RIVER STYX by JONIK

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

BETWEEN BITES... get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by Philadelphia Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

'Round Midnight

(Cont'd from page 6)

more films like this, their future is assured. The film has already been selected for showing at the Cannes Film Festival. It deserves it.

Rise In Stature

Down the street at the Studio, the Russians get in their two rubles worth with "Don Quixote." As many before this group can testify, translating Cervantes' classic can be an arduous task; however, the Russians, whose film stature seems to be on the rise again after many barren years, have done a remarkable job of bringing the author's intended irony and poignancy to the screen. This one has the least in popular appeal, but for those who appreciate the classics, it is worth while.

Saving the best for last, a little film is making the rounds in the neighborhoods that defies the viewer to remain unmoved by its power and beauty. Directed by Philip Leacock (of "The Little Kidnappers") it is the winsome tale of two 7 year old children, a Catholic boy and a Jewish girl, and their awakening to the differences between them that matter greatly to the people around them, but not at all to the children.

A Message Film

The film is entitled "Hand In Hand" and the message that the film projects is so obvious that the viewer walks into the theater prepared to reject any pompous preaching. However, director Leacock has taken little Loretta Parry and Philip Needs, who portray the children, and lets the cameras eavesdrop into their naturalness. The result is effective and the propaganda successful. This film defies description. It is a must.

Miss Hurley Trapped

Ray Trapp escorts Sharon Hurley, who has just been chosen Queen of Junior Week. Sharon was one of four finalists at the dinner-dance last Saturday night.

Council

(Cont'd from page 1)

this section vehemently, obviously on the ground that, if they could have no say on the Council, they would not abide by its rulings. Ultimately this article was deleted, although it had the vocal support of both the DeLisa group and the Revision Committee.

Following this, Educational Affairs Vice President, Jim Strazzella declared that the DeLisa group felt that Council membership in general should be considered before specific powers of individual officers. This met with considerable objection from the Revision Committee on the ground that it was unnecessarily confusing. Ultimately, however, Strazzella's motion was passed.

This brought to the fore the crucial question: half-vote elimination. As originally introduced the Constitution provided for abolition of half-votes, but Remy immediately amended the membership section to seat organizational representatives, "bringing the half-vote issue out in the open once and for all," as he said.

At this point, decorum was thrown to the wind. Remy very ably carried off his difficult dual job of presenting a partisan defense of his amendment and impartially enforcing whatever parliamentary law could be maintained.

DeLisa, leading the floor fight against Remy's motion with his usual impassioned intentness mitigated by wit and good humor pleaded with council members, both full and half votes, to consider the good of student government over their own partisan feelings. Defense of the constitution by the Revision Committee was notably non-existent.

An attempt was made by representatives Bill Freind and Charlie Labus to bring order from chaos by amending Remy's motion for limited organizational representation. Labus and Freind proposed that a Fraternities and Societies Council be established. Every student organization would send one representative to this council which would then elect one fifth of its membership to the Student Council itself. This idea was originally contained in the constitution prepared last year by Bob DeLisa. Before the Labus-Friend amendment could be voted on, however, parliamentarian Remy and President DeLisa agreed that the fiasco had gone on long enough. Remy withdrew his first motion of the evening which was to consider the constitution point-by-point and instead required that the body approve the document in toto or not at all. President DeLisa moved that the final vote be postponed until this evening and the meeting was adjourned.

Alumni Hall Is Polling Place For Today's Election

As is doubtlessly evident from all the smiling faces, posters pasted on each and every blank surface on campus, the gaudy miniature billboards in front of Dougherty, and the ever-incessant flow of matchbooks and literature claiming and disclaiming this and that, the annual election day for all class officers and Student Council Representatives is in its greatest momentum now as the students go to the polls.

Allocating 150 dollars for voting machines so that all voting tabulations will be available immediately after the polls close today at three o'clock in the Alumni Gym, the Student Council hopes to have each victor, who is a candidate for Student Council seat, present at tonight's joint session.

Elections Watched

John O'Connell and Brian Scully, Co-Chairmen of the Elections Committee, have stressed that each student must present only his own matriculation card at the time when voting. Each election will be carefully watched so as to prevent any double-carding or voting irregularities.

All names of nominated students have been submitted to the offices of the Rev. Joseph W. Kemme, OSA, Vice-President for Academic Affairs, and the Rev. Norbert W. Whitley, OSA, for approval. Those receiving their approbation consist of thirteen freshmen running for Sophmore seats, twenty-two sophmores for Junior seats, and twenty-nine juniors for Senior offices.

Eligibility exams were administered a week ago Tuesday for any prospective Council member. "The purpose of the test," explained Scully, "is to maintain a high standard of individuals on the Council who will take an active interest and part in the Council's efforts. The Wednesday elections should be successful, if each student will remember his duty and vote."

NROTC Teams Fare Well

The NROTC drill team of Villanova University competed last Wednesday afternoon in the Greater Philadelphia Drill Meet, held at Franklin Field.

Among the nine competing teams, Villanova had two representatives, the Varsity team led by Mr. Clement, and the Freshmen team led by Mr. Lieblien.

The Frosh team came in second in the competition while the varsity placed fourth.

O'Shea Honored

A testimonial dinner in honor of Doctor Robert S. O'Shea will be held at Weber's Restaurant this evening May 10th at 7:00 p.m.

The dinner was organized by a group of students and faculty members who have been familiar with Dr. O'Shea here at Villanova. The Chairman of the ticket sales stated that "we were very pleased with the response to the ticket sales which is as much of a tribute to the man as the dinner will be itself."

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: A little learning can be a dangerous thing—especially in a multiple-choice exam.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I have calculated that if the population explosion continues at its present rate, there will be a person for every square foot of earth by the year 2088. What do you think of that?

Statistics Major

DEAR STATISTICS: Well, one thing's sure, that will finish off the hula-hoopers—once and for all.

DEAR DR. FROOD: I have been training our college mascot, a goat. He has learned how to open a pack of Luckies, take out a cigarette, light up and smoke. Do you think I can get him on a TV show?

Animal Husbandry Major

DEAR ANIMAL: I'm afraid not. To make TV nowadays, you've got to have an act that's really different. After all, there are millions of Lucky smokers.

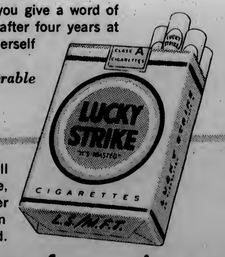
DEAR DR. FROOD: I am a full professor—and yet I stay awake nights worrying about my ability to teach today's bright young college students. They ask questions I can't answer. They write essays I don't understand. They use complicated words that I've never heard before. How can I possibly hope to win the respect of students who are more learned than I am?

Professor

DEAR PROFESSOR: I always maintain that nothing impresses a troublesome student like the sharp slap of a ruler across his outstretched palm.

DEAR DR. FROOD: You can tell your readers for me that college is a waste of time. My friends who didn't go to college are making good money now. And me, with my new diploma? I'm making peanuts!

Angry Grad



DEAR ANGRY: Yes, but how many of your friends can do what you can do—instantly satisfy that overpowering craving for a peanut.

DEAR DR. FROOD: Could you give a word of advice to a poor girl who, after four years at college, has failed to get herself invited on a single date?

Miss Miserable

DEAR MISS: Mask?

THE RECRUITERS ARE COMING! THE RECRUITERS ARE COMING! And here's Frood to tell you just how to handle them: These representatives of big business are, on the whole, alert fellows. They may be aware that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. Let them know that you know what's up—offer them a Lucky, then tap your cranium knowingly. Remember—today's Lucky smoker could be tomorrow's Chairman of the Board.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

© A. T. Co.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Juniors Defeat Seniors In Renewal Of 58 Muff Day

Avenging the disputed loss suffered two years ago in their freshman year on Freshman-Sophomore Muff Day, the Junior class turned back the seniors 55-50 last Wednesday in the annual Junior-Senior Muff Day.

As a traditional part of Junior Week, over sixty juniors appeared against the small but talented senior contingent headed by Co-ordinator John Hamilton. Junior Chairman Jack Weed commented, "The day was a tremendous success, with only one possible exception—the tug-of-war, in which the seniors were disqualified."

The Juniors proved their mental ability as Mark Quinn and Jan Gargliano predominated over the senior chess players for the second junior victory. Senior Tom Yodzis overwhelmed his junior opponent but his effort proved futile as the Juniors prevailed, two matches to one.

Burke Disappointed

The scheduled tennis matches were forfeited to the senior class since only two juniors showed at the courts of the three required. Junior tennis-player Tom Burke voiced his disappointment.

Senior hitters, crashing Junior pitcher Bob Haverlin for twelve runs, picked up another ten points for their class in the 12-3 baseball triumph, while an over-confident senior polo-team, burdened by their somewhat obese statures, was downed by an identical score of 12-3. Juniors Dan Peshio and Tony Bateman, both five-four, paced the team against the six-foot seniors.

Junior Class President Jim McMonagle broke the tape in the 440 in 55 seconds even as his classmate Bill Borden covered the 100 yard dash in 11.3 seconds. The Heavyweight 440 yard dash for athletes over 225 lbs. was taken by the senior class, under the guiding speed of football player Joe Luzzi.

Reputed Aid

The skillful senior basketball team managed to put down that of the juniors, 68-63, with the reputed aid of a sophomore. The victory, however, was allowed to stand as such. Jack Sweeney, Ron Klammer, and Tom Wall led the vain junior attempt at upset.

The Wednesday triumph was the first time that a senior class had ever lost to the juniors on Muff Day. The victory was also a moral booster for the Junior Class since they did lose during their Freshman year.

Reed And Boehmcke Named Co-Captains Of Swimmers

by Matt Mone

Don Boehmcke and Don Reed, Junior standouts of this year's 5-6 team, were named to lead the 1961-1962 Varsity Swimming Team as co-captains at the annual Awards Banquet held on Tuesday, May 2, at the Bella Villa Inn, New Centerpoint, Pa.

As a capacity audience looked on, Reed was presented the "Most Valuable" plaque for his contribution to the team this season. Edward Riley, class of 1943, made the presentation. This award, which was garnered by Boehmcke in 1960, was voted Reed by his teammates on the basis of his outstanding ability and consistent performance. Don was the team's highest scorer and a consistent double winner in the backstroke and individual medley events.

The Two Dons, Reed and Boehmcke, congratulate each other on their being named Co-Captains of next year's Swimming Team as Coach Ed Geisz looks on approvingly.

Boehmcke Versatile

Boehmcke, one of the most versatile swimmers on the squad, will repeat his role as co-captain this year. Don is an incumbent, having served this year along with the graduating Bob Dow. He climaxed a very successful season by winning four medals at the Middle Atlantic A.A.U. Championships held in Philadelphia. An erstwhile freestyler, Don surprised the experts by winning the 100 yard breaststroke title in record-breaking time.

Mike Le Moult and Al Hicks, two sophomores, won the other Varsity awards. Le Moult was chosen as the "Most Improved" swimmer while Hicks was named as winner of the Loyalty Award.

Guest speaker, Ed Riley, who was captain of the last great Villanova swimming team before its disbandment with World War II, marveled at the improvement which competitive swimmers have made in the relatively short span of years since he represented the school. He credited increased competition, better training methods, and greater determination among the athletes as the main contributing causes to this vast improvement. The increased interest in swimming along with its rise to major sport status was also pointed out by Mr. Riley as contributory factors.

Later in the evening, Bob Rambo, diving coach at the University of Pennsylvania, was presented a special award in gratitude for his devotion to youth through swimming.

Freshman awards were presented to Dick McDonough, "Most Valuable"; Jack Geoghegen, "Most Improved"; and Dan Hurley, "Loyalty Award".

It's what's up front that counts

FILTER-BLEND up front is a Winston exclusive. It makes Winston really taste like a cigarette. Filter-Blend means tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for good taste in filter smoking. Try Winston.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should!

Wildcat Nine Now 14-2 As Hitting And Pitching Click

by Joe McCarthy

Smooth fielding, strong, consistent hitting, and reliable pitching have been the singular attributes and characteristics of Coach Art Mahan's Wildcat baseball squad this year. Mahan has taken a versatile group of players and molded them into a productive unit that functions efficiently for a sole purpose: winning baseball.

The recent loss to Lafayette (2-1) and not-so-recent defeat suffered at Rutgers (2-0) constitutes the only blemishes on the Wildcat slate of 14-2.

Pitching his most impressive performance of the season, Phil Fidalgo, forced to get along without the backing of the Wildcat sticks, experienced his first setback in a ten-inning game at Lafayette. Tied 1-1 going into the bottom of the tenth, the Lafayette team had a mere three hits and one unearned run off Fidalgo.

Heartbreaker

Back-to-back singles in the tenth put Lafayette men on first and third. Fidalgo looked as if he would escape when he retired the next batter on a pop-fly to left. The runner on first then stole second forcing Fidalgo to load the bases with a walk to Ken Moyer, the Lafayette second-baseman. This set up the force play situation at any base. Joe Gillings, however, sent a high bounder toward Cat shortstop Jack Lynch with the runner moving with the pitch. By the time Lynch had gotten the ball out of his glove, the winning run was streaking across the plate.

Lynch, Wiegand, Richman, Baier, and Cramer were the only Cats to receive hits off Lafayette pitcher, Al Henry. The loss was Fidalgo's first after five consecutive wins.

Until the tenth, the game could have gone either way, but the Florida-trained Lafayette team put the winning run across before the Villanova power could reach their hurler for their ninth win in sixteen tries.

At Rutgers, pitcher Mike Kiley appeared somewhat wild in the first and it led to his undoing as a pair of runs scored on bases-on-balls. Settling down for the next five innings, he permitted a single hit while pitching shutout ball. The game was called in the sixth, thus breaking the Villanova winning streak at eight games.

Brighter Side

On the brighter side of things Temple, Philadelphia Textile, St. Joseph's, Penn, and Army all yielded to the Wildcat mound efforts and crashing bats in the last several week. The three triumphs over Big Five opponents give the Cats a 5-0 record and undisputed first place in the City Series.

At West Point a week ago, relief pitcher Pete Connors tossed shutout ball after taking over for Wayne Walz in the fifth for his third victory of the campaign. Catcher Al Wiegand drove in what proved to be the winning run in the top of the fifth as one of his three rbi's of the day. Connors also banged two hits in three trips for a pair of rbi's in the 10-4 triumph.

The home game against a weak Philadelphia Textile squad exacted little pressure on the Cat lineup as they clubbed Textile's Bob Kornblom for fourteen hits and seventeen runs. Pacing the onslaught were Phil Fidalgo, starting left-fielder, and third-baseman Don Melega. Both players slapped four runs across the plate while compiling two hits apiece. Fidalgo's seventh inning homer produced three big runs for the Cats in the 17-3 massacre. Pitcher Walz picked up the victory even though Pete Connors was called in to finish up in the top of the sixth.

Clutch Triple

Jack Lynch's run-producing triple in the ninth scored the winning run for the Cat nine to edge out a win over Temple, 5-4. Pitcher Mike Kiley notched the victory when he relieved Fidalgo in the eighth with two out. Leading the hitting department, Dan Baier had a couple of hits including a bases clearing triple to tie the score in the eighth.

Overpowering St. Joe's, 21-9, the Cat artillery crushed the efforts of the forlorn Hawks. Scoring six runs in the third and seven runs in the fourth iced the desision for Villanova.

With an extraordinary display of power and clutch-hitting, Fidalgo, again playing left, unloaded his third homer, a bases-loaded triple and a two-run single to drive in six runs. Connors relieved Kiley in the second for his fourth victory.

Pitcher-outfielder Phil Fidalgo exhibits good follow-through at bat in recent game against Philadelphia Textile.

Facing the Penn contingent on May Day, Fidalgo won his fifth straight game with aid from Connors in the seventh while Dan Baier starred at the plate with a perfect day, four hits in four trips and two rbi's.

Late Note: Villanova over Rider 10-8. Winner, Mike Kiley: The Cats now move into the home-stretch in their NCAA bid.

Tareyton delivers the flavor...

Here's one filter cigarette that's really different!

The difference is this: Tareyton's Dual Filter gives you a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL, definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth. It works together with a pure white outer filter—to balance the flavor elements in the smoke.

Tareyton delivers—and you enjoy—the best taste of the best tobaccos.

DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Against the gray background of Franklin Field Freshman Rolando Cruz clears the 15 foot barrier to win the Penn Relays. (Photo by Mike Pastore)

Hammock's Surge Starts Another Penn Relay String

by Bob Larkin

Villanova fielded its first shuttle hurdles team in the history of the school at the Penn Relays and nipped Dartmouth at the tape in 1.00.8 on a rain soaked grass track. Coach Jim Elliot's quartet of Doug Kerr, Bob Coffill, Charlie Hammock and Leon Pras overcame a defeat in the trials by Maryland in pulling its second shocker of the day. Although the team suffered from injuries, inexperience and the wet turf it used the blistering third leg of Charlie Hammock as its ace in the hole for both races.

Charlie Hammock

Hammock broke the race wide open in the trials and came back strong in the finals with another fine leg to give Pras the lead going into the final stretch. With both races in doubt for the first two quarters Hammock turned on the steam to send the Wildcats into the lead and on to the eventual photo finish victory.

Now a sophomore, Hammock graduated from Roman Catholic High in 1959 where he starred on their track team, capturing the city championship in the 120 yard high hurdles and the high jump in his junior year. In the following year he successfully defended his high hurdle crown while adding the low hurdle title. His greatest thrill came when he set the Catholic League record for the high hurdles in 1959 at 14.6.

National AAU Meet

Hammock set a personal record last June at the Middle Atlantic Championships in Harrisburg with a 14.2. He then traveled to Bakersfield, California, where he competed in the National AAU Meet. He missed a chance at the Olympic competition with a sixth place finish being edged out by Rafer Johnson, Olympic decathalon champion.

During the indoor season a twisted ankle kept Hammock from regaining his previous form. At the IC4A Indoor Meet he managed a fifth place finish although he was forced to run in five heats. Finishing third in the semi-final heat the Wildcat sophomore won the run off for fifth place still hampered by the ankle injury.

IC4A Competition

As a result of his showing in the Penn Relays, Hammock hopes to be a heavy point producer in the IC4A competition this month. With a fifth place finish in the National AAU Meet this year he may join the United States track team touring overseas. Having two more years left on the Mainline, Hammock appears to be a future NCAA title contender. In three more years the fleet Villanovan will compete for a place on the Olympic team, a burning ambition left unfulfilled last summer.

Hurdle Team Returns

Back into form this spring he proved to be the mainstay of the Wildcat's first shuttle hurdle team. Leadoff man, Doug Kerr, resumed hurdling just three weeks before the Penn Relays for the first time in two years. Bob Coffill and Leon Pras have both been hampered by injuries. Coffill, who pulled before the Quantico Mee, managed to stay in contention but Pras, indoor and outdoor IC4A champ, also suffering from a leg injury, needed Hammock's lead to hold off the challenge from Ebers of Dartmouth.

After losing in the heats to Maryland's Johnson and company, the Wildcats reorganized during a rest in the dressing room. Following their strategy Kerr and Coffill held ground and Hammock repeated his electrifying run. Pras proved too strong this time for the challangers as the Elliotmen won their first attempt at the shuttle hurdles. With all four back next year the hurdles quartet could start a Penn Relay string of their own.

Relay Roundup

Rolando Beats Tarzan

by Joe Zawacki

When a freshman can pole vault 15 feet, he is a news item. When the same freshman can defeat an Olympian and shrug it off gracefully, he is nothing short of amazing. Such is the case of young Rolando Cruz, who last Saturday came out of the AAU Invitational Pole Vault competition with a victory over Olympian and former Villanova great Don Bragg.

Cruz is justly proud of his victory over such an outstanding foe, yet upon questioning, he has to be prodded into talking about it. Further questioning indicates that Rolando has no time to gloat over his deeds. He is now looking ahead to his next bit of competition.

This attitude is indicative of the lad from Salinas, Puerto Rico, for no matter how gifted the individual, only hard work and constant practice will bring a Frosh pole vaulter over the 15 foot mark.

Timing

"Everything is timing," is Cruz' way of describing his artwork. "Sometimes you can do everything right, but then you relax going over the bar and it is in vain.

Rolando Cruz

Rolando confessed to no nervousness last Saturday at the Penn Relays. "It is hard to be nervous. You have so many things to concentrate on," he adds. That day, Bragg had already failed three times to clear 15' 3", and Cruz had a chance to win it by going higher. He missed but on the basis of fewer total of misses, was awarded first place. He did think that if one of the others had made it, he would have also cleared 15' 3". However he did not offer any alibi for the weather which was not conducive to track and field on that day.

Despite the elements, Rolando prefers to vault outdoors. offered outdoors. Nevertheless, if indoors were the only place offered outdoors. Neverhteless, if indoors was the only place he could vault, there is no doubt in talking to him that he would take the alternative quietly.

Prepped At Mercersburg

The thin, wiry youngster came to Villanova by way of Mercersburg Academy. He chose this school over the others competing for his talents because of many factors. Among these reasons were the people involved. Both Jumbo Elliott and Jim Tuppeny impressed the boy as being nice men both on and off the track. Besides this major factor, the location of the school and the people here pleased him. He intends to major in Marketing but future plans are as yet unmade.

Cruz nixes any goals as to the pole vault. "When you do that," he says, "You may reach that goal early and after that, it is hard to better it." For this reason, he is more than willing to work hard enough to reach the moon. At the rate he's going now, he's liable to do just that.

Rugby Team Division Three Champion

Climaxing their season with successive victories over the Boston Rugby Club, 37-0, and recently over Columbia University, 22-9, a small but versatile Villanova Rugby team qualified for the Eastern Rugby Union Championship playoffs as Division Three Champion. The victory over the physically-big Columbia squad was the Cats' eighth against one loss and fifth in league play where they ended the season undefeated.

Villanova now will meet the winner of the Division Two Championship, Brown University, on May 13 in New York City. The victor in this encounter will then venture their undefeated status against the Division One champions, either Dartmouth or Princeton, to determine the East Coast Rugby Champions.

Columbia raced ahead to a 6-0 midway through the first half. Throughout the first half, the Cats were constantly being pressed as Columbia seldom was held in their own territory. With about five minutes remaining, Dave Severance thrust the Cats into the scoring column with a fifteen yard penalty kick from a difficult sideline angle.

The wiry and steadfast Cat's forwards prevented any further scoring by the Columbia squad in the half but as the Cats went to the dressing room, they found that this was the first occasion in which they have ever been behind at the half.

Aided by the wind now favoring the Cats, the next half belonged almost entirely to the Mainliners. Within the first twenty-five minutes, Kevin Fynn picked up any ground yielded during the earlier portions of the game by kicking three successive penalty kicks. His thirteen points iced the game for the Cats.

Disheartenment

The Columbia squad, its morale disheartened, had distinct pre-game advantages over the Cats. Seven of their starting fifteen are members of next year's Columbia football team while they possessed the homefield advantage.

Pressing hard for the remainder of the day, Columbia still failed to hold the Cats as Captain Tony Nastri and Don Crouthamel each scored a try (a touchdown, 3 pts.). On the final play of the game a Columbia forward, Tom Mitton, raced 45 yds. to score the final tally of the day.

In addition to the oncoming championships, Coach Frank Coughlin's team have been invited to return to Villanova June 10 for the annual Alumni Reunion.

Baseball Scouting Report

How a neutral observer rates this year's Wildcat baseball team.

DAN RENN — RF

Converted infielder . . . has fought way into starting line-up with stinging line drives and hustle . . . likes to pull the ball . . . Junior . . . good speed, good arm . . . bats and throws right.

JACK LYNCH — SS

Soph . . . terrific range either way . . . strong arm, forms strong middle with Weigand and Baier . . . bats left, throws right . . . good potential as batter, but still fooled too easily . . . could be great.

DON MELEGA — 3B

Key man in Cat's success . . . never stops thinking . . . bats and throws right . . . hard to strike out . . . Junior, team comedian along with Platco . . . best big league prospect.

AL WEIGAND — C

Junior . . . bats and throws right . . . very good arm and smart receiver . . . take-charge guy, never stops chatter . . . hits long ball, but infrequently . . . Can be fooled, but has improved over last year's .200 B.A.

BILL PLATCO — LF

The "blue blazer" . . . always good for a laugh . . . one of three seniors on team . . . good arm, accurate . . . suffering from slump at bat but is better hitter than has shown . . . bats and throws from left side.

JOE CRAMER — CF

Captain, Senior . . . traditional Stanky, Hemus type . . . always hustling; makes up for defects with 100% effort . . . bats and throws right . . . line drive hitter, but can be fooled.

RICH RICHMAN — 1B

Surprise of club . . . known before as good field, no hit, has whacked ball at tremendous early-season pace . . . switch hitter, better from left side . . . Soph.

DAN BAIER — 2B

Soph . . . bats and throws right . . . has strongest arm on team, almost always accurate . . . good pivotman, teams well with Lynch . . . has tendency to be impatient at bat, but could develop into excellent stickman.

PHIL FIDALGO — P

Heavy-duty man . . . not as effective on mound this year as last, so he doubles in outfield with strong stick . . . Left-handed all the way . . . Junior.

MIKE KILEY — P

Army vet . . . Soph, married with boy, 2 . . . good curve, has tendency to be erratic at start of game . . . has pitched much better in stronger Penn-Del league . . . can be expected to do more.

WAYNE WALZ — P

Soph . . . throws right, big and strong . . . has not really been tested yet; has had good support in games pitched . . . throws hard . . . may tire in late innings . . . still learning.

PETE CONNORS — P

Mahan's secret weapon . . . has done job every time he's been called on . . . Soph . . . throws right . . . came out of nowhere to win relief job . . . sneaky-type pitcher.

ART MAHAN — COACH

Good fundamentalist, but hasn't had to resort to too much strategy this year due to heavy artillery . . . keeps team hustling . . . good con man on field; could win game that way alone . . . former major leaguer.

Otie Drayton upholds a fast growing Penn Relay tradition in crossing the tape to win the Mile Relay Championship of America, Villanova's seventh straight. (Photo by Rich Stoughton)

Frank Budd Ties Mark in Triangular Meet

Villanova's Olympic sprinter Frank Budd equaled the world record in the 100 yard dash last Saturday, flying over the distance in 9.3 seconds. Twenty minutes later he ran the fastest 220 in the country this year, a brilliant 20.2 seconds.

Coach "Jumbo" Elliot claims it was the fastest time ever run in the East at 100 yards and even more amazing it was the first attempt this season for the flashy junior, who placed fifth in the 100 meters at Rome.

San Jose State star Dennis Johnson has done 9.3 four times this year but the best 220 was 20.5 by Steve Haas of Occidental (Calif.) College.

Very Fast Track

Budd was quoted as saying he was very relaxed, had an extremely fast track, but was surprised at both times. Elliot said he definitely would submit the time to the Amateur Athletic Union and the NCAA for approval since the wind was an accepted 2.6 miles per hour.

Budd's fabulous performances overshadowed many other great times as Villanova smashed St. Joseph's and Georgetown—123-38-13 respectively in a triangular meet.

The biggest surprise of the day has to be Bobby Coffill's triple. He scored an upset over IC4A champion Leon Pras in the 120 yard high hurdles in 14 flat, which tied the second fastest time in the nation this year. Coffill, who has been hampered by injuries during his first two years, also added firsts in the broad jump and the 400 meter hurdles.

Sophmore Doug Kerr set a Villanova record in the javelin with a heave of 207 feet and 5 inches. John Dante scored a strong double, winning the half mile in 1:54.9 and the mile in a fast 4:13.2.

Relay Roundup

Hard Luck String Broken

by Ed Lohr

At 4:10 p.m. Saturday afternoon, on a wet chewed-up track at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Bob Raemore, who was victimized with the longest and most heart-breaking hard luck streak in many a year on the Main Line, snatched the Silver Baton from teammate Frank Budd and doggedly held off Olympian Earl Young to give Villanova a shocking upset victory over world record holder Abilene Christian College in the 880 relay.

Up to then, "it had been a long season," sighed the bespectacled junior. "It all had started in Madison Square Garden—the IC4A Indoor Championship hinged on the mile relay. I was running anchor and on one of the turns, Ron Green of Manhattan ran wide and I slanted for the inside, but when he saw me he came back in quickly and I elbowed him to protect myself and was disqualified."

Manhattan Again

A week later Raemore and Manhattan had it out again at the Cleveland K. of C. Meet and this time after about one half of a lap of jostling, Artie Evans went down and both the 'Cats and their rivals were tossed out of the race.

The jinx appeared ended with the start of the outdoor season, but on April 22 at the Queens-Iona Relays Raemore was caught running out the zone before Budd handed him the baton, and down went another relay championship.

So the day of triumph was at hand for the determined Bob Raemore, who took advantage of it as only he could, not only by the fabulous 880 relay thriller, but also by running the fastest leg on the Wildcat mile contingent, a blazing 47.1 second third sector. He was followed by "wolf" Otis Drayton, who, running with a partically pulled muscle, anchored Villanova to its seventh straight Mile Relay Championship of America in 47.4 seconds.

Bob Raemore

Asked how he felt running against Young — "scared stiff" was Raemore's quick reply. He added that he thought Joe Manion ran the most outstanding leg of the mile classic because of the tremendous jockeying for position on that leg.

Couldn't Believe It"

"When we whipped Ablilene, world record holder (1:22.6), in the 880 relay they had had it—they couldn't believe we beat them and didn't anchor Olympian Budd!"

He continued, "that, plus the chilly weather, the Texans had missed only two days practice under the warm sun since January 1, really shook them up and they were mentally beaten before the big one."

Raemore is looking forward to the Outdoor IC4A Championship and has been rumored day-dreaming about sneaking into the finals of the NCAA 440.

Villanovan

VOL. 36 No. 22 — VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. — MAY 18, 1961

Tom Wall (Photo by Mike Pastore)

Climactic Council Result: Wall In; New Statutes Out

by Henry James McAteer

Tom Wall, former Vice-Chairman of the Student Council, last Wednesday was elected to succeed Bob DeLisa as Chairman of the Council and President of the Student Body.

Wall, junior class resident Arts representative, also served as class president during his sophomore year.

Wall had been nominated for the Chairmanship by Bill Freind, Social Affairs Committee Chairman and a member of the Student Senate. The nomination was seconded by John Oberlies, Council Executive Vice President of Student Government.

Charlie Labus, junior class resident C & F Representative, was also a candidate for the top position. He was nominated by retiring Council Chairman Bob DeLisa and seconded by Jim Strazzella, Council Executive Vice President for Educational Affairs.

Deep Gratitude

Wall's immediate reaction to his election was one of deep gratitude. "I extend my sincere thanks to everyone who helped me in my effort," he said. "I am fully cognizant of the responsibility I must bear, and will certainly do all in my power to fulfill the expectations of the Council."

Privately, Wall confided that he felt "great!" His elation was tempered by the weight of the problems confronting him. His immediate difficulty will be passage of legislation and organization of the Blue Key, student host group, as the official conductor of freshman orientation.

Also, he is working to select the Executive Vice-Presidents, Committee Chairmen, and committee membership which will assist him in expediting his overall program for next year.

(Cont'd on page 8)

First Use of New Mendel To Be Giving of Exams

The following is the schedule for junior and senior examinations which are to begin May 22. Students are requested to note the change of the name of Mendel Hall to Tolentine Hall. The new Science Building bears the name Mendel Hall.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE FOR PROSPECTIVE JUNE GRADUATES AND OTHER STUDENTS NOT REQUIRED TO ATTEND CLASS AFTER MAY 19, 1961 (ie., MEMBERS OF THE CLASSES OF 1961 AND 1962).

All examinations will extend from May 22 to May 27, 1961.

All morning examinations will begin at nine o'clock. Afternoon examinations will begin at two-thirty except where noted.

AC—Annex Classroom
CF—Commerce & Finance Bldg.
CHE—Chemical Engineering Bldg.
JB—John Barry Hall
M—Mendel Hall (New Science Bldg.)
VH—Vasey Hall
LIB—Library
TH—Tolentine Hall (Former Mendel Hall)

Course	Day & Time	Place
ACCT. 132	24 AM	115, 209CF
ACCT. 134	22 AM	105, 209CF
ACCT. 141	23 PM	105, 110CF
ACCT. 144	24 AM	115, 209CF
BIO. 325	22 AM	117 CF
BIO. 332	24 PM	214 TH
BIO. 341	23 PM	206 TH
BIO. 352	22 AM	117 CF
BIO. 373	24 PM	214 TH
B.L. 104	22 PM	110, 209CF
CHE. 102	25 AM	B Mendel
CHE. 260	23 AM	201 CHE
CHE. 262	22 AM	1 Mendel
CHE. 268	25 AM	210 TH
CHE. 276	23 AM	202 CHE
CHE. 281	24 AM	202 CHE
CHEM. 122	25 AM (9:30 a.m.)	216 TH
CHEM. 124	27 AM	107 CF
CHEM. 244 01	22 AM	201 CHE
CHEM. 244 31	22 AM	204TH
CHEM. 246	22 AM	204TH
CHEM. 290	26 AM	214 TH
CHEM. 331	23 PM	212 TH
CHEM. 354	22 AM	117 CF
C.E. 214	24 AM (9:30)	203, 204TH
C.E. 217	24 AM	302 TH
C.E. 228	25 AM	B Mendel
C.E. 231	23 AM	2 Mendel
C.E. 234	22 AM	202 CHE
C.E. 236	22 AM (9:30)	204 TH
C.E. 238	24 AM	305 TH
C.E. 242	25 AM	B Mendel

(Cont'd on page 4)

Noted Poet, Speaker John Crowe Ransom To Lecture Tonight

Extending its attempts to bring well-known speakers to the Villanova campus, the Student Council Forum program this evening will present John Crowe Ransom, the most notable recognized speaker to appear here in quite some time.

The lecture will hold forth in the Villanova Field House at 7:30 where all admissions will be without charge. The entire program and its arrangements have been handled by Bob Bohn, Cultural Affairs Committee Chairman.

Ransom, noted as a critic, poet, and lecturer, is a Rhodes scholar with a Baccalaureate degree in Literature and Humanities from Christ Church College, Oxford, before which he received his B.A. from Vanderbilt University. He has also been appointed an Honorary Consultant of American Letters by the Library of Congress and was further honored by being the recipient of the Guggenhiem Fellowship in 1931-32.

(Cont'd on page 9)

Seniors Take Note!

A complete list of the graduating class for this year appears on page 2.

Seniors' Dads Elated As Wildcats Defeat Pirates

The final social activity of the senior class as undergraduates, the annual Senior Father's Day, closed on a particularly impressive note last Saturday, May 13. The young, talented Wildcat baseball team rallied in the eighth for two runs to tie the game and then scored a climatic run in the last of the ninth with two out to defeat their Seton Hall rivals 3-2. Over 1000 fathers and their Villanova sons attended the contest.

The day commenced at eleven o'clock with Mass in St. Mary's Grotto beneath overcast skies. The Rev. Joseph W. Kemme, OSA, the university's Vice-President of Student Affiairs, was the celebrant.

Immediately proceeding the Mass, the Rev. John A. Klekotka, President of Villanova, officially welcomed the group. After which, he briefly spoke on the controversial topic of federal aid to private and parochial schools.

After the talk, the assembly adjourned to the Resident Cafeteria in Dougherty Hall where the seniors and their fathers were served a fillet mignon dinner, which drew bewildered comments from many of the senior resident students. Larry Bathgate, Senior Class President, delivered the class welcome to the visiting fathers while co-chairman Jack Donahue acted as the toastmaster. A short talk about the past four years and the anticipated graduation was then given by the ther co-chairman, Dan Kelly.

The guest speaker for the luncheon, Villanova's recently-retired basketball mentor, Al Severance, addressed the seniors, at first noting several humorous anecdotes. In a serious vein of thought, Severance then pointed out that life was just actually beginning for the individual members of the class.

(Photo by Andy DaPuzzo)

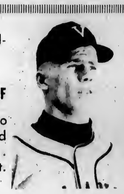
"I guess that means another run for us doesn't it?" is the general statement of the seniors' fathers during Father's Day held here last Saturday. Besides the Seton Hall—Villanova baseball game (3-2, Wildcats), the fathers attended a special Mass by Rev. Joseph Kemme, which was followed by luncheon in the resident's cafeteria.

Class Elections See New Faces, New Names In Leaders' Capacities

Ingenious innovations, vigorous exhoration, and a taut air of expectation characterized the polls at Alumni Hall a week ago in the annual class elections. Conducted under the auspices of the senior class by co-chairmen of the Elections Committee of Student Council, Brian Scully and John O'Connell, the entire affair ran smoothly through the day.

Throughout the day there was a constant milling of candidates and their supporters about the entrance to the Alumni Hall gymnasium. Junior Tony Bateman developed one of the most impressive ideas of the most impressive ideas of the humorous anecdotes. In a serious vein of thought, Severance then pointed out that life was just actually beginning for the individual members of the class. BATEMAN GIRLS, recruited from the area girl-schools, before the polls in his unsuccessful bid for Student Council Representative.

Victorious in the class presidential elections were Junior Ray Trapp, Sophmore Jim Tate, and Freshman Marty McGuinn. A landslide vote of 354 for Trapp countered the small opposition received from Peter Culhane and Mark Quinn.



In the sophmore election, dark-horse Jim Tate with 284 ballots upset pre-favorite Bob Mairone by 41 votes. Frosh Marty McGuinn of the Right party easily crushed Tim Flanagan, representing the It party, 303 to 216.

The most unprecedented epoch of the day was the decisive victory of a Freshman nurse, Patricia Berry, in the race for Sophmore Secretary against male opposition, Ed Coffey, 306 votes to 213. She is the only nurse to ever be chosen by a class as its officer, which is particularly surprising in a institution where the male-female ratio is better than 40-1.

(Cont'd on page 9)

Baseball Scouting Report

How a neutral observer rates this year's Wildcat baseball team.

DAN RENN — RF

Converted infielder . . . has fought way into starting line-up with stinging line drives and hustle . . . likes to pull the ball . . . Junior . . . good speed, good arm . . . bats and throws right.

JACK LYNCH — SS

Soph . . . terrific range either way . . . strong arm, forms strong middle with Weigand and Baier . . . bats left, throws right . . . good potential as batter, but still fooled too easily . . . could be great.

DON MELEGA — 3B

Key man in Cat's success . . . never stops thinking . . . bats and throws right . . . hard to strike out . . . Junior, team comedian along with Platco . . . best big league prospect.

AL WEIGAND — C

Junior . . . bats and throws right . . . very good arm and smart receiver . . . take-charge guy, never stops chatter . . . hits long ball, but infrequently . . . Can be fooled, but has improved over last year's .200 B.A.

BILL PLATCO — LF

The "blue blazer" . . . always good for a laugh . . . one of three seniors on team . . . good arm, accurate . . . suffering from slump at bat but is better hitter than has shown . . . bats and throws from left side.

JOE CRAMER — CF

Captain, Senior . . . traditional Stanky, Hemus type . . . always hustling; makes up for defects with 100% effort . . . bats and throws right . . . line drive hitter, but can be fooled.

RICH RICHMAN — 1B

Surprise of club . . . known before as good field, no hit, has whacked ball at tremendous early-season pace . . . switch hitter, better from left side . . . Soph.

DAN BAIER — 2B

Soph . . . bats and throws right . . . has strongest arm on team, almost always accurate . . . good pivotman, teams well with Lynch . . . has tendency to be impatient at bat, but could develop into excellent stickman.

PHIL FIDALGO — P

Heavy-duty man . . . not as effective on mound this year as last, so he doubles in outfield with strong stick . . . Left-handed all the way . . . Junior.

MIKE KILEY — P

Army vet . . . Soph, married with boy, 2 . . . good curve, has tendency to be erratic at start of game . . . has pitched much better in stronger Penn-Del league . . . can be expected to do more.

WAYNE WALZ — P

Soph . . . throws right, big and strong . . . has not really been tested yet; has had good support in games pitched . . . throws hard . . . may tire in late innings . . . still learning.

PETE CONNORS — P

Mahan's secret weapon . . . has done job every time he's been called on . . . Soph . . . throws right . . . came out of nowhere to win relief job . . . sneaky-type pitcher.

ART MAHAN — COACH

Good fundamentalist, but hasn't had to resort to too much strategy this year due to heavy artillery . . . keeps team hustling . . . good con man on field; could win game that way alone . . . former major leaguer.

Otie Drayton upholds a fast growing Penn Relay tradition in crossing the tape to win the Mile Relay Championship of America, Villanova's seventh straight. (Photo by Rich Stoughton)

Frank Budd Ties Mark in Triangular Meet

Villanova's Olympic sprinter Frank Budd equaled the world record in the 100 yard dash last Saturday, flying over the distance in 9.3 seconds. Twenty minutes later he ran the fastest 220 in the country this year, a brilliant 20.2 seconds.

Coach "Jumbo" Elliot claims it was the fastest time ever run in the East at 100 yards and even more amazing it was the first attempt this season for the flashy junior, who placed fifth in the 100 meters at Rome.

San Jose State star Dennis Johnson has done 9.3 four times this year but the best 220 was 20.5 by Steve Haas of Occidental (Calif.) College.

Very Fast Track

Budd was quoted as saying he was very relaxed, had an extremely fast track, but was surprised at both times. Elliot said he definitely would submit the time to the Amateur Athletic Union and the NCAA for approval since the wind was an accepted 2.6 miles per hour.

Budd's fabulous performances overshadowed many other great times as Villanova smashed St. Joseph's and Georgetown—123-38-13 respectively in a triangular meet.

The biggest surprise of the day has to be Bobby Coffill's triple. He scored an upset over IC4A champion Leon Pras in the 120 yard high hurdles in 14 flat, which tied the second fastest time in the nation this year. Coffill, who has been hampered by injuries during his first two years, also added firsts in the broad jump and the 400 meter hurdles.

Sophmore Doug Kerr set a Villanova record in the javelin with a heave of 207 feet and 5 inches. John Dante scored a strong double, winning the half mile in 1:54.9 and the mile in a fast 4:13.2.

Relay Roundup

Hard Luck String Broken

by Ed Lohr

At 4:10 p.m. Saturday afternoon, on a wet chewed-up track at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Bob Raemore, who was victimized with the longest and most heart-breaking hard luck streak in many a year on the Main Line, snatched the Silver Baton from teammate Frank Budd and doggedly held off Olympian Earl Young to give Villanova a shocking upset victory over world record holder Abilene Christian College in the 880 relay.

Up to then, "it had been a long season," sighed the bespectacled junior. "It all had started in Madison Square Garden—the IC4A Indoor Championship hinged on the mile relay. I was running anchor and on one of the turns, Ron Green of Manhattan ran wide and I slanted for the inside, but when he saw me he came back in quickly and I elbowed him to protect myself and was disqualified."

Manhattan Again

A week later Raemore and Manhattan had it out again at the Cleveland K. of C. Meet and this time after about one half of a lap of jostling, Artie Evans went down and both the 'Cats and their rivals were tossed out of the race.

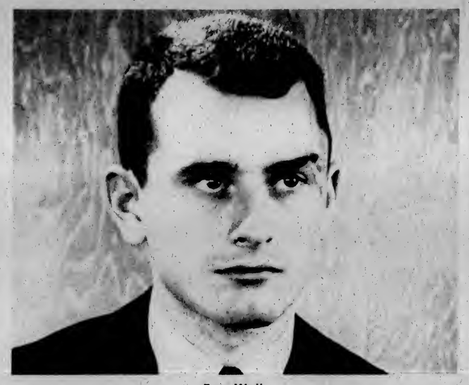
The jinx appeared ended with the start of the outdoor season, but on April 22 at the Queens-Iona Relays Raemore was caught running out the zone before Budd handed him the baton, and down went another relay championship.

So the day of triumph was at hand for the determined Bob Raemore, who took advantage of it as only he could, not only by the fabulous 880 relay thriller, but also by running the fastest leg on the Wildcat mile contingent, a blazing 47.1 second third sector. He was followed by "wolf" Otis Drayton, who, running with a partically pulled muscle, anchored Villanova to its seventh straight Mile Relay Championship of America in 47.4 seconds.

Bob Raemore

Asked how he felt running against Young — "scared stiff" was Raemore's quick reply. He added that he thought Joe Manion ran the most outstanding leg of the mile classic because of the tremendous jockeying for position on that leg.

Couldn't Believe It"



"When we whipped Abilene, world record holder (1:22.6), in the 880 relay they had had it—they couldn't believe we beat them and didn't anchor Olympian Budd!"

He continued, "that, plus the chilly weather, the Texans had missed only two days practice under the warm sun since January 1, really shook them up and they were mentally beaten before the big one."

Raemore is looking forward to the Outdoor IC4A Championship and has been rumored day-dreaming about sneaking into the finals of the NCAA 440.

Villanovan

VOL. 36 No. 22 — VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. — MAY 18, 1961

Tom Wall (Photo by Mike Pastore)

Climactic Council Result: Wall In; New Statutes Out

by Henry James McAteer

Tom Wall, former Vice-Chairman of the Student Council, last Wednesday was elected to succeed Bob DeLisa as Chairman of the Council and President of the Student Body.

Wall, junior class resident Arts representative, also served as class president during his sophomore year.

Wall had been nominated for the Chairmanship by Bill Freind, Social Affairs Committee Chairman and a member of the Student Senate. The nomination was seconded by John Oberlies, Council Executive Vice President of Student Government.

Charlie Labus, junior class resident C & F Representative, was also a candidate for the top position. He was nominated by retiring Council Chairman Bob DeLisa and seconded by Jim Strazzella, Council Executive Vice President for Educational Affairs.

Deep Gratitude

Wall's immediate reaction to his election was one of deep gratitude. "I extend my sincere thanks to everyone who helped me in my effort," he said. "I am fully cognizant of the responsibility I must bear, and will certainly do all in my power to fulfill the expectations of the Council."

Privately, Wall confided that he felt "great!" His elation was tempered by the weight of the problems confronting him. His immediate difficulty will be passage of legislation and organization of the Blue Key, student host group, as the official conductor of freshman orientation.

Also, he is working to select the Executive Vice-Presidents, Committee Chairmen, and committee membership which will assist him in expediting his overall program for next year.

(Cont'd on page 8)

First Use of New Mendel To Be Giving of Exams

The following is the schedule for junior and senior examinations which are to begin May 22. Students are requested to note the change of the name of Mendel Hall to Tolentine Hall. The new Science Building bears the name Mendel Hall.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE FOR PROSPECTIVE JUNE GRADUATES AND OTHER STUDENTS NOT REQUIRED TO ATTEND CLASS AFTER MAY 19, 1961 (ie., MEMBERS OF THE CLASSES OF 1961 AND 1962).

All examinations will extend from May 22 to May 27, 1961.

All morning examinations will begin at nine o'clock. Afternoon examinations will begin at two-thirty except where noted.

AC—Annex Classroom
CF—Commerce & Finance Bldg.
CHE—Chemical Engineering Bldg.
JB—John Barry Hall
M—Mendel Hall (New Science Bldg.)
VH—Vasey Hall
LIB—Library
TH—Tolentine Hall (Former Mendel Hall)

Course	Day & Time	Place
ACCT. 132	24 AM	115, 209CF
ACCT. 134	22 AM	105, 209CF
ACCT. 141	23 PM	105, 110CF
ACCT. 144	24 AM	115, 209CF
BIO. 325	22 AM	117 CF
BIO. 332	24 PM	214 TH
BIO. 341	23 PM	206 TH
BIO. 352	22 AM	117 CF
BIO. 373	24 PM	214 TH
B.L. 104	22 PM	110, 209CF
CHE. 102	25 AM	B Mendel
CHE. 260	23 AM	201 CHE
CHE. 262	22 AM	1 Mendel
CHE. 268	25 AM	210 TH
CHE. 276	23 AM	202 CHE
CHE. 281	24 AM	202 CHE
CHEM. 122	25 AM (9:30 a.m.)	216 TH
CHEM. 124	27 AM	107 CF
CHEM. 244 01	22 AM	201 CHE
CHEM. 244 31	22 AM	204TH
CHEM. 246	22 AM	204TH
CHEM. 290	26 AM	214 TH
CHEM. 331	23 PM	212 TH
CHEM. 354	22 AM	117 CF
C.E. 214	24 AM (9:30)	203, 204TH
C.E. 217	24 AM	302 TH
C.E. 228	25 AM	B Mendel
C.E. 231	23 AM	2 Mendel
C.E. 234	22 AM	202 CHE
C.E. 236	22 AM (9:30)	204 TH
C.E. 238	24 AM	305 TH
C.E. 242	25 AM	B Mendel

(Cont'd on page 4)

Noted Poet, Speaker John Crowe Ransom To Lecture Tonight

Extending its attempts to bring well-known speakers to the Villanova campus, the Student Council Forum program this evening will present John Crowe Ransom, the most notable recognized speaker to appear here in quite some time.

The lecture will hold forth in the Villanova Field House at 7:30 where all admissions will be without charge. The entire program and its arrangements have been handled by Bob Bohn, Cultural Affairs Committee Chairman.

Ransom, noted as a critic, poet, and lecturer, is a Rhodes scholar with a Baccalaureate degree in Literature and Humanities from Christ Church College, Oxford, before which he received his B.A. from Vanderbilt University. He has also been appointed an Honorary Consultant of American Letters by the Library of Congress and was further honored by being the recipient of the Guggenhiem Fellowship in 1931-32.

(Cont'd on page 9)

Seniors Take Note!

A complete list of the graduating class for this year appears on page 2.

Seniors' Dads Elated As Wildcats Defeat Pirates

The final social activity of the senior class as undergraduates, the annual Senior Father's Day, closed on a particularly impressive note last Saturday, May 13. The young, talented Wildcat baseball team rallied in the eighth for two runs to tie the game and then scored a climatic run in the last of the ninth with two out to defeat their Seton Hall rivals 3-2. Over 1000 fathers and their Villanova sons attended the contest.

The day commenced at eleven o'clock with Mass in St. Mary's Grotto beneath overcast skies. The Rev. Joseph W. Kemme, OSA, the university's Vice-President of Student Affairs, was the celebrant.

Immediately proceeding the Mass, the Rev. John A. Klekotka, President of Villanova, officially welcomed the group. After which, he briefly spoke on the controversial topic of federal aid to private and parochial schools.

After the talk, the assembly adjourned to the Resident Cafeteria in Dougherty Hall where the seniors and their fathers were served a fillet mignon dinner, which drew bewildered comments from many of the senior resident students. Larry Bathgate, Senior Class President, delivered the class welcome to the visiting fathers while co-chairman Jack Donahue acted as the toastmaster. A short talk about the past four years and the anticipated graduation was then given by the ther co-chairman, Dan Kelly.

The guest speaker for the luncheon, Villanova's recently-retired basketball mentor, Al Severance, addressed the seniors, at first noting several humorous anecdotes. In a serious vein of thought, Severance then pointed out that life was just actually beginning for the individual members of the class.

(Photo by Andy DaPuzzo)

"I guess that means another run for us doesn't it?" is the general statement of the seniors' fathers during Father's Day held here last Saturday. Besides the Seton Hall—Villanova baseball game (3-2, Wildcats), the fathers attended a special Mass by Rev. Joseph Kemme, which was followed by luncheon in the resident's cafeteria.

Class Elections See New Faces, New Names In Leaders' Capacities

Ingenious innovations, vigorous exhoration, and a taut air of expectation characterized the polls at Alumni Hall a week ago in the annual class elections. Conducted under the auspices of the senior class by co-chairmen of the Elections Committee of Student Council, Brian Scully and John O'Connell, the entire affair ran smoothly through the day.

Throughout the day there was a constant milling of candidates and their supporters about the entrance to the Alumni Hall gymnasium. Junior Tony Bateman developed one of the most impressive ideas of the campaign by stationing BATEMAN GIRLS, recruited from the area girl-schools, before the polls in his unsuccessful bid for Student Council Representative.

Victorious in the class presidential elections were Junior Ray Trapp, Sophmore Jim Tate, and Freshman Marty McGuinn. A landslide vote of 354 for Trapp countered the small opposition received from Peter Culhane and Mark Quinn.

In the sophmore election, dark-horse Jim Tate with 284 ballots upset pre-favorite Bob Mairone by 41 votes. Frosh Marty McGuinn of the Right party easily crushed Tim Flanagan, representing the It party, 303 to 216.

The most unprecedented epoch of the day was the decisive victory of a Freshman nurse, Patricia Berry, in the race for Sophmore Secretary against male opposition, Ed Coffey, 306 votes to 213. She is the only nurse to ever be chosen by a class as its officer, which is particularly surprising in a institution where the male-female ratio is better than 40-1.

(Cont'd on page 9)

Prospective Graduates, 1961

UNDER GRADUATE SCHOOL
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Robert Lawrence Altomare
Jerome Francis Bevilacqua, Jr.,
Robert Henry Bohn, Jr.
Mason William Borgman, O.S.A.
Bruce Michael Bossert
Frances William Boufford
Theodore Anastasios Boundas
David Lloyd Brecht, O.S.A.
Robert Nicholas Campolongo
Gregory Charles Carnevale, O.S.A.
Joseph Louis Cascioli, O.S.A.
Daniel Vincent Cashman
William Francis Cassin, Jr.
Joseph Stanley Ciesielski
Joseph Patrick Clark
Leonard Joseph Clune, Jr.
Joseph Robert Conlin
Charles John Cooper
Bernard Thomas Cosmi
Robert E. Coumbe, O.S.A.
*Sister Madonna Marie Cunningham, O.S.F.
Joseph Edward Del Guercio
Michael David Donahue
Thomas Edward Dondero
Raymond Thomas Dullard, O.S.A.
Richard D. Emery, Jr.
Francis Kennedy Farrell
David Porter Fitzgerald
William Joseph Freind
James Charles Friedel, O.S.A.
Sister Marie Suzanne Friel, C.R.S.M.
Anthony J. Gaetano
Ann Marie Gallagher
Gerard Peter Gelinas
Stanley Thomas Gogoj, Jr.
Albert Paul Gorka, O.S.A.
John F. Hamilton
John Thomas Hogan, O.S.A.
Owen Raymond Jackson, O.S.A.
Michael Bruce Kean
Michael Luke Keating
Joseph Michael Kelly
Thomas Richard Kennedy
Vincent Joseph Kuberski
Nicholas Albert Labruna
Philip Frank LoPiccolo
Thomas Arthur Luebking
Sister Marie Celestine Lynch, C.R.S.M.
John William Lynn
Claude M. Marshall, O.S.A.
Joseph Victor Mastromatto
David C. Maxwell
John Vincent McDonnell
James Henry McGill
Edward Joseph McLaughlin
James Jerome McMahon
Richard Timothy McNamar
Thomas Francis McNaney
Emil Anthony Muchetti, O.S.A.
Thomas Michael Murnane, O.S.A.
*Edward Fintan Murphy
William Allen Murphy
Sister Maria Christi Nawn, C.R.S.M.
Richard Henry Normile
Richard Raymond O'Brien
William Michael O'Grady
Edward Stephen O'Keefe, Jr.
William J. O'Leary
Paul Joseph O'Rourke
Sister Mary William Pascoe, C.R.S.M.
Robert Joseph Piccone
Joseph Francis Pillon, Jr.
Thomas Lawrence Pristavec
*Thomas Joseph Quigley
Louis G. Francis Retacco
Nicholas Joseph Ritter, O.S.A.
John Edward Rotelle, O.S.A.
George Patrick Roy, O.S.A.
Joseph Gerard Ryan, O.S.A.
Thomas Francis Samulewicz
Sister Clare Miriam Schnant, O.S.A.
John Peter Schmidt, O.S.A.
Melvin Gerald Schwartz
John Paul Shanle, O.S.A.
Michael John Sheehan, O.S.A.
John Thomas Shirley, O.S.A.
Charles Richard Simmonds
James Lambert Singer, O.S.A.
John Ryan Smith
Robert Ronald Sottilaro
John Edward Stefan
Victor Thomas Strano
James Anthony Strazzella
Gary Michael Susnjara
Regis John Swajkowski, O. S.A.
Frederick Harold Taggart, O.S.A.
Philip John Tama
Eugene Jude Taylor, O.S.A.
Richard Leo Terry
Keith Ellsworth Thedens, O.S.A.
Michael C. Tighe
Alfred Louis Tripamer, O.S.A.
Walter Augustine Ullrich
Gerald Joseph Van Overbeek, O.S.A.
Richard George Voigt, O.S.A.
Francis Philip Walusek, O.S.A.
J. Michael Wesley

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN ACCOUNTING

John William Francks
Lawrence Edward Loughlin
John P. McCarthy
William Joseph McLaughlin

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

John P. Eliff, Jr.
Richard Henry Harris
Frank G. Hazel
Walter Philip Heck, Jr.
William Joseph Hufnell
Matthew W. Lacko
Edward O. Lind, Jr.
John Joseph McElwaine
Stephen William Miller
Robert Archibald Morrison
John Richard Reiff
Charles J. Riley
Emidio R. Santoleri
Robert George Sheets

BACHELOR OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

Francis Xavier Boes, Jr.
Anthony John Cavanna
Lamont George Dare
Robert John Durney
William Thomas Dusseau
Carl William Engblom
Richard Alexander Fiorelli
Richard Peter Fogaroli
Charles Joseph Hamburger
John James Holas
George Terrance Kelly
Bernhard Josef Kraus
Nicholas Michael Napoli
Clinton Joseph Norris
Gerald Joseph O'Brien
Gerard John O'Rourke
Joseph Frank Ortaldo
Robert Francis Paternostro
Evelio Adolfo Perez-Albuerne
George John Rose
Edward James Schaller
Donald Francis Sekits
John Joseph Sullivan
James Joseph Weinert

BACHELOR OF CIVIL ENGINEERING

William Joseph Bosche
Earl Frederick Buser
William John Byrne, Jr.
Edward Brydges Camden
Stephen Thomas Campbell
Jerry John Cardarelli
Bernard John Cohan
Richard John Connell, Jr.
Armand Albert Cote
Gaston J. Criblez, Jr.
Charles Joseph Doherty, Jr.
Joseph Dominic Echelmeier
Robert J. Filiccia
John James Gallen, Jr.
Gerald Joseph Gausch
Ralph Anthony Gervasio
Thaddeus Steven Glinka
John Michael Hampton
Philip Elijah Hawley
James R. Kane
Joseph Damien Kane
Charles A. Kline
James D. Morrissey, Jr.
Paul Francis Morrissey
Douglas James Murray
John William Oberlies
John M. O'Connell, Jr.
David Scott O'Connor
Raymond Gerard Regan
John Buckley Seber
Joseph Michael Stevens, Jr.
Frederick Joseph Thompson

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN ECONOMICS

Thomas D. Adams
Michael S. Alba
Roger Vincent Allen
Richard Philip Altringer
Joseph Ward Armand, Jr.
Joseph Donald Armon
Anthony John Arriviello, Jr.
William Augustus Atlee, Jr.
Arthur Randolph Austin
Richard Bruder Bachman
Anthony Mario Badalamenti
Robert Thomas Bagshaw
Salvatore Michael Barbush
James Francis Barnes
Donald Andrew Baron
Robert Joseph Barone
Lawrence Emil Bathgate, II
Mark Sterling Bennett
John Francis Bishop
William Charles Boettger
Richard Newman Bohan
William P. Bowersock
John Edward Boyle
Robert Valentine Brogan
Thomas McDonald Brown
Robert Edward Burke
Chester Joseph Buttonow, Jr.
Robert Owen Cahill
Richard Joseph Calhoun
August John Calimano
Paul Ambrose Calissi
William Joseph Campbell
James Joseph Capobianco
Frank P. Cappellett, Jr.
Charles Henry Caputo
John Edward Carickhoff
David Paul Carney
Francis Patrick Carolan
Michael John Cerchio
Steven A. Civera
James Gerard Cleary
Lance David Colonna
*James Francis Connor, III
Nicholas P. Constantakis
Joseph Patrick Cooney
James Martin Corley
James Michael Corroon
Kenneth Edward Corson
Joseph Michael Costa
John Joseph Costanzo
John Charles Craig
Joseph Anthony Cullen
Peter Anthony Cunicelli, Jr.
John Burnwood Daly
Gary Thomas Dascenzo
Richard Andrew Delaney
Frank Thomas DeMalo
*Charles Raymond DeVirgillis
William Edward Dudley Digges
David Joseph Dillworth
Salvatore Thomas DiMascio
John J. DiPaul
Dennis B. Donahue
Richard Francis Donahue, Jr.
John Peter Donohue
Robert Emmet Donohue
James J. Dooley
Thomas Joseph Doran
*Edward John Dougherty
Robert Frederick Dow, Jr.
David Dooner Doyle
Thomas Samuel Dragani
John Michael Drees
Kevin Francis Driscoll
Gordon M. Eberly
John Paul Fadgen
John Francis Fahey
Brian Joseph Farrell
Edward Francis Fatz
Richard George Ferland
Benigno R. Fernandez
John Richard Ferry
Samuel Neil Feula, Jr.
*Frank R. Ficca
Barry Mark Finkel
John Edward Fitzgerald
Richard Francis Fitzgerald
Michael Francis Fitzpatrick
*Dennis James Flanagan, Jr.
Thomas Michael Flynn
William Joseph Flynn
Joseph George Follmer
Edmund Robert Folsom
John Fortuna, Jr.
Ludwig Joseph Franz
Donald Joseph Fries
Robert Michael Fullen
Robert James Fyffe, Jr.
Stephen John Gajda, Jr.
Edward Paul Gallagher
Stephen Patrick Gallagher
Louis John Gensits
Paul Lee George
Carl John Gerosa, II
John Thomas Gerstmeier
Albert A. Giagnacova, Jr.
Lawrence Timothy Giardina
Francis John Gilligan
Thomas W. Glaccum
William Joseph Glancey
Michael Patrick Gleason
John Martin Graber
Ronald James Graczyk
Lawrence Anthony Grassi
David R. Grenon
Henry Paul Greve
Frank Fred Guarnieri
Harry Richard Hagan
Edward Martin Happ, Jr.
Joseph F. Hellenbrand
Daniel Robert Henderson
John Michael Hickey
Harvey M. Hillman, Jr.
Michael Hirsch
Milton Charles Hoffman
Daniel Joseph Hogarty, Jr.
James S. Hooker
Robert Joseph Huppman
Joseph V. Hurley, Jr.
Frank John Jindra
James Shannon Jordan
Louis D. Joseph
Alain Pierre Joullie
Paul Josph Kacsur, Jr.
Richard John Kaminski
Richard Edward Keane
Patrick Raymond Keenan
Christopher Francis Kelley
Daniel Joseph Kelly
Edward Joseph Kelly
Gerald Francis Kelly
James Douglas Kelly
John A. Kelly, Jr.
Matthew A. Kelly, Jr.
Peter J. Kenny
Philip James Kenny
James Patrick Kilbride
Donald Anthony Koch
*Clifford Ward Kopf
John A. Koval
George Aloysius Kyle
Francis Charles LaMaina
John Joseph Lambert
John Joseph Lanahan, Jr.
James Patrick Lang
Martin Joseph Larghi
Thomas Edward Larkin
Alfred William Lauck, Jr.
Christopher J. Lawless
William E. Leisey, Jr.
Harry Robert Leitner
Robert Valentine Lento
Raymond J. Letkowski
Robert Nicholas Liberatore
Dennis Michael Libutti
Ronald R. Locandro
Joseph Alphonsus Lowry
Daniel G. Luongo
James Aloysious Lynch, Jr.
Thomas Joseph Lynch
J. Barry MacNeal
Denis Francis Magee
John Joseph Maguire, Jr.
*Jeremiah Paul Mahoney
Joseph James Manion
Vincent Carmen Marchesani
Frank Joseph Marchese
Joseph Ralph Marchione
Francis A. Marincola
Joseph James Martini, Jr.
Albert Paul Massey, Jr.
Michael Joseph Massey
William George McCall
Charles Edward McCarrick
*Edward Michael McCarthy
John Branson McClay
Richard Francis McCloskey
David John McCue
Robert Blanc McCue
Thomas Francis McDevitt
*Michael James McFadden
John Patrick McGarry, Jr.
Thomas E. McHale
Francis Joseph McKay
Cornelius James McMonagle
Francis Williams McNally
Joseph James McPeak
Robert Joseph McVeigh
James Joseph Meiklejohn
John Christopher Mellon, III
Michael Edward Menster
Joseph Anthony Michell, III
F. Kirk Michener
Alexander Anthony Milotich
Ralph Eugene Mirarchi
Thomas Vincent Monaghan
Edward James Mooney
James Courtney Moore
James Joseph Moore, Jr.
John Wayne Moore
Edward Francis Moriarty, Jr.
Daniel Joseph Moyer
Alan E. Muller
Dennis Edward Mulligan
John William Mullikin, Jr.
James A. Mulvihill
James Richard Mulvihill
Francis Joseph Murnaghan
Donald Edward Murphy
Thomas F. Murphy
William Anthony Murphy
Anthony Bernard Murray
Gregory P. Myer
*Furman Joseph Nagle
Harry Edward Neff
Henry Wilson Neill
James Patrick Nettleton
Dennis Michael Nolan
*John Walter Nolan
Keith Byron Nothstein
Arthur John Obester
Daniel J. O'Brien
Eugene J. O'Brien
John C. O'Brien
John Lawrence O'Dea
*Thomas Henry O'Hara
Jose Victor Oliver, Jr.
Francis Domenick Pacello
Ferdinand Vincent Paciolla
James W. Palsir
Philip Joseph Pante
Edward T. Paulsen
John Anton Pedisich, Jr.
James Joseph Phair
Fred F. Picard
Kenneth J. Pilla
Donald Francis Pirozzo
Frank Anthony Pizzi, Jr.
John William Plaatje
William Peter Platco
Charles Raymond Presley
Ralph Francis Pupo
Richard Foley Quinn
Kenneth W. Rath
Gerald E. Reeves
Thomas Joseph Reilly
John Joseph Reina
Anthony M. Renaldo
Peter D. Richardson
James Thomas Rieker
Thomas James Rieker
Neal Joseph Roach
Harold Thomas Robinson, Jr.
Joseph Mario Rosica
Frank Joseph Rossetti
Robert Alexander Rough
Anthony Gustav Rugel
John Alexander Sanders
Francis Gerald Santillo
*Thomas Anthony Santoro
Robert Joseph Scalia
Terrence Maurice Scanlon
Sheldon Francis Schobert
John Williamson Seal
*William Joseph Seigel, Jr.
Joseph Patrick Shanahan, Jr.
William J. Sharkey
John Edward Shea
Philip F. Sheats
John Knox Sheldrake, Jr.
*David Nicholas Sirgany
James Edward Smith
Andrew Edward Soltis, Jr.
Frank Colladay Sommer
Daniel Walter Stager
Philip Keeney Stonier
John Masakazu Sugiura
Jerome Leo Sullivan
Robert Nold Sullivan
William H. Sullivan
Nicholas Joseph Tassone
Richard Ceasar Tinucci
*Paul J. Tomczyk
William Patrick Touey
Francis John Tripodi
Harry Francis Undercoffler
John George Valva
*John Harding Van Dusen
Cornelius Joseph Vaughey
John Richard Vaughey
Patrick Joseph Wallace
*John David Wallin
Daniel John Walsh, III
Raymond Michael Walsh
Robert Louis Whelehan
Richard Anthony Wilder
Edward B. Wise
Carl George Wolf
Francis Edmund Xavier
Donald George Zifchak

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION

Louis G. Alessandrini
Sister Mary Anne Joseph Branton, C.R.S.M.
Joseph A. Ciccone, Jr.
Robert John DeLisa
Marlene J. Gagliardi
Margaret Theresa Giordano
*Dolores Marie Jemionek
G. Donnon McGinley
Mary Bernadette McGlynn
Sister M. Roberta Ochs, O.S.B.
John Joseph O'Donnell
John Joseph Phipps
Edward Martin Purnell
Sister M. Valentina Riddle, O.S.B.
Michael Francis Stafford
James Joseph St. Hilaire
Francis Joseph Vangell
Thomas Frank Yodzis

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN SOCIAL STUDIES

Robrt David Albrecht
Charles Allison Alexander, III
V. Allan Bauso
Dennis Anthony Caponigro
Nicholas Michael Cassetta
Thomas Aquinas Chambers
Joseph Henry Cramer
Terrence Patrick Curley
Thomas Jude Donohue
*Brian Kevin Donovan
*Francis Joseph Dunn
William Joseph Faccidomo
*Francis Joseph Fajella
John Joseph Fee
Edward Ralph Fittipaldi
Carl Leo Francis
Royal Bertram Giffen
William Richard Hogan
Francis J. Huf
Richard Currie Jensen
Richard Michael Keeley
Robert Kerr
Joseph Paul Leonzi, Jr.
Joseph Lawrence Luzzi
Joseph G. Marone
George Ellard McCarthy
William Patrick McCarthy
William Howard McClure, Jr.
Paul V. McGinnis
Lawrence Joseph Mozian
Michael F. Mullen
J. David Murphy
Anthony Domenic Nastri
Thomas R. Natal, Jr.
Edward Joseph Nolan
James Anthony Phillips, Jr.
Andrew John Piscatelli, Jr.
Robert Jacob Plowman
Robert Francis Redmond
Patric J. Romand
Robert Michael Rose
John Daniel Rosella
*Alvy Richard Schaum
David Earl Severance
Michael James Spahn
Dominic Joseph Tieri
*Dennis John Young
Robert Joseph Conboy

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN CHEMISTRY

Richard William Cordell
Fernando Galatas
Thomas Richard Gavin
John Paul Judson
George Vincent Purcell
Edmund Neil Ricchezza
Eugene Rodgers
Anthony Gabriel Zacchei
Edward J. Zehler

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN MATHEMATICS

Gerald Eugene Carlin, Jr.
Joseph George Cicci
Ronald Joel Dei Vecchio
Richard Owen Gormley
Robert Edmond Johnson
Vincent Leslie Kirk
Jon Louis Lisitski
Donald Joseph Livengood
Thomas L. Loughlin
Joseph Francis McGrath
Edward Joseph McNichol
Mario Joseph Medio
James Edward Paul
George C. Porter, Jr.
Joseph Anthony Remy
Walter S. Sroka
John A. Volpe
Charles Lawrence Weaver
Richard Joseph Wickersham

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN PHYSICS

David Charles Beehler
T. Dennis Brennan
James Peter Brown, Jr.
Alexander Joseph Casella, Jr.
Richard William Clemens
Nicholas John DeAngelis
Salvatore Daniel Lantieri
Ronald Paul Lepping
Francis Edward McCormick
John James McKeough, III
James Carl Seiler
Frank A. Smith

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN BIOLOGY

Edward John Batta
Joseph Anthony Caprini
Alfred John Carlson, Jr.
Richard Anthony Chidsey
Dominic Anthony Diorio
Frederick Michael Foley
Robert Joseph Goldberg
Albert A. Kaplan
Sister M. John Therese Lewis, O.S.F.
Dennis James Lynch
Carlo B. Malini
Edward George Morhauser
Vince John Paczkoskie
Thomas Michael Probert
Peter John Runge
Robert C. Steeb
Barry Wills
Joseph A. Zeccardi

BACHELOR OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Ralph Carl Ascoli
John Jacob Ayoub, Jr.
Arthur James Boyle
John Thomas Campbell, III
Terence Patrick Connell
Gerald Richard Curulla
David E. Denlinger
Ronald Stanley Dobies
John Daniel Dorgan, Jr.
Edward Joseph Duckworth
Edward Joseph Duffy
Edward K. Emerle
Francis John Finnegan
James Francis Furey
John Leo Gaffney
Paul Vincent Gallagher
Ricardo J. Garrido
Edmund John Germann
Edward A. Guro
Hsiao Ping Hau
Robert Albert Healey
Edward Anthony Jelesiewicz
Thomas Eugene Jones
Joseph Walter Kaszupski, Jr.
James Alexander Kavanagh
Robert William Kempen
Daniel Paul Kostick
Donald Eugene Lake
Albert Michael Lawler
Edward Charles Lesoravage
John Paul Livezey, Jr.
Robert Jacob Mackey
W. Stephen Mahle
Lawrence Patrick Maucher
L. Marhall McCloskey, Jr.
Joseph Thomas McFadden
Charles Michael McKeough
John Francis Merges
Robert Anthony Mergliano
Argentino Luis Minana Menendez
Paul Edward Muench
Joseph Thomas Muldoon, Jr.
Charles A. Palmer
Cecil Sloane Richardson
Robert Valentine Rominiecki
Thomas J. Rvan
Walter John Ryba
James Michael Saboe
Richard Edgar Schneider
Francis Thomas Schwartz
Paul Peter Smilgin
Joseph Michael Spodaryk
Bernard C. Toth
Bernard Christopher Urynowicz, Jr.
David Hugh Walsh
Hugh John Ward, Jr.

BACHELOR OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

Joseph Lawrence Ambrogi
Michael Domenic Appolonia
William Frederick Ball, Jr.
Rocco Anthony Benedetto
Ronald Michael Bullotta
Joseph Francis Calabria
Ralph Mario Catanese
Franklin John Cona
John Charles Conine
Frank Simon Conley
Robert Joseph Cooney
Paul Eugene Crawford
*Daniel Joseph Donovan
Joseph Peter Dopp
William Peter Downey
Francis Joseph Eberle
Frederick C. Fagan
Robert Louis Fink
Paul Joseph Giordano
Walter Joseph Huder
Dennis Mario Iavarone
Joseph J. Kelly
Joseph Charles Lamon
John Joseph Lucas
*Francis William Madden
John Paul Malriat

(cont'd on page 8)

Dr. Nova Publishes Book: Analysis of Governments

Analysis of Contemporary Governments, the new book by Doctor Fritz Nova, a professor of political science, will be published in January of 1962. The book deals with a comparison of every country in Europe in terms of each country's constitutions and constitutional laws. The book is in the form of a college level text book. Besides being a text book it will also serve the purpose of a monographic and documentary reading.

Current Analysis

Doctor Nova pointed out that, "Because it is less concerned with historical documentation, it can therefore go to greater depth in current institutional analysis."

The publisher of the book is Helicon Press of Baltimore.

In addition to being an accomplished writer, Doctor Nova reviews books for The Catholic Standard and Times and the Catholic Library Service.

Also, Doctor Nova has received great recognition at Villanova by being appointed moderator of the University's International Relations Society which recently made a successful field trip to Washington, D. C. The highlights of the trip were the visits to the Russian Embassy, the State Department and the White House.

May 8 Elections To Determine Officers For Pre-Law Society

The Villanova Pre-Law Society has elected its new officers at a meeting held May 8.

The new president will be John J. Dillon; vice-president, George F. West; secretary, James Connelly; treasurer, Tom Callan; Student Council representative, Ross Anzaldi; and liaison officer, Norman Garrelts.

Dillon has promised the best year in the society's history with many activities and visiting speakers.

SUPER SMOOTH SHAVE

New "wetter-than-water" action melts beard's toughness—in seconds. Remarkable new "wetter-than-water" action gives Old Spice Super Smooth Shave its scientific approximation to the feather-touch feel and the efficiency of barber shop shaves. Melts your beard's toughness like hot towels and massage—in seconds.

Shaves that are so comfortable you barely feel the blade. A unique combination of anti-evaporation agents makes Super Smooth Shave stay moist and firm. No re-lathering, no dry spots. Richer and creamier...gives you the most satisfying shave...fastest, cleanest—and most comfortable. Regular or mentholated, 1.00.

Old Spice
SHULTON

Long Line Of McEntees Comes To An End At VU

by Joseph A. McCarthy

What may be said to be "the end of an era" will come to a singular close at the Law School graduation exercises this June. Extraordinary intelligence, perservering industry, and a peculiar, yet rigorous, loyalty to Villanova University has characterized the past sixteen years in the McEntee family of Franklin, New Jersey.

Within the next month, Villanova will graduate its only third-year female Law student and thus establish a glowing fini in the annuals of Villanova which originally commenced in 1945 with the enrollment of the first McEntee here as a Pre-Med student. The year 1962 will herald the first time in sixteen years in which the McEntee family has not been represented on the Wildcat campus.

Law Degree

Leaving Villanova with her Law School diploma will be a pretty young blond of ready intelligence and cultured speech, Miss Catherine McEntee. As one of eight children in her family, she will be the last of four to attend Villanova and the fourth female to graduate from the Villanova Law School. There are, at present, four other young ladies studying for their law degree in the first and second years.

Previous to Cathy's enrollment, three of her brothers had graduated. The first was Bill, who, since graduation in 1949, has attended the Albany Medical School and now is a Resident Neurologist at the Yale University Hospital. He also obtained his Master's degree in Public Health at Yale.

Bob and Dick

Bob then enrolled in September of 1949 and majored in Accounting until his graduation in 1953 when he studied for his official CPA. The Chemical Engineering Department then guided the efforts of Dick for five years until the 1958 graduation exercises. He is now working for General Foods in their Research Division.

Cathy also has three other sisters who have become nurses the most recent of whom, Pat, graduated from Immaculata College in 1959. Montclair State College conferred upon Cathy her Bachelor's Degree for Social Studies in 1958. Three months later, she pursued the family tradition by entering the Villanova Law School.

Private Practice

When questioned on why her family had preferred Villanova she explained that her father had followed Villanova's football squad and the other athletic teams and was impressed with its excellent campus atmosphere. she hopes that eventually she can establish her own general law practice but, at the present time, she intends to join the law firm of Ruskin, Fadden, McCarthy, and Holland for the experience of actually working with immediate law problems.

Her graduation will be Villanova's loss. Since Cathy and her family have certainly been loyal to Villanova, it should be the wish of all Villanovans to extend all possible wishes of good fortune in the future endeavors of each member of the McEntee family.

Miss Catherine McEntee

Marketing Club Prize Presented At Dinner To Leading Senior

On Saturday, April 8, the Marketing Club of Commerce and Finance School held its annual Dinner at the Plymouth Country Club.

At that time Mr. Edward Mooney, a graduating senior in Marketing, received the American Marketing Association Award for being the outstanding student in this field.

Mr. Lewis W. Lorman of Alderson Associates, Inc., who represented the American Marketing Association, presented the award to Ed Mooney.

Mr. James Palsir received the Marketing Club Award as the outstanding Marketing senior. Dr. Heidingsfield, Associate Dean of Commerce and Finance, presented the Marketing Club Award to Palsir.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

SCIENTIFIC DIRECTOR Dr. Rechnitzer and the U. S. Navy bathyscaph "Trieste" found out how deep the ocean is: 7 history-making miles.

Dr. Rechnitzer is a Camel smoker. He says, "I smoke Camels for one reason: taste . . . rich, satisfying taste I enjoy every time I light up."

The best tobacco makes the best smoke!

Council's Chance

The Student Council meeting of May 10th was a great contrast to the one of the week before. The new constitution was voted on and rejected. Next the candidates for next year's offices were nominated and voted upon. The nominators, seconders, and nominees carried out their roles maturely.

One thing was made clear; several dedicated, and well-meaning people will sit at next year's council. The problems that face these individuals are many and complicated.

The present size of the body is too large to operate efficiently. The members aren't well enough versed in parliamentary procedure. The Council lacks a specific area of responsibility. These are just a few of the outstanding difficulties these men will have to face.

Jefferson once said; "I think we have more machinery of government than is necessary, too many parasites living on the labor of the industrious". These words seem to be appropriate to the present council.

The attempt to streamline the present body failed on May 10th. The reason that it failed is simple; no concession was given to the half votes; a compromise was offered, but never voted upon.

This compromise would give the representatives or organizations representation, and a voice in the affairs of the Council. It would also eliminate most of these members from that body.

The remaining body would be truly representative of the student body. And fraternities, societies, and publications would be represented. The smaller size would enhance greater efficiency. Members of the student body could be called upon to help in specialized areas.

This streamlining job could be done by amending the present Constitution.

The specific area of responsibility that the Student Council can seek is difficult to define. At the present time the Council directs most of its energy to improve the educational, social, cultural, and religious aspects of the Villanova student. They have the power to suggest changes to the administration.

In the past two years we have seen the Student Council come of age. It has been granted a treasury of its own. Many of its suggestions have been considered and approved and acted upon by the administration. Fine arts courses, a Great Books course (in the future), lounges in the resident dormitories, "Operation Abolition", and speakers of the caliber of John Crowe Ransom have all been made possible by the Congress.

Now they seek to become more than a service organization. A small bit of power that is theirs alone, would give them a chance to prove themselves explicitly.

The next step is up to the administration and the Council. Perhaps the dedicated maturity of its members will bring about a greater amount of responsibility to the group.

Villanovan

VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-chief ..... Daniel G. Grove
Associate Editor ..... Josephine Morello
Managing Editor ..... Edward Farrell
News Editor ..... Mark Quinn
Sports Editors ..... J. Edgar Lohr
Joseph Zawacki
Feature Editor ..... Joseph A. Massey
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editor ..... Thomas O'Connor
Format Editor ..... Ed Graham
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... John J. Janda
Circulation Manager ..... John Redding
Exchange Editor ..... Raymond Ritter
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

Leo Goodrecu

Junior-Senior Exam Schedule

(Cont'd from page 1)

ECON. 109	23 AM	209 CF
ECON. 120	24 AM	A Mendel
ECON. 122	23 PM	215 TH
EDUC. 211	22 PM	215 TH
EDUC. 247	22 PM	215 TH
E.E. 204	23 AM	109 CF
E.E. 208	22 AM	203, 302TH
E.E. 210	23 AM	A Mendel
E.E. 221	24 AM	1 Mendel
E.E. 227	22 AM	213, 217, 212, TH
E.E. 244, 245, 235	23 AM	B Mendel
ENGL. 122 02-04	24 AM	203, 204 VH
ENGL. 202	26 PM	214 TH
ENGL. 212	24 PM	205 CF
ENGL. 221	27 PM	214 TH
ENGL. 224	22 PM	VHA
ENGL. 254	25 AM	115 CF
ENGL. 269	27 AM	108 CF
ENGL. 362	25 PM	112 CF
ENGL. 384	24 PM	202, 211 JB
FIN. 105	22 PM	110 CF
FIN. 106	23 PM	201, 202CF
FIN. 108	23 AM	105, 110, 209 CF
FIN. 118	22 PM	209 CF
F.A. 101	27 AM	116 CF
F.A. 102	27 PM	207 TH
FREN. 122	23 PM	VHA
FREN. 131 132, 151	26 AM	209 VH
GEOG. 116	26 PM	207 TH
GEOL. 228	22 AM	117 CF
GEOL. 382	24 AM	211 CF
GERM. 122	23 PM	VHA
GERM. 126	23 PM	VHA
HIST. 205	25 AM	105 CF
HIST. 208	22 PM	217 TH
HIST. 210	25 PM	115 CF
HIST. 216	27 PM	VHA
HIST. 218	24 AM	203, 204VH
HIST. 223	23 AM	202 CHE
HIST. 232	26 PM	208 VH
HIST. 240	23 AM	1 Mendel
HIST. 241	22 PM	202 JB
HIST. 257	24 AM	211 CF
HIST. 258	26 AM	106 VH
I.A. 108	24 AM	105, 112CF
I.A. 111	25 AM	105 CF
I.A. 122	23 PM	214 CF
INSU. 103	25 AM	105 CF
MKT. 109	25 PM	110, 209CF
MKT. 113	23 PM	A Mendel
MATH. 236	23 AM	215 CF
MATH. 238	23 AM	104 LIB
MATH. 242	25 AM	115 CF
MATH. 251	22 AM	105 CF
M.E. 204	25 AM	A Mendel
M.E. 210	23 AM	1 Mendel
M.E. 216	24 AM	211 CF
M.E. 224	22 AM	A Mendel
M.E. 237	24 AM	304 TH
M.E. 244	22 AM	B Mendel
M.E. 247	23 AM	109 CF
NURS. 200	25 AM	110 CF
NURS. 221 21	23 AM	215 CF
NURS. 221 22	24 AM	211 CF
NURS. 250	22 AM	117 CF
NURS. 290	22 PM	VHA
NURS. 291	25 PM	215 TH
NURS. 292 22	24 PM	106 CF
NURS. 292 21	25 AM	115 CF
PHIL. 101 01-03	25 AM	209 CF
PHIL. 101 51-54	24 PM	105, 110 CF
PHIL. 210 01-02	22 AM	109, 115 CF
PHIL. 210 51	22 AM	109, 115 CF
PHIL. 232	24 AM	B Mendel
PHIL. 242	24 PM	201 CF
PHIL. 246	25 PM	201 CF
PHIL. 247	26 PM	202 VH
PHIL. 248	25 AM	A Mendel
PHIL. 261	25 AM	202 CHE
PHIL. 262	23 PM	209, 211 CF
PHIL. 263	25 PM	203 CF
PHIL. 264	22 AM	209 CF A, B Mendel
PHIL. 265	22 AM (9:30)	204 TH
PHYS. 102	26 PM	217, 216 TH
PHYS. 162	26 AM	207 TH
PHYS. 171	23 AM	210, 216 TH
PHYS. 201	26 AM	212 TH
P.SC. 147	22 PM	217 TH
P.SC. 172	27 AM	106 CF
P.SC. 224	23 AM	2 Mendel
P.SC. 228	26 AM	202 VH
P.SC. 229	22 PM	VHA
P.SC. 248	24 AM	211 CF
P.SC. 254	22 AM	1 Mendel
P.SC. 279	26 PM	210 VH
P.SC. 280	23 PM	105, 110 CF
PSY. 134	25 PM	110, 209 CF
PSY. 236	24 PM	202, 211 JB
PSY. 238	22 AM	1 Mendel
PSY. 239	27 AM	110 CF
PSY. 240	26 PM	105 CF
PSY. 242	25 AM	209 CF
PSY. 245	26 AM	207 VH
R.E. 101	23 AM	105, 110 CF
REL. 108 01, 02, 05, 32, 33	19 PM	204, 215, 216, 217 TH
03, 07, 21, 22, 34, 57		VHA
06, 31, 53, 56		116, 117, 201, 207, 211 CF
51, 54, 55		109, 214, 215, 216 CF
04, 52		VHA
REL. 109 51	24 PM	204 TH
52		215 TH
53, 54, 56		VHA
55		VHA
57		VHA
RUSS. 122	26 PM	208 VH
SOC. 101	25 AM	110 CF
SOC. 203	25 PM	202 CF
SOC. 207	23 AM	215 CF
SOC. 225	22 PM	210 TH
SOC. 270	26 AM	203 VH
SPAN. 122	23 PM	VHA

(Continued on page 8)

Tanganyika First

(SPECIAL TO THE VILLANOVAN)

College graduates will not dig ditches in the Peace Corps. Nor will they explain Locke to the Bantus.

Volunteers will not try to "Americanize" the world, nor will they be selected from the ranks of the "draft dodgers."

These and other misconceptions about the Peace Corps have taken root and blossomed on some college campuses.

Let's look at the truth of the matter.

First, the Peace Corps Volunteer will go only where he is asked. He will be asked only where there is a specific job to do. The job will be one the host nation can't do itself.

The first Peace Corps Volunteers will go to Tanganyika. There, to improve the lot of the nation's many farmers, roads must be built to get their produce to market centers.

Tanganyika has an abundance of unskilled labor but the country can only produce two Tanganyikans trained in land survey work in the next five years. Their government has asked the Peace Corps to supply the surveyors, civil engineers and geologists to meet their shortage. President Kennedy has agreed to help and a joint plan has been mapped out.

Volunteers with these skills have applied and are now applying to the Peace Corps. In late May the Volunteers will be called for interviews. In June the task force will be selected and intensive training started.

At a university the Volunteer will learn about Tanganyika, about its culture, mores, tradition and history.

Next, according to present plans, the Volunteer will participate in another exhaustive training period at a camp site in a mountain rain forest abroad.

Physical and mental conditioning for the rigors of Africa will be stepped up. Lectures on tropical living will be given. Programs designed to develop and test the stamina, self-reliance, adaptability and endurance of the Volunteers are planned.

In most Peace Corps projects, the local language will be taught in a stateside university. For this project, however, the Tanganyikan government asked that it be permitted to use its techniques to teach Volunteers Swahili.

The first seven weeks in Tanganyika will be spent at a camp on the slopes of Mt. Kilimanjaro where the Volunteer will study Swahili and learn about his work there.

After this course, Volunteers, in groups of two and three, will be assigned to provincial capitals which will serve as home base for the safaris into the jungle to plan the needed roads from the isolated native villages to the main highways.

In Tanganyika, the Volunteer will receive enough money to live a simple existence, but not exactly at the level of the local populace. The Volunteer will have all his needs—food, housing, clothing and transportation—provided for. The Volunteer will need no money of his own. He need not fear that his subsistence will provoke hunger or poverty. Provision will be made for recreation, some travel during relief periods, and medical care.

The work will be hard. It may be frustrating. It could be dangerous. It certainly will be lonely. But it will also be exciting and rewarding.

The Volunteer's work will test his patriotism, his courage, his endurance. He will learn from another culture, he will do a needed job, he will help his country in time of need and help the cause of world peace. The Volunteer will be answering the call of what he can do for his country, not what his country can do for him.

When he returns after two years service, the Volunteer will receive $75 for every month spent overseas. He will have the services of a Career Planning Board to help continue his career.

During his Volunteer service, the Volunteer will be deferred from the draft. If he returns home to a socially useful job, his deferment will continue.

Married couples without children are welcome, provided each does a needed job in the host nation.

Teachers in short supply everywhere, and many nations have already indicated they want teachers of English.

Anyone requesting full information about the Peace Corps should write for the Peace Corps "Fact Book," Peace Corps, Washington 25, D.C.

Volunteer forms for present and future Peace Corps projects are available on campus, through the Congress, or by writing the Peace Corps.

"LYNX" Varies In Quality; Primitive To Perceptive

by Richard A. Duprey

There is a certain excitement to be found in thumbing through the pages of a student literary review. There is something rather stirring in reading of young men's thoughts and feelings as they flex their intellectual and emotional muscles through the medium of the printed page. The Spring 1961 Lynx, published by Villanova undergraduates, is no exception to this happy norm, for it abounds with the early stirrings of creativity.

With a presentable, if not terribly original format, this current issue of The Lynx offers six articles, three pieces of short fiction, and eight poems. The articles range from a short piece on game fishing to an arresting discussion of Dostevsky's concept of freedom.

One can pass no general comment on The Lynx, as it is, like most other publications of its type, a scatter-shot, reflecting no discernible editorial policy or unified theme. The works diverge in quality as widely as they range in choice of subject.

Stream-of-Consciousness

The expected ingredients are to be found in this issue. There is the inevitable "stream-of-consciousness" sort of thing, disjointed, undisciplined, yet not completely without thought, that proves further how fond young men are of riding dead horses. There is a short imitation of Ogden Nash which further proves that youth often fears to sing in its own voice and prefers, all too often, to choose another's accents for its own. There are middling experiments in free verse that offer modest amusement — baby phrases from the literary primer—primitive but useful to their young artists' development.

The unexpected is also to be found in the Spring Lynx. Frank Murphy has contributed two short stories that show more than a little promise—pieces that manifest keen senses, a considerable respect for the language, and a human perceptiveness that gives his meaning and relevance.

"Elan Vital"

There is an essay contributed by Eugene d'Aquili on the relationship of Catholic students to the culture of our times. Though the author seems more intent upon developing apologists—men to engage in theological disputation—than on fostering a real Catholic culture, one capable of securing and consolidating previous gains and sending down deep roots, the ardent concern is there in the call to make a Christian thinker. His denunciation of "ghettoism" is particularly appreciated after having seen so much of late of that strange creature, "the student conservative." His call for "elan vital" amongst Catholic college students will be largely unheeded, but it is gratifying to hear it, nevertheless.

One other noteworthy feature is a pair of reviews discussing Leon Uris' bestselling novel "Exodus." Bob Greenstein and Naim H. Salfiti consider the novel from the Israeli position and from that of the Arab. Though one might legitimately question whether either man has even come close to literary criticism, dialogue of this type is an especially happy thing in student publications which are often unpardonably prudent. Often they are so enamored of this virtue, prudence—so careful to offend no-one—that they say nothing at all.

One might hope that The Lynx will prosper, if for no other reason than to remind the Catholic college student that there is, in a sense, an obligation to write—to make oneself heard in the Babel of the world.

Traditional Debt

One who has been educated, particularly in the traditions of Christian humanism, has a debt both to the tradition that evolved him and to the world in which he lives, to communicate something of himself, his experiences, his thoughts and ideas. Catholic students have been uniquely tardy in recognizing this area of responsibility because Catholics have been so busy establishing a foothold in our basically Protestant civilization that they have had little time or inclination to write.

Through The Lynx and the other publications of its genre, it is heartening to see that some students are moved to write. It is heartening to know that not all students are considering education as a magic carpet leaving for some vocational goldmine; and that there are some who are not too busy taking courses and earning credits to read, reflect, learn, and pass the spark along.

Critic Acclaims 'Othello': 'Most Significant Event'

by Gus Susnjara

The determinant most often cited for the contemporary popularity of the dramatic artistry of William Shakespeare is the Elizabethan playwright's "all-encompassing world view." Indeed, how frequently does one hear it said that Shakespeare deals with the universal; that he probes the vague bases of man with almost frightening agility and insight; and that he knows humanity and can express this knowledge as a true imitation of life through the medium of drama.

Yet, despite the obvious intellectual magnitude of such an endeavor, Shakespeare appeals to everyone; in fact, he is the most produced playwright in the world today. High school students, white-collar workers, and doctors of literature can sit side by side, thoroughly enjoying and understanding Hamlet, Lear, and Macbeth. Why is this true? Because the essence of Shakespearean tragedy lies in the discovery and portrayal of man's most innate virtues and infirmities. The subtleties and innuendoes are absolutely necessary for those who understand them, but for those who cannot, the actual atomic center is equally clear.

When a play of Shakespeare is done well, the satisfaction of each playgoer is analogous to the old story about the bottles (all of diverse sizes) which are filled to capacity, not one lacking in the slightest degree. Last Wednesday, in Vasey Hall Theater, Othello filled all the bottles.

Significant Drama

The graduate Theater Department's final production of the school year arose as the most significant campus dramatic event since Twelfth Night. Othello was moving, and, more important, it moved. Constant activity on stage allowed no opportunity for the audience to feel ennui or lose sense of continuity. The action, thankfully, was not a meaningless hustle bustle, but, along with plot and dialogue, an integral part of the totality. With such a fusion of language and movement, the often difficult Elizabethan English becomes succinct and easily understood.

For integrating the various parts of Othello, director Bernard Coyne deserves more than a little commendation. He was the unifying external force without which even the finest actors and actresses could not recreate the drama. Mr. Coyne also directed Twelfth Night at Villanova, and seems endowed with a talent for successfully doing Shakespeare. Though many may have disagreed with the direc-

(Cont'd on page 6)

Iago (Jim Willaert) draws Othello (Bill Flynn) deeper into his conviction of Desdemona's unfaithfulness during the recent Graduate Theater production of Shakespeare's "Othello."

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf," "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," etc.)

OLD GRADS NEVER DIE

In just a matter of weeks many of you will be graduating—especially seniors.

You are of course eager to go out in the great world where opportunities are limitless and deans nonexistent. At the same time your hearts are heavy at the thought of losing touch with so many classmates you have come to know and love.

It is my pleasant task today to assure you that graduation need not mean losing touch with classmates; all you have to do is join the Alumni Association and every year you will receive a bright, newsy, chatty bulletin, chock full of information about all your old buddies.

Oh, what a red-letter day it is at my house, the day the Alumni Bulletin arrives! I cancel all my engagements, take the phone off the hook, dismiss my chiropractor, put the ocelot outside, and settle down for an evening of pure pleasure with the Bulletin and (need I add?) a good supply of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Whenever I am having fun, a Marlboro makes the fun even more fun. That filter, that flavor, that pack or box never fails to heighten my pleasure whether I am watching the television or playing buck euchre or knitting an afghan or reading Mad or enjoying any other fun-filled pursuit you might name—except, of course, spearfishing. But then, how much spearfishing does one do in Clovis, New Mexico, where I live?

But I digress. Let us return to my Alumni Bulletin and let me quote for you the interesting tidings about all my old friends and classmates:

Well, fellow alums, it certainly has been a wing-dinger of a year for all us old grads! Remember Mildred Cheddar and Harry Camembert, those crazy kids who always held hands in Econ II? Well, they're married now and living in Clovis, New Mexico, where Harry rents spearfishing equipment and Mildred has just given birth to a lovely 28-pound daughter, her second in four months. Nice going, Mildred and Harry!

Remember Jethro Brie, the man we voted most likely to succeed? Well, old Jethro is still gathering laurels! Last week he was voted "Motorman of the Year" by his fellow workers in the Duluth streetcar system. "I owe it all to my brakeman," said Jethro in a characteristically modest acceptance speech. Same old Jethro!

Probably the most glamorous time of all us alums was had by Francis Macomber last year. He went on a big game hunting safari all the way to Africa! We received many interesting post cards from Francis until he was, alas, accidently shot and killed by his wife and white hunter. Tough luck, Francis!

Wilma "Deadeye" Macomber, widow of the late beloved Francis Macomber, was married yesterday to Fred "Sureshot" Quimby, white hunter, in a simple double-ring ceremony in Nairobi. Good luck, Wilma and Fred!

Well, alums, that just about wraps it up for this year. Keep 'em flying!

© 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

Old grads, new grads, undergrads, all agree: The best new nonfilter cigarette in many a long year is the king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

Council's Chance

The Student Council meeting of May 10th was a great contrast to the one of the week before. The new constitution was voted on and rejected. Next the candidates for next year's offices were nominated and voted upon. The nominators, seconders, and nominees carried out their roles maturely.

One thing was made clear; several dedicated, and well-meaning people will sit at next year's council. The problems that face these individuals are many and complicated.

The present size of the body is too large to operate efficiently. The members aren't well enough versed in parliamentary procedure. The Council lacks a specific area of responsibility. These are just a few of the outstanding difficulties these men will have to face.

Jefferson once said; "I think we have more machinery of government than is necessary, too many parasites living on the labor of the industrious". These words seem to be appropriate to the present council.

The attempt to streamline the present body failed on May 10th. The reason that it failed is simple; no concession was given to the half votes; a compromise was offered, but never voted upon.

This compromise would give the representatives or organizations representation, and a voice in the affairs of the Council. It would also eliminate most of these members from that body.

The remaining body would be truly representative of the student body. And fraternities, societies, and publications would be represented. The smaller size would enhance greater efficiency. Members of the student body could be called upon to help in specialized areas.

This streamlining job could be done by amending the present Constitution.

The specific area of responsibility that the Student Council can seek is difficult to define. At the present time the Council directs most of its energy to improve the educational, social, cultural, and religious aspects of the Villanova student. They have the power to suggest changes to the administration.

In the past two years we have seen the Student Council come of age. It has been granted a treasury of its own. Many of its suggestions have been considered and approved and acted upon by the administration. Fine arts courses, a Great Books course (in the future), lounges in the resident dormitories, "Operation Abolition", and speakers of the caliber of John Crowe Ransom have all been made possible by the Congress.

Now they seek to become more than a service organization. A small bit of power that is theirs alone, would give them a chance to prove themselves explicitly.

The next step is up to the administration and the Council. Perhaps the dedicated maturity of its members will bring about a greater amount of responsibility to the group.

Villanovan

VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-chief ..... Daniel G. Grove
Associate Editor ..... Josephine Morello
Managing Editor ..... Edward Farrell
News Editor ..... Mark Quinn
Sports Editors ..... J. Edgar Lohr
Joseph Zawacki
Feature Editor ..... Joseph A. Massey
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editor ..... Thomas O'Connor
Format Editor ..... Ed Graham
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore
Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... John J. Janda
Circulation Manager ..... John Redding
Exchange Editor ..... Raymond Ritter
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

Leo Goodreau

Junior-Senior Exam Schedule

(Cont'd from page 1)

ECON. 109	23 AM	209 CF	NURS. 290	22 PM	VHA
ECON. 120	24 AM	A Mendel	NURS. 291	25 PM	215 TH
ECON. 122	23 PM	215 TH	NURS. 292 22	24 PM	106 CF
EDUC. 211	22 PM	215 TH	NURS. 292 21	25 AM	115 CF
EDUC. 247	22 PM	215 TH	PHIL. 101 01-03	25 AM	209 CF
E.E. 204	23 AM	109 CF	PHIL. 101 51-54	24 PM	105, 110 CF
E.E. 208	22 AM	203, 302 TH	PHIL. 210 01-02	22 AM	109, 115 CF
E.E. 210	23 AM	A Mendel	PHIL. 210 51	22 AM	109, 115 CF
E.E. 221	24 AM	1 Mendel	PHIL. 232	24 AM	B Mendel
E.E. 227	22 AM	213, 217, 212, TH	PHIL. 242	24 PM	201 CF
E.E. 244, 245, 235	23 AM	B Mendel	PHIL. 246	25 PM	201 CF
ENGL. 122 02-04	24 AM	203, 204 VH	PHIL. 247	26 PM	202 VH
ENGL. 202	26 PM	214 TH	PHIL. 248	25 AM	A Mendel
ENGL. 212	24 PM	205 CF	PHIL. 261	25 AM	202 CHE
ENGL. 221	27 PM	214 TH	PHIL. 262	23 PM	209, 211 CF
ENGL. 224	22 PM	VHA	PHIL. 263	25 PM	203 CF
ENGL. 254	25 AM	115 CF	PHIL. 264	22 AM	209 CF A, B Mendel
ENGL. 269	27 AM	108 CF	PHIL. 265	22 AM (9:30)	204 TH
ENGL. 362	25 PM	112 CF	PHYS. 102	26 PM	217, 216 TH
ENGL. 384	24 PM	202, 211 JB	PHYS. 162	26 AM	207 TH
FIN. 105	22 PM	110 CF	PHYS. 171	23 AM	210, 216 TH
FIN. 106	23 PM	201, 202 CF	PHYS. 201	26 AM	212 TH
FIN. 108	23 AM	105, 110, 209 CF	P.SC. 147	22 PM	217 TH
FIN. 118	22 PM	209 CF	P.SC. 172	27 AM	106 CF
F.A. 101	27 AM	116 CF	P.SC. 224	23 AM	2 Mendel
F.A. 102	27 PM	207 TH	P.SC. 228	26 AM	202 VH
FREN. 122	23 PM	VHA	P.SC. 229	22 PM	VHA
FREN. 131 132, 151	26 AM	209 VH	P.SC. 248	24 AM	211 CF
GEOG. 116	26 PM	207 TH	P.SC. 254	22 AM	1 Mendel
GEOL. 228	22 AM	117 CF	P.SC. 279	26 PM	210 VH
GEOL. 382	24 AM	211 CF	P.SC. 280	23 PM	105, 110 CF
GERM. 122	23 PM	VHA	PSY. 134	25 PM	110, 209 CF
GERM. 126	23 PM	VHA	PSY. 236	24 PM	202, 211 JB
HIST. 205	25 AM	105 CF	PSY. 238	22 AM	1 Mendel
HIST. 208	22 PM	217 TH	PSY. 239	27 AM	110 CF
HIST. 210	25 PM	115 CF	PSY. 240	26 PM	105 CF
HIST. 216	27 PM	VHA	PSY. 242	25 AM	209 CF
HIST. 218	24 AM	203, 204 VH	PSY. 245	26 AM	207 VH
HIST. 223	23 AM	202 CHE	R.E. 101	23 AM	105, 110 CF
HIST. 232	26 PM	208 VH	REL. 108 01, 02, 05, 32, 33	19 PM	204, 215, 216, 217 TH
HIST. 240	23 AM	1 Mendel	03, 07, 21, 22, 34, 57		VHA
HIST. 241	22 PM	202 JB	06, 31, 53, 56		116, 117, 201, 207, 211 CF
HIST. 257	24 AM	211 CF	51, 54, 55		109, 214, 215, 216 CF
HIST. 258	26 AM	106 VH	04, 52		VHA
I.A. 108	24 AM	105, 112 CF	REL. 109 51	24 PM	204 TH
I.A. 111	25 AM	105 CF	52		215 TH
I.A. 122	23 PM	214 CF	53, 54, 56		VHA
INSU. 103	25 AM	105 CF	55		VHA
MKT. 109	25 PM	110, 209 CF	57		VHA
MKT. 113	23 PM	A Mendel	RUSS. 122	26 PM	208 VH
MATH. 236	23 AM	215 CF	SOC. 101	25 AM	110 CF
MATH. 238	23 AM	104 LIB	SOC. 203	25 PM	202 CF
MATH. 242	25 AM	115 CF	SOC. 207	23 AM	215 CF
MATH. 251	22 AM	105 CF	SOC. 225	22 PM	210 TH
M.E. 204	25 AM	A Mendel	SOC. 270	26 AM	203 VH
M.E. 210	23 AM	1 Mendel	SPAN. 122	23 PM	VHA
M.E. 216	24 AM	211 CF
M.E. 224	22 AM	A Mendel
M.E. 237	24 AM	304 TH
M.E. 244	22 AM	B Mendel
M.E. 247	23 AM	109 CF
NURS. 200	25 AM	110 CF
NURS. 221 21	23 AM	215 CF
NURS. 221 22	24 AM	211 CF
NURS. 250	22 AM	117 CF

(Continued on page 8)

Tanganyika First

(SPECIAL TO THE VILLANOVAN)

College graduates will not dig ditches in the Peace Corps. Nor will they explain Locke to the Bantus.

Volunteers will not try to "Americanize" the world, nor will they be selected from the ranks of the "draft dodgers."

These and other misconceptions about the Peace Corps have taken root and blossomed on some college campuses.

Let's look at the truth of the matter.

First, the Peace Corps Volunteer will go only where he is asked. He will be asked only where there is a specific job to do. The job will be one the host nation can't do itself.

The first Peace Corps Volunteers will go to Tanganyika. There, to improve the lot of the nation's many farmers, roads must be built to get their produce to market centers.

Tanganyika has an abundance of unskilled labor but the country can only produce two Tanganyikans trained in land survey work in the next five years. Their government has asked the Peace Corps to supply the surveyors, civil engineers and geologists to meet their shortage. President Kennedy has agreed to help and a joint plan has been mapped out.

Volunteers with these skills have applied and are now applying to the Peace Corps. In late May the Volunteers will be called for interviews. In June the task force will be selected and intensive training started.

At a university the Volunteer will learn about Tanganyika, about its culture, mores, tradition and history.

Next, according to present plans, the Volunteer will participate in another exhaustive training period at a camp site in a mountain rain forest abroad.

Physical and mental conditioning for the rigors of Africa will be stepped up. Lectures on tropical living will be given. Programs designed to develop and test the stamina, self-reliance, adaptability and endurance of the Volunteers are planned.

In most Peace Corps projects, the local language will be taught in a stateside university. For this project, however, the Tanganyikan government asked that it be permitted to use its techniques to teach Volunteers Swahili.

The first seven weeks in Tanganyika will be spent at a camp on the slopes of Mt. Kilimanjaro where the Volunteer will study Swahili and learn about his work there.

After this course, Volunteers, in groups of two and three, will be assigned to provincial capitals which will serve as home base for the safaris into the jungle to plan the needed roads from the isolated native villages to the main highways.

In Tanganyika, the Volunteer will receive enough money to live a simple existence, but not exactly at the level of the local populace. The Volunteer will have all his needs—food, housing, clothing and transportation—provided for. The Volunteer will need no money of his own. He need not fear that his subsistence will provoke hunger or poverty. Provision will be made for recreation, some travel during relief periods, and medical care.

The work will be hard. It may be frustrating. It could be dangerous. It certainly will be lonely. But it will also be exciting and rewarding.

The Volunteer's work will test his patriotism, his courage, his endurance. He will learn from another culture, he will do a needed job, he will help his country in time of need and help the cause of world peace. The Volunteer will be answering the call of what he can do for his country, not what his country can do for him.

When he returns after two years service, the Volunteer will receive $75 for every month spent overseas. He will have the services of a Career Planning Board to help continue his career.

During his Volunteer service, the Volunteer will be deferred from the draft. If he returns home to a socially useful job, his deferment will continue.

Married couples without children are welcome, provided each does a needed job in the host nation.

Teachers are in short supply everywhere, and many nations have already indicated they want teachers of English.

Anyone requesting full information about the Peace Corps should write for the Peace Corps "Fact Book," Peace Corps, Washington 25, D.C.

Volunteer forms for present and future Peace Corps projects are available on campus, through the Congress, or by writing the Peace Corps.

"LYNX" Varies In Quality; Primitive To Perceptive

by Richard A. Duprey

There is a certain excitement to be found in thumbing through the pages of a student literary review. There is something rather stirring in reading of young men's thoughts and feelings as they flex their intellectual and emotional muscles through the medium of the printed page. The Spring 1961 Lynx, published by Villanova undergraduates, is no exception to this happy norm, for it abounds with the early stirrings of creativity.

With a presentable, if not terribly-original format, this current issue of The Lynx offers six articles, three pieces of short fiction, and eight poems. The articles range from a short piece on game fishing to an arresting discussion of Dostevsky's concept of freedom.

One can pass no general comment on The Lynx, as it is, like most other publications of its type, a scatter-shot, reflecting no discernible editorial policy or unified theme. The works diverge in quality as widely as they range in choice of subject.

Stream-of-Consciousness

The expected ingredients are to be found in this issue. There is the inevitable "stream-of-consciousness" sort of thing, disjointed, undisciplined, yet not completely without thought, that proves further how fond young men are of riding dead horses. There is a short imitation of Ogden Nash which further proves that youth often fears to sing in its own voice and prefers, all too often, to choose another's accents for its own. There are middling experiments in free verse that offer modest amusement — baby phrases from the literary primer—primitive but useful to their young artists' development.

The unexpected is also to be found in the Spring Lynx. Frank Murphy has contributed two short stories that show more than a little promise—pieces that manifest keen senses, a considerable respect for the language, and a human perceptiveness that gives his meaning and relevance.

"Elan Vital"

There is an essay contributed by Eugene d'Aquili on the relationship of Catholic students to the culture of our times. Though the author seems more intent upon developing apologists—men to engage in theological disputation—than on fostering a real Catholic culture, one capable of securing and consolidating previous gains and sending down deep roots, the ardent concern is there in the call to make a Christian thinker. His denunciation of "ghettoism" is particularly appreciated after having seen so much of late of that strange creature, "the student conservative." His call for "elan vital" amongst Catholic college students will be largely unheeded, but it is gratifying to hear it, nevertheless.

One other noteworthy feature is a pair of reviews discussing Leon Uris' bestselling novel "Exodus." Bob Greenstein and Naim H. Salfiti consider the novel from the Israeli position and from that of the Arab. Though one might legitimately question whether either man has even come close to literary criticism, dialogue of this type is an especially happy thing in student publications which are often unpardonably prudent. Often they are so enamored of this virtue, prudence—so careful to offend no-one—that they say nothing at all.

One might hope that The Lynx will prosper, if for no other reason than to remind the Catholic college student that there is, in a sense, an obligation to write—to make oneself heard in the Babel of the world.

Traditional Debt

One who has been educated, particularly in the traditions of Christian humanism, has a debt both to the tradition that evolved him and to the world in which he lives, to communicate something of himself, his experiences, his thoughts and ideas. Catholic students have been uniquely tardy in recognizing this area of responsibility because Catholics have been so busy establishing a foothold in our basically Protestant civilization that they have had little time or inclination to write.

Through The Lynx and the other publications of its genre, it is heartening to see that some students are moved to write. It is heartening to know that not all students are considering education as a magic carpet leaving for some vocational goldmine; and that there are some who are not too busy taking courses and earning credits to read, reflect, learn, and pass the spark along.

Critic Acclaims 'Othello': 'Most Significant Event'

by Gus Susnjara

The determinant most often cited for the contemporary popularity of the dramatic artistry of William Shakespeare is the Elizabethan playwright's "all-encompassing world view." Indeed, how frequently does one hear it said that Shakespeare deals with the universal; that he probes the vague bases of man with almost frightening agility and insight; and that he knows humanity and can express this knowledge as a true imitation of life through the medium of drama.

Yet, despite the obvious intellectual magnitude of such an endeavor, Shakespeare appeals to everyone; in fact, he is the most produced playwright in the world today. High school students, white-collar workers, and doctors of literature can sit side by side, thoroughly enjoying and understanding Hamlet, Lear, and Macbeth. Why is this true? Because the essence of Shakespearean tragedy lies in the discovery and portrayal of man's most innate virtues and infirmities. The subtleties and innuendoes are absolutely necessary for those who understand them, but for those who cannot, the actual atomic center is equally clear.

When a play of Shakespeare is done well, the satisfaction of each playgoer is analogous to the old story about the bottles (all of diverse sizes) which are filled to capacity, not one lacking in the slightest degree. Last Wednesday, in Vasey Hall Theater, Othello filled all the bottles.

Significant Drama

The graduate Theater Department's final production of the school year arose as the most significant campus dramatic event since Twelfth Night. Othello was moving, and, more important, it moved. Constant activity on stage allowed no opportunity for the audience to feel ennui or lose sense of continuity. The action, thankfully, was not a meaningless hustle bustle, but, along with plot and dialogue, an integral part of the totality. With such a fusion of language and movement, the often difficult Elizabethan English becomes succinct and easily understood.

For integrating the various parts of Othello, director Bernard Coyne deserves more than a little commendation. He was the unifying external force without which even the finest actors and actresses could not recreate the drama. Mr. Coyne also directed Twelfth Night at Villanova, and seems endowed with a talent for successfully doing Shakespeare. Though many may have disagreed with the direc-

(Cont'd on page 6)

Iago (Jim Willaert) draws Othello (Bill Flynn) deeper into his conviction of Desdemona's unfaithfulness during the recent Graduate Theater production of Shakespeare's "Othello."

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf," "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," etc.)

OLD GRADS NEVER DIE

In just a matter of weeks many of you will be graduating—especially seniors.

You are of course eager to go out in the great world where opportunities are limitless and deans nonexistent. At the same time your hearts are heavy at the thought of losing touch with so many classmates you have come to know and love.

It is my pleasant task today to assure you that graduation need not mean losing touch with classmates; all you have to do is join the Alumni Association and every year you will receive a bright, newsy, chatty bulletin, chock full of information about all your old buddies.

Oh, what a red-letter day it is at my house, the day the Alumni Bulletin arrives! I cancel all my engagements, take the phone off the hook, dismiss my chiropractor, put the ocelot outside, and settle down for an evening of pure pleasure with the Bulletin and (need I add?) a good supply of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Whenever I am having fun, a Marlboro makes the fun even more fun. That filter, that flavor, that pack or box never fails to heighten my pleasure whether I am watching the television or playing buck euchre or knitting an afghan or reading Mad or enjoying any other fun-filled pursuit you might name—except, of course, spearfishing. But then, how much spearfishing does one do in Clovis, New Mexico, where I live?

But I digress. Let us return to my Alumni Bulletin and let me quote for you the interesting tidings about all my old friends and classmates:

Well, fellow alums, it certainly has been a wing-dinger of a year for all us old grads! Remember Mildred Cheddar and Harry Camembert, those crazy kids who always held hands in Econ II? Well, they're married now and living in Clovis, New Mexico, where Harry rents spearfishing equipment and Mildred has just given birth to a lovely 28-pound daughter, her second in four months. Nice going, Mildred and Harry!

Remember Jethro Bric, the man we voted most likely to succeed? Well, old Jethro is still gathering laurels! Last week he was voted "Motorman of the Year" by his fellow workers in the Duluth streetcar system. "I owe it all to my brakeman," said Jethro in a characteristically modest acceptance speech. Same old Jethro!

Probably the most glamorous time of all us alums was had by Francis Macomber last year. He went on a big game hunting safari all the way to Africa! We received many interesting post cards from Francis until he was, alas, accidently shot and killed by his wife and white hunter. Tough luck, Francis!

Wilma "Deadeye" Macomber, widow of the late beloved Francis Macomber, was married yesterday to Fred "Sureshot" Quimby, white hunter, in a simple double-ring ceremony in Nairobi. Good luck, Wilma and Fred!

Well, alums, that just about wraps it up for this year. Keep 'em flying!

© 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

Old grads, new grads, undergrads, all agree: The best new nonfilter cigarette in many a long year is the king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

'Round Midnight

Jazz to Rock and Roll: Music's Decided Decline

by Joe Zawacki

Every once in a while an argument starts over the relative merits of today's music and when the discussion becomes heated enough, the Rock and Roller generally will strike back with a most noteworthy retort, "Well, there were musical fads in the old days too, like the Charleston." And so there were fads, dear children, not only in the days of the Charleston, but also in the Big Band-jitterbug era and in the be-bop years.

General Pattern

However, there is one major difference between the "hip music" of yesteryear and the garbage of today. Consider this: One of the top dance bands of the mid-twenties was "The California Ramblers." They played all the admittedly-cornball numbers of the day and as a danceband, would probably not win any awards. But, in addition to keeping the gin-guzzlers happy, this band spawned three men whose names might be a bit familiar; Tommy Dorsey, Jimmy Dorsey, Red Nichols. This was the general pattern in most of the groups of that era.

Ten years later, in 1934, a man named Jimmy Lunceford took the more subtle nuance of Jazz and applied it for the first time to dancing. Months later, Benny Goodman followed suit and the Big Band era was born. This brought on the jitterbugs and marathon dance contests and when you took the floor on one of those flagwavers of the day, you had to know how to dance, not to float around a la "Bandstand."

Strong Argument

Again, some of this was pretty bad but when you observe that out of these years came the Goodmans, Millers, and Shaws, it's pretty obvious that you have a strong argument.

The second great war brought an end to the big bands and it changed people's thinking in more important facets of life than music. When the storm clouds passed with the dropping of the "bomb," things almost got back to normal, and be-bop was born. This was a process that changed almost all known musical concepts and made everything in jazz secondary to improvisation.

An Aesop Fable

Now we come to the child-monster, "R & R." Looking into our crystal ball for a glimpse of the future, we can see our present teen-age generation sitting in their living rooms as the parents of tomorrow telling their loving children about the customs of their own youth which the next generation will undoubtedly classify as "Square," a term which they will think is original.

"But Mom," asks little brat No. 1, "who were the stars of your day in music?" "Well, son," answers Mom, "there was Lloyd Price, 'Fats' Domino, Fabian, and many others."

"Mom," counters little brat No. 2, "nobody could be named Lloyd Price, 'Fats' Domino, or Fabian. There you go making up fairy tales again."

Costly Living

In retrospect, today's 'Round Midnighter is not as well off as his predecessors. In the '20's, there were the speakeasies to keep him entertained; the '30's and early '40's gave him the ballrooms and dance music all night long on the radio. Modern jazz has brought him the concerts and clubs, to be sure, but these are costly items, especially if he is sporting a chick.

And what does the radio bring him? Almost nothing, if he is without FM. However, the almost nothing leaves room for hope because sitting right next to the biggest garbage dispenser of them all on the radio dial is "The Sound Of the Big Bands, WRCV." What a consolation it is, too, whether as a background for study music or as a car companion in the wee small hours after you've left your date at home. It's just plain good listening, somewhat akin to an oasis in the desert these days.

Critic Acclaims 'Othello'

(Cont'd from page 5)

tor's interpretation, few left the theater disappointed.

Role of the Year

As for outstanding performances, James Willaert's portrayal of Iago was the individual leading "role of the year." Not since Dick Kavanaugh's Sir Toby Belch has the Villanova stage seen a more sophisticated turn of acting. Iago reached the audience as the unadorned villain, sinister and guileful, with a hatred for the Moor which was convincing and utterly real. Willaert's voice, at times, lacked the necessary changes in pitch and projection, but these were few, and Iago's poise was not much short of being perfect.

The extremely difficult role of Othello was a tremendous improvement by Bill Flynn over his last lead as Tom in The Glass Menangerie. But the Moor was entirely too unlike a true general as a thickly-smeared, tearful demeanor lost some insight into his character. The lesser lead of Cassio was amply played by Mike Kennedy, who brought the lieutenant's noble character to light. Kennedy has turned in two equally creditable performances this year.

As Desdemona, Othello's beautiful and tragic wife, Sue Ahrold was excellent in her first leading role this year. Her maidservant and Iago's wife, Emilia, was also well-rendered in both comic and serious lines, by Gilda Spurio.

Roderigo A Gull

John McGarry's booming voice made a blustering fool of the Venetian gull, Roderigo. Madly in love with Desdemona, the poor lad totally succumbs to Iago's wiles. Another fine improvement was exhibited by John Dillon in the role of Montano. John has lost much of the uncomfortable rigidity that made the archangel Mike suffer in From Sea to Shining Sea.

If the show last week is indicative of the caliber of talent to be seen in next year's dramatic activity, Othello has given the Villanova theater a well deserved boost in the right direction.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: BEWARE OF SUBLIMINAL ADVERTISING!

LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE LUCKY STRIKE

Dear Dr. Frood: I've been reading a great deal about automated teaching devices. How long will it be before they come up with machines to replace professors?
Professor

DEAR PROFESSOR: Just as soon as they get one that can rap the knuckles of a sleeping student, give humiliating answers to foolish questions and spring surprise tests whenever it happens to be in a bad mood.

Dear Dr. Frood: My problem is fat, stubby fingers. As a result, I am exceedingly awkward with my hands. My manual dexterity is so poor, in fact, that I can't even get a Lucky pack open. What can I do?
Fingers

DEAR FINGERS: Simply strap ordinary sewing needles along both of your index fingers. Now cup the Lucky pack in your hands, grasp the little red tab in your teeth, and yank. Next, place the pack on a flat surface and secure it between two unabridged dictionaries. Then, with the right-hand needle, carefully, carefully carve a one-inch-square opening at the top right-hand corner. Finally, place the points of the needles firmly against the sides of a Lucky and lift. That's all there is to it. A word of warning though: Try to be careful when shaking hands.

Dear Dr. Frood: In the four years I've been at this college I've done some pretty horrible things. I am guilty, for instance, of [redacted] into and around the home of Professor [redacted] I'm also ashamed of [redacted] the Board of Regents, and completely [redacted] the campus policeman's [redacted]. But the worst thing I did was [redacted] after hiding all night in the [redacted] Can I, in good conscience, even accept a diploma from dear old [redacted]?

DEAR [redacted]: You can if you send $500 in unmarked bills to Dr. Frood, Box 2990, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y. If you don't, I'll print your letter without the little black lines.

Dear Dr. Frood: Don't you think it's wrong for a boy and girl to marry while they're still in school?
Soc. Major

DEAR SOC.: Yes, they should at least wait until recess.

THE HANDWRITING IS ON THE WALL, says Dr. Frood. Or, more exactly, on the blackboard. It's appearing on college blackboards everywhere: "College students smoke more Luckies than any other regular." Why is this statement showing up on college blackboards? Because I am paying agents to put it there. For you must remember that Luckies are the cigarette with taste—the emphatic toasted taste. Try a pack of Luckies today.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

© A. T. Co.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

ACTIVITIES OF VILLANOVA

Blue Key Achieving Aims

Guided by its central purpose, the development, promotion, and manifestation of the ideals of Villanova, the Blue Key acts as a service organization to the student body, to the administration, and to the university as a whole. "Our aim," pointed out Chuck Kelley, Blue Key President, "is to have and maintain standards truly representative of the school."

At present, the club's activities center about the showing of the university to visitors and prospective students while also hosting functions sponsored by members of the administration such as the recent Library Conference or the dedication of the rooms in the Commerce and Finance Building.

Orientation Period

Plans now await the approval of the Student Council for the club to assume the responsibility of the Freshman orientation period. "Depending upon the Council decision," explained Kelley, "the proposal will modify the hazing notion of orientation and put it on a higher level to give the freshmen a well-rounded picture of the university."

Slated to chair the orientation is the Vice-President of the Council, while both the President of the Sophomore Class and the Blue Key President would act as his main advisors, thus checking the overall progress of the program. The other members of Blue Key form the remainder of the committee.

Although in reality not a campus activity, the Blue Key's exact status depends upon the Council decision. Presently, Blue Key is a Presidential Standing Committee but it is expected that pending the Council decision, it will become an Executive Special Committee, since Blue Key is entirely different from the other committees on the Council.

In addition to Kelley as President, the other officers are Mike Fallon, Vice-President; Gary Schmitt, Secretary; and Jim Howley, Bursar.

Artistic Genius of Welles Now Buried By Materialism

by Al LaMastra

"I just couldn't live with his genius another day." From the contents of the above statement of the year 1948, it looks as if both Rita Hayworth and the film industry simultaneously divorced Orson Welles for the same reason, his overwhelming genius. After he had unintentionally hoaxed the citizens of metropolitan New Jersey half out of their wits with his documentary style radio version of H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds," it was inevitable that Orson Welles should be sought by Hollywood. RKO, recognizing his potential talents, gave him an extraordinary contract as producer - writer - director - actor, with control over his material and apparently carte blanche in the matter of expense.

LaMastra

This was all Welles needed to allow the full expression of his unlimited creativity. His first film, "Citizen Kane," was widely believed to be a thinly disguised treatment of the life of William Randolph Hearst, and as such was denounced sight unseen in all the Hearst papers. The resulting notoriety aroused widespread expectations, and the reviews were for the most part ecstatic.

New Techniques

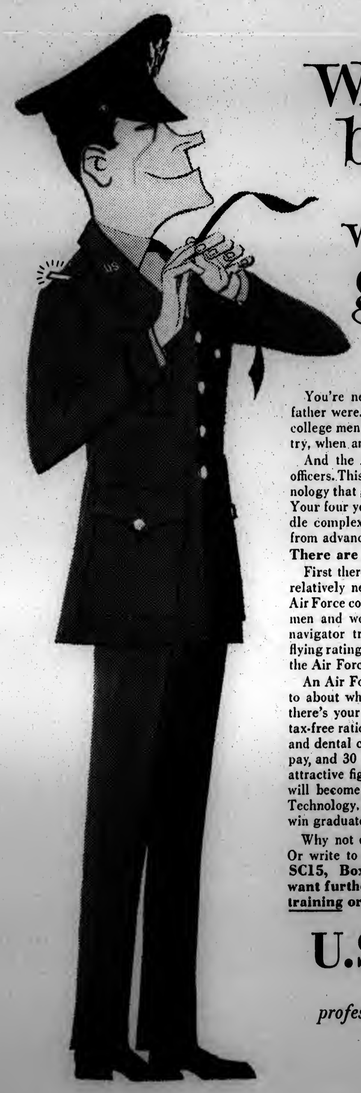
The daring innovator had actually spent countless hours in the picture's eighteen week production schedule, planing techniques, new lighting effects and new settings which would make for greater emotional intensity and utter realism. He achieved this in "Citizen Kane" with the use of low ceilings, never before an integral part of a sound-stage set, with huge backgrounds, giving the picture depth and thereby adding to the suspense, and with the invention of a "pan-focus" lense, which would give all moving objects in the film sharp features instead of the old method of concentrating on one object.

It is very hard to describe the artistic greatness of this film for even today it is unparalleled. To explain Welles' theories of "not wasting an inch of space" in his filming process, and the importance of symbolism, would take thousands of words. Let us just say that it is the motion picture from which a vast majority of today's realistically produced films draw their technical and dramatic syntax.

No Room For Genius

The picture was modestly profitable and Welles, declared an official success, embarked on the production of Booth Tarkington's "The Magnificent Ambersons." The movie, abundantly containing artistic innovations known as "Wellisms," was in the cutting stage when a shake-up at RKO resulted in the abrupt cancellation of Welles' contract. Announcing that their future slogan would be "showmanship in place of genius," the new studio managers released the film as cut by others, and minus the Welles finishing touches which might have made it an artistic and financial bonanza.

"A genius fired is more recognizably a genius than ever . . .," and Welles stayed on in Hollywood, acting a few roles from time to time, notably a brilliant Rochester in "Jane Eyre."



Macbeth Rebuked

His last independent production, which ended his early Hollywood career was his archaelogically-correct rendering of Macbeth, in which his search for authenticity in settings, costumes, camera execution, and dialogue brought him rebuke from box-office minded producers. It can be said that his genius was a victim of American materialism and indifference to cultural values.

Orson Welles is a person too far ahead of his times and therefore not easily understood by the public or his co-workers. Today he remains in Europe, stripped of his independence but still eager to display his artistic acting talents in character roles. His adeptness in this field may be witnessed by his portrayal of Othello, his magnificent Clarence Darrow in "Compulsion," his comic portrayal of a big game hunter in "Roots of Heaven," and his latest efforts in Zanuck's "Crack in the Mirror."

"Touch of Evil"

One film which Welles made for Universal-International in 1958 deserves particular recognition. It is "Touch of Evil," in which he co-starred with Charlton Heston and Marlene Dietrich. Although the picture was not a financial success and was withdrawn from circulation early in its release, the spectator has the emotional experience of his life as the story unfolds and Orson Welles appears as the dominant figure. It was without a doubt the most highly underrated film of 1958 and contains almost as many Wellisms as "Citizen Kane;" but it, as well as hundreds of other film products, was not appreciated by many until the minds of the public have reached the maturity of the minds of the master craftsmen of art in the film.

why the blue suit with the gold bars?

You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet...that of serving your country, when and where you are needed.

And the Air Force needs college-trained men as officers. This is caused by the rapidly expanding technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs. You have the potential to profit from advanced training...then put it to work.

There are several ways to become an officer.

First there is Air Force ROTC. Another program, relatively new, is Officer Training School. Here the Air Force commissions certain college graduates, both men and women, after three months' training. The navigator training program enables you to win a flying rating and a commission. And, of course, there's the Air Force Academy.

An Air Force officer's starting salary averages out to about what you could expect as a civilian. First there's your base pay. Then add on such things as tax-free rations and quarters allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay, and 30 days' vacation per year. It comes to an attractive figure. One thing more. As an officer, you will become eligible for the Air Force Institute of Technology. While on active duty many officers will win graduate degrees at Air Force expense.

Why not contact your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC15, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

U.S. Air Force

There's a place for professional achievement on the Aerospace Team

RIVER STYX by JONIK

"I don't see why you don't have many friends, Baby. You have a great personality, your eyes are beautiful, your hair is like velvet, your teeth are like pearls, your noses are——"

GRADUATES

(Cont'd from page 2)

John Dominic Marchel
Edward John McCarthy
Francis Gerald McKenzie
Joseph Lynn McLaughlin
James Thaddeus McQuade
Joseph William Messner
Kenneth William Millo
Thomas John Moakley
Edward Joseph Monahan, Jr.
James D. Nicolo
John Peter O'Donnell
Joseph Charles Paschal
*William F. Proulx
John James Quinn
Robert Samson
Edward Joseph Shannon
Francis Nicholas Sinatra
Roger William Sullivan
Charles Edward Swartz
Martin Joseph Towey
Thomas Joseph Trella
Michael James Verrecchia
Jerome Joseph Wenclawiak
Gerard Joseph Werner, Jr.
Charles Cyril Whalen
Fred John Wiele

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Frank P. Brogan
Gerald Francis Glackin
Arnold Charles Grossman
Edward Cameron Kirk Hall
John Vincent Hasson
Nicholas C. Kihm
George R. Kucik, Jr.
Ralph S. Levitan
Joseph J. Lombardo
Joseph G. Manta
Michael Thomas McDonnell, Jr.
Catherine Mary McEntee
Bernard Joseph McLafferty
John Monglovi
Joseph Matthew More
Edward Wynne Murphy
L. Francis Murphy
Thomas Joseph Murphy
Harry Jerrole Oxman
Thomas Anthony Pitt, Jr.
William H. Pugh, IV
Rushton H. Ridgway
Carl Schnee
Norman J. Shachoy
Edward Lester Silverberg
Robert E. Slota
Thomas J. Stevens, Jr.
Joseph A. Walheim
Thomas Jerome Ward

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN NURSING

*Norma Louise Beerweiler
Alice Elizabeth Burlington
Mary Catherine Chapman
Angela Marie Colasanto
Joyce Mildred Collins
Mary Christine Collura
Sister M. Regina Edward Connelly, O.S.F.
Joan Christine Connolly
*Loretta Marie Corbo
Martha Janes Davis
Joan Patricia Flood
Betty Ann Giammarino
Eileen Mary Greyson
Marlene Roseanna Hegarty
Ruth Marie Hilger
*Elizabeth Ann Katana
*Mary Elizabeth Lauer
Agnes Margaret Leitz
Marilyn McGahan
*Alice Mary McGraw
Mary Patricia O'Neill
Mary Ann Frances Pane
*Frances Marie Quinn
Lucille Marie Robertson
*Justine Ingersoll Rucker
Mary Patricia Scanlo
Kathryn Florence Schultz
*Lega Stern
*Ernestine C. Travaglini
Mary Ann T. Valenza
Mary Elizabeth White
Anne Fleming Young
*Bernardine Elaine Zazetsky

GRADUATE SCHOOL MASTER OF ARTS

Suzanne Ahrold
Gennaro L. Annunziato
Paul J. Benoit
Patricia Rehagen Bethel
Joseph M. Blimm
Rev. Julius Bonnici, O.S.A.
Patrick D. Brady
Paul A. Buckley, Jr.
Sister Mary Amabilis Butz, R.S.M.
John R. Cassidy
Dennis M. Cunningham
Grace Therese Curran
Patricia Ann Curran
Gabriel J. DiFederico
Sister Mary Kilian Dunn, R.S.M.
Rev. Peter J. Dunne
Nancy E. Fisher
Helen F. Fleming
Thomas J. Francella
Claude R. Frazier
Donald R. Gallagher
Paul J. Gormley
Rev. William H. Hart
Deborah Hill
Harry M. Hill, III
Ronald M. Hoffpauer
John F. Kinnaman
Robert Francis Lima, Jr.
Rev. Brendan J. McCarthy
Vincent F. Miraglia
Joan M. Montgomery
Robert Munsell
Elizabeth F. Murphy
Andrew F. Nacrelli
Fabian Edet Okon
John M. Oliveira
Gordon Noel Owens
Clayton D. Patterson, Jr.
Ernest L. Peters
M. Joan Quigley
Margaret C. Rademaker
Virginia Marie Redmond
Vincent A. Renzulli
Rev. Nicholas D. Rinaldi, S.A.C.
Major John J. Rooney, USMC
Rev. Innocent J. Scanlon, T.O.R.
Eugene B. Sciulli
Richard V.Scullin
Allen R. Smith
Gilda R. Spurio
Joseph L. Stark
Jean A. Sviatopolk Mirsky
Carl F. Unger
*Rev. Joseph A. VonHartleben
Aileen M. Walsh

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN APPLIED STATISTICS

Anthony J. Asmann
Clayton S. Bachman
Eugene E. Rygwalski
Harley Guy Selkregg, Jr.
Arnold I. Weiss

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN CHEMISTRY

Claude R. Andrews
Marshall L. Fishman
James M. Purcell

MASTER OF CIVIL ENGINEERING

Leo F. O'Connor
Bela Stephen Princz
James J. Schuster

MASTER OF SECONDARY SCHOOL SCIENCE

Thomas E. Kolongowski
Catherine J. Lane
Sister Margaret Mary Lawler, C.S.J.
Eugene J. Sakson
Daniel S. Turner

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN LIBRARY SCIENCE

Pauline R. Fanus
Rev. Robert Emmet Hearn, O.S.F.S.
Juliette K. Rosenthal
Miriam M. Santoro
*Rev. Francisco Siguenza, O.S.A.

†DEGREE REQUIREMENTS COMPLETED AUGUST 1959
††DEGREE REQUIREMENTS COMPLETED AUGUST 1960
*DEGREE REQUIREMENTS COMPLETED JANUARY 1961

Exam Schedule

(Cont'd from page 4

SPAN. 136	26 AM	203 VH
SPCH. 113	27 PM	204,210 VH
SPCH. 115	27 PM	202 VH
SPCH. 121	27 PM	104,106 VH

Those whose names appear on the list of prospective graduates for June, 1961, which will be printed in the Villanovan, are required to complete their examination by May 27, 1961. If they are taking courses for which examinations are scheduled during the week of May 28, they must arrange with their professors for a special examination. Such arrangements will not be made for those whose names do not appear on the list.

Student Council

(Cont'd from page 1)

Elected as Vice-Chairman of the Council was Joe Tate, day-hop arts representative who is currently a sophomore. He defeated Jim Howley.

Bob Benson, Council Secretary under DeLisa, was named Treasurer by acclamation, while Pete Federico, day-hop Arts representative, was acclaimed Secretary. Also elected were eight members of the Student Senate, including juniors Charlie Labus, Tom O'Connor, Joe Little, Len Carnaghi, sophomores Jim Howley and Marty Whalen, and freshmen Jim McErlane and Jim O'Connor.

Engineering Chairman Is Award Group Member

Dr. Robert E. White, Chairman of the Department of Chemical Engineering, has been chosen to be a member of the Committee of Awards which will select the 1961 winner of the Kirkpatrick Award for Chemical Engineering Achievement.

The award is presented every other year by "Chemical Engineering," a McGraw-Hill publication, to the chemical processing company making the most meritorious contribution to the advance of industry and the profession. The award recognizes the contribution of group effort rather than individual achievement.

The Committee of Awards, heads of the 99 Chemical Engineering Departments in the U.S. accredited colleges and universities, will vote for the five best nominees without establishing any order of rank among them. Presentations by the five finalists will be presented to a board of judges for final selection of a winner in July.

The winning company will receive a bronze plaque at a formal dinner in the Hotel Astor on November 28.

Faculty Wives Meet, Install New Officers, Hear Guest Speaker

The Villanova Faculty Wives Club will hold its Annual Luncheon on May 20, 1961 at the Treadway Inn, St. Davids, Pa. The group will meet at 12:30.

The guest speaker will be Dr. William J. Costello, Professor, Chestnut Hill College and Villanova University. His topic will be "For Speaking Out Loud."

Recently-elected officers will be installed during the afternoon: President: Mrs. James McKenna, Wayne; Vice-President: Mrs. James Schuster, King of Prussia; Recording Secretary: Mrs. Joseph Previte, Wayne; Corresponding Secretary: Mrs. Joseph Jonas, Colingdale.

#5 in a series of polls conducted by L&M student representatives in over 100 colleges throughout the nation.

L&M UNLOCKS CAMPUS OPINION

Pack or Box

Light up an L&M, and answer these questions. Then compare your answers with those of 1,383 other college students (at bottom of page).

Question #1: Do you favor coeds wearing Bermuda shorts to class?
Answer: Yes____ No____

Question #2: (MEN) How much money do you spend on a Saturday night date, on the average?
(WOMEN) How much money do you estimate your date spends on your Saturday night date, on the average?
Answer: Less than $3____ $3-$9____ $10-$14____ $15-$20____ Over $20____

Question #3: Do you favor an elective speed-up system to allow qualifying for a BS or a BA in three years?
Answer: Favor speed-up system____Don't favor speed-up system____

Question #4: Check the occasions when you're most likely to smoke more than usual:
Answer: In class____ On a date____ At sports events____ Under stress and strain____ Listening to music____ Watching TV____ On week ends at home____ At bull sessions____ While studying____ After studying____

UNLOCK A NEW WORLD OF FRESH SMOKING PLEASURE—
Start Fresh with L&M ...Stay Fresh with L&M

L&M Campus Opinion Answers: Answer, Question #1: Men: Yes 57%-No 43%. Women: Yes 48%-No 52%
Answer, Question #2: (Men's and Women's answers combined): Less than $3, 23%. $3-$9, 65%. $10-$14, 9%. $15-$20, 2%. Over $20, 1%.
Answer, Question #3: Favor speed-up system 55%
Don't favor speed-up system 45%
Answer, Question #4: In class 2%. On a date 8%. At sports events 4%. Under stress and strain 26%. Listening to music 4%. Watching TV 7%. On week ends at home 3%. At bull sessions 22%. While studying 2%. After studying 3%.

When you smoke is your business. What you smoke, we hope, is ours. You start fresh with L&M, and you stay fresh with L&M. Do away with dried-out taste for good. The secret? Flavor Seal . . . L&M's special way of moisturizing tobacco to seal in natural tobacco freshness . . . natural tobacco goodness. Get fresh-tasting—best-tasting L&M.

The L&M Campus Opinion Poll was taken at over 100 colleges where L&M has student representatives, and may not be a statistically random selection of all undergraduate schools. ©1961 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

WRCV Invites Singers To Tape Musical Show

Perfection — this word best points out the aim of the Villanova Singers. One of the greatest compliments to Conductor Herbert Fiss and his singers is the invitation recently extended to his group by Station WRCV-TV which features the best of music instead of following the trend toward popular as others do.

Select Group

The Singers will be heard on a half-hour T.V. show entitled Portraits in Music. Only a selected group of the singers will be chosen for the program. Due to the limited space facilities available in the WRCV studios, the show will be taped Tuesday afternoon.

This radio show can be construed as a reward for the series of successful concerts given during the current year. They include the Spring Choral Festival held at Villanova and the Christmas production of Handel's Messiah in cooperation with the Rosemont College Glee Club.

Repertoire

"The contents of our show," reflected Mr. Fiss, "will feature the best part of our current repertoire." For the most part, The Singers concentrate on Negro spirituals, Latin music, madrigals, church music, various masses, and popular show music.

Concertmaster of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Anschel Brusilow, will direct the radio program. Mr. Fiss, also the director of the school Band, commented that this invitation emphasizes the improved quality that the Singers have assumed and that, this quality has resulted from continuous auditioning and extensive practice.

SAM Names Officers; Tully Pledges Self, Promises Speakers

The Society for the Advancement of Management has announced its officers for the coming year.

The officers presently juniors are James Tully, president; John Land, treasurer; Daniel Renn, Student Council representative; and J. David Obrecht, publicity director. The officers now sophomores are Nich Luongo, vice-president; and Lenny Young, secretary.

Jim Tully has pledged himself to make SAM one of the University's most active groups and promised several prominent speakers.

Is your future up in the air?

As the communications needs of our nation become steadily greater and more complex, the Bell Telephone System is continuing its pioneer work in microwave by "taking to the air" more and more to get the word across.

To this end, Western Electric—the manufacturing arm of the Bell System—has the monumental task of producing a large part of the microwave transmission equipment that knits our country together by shrinking thousands of miles into mere seconds.

In spite of its great technological strides, the science of radio relay is a rapidly-changing one. And new break-throughs and advances are common occurrences. A case in point: our Bell System "TH" Microwave Radio Relay. This newest development in long-distance telephone transmission will eventually triple the present message-carrying capacity of existing long-haul radio relay installations. A full-scale system of 6 working and 2 protection channels can handle 11,000 telephone messages at the same time.

To make microwave work takes a host of special equipment and components: relay towers, antennae, waveguides, traveling wave-tubes, transistors, etc. But just as important, it takes top-caliber people to help us broaden our horizons into such exciting new areas as communication by satellites!

And microwave is only part of Western Electric's opportunity story. We have—right now—hundreds of challenging and rewarding positions in virtually all areas of telephony, as well as in development and building of defense communications and missile guidance systems for the Government.

So, if your future is "up in the air," you owe it to your career to see "what's up" for you at Western Electric.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. For more information, get your copy of "Western Electric and Your Career" from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 6106, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Western Electric
MANUFACTURING AND SUPPLY UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM

Principal manufacturing locations at Chicago, Ill.; Kearny, N. J.; Baltimore, Md.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Allentown and Laureldale, Pa.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Buffalo, N. Y.; North Andover, Mass.; Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma City, Okla. Engineering Research Center, Princeton, N. J. Teletype Corporation, Skokie, Ill., and Little Rock, Ark. Also Western Electric distribution centers in 33 cities and installation headquarters in 16 cities. General headquarters: 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

Honest Abe Meets Mr. Bell

(Photo by Jim Vaccaro)

Remaining valiantly at their posts, two telephone operators manipulate their Tolentine Hall switchboard during the recent power failure. Feeling much like Abe Lincoln in front of their electronic fireplace the girls carry on Alex Bell's work.

Class Officers Elected

(Cont'd from page 1)

Late Wednesday afternoon when the results were promulgated by John Oberlies, Vice-President for Academic Affairs, the shrill comment heard in the crowd upstairs in Dougherty Hall about Miss Berry's triumph was: "Trish made it! ! !"

Two of the narrowest elections in many years developed in the Junior class as Joe Noel squeezed by Pete Kelley by one vote 164-163. The third candidate, Dom Minerva, for the office fell behind by a mere 18 ballots. Ray Renza, in the contest for C&F Resident Representative, dropped the other one vote margin to George Brestle, 68-67, while classmate Vince Lamanna was a close runnerup with 52.

Alumni Rep

In the other junior officers, Danny Renn and Tom O'Connor trounced their respective opponents, Vedder White and Don Alfieri for the seats of Treasurer and Secretary. The office of Alumni Representative was captured by ex-junior class prexy Jim McMonagle as five other candidates split the opposition vote.

Triumphant in the Council Rep competition were Matt Mone over Jim Brennan, and Pete Federico in an overwhelming victory over Larry Kelly and A. Gilbert Bateman for the Arts Division representatives. Vince Bohn and Frank Matyshichi snared the Engineering posts while Joe Little defeated retary were awarded to James O'Brien and Frank Gilbride as they swamped their nursing opponents.

Others assuming Council seats are Al LaMastra, Leo Rattigan, Ray Shaffer, and Bob Hardman, representatives of their divisions in the Sophmore Class. Incumbent Sophs, Joe Tate and Jim Howley both crushed the other two candidates running for posts.

Frosh Again

Going to the polls for the second time this semester, the erratic frosh sent John Hagerty into the Vice-Presidential position, and Walt Dulski to the Bursar's assignment. Acquiring the Student Council duties, Jim Friel and John Nelson garnered sufficient backing to stalk off the efforts of Jack Hohendel, Bob Cowan, and Steve Cappola.

A poor showing on the part of the freshman class, 42%, dragged the school percentage down to 49% of the total enrollment that voted. The juniors paced both classes as they sent 55% of their classmates into Alumni Hall. The sophmores almost reached the halfway mark in 49% vote.

John Crowe Ransom

(Cont'd from page 1)

Previous to Bohn's introduction, the President of the Student Body, Bob DeLisa, will render the official welcome. The University will be host to Ransom for the day. Invitations have been extended to all the colleges in the area so that the Field House can be filled.

After the introduction and welcome, Ransom will read his own works, published in 1945, and the poetry of others while occasionally making commentary on them. "The purpose of this forum," stressed Bob Bohn, "is to stimulate an interest in cultural affairs and to create a more cultural atmosphere on campus. A good turnout will greatly enhance and encourage similar events of this nature in the future."

Jim Strazzella, Council Vice-President, reiterating Bohn's comments, expressed hope that many Villanova students would attend, including those who don't major in English.

'Texans, Stay West'; Otie Drayton

by Ed Lohr

During the week following the supershocking Penn Relays, Villanova mile relay anchorman Paul "Otie" Drayton sent a unique letter to Olympian Earl Young, anchorman of the defeated and dejected Abilene Christian College relay teams.

Dear Earl;

I want to express my sympathy to your mile relay lead-off man Dennis Richardson and to the entire team for the tough break you encountered at the Penn Relays.

Even though I am not sorry at all that he fell, I sincerely hope that he recovers from his injury very quickly.

I also wish that you Texans would stay the hell west, because I lost too darn much sleep over you guys.

Do me a favor and check out Southern California's credentials for the NCAA. See you in Philadelphia in June.

Otie Drayton
Anchorman—Villanova Mile Relay

The "wolf" did lose a lot of sleep but not only over the Texans. On Friday, the first day of the Penn Relay Carnival, just as Drayton was handing off to Frank Budd in the 880 relay trials, he felt a sharp snapping pain in his thigh.

Drayton realized he had pulled—he was "shocked and really tensed up" but he told no one—not even Coach Elliot. He even seriously considered Johansson's method of using hypnotism to lessen the "acute" pain.

Thanks to his roommate Carl Francis, Drayton carried the 'Cats to their seventh straight Mile Relay Championship of America in a great 47.4. Francis rubbed down Drayton's leg all night long in three hour intervals. Drayton claims, "it was bleeding internally and I sure did some tremendous praying."

Drayton, who took a breathtaking chance by not telling anyone, decided to "let it all out in the 880 relay and see what happens." It happened all right as the Wildcats upset the world record holders from the Southland as Drayton ran a bristling second leg.

Ohio State Records

Drayton, from Latin High in Cleveland, holds both the 100 and 220 Ohio state records of 9.5 and 20.7 and he won two state crowns his junior year beating Dave Mills, school-boy record holder in the 440, in both events.

Otie Drayton

Charlie Jenkins, as well as Elliot, was the main influence on Drayton's matriculation at Villanova. Since coming here, the "mambo king of the Main Line" has raced to a blistering 9.4 in the 100 and a 20.8 in the 220.

His most heartbreaking experience, barring this year's Penn Relays, was in the IC4A finals when he was again hit with a severe muscle pull and went crashing to the track, after finishing third in the 100.

Drayton recovered extremely fast to place a respectable sixth in the NCAA 200 meters and two weeks later reached the semi-finals of the Olympic trials at Palo Alto in the same event.

Last Quarter

Running his last quarter mile of the year against Quantico, Drayton will now concentrate on the 100 and 220 dashes with "very high hopes" for the IC4A's and he'd like nothing better than to be crowned NCAA champion.

"Villanova has to be the dark horse of this year's NCAA meet with Southern Cal, the usual favorite," Drayton says skeptically but adds with a big smile, "to say Villanova will be a powerhouse next year is definitely the understatement of the year—we could possibly be the greatest track team of all time and the NCAA team title should prove it conclusively."

Lack of Funds Hurts Cats

by Jack Duffy

The spring is that time of year when a young man's fancy turns to love. However, it is also the time of year when Villanova athletic endeavors turn to victory.

The Herculean type lads belonging to the baseball team have dominated the Eastern Collegiate baseball scene this year and appear well on their way to another NCAA tournament bid. The Villanova track team is their usual tremendous self and their highly stirring victory over the Abilene Christheir ranking as the nation's top track team.

10-1

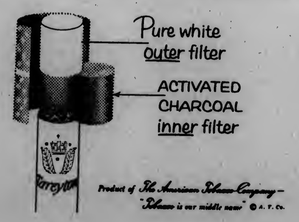
Now another Villanova athletic power looms large in the springtime. The Wildcat golf team is taking its place alongside the other springtime clubs in producing V.U. victories. In eleven matches, their only setback was a very close affair at Princeton, that came by the score of 4 to 3.

The ten victories have been accumulated at the expense of Rutgers, Muhlenburg, Penn, Columbia, Temple, West Chester, Penn State, La Salle, and St. Joseph's twice. The last two have been at the expense of La Salle and St. Joseph's.

Mostly Juniors

The varsity is composed of seven players six of whom are underclassmen. The captain of this potent team is Dave Doyle, a senior. Doyle, along with Juniors Joe Bilder and Fred Mazzi are the backbone of this fine team. Other members are Juniors Charles Barr, Tom Cooke, and Dick Thomas, and Sophomores Kevin Boyle and John Driscoll. The Cats have on their Freshmen team the Junior Champions of New Jersey, Maryland, and our own Keystone state. So the best might be still to come.

The next problem now is the NCAA. However, the bid to the tournament is the least of their problems. The main obstacle at this time is insufficient funds. Since golf is recognized as a major sport at some universities but not at our own, no funds have been provided for the trip to the National Championships to be held at Purdue. If our fine team is deprived of an opportunity to play in this tournament for this reason, it would be the biggest setback for athletics since the indoor IC4A championships last March.



Tareyton delivers the flavor...

Here's one filter cigarette that's really different!

The difference is this: Tareyton's Dual Filter gives you a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL, definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth. It works together with a pure white outer filter—to balance the flavor elements in the smoke.

Tareyton delivers—and you enjoy—the best taste of the best tobaccos.

DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Letter To The Editor

Taken from the SAN DIEGO UNION of April 30, 1961. "The main line Wildcats upset favored Abilene Christian in the 880 yard run for their first taste of victory, won the 480 yard shuttle hurdles, and then in a burst of derring-do, crashed home the winner over New York University by two yards in the vpummc mips event."

West coast events universities have been lax in this event. Just what was the time and how many couples are on a team? Did Russia invent the game or is it named after old Sam Mips who once ran the vpummic in 59:59:-59, at Laos?

Joe Bingham, El Cajon, Calif.

Sinclair And Bader Place In Sectional Pistol Meet

At the Westchester Sectional Pistol meet in Philadelphia on April 22, Joseph Bader of the Villanova Pistol Team captured second place and one fourth place position in the expert division. In the sharpshooter category, G. Sinclair won a first place trophy and two second places.

In the same meet, consisting of over 175 competitors, the Villanova "B" team, consisting of C. Sinclair, R. Healey, A. Cebrowski, and J. Hack took first place in the marksman division. Villanova's "A" team, G. Sinclair, J. Bader, R. Altomare, and M. Benson, captured second place in the sharpshooter division.

The Villanova Pistol team has announced that George Sinclair, who placed fifth in the National Pistol Match, has won a team trophy awarded for the highest average for the year. Also achieving notice were R. Healey who won a team medal and letter winners George Sinclair, Carl Ackerman, Bob Altomare, Joseph Bader and again, Bob Healey.

IMPALA CONVERTIBLE
Here's top-down going at its breezy best. And, like all five Chevy Impalas, it's available with Super Sport features* that set it apart from anything else on the road.
*Optional at extra cost, as a complete kit.

Sports car spice never came in so many varieties...Chevrolet!

Maybe you're a fellow with more or less normal driving habits who's looking for a change of pace. Or maybe you're a red-hot sports car buff. Either way, you'll find the fastest relief for that tantalizing itch in your driving foot at your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center. He's got cars that run the sporting gamut like no others—nimble Corvair Monzas (2- or 4-door), charged-up Impala Super Sports (in five different body styles) and the kingpin of production sports cars, the Corvette. You can take your choice without chasing all over town. They're all stablemates under the same roof! CHEVROLET

CHEVY CORVAIR MONZA CLUB COUPE
Nestle behind the wheel in one of those bucket front seats and see what Corvair's rear-engine design has done for driving. Steering that responds to the subtlest hint. Braking that brings you to precise even-keel stops. Traction that clings like a cocklebur.

CORVETTE
It's the goingest machine in America. Pure-bred sports car performance—the likes of which only the most elite (and expensive) foreign-built jobs could claim before Corvette began stealing their thunder in open competition.

See the new Chevrolets at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

'Round The Bases

Keynote To Success Found At Keystone

by Joe Zawacki

"It took me a long time to adjust to the change from shortstop to third base and my attitude wasn't what it should have been, but now I'm glad that things have turned out the way they have."

The fellow uttering this statement is Don Melega, the likable junior who makes third base his home for the current Villanova baseball team. And the way he plays the position, you'd think that he has been there all his life.

Adjusted Style

Melega is one of the many Wildcat baseballers from New Jersey, hailing from Bayonne. He prepped at St. Peter's in Jersey City where he was quite a long ball hitter. However, he admits a tendency toward striking out forced him to adjust his batting style when he came to college. Though many will state that there is no disgrace attached to striking out, Melega will not concur.

"When you're batting," he explains, "it's just you and the pitcher. If he strikes you out, he wins. But if you at least get a piece of the ball, that means he needs help to get you out."

Walks are another thing for which Don has no use. "I'm up there to hit, not walk," is his short but firm explanation.

Normal Reaction

Melega's dislike for the change from his normal position at short to third base was not a case of temperament, but rather a normal reaction of any ballplayer who is asked to leave a position he has worked on for years.

What is the difference between the two positions? "It's hard to explain in words," says Don. "I know one thing . . . the ball gets down to you a lot faster than at short. You learn to knock the ball down with your chest by necessity, not desire. But then you don't have to cover the ground that the shortstop has."

DON MELEGA

The short, 21 year old blonde admits that the fact that several scouts have raved about the way he is playing third base has helped change his opinion to the keystone sack. Another recognition, more recent, came from his own classmates as they elected him the most valuable player on the baseball team from the junior class.

Don is majoring in Social Studies and has no immediate plans for the future although he would like to make some money playing ball and perhaps someday go into business with a brother. He also entertains a notion of teaching and coaching in the future, making use of the pointers that he has picked up in the course of playing. If he coaches as well as he plays, he should be quite a success.

* * *

A news source in New York informs us that Eddie Donavon's decision to leave St. Bonaventure for the New York Knicks coaching job was a recent development and had nothing to do with his turning down the Villanova job a few months back. Lots of luck, Eddie. In pro goonball, you're going to need it . . . a recent development arising from the basketball scandal finds the NCAA now frowning on summer league basketball leagues. Though the writer has never liked these leagues, they will be missed in one respect: many borderline ballplayers received a chance in summer basketball to impress a college coach and win a scholarship. Case in point: Harry Booth and Paul Westhead of St. Joseph's.

"Reliable"

Add silly aspects to the scandal: One of the three local papers, a tabloid, broke a sports headline on their front page recently, promising a new wave of names to be brought to the public. Despite the fact that this paper is notorious for its sports headlines never materializing into fact (for example, the "Wilt Decathlon" item), the student body here, to a great extent, took this in gullibly and it contributed greatly to the slanderous insults which are threatening the names of many innocent lads, both on and off this campus . . . An even sillier remark overheard too many times here on campus: "I don't care who gets involved, as long as it's not us." Come on, kiddies; time to grow up.

Open question to the baseball coach posed by numerous baseball fans: Once there was a team with three outfielders, none of which were great fielders, but adequate. Two of them are hitting poorly, but the third, who was tenth in the nation as a Sophomore, is hitting at a good pace. On the bench, there is a sub who is cracking into the starting lineup because of good stickwork. Now, which one of the three outfielders do you bench to bring in the sub with the good stick? Can you answer that for a curious group, coach?

(Photo by Alan Williams)

"This looks like a good one" a Seton Hall sslugger has written on his face as he faces Phil Fidalgo's fast ball with all the intent of a Paul Bunyon at the bat . . . Strike three.

Brown Topples Rugby Team in Semi-Finals By Close 6-5 Score

Villanova's dark horse rugby team was derailed Saturday in the semi finals of the East Coast Rugby Championships by Brown 6-5 at Van Cortlandt Park in New York City.

Brown, who was beaten physically by the 'Cats, has to face a rugged Dartmouth team this week for the championship.

Pig Pen Scores

In the game played in very humid weather, scrum-half Ralph "pig pen" Lewis opened the scoring with 25 minutes gone in the hard fought battle as he tallied a tri. Senior forward Bill McClure split the uprights and Villanova jumped out in front 5-0. The see-saw skirmish saw the half end with the score the same.

Late in the second half, after an infraction by Captain Tony Nastri, Brown broke into the scoring column on a three point penalty kick.

'Cat Bid Folds

Then with 15 minutes remaining the Wildcats gallant bid to make the finals of the East Coast Championships in their rookie season in the league folded as a Brown three-quarter caught a cross kick and broke through the Villanova backfield and romped 40 yards to score. Brown missed the conversion and led 6-5, which after many frustrating moments by both teams was the final score.

Lewis commented after the game saying, "Brown wasn't the toughest team we played this year—I think it was Columbia—but even though we physically trounced them we beat ourselves in the end."

Captain Nastri announced that there would be a rugby meeting Thursday on the first floor of the C&F building at 10:30 a.m. The purpose of the meeting being the election of next year's officers.

Another achievement for the thriving new sport on the Main Line was the promotion of the 'Cats to the Second Division of the Eastern Rugby Union after only one year of play. With this step up Villanova will play an even tougher schedule next season consisting mainly of Ivy League schools where rugby has been a popular sport for years.

Cats Face Unbeaten Navy After Close Win Saturday

by Joe McCarthy

Southpaw Phil Fidalgo, rebounding from his first setback of the season a week ago Saturday at Lafayette, hurled a seven-hit, 3-2 victory to nip a spirited Seton Hall contingent last Saturday. The triumph brought to the vanguard the possibility of an NCAA berth in the eastern regionals for the Villanova squad.

The other scheduled contests of the week fell prone to the rains as both the Scranton and LaSalle games were postponed. Neither game will be made up due to the difficulties in re-scheduling.

Beneath the overcast skies of imminent rain for the second Saturday in a row, the Cats rallied in the eighth and ninth to overcome a 2-0 Seton Hall lead at the Main Line Stadium. Until the eighth the only hit that Seton Hall fastballer Phil Kiemer had yielded was a grass-cutting single over second to Wildcat Dan Baier.

Tied Two All

Bill Platco led off the inning with a soft pop to second for the first out. Then pitcher Fidalgo lined a hard single to right-field and Dan Renn, hitting from the right side of the box, pulled a fastball down the left-field line which bounced against the fence and scored Fidalgo from first.

Following Renn's double, Shortstop Jack Lynch connected to send a clutch single up the middle into center to push across the tying run. Fidalgo then set the first three men down in the top of the ninth, thus giving the Cats their ninth inning opportunity to win the game.

Climatic Ninth

Dan Renn's second rbi of the day highlighted the bottom of the ninth, although in an inadvertent fashion. Allowing a second single to Baier and a bases-on-balls to Captain Joe Cramer sent Pirate pitcher Kiemer to the showers.

Relief pitcher Bill Henry then retired Platco on an infield pop but gave up a second walk to Fidalgo, filling the bases for Renn. Henry's fourth delivery to Renn skidded in the dirt and, as it bounced upwards, it cascaded off the catcher's mitt for a wild pitch. Baier, running with the pitch, scored the winning tally easily.

Tainted Hits

The twenty-year-old Fidalgo, using an overhand motion for the second time this campaign, now owns a formidable 6-1 slate. In his nine-inning stint, he visably became stronger as the game progressed after a shaky start in the first. He retired the final seven men to oppose him. The Seton Hall power managed to reach him for only seven scattered singles.

Earlier in the week the Cats clubbed five Rider pitchers for 17 hits in a 10-8 slugfest that went to Villanova. Scoring five in the first iced a lead which the Rider batters could never catch.

The first six batters to come to the plate against Rider hurler Jim Thompson hit safely. In the final statistics each Wildcat to bat picked up at least one safety except for starting pitcher Mike Kiley.

Connors Rescues

As Rider reached Kiley for three runs in the sixth, Pete Connors was called in again to rescue the game. It was the seventh time this season that Connors had been relied upon to quell a rally. He has won three without a blemish and saved four others. The 5-9, 140 lb. Connors has also hit surprisingly well during the season, contributing a single to the Wildcat cause in the Rider game.

Al Weigand, Dan Renn, and Richie Richman paced the hitting department. Weigand had two triples, Richman, three singles, and Renn, a perfect day, three for three. Fidalgo playing left, tallied three rbi's to guide the squad in that department.

The Wildcats now will encounter an undefeated Navy team with a record of 19-0 this afternoon. A victory in this encounter could be considered as an excellent portent.

Thinclads Get Revenge At Quantico's Expense

by Dan Grove

Villanova's Athletic Department invested in an anemometer just in case its trackmen continued flirting with world records, as they did two weeks ago.

The wind wasn't a factor though and the mud hardly slowed anyone down as the 'Cat's avenged last year's shellacking by the Quantico Marines. Villanova won twelve out of sixteen events and completely swept four of these to eradicate last year's loss with a 92-44 victory.

Budd and White Score

Juniors Frank Budd and Hubie White led the 'Cats with two first places apiece. Budd won both dashes in the unbelievably fast times of 9.4 and 20.3 seconds over a soggy track. Budd's victories were sweetened because they came over the Marines' Ed Collymore, the ex-Villanova record holder in both events.

Hubie White won the broad jump and the hop, step, and jump. He annexed the former from another ex-Villanova thinclad, Kent Lydic, with a jump of 22' ½". The hop, step, and jump blue ribbon was handed him by the virtue of a 45' ½" leap.

Sophomore shot putter, Billy Joe broke the school and stadium records with a Herculean heave of 57' ¾". This toss bettered his indoor mark by eighteen inches. Junior Jerry Donini, last year's record holder, was plagued by foul trouble, but still captured second place over the Virginian's Bill Hands.

Jackman Takes Hurdles

Villanova's Al Jackman led teammates Charlie Harrock and Leon Pras across the tape for a sweep of the 440 yard intermediate hurdles.

Leon Pras led the other hurdle's shutout against the Gyrenes, this time in the 120 yard high hurdles. Sophomores Charlie Hmamock and Doug Kerr placed second and third.

Otie Drayton, of Penn Relay fame, stepped off a 49.1 second 440 yard dash to nose out teammates Carl Wagner and Ernie Muir for the 'Cat's fourth shutout of the day.

Marines Good In Distance

Quantico's best showing was in the distance events. Olympian Peter Close and former national champion Carry Weisenger soundly beat Junior Jon Dante in the mile, in 4:12.3.

Mike Fleming of Quantico barely nudged sophomore standout Pat Traynor in the two mile run. Another soph, Owen MacQuire, was third for Villanova.

Dante came back after his loss to Close to win his specialty, the 880 yard run. Gene Palmer, formerly of Tennessee Tech, and Pat Nicastro, Dante's teammate, pushed Jon to a good (considering the track condition) 1:54.7.

Kerr Breaks Record

Soph Doug Kerr broke the school javelin record with a chuck of 209' 10½". Kerr beat the Marines' Joe Frye and Fred Miller with his record breaking toss.

Jim McGrath of Villanova copped first in the high jump over the Marines' versatile Ed Collymore. McGrath's jump of 6' 2" eclipsed Collymore's best leap by two inches.

The pole vault went to Marine Aubrey Dooley, who cleared 14' after having trouble with a brisk breeze.

Mile Relayers Win

Bill Hands of Quantico edged Jerry Donini of Villanova by three inches to win the discus with a flip of 151'.

The Wildcats's mile relay team, without the services of Bobby Raemore and Otie Drayton, breezed to a forty yard win over Quantico. Ernie Muir gave the 'Cats a four yard lead on the first lap with a 50.8 clocking, second legger Carl Wagner increased the margin by ten yards with a 49 flat leg. Seniors Nick DiAngelis (50.2) and Joe Mannion (49.6) stretched the lead to the final margin.

(Photo by Ty Wong)

Sheehan Olympian Frank Budd burst the tape with a blistering 9.4 in the 100 during the Quantico meet last Saturday. Trailing are Ed Collymore, Quantico, and Bob Raemore.

Expansion Marks Seniors' Tenure at Villanova

VOL. 36 No. 23 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. MAY 25, 1961

Cardinal Cushing, Wesley To Speak At Graduation

by Mike Donahue

Villanova will conduct its 119th commencement exercises on Monday, June 5 at 11:00 A.M. in Goodreau Stadium. At that time approximately 800 seniors will be graduated.

In the event of rain the proceedings will be held in the Field House. This is the first time that Commencement exercises have been held outdoors.

Each senior upon whom a degree will be conferred has been issued fifteen tickets, three "blues" and twelve "whites". All of these will admit guests to the ceremonies in the stadium, weather permitting. In the event of rain only the holders of the blue tickets will be admitted to the indoor ceremonies in the Field House. Limited seating capacity in the Field House necessitates this restriction.

The academic procession of faculty members, University officials and the graduates will proceed to the Stadium at 10:30. The Very Reverend James Donnellon, OSA, Augustian Provincial will preside over the ceremonies.

Cardinal Cushing Speaks

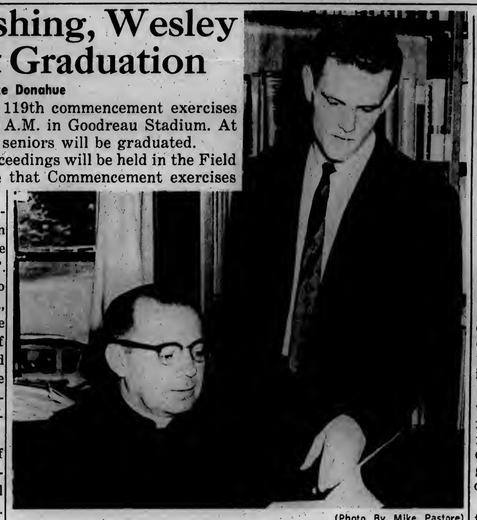
His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, who rendered an invocation at the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy, will deliver the main address to the graduates.

Honorary degrees will be conferred upon Cardinal Cushing; Arthur I. Breithaupt, Vice-president, Dodge Steel Company; Gordon M. Burlingame, President, Title Insurance Company of Pennsylvania; Honorable Charles S. Desmond, Chief Judge, Court of Appeals, State of New York, and Francis Friel, partner in Albright and Friel Engineering.

The Valedictorian for the class will be J. Michael Wesley, a general arts major from Rochester, N.Y. Wesley will be graduated magna cum laude.

Cardinal Cushing will receive an honorary Doctor of Sacred Theology degree; Breithaupt will be recognized a Doctor of Humane Letters; Burlingame will be cited as a Doctor of Commercial Science; a Doctor of Doctor of laws degree will be conferred upon Judge Desmond while Friel will receive an Honorary Doctor of Science degree.

To Begin June 3



The actual preparations for commencement exercises will get underway, Saturday June 3, with the distribution of caps and gowns in Vasey Hall 11:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

On Sunday, June 4, a Baccalaureate Mass will be held in the Field House at 10:00 a.m.; immediately thereafter a breakfast for the senior graduates will be held in Dougherty Hall.

In addition to Wesley, 35 other seniors will receive special academic recognition. Those to be graduated summa cum laude will be Evilio A. Perez, Ch.E. and David L. Brecht, OSA, philosphy.

Magna Cum Laude

Magna cum laude honors will be conferred upon Theodore Boundas, Dennis Lynch, Joseph Remy, Richard Fogaroli, John Hampton, Marshall McCloskey, Eileen Greyson, John Hogan, OSA and Robert Samson, OSA.

(Photo By Mike Pastore)

Valedictorian Mike Wesley explains a fine point in the text in his commencement speech to Rev. John A. Klekotka, University president in Father's office.

Dear Seniors of Villanova:

Since I will not have the opportunity again to communicate with you collectively until the degrees are conferred upon you on the fifth of June, I take this means of conveying a parting message to the class.

First, I congratulate all those of you who have successfully completed your work and have earned the sheepskin soon to be handed to you. You have achieved one of the major goals of your life. As you have succeeded in this so can you succeed in the task that lies before you. Greater difficulties lie in store for you, it is true, but in the Providence of God you will have the capacity to cope with them according to His Will.

Villanova University, and in particular the faculty, has tried to give you a sound preparation for the life that you have yet to live. Most of all this preparation consists of a way of life rather than a training for a livelihood. It is our earnest hope and prayer that you have increased in your faith and knowledge of God our Supreme Creator and Redeemer. All else in your life must be subordinate to God, or your life will be worthless.

We often say in an offhand manner that nowadays everyone goes to college. Of course this is not true. While an increasing percentage of our college age population does undertake such study, it still constitutes a rather small percentage of the world's population. Your college education is, therefore, a rare privilege that God has bestowed upon you. He will expect you to make suitable use of this privilege not only for your own benefit, but for the benefit of your fellow man and for the honor of God. This is the challenge that lies ahead of you. It is a thrilling challenge and facing up to it will make for a happy life indeed. May God grant you always the grace to face your challenge to work for a better world.

Sincerely yours,

John A. Klekotka, OSA

Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A.
President

Senior Parting Festival Slated For Mermaid Lake

Mermaid Lake, located three miles above Norristown, Pa., will be the site of the Senior Parting Festival, Saturday, June 3.

The outing will consist of boating, swimming, ballgames, and that time-honored Villanova tradition, "picknicking". It will last from 1 P.M. til 11 P.M.

President Larry Bathgate has secured the services of four (Count 'em) bands to disperse musical fare for those who are choreographically inclined. Included in his musical menage will be what Bathgate terms "an infamous twist band.

Capping the day will be a catered buffet dinner to be served from five until six. Despite this formidable array of musical talent and a catered dinner, Bathgate said that tickets will be only $5.50 per couple.

They are currently on sale in the Pie Shoppe.

A map indicating the most direct route to the picnic site will be posted on the Senior bulletin board, co-chairmen Bill Cassin and Dave McCue revealed.

At this juncture, Bathgate expressed his gratitude "to the various chairmen who helped to make the Senior functions the successes they have been."

Graduating Seniors To Pursue Grad Study In Record Numbers

by Jim Strazzella

All indications point to a new all time high number of Villanovans who will enter graduate schools next fall.

The trend toward a record percentage, as well as a record number, of seniors who plan to do full time post-graduate work upon graduation from Villanova is revealed in data recently collected from various sources by the VILLANOVAN.

Because many seniors have not made final decisions as to future plans, the list of those planning to do graduate work is by no means currently complete. It is reasonable to expect, however, that the final tabulation of this year's seniors who will go on to future study at the graduate level will run well over a hundred.

Law schools are laying claim to the largest number of men from the Class of '61. Paul Crawford, Larry Bathgate, John DePul, Joe Shanahan, Roger Sullivan, Chas. McClain, Al Massey, Denny Nolan, Bill Bowersox, and Mike Gleason are all heading for Vlillanova's Garey Hall. Among the others set for law schools are: Bob Bohn (George Washington), Tom Brown (Michigan), Ted Boundas (Harvard), Joe Clark (Georgetown), Tim McNamar (Michigan), Tom Kennedy (Syracuse), John O'Connell (Harvard), Neil Vaughey (St. John's), Tony Renaldo (Maryland), Ralph Mirarchi (Temple), John Plaatje (Penn), Jim Capobianco (Rutgers), Phil Sheats (Maryland), Jack Fahey (Detroit), and Jim Strazzella (Penn). Dan Steger and John Hickey will also attend law school.

(Cont'd on page 3)

(Photo by Alan Williams)

"This looks like a good one" a Seton Hall sslugger has written on his face as he faces Phil Fidalgo's fast ball with all the intent of a Paul Bunyon at the bat . . . Strike three.

Brown Topples Rugby Team in Semi-Finals By Close 6-5 Score

Villanova's dark horse rugby team was derailed Saturday in the semi-finals of the East Coast Rugby Championships by Brown 6-5 at Van Cortlandt Park in New York City.

Brown, who was beaten physically by the 'Cats, has to face a rugged Dartmouth team this week for the championship.

Pig Pen Scores

In the game played in very humid weather, scrum-half Ralph "pig pen" Lewis opened the scoring with 25 minutes gone in the hard fought battle as he tallied a tri. Senior forward Bill McClure split the uprights and Villanova jumped out in front 5-0. The see-saw skirmish saw the half end with the score the same.

Late in the second half, after an infraction by Captain Tony Nastri, Brown broke into the scoring column on a three point penalty kick.

'Cat Bid Folds

Then with 15 minutes remaining the Wildcats gallant bid to make the finals of the East Coast Championships in their rookie season in the league folded as a Brown three-quarter caught a cross kick and broke through the Villanova backfield and romped 40 yards to score. Brown missed the conversion and led 6-5, which after many frustrating moments by both teams was the final score.

Lewis commented after the game saying, "Brown wasn't the toughest team we played this year—I think it was Columbia—but even though we physically trounced them we beat ourselves in the end."

Captain Nastri announced that there would be a rugby meeting Thursday on the first floor of the C&F building at 10:30 a.m. The purpose of the meeting being the election of next year's officers.

Another achievement for the thriving new sport on the Main Line was the promotion of the 'Cats to the Second Division of the Eastern Rugby Union after only one year of play. With this step up Villanova will play an even tougher schedule next season consisting mainly of Ivy League schools where rugby has been a popular sport for years.

Cats Face Unbeaten Navy After Close Win Saturday

by Joe McCarthy

Southpaw Phil Fidalgo, rebounding from his first setback of the season a week ago Saturday at Lafayette, hurled a seven-hit, 3-2 victory to nip a spirited Seton Hall contingent last Saturday. The triumph brought to the vanguard the possibility of an NCAA berth in the eastern regionals for the Villanova squad.

The other scheduled contests of the week fell prone to the rains as both the Scranton and LaSalle games were postponed. Neither game will be made up due to the difficulties in rescheduling.

Beneath the overcast skies of imminent rain for the second Saturday in a row, the Cats rallied in the eighth and ninth to overcome a 2-0 Seton Hall lead at the Main Line Stadium. Until the eighth the only hit that Seton Hall fastballer Phil Kiemer had yielded was a grass-cutting single over second to Wildcat Dan Baier.

Tied Two All

Bill Platco led off the inning with a soft pop to second for the first out. Then pitcher Fidalgo lined a hard single to right-field and Dan Renn, hitting from the right side of the box, pulled a fastball down the left-field line which bounced against the fence and scored Fidalgo from first.

Following Renn's double, Shortstop Jack Lynch connected to send a clutch single up the middle into center to push across the tying run. Fidalgo then set the first three men down in the top of the ninth, thus giving the Cats their ninth inning opportunity to win the game.

Climatic Ninth

Dan Renn's second rbi of the day highlighted the bottom of the ninth, although in an inadvertent fashion. Allowing a second single to Baier and a bases-on-balls to Captain Joe Cramer sent Pirate pitcher Kiemer to the showers.

Relief pitcher Bill Henry then retired Platco on an infield pop but gave up a second walk to Fidalgo, filling the bases for Renn. Henry's fourth delivery to Renn skidded in the dirt and, as it bounced upwards, it cascaded off the catcher's mitt for a wild pitch. Baier, running with the pitch, scored the winning tally easily.

Tainted Hits

The twenty-year-old Fidalgo, using an overhand motion for the second time this campaign, now owns a formidable 6-1 slate. In his nine-inning stint, he visably became stronger as the game progressed after a shaky start in the first. He retired the final seven men to oppose him. The Seton Hall power managed to reach him for only seven scattered singles.

Earlier in the week the Cats clubbed five Rider pitchers for 17 hits in a 10-8 slugfest that went to Villanova. Scoring five in the first iced a lead which the Rider batters could never catch.

The first six batters to come to the plate against Rider hurler Jim Thompson hit safely. In the final statistics each Wildcat to bat picked up at least one safety except for starting pitcher Mike Kiley.

Connors Rescues

As Rider reached Kiley for three runs in the sixth, Pete Connors was called in again to rescue the game. It was the seventh time this season that Connors had been relied upon to quell a rally. He has won three without a blemish and saved four others. The 5-9, 140 lb. Connors has also hit surprisingly well during the season, contributing a single to the Wildcat cause in the Rider game.

Al Weigand, Dan Renn, and Richie Richman paced the hitting department. Weigand had two triples, Richman, three singles, and Renn, a perfect day, three for three. Fidalgo playing left, tallied three rbi's to guide the squad in that department.

The Wildcats now will encounter an undefeated Navy team with a record of 19-0 this afternoon. A victory in this encounter could be considered as an excellent portent.

Thinclads Get Revenge At Quantico's Expense

by Dan Grove

Villanova's Athletic Department invested in an anemometer just in case its trackmen continued flirting with world records, as they did two weeks ago.

The wind wasn't a factor though and the mud hardly slowed anyone down as the 'Cat's avenged last year's shellacking by the Quantico Marines. Villanova won twelve out of sixteen events and completely swept four of these to eradicate last year's loss with a 92-44 victory.

Budd and White Score

Juniors Frank Budd and Hubie White led the 'Cats with two first places apiece. Budd won both dashes in the unbelievably fast times of 9.4 and 20.3 seconds over a soggy track. Budd's victories were sweetened because they came over the Marines' Ed Collymore, the ex-Villanova record holder in both events.

Hubie White won the broad jump and the hop, step, and jump. He annexed the former from another ex-Villanova thinclad, Kent Lydic, with a jump of 22' 1½". The hop, step, and jump blue ribbon was handed him by the virtue of a 45' ½" leap.

Sophomore shot putter, Billy Joe broke the school and stadium records with a Herculean heave of 57' ¾". This toss bettered his indoor mark by eighteen inches. Junior Jerry Donini, last year's record holder, was plagued by foul trouble, but still captured second place over the Virginian's Bill Hands.

Jackman Takes Hurdles

Villanova's Al Jackman led teammates Charlie Harrock and Leon Pras across the tape for a sweep of the 440 yard intermediate hurdles.

Leon Pras led the other hurdle's shutout against the Gyrenes, this time in the 120 yard high hurdles. Sophomores Charlie Hmamock and Doug Kerr placed second and third.

Otie Drayton, of Penn Relay fame, stepped off a 49.1 second 440 yard dash to nose out teammates Carl Wagner and Ernie Muir for the 'Cat's fourth shutout of the day.

Marines Good In Distance

Quantico's best showing was in the distance events. Olympian Peter Close and former national champion Carry Weisenger soundly beat Junior Jon Dante in the mile, in 4:12.3.

Mike Fleming of Quantico barely nudged sophomore standout Pat Traynor in the two mile run. Another soph, Owen MacQuire, was third for Villanova.

Dante came back after his loss to Close to win his specialty, the 880 yard run. Gene Palmer, formerly of Tennessee Tech, and Pat Nicastro, Dante's teammate, pushed Jon to a good (considering the track condition) 1:54.7.

Kerr Breaks Record

Soph Doug Kerr broke the school javelin record with a chuck of 209' 10½". Kerr beat the Marines' Joe Frye and Fred Miller with his record breaking toss.

Jim McGrath of Villanova copped first in the high jump over the Marines' versatile Ed Collymore. McGrath's jump of 6' 2" eclipsed Collymore's best leap by two inches.

The pole vault went to Marine Aubrey Dooley, who cleared 14' after having trouble with a brisk breeze.

Mile Relayers Win

Bill Hands of Quantico edged Jerry Donini of Villanova by three inches to win the discus with a flip of 151'.

The Wildcats's mile relay team, without the services of Bobby Raemore and Otie Drayton, breezed to a forty yard win over Quantico. Ernie Muir gave the 'Cats a four yard lead on the first lap with a 50.8 clocking, second legger Carl Wagner increased the margin by ten yards with a 49 flat leg. Seniors Nick DiAngelis (50.2) and Joe Mannion (49.6) stretched the lead to the final margin.

(Photo by Ty Wong)

Sheehan Olympian Frank Budd burst the tape with a blistering 9.4 in the 100 during the Quantico meet last Saturday. Trailing are Ed Collymore, Quantico, and Bob Raemore.

Expansion Marks Seniors' Tenure at Villanova

VOL. 36 No. 23 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. MAY 25, 1961

Cardinal Cushing, Wesley To Speak At Graduation

by Mike Donahue

Villanova will conduct its 119th commencement exercises on Monday, June 5 at 11:00 A.M. in Goodreau Stadium. At that time approximately 800 seniors will be graduated.

In the event of rain the proceedings will be held in the Field House. This is the first time that Commencement exercises have been held outdoors.

Each senior upon whom a degree will be conferred has been issued fifteen tickets, three "blues" and twelve "whites". All of these will admit guests to the ceremonies in the stadium, weather permitting. In the event of rain only the holders of the blue tickets will be admitted to the indoor ceremonies in the Field House. Limited seating capacity in the Field House necessitates this restriction.

The academic procession of faculty members, University officials and the graduates will proceed to the Stadium at 10:30. The Very Reverend James Donnellon, OSA, Augustian Provincial will preside over the ceremonies.

Cardinal Cushing Speaks

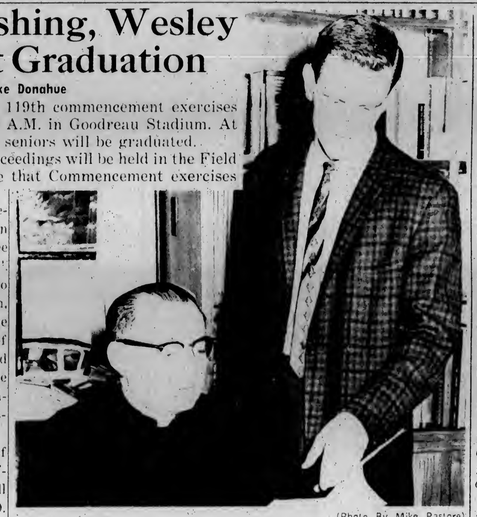
His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, who rendered an invocation at the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy, will deliver the main address to the graduates.

Honorary degrees will be conferred upon Cardinal Cushing; Arthur I. Breithaupt, Vice-president, Dodge Steel Company; Gordon M. Burlingame, President, Title Insurance Company of Pennsylvania; Honorable Charles S. Desmond, Chief Judge, Court of Appeals, State of New York, and Francis Friel, partner in Albright and Friel Engineering.

The Valedictorian for the class will be J. Michael Wesley, a general arts major from Rochester, N.Y. Wesley will be graduated magna cum laude.

Cardinal Cushing will receive an honorary Doctor of Sacred Theology degree; Breithaupt will be recognized a Doctor of Humane Letters; Burlingame will be cited as a Doctor of Commercial Science; a Doctor of Doctor of laws degree will be conferred upon Judge Desmond while Friel will receive an Honorary Doctor of Science degree.

To Begin June 3



The actual preparations for commencement exercises will get underway, Saturday June 3, with the distribution of caps and gowns in Vasey Hall 11:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

On Sunday, June 4, a Baccalaureate Mass will be held in the Field House at 10:00 a.m.; immediately thereafter a breakfast for the senior graduates will be held in Dougherty Hall.

In addition to Wesley, 35 other seniors will receive special academic recognition. Those to be graduated summa cum laude will be Evilio A. Perez, Ch.E. and David L. Brecht, OSA, philosphy.

Magna Cum Laude

Magna cum laude honors will be conferred upon Theodore Boundas, Dennis Lynch, Joseph Remy, Richard Fogaroli, John Hampton, Marshall McCloskey, Eileen Greyson, John Hogan, OSA and Robert Samson, OSA.

(Photo By Mike Pastore)

Valedictorian Mike Wesley explains a fine point in the text in his commencement speech to Rev. John A. Klekotka, University president in Father's office.

Dear Seniors of Villanova:

Since I will not have the opportunity again to communicate with you collectively until the degrees are conferred upon you on the fifth of June, I take this means of conveying a parting message to the class.

First, I congratulate all those of you who have successfully completed your work and have earned the sheepskin soon to be handed to you. You have achieved one of the major goals of your life. As you have succeeded in this so can you succeed in the task that lies before you. Greater difficulties lie in store for you, it is true, but in the Providence of God you will have the capacity to cope with them according to His Will.

Villanova University, and in particular the faculty, has tried to give you a sound preparation for the life that you have yet to live. Most of all this preparation consists of a way of life rather than a training for a livelihood. It is our earnest hope and prayer that you have increased in your faith and knowledge of God our Supreme Creator and Redeemer. All else in your life must be subordinate to God, or your life will be worthless.

We often say in an offhand manner that nowadays everyone goes to college. Of course this is not true. While an increasing percentage of our college age population does undertake such study, it still constitutes a rather small percentage of the world's population. Your college education is, therefore, a rare privilege that God has bestowed upon you. He will expect you to make suitable use of this privilege not only for your own benefit, but for the benefit of your fellow man and for the honor of God. This is the challenge that lies ahead of you. It is a thrilling challenge and facing up to it will make for a happy life indeed. May God grant you always the grace to face your challenge to work for a better world.

Sincerely yours,

John A. Klekotka, OSA

Rev. John A. Klekotka, O.S.A.
President

Senior Parting Festival Slated For Mermaid Lake

Mermaid Lake, located three miles above Norristown, Pa., will be the site of the Senior Parting Festival, Saturday, June 3.

The outing will consist of boating, swimming, ballgames, and that time-honored Villanova tradition, "picknicking". It will last from 1 P.M. til 11 P.M.

President Larry Bathgate has secured the services of four (Count 'em) bands to disperse musical fare for those who are choreographically inclined. Included in his musical menage will be what Bathgate terms "an infamous twist band.

Capping the day will be a catered buffet dinner to be served from five until six. Despite this formidable array of musical talent and a catered dinner, Bathgate said that tickets will be only $5.50 per couple.

They are currently on sale in the Pie Shoppe.

A map indicating the most direct route to the picnic site will be posted on the Senior bulletin board, co-chairmen Bill Cassin and Dave McCue revealed.

At this juncture, Bathgate expressed his gratitude "to the various chairmen who helped to make the Senior functions the successes they have been."

Graduating Seniors To Pursue Grad Study In Record Numbers

by Jim Strazzella

All indications point to a new all time high number of Villanovans who will enter graduate schools next fall.

The trend toward a record percentage, as well as a record number, of seniors who plan to do full time post-graduate work upon graduation from Villanova is revealed in data recently collected from various sources by the VILLANOVAN.

Because many seniors have not made final decisions as to future plans, the list of those planning to do graduate work is by no means currently complete. It is reasonable to expect, however, that the final tabulation of this year's seniors who will go on to future study at the graduate level will run well over a hundred.

Law schools are laying claim to the largest number of men from the Class of '61. Paul Crawford, Larry Bathgate, John DePul, Joe Shanahan, Roger Sullivan, Chas. McClain, Al Massey, Denny Nolan, Bill Bowersox, and Mike Gleason are all heading for Villanova's Garey Hall. Among the others set for law schools are: Bob Bohn (George Washington), Tom Brown (Michigan), Ted Boundas (Harvard), Joe Clark (Georgetown), Tim McNamar (Michigan), Tom Kennedy (Syracuse), John O'Connell (Harvard), Neil Vaughey (St. John's), Tony Renaldo (Maryland), Ralph Mirarchi (Temple), John Plaatje (Penn), Jim Capobianco (Rutgers), Phil Sheats (Maryland), Jack Fahey (Detroit), and Jim Strazzella (Penn). Dan Steger and John Hickey will also attend law school.

(Cont'd on page 3)

Pinning Ceremony Could Inspire Another Tradition

(Photo by Frank Matunis)

The BIG moment arrives as Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, officially pins Mary Chapman during the nurses' pining ceremonies held last Sunday.

The first annual pinning ceremony of senior Villanova nurses was held on Sunday, May 21, at 2:30 p.m. in the University Chapel.

Pins were blessed by the Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of the University, and conferred by Father Klekotka; Miss Marion Schrum, Dean of Nursing; and Miss Ann Donnelly, Assistant Professor of Nursing.

Following a sermon by Father President, the seniors recited a prayer and joined the Villanova Singers in the Alma Mater.

A reception was held in the C and F Cafeteria.

The pinning tradition was given by the junior nurses for the seniors. Miss Mary Fay, Chairman, stated that Sunday's ceremony began what is hoped will be a tradition.

Senior Nurse

The nurses who received pins are: Alice E. Burlington, Mary C. Chapman, Angela M. Colasanto, Joyce M. Collins, Mary C. Collura, Joan C. Connolly, Marthat J. Davis, Joan P. Flood, Betty A. Giammarino, Eileen M. Greyson, Agnes M. Leitz, Marilyn McGahan, Mary P. O'Neill, Mary P. Scanio, Kathryn F. Schultz, Mary A. Valenza, and Mary E. White.

Fr. Bartley Speaks Of Higher Education To Jersey Alumni

Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O.S.A., Dean of the Division of Commerce and Finance was a recent speaker at the Villanova Alumni Club of North Jersey.

The meeting was held at the Brownstone House in Patterson, N.J. and Club officers for the coming year were elected. Father spoke on the progress of the University and the importance of higher education.

Counselors-over 20, also openings for Villanova faculty, for suburban Day Camp. Specialists in Swimming (ARC Instructor), Fencing, Track, Nature, Science, etc. Auto desired. Mitchell 6-8160.

Seminary Guild Appeals For Three Million Dollars

The Augustinian Seminary Guild Appeal is endeavoring to raise three million dollars to build the new St. Mary's College Seminary. The appeal will include eleven dioceses, thirty-four parishes, six high schools, two colleges, and a university.

The appeal is divided into three segments. Advanced gifts are accepted in any amount over $5,000. The memorial gifts start at $400. Both these stages have been in progress for a length of time. The general appeal, started Monday, includes over four thousand soliciting laymen.

The contributions, which are tax deductible, are in the form of pledge payments, which may be extended over a thirty month period.

Old St. Mary's Seminary is overcrowded to such a point that its status may be termed "critical." In addition to being far too small to house the present seminarians, it restricts the number of candidates which may be accepted for the priesthood.

These are the factors which led to the decision to construct a new seminary building. It is planned to occupy a fine tract of land adjacent to, but sufficiently removed from, the center of University life.

L&M UNLOCKS CAMPUS OPINION

#6 in a series of polls conducted by L&M student representatives in over 100 colleges throughout the nation.

Pack or Box

Light up an L&M, and answer these questions. Then compare your answers with those of 1,383 other college students (at bottom of page).

Question #1: As a college student, do you believe that you are taking the best advantage of your educational opportunities?

Answer: Yes____ No____

Question #2: Some college men are wearing trimmed beards. Do you think most girls will be attracted to men with trimmed beards?

Answer: Yes____ No____

Question #3: Do you think that American colleges tend to overemphasize football and other sports to the detriment of the status of academic accomplishments?

Answer: Yes____ No____

Question #4: How many cigarettes do you smoke a day, on the average?

Answer: Less than 8____ 8-12____ 13-17____ 18-22____ Over 22____

UNLOCK A NEW WORLD OF FRESH SMOKING PLEASURE

Start Fresh with L&M ... Stay Fresh with L&M ...

L&M Campus Opinion Answers:

Answer, Question #1: Yes 36% – No 64%
Answer, Question #2: Yes 10% – No 90%
Answer, Question #3: Yes 34% – No 66%
Answer, Question #4: Less than 8, 20% – 8-12, 18% – 13-17, 19% – 18-22, 28% – Over 22, 15%

The more you smoke, the more you appreciate today's L&M. You start fresh with L&M, and you stay fresh with L&M. Do away with dried-out taste for good. The secret? Flavor Seal ... L&M's special way of moisturizing tobacco to seal in natural tobacco freshness ... natural tobacco goodness. Get fresh-tasting—best-tasting L&M.

The L&M Campus Opinion Poll was taken at over 100 colleges where L&M has student representatives, and may not be a statistically random selection of all undergraduate schools.

©1961 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Rogers Peet

Summer Ahead!

It's take-off time now for summer...

We suggest a stop over at Rogers Peet for all that's in current taste at good values for the warmer weather.

You'll need:
India Madras...in jackets, shirts, ties, swimming or walking shorts.
Oxford...in shirts of white, blue, grey-green.
Chinos...in slacks and shorts.
Ties...challis, reps, foulards.
Moccasins...a must.

Outfitters to Men and Boys since 1874

Rogers Peet company
NEW YORK BOSTON
WASHINGTON

New York: Fifth Ave. at 48th & 41st Sts. • Broadway at Warren St.
Boston: Tremont at Bromfield Sts.
Washington: 14th & G Streets, N.W.

On To Graduate School

by Jim Strazzella

(Con't from Page 1)

The list of future M.D.s includes: Joe Caprini, Al Carlson, Carlo Melini, Bob Stech, and Al Kaplin, all of whom will study at Hahnemann. Fred Folley, Ed Morehauser, and Joe Zecardi will attend Temple, while John Judson and Denny Lynch will study at Georgetown. Pete Runge will enter George Washington and Dom Diori will enter Seton Hall for medical studies. Barry Wills will earn his dental degree at Penn.

A large number of engineers also plan to do future academic work. The chemical engineers include: Clint Norris (V.U.), Tony Cavanna (Polytechnical Institute of Brooklyn), Lamont Dare (Lehigh), Gerry O'Brien (Penn), Rich Fogaroli (Columbia), Joe Hamburger (Institute of Paper Chemistry), Bernie Kraus (Delaware), Ed Schaller (Penn), Don Sekits (R.P.I.), Evelio Perez (Illinois), and Bob Durney (V.U.).

So far it is definite that at least four mechanical engineers will continue their studies—Mike Appoconia (V.U.), Jack Connine (R.P.I.), Frank Contey (Lehigh), and Bob Fink (U.C. L.A.).

The roster of electrical engineers includes Marshall McCloskey, who will study at M.I.T., and Paul Meunch, who is headed for N.Y.U. Civil engineer Steve Campbell is also going to N.Y. U., while Bernie Cohan attends Syracuse and Bob Fileccia continues here at Villanova.

Class valedictorian Mike Wesley is headed for future study at Toronto. Jack McDonnell (Brown), Gary Susnjara (V. U.), Mike Tighe (Kansas) Tom Quigley (V.U.), and Phil Tama (V.U.) will concentrate on graduate English studies. Dick Terry and Don McGinley will study for their A.M.A.T. degree. History and political science studies will command the attention of Joe Kelly, Bob Plowman, (V.U.), Jack McAteer, and Joe Cramer.

Artsmen Mike Donahue (Penn), Jack Stefan (Columbia), Jerry Gelinas (Penn), and Tom Samuelwicz (Penn) will take up post-grad work in business.

A formidable array of Commerce and Finance seniors will also spend the immediate future in business graduate work. Marketing majors Ed Paulsen, Barry Finkel, and Gary Dascenzo will attend N.Y.U., Penn, and Temple, respectively. John Fitzgerald (Penn), Jack Donohue (Penn State), John McClay (V. U.) and Bob Cahill (Columbia) are among the other Wall Street Journal readers who will continue their academic endeavors in the area of business.

Midwestern Schools Draw, Too

Gene Rogers, a chemistry major, will travel to Wisconsin to pursue a study of the history of science and Dick Cordell will take up residence at Ohio University in order to continue his work in chemistry. Bob Conboy will matriculate at North Illinois for his chem grad work, and George Purcell and Ed Richezza will return to the Villanova chem labs and classrooms in new Mendel Hall. Joe Remy, meanwhile, will work toward his M.A. in math at Penn.

The upward trend in the number of Villanovans who intend to work toward advanced degrees can doubtlessly be attributed in part to the work of Dr. Bernard J. Bedard, the University's Post Graduate Study dvisor. The office of Post Graduate Advisor is a relatively new one on campus and it has since its inception provided reliable information and competent assistance for students interested in post-graduate studies.

Bedard Encouraged

When interviewed in his ground floor office in C & F., Dr. Bedard indicated that he was encouraged by the fact that "more and more Villanova students are considering post graduate training and are taking more and more seriously the possibility of the academic life as a life vocation.

"Villanova, and every Catholic school as well," he commented, "will now be served by more Villanova graduates because of the present trend. This is encouraging."

But, Dr. Bedard emphasized, there is a need for many, many more students with advanced training. He noted that too often Catholic college students do not face up to the responsibility which is theirs.

(Photo By Alan Williams)

"Get your foot off the nameplate, Delisa," Jim McAteer, (far right), jestingly admonishes Bob Delisa (c), to the amusement of Larry Bathgate (2nd from left) and Jim Strazzella (2nd from right). Only Bob Scalia (far left) under whose reign the bench was dedicated seems unamused. Scalia was junior class president; Delisa served as sophomore class president, student council vice-chairman and chairman and student body president; Strazzella was Delisa's Vice-President for educational affairs; McAteer, currently editor emeritus of the VILLANOVAN, was editor-in-chief of the weekly publication.

MALOLO® CORSAIR nautical print zip jacket with over-sized pocket and British notched collar. Shown with medium Hawaiian trunks. Both of 100% fine cotton in color combinations of gold and blue. Jacket $6.95 Trunks $6.95

RUGBY 100% cotton fleece deck shirt pull over in trimmed colors of white, gold, olive or navy. $5.95 TOP SIDERS deck pants and the newest British SEA KNICKERS with regimental belt. Both of 100% cotton in white, gold, natural, olive or black $5.95 and $8.95

CRICKET blazer striped knit jacket in brilliant colony colors. ¾ length tab sleeves. Tailored Hawaiian trunks. Both knit of 100% cotton. Vivid color combinations of gold and spice. Button front cardigan $8.95 Trunks $5.95

THE SEAFARING MAN IS A Catalina MAN
(With a British accent)

Chart your course to the crisp, colorful look of the California sun and sea swimwear that Catalina so handsomely combines with the new British styling influence.

MALOLO® HARBOR LIGHTS giant zip jacket with roll knit collar. Trim on sleeves and pocket, with embroidered lantern emblems. Jacket of sturdy 100% cotton gabardine. Square rig acetate, cotton and rubber trunks. In white, gold and olive. Jacket $8.95 Trunks $5.95

MALOLO® BENGAL paisley print, zipper front jacket with English accented collar over medium length boxer trunks. Both of 100% finest printed cotton in color combinations of gold, spice and blue. Jacket $7.95 Trunks $4.95

CHUKKER CHECK houndstooth knit commander's jacket. Shown with square rig trunks. Jacket knit of finest 100% cotton. Trunks of cotton with rubber added for perfect fit. Black, olive or gold with white. Cardigan $7.95 Trunks $5.95

• Catalina, Inc., Los Angeles, California. Another fine KR Kayser-Roth Product.

COPYRIGHT © 1961, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY. COCA-COLA AND COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS

In over 100 countries people get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by BOTTLER'S NAME HERE

The Last Hurrah

This is the way it has been:

It began with a report on a lecture by Dr. Rudhart . . . and coming late to the lecture, and writing the story all wrong, and being mocked and maligned as a total incompetent . . . and being told that the Feature Editor had resigned, and there was no one to do his job . . . and being told to do it . . .and doing it.

It was taking that all-day sophomore aptitude test after the first all-night session at the printer's . . . and falling asleep periodically during the test . . . and wondering what Father Sullivan thought when he saw the results.

It was the first flush of success at being named Feature Editor at the VILLANOVAN Dinner Dance . . . and being told next day by the Editor, "Feature Editors remain Feature Editors" . . . and deciding not to remain Feature Editor . . . and being named News Editor.

It was story lists that were never made up in time . . . and reporters who never reappeared after having been assigned the week's most important story . . . It was sweating out Monday nights at the printer's . . . and watching the sun rise on Tuesday morning . . . and feeling the triumph as the paper was delivered on Wednesday afternoon.

It was hours at the typewriter . . . and more on the phone . . . and so many classes cut . . . and term papers submitted at the last minute . . . or after the last minute. It was Tom Wolf smoking too much . . . and Bill Speers being angry. It was Mike Donahue with his laughable lists . . . lists that always proved so necessary in the end.

It was the first by-line . . . and meeting Bob Scalia for the first time . . . Class President he was . . . very important man. It was the first Student Council meeting with a vote to be cast . . . and Bob DeLisa going in by acclamation . . . and Tom Hoffman's farewell address. It was being named Editor-in-Chief.

It was conferences, endless conferences . . . with Gene Ruane, about "indiscreet articles" . . . with Father Kemme, about the necessity of a responsible collegiate press . . . With Father Klekotka about the future of Villanova . . . with Bob DeLisa about things in general.

It was looking up from the big desk at the top of the row, over acres of litter and papers, as the typists got up to go home, and wearily pulling over the typewriter for one more in that never-ending series of "metaphysical editorials." It was the private conversations . . . with Harrison Salisbury . . . and Fulton Lewis . . . John Crowe Ransom . . . and William McAndrew.

It was Chicago, with Mike Donahue . . . the Associated Collegiate Press Conference . . . State Street . . . and George Diamond's.

It was Father Rongione . . . and Lena with the expense account . . . and the last Dinner Dance . . . Dan Grove the new Editor . . . and an underclass man calling me a "has been" . . . and me responding "at least I've been there" . . . and wishing a little that our places could be exchanged. It was Jim Strazzella and Charlie Labus and the campaign . . . It was the final good-byes . . . the last by-line . . . and —30—

This is the way it has been . . . these are the reasons for having done it all once, and being more than willing to do it all again . . . every single minute of it. These are the reasons for the memories.

H. J. M.

The Pressbox

Depicted below are the ten senior (former) editors who six weeks ago departed from the second floor of Dougherty. Gone but not forgotten are Jim McAteer's rhetorical editorials, Mike Donahue's Neo-classicism, Jack McAteer's sense of humor, Jose Conlin's nom de plume, Gary Dascenzo's manipulation of the funds, Bud Simmonds' impeccable attire, Mark Bennett's other job, Phil Kenny's elderly demeanor, Bill McCall's nebulous title, and Gus Susnjara's rolling preambles.

Editors Emeriti

Editor-in-Chief ..... H. James McAteer
Managing Editor ..... Michael D. Donahue
News Editor ..... John J. McAteer
Feature Editor ..... R. Joseph Conlin
Co-Sports Editor ..... Charles R. Simmonds
Business Manager ..... Gary R. Dascenzo
Circulation Managers ..... Mark Bennett, Philip Kenny
Exchange Editor ..... William McCall
Theatre Editor ..... Gary Susnjara

Delisa Reflects

In view of the fact that this is the last issue of the VILLANOVAN for the year 1960-61, I thought that this might be a good time to pose an evaluation of the state of student government at Villanova.

Having participated in Student Government activities for over three years, I have noticed a constant forward movement on the part of the Council in general, and of its members in particular. The Student Council contains more interested and cooperative personnel than ever before and I think that this admirable point can be attributed to the fact that the student body itself is giving more serious consideration than before to the actual election of student government members.

Students Inquisitive

The Student Council of this year dealt with an inquisitive, aware, and more mature student body. This fact has altered the Council thinking to the extent that we must work for the students' welfare, and not our own.

Student government this year has been a working one and not a theoretical one. We have made mature, well thought-out recommendations to the administration concerning programs ranging from curricular changes to more recreational facilities on campus. We have, through this maturity, gained a much greater position of respect among the administration and the faculty than has ever been held before.

In the fall, a complete review of Student Council accomplishments will be presented to the student body. I will not list them here.

Individual Evaluation

I feel that in an evaluation of any organization we must evaluate the individual members of that organization.

The idea that only BMOC's hold offices on the student council is definitely on the wane. The most successful and contributory members of this year's Council have been those who were willing to work long hours in order that a program or idea might attain reality.

This, then, might be the measure of the success of the Student Council: How interested have the members been? Are their ideas original and practical? Is their primary interest for the student body? And finally, but extremely important, are they willing to devote time and effort to their work? Basing our success on the answers to these questions, I feel confident in saying that student government at Villanova has attained greater achievement than ever before.

It has been said that the past is a giant upon whose shoulders we, in the present, stand in order to see the future. This comment is analagous to the Student Council in that we have improved upon our past efforts so that we might produce better efforts in the present for the future.

Bob DeLisa

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-in-chief ..... Daniel G. Grove
Associate Editor ..... Josephine Morello
Managing Editor ..... Edward Farrell
News Editor ..... Mark Quinn
Sports Editors ..... J. Edgar Lohr, Joseph Zawacki
Feature Editor ..... Joseph A. Massey
Campus News Editor ..... George F. West
Copy Editor ..... Thomas O'Connor
Format Editor ..... Ed Graham
Photo Editors ..... Michael Pastore, Francis Matunis
Business Manager ..... John J. Janda
Circulation Manager ..... John Redding
Exchange Editor ..... Raymond Ritter
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post Office December 27, 1928, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

The VILLANOVAN is published weekly by undergraduate students of Villanova University; opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the University.

This newspaper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: Scholar, Athlete, Gentleman—

Leo Goodreau

'Round Midnight

Writer Bids Farewell; Sees Swinging Summer

by Joe Zawacki

Since this is our last paper of the school year, the writer would like to make use of the opportunity to extend his gratitude to those who contributed to the production of this little endeavor to aid the students in their search for entertainment of a worthwhile value. (Some will argue that this cannot be done without being clumsy or maudlin. That is of little concern to me).

A Second Glance

Looking back to the first column, it may be noted that the intent of this feature was to give the mature college student more for his entertainment dollar and to get Philly off of a bum rap about being a "one-horse town." Whether or not it has been a successful column depends on the individual reader. The writer gains satisfaction in the knowledge that he has made the effort.

Another worthwhile point to be made concerns the use of personal opinion. It can be stated honestly here that at no time this year was a personal Zawacki opinion deliberately used to get a point across. This has not been an easy thing to accomplish and if I have failed to keep my own views from showing occasionally, blame it on human nature.

The Point

Finally, and most important, whether or not you have agreed with the statements made here at various times is secondary to whether any one column stimulated you to agreement, discussion or argument.

If you have been thusly moved, the writer considers the year a successful and hope to continue same in September. Have a good summer.

* * *

A little sports item in Monday's papers caught the eye and since no sports copy has been contributed for this final issue, I would like to use this space to pay a small tribute, as a sports fan, to one of the all-time greats of baseball. Stan Musial. This is nothing new to the man from Donora, who has been receiving praise for as long as he has been in the big leagues.

However, it is an opportunity for someone who has idolized "the Man" since he was seven years old to say "thanks and congratulations." Thanks, for all the many thrills that one small fan has received. And congratulations, on your 3,312th hit which enabled you to pass Eddie Collins for 4th place on the all-time hit list. Another 120 safeties, and Musial can retire with more base hits than any other ball-player in the history of the National League (Honus Wagner, 3434 hits). Go get them, Stan. There'll never be another one like you.

* * *

As a final note, with summer approaching, most of the conformists will head for the shore this summer to practice a "herded-cattle" theory in crowd psychology. However, the "Round Midnight-er" won't find the big cities too dead. All the tents have been struck and drama and musicals will be in order at Lambertville, Camden County, Valley Forge, and the Playhouse In The Park. In addition, Lambertville and Brandywine will offer top Jazz attractions in concert appearances. A rumor has also been circulated that top Country & Western artist Hank Thompson, probably the best in the field, will make his first Eastern appearance in years at the Red Hill Inn in July. All these items should contribute to a swinging summer.

ACTIVITIES OF VILLANOVA

Women's Glee Club Thrives

Confronted by a myriad of difficulties in the past several years, the Women's Glee Club has finally been established as a reality on the Villanova campus. Two years ago, the Administration sanctioned the activity but on the condition that they conduct their practices under their own student director. Under this setup, they were eventually obliged to fold.

This year, however, for the second time, the girls wanted to give the Glee Club another try. Again the Administration granted approbation to the group but under the old terms. Later, permission was obtained so that Mr. Herbert Fiss, Conductor of the Villanova Concert Band and Director of the Villanova Singers, would instruct the club once a week (Monday evenings) and immediately previous to performances. His daughter, Mrs. Joan Gillespie, has lately directed the girls since Mr. Fiss has been involved with the Singers.

Debut

Junior nurse Josie Morello pointed out that their debut was held on the Mother's Alumni Night, April 30. Since then, the activities of the Glee Club have assumed more concrete proportions with successful performances on the Junior Week Mother's Day and the recent Concert on the Green in front of Dougherty Hall.

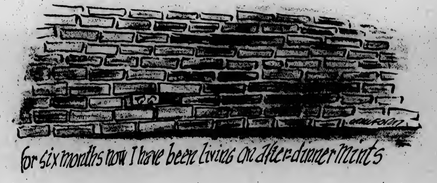
Stimulated by their moderate achievements, the club elected junior Anne McCrea to succeed this year's President Kathy Shultz. Barbara Smith was also successful in her bid for Vice-President while Margie Burns will now assume the duties of Librarian.

SUPER SMOOTH SHAVE

New "wetter-than-water" action melts beard's toughness—in seconds. Remarkable new "wetter-than-water" action gives Old Spice Super Smooth Shave its scientific approximation to the feather-touch feel and the efficiency of barber shop shaves. Melts your beard's toughness like hot towels and massage—in seconds.

Shaves that are so comfortable you barely feel the blade. A unique combination of anti-evaporation agents makes Super Smooth Shave stay moist and firm. No re-lathering, no dry spots. Richer and creamier...gives you the most satisfying shave...fastest, cleanest—and most comfortable. Regular or mentholated, 1.00.

Old Spice
SHULTON



On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

Seven years now I have been writing this column for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, and each year when I come to the last column of the year, my heart is gripped by the same bittersweet feeling. I shall miss you sorely, dear readers, in the long summer days ahead. I shall miss all you freckle-faced boys with frogs in your pockets. I shall miss all you pig-tailed girls with your gap-toothed giggles. I shall miss you one and all—your shining morning faces, your apples, your marbles, your jacks, your little oilcloth satchels.

But I shall not be entirely sad, for you have given me many a happy memory to sustain me. It has been a rare pleasure writing this column for you all year, and I would ask every one of you to come visit me during the summer except there is no access to my room. The makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, after I missed several deadlines, walled me in. All I have is a mail slot into which I drop my columns and through which they supply me with Marlboro Cigarettes and such food as will slip through a mail slot. (For six months now I have been living on after-dinner mints.)

I am only having my little joke. The makers of Marlboros have not walled me in. They could never do such a cruel thing. Manly and muscular they may be, and gruff and curt and direct, but underneath they are men of great heart and sweet, compassionate disposition, and I wish to take this opportunity to state publicly that I will always have the highest regard for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, no matter how my lawsuit for back wages comes out.

I am only having my little joke. I am not suing the makers of Marlboros for back wages. These honorable gentlemen have always paid me promptly and in full. To be sure, they have not paid me in cash, but they have given me something far more precious. You would go far to find one so covered with tattoos as I.

I am only having my little joke. The makers of Marlboros have not covered me with tattoos. In fact, they have engraved no commercial advertising whatsoever on my person. My suit, of course, is another matter, but even here they have exercised taste and restraint. On the back of my suit, in unobtrusive neon, they have put this fetching little jingle:

Are your taste buds out of kilter?
Are you bored with smoking, neighbor?
Then try that splendid Marlboro filter,
Try that excellent Marlboro fleighbor!

On the front of my suit, in muted phosphorus, are pictures of the members of the Marlboro board and their families. On my hat is a small cigarette girl crying, "Who'll buy my Marlboros?"

I am only having my little joke. The makers of Marlboros have been perfect dolls to work for, and so, dear readers, have you. Your kind response to my nonsense has warmed this old thorax, and I trust you will not find me soggy if in this final column of the year, I express my sincere gratitude.

Have a good summer. Stay healthy. Stay happy. Stay loose.

© 1961 Max Shulman

* * *

The makers of Marlboros and the new unfiltered king-size Philip Morris Commander have been happy to bring you this uncensored, free-wheeling column all year long. Now, if we may echo old Max: Stay healthy. Stay happy. Stay loose.

The Age of Giants Passes With 'The Last Roll Call'

by Jim McAteer

There was at least one noticeable difference about last week's Student Council meeting: Bob DeLisa answered no roll call.

Perhaps it is a violation of the sacred journalistic principle of hard-bitten objectivity to become nostalgic as graduation—the end of an era for most seniors—approaches. Nevertheless, if there is to be any tribute at all rendered to the spirit of the class of '61, that tribute is best accorded to DeLisa, the unchallenged personification of his class and school.

Superlatives Superfluous

But superlatives are superfluous. Besides, Bob has never looked for them. So the ideal recognition that can be paid the former President of the student body is the avoidance of "purple prose" in favor of a "look at the record."

Back on that mist-enshrouded day of ancient history, when the now-legendary Pat Nicholson turned over the gavel of Council leadership to Big Thinking, Iron Fisted Bob Murphy, DeLisa was inducted into student government. He has been there ever since.

Hearing the roll call last Wednesday evening, noting the absence of the name "Bob DeLisa," probably meant little to the people present, most of them slightly flustered over replying to their own names for the first time. But on "Journalists' Row" in the rear of the Council chamber, where this old pro and a few other wraiths from the past were congregated, the omission of the name was of considerable significance.

Age of Giants

"The age of giants is past," one wraith remarked somewhat melodramatically. The Congress got off to the anticlimactic start that is typical of almost any newly-organized group. Chairman Tom Wall, after opening the meeting with the customary prayer, retired immediately to a special session of the NFCCS Nominations Committee. Vice Chairman Joe Tate took the chair temporarily.

Tate's appearance in the chair recalled a less mist-shrouded, but nonetheless historic day, when the Quietly Efficient Tom Hoffman received the gavel from Murphy's hands after a contest with Fred Wiele, who had served as Council Treasurer.

Unlike Tate, or Hoffman himself, both of whom had to fight for their positions, that year DeLisa as junior resident Arts representative had been named Council Vice-Chairman by acclamation.

Significant Success

The legislative successes he had enjoyed as a sophomore were repeated during his junior year. There is no need to rehash Student Congress meeting minutes as a paen to DeLisa. Suffice it to say that his accomplishments were formidable; most notable however, was his single major defeat.

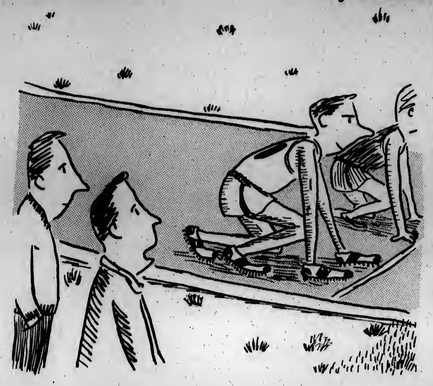
Toward the end of the academic year, the Vice Chairman presented a new concept of student government in the form of a Constitution which had as its essence the streamlining of Student Council by eliminating organizational representation—half votes.

DeLisa's proposal succeeded in attaining the approval of a majority of the Council membership, but failed to get the necessary two-thirds vote needed to pass a Constitution. He allowed the plan to drop, vowing to "try again next year."

At election time last year, DeLisa topped his political success of the previous year as he was accorded the Chairmanship of the Council and Presidency of the student body by acclamation.

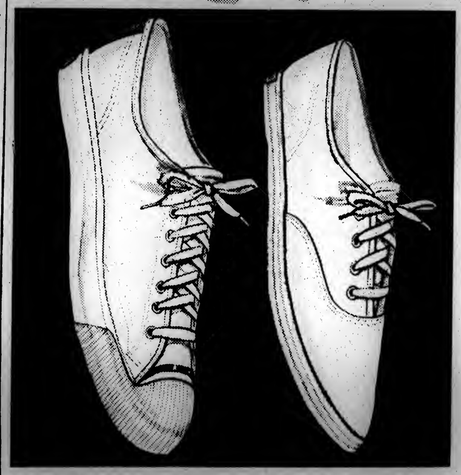
Super-Slate

With him into office went a "super-slate." Former sophomore class President Tom Wall was acclaimed Vice Chairman. Bob Benson, junior day-hop C&F representative was unanimously elected Secretary. Jim Hooker, former Secretary of the Council, won the Treasurer's post after a contest with his fellow C&F'er Dick Wilder.



A list of the Council's accomplishments this year would only be superfluous documentnation. It has been this newspaper's contribution to the cause to report Council news as it has happened, in the expectation that the extent of the Student Council's contribution to Villanova would be understood and appreciated.

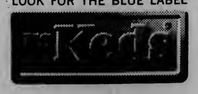
But the news is always about specific projects and the individuals who are behind them. The constribution of the Council as an entity, and especially the contribution of the Council's leader, are often overlooked. It is to be hoped that this small tribute upon the successful conclusion of one man's most successful achievement will help correct this oversight.



Tempus Fugit

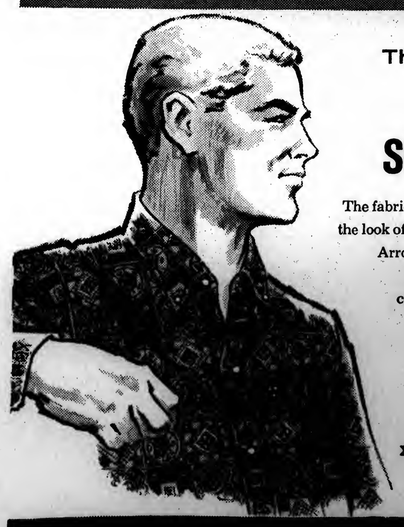
So student government will go marching on. Many another Council Secretary will call many another Council roll, and after a year and another year others along "Journalists' Row" will not find it strange that Bob DeLisa answers no roll call. But some of us, wraiths in the mist-enshrouded past, will remember: Bob DeLisa as an average student, but as a personage extraordinaire; as politico and statesman; as "Crown Prince" and "Leader of us all"; as always ready with a quick joke or compassionate assistance. In short, Bob DeLisa as a friend.

RIVER STYX by JONIK



Other shoes may look like Keds, but only U. S. Keds® can give you "that great feeling." Because Keds have a patented shockproofed arch cushion and cushioned inner sole. And because Keds are built over tested, scientific lasts, to fit all feet perfectly, even narrow ones. Keds are right for class, gym, tennis court or dorm. Machine-washable (and they even look good clean). His: Keds "Court King." Hers: Keds "Champion." Get your U. S. Keds at good shoe or department stores.

LOOK FOR THE BLUE LABEL*



US RUBBER

*both U. S. Keds and the blue label are registered trademarks of

United States Rubber

ROCKEFELLER CENTER, NEW YORK 20, NEW YORK

The traditional look in

ARROW SPORT SHIRTS

The fabric, the fashion, the feeling . . . all lend the look of classic authenticity to these favored Arrow sport shirts. Distinctively printed on broadcloth in handsome, muted colorings . . . styled with button-down collar and back pleat.

Tailored in long sleeves $5.00
and short sleeves $4.00

ARROW®

From the "Cum Laude Collection"

Featniks Force Gramps Out

by Pete Nolan

A few years back the art museums were a place to go if you wanted a little peace and quiet, and wanted to indulge your taste in a little of the "finer things." It was also a good place for little kids to roam or even play a game of chase. Sometimes you could find that old grandfather from down the street browsing there. He used to get all dressed up and go down there to stand around. Some days he never even looked at the pictures, but would just stand in the doorway and tip his hat to the old ladies who strolled in and out.

He probably didn't know much about art, but still there was an air about him. For when he did take his stroll through the galleries he would study the paintings with all the seriousness of a connoisseur. Perhaps he did enjoy the works he saw, and he did look as if he was enjoying it, even though he couldn't read the inscriptions underneath. To speak with him was another thing. Some of our brighter boys would call him a clod and wasting his time in a museum of art. When you asked him what painting he liked best he couldn't tell you, but at any rate he looked the part with a flower in his lapel and a cane on his arm.

More Action Now

No matter, the museum was a peaceful place in those days. Sometimes the school would drop a busload off there for the afternoon and the walls would echo for a few short hours, but other than that there was little action to be found. The upkeep wasn't very impressive, but some old political stalwarts kept the place in a state that was acceptable to those few who ventured there.

The art museum has changed quite a bit since we've grown up. Our generation proves to be one of intellectuals, appreciators, and featniks. Here in the art museum, they roam en masse, seeking to satisfy their "way out" cravings. They knock you down with their enthusiasm, they fill you up with their zeal.

A crowd of them hover around a particular work. Wow! Crazy! Dad, that says somethin'! A masterpiece! You have to fight your way through the crowd to see it. There isn't much to see. It's very small. A white object carved out of ivory in the shape of an egg with a little nodule protruding from the top. The name of this masterpiece is "Autumn in New York." Only a fool would say he didn't understand.

"Terrific," these young geniuses' exclaimed. Some of them are bearded and still others are dressed as witches it would seem. They wander on to other masterpieces, and the old grandfather has long resigned himself to the park bench.

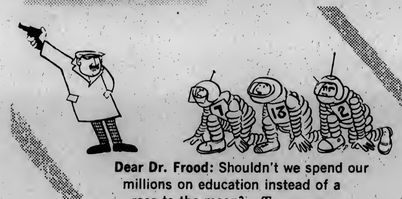
Reward For Honesty: Humble Peace Of Mind

What would you say if someone told you he had found the answer to everything you were looking for? Maybe you would tell him that you really aren't looking for anything in the first place. Or maybe you would tell him that you have everything you need. Or maybe you don't even know what you're looking for! Ultimately though, you'd say, I'm looking for happiness. No matter where it may be. I'm going to take the shortest and straightest road to happiness wherever it may be.

And then suppose the same fellow asked you further that since you are looking for happiness ultimately, what are you doing about it? Do you know where to find it? Yes, we know that among the Father's many mansions in heaven is where you'll find perfect happiness. But how about right now? Where will you find the greatest measure of happiness on earth? Maybe you would tell this inquisitive friend that your happiness is found in companionship, in playing ball, in dating, in parties. Or maybe in studies, or teaching, or delivering mail. You find happiness in so many ways. Or you may only think you have found it. There is one factor that is wrapped up in every source of happiness. It is God's will. If God wills that you marry that wonderful girl you are dating, then you would find your happiness in marriage. If God wants you to sell insurance, you will find more happiness in doing that than doing anything else. And so it goes.

What is God asking of you? This is one question for which there will be no crib notes nor bluffed answers. Whatever the answer, it will involve sacrifice. But if you think that God's will for you is the sacrifice of the priesthood or the religious life, then He is demanding of you a sacrifice that He is not demanding of most men. Or rather, perhaps He does ask many men, but not many respond, for many are called but few are chosen.

Is it because of the sacrifice that only few respond? Do you think that any man who answers this call found this sacrifice easy? No, it isn't easy. Nor will you find it easy. Sacrifice is always difficult. But oddly enough, it is sacrifice that is eventually the source of your greatest happiness. You will find it so everywhere. The greater the love, the greater the sacrifice, the greater the happiness. This is really what you are looking for, isn't it? Perhaps it isn't clear in your thoughts but it is there somewhere. As a priest, as an Augustinian priest, you must forego the pleasures of a family of your own; you will live in poverty, dependent upon another for your daily bread; you will not be able to have your own way in everything you do. And you, in your particular circumstances, have something special to give to God; something which no one else can give.



So it comes down to this. "What does God want me to do?" If you answer this question sincerely you will have found great peace of mind and besides, the answer to what you are looking for. Don't fret if you think the sacrifice beyond your strength. God sometimes asks us to do hard things, but never the impossible. If He has asked you, you can do it. "Now, therefore, if you will obey my voice indeed, . . . then you shall be unto Me, above all people, my special treasure: . . ." (Exodus 19:5.)

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Don't let exams upset you. After all, there are worse things—distemper, hunger, insatiable thirst.

Dear Dr. Frood: Shouldn't we spend our millions on education instead of a race to the moon? Taxpayer

DEAR TAXPAYER: And let the Communists get all that cheese?

Dear Dr. Frood: What would you say about a rich father who makes his boy exist on a measly $150 a week allowance? Angered

DEAR ANGERED: I would say, "There goes a man I'd like to call Dad."

Dear Dr. Frood: How can I keep from bawling like a baby when they hand me my diploma? Emotional

DEAR EMOTIONAL: Simply concentrate on twirling your mortarboard tassel in circles above your head, and pretend you are a helicopter.

Dear Dr. Frood: A fellow on our campus keeps saying, "Bully," "Pip-pip," "Ear, 'ear," "Sticky wicket," and "Ripping!" What do these things mean? Puzzled

DEAR PUZZLED: It's best just to ignore these beatniks.

Dear Dr. Frood: What's the best way to open a pack of Luckies: Rip off the whole top, or tear along one side of the blue sticker? Freshman

DEAR FRESHMAN: Rip? Tear? Why, open a pack of Luckies as you would like to be opened yourself.

FROOD REVEALS SECRET: After exhaustive study and research, Dr. Frood claims to have discovered the reason why college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. His solution is that the word "Collegiates" contains precisely the same number of letters as Lucky Strike—a claim no other leading cigarette can make!

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

©A. T. Co.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name"

Are You Looking for Work?

If I can show you how to earn $1500-2000 this summer, would you be interested? Must have car and pleasant personality. Call Brian, Ch 8-0255, Cory Corp.

Poet Explains His Views To Writer After Poetry Lecture

by Gus Susnjara

Last Thursday evening in the Field House, John Crowe Ransom, noted American author and poet, presented a lecture and reading of his literary work. The event marked the final Student Council forum of the 1960-1961 school year.

Mr. Ransom, a slightly built gray-haired septuagenarian, relaxed in a Treadway Inn lounge chair during a VILLANOVAN-WWVU interview.

Asked about his involvement in the agrarian movement with Allen Tate and Robert Penn Warren, the poet called it "more of a sporting gesture than anything else." The farmers were being pressured to lease their traditional bucolic setting for more lucrative urban industry, and "the aesthetic side of country life is losing recognition." Mr. Ransom said that not much really came of the movement, but "I kept it up in order not to disillusion the others, and I guess they did the same for me." The whole purpose of the movement was to make the American people realize "that man could not live properly without a lot to do with nature." The poet has always felt close to the earth, and asserts his love of flowers and gardening with a sense of youthful pride.

Mr. Ransom was schooled in the classics. As a Rhodes scholar at Oxford he studied philosophy, Greek, and Latin, but on returning to America, "found that English was much more immediate; it was alive." This led to a teaching career which culminated at Kenyon College where he founded the Kenyon Review, a literary periodical for which he served as editor until his resignation in 1958. When asked about his present relationship with the magazine, he said he had done it without interference and therefore "I don't meddle with my successors." Presently Mr. Ransom is devoting most of his attention to prose writings but he will probably return to poetry in the near future.

At the presentation Mr. Ransom prefaced his reading with some remarks on the nature of poetry. Most of his critical works especially the new CRITICISM has been devoted to this subject.

"The three humanities are morality, religion, and the arts," Mr. Ransom eludicated, "and they represent what is distinct in us alone, our humaness." In cultural civilization, "when we run out of things to do we need the arts; they grant a sort of lease on life which had been embodied in our social order." He further considered the moral force of nature and concluded that "the artist improves on these effects."

Mr. Ransom began his readings with two poems on the domestic order, "Miriam Paswell", and "Of Margaret". Though these are not magnificent in tone the poet feels they are among the most significant that he has written. These were followed by elegaic poems on death which Mr. Ransom considers the crucial theme of poery. Although death must be faced as inevitable there should be a tribute of bereavement and then a return to things with a realization that "we're the better for it." Among the elegies read were "Dead Boy" and the popular anthology piece "Bells For John Whiteside's Daughter".

The poet described his "Piazza Piece" as dealing with a bit of miraculism." The old "gentleman in a dustcoat" and the young girl meet, part, and, though nothing changes, experience an essential facet of life. "Survey of Literature", a "nonsense poem", was thoroughly enjoyed by his audience. The poem begins:

In all the good Greek of Plato
I lack my roast beef and potato.

This was followed by "The Equilibrists", and "Judith" concluded the reading.

Frank Murphy Named New LYNX Editor

The campus literary production, hte LYNX, after its recent successful issue of the spring edition, will be guided next year by its first undergraduate in many years.

Sophomore Arts major, Frank Murphy, is now responsible for the duties and obligations of

Editor Murphy

Editor-in-Chief, according to 1960-61 co-editors, Vince Kirk and Mike Wesley. Murphy had previously been the LYNX's Layout Editor, succeeding Bill Speers, who resigned the position at mid-semester. Other returning editors are Joe Ruggiero, this year's Art Editor and Gary Evans, former Poetry Editor. At the moment, however, the exact status of next year's staff has not been determined.

In speaking of his last issue as a senior, Wesley pointed out, "Comments heard in some circles, tell us that this final Lynx was the best in Villanova history."

Printers' Strike Delays 1961 Belle Air Delivery

The Editor of the 1962 Belle Air, Jan Garigliano, announced that due to the recent printer's strike there will be an unavoidable delay for an indefinite period of time in the delivery of the 1961 Belle Air.

The following letter was received by Michael Spahn, the 1961 Editor of the Belle Air, from Cooke Publishing Company explaining the delay in the latest edition:

Jan Garigliano

"We regret to inform you that the Amalgamated Lithographers of America, Local 14, has called a strike on May 4th. This action has curtailed offset printing including, of course, yearbooks. Should the strike continue yearbook deliveries will be seriously jeopardized.

"Although every effort is being made by the 29 involved to settle the issues, as you know in matters of this kind it is impossible to predict the time when the settlement will be reached."

Editor Garigliano continued that "In the event delivery is made after graduation the seniors will receive their yearbooks through the mail. The yearbooks will be distributed to the undergraduates upon their return in September."

Garigliano has announced the staff for the 1962 book. Harry Podall has been named associate editor. He is a graduate of Bishop Kendrick High School in Norristown. He is a Pre-Law major.

The remainder of the staff has been announced as: Pat Massi, sports editor; Robert D'Ambrosio, University editor; Joseph Ruggerio, activities editor; Gene Cassidy and Pat Quinn, divisions editors; Walt Fetterer, underclass editor; Tom Luebking, graduate dramatic editor; Marian Wagner, nursing editor; and Pat Blake, typing editor.

It's what's up front that counts

Up front is FILTER-BLEND and only Winston has it! Rich, golden tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for full flavor in filter smoking.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should!

PORTRETTE

Spahn Heads Belle Air

Hailing from LaSalle in Cambria Heights, New York, the 1961 editor of the Belle Air yearbook, Michael Spahn, is a senior political science major. An active campus organizer, Mike has been a member of IRS, WWWU, and a warden of the Father Ludwig Council of the Knights of Columbus. Before assuming the overall responsibility for the yearbook, Mike was Belle Air sports editor. In addition to these activities, Mike is a member of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps of Villanova, where he was a platoon leader for the past year.

Spahn

As to a future career, the hardworking Spahn is indecisive. "I'm considering either a naval career or law school."

On being queried concerning the yearbook, Mike expostulated, "It's the second largest book in Villanova's history. The only book larger was the centennial book in 1942. Unfortunately, due to a printers' strike, the book will be delayed, but will be delivered sometime in the near future, in God we trust."

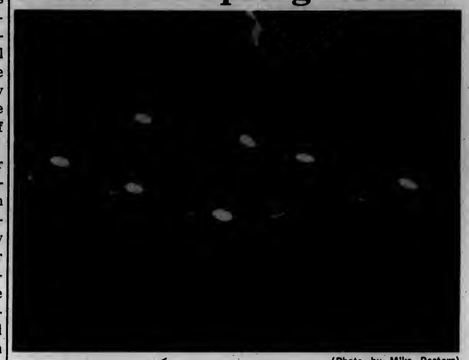
Original Motivation

An interesting aspect of Mike's career at Villanova was his original decision to come here. It was influenced by two factors.

"First I drew a circle of radius two hundred miles on a map, with my home as the center. I decided that I wanted to go to a Catholic University within the circle. Villanova was on the circle. Then I saw Ron Delany win the Wanamaker mile in the Millrose Games."

Thus Delany's win was a double asset to Villanova. It brought both a track trophy and Mike Spahn to Villanova.

VISA Prexy Is Elected To High NFCCS Post



John Simone, Junior Arts major, was recently elected President of the Philadelphia Regional Council of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. Simone currently holds the office of Alternate Delegate and the Presidency of VISA at Villanova.

The former Co-Administrator of the region's College and University Relief Administration will be the first Regional President to take office under a new constitution which "provides for an enlarged Executive Committee, greater flexibility, and more effective long-range programming," according to Regional Vice-President, Gene Felch. In addition, Simone will be one of the two members from the ten Philadelphia area schools to serve on the National Council.

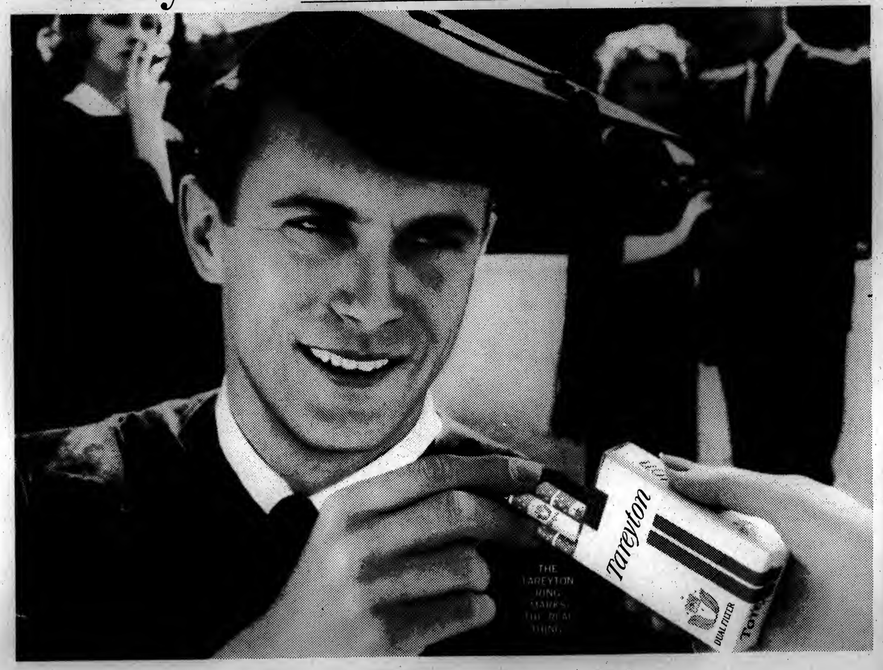
Congress

Simone, while projecting his intentions for next year, stressed that he will pursue policies which will "strengthen the region by originating stronger and more intellectually stimulating programs on the campus level."

Parade, Awards Highlight NROTC's Spring Review

(Photo by Mike Pastore)

The NROTC Varsity Drill team performs one of its intricate maneuvers during the Spring review held May 16. The drill team was one of the most successful in the country during the past year, winning many awards and trophies for its performances.



Marred by slightly wet but later clearing weather, the annual Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Spring Review was reviewed by the Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, and Rear Admiral Charles H. Lyman, III, USN.

Among the events constituting the review were a performance by the battalion drill teams, a manual of arms by the entire battalion and presentation of awards to outstanding midshipmen of the unit.

Outstanding among the recipients of the awards was Midn 1/c Thomas Dillon, battalion commander of the unit. Mr. Dillon received The Commandant Fourth Naval District's award, the Naval Institute award, the Naval Reserve Officers School award, and the Society of American Military Engineers award.

After the review, open house was held in Commodore John Barry Hall. A demonstration of naval weapons and anti-submarine warfare in operation was held while the building was open for public inspection. An informal reception for the distinguished guests was held after the proceedings.

Tareyton delivers the flavor...

Dual Filter does it!

Here's one filter cigarette that's really different!

The difference is this: Tareyton's Dual Filter gives you a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL, definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth. It works together with a pure white outer filter—to balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton delivers—and you enjoy—the best taste of the best tobaccos.

DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Doctor's Degree To Be Conferred on Gov., Villanova's President

Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of Villanova University, will be awarded an

Fr. Klekotka

Honorary Doctor's Degree by LaSalle College during its Commencement exercises on June 6th.

In addition to Father Klekotka, LaSalle will honor Pennsylvania's Governor David L. Lawrence; Very Rev. C. Albert Koob, Principal of Bishop Neumann High School; and Dr. Francis J. McGeary, prominent Philadelphia physician.

Father Klekotka received an Honorary Doctor of Science Degree from Alliance College last Spring.

Poet Explains His Views To Writer After Poetry Lecture

by Gus Susnjara

Last Thursday evening in the Field House, John Crowe Ransom, noted American author and poet, presented a lecture and reading of his literary work. The event marked the final Student Council forum of the 1960-1961 school year.

Mr. Ransom, a slightly built gray-haired septuagenarian, relaxed in a Treadway Inn lounge chair during a VILLANOVAN-WWVU interview.

Asked about his involvement in the agrarian movement with Allen Tate and Robert Penn Warren, the poet called it "more of a sporting gesture than anything else." The farmers were being pressured to lease their traditional bucolic setting for more lucrative urban industry, and "the aesthetic side of country life is losing recognition." Mr. Ransom said that not much really came of the movement, but "I kept it up in order not to disillusion the others, and I guess they did the same for me." The whole purpose of the movement was to make the American people realize "that man could not live properly without a lot to do with nature." The poet has always felt close to the earth, and asserts his love of flowers and gardening with a sense of youthful pride.

Mr. Ransom was schooled in the classics. As a Rhodes scholar at Oxford he studied philosophy, Greek, and Latin, but on returning to America, "found that English was much more immediate; it was alive." This led to a teaching career which culminated at Kenyon College where he founded the Kenyon Review, a literary periodical for which he served as editor until his resignation in 1958. When asked about his present relationship with the magazine, he said he had done it without interference and therefore "I don't meddle with my successors." Presently Mr. Ransom is devoting most of his attention to prose writings but he will probably return to poetry in the near future.

At the presentation Mr. Ransom prefaced his reading with some remarks on the nature of poetry. Most of his critical works especially the new CRITICISM has been devoted to this subject.

"The three humanities are morality, religion, and the arts," Mr. Ransom eludicated, "and they represent what is distinct in us alone, our humaness." In cultural civilization, "when we run out of things to do we need the arts; they grant a sort of lease on life which had been embodied in our social order." He further considered the moral force of nature and concluded that "the artist improves on these effects."

Mr. Ransom began his readings with two poems on the domestic order, "Miriam Paswell", and "Of Margaret". Though these are not magnificent in tone the poet feels they are among the most significant that he has written. These were followed by elegaic poems on death which Mr. Ransom considers the crucial theme of poery. Although death must be faced as inevitable there should be a tribute of bereavement and then a return to things with a realization that "we're the better for it." Among the elegies read were "Dead Boy" and the popular anthology piece "Bells For John Whiteside's Daughter".

The poet described his "Piazza Piece" as dealing with a bit of miraculism." The old "gentleman in a dustcoat" and the young girl meet, part, and, though nothing changes, experience an essential facet of life. "Survey of Literature", a "nonsense poem", was thoroughly enjoyed by his audience. The poem begins:

In all the good Greek of Plato
I lack my roast beef and potato.

This was followed by "The Equilibrists", and "Judith" concluded the reading.

Frank Murphy Named New LYNX Editor

The campus literary production, hte LYNX, after its recent successful issue of the spring edition, will be guided next year by its first undergraduate in many years.

Sophomore Arts major, Frank Murphy, is now responsible for the duties and obligations of

Editor Murphy

Editor-in-Chief, according to 1960-61 co-editors, Vince Kirk and Mike Wesley. Murphy had previously been the LYNX's Layout Editor, succeeding Bill Speers, who resigned the position at mid-semester. Other returning editors are Joe Ruggiero, this year's Art Editor and Gary Evans, former Poetry Editor. At the moment, however, the exact status of next year's staff has not been determined.

In speaking of his last issue as a senior, Wesley pointed out, "Comments heard in some circles, tell us that this final Lynx was the best in Villanova history."

Printers' Strike Delays 1961 Belle Air Delivery

The Editor of the 1962 Belle Air, Jan Garigliano, announced that due to the recent printer's strike there will be an unavoidable delay for an indefinite period of time in the delivery of the 1961 Belle Air.

The following letter was received by Michael Spahn, the 1961 Editor of the Belle Air, from Cooke Publishing Company explaining the delay in the latest edition:

Jan Garigliano

"We regret to inform you that the Amalgamated Lithographers of America, Local 14, has called a strike on May 4th. This action has curtailed offset printing including, of course, yearbooks. Should the strike continue yearbook deliveries will be seriously jeopardized.

"Although every effort is being made by the 29 involved to settle the issues, as you know in matters of this kind it is impossible to predict the time when the settlement will be reached."

Editor Garigliano continued that "In the event delivery is made after graduation the seniors will receive their yearbooks through the mail. The yearbooks will be distributed to the undergraduates upon their return in September."

Garigliano has announced the staff for the 1962 book. Harry Podall has been named associate editor. He is a graduate of Bishop Kendrick High School in Norristown. He is a Pre-Law major.

The remainder of the staff has been announced as: Pat Massi, sports editor; Robert D'Ambrosio, University editor; Joseph Ruggerio, activities editor; Gene Cassidy and Pat Quinn, divisions editors; Walt Fetterer, underclass editor; Tom Luebking, graduate dramatic editor; Marian Wagner, nursing editor; and Pat Blake, typing editor.

It's what's up front that counts

Up front is FILTER-BLEND and only Winston has it! Rich, golden tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for full flavor in filter smoking.

WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should!

PORTRETTE

Spahn Heads Belle Air

Hailing from LaSalle in Cambria Heights, New York, the 1961 editor of the Belle Air yearbook, Michael Spahn, is a senior political science major. An active campus organizer, Mike has been a member of IRS, WWWU, and a warden of the Father Ludwig Council of the Knights of Columbus. Before assuming the overall responsibility for the yearbook, Mike was Belle Air sports editor. In addition to these activities, Mike is a member of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps of Villanova, where he was a platoon leader for the past year.

Spahn

As to a future career, the hardworking Spahn is indecisive. "I'm considering either a naval career or law school."

On being queried concerning the yearbook, Mike expostulated, "It's the second largest book in Villanova's history. The only book larger was the centennial book in 1942. Unfortunately, due to a printers' strike, the book will be delayed, but will be delivered sometime in the near future, in God we trust."

Original Motivation

An interesting aspect of Mike's career at Villanova was his original decision to come here. It was influenced by two factors.

"First I drew a circle of radius two hundred miles on a map, with my home as the center. I decided that I wanted to go to a Catholic University within the circle. Villanova was on the circle. Then I saw Ron Delany win the Wanamaker mile in the Millrose Games."

Thus Delany's win was a double asset to Villanova. It brought both a track trophy and Mike Spahn to Villanova.

VISA Prexy Is Elected To High NFCCS Post

John Simone, Junior Arts major, was recently elected President of the Philadelphia Regional Council of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. Simone currently holds the office of Alternate Delegate and the Presidency of VISA at Villanova.

The former Co-Administrator of the region's College and University Relief Administration will be the first Regional President to take office under a new constitution which "provides for an enlarged Executive Committee, greater flexibility, and more effective long-range programming," according to Regional Vice-President, Gene Felch. In addition, Simone will be one of the two members from the ten Philadelphia area schools to serve on the National Council.

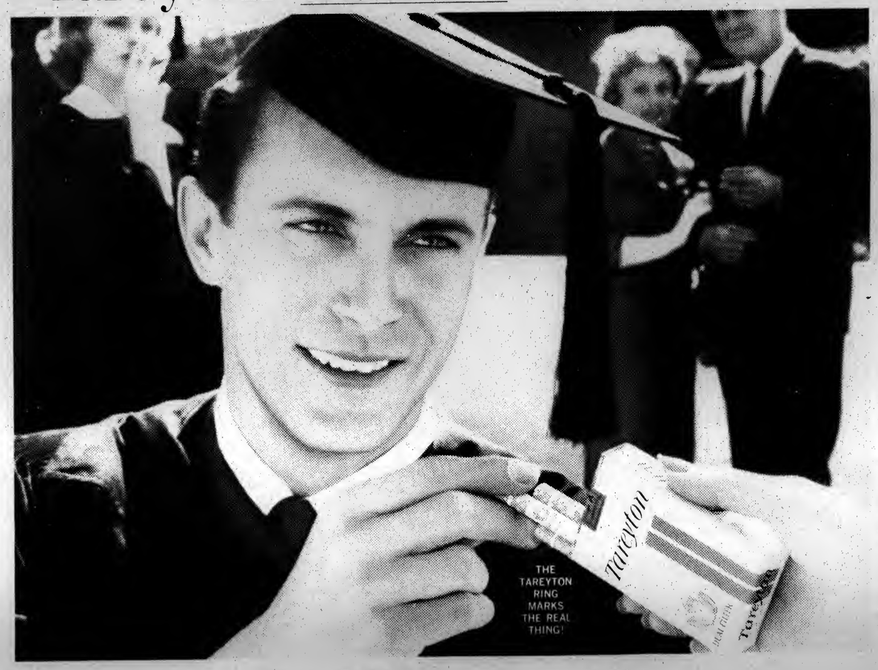
Congress

Simone, while projecting his intentions for next year, stressed that he will pursue policies which will "strengthen the region by originating stronger and more intellectually stimulating programs on the campus level."

Parade, Awards Highlight NROTC's Spring Review

(Photo by Mike Pastore)

The NROTC Varsity Drill team performs one of its intricate maneuvers during the Spring review held May 16. The drill team was one of the most successful in the country during the past year, winning many awards and trophies for its performances.



Marred by slightly wet but later clearing weather, the annual Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Spring Review was reviewed by the Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, and Rear Admiral Charles H. Lyman, III, USN.

Among the events constituting the review were a performance by the battalion drill teams, a manual of arms by the entire battalion and presentation of awards to outstanding midshipmen of the unit.

Outstanding among the recipients of the awards was Midn 1/c Thomas Dillon, battalion commander of the unit. Mr. Dillon received The Commandant Fourth Naval District's award, the Naval Institute award, the Naval Reserve Officers School award, and the Society of American Military Engineers award.

After the review, open house was held in Commodore John Barry Hall. A demonstration of naval weapons and anti-submarine warfare in operation was held while the building was open for public inspection. An informal reception for the distinguished guests was held after the proceedings.

Tareyton delivers the flavor...

Dual Filter does it!

Here's one filter cigarette that's really different!

The difference is this: Tareyton's Dual Filter gives you a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL, definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth. It works together with a pure white outer filter—to balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton delivers—and you enjoy—the best taste of the best tobaccos.

DUAL FILTER Tareyton

Doctor's Degree To Be Conferred on Gov., Villanova's President

Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, President of Villanova University, will be awarded an

Fr. Klekotka

Honorary Doctor's Degree by LaSalle College during its Commencement exercises on June 6th.

In addition to Father Klekotka, LaSalle will honor Pennsylvania's Governor David L. Lawrence; Very Rev. C. Albert Koob, Principal of Bishop Neumann High School; and Dr. Francis J. McGeary, prominent Philadelphia physician.

Father Klekotka received an Honorary Doctor of Science Degree from Alliance College last Spring.

Ten Nostalgic Memories Of VU Sports Will Live On

by Bud Simmonds

In summing up one person's observations of the past four years of Villanova sports, this writer is reluctant to list numerous happenings in a lengthy impersonal capsule form. I'll leave that job to the yearbook and the Junior Week paper. The Villanova sports scene is made up of too many ingredients to properly and creditably itemize each one in a column of this size. Rather than do this I feel it better to mention, incidents, successes, or failures which have contributed much to this man's recollection of four years at Villanova.

For the sake of space I will go along with most sport rankings and list the top ten recollections of Wildcat athletes during my undergraduate days, in chronological order.

Jim Huggard—the gutty mainspring of the Villanova basketball team for the past three years. Though criticized by both Villanova foes and fans, the little guy had few equals as either a player or competitor to this writer.

The 1958 Army game—Frank Reagan's determined gridders, even in losing, reached the highest point of Villanova football in the past four years. The Cats would have shut out the undefeated Cadets if a guy named Pete Dawkins hadn't been there.

Ron Delaney—Villanova's favorite Irish actor. Ron didn't like to think of records but only winning and at this he was best. The sight of this jaunty Olympian jogging barefoot around Villanova's grounds while loudly singing Irish ditties stir freshman memories.

Four Losses

The St. Joe's rivalry—with its four years of losses, each one more unbelievably than before. Despite this seeming inevitability of defeat, no Big Five fan could ask for a more exciting contest anywhere in the land.

Jim Elliot—A fine gentleman and great coach who through his teams and sportsmanship has made every Villanova student a little prouder of the fact that he went to Villanova University.

Who's Dankel

The 1959 West Chester game—the Teachers taught an overconfident Wildcat football team not to underestimate Dick Dunkel in a 13-7 lesson. This defeat holds a high position on the all-time let-down list.

Gene O'Pella—The mountain from Manayunk played end so well that you didn't realize how really great he was until he was gone. "Gino" to this writer was the enbodiment of the college football player.

Robbery

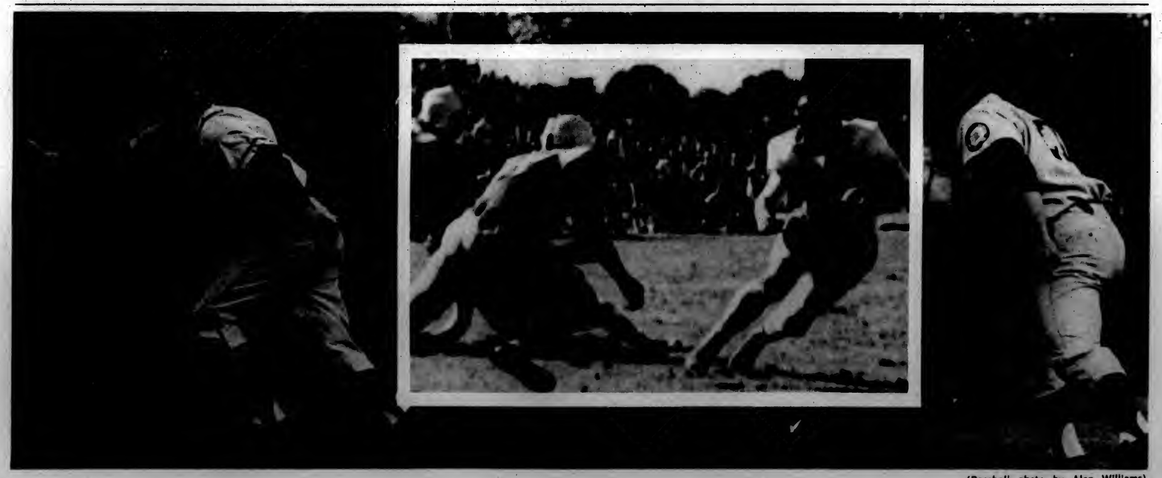
The 1958 West Virginia fiasco—Referee Dan Smeddy showed that players aren't the only ones who choke up. This little man literally gave the No. 1 Mountaineers last minute possession (and eventually the ball game) on a fluke call. This game marked this writer's first contact with the unpredictability of Villanova sports.

The Squire

Al Severance—the most colorful and controversial individual at Villanova during this or any other four year period. No matter what, the blame for every Wildcat basketball loss usually fell on his shoulders. A legend in his own time despite catcalls of critics, "the Squire's" laquaciousness was topped only by his loyalty to Villanova for 37 years.

The Mile Relay Championship of the Penn Relays—Regardless of other laurels gained in NCAA, IC4A, AAU meets, the main gauge of success for every track season seems to be this race. It is now a tradition that the perennial underdogs, Villanova, finish the perennial winners.

I realize that in limiting my list to ten, I have passed over many outstanding athletes and events. However, remember this is nostalgia of a strictly personal nature. Through four years of observation, dejections, arguments, and elation, the only conclusions this writer has reached, as so many before him have, is that "anything can happen to Villanova and usually does."



They said it couldn't be done. They said the Cats couldn't do it. But in 1959 a youthful (14 sophs and a senior) brash Cat five stormed into the NIT. Here smooth Jim Kenny glides in for a layup in the losing Garden effort against St. John's.

(Budd Photo by Ty Wong)

In the past four years the most widely heralded pair of thinclads under the tutelage of Jumbo Jim Elliott and Jim Tuppeny have been Ron Delany and Frank Budd. Here the flying Celt breasts the tape after winning his final race as a Villanovan, the 1958 IC4A mile, while the Sheehan Olympian ties the world record in the century (9.3) during a meet last May 6. Both races were run in Goodreau Stadium.

(Baseball photo by Alan Williams)

Everybody knew—except Dick Dunkel—that the Rams were there just so the Cats could have somebody to butt heads (with) . . . Anyhow, Billy Paczkoskie finds one of the few holes in the West Chester defense and rambles to a four yard gain Flanking the gridders are a Brandeis first baseman, on the right, who holds his Cat counterpart, Richie Richman, to a safe lead at first. Artie Mahan's nine won this tilt and 14 others en route to what Mahan hopes will be another NCAA bid.

Intramural Fields Busy

(Photo by Francis X. Matunis)

Another minor league Babe Ruth eyes the spheroid as a somewhat less than enthusiastic catcher waits for the strike.

Main Liners Scuttle Navy In Warm-up to IC4A Meet

by Ed Lohr

Villanova won the track events and Navy the field events, but the Wildcats led by Olympian Frank Budd sank the Middies 72½ to 58½ in an important Eastern duel meet at Thompson Field in Annapolis on Saturday.

Budd continued his torrid sprint streak, setting stadium records with a 9.4 in the 100 and a 20.5 in the 220 while leading the 'Cats to victory in eight of nine running events.

Kerr Lone Field Victor

Sophomore Doug Kerr broke his one week old school javelin record with a heave of 212 feet as he represented the lone Villanova victory in the field.

A big double win was racked up by Jon Dante of Inferno fame who ran a career best of 1:53.5 in the half mile twenty minutes after coming from behind to win the mile in 4:13.4.

Hammock Surprises

Sophomore Charlie Hammock won the high hurdles in a record 14.1. It was the first varsity win for the fast-improving Hammock. Bobby Raemore. "running his race" was clocked in 47.8 in the 440 and later anchored the mile relay to add two victories for Villanova.

In the two mile Pat "Goose" Traynor toyed with his opposition and won going away and Otie Drayton racked up two seconds as he pushed Budd in the 100 and 220.

IC4A Bound

This Saturday Villanova sets out to defend its Outdoor IC4A Crown and that according to Coach Jumbo Elliot is why the Cats took it easy (?) against Navy.

With the exception of Kerr and maybe Billy Joe, who took second in the shot with 54 feet 3 inches, Villanova's field men took it a little too easy as Navy picked up sweeps in the discus and broad jump and took best two out of three in the shot, javelin, pole vault, and high jump.

'Cat Golfers Wrap Up Year With 12-1 Slate

Exhibiting their destructive power the Villanova golf team moved into high gear last week and finished their highly successful season in very impressive fashion. The 'Cats steamrolled over Seton Hall and Delaware by identical scores of 6-0.

In the Seton Hall match they played last Tuesday the Villanova men were burning up the fairway as they put the Pirates in their place. Dave Doyle, the Villanova captain and lone senior on the team, shot with a booming 72. Charles Barr was right there too with a splendid effort for a 73. The 'Cats had the match won by the twelfth hole and when the fifteenth came near the sweep was in the bag.

Against Delaware on Thursday the match turned into a walk in the afternoon sun. The Blue Hens just didn't have the guns or, for that matter, the golfers to compete with the home lads.

Kevin Boyle won 4 and 3, Johnny Driscoll 9 and 7, Joe Bilder 7 and 6, Charlie Barr 9 and 8, and Tommy Cooke, 8 and 7. For those unacquainted with the scoring of a golf match, the above scores mean that one player is so many holes up on his opponent with less than that remaining. Dave Doyle was pressed hard for his triumph and pulled it out only on the last hole to win by one. Doyle and Kevin Boyle led the Cats with 76's.

This triumph was the 12th in 13 attempts for the Cats who have now completed one of their most successful seasons in recent years. With the whole team returning except for Dave Doyle, things look bright. The Cats picked a successor to Boyle as captain in announcing Joe Bilder as their leader. Joe, who is perhaps the top player on the team, is a finance major from Havertown, Pa. He attended Monsignor Bonner High School.

IC4A Outlook

by Mike Donahue and Dan Grove

220-YARD DASH

Maybe it's shortsightedness here but Frank Budd, whose lightning start in comparable only to Carry Back's blinding finish, looks to be the world's fastest human. Perennial Bob Brown (PS) and Budd's teammate Otie Drayton, former mile relay "wolf" might extend him.

Best Bet: Budd.
Dark Horse: Drayton, who ran a 9.4.
Our Pick: Budd.

100-YARD DASH

Budd will duplicate Brown's 1960 double, although his win in the furlong will not be so easily effected. Drayton is stronger over the longer distance and you can't overlook the fact that Brown will be trying to retain at least a portion of his 1960 laurels.

Best Best: Budd again.
Dark Horse: A determined Brown.
Our Pick: Budd.

440-YARD RUN

Another 1960 champ stands a good chance of being dethroned. Olympian Jim Wedderburn will find it tough repeating against Jim Stack (Y), and ever-improving Bob Raemore. He'll find it nigh on to impossible to hold off Dick Edmunds (P), who ran an incredible 47.1 on Franklin Field's chewed cinders in the Heps.

Best Bet: Edmunds, who like to come from behind.
Dark Horse: Raemore.
Our Pick: Edmunds.

880-YARD RUN

Tom Carroll is the class half-miler in addition to being defending champ. Pete Brandeis, who defeated Carroll in the Heps will attempt to hold off the Yaley's kick. Other contenders are Frank Tomeo (F), Art Evans (M), and the 'Cats long Jon Dante.

Best Bet: Carroll, not so strong as last year, but tough to beat in the clutch.
Dark Horse: Tomeo, who's run 1:52.6.
Sentimental Favorite: Dante.
Our Pick: Brandeis.

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES

If Maryland makes the trip this year hirsute Bill Johnson looks like the man to beat. Villanova's shuttle relay champs (Leon Pras, Charlie Hammock, Dong Kerr, and Coffill) might garner as many as three places.

Best Bet: Johnson, if he doesn't have an exam conflict (as he did last year).
Dark Horse: Defending champ Pras who outchugged Johnson on the anchor leg at the Relays.
Real Dark Horse: Coffill.

HIGH JUMP

This is decathlon hopeful John Thomas' strongest event, he has gone 7-3½. Yale and Penn State have strong duos. The Cats' Hubie White will be hard put to duplicate his third place finish of last year.

Best Bet: Thomas.
Second Place: Campbell, Penn State.
Our Pick: Thomas.

BROAD JUMP

A plethora of plus 23 foot jumpers here. Navy has football halfback John Prichard in addition ot Hep winner Jim Thorell. St. John's will send Winston Cooper and Cal Glass down the blacktop in quest of the title won last year by Penn's Bob Reed. Manhattan's hopes are pinned on Bob O'Brien, indoor IC4A champ.

Best Bet: Cal Glass, who is long overdue.
Dark Horse: Thorell.
Our Pick: Prichard, finally out of Joe Bellino's shadow.

HAMMER THROW

Poor Jud Sage is the class flinger here. Harvard's massive three, Stan Doten, Ed Bailey, and Roger Wilson, will score heavily for the Crimson.

Best Bet: Sage.
Dark Horse: Doten, a weekly bridesmaid to Sage.
Our Pick: Sage.

MILE

The winner will come from the Ivy League where five men ran under 4:13 in the Heps. Dante (4:13.1) and/or Pat Traynor might garner points for Jumbo

Best Bet: Bobby Mack (Y), (4:08.6) on the hunch that Mark Mullin can't run a 4:07.1 again.
Dark Horse: Mullin, in case he can.
Our Pick: Mullin.

3000-METER STEEPLECHASE

Diminutive Bobby Lowe, Brown, 1960 champ, should bound home again. A man to watch will be Goose Traynor, who almost caught Lowe at the Relays. Other contenders are Jimmy Brown (NYU) and Jerry Norman, (PS).

Best Bet: Lowe to repeat.
Dark Horse: The Goose.
Our Pick: Lowe.

THREE MILE RUN

"Sprinter" Lowe will leave a tired Bobby Mack in arrears as evidenced by his Heptagonal performance in the two mile (9:05.8). 1960 indoor crowd pleaser Tom Laris will try to run like he was back in the Eighth Avenue hippodrome.

Best Bet: Lowe to double.
Dark Horse: Traynor.
Our Pick: Mack.

440-YARD HURDLES

Limber Bob Coffill whose muscles, unfortunately, "pull" like taffy, has the best form and the best time of all entrants. Keye Courtney in his maiden efforts in the New York Metropolitan meet May 13 ran a 53.5. Other obstaclers to watch are Steve Damashek, NYU, and Steve Moreland, Brown, 1960 champ.

Best Bet: Courtney ,solely off his 53.5.
Dark Horse: Coffill, if he's fit.
Our Pick: Moreland.

SHOT PUT

Indoor champ Billy Joe of Villanova looks good if only because of his plus 57 foot toss against Quantico. Close competition may force the winner to a new IC4A record. Navy's Dick Brown and Greg Mather; Penn's Bob Batdorf, who is slowly rounding into top form; and Jerry Donini of Villanova who has been obscured by Joe's great spring; all have an odds on chance.

Best Bet: Joe.
Dark Horse: Batdorf.
Our Pick: Brown.

POLE VAULT

Last year's three-way tie for first may be duplicated this year. Cornell's John Murray to be the most consistent of a host of good vaulters. Oakley Andrews of Yale and Charlie Mitchell of Princeton round out the Ivy League hopefuls. Charlie Barr of St. John's and Bob Vervick of Marquette (if he comes) are also definite threats.

Best Bet: Murray.
Dark Horse: Verbick.
Our Pick: Murray.

JAVELIN

Maryland's Nick Kovalikedes is back to defend his two year reign in the spear-chucking event. His Penn Relays performance was impressive, but he will face stiff competition from Connecticut's Red Cranshaw, Danny McEyre of LaSalle, and Villanova's Doug Kerr.

Best Bet: Kovalikedes.
Dark Horse: Cranshaw.
Our Pick: Kovalikedes.

HOP, STEP AND JUMP

Frustrated broad jumper Winston Cooper of St. John's should be the favorite here, but teammate Cal Glass or Villanova's Hubie White could take him. At least ten other contestants should be considered here. But this event is a hard one to call.

Best Bet: Cooper.
Dark Horse: Glass.
Our Pick: White.

MILE RELAY

This event has decided the winner in last two IC4A's. Barring mishaps or judges' decisions Villanova looks like the chalk team, IF Jumbo enters his best team. Princeton, NYU, St. John's, Fordham, and Manhattan are all contenders.

Best Bet: Villanova.
Dark Horse: NYU.
Our Pick: Villanova.

TEAM APPRAISAL

Navy will be vairy, vairy strong in field events. Yale's trump cards will be played in the middle distance events and in the high jump. Penn State, as usual, is an unknown quantity. Incredibly. it seems that the "denth" team this year is Villanova, thanks to added strength in the javelin, the shot put, and a possible nine points in the 120 hurdles.

The song of the hour at Mory's on Saturday night long about dusk (barring an appearance by John Woodruff) will not be Boola Boola but rather the Whiffenpoof Song.

(Photo by Alan Williams)

Team batting and pitching star, Phil Fidalgo, holds up on a low, outside toss during the West Chester game. The 'Cats rebounded from Navy to nip the Rams, 3-2, for their sixteenth victory.

Cats Big Five Champs But Crumble Under Navy Surge

by Joe McCarthy

The chances of receiving a berth in the regional NCAA tournament for the Wildcat baseball squad took a sudden jolt last Thursday at Annopolis. It still is possible, however, that Villanova will be extended an invitation.

Paced by its left-fielder of some football distinction, Joe Bellino, the midshipmen moved to their twentieth triumph in twenty-one games, 4-1, at the expense of the Villanova nine. Bellino was the major factor as he doubled in what proved to be the deciding tally.

Staff Ace

Saving his ace, Phil Fidalgo, for the contest, Coach Art Mahan went with his best, and until the eighth, it seemed as if Fidalgo would chalk up his second shutout of the season. Up to then, he had allowed a mere two scattered singles to the powerful Navy stickmen.

In the eighth behind 1-0, the Navy contingent reached to their bench for a pinch-hitter for pitcher Paul Ettinger. Demonstrating their bench strength, Bob Campbell singled between third-baseman Don Melega and shortstop Jack Lynch into left. The following batter sacrificed him to second. Fidalgo then retired Ed Foyle but surrendered another safety to second-baseman Ted Terwilliger which scored the tying run.

Bellino Doubles

Consecutive doubles to Bellino, Cybul, and Galloway scored the final three tallies of the day. Fidalgo had a 0-2 count on Bellino when he countered with a "waste" pitch to bring the call to 1-2. Falling away from the next pitch, Bellino accidentally popped the ball down the third base line over Don Melega's leaping stretch. The ball, bouncing off the tip of the glove landed on the chalked foul line for a fair ball. With two outs and the baserunners moving with the pitch, the lead runner scored easily.

The combined efforts of Fidalgo and Pete Connors, who came in to retire the final batter of the inning, only allowed the midshipmen seven hits. The loss was Fidalgo's second of the campaign against six triumphs.

The Cats' only run crossed the plate in the top of the fifth as center-fielder Joe Cramer walked and was moved to second by Bill Platco's sacrifice. Fidalgo, who led the team in the batting department, then singled him home with a sharp line-drive into right. The Cat power missed their big opportunity in the sixth when they failed to score with the bases filled and no one out. The Navy squad also was inept in the fielding department as they committed five miscues in the field.

The eighth inning again, last Saturday, proved to be the deciding moment of the West Chester contest. This time, the events were reversed, as the 'Cats finally reached Ram hurler Ron Simpson for three crucial runs in the eighth. Previously, Simpson permitted only four safeties while pitching shutout baseball during the first seven frames.

Baier Shines

Urged in a kidding conversation to provide the clutch hit. Sophonmore Dan Baier obliged with a single that sent home two runs to ice a 3-2 Cat victory. The encounter was the sixteenth win for the Cats in nineteen decisions. The late rally sent West Chester to a 9-6 slate.

Don Melaga and Phil Fidalgo, playing rightfield, each garnered consecutive bases-on-balls to commence the eighth frame. Melega then advanced to third on a wild pitch and, when relief-pitcher Dale Waters fielded Al Wiegand's grounder, he scored the tying run on the wild throw. With Fidalgo and Wiegand moving up to second and third, both tallied on Baier's single.

In an impressive performance, righty Wayne Walz picked up his fourth triumph of the campaign, going eight full innings and allowing two runs on seven hits. Fidalgo finished up for him in the bottom of the ninth.

West Chester scored a run in the first when a pair of walks and an infield single filled the sacks. The next batter, second-baseman Bill Hagen, grounded out as the lead runner scored. The Rams picked up their other run in the eighth, on a bunt, double and sacrifice fly. Neither West Chester nor Villanova were attributed any errors. It was the fifth errorless game for the 'Cat fielding perfectionists.

Double-Play Duo At Bat

Shortstop Jack Lynch guided the Wildcat efforts in the batter's box with three hits in four trips while Dan Baier went two for four with two rbi's. Pinch-hitter John Skronek, who batted for Walz in the ninth, proved reliable as he singled in his pinch-hitter role for the second game in succession.

The only remaining game for the Mainliners is an away game at Delaware, who have reportedly received an NCAA bid at this writing. The winner of the Eastern Regional Championships will travel to Omaha, Nebraska for the NCAA World Series.

Whether or not the 'Cats make the tournament, their present 16-3 record is still fairly representative of a winning team. In addition the 'Cats have already copped the City Series Championship with their undefeated 5-0 slate.

Thinclads Gear to Defend ICAAAA Laurel Saturday

by Bob Larkin

Coach Jim Elliott's thinclads will aim for their fifth title in six years at the 85th annual Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes track meet to be held Friday and Saturday at Randall's Island, New York.

More than 40 colleges, including Navy, Maryland, Manhattan, and Heptagonal Champion Yale, will be on hand trying to dethrone the defending Mainliners. The Elis, off their disqualification win over Villanova, are tabbed as the chief threat.

The Wildcats' 28 man team includes ten returning lettermen who copped 34 of the 38 points needed last June to top Penn State by one half point.

The Cats showed great team strength by winning the IC4A title after a year's absence with only one first place win. Frank Budd finished third in the 220 and was nipped at the tape in the 100 by Bob Brown of Penn State. Otie Drayton, mile relay anchor man, took third in the century but pulled in his specialty, the 220 yard dash. Bob Raemore placed fourth in the 440.

Taking an early lead in the 880, Jon Dante took second losing out in the last 50 yards to Carroll of Yale. Leon Pras repeated his indoor win taking the 120 high hurdles in 14.1. Taking third in the hop, step, and jump, Hubie White also tied for fourth in the high jump, adding a total of 5 points. Jerry Donini placed third in the shotput while the mile relay unit set an IC4A record of 3:12. John Buckley, who placed second in the broad jump last year, will be the only loss this year.

Coach Elliott will return to New York this weekend with all but one of last year's championship team. Not to be caught short he has added several strong possibilities to his already solid nucleus. Sophomore Billy Joe clinched the indoor IC4A shotput title this winter with a toss of 54′ 6¼″. Steadily improving, Joe will be hard to dethrone after setting the University shortstop record in the Quantico meet at 57′5¾″. Doug Kerr, leadoff man in the shuttle hurdles team, set another school record at the same meet tossing the javelin 209′ 10½″. Kerr, under 15 seconds, after resuming the 120 high hurdles, will be the fourth Wildcat entry in that event.

Junior Bob Coffill, troubled with an injury last year, will enter the 120 and 440 yard hurdles. Back in form this season Coffill holds three school hurdles records topped by a 14 second flat effort in the 120 highs at the St. Joseph-Georgetown meet. Villanova's hope at the distance, Pat Traynor, who finished fourth in the indoor IC4A two-mile run, may go in either the mile, three mile or 3000 meter steeplechase.

Finishing third in the Steeplechase at the Penn Relays behind Lowe of Brown, Traynor has also turned in a 4:14.1 mile this spring. Charlie Hammock, a fifth place finisher indoors and running strong all spring, will prove a strong threat in the high hurdles. With McGrath in the high jump and Dante who was clocked in 4:13.1 in the mile, the Wildcats show greater all around strength this year from their newcomers.

The man to watch this year, Frank Budd has improved in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Stronger and more confident since his Olympic showing, Budd has run the fastest 220 in the country (20.2) and equalled the world record mark in the hundred, 9.3, setting both school marks in the St. Joe's meet. He remained strong against Quantico and figures to be the man to watch for a double win this weekend.

(Photo by Alan Williams)

Jon Dante wins half mile in Quantico meet.

Teammate Otie Drayton who had held the school record in the 100 at 9.4, has resumed his sprint activities after anchoring the Wildcats' winning mile relay unit at the Penn Relays. Otie, finishing behind Budd and Brown last year in the 100, has topped the Penn State ace this year and might make it a 1-2 race. Having done 20.7 in the Quantico 220, Drayton will be the man to push Budd.

Navy will clash with the Wildcats again this weekend along with longtime rival Manhattan. Heptagonal winner Yale will be out to improve their last year's showing. The Mainliners need two more wins to retire the outdoor IC4A trophy and need the win to send them into the NCAA Championships on June 16 and 17 at Franklin Field.

— SPECIAL SUMMER SCHOOL ISSUE —

Villanovan

VOL. 36—No. 24 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. JULY 31, 1961

Archbishop Krol To Speak At Summer Commencement

Most Rev. John J. Krol, Archbishop of Philadelphia, will receive an Honorary Degree and be the principal speaker for Villanova's Summer Graduation exercises on Saturday morning, August 5.

Three other Honorary Doctorates will be conferred during the 10:00 a.m. exercises in the campus field house. They will go to Very Rev. Michael P. Walsh, SJ, President of Boston College, Mother Mary Bernard, CRSM, Superior General of the Sisters of Mercy; and Dr. Roy DeFerrari, prominent educator from the Catholic University of America.

The Degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology will be awarded to Archbishop Krol and Father Walsh will receive a Doctor of Science Degree. A Doctorate in Religious Education will be conferred upon Mother Bernard and the Degree of Doctor of Education will go to Mr. DeFerrari.

More than 230 graduates will receive degrees during the exercises. Diplomas will go to about 120 undergraduate students and to 119 graduate students. Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President, will confer the degrees.

Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, OSA, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, will preside. An academic procession will precede the exercises which mark the closing of Villanova's 44th Summer Session.

Professor John J. Gallen Replaces Dean Morehouse

Professor John J. Gallen, Head of the Department of Civil Engineering, has been appointed Acting Dean of Villanova's Division of Engineering. The announcement was made yesterday by Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President.

Mr. Gallen succeeds the late Dr. J. Stanley Morehouse who served as Head of Engineering at Villanova for 23 years. Dr. Morehouse's sudden death on July 12 saddened the entire campus.

Mr. Gallen is a 1927 graduate of Villanova. He was awarded the Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering and in 1934

DEAN GALLEN

received his State Teaching Certificate. Professor Gallen earned his Master of Science Degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1947.

Villanova's new Acting-Dean joined the University faculty in September 1940. He had taught previously at Roman Catholic High School in Philadelphia, Malvern Preparatory School, and Evening Sessions of the Philadelphia Public School System.

Mark of Respect

As a mark of the respect in which he is held by faculty and students alike, Professor Gallen was a recipient of the "Christian R. and Mary F. Lindback Foundation Award" presented for the first time at the 1961 graduation exercises.

The $500.00 award is presented for "Distinguished Teaching" and winners are selected primarily by faculty members and student leaders. Professor Patrick Dougherty of the Commerce and Finance Division was the other winner.

Dean Gallen is a former President of the Philadelphia Section of American Society of Civil Engineers and is presently a Fellow of the Society. He is a member of the Engineers Club of Philadelphia, the American Society for Engineering Education, and the American Association of University Professors.

He and his wife Frances are the parents of seven children. The family resides at 643 Lawson Ave., Havertown, Pa.

Father Klekotka Named Governor Of Industry Council

Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President, has been appointed to the Board of Governors of the Commerce and Industry Council of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia.

Notification of Father Klekotka's appointment was made by Mr. T. F. Bradshaw, President of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Harold C. Wessel is Chairman of the Industrial Council which is attempting to increase Greater Philadelphia's domestic and international trade. The Council also seeks to create a profitable business climate which will hold existing industry here and attract new industry.

Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Dean of the Graduate School, opens the week-long symposium on Science and Mathematics with an address of welcome. Seated are Dr. Karl Herzfeld, centerman of the Department of Physics, Catholic University, who was guest speaker, and Dr. Bernard J. Downey, Chairman of Villanova's Chemistry Department. The symposium ran from July 10 to the 14 inclusive.

Science Lecture Series Highlights Summer Session

by JOSEPH A. MASSEY

Mendel Hall, Villanova's magnificent new science building, was the appropriate setting for the second annual series of summer-session lectures held at Villanova under the title "The University Scholar and the Christian Tradition."

This year's lectures were devoted to science and mathematics, while those of last year dealt with Philosophy and literature. Sponsored by the Villanova Library with the cooperation of the Faculty Library Committee, the lectures and conferences are designed to explore the Christian implications of scholarly research and writing. They have been planned as a continuing study in connection with the Villanova Summer Session.

Opening Lecture

The opening lecture of this year's week-long series took place Monday, July 10. Villanova was honored by the presence of Dr. Karl Herzfeld, Chairman of the Department of Physics at the Catholic University of America, who delivered the first lecture.

The Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, OSA, head of the University's Board of Trustees, former president of the University, and a noted biologist, chaired the opening session. Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Dean of the Graduate School, delivered the welcoming address.

Faculty Experts

Taking part in the lectures were many of the outstanding professors of the University's science and mathematics departments. One notable exception to the majority rule of the scientists was Professor James O'Brien, Ph.D. of the Philosophy Department who also delivered a lecture. Dr. O'Brien, who holds degrees in engineering and physics as well as the doctorate in philosophy, is widely known for his insight into the philosophy of science.

The method followed by the symposium was to have an expert deliver a lecture on a specific topic in a specific field which has a bearing on the general theme of the series. After the lecture was completed there would be a discussion of the problems and principles set forth.

In this stage there was a discussion leader, a professor in the field, who led the group's manipulation of the subject matter. The entire individual daily program was presided over by a chairman, again a professor in that field.

Monday's Lecture

The topic of Monday's lecture was "Recent Scientific Advancement and their Implications". Dr. Herzfeld was the speaker, Father Donnellon the Chairman, and Professor Bernard Downey, Chairman of the Physics Department, was the discussion

On Tuesday the subject matter switched from science in general to mathematics in particular. The topic of the lecture and discussion was "Is Modern Mathematics Really Modern?" Chairing the meeting was Professor Thomas Linahan, Department of Mathematics. Professor Emil Amelotti, chairman of the Department of Mathematics, delivered the lecture, and Professor Joan Montgomery led the discussion.

(Editor's Note: Miss Montgomery's article on the subject may be found on page 3.)

Philosophy Lecture

Professor Kenneth O'Driscoll, Department of Chemistry chaired Wednesday's meeting. The topic was "The Role of the Philosophy of Science in the Advancement of Learning." Dr. James O'Brien delivered the lecture. Professor Dominic Rollerti, Department of Chemistry was discussion leader.

Thursday's topic for consideration was in the realm of Biology. Its title was "DNA-The Mixmaster of Life." Professor Marco F. Way chaired the meeting, Professor Thomas Lowrey delivered the lecture, and Professor Joseph Previte led the discussion. All three gentlemen are from the University's Department of Biology.

Physics Lecture

The final meeting on Friday dealt with physics. Professor William Driscoll, Chairman of the Physics Department, delivered the lecture whose topic was "Wave Theory versus Photon Theory of Light." Professor William Sentner chaired the meeting and Professor Felix Beiduk led the discussion.

(Photo by Alan Williams)

Team batting and pitching star, Phil Fidalgo, holds up on a low, outside toss during the West Chester game. The 'Cats rebounded from Navy to nip the Rams, 3-2, for their sixteenth victory.

Cats Big Five Champs But Crumble Under Navy Surge

by Joe McCarthy

The chances of receiving a berth in the regional NCAA tournament for the Wildcat baseball squad took a sudden jolt last Thursday at Annopolis. It still is possible, however, that Villanova will be extended an invitation.

Paced by its left-fielder of some football distinction, Joe Bellino, the midshipmen moved to their twentieth triumph in twenty-one games, 4-1, at the expense of the Villanova nine. Bellino was the major factor as he doubled in what proved to be the deciding tally.

Staff Ace

Saving his ace, Phil Fidalgo, for the contest, Coach Art Mahan went with his best, and until the eighth, it seemed as if Fidalgo would chalk up his second shutout of the season. Up to then, he had allowed a mere two scattered singles to the powerful Navy stickmen.

In the eighth behind 1-0, the Navy contingent reached to their bench for a pinch-hitter for pitcher Paul Ettinger. Demonstrating their bench strength, Bob Campbell singled between third-baseman Don Melega and shortstop Jack Lynch into left. The following batter sacrificed him to second. Fidalgo then retired Ed Foyle but surrendered another safety to second-baseman Ted Terwilliger which scored the tying run.

Bellino Doubles

Consecutive doubles to Bellino, Cybul, and Galloway scored the final three tallies of the day. Fidalgo had a 0-2 count on Bellino when he countered with a "waste" pitch to bring the call to 1-2. Falling away from the next pitch, Bellino accidentally popped the ball down the third base line over Don Melega's leaping stretch. The ball, bouncing off the tip of the glove landed on the chalked foul line for a fair ball. With two outs and the baserunners moving with the pitch, the lead runner scored easily.

The combined efforts of Fidalgo and Pete Connors, who came in to retire the final batter of the inning, only allowed the midshipmen seven hits. The loss was Fidalgo's second of the campaign against six triumphs.

The Cats' only run crossed the plate in the top of the fifth as center-fielder Joe Cramer walked and was moved to second by Bill Platco's sacrifice. Fidalgo, who led the team in the batting department, then singled him home with a sharp line-drive into right. The Cat power missed their big opportunity in the sixth when they failed to score with the bases filled and no one out. The Navy squad also was inept in the fielding department as they committed five miscues in the field.

The eighth inning again, last Saturday, proved to be the deciding moment of the West Chester contest. This time, the events were reversed, as the 'Cats finally reached Ram hurler Ron Simpson for three crucial runs in the eighth. Previously, Simpson permitted only four safeties while pitching shutout baseball during the first seven frames.

Baier Shines

Urged in a kidding conversation to provide the clutch hit. Sophonmore Dan Baier obliged with a single that sent home two runs to ice a 3-2 Cat victory. The encounter was the sixteenth win for the Cats in nineteen decisions. The late rally sent West Chester to a 9-6 slate.

Don Melaga and Phil Fidalgo, playing rightfield, each garnered consecutive bases-on-balls to commence the eighth frame. Melega then advanced to third on a wild pitch and, when relief-pitcher Dale Waters fielded Al Wiegand's grounder, he scored the tying run on the wild throw. With Fidalgo and Wiegand moving up to second and third, both tallied on Baier's single.

In an impressive performance, righty Wayne Walz picked up his fourth triumph of the campaign, going eight full innings and allowing two runs on seven hits. Fidalgo finished up for him in the bottom of the ninth.

West Chester scored a run in the first when a pair of walks and an infield single filled the sacks. The next batter, second-baseman Bill Hagen, grounded out as the lead runner scored. The Rams picked up their other run in the eighth, on a bunt, double and sacrifice fly. Neither West Chester nor Villanova were attributed any errors. It was the fifth errorless game for the 'Cat fielding perfectionists.

Double-Play Duo At Bat

Shortstop Jack Lynch guided the Wildcat efforts in the batter's box with three hits in four trips while Dan Baier went two for four with two rbi's. Pinch-hitter John Skronek, who batted for Walz in the ninth, proved reliable as he singled in his pinch-hitter role for the second game in succession.

The only remaining game for the Mainliners is an away game at Delaware, who have reportedly received an NCAA bid at this writing. The winner of the Eastern Regional Championships will travel to Omaha, Nebraska for the NCAA World Series.

Whether or not the 'Cats make the tournament, their present 16-3 record is still fairly representative of a winning team. In addition the 'Cats have already copped the City Series Championship with their undefeated 5-0 slate.

Thinclads Gear to Defend ICAAAA Laurel Saturday

by Bob Larkin

Coach Jim Elliott's thinclads will aim for their fifth title in six years at the 85th annual Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes track meet to be held Friday and Saturday at Randall's Island, New York.

More than 40 colleges, including Navy, Maryland, Manhattan, and Heptagonal Champion Yale, will be on hand trying to dethrone the defending Mainliners. The Elis, off their disqualification win over Villanova, are tabbed as the chief threat.

The Wildcats' 28 man team includes ten returning lettermen who copped 34 of the 38 points needed last June to top Penn State by one half point.

The Cats showed great team strength by winning the IC4A title after a year's absence with only one first place win. Frank Budd finished third in the 220 and was nipped at the tape in the 100 by Bob Brown of Penn State. Otie Drayton, mile relay anchor man, took third in the century but pulled in his specialty, the 220 yard dash. Bob Raemore placed fourth in the 440.

Taking an early lead in the 880, Jon Dante took second losing out in the last 50 yards to Carroll of Yale. Leon Pras repeated his indoor win taking the 120 high hurdles in 14.1. Taking third in the hop, step, and jump, Hubie White also tied for fourth in the high jump, adding a total of 5 points. Jerry Donini placed third in the shotput while the mile relay unit set an IC4A record of 3:12. John Buckley, who placed second in the broad jump last year, will be the only loss this year.

Coach Elliott will return to New York this weekend with all but one of last year's championship team. Not to be caught short he has added several strong possibilities to his already solid nucleus. Sophomore Billy Joe clinched the indoor IC4A shotput title this winter with a toss of 54′ 6¼″. Steadily improving, Joe will be hard to dethrone after setting the University shortstop record in the Quantico meet at 57′5¾″. Doug Kerr, leadoff man in the shuttle hurdles team, set another school record at the same meet tossing the javelin 209′ 10½″ Kerr, under 15 seconds, after resuming the 120 high hurdles, will be the fourth Wildcat entry in that event.

Junior Bob Coffill, troubled with an injury last year, will enter the 120 and 440 yard hurdles. Back in form this season Coffill holds three school hurdles records topped by a 14 second flat effort in the 120 highs at the St. Joseph-Georgetown meet. Villanova's hope at the distance, Pat Traynor, who finished fourth in the indoor IC4A two-mile run, may go in either the mile, three mile or 3000 meter steeplechase.

Finishing third in the Steeplechase at the Penn Relays behind Lowe of Brown, Traynor has also turned in a 4:14.1 mile this spring. Charlie Hammock, a fifth place finisher indoors and running strong all spring, will prove a strong threat in the high hurdles. With McGrath in the high jump and Dante who was clocked in 4:13.1 in the mile, the Wildcats show greater all around strength this year from their newcomers.

The man to watch this year, Frank Budd has improved in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Stronger and more confident since his Olympic showing, Budd has run the fastest 220 in the country (20.2) and equalled the world record mark in the hundred, 9.3, setting both school marks in the St. Joe's meet. He remained strong against Quantico and figures to be the man to watch for a double win this weekend.

(Photo by Alan Williams)

Jon Dante wins half mile in Quantico meet.

Teammate Otie Drayton who had held the school record in the 100 at 9.4, has resumed his sprint activities after anchoring the Wildcats' winning mile relay unit at the Penn Relays. Otie, finishing behind Budd and Brown last year in the 100, has topped the Penn State ace this year and might make it a 1-2 race. Having done 20.7 in the Quantico 220, Drayton will be the man to push Budd.

Navy will clash with the Wildcats again this weekend along with longtime rival Manhattan. Heptagonal winner Yale will be out to improve their last year's showing. The Mainliners need two more wins to retire the outdoor IC4A trophy and need the win to send them into the NCAA Championships on June 16 and 17 at Franklin Field.

— SPECIAL SUMMER SCHOOL ISSUE —

Villanovan

VOL. 36—No. 24 VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY, VILLANOVA, PA. JULY 31, 1961

Archbishop Krol To Speak At Summer Commencement

Most Rev. John J. Krol, Archbishop of Philadelphia, will receive an Honorary Degree and be the principal speaker for Villanova's Summer Graduation exercises on Saturday morning, August 5.

Three other Honorary Doctorates will be conferred during the 10:00 a.m. exercises in the campus field house. They will go to Very Rev. Michael P. Walsh, SJ, President of Boston College, Mother Mary Bernard, CRSM, Superior General of the Sisters of Mercy; and Dr. Roy DeFerrari, prominent educator from the Catholic University of America.

The Degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology will be awarded to Archbishop Krol and Father Walsh will receive a Doctor of Science Degree. A Doctorate in Religious Education will be conferred upon Mother Bernard and the Degree of Doctor of Education will go to Mr. DeFerrari.

More than 230 graduates will receive degrees during the exercises. Diplomas will go to about 120 undergraduate students and to 119 graduate students. Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President, will confer the degrees.

Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, OSA, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, will preside. An academic procession will precede the exercises which mark the closing of Villanova's 44th Summer Session.

Professor John J. Gallen Replaces Dean Morehouse

Professor John J. Gallen, Head of the Department of Civil Engineering, has been appointed Acting Dean of Villanova's Division of Engineering. The announcement was made yesterday by Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President.

Mr. Gallen succeeds the late Dr. J. Stanley Morehouse who served as Head of Engineering at Villanova for 23 years. Dr. Morehouse's sudden death on July 12 saddened the entire campus.

Mr. Gallen is a 1927 graduate of Villanova. He was awarded the Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering and in 1934

DEAN GALLEN

received his State Teaching Certificate. Professor Gallen earned his Master of Science Degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1947.

Villanova's new Acting-Dean joined the University faculty in September 1940. He had taught previously at Roman Catholic High School in Philadelphia, Malvern Preparatory School, and Evening Sessions of the Philadelphia Public School System.

Mark of Respect

As a mark of the respect in which he is held by faculty and students alike, Professor Gallen was a recipient of the "Christian R. and Mary F. Lindback Foundation Award" presented for the first time at the 1961 graduation exercises.

The $500.00 award is presented for "Distinguished Teaching" and winners are selected primarily by faculty members and student leaders. Professor Patrick Dougherty of the Commerce and Finance Division was the other winner.

Dean Gallen is a former President of the Philadelphia Section of American Society of Civil Engineers and is presently a Fellow of the Society. He is a member of the Engineers Club of Philadelphia, the American Society for Engineering Education, and the American Association of University Professors.

He and his wife Frances are the parents of seven children. The family resides at 643 Lawson Ave., Havertown, Pa.

Father Klekotka Named Governor Of Industry Council

Very Rev. John A. Klekotka, OSA, University President, has been appointed to the Board of Governors of the Commerce and Industry Council of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia.

Notification of Father Klekotka's appointment was made by Mr. T. F. Bradshaw, President of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Harold C. Wessel is Chairman of the Industrial Council which is attempting to increase Greater Philadelphia's domestic and international trade. The Council also seeks to create a profitable business climate which will hold existing industry here and attract new industry.

Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Dean of the Graduate School, opens the week-long symposium on Science and Mathematics with an address of welcome. Seated are Dr. Karl Herzfeld, center, Chairman of the Department of Physics, Catholic University, who was guest speaker, and Dr. Bernard J. Downey, Chairman of Villanova's Chemistry Department. The symposium ran from July 10 to the 14 inclusive.

Science Lecture Series Highlights Summer Session

by JOSEPH A. MASSEY

Mendel Hall, Villanova's magnificent new science building, was the appropriate setting for the second annual series of summer-session lectures held at Villanova under the title "The University Scholar and the Christian Tradition."

This year's lectures were devoted to science and mathematics, while those of last year dealt with Philosophy and literature. Sponsored by the Villanova Library with the cooperation of the Faculty Library Committee, the lectures and conferences are designed to explore the Christian implications of scholarly research and writing. They have been planned as a continuing study in connection with the Villanova Summer Session.

Opening Lecture

The opening lecture of this year's week-long series took place Monday, July 10. Villanova was honored by the presence of Dr. Karl Herzfeld, Chairman of the Department of Physics at the Catholic University of America, who delivered the first lecture.

The Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, OSA, head of the University's Board of Trustees, former president of the University, and a noted biologist, chaired the opening session. Rev. Louis A. Rongione, OSA, Dean of the Graduate School, delivered the welcoming address.

Faculty Experts

Taking part in the lectures were many of the outstanding professors of the University's science and mathematics departments. One notable exception to the majority rule of the scientists was Professor James O'Brien, Ph.D. of the Philosophy Department who also delivered a lecture. Dr. O'Brien, who holds degrees in engineering and physics as well as the doctorate in philosophy, is widely known for his insight into the philosophy of science.

The method followed by the symposium was to have an expert deliver a lecture on a specific topic in a specific field which has a bearing on the general theme of the series. After the lecture was completed there would be a discussion of the problems and principles set forth.

In this stage there was a discussion leader, a professor in the field, who led the group's manipulation of the subject matter. The entire individual daily program was presided over by a chairman, again a professor in that field.

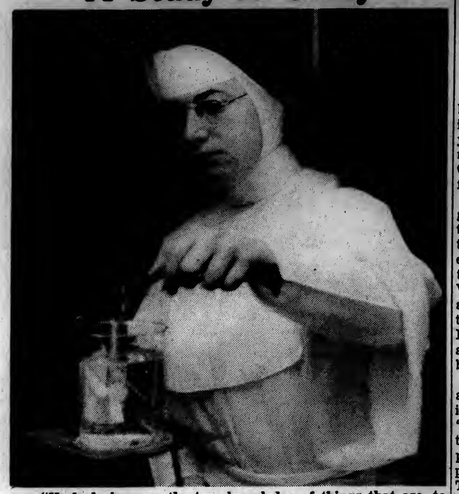
Monday's Lecture

The topic of Monday's lecture was "Recent Scientific Advancement and their Implications". Dr. Herzfeld was the speaker, Father Donnellon the Chairman, and Professor Bernard Downey, Chairman of the Physics Department, was the discussion

On Tuesday the subject matter switched from science in general to mathematics in particular. The topic of the lecture and discussion was "Is Modern Mathematics Really Modern?" Chairing the meeting was Professor Thomas Linahan, Department of Mathematics. Professor Emil Amelotti, chairman of the Department of Mathematics, delivered the lecture, and Professor Joan Montgomery led the discussion.

(Editor's Note: Miss Montgomery's article on the subject may be found on page 3.)

Philosophy Lecture



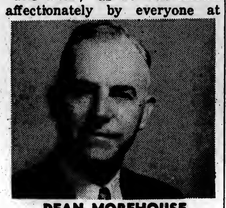
Professor Kenneth O'Driscoll, Department of Chemistry chaired Wednesday's meeting. The topic was "The Role of the Philosophy of Science in the Advancement of Learning." Dr. James O'Brien delivered the lecture. Professor Dominic Rolierti, Department of Chemistry was discussion leader.

Thursday's topic for consideration was in the realm of Biology. Its title was "DNA-The Mixmaster of Life." Professor Marco F. Way chaired the meeting, Professor Thomas Lowrey delivered the lecture, and Professor Joseph Previte led the discussion. All three gentlemen are from the University's Department of Biology.

Physics Lecture

The final meeting on Friday dealt with physics. Professor William Driscoll, Chairman of the Physics Department, delivered the lecture whose topic was "Wave Theory versus Photon Theory of Light." Professor William Sentner chaired the meeting and Professor Felix Beiduk led the discussion.

A Study In Study



"He had given me the true knowledge of things that are, to know the disposition of the whole world, and the virtues of the elements!"—Wisdom 7:17. Sister Regina Michael, O.P., a teacher at Aquinas High School, Bronx, N. Y. gives this verse meaning in the Biology lab in Mendel Hall.

J. Stanley Morehouse Dies; Dean of Engineering School

Dr. J. Stanley Morehouse, Dean of the Division of Engineering at Villanova for more than 23 years, died in Fitzgerald-Mercy Hospital on July 12. Dean Morehouse had suffered a heart attack four days earlier.

He was 66 years old and lived at 102 Llandaff Road, Llanerch. "The Dean," as he was known affectionately by everyone at

DEAN MOREHOUSE

Villanova, started teaching here in 1921 after graduation from Stevens Technical Institute. He was named dean following the death of Carl T. Humphrey in 1938.

Under his skillful direction, Villanova's school of Engineering moved to a position of prominence in the field. Dean Morehouse kept his curricula in line with the latest engineering developments by introducing new courses and texts. He earned a reputation as an outstanding educator.

As a mark of its respect for his years of work, the University bestowed the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Science on Dean Morehouse at the 1956 Commencement exercises. His son, J. Stanley, Jr., was a member of the 1956 graduating class.

"Engineer of Year"

In 1957 the late dean was selected as Delaware County's "Engineer of the Year" by the County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers. He was the author of many articles in professional journals.

Dean Morehouse was a member of St. George's Nevil Memorial Episcopal Church, Ardmore. He was a member of the Engineers Club of Philadelphia, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and many other professional and civic organizations.

Despite his physical passing, the fruits of Dean Morehouse's labors will live on. The many students who came under his guidance in nearly a half-century of teaching, and whose skill he helped to create, will continue to make their contribution to society in the fields of engineering for years to come.

(Ed. Note: The members of the staff of the VILLANOVAN extend to Mrs. Morehouse their deepest sympathy.)

Villanovan
VILLANOVA UNIVERSITY

Editor-In-Chief ..... Joseph A. Massey
Managing Editor ..... Josephine Morella
Associate Editor ..... Gus Susnjara
Contributors ..... Sister Inez, O.S.F.
Sister Margaret Blanche, O.P.
Sister Marie De Sales Lee, O.P.
Sister Mary Colette, O.S.F.
Anthony Daleo, O.S.A.
A J. Ehrlich
E. J. Ruane
Moderator ..... Rev. Louis A. Rongione, O.S.A.

Cuba Is An "Armed Camp" Says Augustinian Priest

by Josephine Morello

"Havana is an armed camp, but the greatest tragedy on the island is the corruption of youth." This statement was made by the Rev. Norman W. Galloway, OSA, who escaped from Cuba only recently.

Father Galloway, who is a graduate of Villanova University, was ordained in 1949. For the past several years, until his escape from Cuba, he was on the faculty of St. Thomas of Villanova University in the Miramar section of Havana. Father taught philosophy, theology, and English while in Cuba; he also acted as chaplain to the student body.

"The corruption of youth is apparent and the drive to insure it is incessant," Father said. "Boys and girls are taken from their families and sent to other parts of the island without the parents knowing where they are. They are thrown together for indoctrination and military training while in plastic the stage of their lives."

Father added that many of the homes which are seized by Castro's government are used to aid the corruption of youth, for many fine homes have become pagan nests of uninhibited youths and their cynical instructors.

Villanova Seized

The loss of Villanova University in Havana was a vivid memory to Father Galloway. He said that Castro's police visited the Augustinian priests one Sunday afternoon at 5:30. The priests were told to evacuate the $5,000,000 college and technical school within thirty minutes. They were permitted to carry only a minimum of personal things and were searched thoroughly upon their departure.

Father Galloway managed to get to the American embassy in Havana, where he remained for twelve days. He had only a wooden bench to accommodate him, and this was where he sat or slept during the time he was there.

After the Augustinians were ejected from their monastery and the University, Fidel Castro visited the premises. Two days later all the crucifixes were removed from the buildings.

Father said that when the University was finally seized by the Castro forces, they gingerly came upon it through the hedges and bushes that surrounded it on Fifth Avenue.

Unarmed Augustinians

He explained, "Apparently, the one-time peasants, now Citizens' Army Militia or 'milicianos,' had been told we had all sorts of guns, weapons, ammunition, and war material in the University. They almost seemed disappointed when they found only fourteen unarmed Augustinians."

The University is now being turned into a technical school. Its facilities and buildings have been taken without compensation. The statue of St. Thomas of Villanova which is on the grounds has been smeared several times with red paint always in the dark.

In 1959 Villanova's technical school, which contains a complete model sugar refinery, had an enrollment of 1500. The students numbered only 700 by September of 1960, and recently only 300 students were enrolled. Father Galloway said that once, after seventeen students had been expelled for various reasons, they stoned the modern lobby and shattered glass doors and panels.

American Blunders

"It was the blunders in America that crushed the underground in Cuba," Father stated. He added, however, that Cuba is receiving much strategic material from the United States. "They have more helium gas than they'll need in twenty years," he said. (Helium is scarce in the Soviet Union.)

"Radio, like TV, is completely under the 'grind' of the Castro regime," he said. ". . . propaganda is incessant. It indoctrinates militarily, exhausts mentally, and continually preaches hatred of the United States."

Father added that although few people realize it, in proportion the Castro forces have the largest civilian army in the world.

Armed Camp

"Havana is an armed camp," said the priest. "Sandbags are on the corners; militia are on the flat rooftops; Hotel Nacional a fortress facing the sea. There are few cars on the streets, mostly military ones or rare cabs.

"Where steeples will permit it, there are armed guards—and the roof-tops which will support them have Czech anti-aircraft guns."

Father said that he had not directly seen any Chinese or Russian activity. ". . . but there are Russian technicians running the Moa Bay operation, the half-billion dollar expropriated American mining center."

Father Galloway concluded his interview by stating that Cuba has become a religous cancer as well as a thorn in the side of America, only ninety miles from our shores.

Inservice Institute Set Up For High-School Teachers

Villanova has received a grant of $12,260 from the National Science Foundation for the purpose of conducting courses in science for high school teachers during the coming year.

The Inservice Program will include courses in biology, chemistry and geology. The curriculum will be under the direction of the Rev. J. Bernard Hubbert, OSA, of the University's Physics Department.

Participants must be high school teachers (senior or junior high school) who are engaged in teaching high school mathematics, with a minimum of three years teaching experience. In special cases the experience requirement may be waived.

Villanova will not charge tuition or fees of participants. The National Science Foundation will pay travel expenses to and from the University and also finance the purchase of textbooks.

Courses will begin on September 23rd and be held on Saturdays to avoid interference with the teacher's regular duties. Applications for admission to the Inservice Program at Villanova should be made no later than August 20.

Since the objective of the Inservice Institute is to improve the teaching of science and mathematics in high schools, teachers who are judged to be the best qualified for improvement in science and/or mathematics teaching and who are judged to possibly benefit the most by the Inservice Institute, shall be preferred in the committee's selection of participants.

The program in biology will cover biological literature; protoplasm and the cell; genetic, plant and animal development; morphology and physiology; disease and parasitism; and radiobiology.

The program in chemistry is divided into two sections. The first course, designed for those teachers who need further depth at the first level, is called Modern Basic Chemistry. The second course, designed for those who have already taken the basic course or who are otherwise sufficiently grounded, is analytical Chemistry.

Geology studies will include: Rocks and Minerals—Structures, composition and environment of common rocks and minerals, and methods of rock and mineral identification, including methods of making thin sections of rocks; Historical Geology—History of the physical features of the Earth's crust and the organic forms which are found in the rocks of the crust of the Earth.

TV Appearance Climaxes Season Of Choral Society

Villanova's Choral Society, under the direction of Dr. Herbert Fiss, appeared last Saturday on the local television program, "Portraits in Music."

The show, which is seen weekly over Channel 3 (WRCV-TV) from 6:00 to 6:30 p.m., features outstanding musicians and musical groups. Anschel Bruselow, Concertmeister of the Philadelphia Orchestra, is the program's producer.

Villanova's performance was taped prior to June graduation for showing at this time, with only a selected group of singers participating. The television appearance climaxed the Choral Society's most active year. The season was highlighted by the group's Christmas production, together with the Rosemont College Glee Club, of Handel's Messiah, and the Spring Choral Festival, in which five other area schools participated.

Summer Thoughts

THE TRAGEDY

Why is the moon so pale, dear love?
Why is the moon so wan?
Is it the cold of the night, my dove,
Or missed it a sight of sun?

Nay, not so, dear heart of my heart.
List! I will tell you the tale
Of one who bore a cruel part
That left the great moon so pale.

Long, long ago, the Savior lived
Down of this earth of ours
The golden fleece of clouds was rived
As the angels sang of His powers.

He came to His Own but His Own would not
They wanted the toys of earth:
Wealth, power, and pelf the things that rot
They rejected the things of worth.

For the wealth He brought was a wealth of love
And power within His Breast
The toys of heaven were stored above
For His Own who stood through Life's test.

Ah! Men were wicked; men were cold!
Warm love was thrown from the heart
A shout was raised; a shout full bold!
To the hills! Crucify Him, they barked!

The moon saw the nails; the moon saw the spears
And the ruby-red flow of His Blood!
She hid her face from evil sneers
That mocked at the Precious Flood

The moon saw the Maid with the great large eyes
Standing beneath His Cross!
The moon saw her tears and was petrified
At the pain of her great, great Loss!

So the moon grew pale for she understood
(And pale she remains to this day)
That our God was stretched on the Holy Rod
To show us the Light and the Way!

Sister Mary Colette, O.S.F.

EAVESDROPPING

I thought the officer knew all our numbers by now—Can you translate the menu for tonight?—You don't have to starch anything?—Did you learn those vitamins?—Two hours in the library, no book!
—Thank God I won't need a reference list for retreat—
The B.C.J. Building? You mean the C.J.B.—I think I have a bad case of sleeping sickness—You've never read any Russian poetry?—It's not easy to work on three term papers at once!—I love music for breakfast!—Is there a shoe repair shop on the campus.—What happened to the glass in the phone booths?—
I love Villanova!

Sr. Inez, O.S.F.

SPRING LOVE

My thoughts of you are closely bound
With thoughts of Spring.
Spring, into whose wake waking Nature sloughs off
The last debris of winter,
Drinks deeply the soft, warm air,
And joyously senses life rushing anew
Through her veins,
While Earth re-smiles her pale pastels

My thoughts of you are closely bound
With thoughts of Spring.
Spring, when Supernature exults with Nature
As Earth blinks over her Savior in a flash of light!
Grace abounds as the Victor over Death
Radiates His warm, full, smile of love.

My thoughts of you are closely bound
With thoughts of Spring.
Spring, that happy epitome of suffering and death
Overcome by triumphant joy,
With whose reflection your graciousness and love
Are so happily combined,
Cannot waft itself to mind
Without your image far behind.

Anthony Daleo, O.S.A.

VARIETY

Dear Lady of the Campus
What are your thoughts each day?
As you gaze on blues, grays, blacks and whites
All hurrying on their way?

The modern and the Gothic
The peasant style of old.
These are the spouses of your Son
In labyrinthian fold.

It is each heart that interests you
As in the dawning's light
A stream of morning love is formed
Aft expectation's night.

Sr. Inez, O.S.F.

CHEERIO, VILLANOVA

How shall I say goodbye?
This lovely place
Has claimed my energy, my time, my sleep,
My inmost thoughts.
Forever shall it keep
A portion of my being.
I can trace
With desiccated finger where I stood
That day, light years ago, when all was new,
This Universe first open to my view,
Its harvest waiting, fruits to give. I would Not miss that moment, weary though I am
I bless its harvest, and now every year
These lovely hills will see me trudging here
With bag and baggage, vitamins. I can Hear angels singing in this Promised Land:
The Lord of Truth here holds us in His Hand.

Sister Marie de Sales Lee, O.P.

The New St. Mary's Hall

Pictured above is the architect's drawing of the new seminary building to be erected on Villanova's campus. The building, known as St. Mary's Hall, will accommodate over 100 seminarians. Construction will start in the near future.

OCEAN DEVOTION

I'd like to own a shack along a sandy, salty beach
And watch and listen to the waves at play
This type of life which lies Within imagination's reach
Is clearly worth a thought or two each day
I'd like to be there rising with the sun from o'er the east
And tramping in the dunes of powd'ry sand
Oh life would be so simple, yet so wonderful a feast
While radiating Freedom's righteous hand
I'd like to own a ship to sail among the froth and foam
And canvass sails to guide her straight and true
With gusty winds and salty spray the sea would be my home
Way out adrift on swells of white and blue
I'd like to stand upon the shore and listen to the tale
Which pounding, thund'ring waves would have to tell
Of secrets brought from far down in the deep ruled by The whale
Booming out the message loud and well
I'd like to sit at night and watch the moon and stars so dear
Reflect upon the ocean's glossy sheen
And tell eternal secrets to me, cleansing me of fear
And fill my mind with thoughts true fresh and clean
I'd like to gaze and search and peer out into endless space
And gather thoughts so lofty, light and pure
While thanking God for placing me upon the earth's sweet face
All free of evil's artifical lure.

A. J. Ehrlich

EUCHARISTIC BETHLEHEM

What mystery
In unity
Of clay—with Thou,
Divinity!
And yet, each day
Thou comest to me
To dwell, in great
Docility!
This mortal frame
Becomes for Thee
A Bethlehem—
All lovingly!

Sr. Inez, O.S.F.

IMPULSIVE PULSE

Willowy, whispery, whimsical winds
Whistling and giggling gay
Briskly blowing, dancing bestowing
Spice to enliven the day
Loftily, lightly, whirling brightly
Prettily cute and fair
Flirting and skittering sprightly swift
Composed of pure, thin, simple air
Urging on sky clouds, full flowing forms
Soaring amid sweetness blue
Whisking and whooping up endless leaves
Swift spinning, so vivid a view
Spirals spectacular, scooping small specks
Then tipping and skipping them 'round
Pillowy, puffy, soft swishy winds
Alive? Why you're good Nature's soul
Her spirit, Her power, Her vibrant voice
Splendidly, queenly crowned.

A. J. Ehrlich

"THIS IS OUR LIFE"

This is our Life, as WE often see it,
As we walk through the lane that He knew,
All the heavens seem far in the distance,
Not a sign of the sky turning blue;
No star seems to twinkle above us,
Nor a ray of the sun do we see;
How soon we have come to forget it,
Christ had walked up that path just for me.
This is our life as HE always sees it,
As we walk through the lane that He knew,
All the heavens are not in the distance,
And the sky up above is true blue;
There are stars twinkling ever above us,
And the rays of the sun we should see;
For it's through all the trials He permits,
God becomes nearer to you —and me.

Sister Margaret Blanche, O.P. Newburgh Dominican

"Modern Mathematics" Old; Only Point of View is New

by Miss Joan Montgomery
Mathematics Dept.

The mathematics which is being taught today is the same mathematics that has been known for centuries. The difference is simply in those who know the work. Previously, only those in higher mathematics in the graduate schools were let in on the big secrets. Those in elementary schools, high schools, and colleges received a highly polished finished product, a set of rules and regulations to be memorized and then applied. The "how" rather than the "why" of mathematics was stressed. Often the way could not be stressed for teachers themselves knew little or nothing about the subject. The origin of mathematical truth had long been buried in a sea of hard steadfast principles.

New Point of View

Today educators realize that mathematics can be enjoyed, can prove more of a challenge, and can be understood by elementary school children as well as the graduate students. The "modern" in today's mathematics is simply the new point of view, a new approach in which the child can create and discover mathematics for himself. He, himself, with proper teacher guidance can polish the definitions and rules. Through the joy of discovery, and the satisfaction of knowing why a thing must be true, children are not only learning mathematics, but they are liking it too.

Actually teaching the new mathematics as a creative discipline works in the following way. The teacher and students face a problem and search for some pattern. They attempt to illustrate their findings by making use of some symbolism of their choice. This symbolism is organized into a workable systematic language which is mathematics.

Teacher Guides

Students do not have to start from scratch. They are given certain leads and follow along under careful guidance from their teacher. After they have recognized a necessary truth it can then be formulated into the symbolism and language of traditional mathematics. The difference is simply that understanding as well as manipulative skill accompanies the learning process.

A discussion of mathematics in Pre-World War II, World War II, and Post World War II days will illustrate the way in which the place of mathematics, rather than the mathematics itself, has changed.

Prospective Graduate List For Summer Session 1961

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Mother Mary Raphael Armstrong, S.H.C.J.
Sister Ann Marian Brady, C.R.S.M.
Sister Thomas Mary Cavanaugh, C.R.S.M.
Nathan Dudley Coursey
Curtis Christopher Davis, Jr.
Joseph Edward DelGuercio
Sister Mary Jude DiSciascio, C.R.S.M.
Sister Anne Dolores Donovan, S.U.S.C.
Sister Mary of Lourdes Donovan, O.S.F.
David Porter Fitzgerald
John F. Fowler
Sister Gabriel Mary Hnatyszak, C.R.S.M.
Sister Agnes Marie Kelleher, C.R.S.M.
Vincent Joseph Kuberski
Leon Henry Kwiatkowski
John Joseph McAteer, Jr.
Sister Mary Thomas McGranahan, C.R.S.M.
Sister Mary Judith Montone, C.R.S.M.
Sister Arthur Mary Powell, C.R.S.M.
Donald Peter Reardon
Mother John Baptist Waugh, S.H.C.J.
Sister Dolores Marie White, C.R.S.M.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION

Sister M. John Catherine Arnold, O.P.
Mother Mary Samuel Bigelow, S.H.C.J.
Mother Gerard Majella Bracken, S.H.C.J.
Sister Rita Marie Brenon, S.S.J.
Sister M. Edward Elizabeth Coverdale, O.S.F.
Sister M. Joseph Teresa Cunningham, O.S.F.
Sister Grace Marita Dugan, O.S.F.
Sister Mary Auxilia Fall, C.S.B.
Sister Mary Monica Flaherty, S.S.J.
Michael J. Flaherty
Mother Mary Athanasius Gallagher, S.H.C.J.
Sister Mary Ann Dennis Healey, O.S.F.
Sister Michael Bernard Hennessey, O.P.
Sister Laura Marie Jerolmack, O.S.F.
John Maron Joseph
Sistar Mary Virginitas Kierys, C.S.B.
Sister M. Anthony Margalski, C.S.B.
Mother Mary Camilla McAllister, S.H.C.J.
Mother Mary Justin McGoldrick, S.H.C.J.
Mother Mary Janet McIntyre, S.H.C.J.
Mother Mary Beata McSorley, S.H.C.J.
Sister Mary Judith Merrell, O.P.
Sister Joachim Marie Moughan, O.S.F.
Mother Mary Evelyn Mullin, S.H.C.J.
Mother Mary Alma O'Connell, S.H.C.J.
Sister Michael Marie Polti, O.S.F.
Sister Ann Thaddeus Rooney, O.P.
Jo Ann Veronica Smith
Sister M. Helen Joseph Subach, O.S.F.
Mother Bridget Mary Sweeney, S.H.C.J.
Sister Mary Christine Taylor S.S.J.
Mother Mary Juanita Unterkofler, S.H.C.J.
Sister Mary Margaret Angela Wilson, O.S.F.
Sister M. Maura Wytrwal, C.S.B.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN ECONOMICS

[illegible]vid Dooner Doyle
[illegible]illiam Joseph Flynn
Fr[illegible]cis X. Kelly, Jr.
[illegible]nes Aloysius Lynch, Jr.
Vincent Carmen Marchesani
Lawrence James Marlin
John Edward McCarthy
Robert Bland McCue
John Christopher Mellon, III
Eugene J. O'Brien
Sister M. Regina Immaculata Rogosky, C.R.S.M.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN PHYSICS

Peter David Argentiero
James Peter Brown, Jr.
Norman Edward Burkhardt
George Henry McNeil
Joseph Michael Strano

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

William Joseph Craig
Wallace Gleen Kaler

BACHELOR OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

John Joseph DeLuca

BACHELOR OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

John Jacob Ayoub, Jr.
Thomas William Buggy
Robert George Englebach
Ferdinand Joseph Mazur
James Patrick McElwaine
William Harry Pappano
Michael Joseph Saitta, Jr.
Brian John Scully
Winfried Emil Wesel

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN NURSING

Sister Mary Bonaventure Gowan, C.R.S.M.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN SOCIAL STUDIES

Kevin Don Flynn
Patrick Joseph Foley
William Carolan Sandifer
David Earl Severance

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN ACCOUNTING

David Andrew Cooper, III
William P. Van Arsdale

MASTER OF ARTS

Sister Jeanne Helene Aherne, S.S.J.
Donald Richard Bagin
Marshall William Baker
Joseph William Baldassano
Sister Mary Rosalima Balutowska, C.S.F.N.
Reverend Bernard James Benischeck
Reverend Joseph Aloysius Berry, O.S.A.
Reverend John Francis Bresnahan, O.S.A.
Reverend John Maurice Buckley, O.S.A.
Sister Mary Elaine Buckley, C.R.S.M.
Reverend Justus M. Bush. O.F.M. Conv.
Mother Dolores Mary Callanan, S.H.C.J.
Reverend Angus Nicholas Carney, O.S.A.
Sister M. Carletta Casazza, S.C.C.
Sister M. Demetria Cleary, S.S.J.
Sister Helen Mary Collins, I.H.M.
Brother Daniel Colman Coogan, F.S.C.
Gertrude Evelyn Corrigan
Sister M. St. Irminus Cronin, I.H.M.
Sister Mary Mercedes Crowley, O.S.F.
Daniel P. DeStefano
Sister Mary Natalene Devine, I.H.M.
Sister Mary Reparata Donlin, R.S.M.
Reverend Kevin F. Dwyer, O.S.A.
Sister Mary Rosaleen Fitzgerald, I.H.M.
John H. Fixl
Reverend John Patrick Gallagher
Reverend Michael Joseph Gallagher, O.S.A.
Sister M. Rosella Giarletto, D.M.
Martin Joseph Gillian, III
Mother Ann Jeanette Gregg, S.S.J.
Sister Saint Lucille of Jesus Guilbault, C.N.D.
Jane Muckian Harrington
Sister Mary Stephen Healey, R.D.C.
Richard Peter Herman
Sister Gerald Anne Higgins, G.N.S.H.
Sister Marian William Hoben, I.H.M.
Sister M. Gertrude Hopkins, I.H.M.
Sister Mary Inez Jankowska, C.S.F.N.
Sister Mary Tarcilia Juchniewicz, C.S.S.F.
Donald C. Jenkins
Reverend Charles J. Kelley
Sister Mary Valerian Kelty, R.S.M.
Alfred T. Kent, Jr.
Sister Mechtilda Kimple, S.S.J.
Sister M. Inez Cecilia Kockler, O.S.F.
Reverend Thomas John Leonard
Sister Mary Chrysta Lerhinan, I.H.M.
Stanley Arnold Lewis
Frederick A. Lochetto O.S.F.
Sister Mary Colette Logue,
Reverend John Francis Lunny
Sister Maria Jane McCarthy, I.H.M.
George P. McCook
Sister M. Hildegarde McGrath, S.S.J.
Sister M. Elizabeth Ann McGuire, C.R.S.M.
June Audrey McKenney
Sister M. Alphonsine Mihal, S.S.C.M.
Michael Francis Moore
Joseph Moran, Jr.
Georgia R. Morgan
Richard Lewis Mull
Mary Harlan Murphy
Mother St. Joseph Murray, S.H.C.J.
Sister M. Jean Baptiste Nigro,
Sister M. Cecile Therese O'Connor, O.S.F.
Philomena G. O'Hanlon
Sister Agnes Angela O'Neill, S.S.J.
Reverend John Francis O'Rourke, O.S.A.
Reverend Father Policarpo Oroz, O.R.S.A.
Robert A. Palumbo
Reverend John J. Peck, O.S.A.
Reverend John Philip Pejza, O.S.A.
Reverend Thomas Joseph Peterman
Reverend Francis Riley, O.S.A.
Francisco Javier Rodriguez, O.S.A.
Christine Rogala
Brother Gordian of Jesus Rogers, F.S.C.
Sister Marie Christine Rongione, O.S.F.
Sister Mary Louis Rongione, O.S.F.
Reverend Joseph C. Sabater, S.P.
Claire H. Schultz
Ralph C. Sgambati
Sister M. Rita Patricia Shanley, S.S.J.
Sister Mary Patience Sojka, C.S.S.F.
Reverend William John Stanton
Sister Gemma Streit, S.C.C.
Sister Mary Laura Sulkowska, C.S.S.F.
Brother Benedict Torres
Reverend Robert Michael Wesson, O.S.A.
Sister M. Cecilian White, I.H.M.
John Woyurka
Robert John Zemaitis

Master of Secondary School

Sister St. Henrietta Brophy, C.N.D.
Sister M. Esther Cahill, S.S.J.
Sister Mary Marietta Urban, C.S.S.F.
Reverend Thaddeus Arthur Wasas

Master of Science in Chemistry

Ronald H. Denk
Marshall L. Fishman
John Franklin Morningstar, Jr.

Master of Science in Biology

Reverend John Patrick Flaherty, O.S.A.

Master of Chemical Engineering

William Earl Marceau

Master of Science in Library Science

Sister Stella Miriam Bengle, S.N.J.M.
Estelle S. Campanelle
Suzanne E. Enos
Sister Mary Cornelius Faulkner, S.S.J.
Sister M. Joanne Fawls, O.S.F.
Sister Mary Carmela Gilroy, S.C.
Jane Anne Therease Hannigan
Sister Virginia Langan, S.N.D.
Sister Mary Elena Mahoney, S.S.J.
Sister Mary Peter Martin, P.B.V.M.
Elizabeth Dolores McGarrity
Sister Rita Catharine McManus, S.S.J.
M. Margaret O'Flaherty
Florence Alice Ore
Sister M. Ernestine Ormsby, S.S.J.
Reverend Zachary M. Pohl, T.O.R.
Sister Mary Sylvia Rauch, O.S.F.
Reverend Joseph George Stobba, O.S.A.

Portrait Of Fr. Dougherty

Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, OSA, Chairman of Villanova University's Board of Trustees and Dr. Harold G Reuschlein, Dean of the University's School of Law, admire portrait of the late Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, OSA, former Augustinian Provincial under whose administration the Villanova Law School was inaugurated. The portrait, presented recently by Father Donnellon, will hang in Garey Hall, the campus law building. The set of National, State and University colors presented by the Law Class of 1961 stands behind portrait.

Dr. Gallagher Edits Christian Culture Series

The Bruce Publishing Co. of Milwaukee this week launched a new Christian Culture and Philosophy Series under the general editorship of Dr. Donald A. Gallagher, Vice Chairman of Villanova's Department of Philosophy.

The ambitious new series will provide undergraduate students and their teachers with texts that accurately present the basic themes of Western Philosophy and which lead the student to a personal involvement in the philosophic quest for the truth.

According to Dr. Gallagher "since no mere cataloging of principles is sufficient for this response, each of these texts is more than an encyclopedic manual for a particular philosophic discipline".

"Written by competent scholars, these texts elicit from students that serious personal effort which will arouse philosophic wonder and provide entre' to the works of such men as Plato, Aristotle, Augustine, Aquinas, Kant, Bergson, Maritain —whose writings are, after all, more fecund than any text can hope to be".

The Scientific Art of Logic by Dr. Edward Simmons, Associate Professor of philosophy at Marquette University is the first of publication of the series. Other volumes on natural theology, cosmology, ethics, metaphysics, philosophical history and philosophical phsychology authored by competent, experienced scholars are projected.